PUBLISHER’S PREFACE

Current publication date: March, 2020.
This electronic reproduction of The Emphasised Bible was first published in May, 2016.

JOSEPH BRYANT ROTHERHAM first published The Emphasised Bible (as a complete work) in 1903. This electronic reproduction is the complete and unabridged* book as it was first published.

* The publisher has endeavored to create an exact replica of the original printed edition. This includes layout, fonts utilized and format of the text. However, even with modern software he was unable to re-create some of the features found in the 1903 printing, such as chapter numbers in the margins or chapter numbers embedded directly within the text. Such entries, as well as any other discrepancies the publisher could not resolve, have been footnoted with an entry which begins with “Publisher’s Note:”. The publisher did take the liberty of adding verse numbers where they were missing.

The publisher took more liberties with footnotes to include: (1) formatting changes in order to make the entries more readable, (2) updates to many of the referenced Hebrew words using current Strong’s Hebrew Dictionary; (3) assorted other references which were deemed appropriate.

Rotherham was known for being a gifted communicator, concise and thoughtful in expressing ideas. This gave him a unique perspective as regards the Word. His love for the Word is readily observable throughout this translation: attention to detail, copious notes and a complex document structure all attest to this. One should also note that his original script was handwritten. This explains why he spent the better part of forty years creating his bible. The end result was this excellent translation.

All are encouraged to read the section titled EXPOSITORY INTRODUCTION. The entire section is only thirty-seven pages long. Herein lie the keys to understanding Rotherham’s bible. Of particular importance is the sub-section TABLE III. This table explains the signs (symbols) of emphasis utilized throughout this book. The sub-section CHAPTER IV explains the meaning for each of the typefaces utilized for the word God (God [small caps], God [Old English type] and God [same font as surrounding text]).

The Emphasised Bible is in the Public Domain. Publisher does not place any copyright claims to the contents of this document. However, in an effort to protect the fruit of his own labor, he has employed a software locking mechanism which prevents the document from being edited or printed.

The publisher has created a section DOCUMENTED ERRATA at the end of the document with a table of errors discovered during the creation of this reproduction.

The document will occasionally be updated to reflect corrections made in the text or improvements to the layout due to updates in the desktop publishing software used to produce it. Such updates are noted by the current publication date (at the beginning of this section.) Said publication date will also be noted at the distribution web addresses (see next entry).
This document exists in three editions: Black, Red and Blue. All three are exactly the same except for coloring applied to the symbols (signs) of emphasis. These may be found at the following links (at the Internet Archive):

PREFACE.

The letter of the Bible is the shrine of its spirit and the organism by which it comes into contact with the reader’s mind. Hence the most spiritual of Bible students may well feel grateful to all who have toiled at the wearying task of preserving, and—where necessary and possible—restoring the true letter of the Sacred Text in its original tongues. All honour then to men who—like Ginsburg, Tregelles, and Westcott and Hort—have for long years laboured, chiefly that others might enter into their labours.

No English Bible can be more than a translation, since the Sacred Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments were originally written in Hebrew and in Greek. Hence it must be obvious to all, that just in proportion to the importance of these documents must be the obligation to translate them as accurately and adequately as possible; and since in the very nature of things no translation can be perfect, improvement is always possible. Even if no further improvement were attainable, various renderings for different classes of readers would still probably be of service. Besides, Divine favours are freely and widely bestowed; and the humblest individual translator may reasonably deem it possible to contribute something to the common stock of happy and effective renderings. Hence it may not be presumptuous to hope that a useful place will be filled by THE EMPHASISED BIBLE.

Reverent faith and fearless criticism are not necessarily opposed. He that believes may usefully ask—What? and Why? It may be more imperative than some dream to put such questions, unless faith is to degenerate into superstition. Criticism itself may be subdivided and classified. There is the Lower, which deals with words and sentences, and employs grammar and dictionary to find out their sense and force. There is the Higher, which seeks to get behind the text, and to track the wellnigh hidden streams of origin, using for the purpose literary culture, comparison, conjecture and speculation—sometimes, indeed, to great good purpose, by laying down tracks along which to look for trusty emendation; at others, quite needlessly disturbing the common faith, by confounding editorship (which all books need) with authorship, and, worse still, by imagining ancient inventive liberties falling little short of forgery, without any necessity appreciable by common minds. And, finally, there is the Highest criticism, which springs from sympathy, insight, and experience in divine things; from claiming which modest men instinctively shrink; but which is a reality nevertheless, and is sometimes richly possessed by humble souls who, though unversed in literary problems, know when broad conclusions wound their religious instincts, and whose unsophisticated judgment deserves respectful consideration before any general critical conclusions can be pronounced wholly satisfactory. It is devoutly to be wished that criticism may yet prove itself a greater aid to faith than it has done in the recent past. Its services hitherto must not be forgotten; and candour should be brought to its appreciation. The present Translator has striven to reach absolute freedom from prejudice; and feels constrained to record the seemingly paradoxical testimony—that the so-called higher critics have won the position of worthily occupying the very front rank of workers in the field of the lower criticism, where all learners must begin; and that among Hebrew Lexicons, none approaches—for thoroughness, accuracy, and resolute sobriety—the splendid monument of English, American, and Continental learning, now nearly complete, emanating from the Oxford Press.

The sacred joy experienced during the twelve years of hard work bestowed upon the production of THE EMPHASISED BIBLE might excuse the vain desire that another life could be vouchsafed in which to reap the fruit of antecedent toil; but all this is sobered and subdued by the reflection that the fire itself, human and divine, must prove every man’s work, of what sort it is.

It remains only to render hearty thanks to the Scholars whose labours have made this work possible; to the Reviewers whose encouragement has lightened a protracted though pleasant task; to the Printers and Correctors of the Press whose enterprise and patience have done much to make this Bible a pleasure to look on and an instrument to handle with facility; but first and last—especially in view of preserved life and eyesight and mental freshness—to Him from whom all blessings flow.

AN

EXPOSITORY INTRODUCTION

TO THE

EMPHASISED BIBLE.

CHAPTER I.

THE SPECIAL FEATURES OF THIS TRANSLATION.

That this purports to be an “Emphasised” Bible is naturally the first thing to be noticed. But as it seems desirable to devote an entire chapter to the subject of Emphasis, further discussion of this prominent characteristic may be conveniently deferred until it falls to be considered in due course. In the meantime there are other features which have grown up around this, which it will be of advantage to set forth in order.

1. The size of the page. It is with design that this has been made large; mainly for the purpose of bringing into one view connected portions, the constituent parts of which can be so much more easily grasped and remembered when readily seen in their relation to each other and to the whole, than when extended over several smaller pages. The familiar fifteenth chapter of the Gospel by Luke affords an excellent example; the whole chapter being here brought within two columns, in which its historical introduction and the three parables of which it is composed are at once taken in by the eye.

2. The varying indentations of the lines. These have been employed to serve several important purposes.

   a. They mark the transition from Narrative to Speech. The first chapter of Genesis comes out into beautiful relief by this means. After a few introductory words, the arrangement of the lines seems like a commentary on the text “He spake, and it was done.” “He spake”—and the words of the speech are distinguished by being set in; “and it was done”—the record of the fact is given as narrative, shown by the nearer approach of the lines to the left-hand margin. The effect is solemnly dramatic. Sometimes the deeper questions of criticism are thus brought to the surface, and the humblest reader is moved to consider whether, for example, the Speeches of Moses recorded in the Book of Deuteronomy were afterwards edited. It is tolerably plain they were; and the perception of the fact would appear to favour the genuineness of the Speeches themselves by the formal removal of objections. Sometimes, again, a subtle question of exegesis is brought very near to a solution by the mere process of rightly indenting the lines. For instance: Does the eighteenth verse of the second chapter of Galatians present a conclusion to which the Apostle Paul had for himself arrived?—or is he still addressing his erring brother Peter, and delicately suggesting that Peter was now, at Antioch, “building up” an invidious distinction which, at Cæsarea, he had “destroyed”? The cited-speech indentation appears to be correctly continued there; and the aptness of the words to describe Peter’s inconsistency, coupled with the independent fact that there is nothing to show that his faithful brother had yet done addressing him, goes far to settle the true explanation.

b. The indentations indicate the existence of Speech within Speech. Thus: Moses in the land of Moab, in relating the desert experiences through which the Sons of Israel, with himself, had newly come, cites previous speeches made at the respective times to which he refers—what the people had said to him and how he had answered the people. And it is an undoubted gain to be vividly confronted with the inquiry, Would any historical romancist have dared not only to put invented speeches into the mouth of Moses, but similar speeches into the mouth of God? “Speech within speech” is to be found in many places, and is sometimes discovered to be invested with great interest: as when Solomon, in his Dedicatory Prayer, cites Divine promises previously made to his father David; or as when the Apostle Paul, in addressing King Agrippa, quotes the very words in which the Risen Jesus had addressed him.

c. The indentations call attention to the existence of Poetic Parallelism. This special kind of parallelism is, of course, not to be confounded with parallel texts or parallel narratives, important though these both are in their own way. Poetic Parallelism is that beautiful, measured reduplication of thought, whereby the same sentiment or fact or promise is doubly expressed, the second time with a difference, still within the general scope of the first; the variation serving not only to cluster together beauties of speech, such as synonyms, contrasts, subservient natural images, and so forth, but to fix the general scope and outlook of the couplet or stanza, the one line hinting the limit to which the other may be assumed to submit, or defining the subject to which it also relates. From this point of view Parallelism steps in as a most graceful and useful handmaid to Exposition. But the charm of it, is what first is felt. “So God created man in his image”: that sounds like prose, however weighty. But when Parallelism breaks in with its balanced couplet—

In the image of God created he him.
Male and female created he them—a then we know we are in the presence of Poesy—a most fitting place, surely, for her first appearance!

There the lawless cease from raging,
And there the toilworn are at rest.
is so plaintive as to be like a mother’s lullaby over her sick child.

Another strain is touched when we read—

For a child hath been born to us,
A son hath been given to us,—\(^a\) in which it may be noted that this and not the current rhythm is undoubtedly the true one; since this it is which, closely following the Hebrew, throws the emphasis in the right place—on “child” and “son.” There lies our hope—in Him! These samples will suffice to point to the thousands of instances of Parallelism which, in this translation, lie before the reader. The present is not the place for discussing the many varieties of Parallelism to be found in the Bible. The subject is necessarily familiar in all treatises on Hebrew poetry. Better, however, than the perusal of any printed treatise will be the collating and classifying of instances by each student for himself. He can label his samples at pleasure, as “synonymous,” “antithetic,” “recurrent,” “progressive,” and so forth, provided he correctly describe them. It is uncertain whether due attention has generally been given to what may be described as semi-parallelism, not infrequently to be found in Isaiah. Its presence is intimated in this Bible, either by a couple of responding extra capitals, as in the following:—

I am sated  With ascending-offerings of rams,
       And the fat of fed beasts.\(^b\)

So have I sworn— Not to be vexed with thee, Nor to rebuke thee;\(^c\) or, when space has required it, by an extra line bestowed upon it, sooner than do it an injustice. Thus—

And they shall call thee—
       The city of Yahweh,
       The Zion of the Holy One of Israel.\(^d\)

There is one especial form of Parallelism to which much interest attaches, if not by reason of any novelty in the attention given to it, yet at least by virtue of its inherently striking character and the help it occasionally renders to right reading and interpretation. Dr. R. Moulton\(^e\) terms it the Envelope arrangement of lines. Its simplest form is where the first line is responded to by the fourth, and the second is answered by the third. A single example will show what is meant:—

\(^a\) Isa. ix. 6.
\(^b\) Isa. i. 11.
\(^c\) Isa. liv. 9.
\(^d\) Isa. lx. 14.
\(^e\) In “The Bible as Literature.”
Let me see thy form,
    Let me hear thy voice,—
For thy voice is sweet,
And thy form comely.\footnote{S.S. li. 14.}

Its bearing upon the correct reading of the original is seen in Isa. ix. 3; the much-needed emendation of which is reached by Dr. Ginsburg through a wholly independent process, dealing with questions of abbreviation and letter grouping. The result of his critical revision of the Hebrew text is strongly confirmed by the fact that thereby is produced this very special and beautiful form of parallelism:—

Thou hast increased the exultation.
    Thou hast made great the joy,—
They joy before thee according to the joy of harvest,
As men exult when they distribute spoil.\footnote{Isa. ix. 3.}

How it touches exegesis may be discovered by turning to Mat. vii. 6; in explaining which we need no longer fear it as an undue liberty, to attribute to the “dogs” the “turning” and “tearing,” and to the “swine” the “trampling underfoot.”\footnote{To these references may be added Job xxvii. 16, 17; Jer. ix. 4; x. 11; and especially Is. vi. 10, with Mat. xiii. 15, where the rhetorical movement is “heart—ears—eyes: eyes—ears—heart.”}

d. The indentations of the lines further present the results of \textit{Logical Analysis}. This is the case where, without any suspicion of poetry, the thought-relation of the clauses is more readily seen by means of the exact place assigned to the line-commencements; whether, for example, a second line is to be regarded as co-ordinate with the first—that is, of an equally leading character; or as subordinate, subservient, helping. An extremely simple instance may be found in the setting forth of Martha’s reply to our Lord, who has just said, “Believest thou this?”

She saith unto him—
    Yea, Lord! I have believed,
    That thou art the Christ, the Son of God,—
    He who into the world should come.

Here, the first line of course is narrative. In the second, Martha confesses that she has faith, but the line stops short of saying what it is she believes; \textit{that} being reserved for a new and further-indentured line, so indented partly because thereby greater distinctness is given to the proposition which first defines her faith, and partly also because her answer appears to be, if not evasive, yet a little indirect. She, at any rate, does not say quite simply, “Yea, Lord! I believe this!” For some reason, she prefers to formulate her own faith. Why she did this may be worth inquiry. Was it that she felt the answer she gave fully endorsed the statements Jesus had just made: “Believing thee to be who and what thou art, I at once confide in the truth of whatsoever thou art pleased to tell me?” Or was it perhaps rather that she was diffident of herself, and hesitated to say whether she believed a revelation so lofty and of such a sweeping amplitude as that just disclosed; and therefore in her grief and perplexity preferred to fall back upon a more elementary truth, to which she felt she had already attained, and upon which she could still rely? The indentation of that line conducts the reader to this profoundly interesting psychological inquiry. Then the further pushing in of the last line is merely to point out—what is seen after a moment’s reflection to be true—that this final line is subordinate to the one that precedes it, being of an explanatory character, as showing who and what the Christ, the Son of God, must be, and as indicating Martha’s persuasion that in the sympathetic Teacher standing before her she saw Him whom the prophetic Scriptures had foretold and for whom the ages had waited. Now if all this food for thought is presented, in what may be termed a digestible form, by means of four lines of varying indentation, surely the average thoughtful reader can take the hint, and not deem “Logical Analysis” beyond him, but do a little of it for himself, just when he is analytically inclined; and, for the rest, can come to a working confidence in the Translator for having presented Scripture thoughts (which had to be presented somehow) after what appeared to him the most apt and helpful arrangement; about which no one is counselled to trouble himself prematurely or overmuch. This, however, is certain—namely, that a little perseverance will soon render it easy to the reader of this Bible to pay a profitable regard to the parentheses and digressions which so strikingly characterise the writings of the Apostle Paul. To a principal statement, he subordinates another; then, to that, another; and so on to such a degree that, although for a time we can comfortably indent more and more, yet at length the device of indentation comes perilously near breaking down; and to avoid being driven quite up to the right-hand margin, and so having no column at all left, we are constrained to use substitutionary initial capitals (as in Ephesians i. and Colossians i.) to indicate where further-indented new lines would begin if only there were room. Extreme indentation, as the initiated know well, is literally, in printing, an expensive luxury; but the student reaps the benefit, and his sense of triumph becomes a keen enjoyment as he watches the return of the great Evangelical Thinker to the point from which—a good while ago—he started. He confesses that his Guide has wandered; but he boasts that his Master never comes back empty. What, for example, though the entire Third of Ephesians is a parenthesis? The world would have been poorer without it. Furthermore, when industrious readers wake up to the gains which Logical Analysis promises to bring home, they may find themselves marking with the greatest interest the unexpected appearance of a similar Logical Idiom in the Book of Ezekiel to that which is found in the Book of Daniel—pursued to such a remarkable extent, in these two Books alone, as to give colour to the assumption that, after all, in spite of the contrary assertions of certain critics, the prophets Ezekiel and Daniel were very nearly contemporaries, just as the sacred history would naturally lead us to suppose they were.
e. The arrangement of the lines is occasionally used to set forth, in a becoming style, Divine Proclamations and certain obvious approximations to Divine Signature. For example: to centralise the words is simply to invoke the assistance of the eye to give that formula the dominating force over the announcement which follows which by the intention of the prophet it should naturally have. And so again there are cases in the Pentateuch and in the Prophets in which the oft-recurring formula, “As Yahweh commanded Moses,”\(^a\) or “Declareth Yahweh,”\(^b\) can be more becomingly appended, and with better effect, as a line by itself drawn towards the right hand, after the manner of a signature, than in any other way.

3. Varieties of type.—These have been but sparingly resorted to, partly on the score of economy, but chiefly because continual changes of type soon become annoying and even distressing to the eye. For these reasons Emphasis, in particular, has not been thus indicated. At the same time the discreet employment of other than the ordinary type has been made to answer a few very serviceable ends.

   a. Refrains in the Old Testament have been distinguished by italic type. These naturally abound in the Psalms;\(^c\) and there are few readers who will not be pleased to find them so made prominent throughout that favourite Book. The presence of “refrains” in the early chapters of Isaiah will surprise some readers; while the existence of them in the prophecies of Jeremiah will astonish still more, especially if we are allowed to classify under the heading of “refrains” the recurrence of a biting phrase, mâgôr missaviv (“terror round about”), which (after being found in chap. vi. 25, hurled by Jeremiah against his priestly persecutor Pashhur [xx. 3]), then seems to have been mockingly flung back on himself by a tell-tale populace (ver. 10); afterwards to be solemnly directed by Yahweh against Egypt (chap. xlvi. 5) and against Kedar (chap. xlix. 29); strikingly enough to reappear, finally, in the plaintive dirge of the same weeping prophet (Lam. ii. 22), thereby, at last, well-nigh proving its claim to a place among actual refrains. Of course the most beautiful refrain in the Book of Jeremiah is the melodious couplet—which occurs in chap.s. vii. 34; xvi. 9; xxv. 10; and xxxiii. 11—three times as a lament, as of something that was to cease; but, on the fourth and last occasion, reappearing as a lovely flower in a gay garland of joyful prophetic news. Not for ever, to Israel, is that fourfold voice to be hushed! If, however, we can tolerate the extension of the word “refrain” to the most inspiring recurrence of consolatory truth, apart from any further thought of poetic composition, then we may surely distinguish by that name the brightest promise of the Old Testament, which meets us in the form of an announcement by the Most High of his own character. Taking its rise in the Ten Commandments, it expands in volume on that later, momentous, re-instating occasion, when Yahweh caused “all his goodness to pass before” Moses, and when in answer to prayer He graciously restored Israel to covenant favour. Further references will be found under the last-named passage; and whoever will take the trouble to look through those texts, and will thoughtfully note how this manifestation of “all the Divine goodness” forms the sheet-anchor of hope for after times, will probably admit the fitness of terming it, by way of eminence, THE REFRAIN OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

b. Some peculiarities in the use of Divine Names are thereby (viz., by varieties of type) indicated. Concerning the especial proper name of God (Yahweh) the reader will naturally consult CHAPTER IV. of this Introduction. But the present is the fitting place for naming some further information which has been conveyed throughout the Old Testament part of this Bible by typographical means. It should be understood, then, that when the familiar word “God” is found printed in ordinary type, then the Hebrew is Elohim; when the same word is printed “GOD” (one capital and two small capitals), then the Hebrew is “Êl”; and when “God” is printed in Old English letter, then the Hebrew is Eloah (principally confined to the Book of Job). It is not, perhaps, to be assumed that these discriminations are of supreme importance; nevertheless, when connected with other things, they are certainly invested with considerable interest. For the word Elohim, see note on Gen. i. 1. Êl will be readily remembered as entering into the composition of proper names, such as “Beth-êl,” “Immanu-êl,” and many others. It may also be discovered—the evidence would seem to point that way—that in the use of the independent monosyllable Êl, just where the moral feeling is most intense, there Êl shows an aptitude to step in, in preference to Elohim. The ordinary reader can now judge of this for himself. Without imagining anything less sacred in Eloah than in its longer or shorter companions, this at least is clear, that Eloah—as compared with the most sacred Name (the Tetragrammaton—see CHAPTER IV.)—is held to be good enough for the controversial spirit which undeniably pervades all the middle portion of the Book of Job.

c. Quotations from the Old Testament in the New are by the italics rendered conveniently conspicuous. That it is of great convenience and of considerable practical utility to be able to see at once what portions from the Jewish Scriptures are quoted in the Christian, will not be denied by anyone who has given a fair amount of attention to the matter; nor can it be questioned that the employment of italic letter for the purpose is far more effective than the adoption even of quotation marks would have been. Thereby, for example, the reader perceives without any appreciable trouble how largely the Book of the “Revelation” is constructed out of Old Testament language and imagery. Thereby also b Exo. xxxiii. 17; xxxiv. 6, 7.

he sees instantly how even a single word out of a citation becomes the pivot on which an argument is made to turn.a

4. Section-headings, Footnotes, References, and Appendices.—These may be left to speak for themselves, when once two or three needful explanations have been offered.

a. It was not at first intended to insert Section-headings in the Prophetic Books, owing to the risk of needlessly determining or attempting to determine difficult questions of interpretation; but an experiment having been made, the result seemed to promise so much convenience and assistance to average readers that the hazard and the additional labour were accepted. In most cases it will be found that, where these headings appear most startling, they are expressly warranted by the very terms of the Sacred Text.

b. The Footnotes include both “alternative renderings” and “various readings,” the difference between which, being partly technical, is worth a moment’s attention. An “alternative rendering,” then, comes of the process of translating, and merely expresses the translator’s feeling that some other English word than that adopted in the text might have given the sense of the original nearly or quite as well; and that for the reader to know this may be of practical service. It is well for the reader to be aware that oftentimes no one word wholly and absolutely and alone says precisely what is conveyed by the Hebrew or Greek. It is no question of variance between one copy of the original and another, but exclusively concerns the best way of representing what is admitted to be in the original. One rendering conveys the meaning more readily or more precisely than another, and to ring the changes on fair alternatives is often very helpful, supplying a breadth or an exactness which can be had in no other way. Sometimes a rendering is too literal for the text, yet not too literal for the margin. Questions of decorum and euphemism may be allowed some influence. Humorous translations may sometimes do good service in the margin which could never be tolerated in the text. Moreover, a freer rendering may the sooner be allowed in the text, provided a more literal one be placed at the foot of the page. So much for “alternative renderings.” “Various readings” are a very different matter. They have sole regard to variations which, in the course of transmission from an earlier age, have crept into different copies of or witnesses to the original. Concerning these, more information will be found in Chapter III. of this introduction.

c. References, as commonly understood, can readily be found elsewhere. Those here given have come into the Translator’s hands mostly through special channels or as the result of personal study; and in any case, it is believed, will be found trustworthy and useful.

The Appendices present, in orderly collected form, matter which would have been suited for longer notes, but can be more conveniently studied as actually given. These appended notes mostly touch upon subjects of the highest importance, and are respectfully submitted in the hope that they will prove helpful to not a few readers of THE EMPHASISED BIBLE.
CHAPTER II.
CONCERNING EMPHASIS
AS AUTHORITATIVELY INDICATED IN THE HOLY SCRIPTURES.

1. “Strike, but hear me!” exclaimed an ancient orator to an infuriated mob; that is, “Strike, if you will; but hear me first.” In reading aloud this citation, some little stress as instinctively laid on the two words “strike” and “hear,” thereby assisting the ear to catch the plainly intended contrast. A few years since, the same saying was modified in sense by a change of emphasis. A trade strike was pending, when an illustrated paper, giving an imposing figure representing “Law,” put beneath the figure the legend, “Strike, but hear me!” in this way not only investing the word “strike” with a modern significance, but suggesting, by the emphasis laid on the word “me,” a timely contrast—as much as to say, “You have listened to other advisers: before you act on their counsel, hearken to me—consider whether your contemplated strike would be legal.” This new point put into the old words would perhaps scarcely have been caught, even with the help of the symbolic figure of the cartoon, but for the outward and visible sign of emphasis attached to the closing word “me.”

2. It is freely granted that context and circumstance, when known and considered, are in many cases alone sufficient to guide to correct emphasis, whether it be in ordinary literature or in the Bible. For example, the bold contrast made by Christ, in the Sermon on the Mount, between other teachers and himself would naturally prompt any reader of taste to lay stress on the pronoun “I” in the recurring formula—

   Ye have heard that it hath been said…but I say unto you.a

3. Context and circumstance, however, are not always sufficient, because not always clear. We have therefore to be thankful that our Public Versions of the Bible furnish further guidance in the matter of emphasis by means of Idiom. The words are frequently so arranged as by their very order to indicate where the stress should be placed. Thus, in the history of Joseph, where “the butler,” in confessing his fault in forgetting Joseph, narrates the diverse fate of “the baker” and himself, he says—

   And it came to pass, as he interpreted to us, so it was: me he restored unto mine office, and him he hanged.b

In this sentence it is at once felt that the pronouns “me” and “him” are as certainly emphasised by their mere position as if they had been printed in capitals. So, again, where the Apostle Paul, after thanking God that he spake with tongues more than any of the Corinthian Christians, proceeds to say—

   Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, then ten thousand words in an unknown tongue.c a Mat. v. 22, 28, 32, 34, 39, 44.

b Gen xli. 13.
c 1 Cor. xiv. 19.
it is easily seen from the context that the clause “in the church” governs the whole sentence, and should receive the leading stress. Nor is it by order of words alone that an emphatic idiom is constituted. Certain forms of circumlocution serve the same purpose:

But as for me, I shall behold thy face in righteousness,\(^a\) is an altogether effective means of reproducing the force of the emphatic pronoun which opens the verse in the Hebrew. Or a simple repetition secures the result—

The living, the living, he shall praise thee, as I do this day.\(^b\)

Or a qualifying word of a manifestly emphasising force is employed, like “surely” in the following:—

In the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die;\(^c\) or “certainly” in this place—

Could we certainly know that he would say, Bring your brother down?\(^d\) or “diligently” in this—

If thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the Lord thy God.\(^e\)

4. Yet, varied as is the Emphatic Idiom of our Public Versions and numerous as are the examples which meet us in which that indication of stress has been turned to most admirable account, the pity is that it has not been resorted to ten times more frequently than is the case. For, be it observed, the Emphatic Idiom of the English is but a faint and fitful reflex of the Emphatic Idiom of the Hebrew and Greek.\(^f\) This fact is well known to scholars, though scarcely dreamt of by the general Bible-reading public. A fact however it is, and one which can be substantiated just as conclusively as any law which governs language. The great point at present is that all this accession of force and guide to the sense is, in the Sacred Originals, secured simply by Idiom—order of words, fulness of expression, repetitions and the like—and is therefore both pervading and authoritative. It is “pervading”: not, of course, as though all Scripture needed to be formally emphasised to the same degree—to imagine such a thing would be absurd; some styles of Sacred composition, instead of bristling with points, calmly flow on, keeping the even tenor of their way—but “pervading” in the satisfactory sense of being ever available when required. Whenever a point has to be made, a quiet contrast to be rather hinted at than expressed, a sharp and sudden home-thrust to be delivered, Idiom is at hand to accomplish it. From which, when the numberless living interests enshrined in the Bible are considered, it will be expected to follow—and follow it does—that a very large amount of indicated stress underlies almost every page of the Sacred Volume. And—does it need to be repeated?—Emphasis so conveyed is surely “authoritative,” inasmuch as it is in the original—is a part of the original—is of the very spirit and essence of the original. And being in this way “authoritative,” it is in all its main indications worthy of unspeakably more diligent heed in exposition than the most brilliant fancies of men who dream they may make what they please of Holy Writ. Sober students are bound by the laws of Grammar: they are equally bound by the laws of Emphasis.

5. It is one of the leading aims of The Emphasised Bible to do justice to the Emphatic Idioms of the original tongues, and thereby place all earnest Bible readers for practical purposes, on the same footing as that occupied by such as are familiar with Hebrew and Greek.

6. Mainly by Idiom has this been attempted. So that if all the artificial signs of Emphasis used in this Bible were swept away, an amount of Emphatic Idiom would remain far surpassing that to be found in any other version known to the Translator. Although emphatic inversion, for instance, is not infrequently discovered in our Public Versions: yet far more frequently and—if the expression may be pardoned—far more consistently does it appear in this translation. Take two examples out of thousands:

A.V. Wilt thou break a leaf driven to and fro?
     And wilt thou pursue the dry stubble?

Em. B. A driven leaf wilt thou cause to tremble?
     Or dry stubble wilt thou pursue?

The latter rendering reproduces the idiom of the Hebrew, and therewith also more naturally shows where the primary stress should be laid.

A.V. And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them.

Em. B. As soon as all his own he putteth forth Before them he moveth on.

The Idiom, the Emphasis, is in the Greek. It would be endless to cite examples of the various forms which the Original Idiom takes for the sake of conveying emphasis. Suffice it to say: that in this Bible these forms have been sacredly reproduced whenever possible—so long, that is, as the English remained easily intelligible and was not too constrained.

7. But Idiom alone would have been utterly inadequate to the attainment of the object in view.
In many instances the endeavor to preserve in English the order of the words in the original would have resulted in obscurity; or, worse still, would have conveyed the very opposite of the meaning intended. In the following passage from the Book of Lamentations, it could have been wished that, for the sake of preserving the exact rhythm of the Hebrew, it had been perspicuous English to say—

For this cause hath sickened our heart,
For these things have darkened our eyes;

a Job xiii. 25.
c Lam. ver. 17.
inasmuch as there is some little weight naturally resting on the paired words (ending words in the Hebrew) “heart” and “eyes” which, if that position could have been preserved in English, would have secured a fine cadence and a satisfying ending to each line of the couplet. But the construction would in two or three ways have been ambiguous—in fact a wrong meaning to some of the terms would have been favoured. Therefore, inasmuch as a clear conveyance of the sense is rightly the first requirement, the Hebrew arrangement can only in part be followed, and we have to be content with some such approximation as this—

For this cause hath our heart’ sickened,
For these things have our eyes’ darkened.

An acute accent on “heart” and “eyes” may be allowed as a slight compensation for loss of position; and, to anticipate for a moment, if our angular sign be then attached to the two opening phrases (“For this cause” and “For these things”), those words will be instinctively caught as adverbial clauses, strongly emphasised by their commanding position, and so gathering up into themselves the whole stream of the prophet’s foregoing lament—

<For this cause> hath our heart’ sickened,
<For these things> have our eyes’ darkened.

This illustration may stand for thousands, and evince beyond a doubt the impossibility of mechanically giving idiom for idiom in translation: hopeless obscurity would frequently be the inevitable result. And as a sufficient proof that in some cases idiom for idiom would cause the translation to express the very opposite meaning to its original, it is enough to cite one instance.

Elijah calleth this man is the order of the words in the Greek; yet “this man” is the nominative (that is, the caller) and “Elijah” the objective (that is, the person [supposed to be] called upon), and the true rendering is—

This man calleth Elijah;

though rightfully a decided stress should be laid, where indicated, on “Elijah.”

8. That, notwithstanding this risk of overdoing, a very free use of Emphatic Idiom has been made in this Bible will soon appear upon examination. Few sympathetic readers will complain of this. Such readers will perceive and bear in mind that inversions in the language of THE EMPHASIZED BIBLE are always intentional—always according to the original—always expressive. They will go on to observe that an inversion which at first seemed harsh, especially if incautiously read, soon commends itself when tastefully uttered. Finally, the Translator’s purpose will be remembered. It is due to himself to confess that he has deemed himself privileged, and therefore has carried the process of imitating the inversions of the originals to a degree scarcely tolerable in any version designed for public use. It is quite true that the larger number of the inversions here ventured would, as he conceives, adorn any translation, and because of their apt reflection of the Hebrew or Greek he honestly thinks they possess strong claims on general adoption; but not all of them. Speaking approximately, possibly in one case out of ten the Editor of THE EMPHASIZED

Bible would have himself shrunk back from what he has actually dared, if he had been so presumptuous as to think of producing a competitive translation. His aim throughout has been to form a Companion Version; and he respectfully asks the measure of indulgence which that intention makes reasonable.

9. One thing at least is clear—namely, that English Idiom alone could never have expressed all the Emphasis enshrined in the originals. It follows that either numerous tokens of stress contained in the sacred tongues must have been lost, or else artificial means were necessary to give them effect. As for the best method of doing this, there is, of course, no accounting for individual preferences; and, give the necessity, some would have chosen varieties of type, not sufficiently considering, perhaps, how soon these annoy the eye when multiplied. Others, again, would have preferred the underscoring which was used in the first and second editions of the Translator’s New Testament, unaware, probably, that the costliness of that method seemed prohibitive when thought of for the entire Bible. In favour of the plan now adopted, suffice it to claim economy, elasticity, and effectiveness. The signs here employed practically cost nothing, since the compositor can pick up a sign of emphasis as easily as he can pick up a comma. The elasticity springs from the combination of diverse signs: for example, an interposed accent can appear in the midst of an already emphasised clause. And the effectiveness is quite as great as was desired, seeing that delicacy of touch was also wished, and even a fitness to be temporarily disregarded—a quality commended to all who find the marks in the least perplexing. Such persons as would have been better pleased with some heavier and more obtrusive style of emphasising will kindly bethink them, that stress is mostly quite effective if laid on one syllable of a word, one word in a clause, and so forth; and that all the guidance the requires is to be enabled to take in at a glance the beginning and ending of the word, the phrase, the clause within which the enhanced stress is to take effect.

10. One explanation further, and nothing will be needed for completing this chapter, beyond a few annotated examples and the synopsis at the end (following this chapter), which will be convenient for reference both to the scholar and to the learner. The explanation is this: Idiom alone, it may be thought, might have been trusted to convey a portion of the emphasis indicated in the original, and artificial signs might have been restricted to the conveyance of the rest; instead of which (it may be objected), in this Bible, the artificial signs, in point of fact, mostly accompany the idiom when present, as well as serve as a substitute for it when absent. In fact, however, it was difficult to draw the line, especially as, in many cases, the signs of emphasis served as a species of magnified punctuation, for which reason it seemed better to go through with them. Besides which, is it not sometimes welcome to hurried eyes to have pointed out to them what might have been discovered by unaided vision?
11. Now for a few Annotated Examples, before submitting which the hint is given that a glance at the Table of Signs placed at the end of this Introduction will here be found convenient.

Doth this cause you to stumble?

The A.V. rendering of this passage leaves much to be desired; partly because of the wrong impression which the word “offend” conveys, as though Jesus feared He had hurt His disciples’ feelings to the degree of provoking their resentment; and partly because it leaves the point of the question uncertain. The R.V. obviates the wrong impression, by substituting “cause to stumble” for “offend,” but it fails to bring out the fine point seen by laying a little stress on “you.” “Doth this cause you to stumble”—you, My disciples, who might have known better? It is a clear case; for the Greek sets the noun governed before the verb that governs it (cp. post, Synopsis, A., b.)

And he said,I know not, <the keeper of my brother> am ||I||?\(^b\)

How the point of Cain’s defence of his professed ignorance leaps to his lips! The arrangement, “Am I my brother’s keeper?” is tameness itself in comparison.

In this place both A.V. and R.V. preserve the inversion which opens the verse, and for that we are thankful: “That which is altogether just shalt thou follow.” But why not have given it with the greater simplicity and vivacity of the original?—\(\text{zédhek zédhek tirdôf}\)—it is all there. And why not have given the full force of the verb “pursue”—“pursue” with determination, and not merely “follow” with halfheartedness or from a dull sense of duty?

Then thou scarest me with dreams,And <by visions> dost terrify me:So that my soul chooseth strangling,[Death] rather than these my bones.\(^d\)

Note here how parallelism and emphasis enhance the effect of each other. There being two synonymous couplets, constituting a duplicate expression for each thought (viz., first the Divine visitation, then the effect on the sufferer), emphasis steps in at the second line of each couplet, and strongly accentuates the closing word of the preceding line: “dreams—visions”; “strangling—death.” Note also how well the sharp expression which the word “death” draws to itself, prepares the way for the lingering and piteous lament over “these my bones.”

<Righteousness> I put on, and it clothed me,<Like a robe and a turban> was my [justice];<Eyes> became I to the [blind],And <feet to the lame> was ||I||.\(^e\)

\(^d\) Job vii. 14, 15.
\(^e\) Job xxix. 14, 15.
It would be difficult to name a passage more studded with the beauties of combined parallelism and emphasis than this. Observe that, here again, there are two couplets; then, that an emphatic inversion leads off in the first line of the first couplet—an accusative before its verb (Synopsis, A., b.); next, that the thought of “clothing” oneself, given in the first line, is emphatically and rhetorically amplified in the second line, “robe” and “turban” forming not merely clothing, but an adornment fit for any assembly; further, that the term “righteousness” at the beginning of the first line is answered by its synonym “justice” at the end of the second—a not infrequent device in Hebrew poetry, and that as the two substantives respond to each other and ending words also have a natural advantage (cp. Synopsis, A., f.), a slight stress is marked on “justice.” In line three, note how the word “eyes” at the opening comes into rhythmic relation with the term “blind” at the close, the verb “to become” being unemphatically thrown in between them, with no stress on the pronoun “I,” which is merely implied in the verb; and how finally, in the last line, “feet” and “lame,” instead of being parted like “eyes” and “blind” in the third line, are swiftly and unexpectedly welded into a single emphatic phrase at the head of the line, to be simply followed by the pronoun “I,” which, though having primarily to serve, after Hebrew fashion, for the verb “to be,” yet, with its own long-drawn pansal vowel (’â’ni), lingers on the ear with an unspeakable pathos (Synopsis, B., a.)

See ||now|| that ||I||, ||I|| am he,
And there are no’ gods with me:
||I|| kill—and make alive,
I wound, and ||I|| heal;
And there is none’ who <from my hand> can deliver.\(^a\)

\(^a\) Deu. xxxii. 39.
The inquisitive will not begrudge the trouble of examining the context which leads up to this animated and impressive passage. It will be seen that, with keenest irony, idolatrous Israel has just been advised to apply in her extremity to the false gods of which she has boasted. “See now”—if haply ye have at length discovered how utterly vain is their help—“that I, I”—emphatically repeated, as if to invite a penitent nation to fill in the blanks from the stores of reviving memories—“I”—your own, your real, your living God; “I”—your long forgotten, but yet faithful, loving God, still waiting, even now after all this, to be gracious. “See now, that I, I am he;” or, “am the one, and the only one, that can help you.” “And there are no gods with me”—strong negative of the substantive verb, hence accent on “no’.” “I kill”—separate nominative pronoun (Synopsis, B., a.); hence strong emphasis on the pronoun. “And make alive”—nominative pronoun not repeated, hence none needed in English: the contrast between “kill” and “make alive” at this point suffices. “I wound”—again no separate nominative, and no emphasis on “I” this time permissible. But then finally, when bringing in the climax “I heal,” there is a triumphant stress to be laid on the “I” (wa’a’ni’erpâ’).—The Translator protests that, while he does real homage to the elocutionary instinct which is common to all men, and is well trained in most educated men, he considers it very unlikely that such instinct could ever, unaided, have divined the existence of such authoritatively indicated variations as these; of which, indeed, familiarity with the original idiom can alone give trustworthy information.

He was despised and forsaken of men,
A man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief,— Yea <like one from whom men turn away the face>
He was despised, and we esteemed him not.\(^a\)

So far the discourse flows calmly on in description of the Suffering Servant, without any use for emphatic pronouns. But now an entire change of mood is felt. From a bare statement of the matter of fact, reflective Israel passes to a revised and deeper view of the cause of the Sufferer’s sorrows:—

|Yet surely| <our griefs> ||he|| carried,
And <as for our sorrows> he bare them,—\(^b\)

where note what a break-up of the historical style occurs, and how the emphasising strokes come throbbing in: “Yet surely OUR GRIEFS”—the real cause of the Servant’s sufferings by bold inversion being set at the head and front of the sentence (the accusative before its verb: Synopsis, A., b.). “HE carried”—the pronoun is, indeed, implied in the verb (nâsâ’), but that is not enough, and so it is also separately expressed, in order that stress may be laid upon it (hu’nâsâ’—cp. Synopsis, B., a.). He was our Substitute and bare our burden. That in this couplet the phrases “our griefs” and “our sorrows” are synonymous, is at once evident.

What, perhaps, we desiderate in the second line is that the pronoun “he” should have been again emphasised in like manner as in the line foregoing; and though it is absent from the

\(^b\) Isa. liii. 4.
Massoretic or traditional text, and therefore, according to rule, we can scarcely so mark it, yet we note with intense interest that there is a various reading relating to that very point, to the effect that some Hebrew written copies actually have the emphatic “he”; in which, moreover, the ancient Syriac and Latin versions keep them company (implying that the ancient Hebrew standards from which they were formed had the pronoun emphatic). And we are further informed that there are some existing Hebrew copies which, though they have not the emphatic hu’ in the text, yet have it set down in the margin as a keri’, that is, to be read, though not written. We have purposely expanded this short note of variance, bearing as it does on a point of much interest.

To return to the text:—

||We|| however, esteemed him—
  Stricken, smitten of God, and humbled.
  But ||he|| was Wounded for our transgressions,
  Bruised for our iniquities,
||The chastisement for our well-being|| was [upon him],
  And <by his stripes> there is healing [for us].

As much as to say: “WE,” however, away in the past, when the true light of the matter had not dawned upon us, esteemed him divinely chastised for some cause unknown. We then little thought how his sufferings were related to us; “But” we see it all now! And so on, until the ultimate explanation is reached—

But ||Yahweh|| caused to light upon him’ the iniquity of us all.

YAHWEH did what none other had any right or power to do. Compare verse 10 where the same stress as in verse 6 is laid on the Divine Doer of the work of Salvation. And so we close our brief hints as to the expository value of the emphasis indicated throughout this wonderful prophecy; and we close them by respectfully claiming that it is not at all by the play of pious fancy, but exclusively by giving effect to a well-proved idiomatic law that we lay decided stress upon the Divine interposition through which there is healing for Israel and for Mankind. Before dismissing our notice of this example of emphasis in the famous Fifty-third of Isaiah, it may be worth reminding the reader that in at least three places in the New Testament do the words of this Prophecy reappear, and each time with something of the significant emphasis with which the words were originally penned. In fact, speaking broadly, the emphasis of the Old Testament is the emphasis of the New: the main idioms are the same, their exegetical value is the same. When successfully rendered, the ancient tones and suggestions of the Hebrew are reproduced—in Greek in English. The language again lives.

A SYNOPSIS OF THE PRINCIPAL LAWS OF EMPHASIS DISCOVERABLE IN THE BIBLE ORIGINALS.

Words are emphatic—

A. By position.
   a. Nominative before verbs—always.a
   b. Genitivess, datives and accusativess before verbs—always.
   c. Verbs before nominatives—slightly; e but able to command strong emphasis reduplication, see below, B, b.
   d. Adjectives before nouns—chiefly in N.T., and slightly.f
   e. Words brought into juxtaposition—sometimes, in prose, internal evidence concurring; g more frequently in poetry, where the last word of one line is often varied and emphatically echoed by the first in next line.h
   f. Words postponed to end of sentence—sometimes in prose, sense concurring; i more frequently in lyric poetry, in which the last word is mostly weighty, and claims secondary stress.j

B. By repetition.
   a. Separate nominative pronoun.k Prolific source of emphasis both in Hebrew and Greek, as the separate pronoun is independent of position. Always reliable when construed with finite verb, which has the pronominal element also within itself. Sometimes also, when used instead of a verb, seems by association of ideas to lend itself to some little stress.l
   b. Reduplicated verb—chiefly in Hebrew, m reappearing by quotation in N.T. Always indicates lively emphasis. Infinitive verb generally set before its own finite—then emphasis only: occasionally placed after its own finite—then perhaps sometimes suggesting continuance or repetition of action.n
   c. Independent words, o phrases, p and sentences.q The mere repetition of these is one of the most simple and obvious devices for indicating stress.

C. By formal expression.
   This chiefly applies to Hebrew particles. Owing to the extraordinary facility with which the consecution of facts and thoughts can be carried forward by the peg-letter waw, it follows that when more formal and precise connecting particles are employed, some emphasis can generally be felt. Hence springs the stress, more or less vigorous, which in THE EMPHASISED BIBLE is frequently marked on such connectives as “now” (ʻattah), “therefore” (laken), “for this cause” (ʻal ken), and so on; in respect of which appeal is confidently made to elocutionary instinct as to the validity of the result.

CHAPTER III.
THE ORIGINAL TEXTS.

For practical purposes it may be assumed that Hebrew and Greek are the original languages of the Bible. The small proportion of Aramaic embedded in the Hebrew Bible does not require formal consideration, just because this dialect is nearly allied to Hebrew, and the portions of the Old Testament written therein form integral parts of all Hebrew written copies and printed editions. With regard to the New Testament, the only question that could arise would be whether some parts of it were not first written in Syriac and then translated into Greek. But this is probably a purely academical inquiry, and inasmuch as the assumption of a Greek original for the whole of the New Testament does not exclude Syriac sources from contributing their quota towards evidence of genuineness and aids to textual purity, the question for the Translator is reduced to this: What Hebrew Bible and what Greek New Testament shall he employ for making his version? In a word—What Texts shall he translate?

It is a relief to think that no translator can be required first to construct his Hebrew and Greek texts before turning them into English. Life would not be long enough for one man or one set of men to explore the whole of the immense field; besides, the task is more likely to be efficiently done if its widely different departments are undertaken by departmental experts. The textual critic prepares the way for the translator, a consideration which makes this the convenient moment for stating that the textual critics followed in executing THE EMPHASISED BIBLE are respectively Dr. Ginsburg in the Old Testament, and Drs. Westcott and Hort in the New. To understand the debt of gratitude we owe to these pioneers, it will be better to take separately the two leading divisions of our Holy Scriptures, and the more so as each division involves conditions inapplicable to the other.

I. THE ORIGINAL TEXT OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

1. The Text itself.

In the Old Testament there seemed to be no choice but to take the received or current Massoretic text, unless one had been prepared to embark on the treacherous sea of Conjectural Criticism; and, in the first writing out of the MS. for this work, that text in its commonly printed form was implicitly followed. It was the singular good fortune of the present translator, however, to have only just completed his transcript when the Critico-Massoretic Hebrew Bible of Dr. C. D. Ginsburg appeared; and it was at once seen how greatly it would add to the value of THE EMPHASISED BIBLE to compare the MS. throughout with Dr. Ginsburg’s Hebrew text and to make and translate a selection from his priceless Various Readings. This additional labour was gladly undertaken; and it is deemed no small cause for gratitude to have been spared to finish the task. Respecting the Old Testament, therefore, the case now stands as follows:—

The Hebrew Text used is the revised Massoretic Text edited by Dr. Ginsburg, subject to certain exceptions which will at once be explained, and which can scarcely fail to commend themselves as soon as they are understood. The exceptions are almost exclusively the confirmed and approved various readings to which Dr. Ginsburg has prefixed the formula “It ought to be” so-and-so. These have been incorporated in the text of this version, and not merely inserted in the notes; for it was instinctively felt that what “ought to be” should be in a work of this kind. For Dr. Ginsburg’s purpose, indeed, it was probably fitting that he should make no changes in his text other than any which might be required to render his edition a perfectly accurate reprint of the Received Massoretic recension, and that accordingly all the emendations he had to propose were wisely incorporated with his foot-notes, no matter with what degree of confidence advanced. This method was at once seen to be in the true Massoretic spirit, which changes nothing, reproduces everything, fences and guards everything. But as this translation of the Old Testament was intended to make straight for correct exegesis and was purely practical in its design, the contrary course was adopted with respect to the especial class of various readings now under consideration, and accordingly the resulting changes were boldly made in the text of this version, with the unvarying note appended in each case, “So it should be,” duly referring to Ginsburg’s authority. It was quite otherwise where Dr. Ginsburg prefixed his other formula, “It appears to me” = “I think” it should be so-and-so. These conjectural variations have in the following pages been given (where given at all) in foot-notes, with the corresponding formula “Gt.” = “Dr. Ginsburg thinks” the reading should be as follows, in the quoted words then cited. They are the conjectures of an expert, often of great value, and always worthy of respectful consideration, but not advanced into the text of this Bible, save in a very few exceptional cases distinctly notified in the margin. These isolated instances are limited to places in which it was felt that the internal evidence fully made up for any lack of external attestation.

2. The appended Various Readings.

A. Whence come these Various Readings? They are (i.) variations discovered in existing standard copies (Codices) or in early printed editions; (ii.) variations recorded in the Massorah itself as having formerly existed in documents now lost; (iii.) variations preserved in the Talmud or in the commentaries of ancient Jewish scholars; (iv.) variations proved by Ancient Versions, in cases where the changes cannot be reasonably be attributed to freedom of translation, but assure us that the translators must have had before them a Hebrew Text materially differing from that which has been handed down to the present day.

B. What are the leading Characteristics of these Various Readings? (i.) Many of them are exceedingly minute; either resolving themselves into variations of spelling and accentuation, such as to make no difference in translation, and therefore passed by in silence in this Bible; or else making very little difference in English—it being of no appreciable consequence whether Israel fell into the “hand” or “hands” of their enemies. Still, the collating of the smallest variations has some value as an education, showing how such changes came into existence, and what pains have been taken by copyists and textual critics to note them and guard against their multiplication. (ii.)
At the same time, literal minuteness of variation is a very uncertain criterion of importance. Truth is not measurable by bulk, but by weight. The change of a single letter in one case may show nothing but a peculiar spelling of the same word, whereas in the very next instance it may indicate a totally different word and make all the difference in the world to the sense. To mistake lo for lo’ may bring in a negative and turn the sentence completely round. To write ’ahar for ’ahad (showing, in the Hebrew, a minuter difference than this) may turn “one” into “after” or “another.” (iii.) Many variations are due to the most simple and obvious causes—mere mistakes of eye or ear, or the writing as one word what was meant for two, and vice versi. (iv.) More serious is the divergence of exemplars; the standard copies of one district having in course of time or under different editorship come to depart from the favourite standards of another region; the old standard becoming worn out or lost, and a new one having to be procured from a distance, bringing its own divergences with it, and propagating them on new soil. (v.) Still more serious is prejudice leading to the deliberate avoiding of certain exemplars, as favouring, say, the detested Samaritan or Septuagint recension. (vi.) Most serious of all is the deliberate intention to change the old reading for one more acceptable—never, perhaps, with wilful corruptness; on the contrary, with pious intentions and for greater edification; yet still displaying a freedom of editing which to us seems quite indefensible.

C. How may Dr. Ginsburg’s Various Readings be Classified? (i.) Write, but read; or the official variations technically known as the Kethiv and the Kerî. “The margin of the [Hebrew] Bible exhibits a number of various readings of an early date, called Kerî (read), because in the view of the Jewish critics they are to be preferred to what stands in the text, and to be read instead of what is there written, hence called Kethiv (written).”

“So great a reverence for the ancient literal text, as it was handed down by tradition, was preserved among the Jews, that the Grammarians who made the new additions to the text left the written text still unchanged, even in cases where they believed it necessary to follow a different reading and interpretation.”

Probably the general understanding amongst English students of Hebrew is that the Kerî are invariably to be preferred to the Kethiv. Dr. Ginsburg, however, does not endorse that view, for he says: “It is now admitted by the best textual critics that in many instances the reading exhibited in the text (Kethiv) is preferable to the marginal variant (Kerî), inasmuch as it sometimes preserves the archaic orthography and sometimes gives the original reading. The Kethiv or textual reading, moreover, is in many instances not only supported by MSS. and early editions, but by the ancient Versions.”

There are two features in Dr. Ginsburg’s exhibit of these various readings which cannot fail to give lively satisfaction to the student. The first he states thus:—“I have in most cases given the MSS., the early editions, and the ancient Versions which support the Kethiv and those which exhibit the Kerî.”

The second is the claim thus expressed: “I have been able to give a larger number of Kerî and Kethiv than those which are printed in any other edition of the Hebrew Bible.”

On the strength of this last fact, as well as on the score of convenience, the Kerî cited in The Emphasised Bible are given as resting on Ginsburg’s authority, without forgetting that many of them are to be found in other Hebrew texts. (ii.) A special class of various readings called Sevirin. These constitute a body of readings “of equal importance to the class of variants comprised in the official Kerî, though it has hardly been noticed by modern critics. Indeed in some respects it is more important than the alternative readings which have hitherto been so scrupulously given in the margin of our Bibles.

under the name of \textit{K'ri} by modern editors, who have either entirely banished the \textit{Sevir} from the margin or have on extremely rare occasions condescended to notice one of the numerous readings introduced by the name \textit{Sevir}.”\(^a\) As in the case of the \textit{K'ris}, Ginsburg mostly states by what authorities the \textit{Sevirin} are confirmed. A reading of this class will be found given in the notes of this Bible thus: “A sp. vr. (\textit{sevir}),” followed by a translation of the reading, with the addition of any confirming authority. (iii.) Variants \textit{cited in the Massorah itself} and underlined by Dr. Ginsburg. When possible these have been given in italics. For instance, “(Sam., Sep., Vul.)” indicates that Dr. Ginsburg has found the \textit{Septuagintal} reading in the Massoretic note of a Hebrew codex or edition. (iv.) Variations discovered by \textit{collation} of existing MSS., early printed editions, and Ancient Versions, and recorded without editorial opinion. These must be left to speak for themselves. They are here passed on from the textual editor. (v.) \textit{Conjectural} emendations. As before suggested, these should be received with the deference due to an expert, whose opinion takes into account not only internal evidence, but probably a shrewd suspicion as to the way in which an error may crept in. \textit{Gt.}==“Ginsburg thinks” is the sign distinguishing this class of reading in \textit{The Emphasised Bible}. (vi.) \textit{Confirmed} Emendations. These have already been considered, and reasons have been given for incorporating their purport in the text of this Translation.\(^b\)

\textit{D.} How should these Various Readings \textbf{be treated} by an ordinary intelligent reader? (i.) They may very well lead to a suspense of judgment. Where a transcriptional variant of this kind comes into view, it is natural to eschew dogmatism. (ii.) Internal evidence may inspire a moral certainty as to which reading is correct. The reader can cautiously rely on this for his own satisfaction; and the controversialist may urge it—with becoming moderation. (iii.) Converging evidence may almost amount to demonstration as to which alternative is to be trusted. For example: Starting with internal evidence in favour of a Various Reading which is actually found in some Hebrew MSS. or printed editions, the reader discovers that that very reading is exhibited in the Samaritan Pentateuch—an independent line of transmission from an exceedingly ancient exemplar. Then he finds it handed down by the Septuagint—another line of transmission from a time almost equally remote. And finally, we will suppose, he discovers that the same reading has been preserved by the Vulgate. Internal probability—some existing Hebrew standards, Samaritan, Septuagint, Vulgate—what wonder if (some counter evidence notwithstanding) the student yields his mind to a state of working confidence as towards the variant which is sustained by such a superior array of proof?

\textbf{II.—The Original Text of the New Testament.}

There is the less need to enlarge on this, that information concerning it is by this time widely diffused. Few scholars nowadays would advocate the adoption of the so-called Received Text of Erasmus and Stephens, published early in the sixteenth century. The discovery and collation of Greek MSS. have since then made such enormous strides, and so many textual critics of supreme ability and industry—such as Griesbach, Scholtz, Lachmann, Tischendorf, Tregelles, and Westcott and Hort—have laboured in the department, that it would appear an act of sheer madness to go back to the critical apparatus of our great-grandfathers. Suffice it then to state in brief the general principles followed alike by Tregelles and by Westcott and Hort—with whom alone in the Christian Scriptures this work stands in immediate relation—and then to explain in a very few words why, for the present (the third) edition of the New Testament portion of The Emphasised Bible, the text of Tregelles was superseded by that of Westcott and Hort.

\(^a\) G. Intro. 187.

\(^b\) \textit{Ante}, p. 18, cp. G. Intro. 162, 170.

The fundamental principle common to the Greek texts of Tregelles and of Westcott and Hort is that in the construction of them, ancient authorities have been resolutely preferred, and the text in both cases has been determined rather by the weight than by the mere number of manuscripts. Ancient readings have been preferred in constructing the Greek texts of both these editions. It would perhaps be correct to say that Westcott and Hort gave more attention than did Tregelles to the lineage of manuscripts, and submitted to a more searching consideration the question how far divergent readings had sprung from common sources, so as to get behind the divergences to an earlier and more ancestral text. In particular their treatment of the two most ancient MSS., the Vatican and the Sinai, both as to their similarities and their differences, impresses the inquirer’s mind with a sense of the scientific force with which inductive reasoning is carried; and how, under the converging light thrown backward by these great exemplars, in the hands of these editors, the student can almost see for himself what the Apostolic text must have been.

This allusion to the two greatest Greek Manuscripts of the New Testament opens the way for an explicit statement of the reason which led to the adoption of the later text of Westcott and Hort in preference to the earlier one of Tregelles, which had been employed for the present Translator’s first and second editions of the New Testament. It was simply and solely because the later text was the later, that the change was made; for the lapse of time between them, though not great, enabled Drs. Westcott and Hort to do what had not been vouchsafed to their predecessor—viz., to the Sinai MS. steadily before them in the construction of their text of the Four Gospels. It was felt to be presumptuous to conjecture how far the readings of the Sinai Codex would have confirmed or modified Tregelles’ previously formed conclusions; and, at the same time, very undesirable for the Translator to assume the functions of textual critic, functions imperatively demanding the practical skill of the expert, to which he could lay no claim. Better far to place himself under the guidance of such consummate masters of textual criticism as Drs. Westcott and Hort, judging, as they had done, so very nearly in the spirit and after the principles of Dr. Tregelles, on the fuller evidence then spread before them. Even in the Four Gospels the differences between the two texts are comparatively slight; while, in the later Books of the New Testament, it becomes a matter of sustained admiration to note how very generally the conclusions of the earlier editor (having the Sinai MS. before him at that stage of his work) are confirmed by his successors, when judging from substantially the same array of evidence.
CHAPTER IV.

THE INCOMMUNICABLE NAME.

As it might appear premature, at the outset of this chapter, to spell out that Divine Name which some regard as not only incommunicable but unpronounceable, it will be considerate to begin the present investigations by the aid of circumlocution and abbreviation, especially as no inconvenience will be occasioned thereby. The Tetragrammaton, or name of four letters (in allusion to the four letters Y H W H), is a technical term frequently employed by scholars, and will here, for a little, serve a useful purpose. Besides employing this term, we can reverently speak of “The Name,” or can set down the first letter only, “Y,” in the same way as critics are wont to use the Hebrew letter yod as the intitial of the Divine Name intended. This understood, we can intelligibly proceed. Our very first sub-division will indicate the serious turn which this inquiry necessarily takes.

I.—THE NAME SUPPRESSED.

A. The Fact.

It is willingly admitted that the suppression has not been absolute; at least so far as Hebrew and English are concerned. The Name, in its four essential letters, was reverently transcribed by the Hebrew copyist, and therefore was necessarily placed before the eye of the Hebrew reader. The latter, however, was instructed not to pronounce it, but to utter instead a less sacred name—Adonay or Elohim. In this way The Name was not suffered to reach the ear of the listener. To that degree it was suppressed. The Septuagint, or ancient Greek version, made the concealment complete by regularly substituting Kurios; as the Vulgate, in like manner, employed Dominus; both Kurios and Dominus having at the same time their own proper service to render as correctly answering to the Hebrew Adonay, confessedly meaning “Lord.” The English versions do nearly the same thing, in rendering The Name as Lord, and occasionally God; these terms also having their own rightful office to fill as fitly representing the Hebrew titles Adonay and Elohim and El. So that the Tetragrammaton is nearly hidden in our public English versions. Not quite. To those who can note the difference between “Lord” and “Lord” and between “God” and “God,” and can remember that the former (printed with SMALL CAPITALS) do while the latter do not stand for The Name—to such an intimation of the difference is conveyed. But although the READER who looks carefully at his book can see the distinction, yet the mere READER remains completely in the dark respecting it, insasmuch as there is no difference whatever in sound between “LORD” and “Lord” or “God” and “God.” It hence follows that in nearly all the occurrences of The Name (some 7,000 throughout the Old Testament) the especial Name of God is absolutely withheld from all who simply hear the Bible read. “Nearly all,” for there are about half a dozen instances in the A.V., and a few more in the R.V., in which this concealment does not take place. In other words there are these very few places in which the Tetragrammaton appears as “Jehovah”; and although it may be asked, “What are they among so many?” still their presence has an argumentative value. If it was wrong to unveil the Tetragrammaton at all, then why do it in these instances? If, on the other hand, it was right to let it be seen in these cases, then why not in all? With the exceptions explained, however, it remains true to say, that in our public versions the one especial Name of God is suppressed, wholly concealed from the listening ear, almost as completely hidden from the hastening or uncritical eye.

B. The Immediate Consequences of the Suppression.

These are—

(i.) Partly literary, though more than that. Reference is here made to the confusion into which many things are thrown through this abnormal state of things. “Baal” is “lord” and so is “Adon” (Adonay)—that is unfortunate; but why add to the embarrassment by rendering Y H W H (and Y H, the shorter form) also as “Lord”? Worst of all is the confusion when “Y” and Adonay occur together, as they do many times in the Book of Ezekiel. Inasmuch as to say, “LORD LORD” for “Adonay Y,” was too grotesque and misleading (positively false to the ear), the new device had to be resorted to of rendering this combination by “LORD GOD”—“GOD” in this case, and not “Lord” at all, standing for The Name. Even Y H (the shorter form) and Y H W H (the full form) of the Tetragrammaton, coming together, caused a dilemma; though in these instances, the acuteness of the trouble compelled the adoption of a partial remedy, and “the LORD JEHOVAH” is the result. “Confusion,” then, is a term not a whit too strong to apply to these varying devices. No wonder that even intelligent and educated people are continually forgetting what they have heard or read concerning so involved a matter.

(ii.) Partly practical. Is it too much to assume that The Name has about it something very grand or very gracious, or at least something very mysterious? Whichever conclusion is received, the question arises whether there is not something essentially presumptuous, however little intended, in substituting for it one of the commonest of titles, seeing that there are on earth “lords many,” and the master of the humblest slave is his “lord”? There is surely nothing very grand or gracious or mysterious in that! It is therefore the most natural presumption that the suppression of The Name has entailed on the reader, and especially upon the hearer, irreparable loss.

C. The Reason for the Suppression.

The motive was good—let that be assumed. It was to safeguard the Divine Majesty in the minds of men. It was to prevent the inconsiderate mention of Him before whom seraphs veil their faces—though even so it is very difficult to see how one name should occasion irreverence and another not. Why not, then, leave Him altogether unnamed? Why not fear to allude to Him by any title that could definitely refer to Him? The passages commonly cited as furnishing good reason for the suppression surely cannot mean what is thus attributed to them, since there is a wide distinction between not taking His Name in vain, and not taking His Name into our lips at all, even for prayer or praise. In a word, the motive is respected; but the reverence is misapplied—the reason given is seen to be invalid.

a As in Is. xii. 2; and xxvi. 4.
II.—THE NAME RESTORED.

A. Why?

1. Because its suppression was a mistake. So grave a mistake cannot be corrected too soon. An unwarrantable liberty has been taken; the path of humility is to retrace our steps.

2. Because thereby serious evil may be averted. Men are saying to-day that “Y” was a mere tribal name, and are suggesting that “Y” Himself was but a local deity. As against this, only let The Name be boldly and uniformly printed, and the humblest Sunday School teacher will be able to show the groundlessness of the assertion.

3. Because solid advantage may be counted upon as certain to follow the restoration. Even if the meaning of The Name should not disclose itself, the word itself would gradually gather about it the fitting associations—and that would be a gain; and if the true significance of the Tetragrammaton should be brought to light, there would be a trained constituency to whom appeal could be made—and that would be a yet greater gain.

A PLausible OBJEcTion ANSWered.—A plausible argument in favour of leaving The Name veiled, as it is now, may be based upon its concealment by the Septuagint. The plea takes the following form. The Septuaginrt conceals the Tetragrammaton under the common title Kurios, “Lord.” Jesus used that version as it stood, notably in citing Psalm cx. 1. Therefore what was good enough for Him should be good enough for us. Answer First: Jesus Christ was not a scribe or literary critic: His mission was much higher. Answer Second: Jesus had to plead his Messiahship at the bar of the Scriptures as then current; and any criticism by Him of the nation’s Sacred Documents might have placed a needless obstacle in the people’s path. We thus conclude that the objection may and should be set aside as inconclusive, and so fall back on the reasons given why the Divine Name should be suffered uniformly to appear.

B. In What Form?

1. Why not in the form “Jehovah”? Is that not euphonious? It is, without question. Is it not widely used? It is, and may still be freely employed to assist through a period of transition. But it is not hallowed and endeared by many a beautiful hymn and many a pious memory? Without doubt; and therefore it is with reluctance that it is here declined. But why is it not accepted? There it is—familiar, acceptable, ready for adoption. The reason is, that it is too heavily burdened with merited critical condemnation—as modern, as a compromise, as a “mongrel” word, “hybrid,” “fantastic,” “monstrous.” The facts have only to be known to justify this verdict, and to vindicate the propriety of not employing it in a new and independent translation. What are the facts? And first as to age. “The pronunciation Jehovah was unknown until 1520, when it was introduced by Galatinus; but was contested by Le Mercier, J. Drusius, and L. Capellus, as against grammatical and historical propriety.” Next, as to formation. “Erroneously written and pronounced Jehovah which is merely a combination of the sacred Tetragrammaton and the vowels in the Hebrew word

for Lord, substituted by the Jews for \textit{J H V H}, because they shrank from pronouncing The Name, owing to an old misconception of the two passages, Ex. xx. 7 and Lev. xxiv. 16…To give the name \textit{J H V H} the vowels of the word for Lord (Heb. Adonai) and pronounce it \textit{Jehovah} is about as hybrid a combination as it would be to spell the name \textit{Germany} with the vowels in the name \textit{Portugal}—viz., \textit{Gormuna}. The monstrous combination \textit{Jehovah} is not older than about 1520 A.D.” From this we may gather that the Jewish scribes are not responsible for the “hybrid” combination. They intentionally wrote alien vowels—\textit{not} for combination with the sacred consonants, but for the purpose of cautioning the Jewish reader to enunciate a totally different word, viz., some other familiar name of the Most High.

2. The form “\textit{Yahweh}” is here adopted as practically the best. The only competing form would be “\textit{Yehweh},” differing, it will be observed, only in a single vowel—“\textit{e}” for “\textit{a}” in the first syllable. But even this difference vanishes on examination. It is true the “\textit{Yehweh}” is intended to suggest the derivation of the noun from the simple (\textit{Kal}) conjugation of the verb, and that some scholars take “\textit{Yahweh}” as indicating a formation from the causative (\textit{Hiphil}) conjugation; but, since other scholars (presumably because of the aspirate \textit{h}) regard “\textit{Yahweh}” itself as consistent with a \textit{Kal} formation, thereby leaving us free to accept the spelling “\textit{Yahweh}” without prejudging the question of the precise line of derivation from the admitted root \textit{hâyâh}, we may very well accept the spelling now widely preferred by scholars, and write the name—“\textit{Yahweh}.”

3. The exact pronunciation claims a word to itself. “The true pronunciation seems to have been \textit{Yahwè} (or \textit{Iahway}, the initial \textit{I}=”y, as in Iachimo). The final \textit{e} should be pronounced like the French \textit{ê}, or the English \textit{e} in \textit{there}, and the first \textit{h} sounded as an aspirate. The accent should be on the final syllable.”\textsuperscript{a} This statement gives rise to a question of rhythm, which is sure sooner or later to make itself felt. We are so used to the three syllables of the form “\textit{Jehovah},” with its delightfully varied vowels, that we shrink back dismayed in anticipation of the disturbing effect on our Psalmody of the substitution of \textit{Yahweh}’ for \textit{Jehóvah}. Our apprehensions may be dismissed. The readjustment is mainly the business of our hymn-writers; and if it should prove literally true, that “new mercies” shall “new songs” demand, which shall enshrine a new accent in a new rhythm, then we may rest assured that sanctified genius and enthusiasm will prove equal to the occasion. The Translator of \textit{The Emphasised Bible} has in his own humble province recast a good many lines in his rendering of “The Psalms” in consideration of the modified rhythm now required. As for the rest, it may with confidence be counted upon that increasing familiarisation and the silent growth of hallowed memories will ultimately render thrice welcome what was at first so strange.

III.—The Name Explained.

1. It certainly appears to be explained in Exodus iii. 14. It does not follow that the statements there made are rightly understood; nor can any compelling reason be assigned why a translator should be ready to expound everything which he has to represent in English. Nevertheless, the correct rendering of the above passage is so connected with the meaning of The Name, that, were

it not for special reasons, the attempt now to be made might not have provoked the charge of presumption. As it is, the reproach of rashness cannot easily be escaped.

2. Confessedly it is very discouraging to find the editor of the Polychrome Bible declaring bluntly: “The meaning of J H V H is uncertain.” That it is uncertain would appear to be the natural conclusion deducible from the varieties of meaning summed up in the Oxford Gesenius under the name “Yahweh.”

3. As against this discouragement it may be considered whether the Old Testament does not strongly embolden us to hope that greater success and greater unanimity may yet be attained. Is not a hidden name almost a contradiction in terms? Does not “name” in the Bible very widely imply revelation? Men’s names are throughout the Scriptures fraught with significance, enshrining historical incidents, biographical reminiscences, and so forth; and why should the Name of the Ever-Blessed be an exception to this rule? Does not the Almighty Himself employ this Name of His as though it had in it some self-evident force and fitness to reveal His nature and unfold His ways? His Name is continually adduced by Himself as His reason for He does and what He commands: “For I am Yahweh.” Israel and the nations are placed under discipline, says the Divine Speaker, “that they may know that I am Yahweh.” Is it not probable, then, that His Name was intended to be understood? Thus encouraged, we proceed; only requesting that the exposition which follows may be regarded as—

(a) The conclusion formed may be thus expressed: The Name itself signifies, “He who becometh”; and the formula by which that significance is sustained and which is rendered in the Authorised Version “I am that I am,” expresses the sense, “I will become whatsoever I please”; or, as more exactly indicating the idiom involved, “I will become whatsoever I may become.” We amplify the “may,” and more freely suggest the natural latitude which the idiom claims, by saying: “Whatsoever I will, may, or can become.”

(b) The reasons for this conclusion are two: First, that it gives the simplest, most obvious, most direct force to the derivation of The Name itself, as generally admitted. Yahweh is almost always regarded as the third person, singular, masculine, imperfect tense, from the root hawah, an old form of the root hayah. The one meaning of hawah is “become.” So that the force of yahweh thus derived, as a verb, would be “He will become”; or, as expressive of use and wont, “He becometh.” Then, passing into use as a noun, it is—“He who becometh,” “The Becoming One.” That is precisely how any other Hebrew name would be formed and would yield up its inherent significance. Thus viewed, its human-like simplicity would be its great recommendation. If the Eternal would speak to man so as to be understood, we seem compelled to expect that He will speak after the manner of men. And if after the manner of men He pleases to take and bear a Name, it would seem the very perfection of condescension that His Name should be formed after the manner of men’s names. Second, the sense of the formula given above is very simply and idiomatically obtained. The formula itself is ‘ehyeh ‘asher ‘ehyeh, in which it should be noted that the verb ‘ehyeh, “I will become,” runs forward into a reduplication of itself; for it is that which constitutes the idiom. As a mere repetition, the assertion would be unmeaning. To escape this we must resort to mystery or imagination or—idiom. How if the mystery itself is imaginary; and where is imagination to end? how is it to be reduced to any trusty significance? Would it not be more humble and childlike to be prepared to find that the All-wise and All-loving is simply addressing us in an idiom of our own? We have many such idiomatic formulae even in English: “I will speak what I will speak,” and the like. Only, after the manner of our tongue, we avoid the semblance of meaningless repetition by emphasising the auxiliary verb: “I will speak what I will speak”—my mind is made up; or “I will speak what I can, may, must speak”—according to need and opportunity. Now, in Hebrew, the future (imperfect, or incipient) tense (the one used here) is freely employed to express mood; in other words, to convey those nicer shades of thought which in English are conveyed by such helping words as “will,” “can,” “may,” “could,” “would,” “might,” “must.” The only question is whether we can assure ourselves that we are not acting fancifully in resorting to that principle of interpretation in important statement before us. Have we any examples of such an idiom finding place where, as in Exo. iii. 14, a word is folded back upon itself? As a matter of fact, we have in the Old Testament at least three examples in which the recognition of this simple idiom brings out an excellent sense, and in which the Authorised Version leads the way (followed by the Revised) in so expressing the sense.

Example I.—1 Samuel xxiii. 13, A.V. and R.V.: “And they went wheresoever they could go.” Heb.: “wayyithhallēku ba ’asher yithhallaku.” Freely: “And they wandered wheresoever they could, would, or might wander.” The repetition is there, and the idiom, and the clear sense of it.

Example II.—2 Samuel xv. 20, A.V. and R.V.: “Seeing I go whither I may.” Heb.: “wa ‘ani hōlēk ‘al ‘asher ‘ani hōlēk.” Lit.: “And (or seeing) I am going whither I am going.” Again the repetition, again the idiom, again the fit sense thereby conveyed.

Example III.—2 Kings viii. 1, A.V. and R.V.: “And sojourn wheresoever thou canst sojourn.” Heb.: “wēgūrī ba ’asher thagūrī.” In the first passage the auxiliary is “could”; in the second, “may”; in the third, “canst.” Idiom is recognised in all, and through it the meaning is seized and well expressed.

We thus gain all needful countenance for the idiomatic explication of Exo. iii. 14:

I will become whatsoever I will—may—can—become.
The only difficulty is to suggest the suitable latitude, without multiplying words and without violating any known characteristic of the Speaker. Perhaps the best word on this momentous occasion is: “what I please,” since we know that the Divine resources are infinite, and that God will please to become to His people only what is wisest and best. Thus viewed, the formula becomes a most gracious promise; the Divine capacity of adaptation to any circumstances, any difficulties, any necessities that may arise, becomes a veritable bank of faith to such as love God and keep His commandments. The formula is a promise, the promise is concentrated in a Name. The Name is at once a revelation, a memorial, a pledge. To this Name, God will ever be faithful; of it He will never be ashamed; by it He may ever be truthfully proclaimed and gratefully praised.

||This|| is my name to times age-abiding,
And ||this|| my memorial to generation after generation.\(^a\)

Praise ye Yah,
For good' is Yahweh,
Sing praises to his name,
For it is sweet.\(^b\)

Praise Yahweh, all ye nations,
Laud him, all ye tribes of men;
For his lovingkindness hath prevailed over us,
And the faithfulness of Yahweh is to times age-abiding.
Praise ye Yah.\(^c\)

5. Whether the foregoing explanation is ever likely to be generally accepted or not, one thing appears to be more and more certain the more evidence is considered, that the name Yahweh has some inherent meaning of great force and graciousness; at the very least a significance of sufficient peculiarity to make it more fitting to be employed on some occasions than on others. This conclusion, which on its own merits will scarcely be denied, invests the matter with a literary interest which it will be fair not to forget. It may deliver the most open-minded critic from a too ready resort to documentary hypotheses to account for the presence or absence of The Name in or from some verses, sections, and books. The use of previous documents may go some way to account for the appearance and disappearance of that Name; but internal fitness to be avoided or employed may be an equally feasible explanation. Leaving aside the interesting question whether the sudden appearance of the name Yahweh in combination with Elohim in Genesis ii. may not owe its presence to the tenour of the new section which commences at verse 4, in view of Man’s coming upon the scene, there are some examples of the presence and absence of The Name to which any documentary hypothesis would appear to be altogether alien. For instance, is it not indicative of what we may call changed moral atmosphere the the prologue of the Book of Job (chapters i. and ii.) and the epilogue (chapters xxxviii.–xlii.) should be replete with the especially gracious proper name “Y,” whereas throughout the whole of the doubting, questioning, arguing portion of the Book The Name should occur only once, chapter xii. 9, and then with uncertain attestation? It appears to be equally indicative of a most delicate sense of fitness, that, whereas The Name is employed on an average nearly once in each of the eight-versed sections of Psalm cxix.—a Psalm pervaded by the atmosphere of sustained communion with Yahweh—the one exception, in which a less sacred divine name is used is the single instance in which the Psalmist’s mind comes into contact with the colder air of disloyalty to the Gracious Being whom he himself delighted to worship:—

“Depart from me, ye evil-doers,—
    That I may observe the commandments of my God.”

It is with a feeling of lively satisfaction that the materials for judgment concerning all such peculiarities of sacred usage are now clearly set forth in the pages of THE EMPHASISED BIBLE.

The above Table may be put to an interesting special use. It will enable the merely English reader to trace the similarity of certain Hebrew letters, as the well-known cause of errors of transcription. For example, he can perceive how minute is the difference in form between daleth and resh, and how easily “silenced” might creep in where “uplifted” should have stood, or vice versa, in Psalm cxxxi. 2 (see note there): and similarly how readily ken should have ousted ben in Prov. xi. 19.

N.B.—The vowel á may be pronounced as a in father; and é as e in there.

The characters inside the parentheses are what Rotherham originally utilized. Publisher chose to further include current Hebrew characters (to left of parentheses).

| Mas.         | The Massorah: a marginal directory, indicating on almost every line in the margin of the MS. Bibles how the letters, words, forms, and phrases are to be written according to the most ancient rules laid down by those who compiled, preserved, and transmitted the Canon of the Old Testament Scriptures. This invaluable key to the text of the Old Testament is called Massorah (tradition), because it was traditionally handed down by the authorised and professional scribes, who afterwards committed it to writing. No single MS. contains the whole. To obtain the whole Massoretic apparatus it was absolutely necessary to examine minutely all the accessible MSS. This work had never been done before, until forty years ago Dr. Ginsburg began the work. After twenty years of incessant labour he commenced printing the Massorah. He afterwards framed a text which embodied the results of his researches. This text—the Hebrew Bible edited by Dr. Ginsburg and accompanied by Hebrew Notes—was published by the Trinitarian Bible Society in 1894, thirty-three years after the work of collating was begun: hence the name “Massoretico-Critical edition of the Hebrew Bible.” Jacob b. Chayim, editor of the Hebrew Received Text, had neither time nor opportunity to collate the different MSS. in the different parts of Europe. Hence that which he printed in the margin and at the end of his great Bible (1524–25) is not merely a small part of the Massorah, but is exceedingly incorrect. (Condensed from Dr. Ginsburg’s “Provisional” Circular, issued in 1881, and re-issued in 1894.)

TABLE III.

SIGNS\(^a\) OF EMPHASIS. (See ante, Intro., Chapter II.)

The symbols used in the Old Testament are the same as those employed in the New—namely:

\[',|,||,<>\text{ and }\]

Those most frequently adopted are the two which call for decided stress:

1. ||||, when the English words appear in their usual, uninverted order, though the corresponding words are known to be emphatic in the Hebrew.

2. <>, when there is an inversion in the English arrangement as well as in that of the Hebrew. Sometimes the inverted and emphatically preplaced portion of the sentence is of some length, extending to a line or more. In such cases the angular marks frequently appear in darker type (thus <<>),\(^c\) so as to be conspicuous, thereby also setting free the lighter marks to show a short inversion within a longer one (cp. Jer. vii. 5, 6). If it be remembered that a closing angular symbol never completes a sentence, but always demands a sequel before the statement is finished, both mind and voice will be materially assisted.

3. The two symbols (’ and |) are used almost indifferently to denote slight emphasis; the accent being generally preferred for single words, and the single vertical lines for the inclusion of more than one word in the effect.

4. The , symbol is utilized as a type of “half comma” in order to allow the comma to function as it was intended in English, as a division between clauses.

*** Any simplification observable in this method, as compared with that followed in the New Testament, may be fairly set down to the simpler elements and structure of Hebrew composition. The principle throughout is the same.

\(^b\) This symbol was not annotated in the original Emphasised Bible. Since it isn’t a common punctuation mark in more current English, publisher adds it here.

\(^c\) Simply setting the less-than and greater-than symbols (“angular marks”) to bolded type did not make a noticeable visual difference in the text. Publisher took the liberty of substituting them with \(\leq\geq\) (less-than-or-equal-to and greater-than-or-equal-to symbols).
THE BOOK OF GENESIS.

Chapter 1.

1 <In the beginning> a God b created the heavens and the earth.

2 Now [the earth] d had become waste and wild, e and [darkness] f was on the face of the roaring deep. g— but [the Spirit of God] was brooding on the face of the waters. j And God said’—

And light was’. 4 And God saw’ the light, that it was [good],— and God divided’ [the light] from the [darkness]; 5 and God called’ [the light] [day], but <the darkness> called he [night]. So it was k evening—and it was l morning, [one] day.l

6 And God said’,

Let there be an expanse in the midst of the waters,—and let it be a means of dividing, between waters and waters.n

a Or: “At first.” The definite article in the rendering, “In the beginning,” cannot safely be pressed, inasmuch as the phrase may, as preferred by many expositors ancient and modern, be simply construed with what follows: “In the beginning of God’s creating,” &c.

b Heb.: ālōhîyam. “Prob. a plural of quality—‘God-head’ (as our ‘Lordship’—‘Lord’)—Davies’ H.L., p. 9. It should be carefully observed that, although ālōhîyam is plural in form, yet when, as here, it is construed with a verb in the singular, it is naturally singular in sense; especially since the “plural of quality” or “excellence” abounds in Hebrew in cases where the reference is undeniably to something which must be understood in the singular number.

c “Prop. ‘to cut’ or ‘carve’: hence, ‘form,’ ‘create’”—Davies’ H.L., p. 108; “shape, create”—O.G.: not necessarily, nor generally, to make out of nothing, cp. verses 21, 27; chap. ii. 3; and Num. xvi. 30. Seeing that, outside this passage, no example in the O.T. can be found wherein a making out of nothing is plainly intended by the Heb. bârâ’, the reader who insists on that meaning here does so on his own responsibility. The gratuitous introduction of difficulties should of course be avoided.

d The emphasis on “the earth” in ver. 2 is quite regular. (Cp. Intro., Synopsis, A., a.) The effect of it here is to single out “the earth” from ver. 1 for special comment.

e Heb.: tōhû wā-vōhu. Evidently an idiomatic phrase, with a play on the sound (“assouance”). The two words occur together only in Is. xxxiv. 11; Jer. iv. 23; examples which favour the conclusion that here also they describe the result of previous overthrow. Tōhû by itself is found in several other texts (Deu. xxxii. 10; Job xii. 24; Ps. cvii. 40; Is. xxiv. 10; xxxiv. 11; etc).

f Cp. 2 Co. iv. 6.

g Heb. tehôm; Sep. “the abyss.”

h This “but” is not demanded by the particle waw in itself, but springs naturally out of the tenour of the clause it introduces. The beautiful word “brooding”—an exact rendering of the Heb.—is most suggestive; since it vividly describes the cherishing of incipient life, as a preparation for its outburst. The participial form of such a word clearly denotes a process, more or less lengthened, rather than an instantaneous act.

Standing where it does, it crowns the description of the condition of things on which the first creative mandate of the six days took effect.

i The rendering given above of these two important verses may be paraphrased as follows:— “In the beginning [of the present order of things] God created [that is, shaped or formed according to his own divine idea] the heavens [above] and the earth [below]. “Now the earth [emphasised idiomatically for the purpose of singling it out for first remark] had become waste and wild [probably by previous catastrophe]; and darkness [emphasised as about to be dealt with] was on the face of the roaring deep; but [preparing the mind for a new order of things] the Spirit of God was brooding [with quickening effect] on the face of the waters. And [things being so; such being the state of the earth] God said [and thus the renewing, re-creating divine acts commence].”

j Or: “became,” “came to be.” Connected with the opening word “so,” the simple verb “was” has the same force. Cp. verses 8, 13, 19, 23, 31.

k Cp. ver. 5, n.

l By a well-attested Heb. idiom—a “first day.” Here grammatical exegesis steps in and claims its own. Two ways of explaining this striking “refrain” are conceivable—the one, unnatural and absurd; the other, at once living and luminous. Either this six-times-repeated statement is a mere extraneous patch of information, having no organic connection with the creative acts amongst which it is inlaid—which no thoughtful reader can seriously suppose—or else on each occurrence it grows out of what has gone before. This being conceded, and the words then being grammatically rendered, the reader is on the high road to a correct decipherment of the days, as God-divided rather than sun-divided. Did the calling forth of “light” constitute the first morning? If it did, then the previous “darkness” and the preparatory “brooding” must surely have constituted the first “evening.” Then how long was the first day? If no one knows, then no one say what was the length of the six days. Essential harmony suggests as a crown to the exegesis: That, as is man the little worker, doing a small work on six short days, so is God the great worker, doing a large work on six long, far-reaching days.

n Gt. (w. Sep.): “And it was so” shd be added—G.n.
7 And God made the expanse, and it divided between the waters that were under [the expanse] and the waters that were above [the expanse]. And it was so.
8 And God called [the expanse], [heavens]. So it was evening—and it was morning, a [second] day.

9 And God said—
Let the waters under the heavens [be gathered together] into one [place], and let the dry-ground appear.
And it was so.
10 And God called [the dry-ground] [land], but <the gathering together of the waters> called he [seas]. And God saw that it was [good].

11 And God said—
Let the land put-forth vegetation—herb [yielding seed, fruit-tree], bearing fruit after its kind, whose seed is within it, on the land.
And it was so.
12 And the land brought-forth vegetation—herb [yielding seed after its kind, and tree] bearing fruit, whose seed is within it, after its kind. And God saw that it was [good].
13 So it was evening—and it was morning, a [third] day.

14 And God said—
Let there be luminaries in the expanse of the heavens, to divide between the day and the night, [and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days and years]; yea let them be for luminaries, in the expanse of the heavens, to give light on the earth.
And it was so.
15 And God made the two great luminaries,—the greater luminary to rule the day, and the lesser luminary to rule the night, [also the stars].
16 And God set them in the expanse of the heavens, to give light on the earth; and to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was [good].
19 So it was evening—and it was morning, a [fourth] day.

20 And God said—
Let the waters swarm [with] an abundance of living soul, [and] birds shall fly over the earth, [over the face of the expanse of the heavens].
21 And God created the great sea-monsters,—and every living soul that moveth,—[with] which the waters swarmed after their kind, and every winged bird,—after its kind. And God saw that it was [good].
22 And God blessed them, saying,—Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let [the birds] multiply in the land.
23 So it was evening—and it was morning, a [fifth] day.

24 And God said—
Let the land [bring forth] living soul, after its kind, tame-beast and creeping thing and wild-beast of the land, after its kind.
And it was so.
25 And God made the wild-beast of the land, after its kind, and the tame-beast, after its kind, and every creeping thing of the ground, after its kind. And God saw that it was [good].
26 And God said—
Let us make man in our image, after our likeness,—and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the bird of the heavens, and over the tame-beast—and over all the land, and over every creeping thing, that creepeth on the land.
27 And God created the man [in his own image],—In the image of God created he [him],— Male and female created he, [them].
28 And God blessed them, and God said to them—Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth, and subdue it,—and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the bird of the heavens, and over every living thing that moveth on the land.

a Gi. (w. Sep.): “And it was so,” here, shd be omitted—G.r.n.
The Sep. here adds:—And the waters were gathered together, from under the heavens, into their place, and the dry ground appeared.—G.r.n.
In ver. 3. ‘ôr, lightdiffused; here mî ’ôr, affording light.
Note the collective use of the word. Same word: vers. 21, 24, 30 (where the partitive sense is to be carefully observed), and ii. 7, 19, etc. Cp. N.T. Ap.: “Soul.”

b Mil: “living thing;” esp. “wild,” as opposed to “tame”—Davies’ H.L. “wild animals,” on account of their vital energy and activity”—O.G. 312.
C Cp. chap. i. 24.
K Gi. (w. Syr.): “over all the wild-beasts of the land”—G.n.
The first snatch of poetry in the Bible. Cp. Introd., Chapter I., 2., c.
M The Sep. ends the verse thus (after the word “heavens”):—
And God said—

Lo! I have given to you—every herb yielding seed which is on the face of all the land, and every tree wherein is the fruit of a tree, yielding seed,—to you shall it be, for food; and to every living thing of the land—and to every bird of the heavens, and to every thing that moveth on the land, wherein is a living soul, every green herb for food].

And it was so. And God saw everything which he had made, and lo! it was very good. So it was evening—and it was morning, the sixth day.

Chapter 2.

1 Thus were finished the heavens and the earth, and all their host. 2 Thus God finished [on the seventh] day his work which he had made, and rested, on the seventh day, from all his work which he had made. 3 And God blessed the seventh day, and hallowed it,—because he had rested he from all his work which God [by creating] had made.

4 [[These]] are the geneses of the heavens and the earth, when they were created,—in the day when Yahweh God made earth and heavens.

5 Now [[no bush of the field]] as yet—was in the earth, and [[no herb of the field]] as yet had sprung up,—because Yahweh God had not sent rain on the earth, and [[man]] was there none to till the ground; but [[a vapour]] went up from the earth,—and watered all the face of the ground. 7 So then Yahweh God formed a man, [of] the dust of the ground, and breathed in his nostrils the breath of life—and man became a living soul.

8 And Yahweh God planted a garden in Eden, on the east,—and put there the man whom he had formed.

9 And Yahweh God [caused to spring up] out of the ground every tree pleasant to the sight and good for food,—and the tree of life, in the midst of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

10 Now [[a river]] was coming forth out of Eden, to water the garden,—and <from thence> it parted, and became four heads. 11 [[The name of the one]] is Pishon,—[[the same]] is that which surroundeth all the land of Havilah, where is gold; 12 moreover [[the gold of that land]] is good,—<there> is the bdellium, and the beryl stone. 13 And [[the name of the second]] river is Gihon,—[[the same]] is that which surroundeth all the land of Cush. 14 And [[the name of the third]] river is Hiddekel, [[the same]] is that which goeth in front of Assyria; and [[the fourth river]] is Euphrates.

15 So Yahweh God took the man,—and placed him in the garden of Eden, to till it, and to keep it.

16 And Yahweh God laid command’ on the man, saying,—

<Of every tree of the garden> thou mayest eat]; 17 but <of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil> thou shalt not eat of it,—for <in the day thou eatest thereof> thou shalt [[die]].

18 And Yahweh God said’,

It is [[not good]] that the man should remain alone,—I will make for him a helper, as his counterpart.

19 Now Yahweh God had formed’ from the ground every living thing of the field, and every bird of

Chapter 3.

1 Now the serpent was more crafty than any living thing of the field which Yahweh God had made, so he said unto the woman, Can it really be, that God hath said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? 2 And the woman said unto the serpent, — Of the fruit of the trees of the garden we may eat; but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it,—lest ye die. 4 And the serpent said unto the woman,— Ye shall not die. 5 For God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof then shall your eyes be opened', —and ye shall become like God, knowing good and evil.

6 And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was desirable' to the eyes, and the tree was pleasant' to make one knowing', then took she of the fruit thereof, and did eat,—and she gave to her husband also, along with her, and he did eat. 7 Then were opened' the eyes of them both, and they knew that <naked> they were', —so they tacked together fig-leaves, and made for themselves girdles. 8 Then heard they the sound of Yahweh God, walking to and fro in the garden, at the breeze of the day, —so he hid himself—[the man with his wife], from the face of Yahweh God, amid the trees of the garden. 9 And Yahweh God called unto the man,—and said to him, Where art thou? 10 And he said, <The sound> of thee> heard I in the garden,—and I was afraid, for <naked> was I', so I hid myself. 11 And he said, Who told thee that <naked> thou wast? <Of the tree> whereof I commanded thee not to eat 12 And the man said,— <The woman whom thou didst put with me> gave me of the tree, so I did eat. 13 Then said Yahweh God to the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said,

Then said Yahweh God unto the serpent—

"Because thou hast done this, [He] shall crush thy head,

But thou shalt crush his heel."

And <enmity> will I put between thee, and the woman, and between thy seed, and her seed,—

"He" shall crush thy head,

But "thou" shall crush his heel.

<Unto the woman> he said,

I will increase thy pain of pregnancy,

In pain shalt thou bear children,—

Yet <unto thy husband> shall be thy longing, Though <.[He]rule over thee.

And <to the man> he said,

<Because thou didst hearken to the voice of thy wife, and so didst eat of the tree’ as to which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it>—

Accursed be the ground for thy sake,

In pain shalt thou eat of it, all the days of thy life;

Thorn also and thistle shall it shoot forth to thee,—when thou hast come to eat of the herb of the field:

In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, until thou return to the ground, because <therefrom> wast thou taken,—

For dust thou art,

And <unto dust> shalt thou return.

So the man called the name of his wife, Eve,—in that [she] was made mother of every one living. And Yahweh God made for the man—and for his wife—tunics of skin, and clothed them.

Then said Yahweh God—

Lo! [man] hath become like one of us, in respect of knowing good and evil,—

Now therefore, lest he thrust forth his hand, and take even of the tree of life, and eat, and live to times age-abiding.

So Yahweh God put him forth from the garden of Eden,—to till the ground wherefrom he had been taken. So he expelled the man,—and caused to dwell—in front of the garden of Eden—cherubim, and a brandishing sword-flame, to keep the way to the tree of life.

§ 4. A “seed” appears; but disappoints (Cain) or fails (Abel). Yahweh gives a substitute for Abel (Seth).

Chapter 4.

Now [the man] having come to know Eve his wife,—she conceived, and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a Man, even Yahweh!

And she went on to bear his brother, Abel,—and Abel became a feeder of sheep, whereas [Cain] was a tiller of the ground. So it came to pass <after certain days> that Cain brought in [of the fruit of the ground] a present to Yahweh: [Abel] also, even [he] brought in, of the firstlings of his sheep, and of their fat,—and Yahweh approved of Abel, and of his present; but <of Cain and his present> he approved not,—and it angered Cain greatly, and his countenance fell.

Plainly implying that, from some cause, he had not yet done so.

8 And Cain said unto Abel his brother
[Let us go into the field]d And it came to pass |when they were in the field| that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him. 9 Then said Yahweh unto Cain,
Where is Abel thy brother? And he said,
I know not, <the keeper of my brother> am ||I||? 10 And he said,
What hast thou done? <With a voice>a the shed-blood of thy brother is crying out to me from the ground.

So Yahweh set for Cain, a sign, that none finding him should smite' him
16 So Cain went forth' from the presence of Yahweh,—and dwelt in the land of Noď eastward of Eden. 17 And Cain knew his wife, and she conceived, and bare Enoch,—Now it happened that he was building a city, so he called the name of the city, after the name of his son, ||Enoch||. 18 And there was born to Enoch|Irad, and |Irad| begat Mehujael,—and |Mehujael| begat Methusael,—and |Methusael| begat Lamech. 19 And Lamech took to himself two wives,—||the name of the one| was Adah," and ||the name of the second|| Zillah. 20 And Adah bare Jabal,—||he|| was father of such as dwell in tents, and have cattle; 21 and ||[the name of his brother] was Jubal,—||he|| was fathero of everyone handling lyrep and flute. 22 And <as for Zillah> ||she|| also bare Tubal-Cain, a sharpener of every cutting instrument of bronze, and iron,'—and ||[the sister of Tubal-Cain] was Naamah. 23 Then said Lamech to his wives,

Chapter 5.

<This|| is the recordb of the generationsc of Adam,—<In the day when God created man>d <In the likeness of God> made he [him];

2 <Male and female> created he them, e—and blessed them, and called their name Adamf, [in the day they were created].

And Adam lived, a hundred and thirty years, and begat [a son] in his likeness, after his image,—and called his name, Seth: 4 and the days of Adam, after he begat Seth, were eight hundred years,— and he begat sons and daughters.5 So all the days of Adam which he lived, were nine hundred and thirty years,—and he died.

6 And Seth lived, a hundred and five years,—and begat Enosh; 7 and Seth lived, after he begat Enosh, eight hundred and seven years,—and begat sons and daughters; 8 and all the days of Seth were, nine hundred and twelve years,—and he died.

9 And Enosh lived, ninety years,—and begat Kenan; 10 and Enosh lived, after he begat Kenan, eight hundred and fifteen years,—and begat sons and daughters; 11 and all the days of Enosh were, nine hundred and five years,—and he died.

12 And Kenan lived seventy years,—and begat Mahalalel; 13 and Kenan lived, after he begat Mahalalel, eight hundred and forty years,—and begat sons and daughters; 14 and all the days of Kenan were, nine hundred and ten years,—and he died.

15 And Mahalalel lived, sixty-five years,—and begat Jared; 16 and Mahalalel lived, after he begat Jared, eight hundred and thirty years,—and begat sons and daughters; 17 and all the days of Mahalalel were, eight hundred and ninety-five years,—and he died.

18 And Jared lived, a hundred and sixty-two years, and begat Enoch; 19 and Jared lived, after he begat Enoch, eight hundred years,—and begat sons and daughters; 20 and all the days of Jared were, nine hundred and sixty-two years,—and he died.

21 And Enoch lived, sixty-five years,—and begat Methuselah; 22 and Enoch walked withb God, after he begat Methuselah, three hundred years,—and begat sons and daughters; 23 and all the days of Enoch were, three hundred and sixty-five years; 24 and Enoch walked withb God,—and was not for God had taken1 him.

25 And Methuselah lived, a hundred and eighty-seven years,—and begat Lamech; 26 and Methuselah lived, after he begat Lamech, seven hundred and eighty-two years,—and begat sons and daughters; 27 and all the days of Methuselah were, nine hundred and sixty-nine years,—and he died.

28 And Lamech lived, a hundred and eighty-two years,—and begat a son; 29 and he called his name Noah1, saying,—

||This|| one shall give us rest fromi our work, k And from the grievous toil of our hands, By reason of the ground which Yahweh hath cursed.1

30 And Lamech lived, after he begat Noah, five hundred and ninety-five years,—and begat sons and daughters; 31 and all the days of Lamech were, seven hundred and seventy-seven years,—and he died.

32 And Noah was five hundred years old,—and Noah begat Shem2, Ham3 and Japheth.4

9 ||These|| were the generations 7 of Noah, ||Noah|| was ||a righteous man, blameless|| in his generations, <with God> did Noah walk. 10 And Noah begat three sons,—Shem, Ham and Japheth. 11 And the earth 8 corrupted itself before God,—and the earth 9 was filled with violence. 12 And God beheld the earth, 8 and lo! it had corrupted itself,—surely all flesh had corrupted its way, on the earth.

13 So God said unto Noah:
||The end of all flesh|| hath come in before me, for ||filled|| is the earth 10 with violence because of them,—behold me then, destroying them with the earth. 14 Make for thee an ark of timbers of gopher, ||rooms|| shalt thou make with the ark,—and thou shalt cover it, within and without, with pitch. 15 And ||this|| is how thou shalt make it,—||three hundred cubits|| the length of the ark, ||fifty cubits|| the breadth thereof, and ||thirty cubits|| the height thereof.

<A place for light> shalt thou make to the ark, and <to a cubit> shalt thou finish it upwards, and <the opening of the ark,—in the side thereof> shalt thou put,—<with lower, second, and third [stories]> shalt thou make it. 17 And ||I|| behold me! bringing in the flood—even waters, upon the earth, 1 to destroy all flesh, wherein is the spirit of life, from under the heavens,—||everything that is in the earth|| shall cease to breathe: 18 therefore will I establish my covenant with thee,—and thou shalt enter into the ark, ||thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons’ wives|| with thee. Moreover, <of all the living creatures of all flesh—two of each> shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep alive with thee,—<male and female> shall they be. 20 <Of the bird after its kind and of the beast after its kind, [and] of every creeping thing of the ground, after its kind> ||two of each|| shall come in unto thee, for keeping alive. 21 But ||thou|| take to thee of all food that is eaten, and gather it unto thee,—and it shall be for thee and for them, for food. 22 And Noah did [so],—<according to all that God commanded him||so|| did he.

§ 8. The Entrance into the Ark.

Chapter 7.

1 And Yahweh said to Noah
Enter, [thou and all thy house], into the ark,—for <thee> have I seen righteous before me, in this generation. 2 <Of all the clean beasts> shalt thou take to thee, by sevens, a male and his female,—and <of the beasts that are not clean>, shall be two, a male and his female. 3 Also <of the bird of the heavens> by sevens, male and female—to keep alive a seed on the face of all the earth. 4 For <in seven days, more> || am sending rain on the earth, 5 forty days and forty nights,—so will I wipe out all the living things which I have made, from off the face of the ground.

And Noah did,—according to all that Yahweh commanded him. 6 Now ||[Noah]|| was six hundred years old,—when ||[the flood]|| came, even waters, on the earth. 7 So Noah entered, and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him, into the ark,—from before the waters of the flood. 8 <Of the beasts that were clean, and of the beasts that were not clean,—and of the birds,> 9 <two and two> went they in unto Noah, into the ark, <male and female>,—as God commanded Noah.

10 And it came to pass, <in the seven days>,—that ||[the waters of the flood]|| came on the earth.|11 <In the six hundredth year, the year of the life of Noah, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month,—on this day> were burst open, all the fountains of the great roaring deep, 12 and the ||windows of the heavens|| were set open. (12 And it came to pass, that the heavy rain was on the earth,—forty days and forty nights.) 13 <On this dselfsame day> entered Noah, and Shem and Ham and Japheth, Noah's sons,—and Noah's wife, and his sons' three wives with them, into the ark: 14 they, and all the wild-beasts after their kind, and all the tame-beasts after their kind, and all the creeping things that creep on the earth, 15 after their kind,—and all the birds after their kind, every bird of every wing.

So they entered in unto Noah, into the ark,—two and two of all flesh, wherein was the spirit of life. 16 And ||[they that entered]|| <male and female of all flesh> entered, as God commanded him,—and Yahweh shut him in round about.

§ 10. Increase and Continuance of the Flood.

17 And it came to pass, that the flood was forty days on the earth,—and the waters increased, and bare up the ark, and it was lifted high above the earth. 18 And the waters prevailed and increased greatly, on the earth,—and the ark went its way on the face of the waters. 19 Yea ||[the waters]|| prevailed very greatly, on the earth,—so that all the high mountains became covered, that were under all the heavens: 20 <fifteen cubits upwards> prevailed the waters,—so that the mountains became covered. 21 And all flesh ceased to breathe that moved on the earth, of birds and of tame-beasts and of wild-beasts, and of all the swarming things that swarm on the earth,—||[and all mankind]]. 22 ||All in whose nostrils was the breath of the spirit of life, of all that were on the dry ground, died. 23 Thus was wiped out all that existed on the face of the ground, from man unto beast, unto creeping thing, and unto the bird of the heavens, thus were they wiped out from the earth,—so that there was left—only Noah and they that were with him in the ark. 24 Thus prevailed the waters on the earth,—a hundred and fifty days.

Chapter 8.

1 And God remembered Noah, and all the wild-beasts, and all the tame-beasts that were with him in the ark,—and God caused a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters subsided; and the fountains of the roaring-deep were shut, and the windows of the heavens,—and the heavy rain was restrained from the heavens:

2 and the waters returned from off the earth, and the waters had abated, from off the face of the ground;

3 and God remembered Noah, and the waters returned from off the earth, and the waters abated from off the earth.

4 And Noah rested in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month,—on the mountains of Ararat.

5 But [the waters] went on decreasing, until the tenth month,—<in the tenth [month], on the first of the month> were seen the tops of the mountains. And it came to pass <at the end of forty days> that Noah opened the window of the ark that he had made; and sent forth a raven,—and it kept going forth and returning, until the drying up of the waters from off the earth. And he sent forth a dove from him,—to see whether the waters had abated, from off the face of the ground;

6 but the dove found no resting-place for the sole of her foot, so she returned unto him into the ark, for [the waters] were on the face of all the earth, and he put forth his hand, and took her, and brought her in unto him, into the ark. Then stayed he yet seven days more,—and sent forth the dove, out of the ark. And the dove came in unto him at eventide, and lo! [a newly sprouted olive-leaf] in her mouth,—so Noah knew that the waters had abated from off the earth. And he stayed yet seven days more,—and sent forth the dove, but she returned not again unto him any more.

§ 12. The End of the Flood.

13 So it came to pass <in the six hundred and first year, at the beginning, on the first of the month> that the waters had dried up from off the earth; and Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked, and lo! the face of the ground was dried. And <in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month> was the earth dry.

14 So then, God spake to Noah, saying:

16 Come forth, out of the ark,—thou, and thy wife, and thy sons, and thy sons’ wives, with thee. All the living creatures that are with thee of all flesh, among birds, and among beasts, and among all the creeping things that creep on the earth> bring forth with thee,—and they shall swarm in the earth, and be fruitful and multiply, on the earth.

18 So Noah came forth,—and his sons, and his wife, and his sons’ wives, with him: All the living creatures, all that move along, and all birds, and all that moveth along over the earth—by their families> came forth out of the ark.

20 And Noah builded an altar to Yahweh,—and took her, and brought her out of the ark. And Noah rested and celebrated: The Rainbow.

21 And Yahweh smelled a satisfying odour, so Yahweh said to himself:

I will not [again] curse any more’ the ground, for man’s sake, although [the device of the heart of man] be wicked from his youth,— neither will I [again, any more] smite every living thing, as I have done.

22 <During all the days of the earth> [seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night] shall not cease.

Chapter 9.

1 So God blessed’ Noah and his sons,—and said to them,

Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth;

and let [the fear of you and the dread of you] be upon every living creature of the earth, and upon every bird of the heavens,—over everything that moveth along on the ground, and over all the fishes of the sea,—<into your hand> have they been given.

6 And [the sons of Ham]: Cush and Mizraim and Phut and Canaan. 7 And [the sons of Cush]: Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah and Raamah, and Sabtechah,—And [the sons of Raamah]: Sheba and Dedan. 8 And [Cush] begat Nimrod,—[he] became a hero in the earth. 9 [he] became a hero of hunting before Yahweh, <for this cause> it is said,

Like Nimrod, a hero of hunting before Yahweh.

10 So the beginning of his kingdom came to be Babel, and Erech, and Accad and Calneh,—in the land of Shinar. 11 [From that land] went forth Asshur,—and he built Nineveh, and Rehoboth-ir, and Calah; and Resen, between Niveveh and Calah,—[the same] is the great city. 12 And [Mizraim] begat Ludim and Anamim and Lehabim, and Naphtuchim:

13 and Pathrusim and Casluhim, whence came forth Philistim and Caphtorim. 14 And [Canaan] begat Zidon his firstborn, and Heth;

15 and the Jebusite, and the Amorite, and the Gergashite; 16 and the Hivite and the Arkite, and the Sinite; 17 and the Avadite and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite,—and <afterwards> were spread abroad the families of the Canaanite. 18 And it came to pass, that the boundary of the Canaanite was from Zidon, as thou enterest in towards Gerar, unto Gaza,—as thou enterest in towards Sodom and Gomorrah and Admah and Zeboim, as far as Lasha. 19 [These] are the sons of Ham, by their families, by their tongues,—in their lands, in their nations.

20 Now <to Shem> father of all the sons of Eber, elder brother of Japheth <to him also> were children born. 21 [The sons of Shem]: Elam and Asshur,—and Arpachshad, and Lud and Aram. 22 And [the sons of Aram]: Uz and Hul, and Gether and Mash. 23 Now [Arpachshad] begat Shelah,—[Shelah] begat Eber. 24 And <to Eber> were born two sons,—[the name of the one] was Peleg, <for in his days> was the earth divided, and [the name of his brother] was Joktan. 25 Now [Joktan] begat Almodad, and Sheleph,—and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah; 26 and Hadoram and Uzai, and Diklah;

27 and Obal and Abimael, and Sheba; 28 and Ophir and Havilah, and Jobab,—[all these] were sons of Joktan. 29 And it came to pass that their dwelling was from Mesha,—as thou enterest in towards Sephar, the mountain of the east. 30 [These] are the sons of Shem, by their families, by their tongues,—in their lands, by their nations.

31 [These] are the families of the sons of Noah, by their generations in their nations,—and <from these> were dispersed the nations in the earth, after the flood.

Chapter 11.

1 So it came to pass that [all the earth] was of one manner of speech,—and of one stock of words. 2 And it came to pass <as they brake away onwards>, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar, and dwelt there. 3 Then said they, each man to his friend,

Come on! let us make bricks, and burn them thoroughly,—

So [the bricks] served them [for stone], and [bitumen] served them for mortar. 4 And they said,

Come on! let us build for ourselves a city, and a tower with its head in the heavens, so let us make for ourselves a name,—lest we be scattered abroad over the face of all the earth.
And Yahweh came down, to behold the city, and the tower,—which the sons of men had built.
Then said Yahweh:

Lo! one people, and <one manner of speech> have they all, ||this|| then is what they have begun’ to do,—||now|| therefore, nothing will be withheld from them, which they may plan to do.

Come on! let us go down, and there’ confuse their speech,—that they may not understand, each man the speech of his friend.

So Yahweh scattered them from thence, over the face of all the earth,—and so they left off building the city.
<For this cause> was the name thereof called Babel [=“Confusion”]; because <there> did Yahweh confuse’ the speech of all the earth,—and <from thence> did Yahweh scatter them abroad, over the face of all the earth.

§ 17. From Shem to Abraham.

||These|| are the genealogies of Shem, ||Shem|| was a hundred years old when he begat Arpachshad, two years after the flood; and Shem lived, after he begat Arpachshad, five hundred years,—and begat sons and daughters.

And ||Arpachshad|| lived thirty-five years,—and begat Shelah;
and Arpachshad lived, after he begat Shelah, four hundred and three years,—and begat sons and daughters.
And ||Shelah|| lived thirty years,—and begat Eber;
and Eber lived, after he begat Eber, four hundred and three years,—and begat sons and daughters.
And Eber lived, thirty-four years,—and begat Peleg;

and Eber lived, after he begat Peleg, four hundred and thirty years,—and begat sons and daughters.
And Peleg lived thirty years, and begat Reu;
and Peleg lived, after he begat Reu, two hundred and nine years,—and begat sons and daughters.

And Reu lived thirty-two years,—and begat Serug;
and Reu lived, after he begat Serug, two hundred and seven years, and begat sons and daughters.
And Serug lived thirty years,—and begat Nahor;
and Serug lived, after he begat Nahor, two hundred years,—and begat sons and daughters.
And Nahor lived twenty-nine years,—and begat Terah;
and Nahor lived, after he begat Terah, a hundred and nineteen years,—and begat sons and daughters.
And Terah lived seventy years,—and begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

§ 18. The Father and Relatives of Abram. Migration begun and suspended.

||These|| then are the generations< of Terah, ||Terah|| begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran,—and ||Haran|| begat Lot< and Haran died, in the presence of Terah his father,—in the land of his birth, in Ur of the Chaldees.
And Abram and Nahor took to themselves wives; the name of Abram’s wife was Sarai< and the name of Nahor’s wife, Milcah, daughter of Haran, father of Milcah, and father of Iscah.<

And |Sarai| remained |barren,—|she had no child.
And Terah took Abram his son, and Lot son of Haran, his son’s son, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, wife of Abram his son,—and came forth with them< out of Ur of the Chaldees, that they might go their way towards the land of Canaan, and they came in as far as Haran, and dwelt there.
And the days of Terah were two hundred and five years,—and Terah died in Haran.<

Chapter 12.

1 And Yahweh said unto Abram:
Come* thou on thy way,
Out of thy land and out of the place of thy birth, and out of the house of thy father,—
Unto the land that I will show thee;

That I may make thee into a great nation,
And bless thee, and make great thy name,
And become thou a blessing;

That I may bless them who bless thee,
But <him who maketh light of thee> will I curse,—
So shall be [blessed in thee], all the families of the ground;b

And Abram came on his way, according to that which Yahweh had spoken unto him, and Lot came with him,—now ||Abram|| was seventy-five years old, when he came forth out of Haran.
And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, with all the goods that they had gathered and the souls that they had gained in Haran,—and they came forth to go towards the land of Canaan, and came in to^ the land of Canaan.
And Abram passed along throughout the land, as far as the place of Shechem, as far as the Teacher's Terebinth,d [the Canaanite] being [then] in the land.
And Yahweh appeared unto Abram, and said:
<To thy seed> will I give this land,—
And he built there, an altar, unto Yahweh who appeared unto him.
And he moved on from thence towards the hill country, on the east of Bethel, and pitched his tent,—with Bethel on the west, and Ai on the east, and built there an altar to Yahweh, and called on the name of Yahweh.
Thus Abram brake up, again and again towards the South.8

§ 20. A Famine in the Land of Promise.

And it came to pass that there was a famine in the land,—so Abram went down towards Egypt to sojourn there, because ||grievous|| was the famine in the land.
And it came to pass <when he had come near to enter into Egypt> that he said unto Sarai his wife:

Behold! I beseech thee I know that  thou art;
so will it come to pass <when the Egyptians behold thee> that they will say <His wife> this! and will slay me while <thee> they preserve alive.

Say, I beseech thee, that <my sister> art thou',— to the end it may be well with me for thy sake, so shall my soul be preserved alive because of thee.

And so it was, <when Abram entered into Egypt> the Egyptians beheld the woman, that <fair> was she exceedingly.
And the princes of Pharaoh beheld her, and praised her unto Pharaoh,—so the woman was taken to the house of Pharaoh; and <with Abram> dealt he well for her sake,—so that he came to have flocks and herds, and he-asses, and men-servants, and maid-servants, and she-asses, and camels.
And Yahweh plagued Pharaoh with great plagues, also his house,—for the matter of Sarai wife of Abram.
And Pharaoh called out to Abram, and said:

|What is this| thou hast done to me}?f
Wherefore didst thou not tell me, that she was ||thy wife||?

Wherefore' saidst thou, <My sister> she'; and so I was about to take her to me, to wife?
But, ||now|| lo! thy wife, take her and go thy way.

And Pharaoh gave command concerning him unto certain men,—and sent him away, with his wife, and all that he had.

Chapter 13.

1 So Abram came up out of Egypt, he and his wife and all that he had, and Lot with him, towards the South.
2 Now ||Abram|| was very rich,—in cattle, in silver, and in gold.
3 And he went his way, by his removals, from the South, even as far as to Bethel,—as far as the place where his tent was at the beginning, between Bethel and Ai;
4 unto the place of the altar, which he made there at first,— and Abram called, there, on the name of Yahweh.
5 Now ||Lot also, who was going with Abram|| had flocks and herds, and tents.
6 And the land suffered them not to dwell together,—because |their substance| had become |great|, so that they could not dwell together.
7 And there arose a strife a “Come.” surely, rather than “Go.” the Hebrew word meaning either. Yahweh did not “send” forth Abram, while He himself remained (in any special sense) behind. The continued divine manifestations are ahead.

betwixt the herdmens of Abram, and the herdmens of Lot. Now [the Canaanite and the Perizzite] were then dwelling in the land. 8 So then Abram said unto Lot, Pray let not cause of strife arise betwixt me and thee, or betwixt my herdmens and thy herdmens; for [brethren] are we. 9 Is not [all the land] before thee? I pray thee, separate thyself from me,—<if to the left hand> then I will go to the right, <if to the right> hand then I will go to the left.

10 So Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the circuit of the Jordan, that the place where it was well-watered,—before Yahweh destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, like the Garden of Yahweh, like the land of Egypt, as thou enterest into Zoar. 11 And Lot chose for himself all the circuit of the Jordan, so Lot brake up eastwards,—and they separated themselves, each man from his brother: 12 [Abram] fixed his dwelling in the land of Canaan,—but [Lot] fixed his dwelling among the cities of the circuit, and moved his tent as far as Sodom. 13 Now [the men of Sodom] were base and sinful,—against Yahweh exceedingly. 14 And [Yahweh] said unto Abram, after that Lot had separated himself from him,

Lift up, I pray thee, thine eyes, and look, from the place where thou art,—northward and southward, and eastward and westward; for [all the land which thou' art beholding—to thee] will I give it, and to thy seed, unto times age-abiding; 16 and I will make thy seed, as the dust of the earth,—so that [if a man can number the dust of the earth] may be numbered. 17

Rise! go up and down in the land, to the length thereof, and to the breadth thereof, for [to thee] will I give it.

18 So Abram moved his tent, and came in and dwelt among the oaks of Mamre, which were in Hebron,—and built there an altar to Yahweh.

§ 22. Abram pursues Four Kings; delivers Lot; is blessed by Melchizedec.

Chapter 14.

1 And it came to pass, <in the days of Amraphel, king of Shinar, Arioch, king of Ellasar,—Chedorlaomer, king of Elam, and Tidal, king of Goim> 2 that they made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha, king of Gomorrah,—Shinab, 3 king of Admah, and Shemeber, king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela—[the same] is Zoar. 3 [All these] joined together in the valley of the open fields, [the same] is the Salt Sea.

<Twelve years had they served Chedorlaomer,—but [in the thirteenth year] had they rebelled; 5 and [in the fourteenth year] had Chedorlaomer come in, and the kings who were with him, so they smote the Rephaim in Asheroth-karnaim, and the Zuzim in Ham,—and the Emim in Shaveh-kiriathaim; 6 and the Horites in their Mount Seir,—as far as El-paran, which is by the desert. 7 So they returned and came in unto En-mishpat, [the same] is Kadish, and smote all the field of the Amelekites,—and the Amorites also, that dwelt in Hazazzon-tamar.

8 Thus then went forth the King of Sodom and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah and the king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela—[the same] is Zoar,—and set themselves in array against them for battle, in the valley of the open fields: 9 against Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of Goim, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar,—four kings, against five. 10 Now [the valley of the open fields] had many pits of bitumen, so the king of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there,—while [they who remained] towards a mountain fled. 11 And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their food, and went their way. 12 And they took Lot, Abram’s brother’s son, with his goods, and went their way.—[he] being a dweller in Sodom.

13 Then came in a fugitive, 14 and told Abram the Hebrew,—[he] having his dwelling among the oaks of Mature the Amorite, brother of Eshcol and brother of Aner, [they] also having a covenant 1 with Abram. 14 So Abram <hearing’ that his brother had been taken captive> drew forth his trained men, born in his house, three hundred and eighteen, and pursued as far as Dan. 15 And he divided himself against them by night, ||he, and his servants||, and smote them,—and pursued them as far as Hobah, which was on the left of Damascus. 16 So he brought back all the goods,—yea <Lot also his brother, with his goods> did he bring back, and the women also, and the people.

17 Then came forth the king of Sodom to meet him, after his return from the smiting of Chedorlaomer, and the kings who were with him,—into the vale of Shaveh, ||the same|| was the vale of the king. 18 Now ||Melchizedekb king of Salem||c had brought forth bread and wine,——||he|| being priest of GOD Most High. 19 So he blessed him, and said,—Blessed be ABram, of GOD Most High, possessor of [the] heavens and earth;

And blessed’ be GOD Most High, who hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. So he gave unto him a tenth of all. 21 Then said the king of Sodom unto ABram,—Give unto me the persons,d but <the goods> take thou for thyself.

1 <After these things> came the word of Yahweh unto ABram, in a vision, saying,—Do not fear, ABram, ||I|| am a shield to thee, thine exceeding great reward.

2 And ABram said,My Lord Yahweh, what canst thou give me, when ||I|| am going on childless,—and ||the heir of my house|| is Eliezer [of Damascus]e

But ||one who cometh forth of thy body—he|| shall be thine heir

5 And he brought him forth abroad, and said—Look steadfastly, I pray thee, towards the heavens, and number the stars, if thou be able to number ||them||,

And he said to him, ||Thus|| shall be thy seed.

6 And he had faith in Yahweh,—so he reckoned it for me a heifer

Thus be Abram, of GOD Most High, possessor of [the] heavens and earth;

Who brought thee forth out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land, to inherit it.

8 And he said: My Lord Yahweh, <whereby> can I know, that I shall inherit it?

9 And he said unto him, Take for me a heifer, three years old, and a she-goat three years old, and a ram three years old, and a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon.

10 So he took for him all these, and divided them in the midst, and placed each piece over against its fellow,—but <the birds> divided he not. 11 Then came down the birds of prey upon the carcases,—and ABram drove’ them away. 12 And it came to pass <when ||the sun|| was about to go in, and ||a deep sleep|| had fallen upon ABram> lo! ||a terror—a great darkness|| was falling upon him. 13 And he said to ABram—Thou ||must surely know|| that <sojourners> will thy seed become in a land not theirs, and shall serve them, and they will humble them,—four hundred years; 14 moreover also, <the nation whom they will serve> ||I|| am going to judge, and <after that> shall they come forth with great substance.

Chapter 16.

1 But [Sarai, Abram’s wife] had borne him no children,—[she had], however, an Egyptian handmaid, whose name was Hagar. 2 So then Sarai said unto Abram,

Behold, I pray thee, Yahweh hath restrained me from bearing, go in, I pray thee, unto my handmaid, peradventure I may be built up from her,—

And Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai. 3 So Sarai, Abram’s wife, took Hagar the Egyptian, her handmaid, [at the end of ten years of Abram’s dwelling in the land of Canaan], and gave her to Abram his wife, to be to him as a wife. 4 And he went in unto Hagar, and she conceived,—and [when she saw that she had conceived] lightly esteemed was her lady, in her eyes. 5 Then said Sarai unto Abram:

Chapter 17.

1 And it came to pass that <when Abram was ninety and nine years old> Yahweh appeared unto Abram, and said unto him,
   ||[I] am GOD Almighty,—
   Walk thou before me, and become thou blameless;<sup>a</sup>
2 That I may set my covenant betwixt me and thee,
   And may multiply thee [exceedingly].
3 And Abram fell on his face,—and God spake with him, saying:
4 <As for me> lo! my covenant is with thee,—
   So shalt thou become—father of a multitude of nations;
5 And thy name shall no more be called Abram,<sup>d</sup>—but thy name shall become Abraham;<sup>e</sup> for <father of a multitude of nations> have I appointed thee;
6 And I will make thee fruitful [exceedingly], and grant thee to be nations,—
   Yea ||kings||, <out of thee> shall come forth;
7 And I will confirm my covenant betwixt me and thee, and thy seed after thee to their generations, for an age-abiding covenant,—to become to thee a God, and to thy seed after thee;
8 And I will give, to thee and to thy seed after thee, the land of thy sojournings—all the land of Canaan, for an age-abiding possession,—
   And I will be to them, a God.
9 And God said unto Abraham,
   But ||as for thee|| <my covenant> must thou keep, ||thou and thy seed after thee||, to their generations:—
10 ||This|| is my covenant, which ye shall keep, betwixt me and you, and thy seed after thee,—
   To circumscribe to you, every male:

11 So shall ye be circumcised, in the flesh of your foreskin,—
   So shall it become a sign of a covenant, betwixt me and you.
12 And ||he that is eight days old|| shall be circumcised to you, every male to your generations,—<he that is born of the house, and he that is bought with silver, of any son of a stranger, who is ||not of thy seed||>
13 ||He must surely be circumcised||, <born of thy house, or bought with thy silver>,—
   So shall my covenant be in your flesh, for an age-abiding covenant.
14 But <as for the uncircumcised male who shall not be circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin>—that person<sup>f</sup> shall be cut off from among his people. ḡ—<my covenant> hath he made void.
15 And God said unto Abraham,
   <As for Sarai thy wife> thou shalt not call her name, Sarai,—but ||Sarah|| is her name;
16 And I will bless her, yea moreover' will give—from her—to thee, ||a son||,—
   And I will bless her, and she shall become nations.
   ||Kings' of peoples|| <from her> shall arise.
17 And Abraham fell on his face, and laughed,—and said in his heart,
   <To one a hundred years old> shall a child be born?
   And shall ||even Sarah, who is ninety years old||, give birth?
18 And Abraham said unto God,—
   Oh that ||Ishmael|| might live before thee!

21 But <my covenant> will I establish with Isaac,—whom Sarah shall bear to thee, by this set time, in the next year.
22 And he left off speaking with him,—and God went up from Abraham.
23 So Abraham took Ishmael his son, and all born of his house, and all bought with his silver—every male among the men of the house of Abraham,—and circumcised the flesh of their foreskin, on this selfsame day, according to that which God had spoken with him. 24 Now [Abraham] was ninety-nine years old,—when he was circumcised, in the flesh of his foreskin. 25 And [Ishmael his son] was thirteen years old, when he was circumcised in the opening of the tent, standing over against him,—so he looked, and ran to meet them from the opening of the tent, and bowed himself to the earth; 3 and said,—
O My Lord! <if, I pray thee, I have found favour in thine eyes> do not, I pray thee, pass on from thy servant.

And they said,

<Thus> shalt thou do, as thou hast spoken.
6 So Abraham hastened towards the tent, unto Sarah,—and said,
Hasten thou three measures d of fine meal, knead it, and make hearth-cakes.
7 And <unto the herd> ran Abraham,—and took a calf, tender and good, and gave unto the e young man, and he fastened to make it ready. 8 And he took butter, and milk, and the calf that he had made ready, and set before them,—while [he] was standing near them under the tree, they did eat. 9 And they said unto him,

And he said,
Lo! [she is] in the tent.
10 And he said,
I will ||surely return|| unto thee, at the quickening season,—and lo! [a son|| for Sarah thy wife.
Now [Sarah] was hearkening at the opening of the tent, ||it|| being behind him. 11 But [Abraham and Sarah] were old, far gone in days,—it had ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women. 12 So then Sarah laughed within herself, saying:
<AAfter I am past age> hath there come to me pleasure, ||my lord|| also being old?
13 And Yahweh said unto Abraham,— Wherefore’, now’, did Sarah laugh’ saying,
Can it really and truly be that I should bear, seeing that [[Il]] have become old?
14 Is anything ||too wonderful for Yahweh||?
<At the appointed time> I will return unto thee, at the quickening season, and [Sarah] shall have a son.
15 And Sarah denied, saying, I laughed not, For she was afraid. And he said—
Nay! but ||thou didst laugh!||
16 And the men rose up from thence, and looked out over the face of Sodom,—||Abraham also|| going with them, to set them on their way. 17 Now ||Yahweh|| had said,—

3 But he became exceeding urgent with them, so they turned aside unto him, and entered into his house,—and he made for them a banquet, <unleavened cakes> also did he bake, and they did eat. 4 <Ere yet they lay down> ||the men of the city—the men of Sodom|| had come round against the house, from youth, even unto age,—||all the people from every quarter||. 5 And they called unto Lot, and said to him,
Where are the men who have come in unto thee, to-night? Bring them forth unto us, and let us know them!
6 And Lot went forth unto them, to the entrance; but <the door> closed he behind him. 7 And he said,—
Do not, I pray you, my brethren, act wickedly.
8 Behold, I pray you, ||I|| have two daughters who have not known man, I must needs, now, bring [them] forth unto you, and do ye [to them] as may be good in your eyes,—
Only' <to these men> ye may do nothing; for <on this account> have they come under the shade of my roof.
9 And they said,
Stand back,
And they said,
||This one|| <by himself> hath come in to sojourn, and must always be acting the judge, ||Now|| will we do more wickedly to thee, than to them.
So they pressed sore upon the man—upon Lot—exceedingly, and drew near to break opena the door. 10 And the men thrust forth their hand, and brought Lot in unto them, into the house—and <the door> they closed:
11 <the men also who were at the entrance of the house> smote they with blindness, from small even unto great, so that they wearied themselves to find the entrance. 12 And the men said unto Lot, Whom |besides| hast thou here? <Son-in-law, and thy sons and thy daughters,> and all that thou hast in the city| bring thou forth out of the place;
13 For we are about to destroy’ this place,—for ||great|| is the outcry of them unto the face of Yahweh, so that Yahweh hath sent us to destroy it.
14 And Lot went forth and spake unto his sons-in-law who were about to take his two daughters, and said, Arise, come forth out of this place, for Yahweh is about to destroy’ the city.
And it came to pass, that he was as one that laughed, in the eyes of his sons-in-law. 15 But <as soon as [the dawn] had sprung up> the messengers hastened Lot, saying,— Arise! take thy wife, and thy two daughters that are at hand, lest thou be swept away in the punishment of the city.
16 And he lingered—so the men laid hold of his hand and of the hand of his wife, and of the hand of his two daughters, in the tenderness of Yahweh towards him,—and they brought him out, and led him forth outside the city. 17 And it came to pass, <when they had brought them forth outside> that theye said,
Escape for thy life,4
Look not behind thee, neither stand still in all the vale,5—
<To the mountain> escape thou, lest thou be swept away.
18 And Lot said unto them,—
No, I pray thee, My Lord!
19 Behold, I pray thee, thy servant hath found favour in thine eyes, so that thou hast magnified thy lovingkindness which thou hast performed with me, in keeping alive my soul,—
But ||I|| cannot escape to the mountain, lest calamity overtake me, so shall I die.
20 Behold, I pray thee, ||this city|| is near, for fleeing thither,
And ||it|| is a little one,—let me, I pray thee, escape thither—is it not a ||little|| one?
That my soul may live!
21 And he said unto him,
Behold! I have lifted up thy countenance,\(^a\) even as to this thing,—so that I will not overthrow the city, of which thou hast spoken.

22 Haste thee, escape thither, for I cannot do anything, until thou have come in thither. ||For this cause|| was the name of the city called ||Zoar||.\(^b\)\(^c\)\(^d\)\(^e\)\(^f\)\(^g\)\(^h\) <When [the sun] had come forth on the earth> ||Lot|| had entered into Zoar.

24 And ||Yahweh|| rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah, brimstone and fire,—from Yahweh, out of the heavens: 25 so he overthrew these cities, and all the circuit,\(^c\) and all the inhabitants of the cities, and the produce of the ground. 26 But his wife looked from behind him,—and became—a pillar of salt.

27 And Abraham gat up early in the morning,—unt to the place, where he had stood before Yahweh; 28 and he looked out over the face of Sodom and Gomorrah, and over all the face of the land of the circuit,\(^d\) and beheld, and lo! the smoke of the land went up, like the smoke of a furnace. 29 And it came to pass <when God destroyed the cities of the circuit> that God remembered Abraham,—and sent forth Lot out of the midst of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities wherein Lot had dwelt.

30 And Lot went up out of Zoar, and dwelt in the mountain, and his two daughters with him, for he feared to dwell in Zoar,—so he dwelt in a cave, \[

31 And the firstborn said unto the younger,

32 Come on! let us cause our father to drink wine, and let us lie with him,—that we may keep alive <from our father> a seed.

33 So they caused their father to drink wine, that night,—and the firstborn went in, and lay with her father, but he noticed not her lying down nor her rising up.\(^e\)\(^f\)\(^g\)\(^h\)\(^i\) And it came to pass on the morrow, that the firstborn said unto the younger,

35 So they caused their father [on that night also] to drink wine,—and the younger arose, and lay with him, but he noticed not her lying down, nor her rising up. 36 Thus did [the two daughters of Lot conceive\(^e\) from their father. 37 And the firstborn bare a son, and called his name Moab,\(^f\) the same|| is the father of Moab, unto this day. 38 And ||the younger—she also|| bare a son, and called his name Ben-ammi,\(^g\) the same|| is the father of the sons of Ammon—unto this day.

Chapter 20.

1 And Abraham brake up from thence, towards the land of the South,\(^h\) and fixed his dwelling between Kadesh and Shur,—so he sojourned in Gerar. 2 And Abraham said of Sarah his wife:

§ 29. Isaac is born; and Hagar and Ishmael are dismissed.

Chapter 21.

1 Now Yahweh visited Sarah, as he had said,—And Yahweh did for Sarah, as he had spoken.

2 So Sarah conceived and bare to Abraham a son, for his old age,—at the set time, of which God had spoken with him. And Abraham called the name of his son that was born to him, whom Sarah bare to him [Isaac].

3 And Abraham circumcised Isaac his son, when eight days old,—as God commanded him. Now Abraham was a hundred years old,—when Isaac his son was born to him. And Sarah said,

4 <A laughing> hath God made for me,—||Everyone that heareth will laugh with me!

5 And she said—Who would have announced to Abraham, Sarah hath suckled children? yet have I borne a son, for his old age!

6 And the child grew, and was weaned,—and Abraham made a great banquet, on the day of the weaning of Isaac. And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian woman, whom she had borne to Abraham, laughing!

7 So she said to Abraham,

8 Cast out this bondwoman and her son,—for the son of this bondwoman must not inherit [with my son] [with Isaac].

9 And the word was very grievous in the eyes of Abraham,—on account of his son. And God said unto Abraham, Let it not be grievous in thine eyes concerning the boy and concerning thy bondwoman,
13 Yet <even the son of the bondwoman> will I appoint to become ||[a nation]], because <thy seed> he is'.

14 So Abraham rose up early in the morning—and took bread and a skin of water, and gave unto Hagar,—putting them on her shoulder, and the child, and sent her forth,—so she went her way and wandered, in the desert of Beer-sheba.

15 And the water out of the skin was spent,—so she cast the child under one of the shrubs;

16 and went and sat her down over against him, at a distance like as of such as draw the bow, for she said,

Let me not look upon the death of the child,—So she sat down over against him, and the boy lifted up his voice, and wept. 17 And God heard the voice of the boy, and a messenger of God called there

What aileth thee, Hagar?

Do not fear, for God hath hearkened’ unto the voice of the boy ||[where he is]].

18 Arise, lift up the boy, and hold him up with thy hand,—for  will I make him.

19 And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water,—and went and filled the skin with water, and gave drink unto the boy. 20 And it came to pass, that God was with the boy, and he grew,—and dwelt in the desert, and he became, as he grew up, an archer. 21 And he dwelt in the desert of Paran,—and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt.

§ 30. Abimelech obtains a Covenant with Abraham.

22 And it came to pass <at that time>, that Abimelech, with Phicol chieflain of his host, spake unto Abraham, saying,—

||[God]] is with thee in all that ||[thou] art doing.

23 ||[Now]] therefore, swear to me by God, here, that thou wilt not deal falsely by me, nor by mine offspring, nor by my descendants,—

<according to the lovingkindness wherewith I have dealt with thee> shalt thou deal with me, and with the land wherein thou hast sojourned.

24 And Abraham said

||[I]] will swear.

25 But Abraham reproved Abimelech,—on account of the well of water, which the servants of Abimelech had seized. 26 And Abimelech said, I know not, who hath done this thing,—nor hast ||[even thou]] ever told me, nor have ||[even I]] ever heard, save to-day.

27 And Abraham took sheep and oxen, and gave to Abimelech,—and they two solemnised a covenant. 28 So then Abraham set seven young sheep of the flock, by themselves. 29 And Abimelech said unto Abraham,

||[What]], then, mean these seven young sheep [here], which thou hast set by themselves?

30 And he said,

The seven young sheep> shalt thou take at my hand,—that they may serve as my witness, that I digged this well.

31 <On this account> was the name of that place called Beer-sheba [=oath well],—because <there> had they two sworn. 32 And when they had solemnised a covenant in Beer-sheba,—then arose Abimelech, with Phicol chief of his host, and returned unto the land of the Philistines. 33 Then planted he a tamarisk tree in Beer-sheba,—and called there’ on the name of Yahweh, the age-abiding' GOD. 34 So Abraham sojourned in the land of the Philistines many days.

§ 31. The Offering up of Isaac in the Land of Moriah.

Chapter 22.

1 And it came to pass <after these things> that ||[God]] did prove Abraham,—and he said unto him,

And he said,

Behold me!

land of Moriah,\textsuperscript{a}—and cause him to ascend there, as an ascending-sacrifice, on one of the mountains, which I shall name unto thee.

So Abraham rose early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took his two young men with him, and Isaac his son,—and clave the pieces of wood for an ascending-sacrifice, and mounted and went his way unto the place which God had named to him.\textsuperscript{4} It was <on the third day> that Abraham lifted up his eyes, and saw the place, afar off.\textsuperscript{5} And Abraham said unto his young men—

Tarry by yourselves here, with the ass, but [[I and the young man]]\textsuperscript{b} must go yonder,\textsuperscript{6}—that we may bow ourselves down, and return unto you.

So Abraham took the pieces of wood for the ascending-sacrifice, and laid them on Isaac his son, and took in his own hand, the fire and the knife,—and they went on their way [both of them, together].\textsuperscript{7} Then said Isaac unto Abraham his father, then said he:

My father! And he said,

Behold, my son,—

And he said,

Behold—the fire, and the pieces of wood,—but where is the lamb, for an ascending-sacrifice?

And Abraham said,

[[God]] will provide\textsuperscript{d} for himself the lamb, for an ascending-sacrifice, my son!

So they went on their way [both of them, together].

Then came they into the place which God had named to him, and Abraham built there the altar, and laid in order the pieces of wood,—and bound Isaac his son, and laid him on the altar, above the pieces of wood.\textsuperscript{10} And Abraham put forth his hand, and took the knife,—to slay his son.\textsuperscript{11} Then called out unto him the messenger of Yahweh, out of the heavens, and said,

Abraham, Abraham!

And he said,

Behold me!

Do not put forth thy hand, unto the young man,\textsuperscript{e} neither do to him—anything at all,—for [[now]] know I that <one who reverest God> thou art,\textsuperscript{f} when thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only one, from me.

And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and lo! a ram, behind,\textsuperscript{g} caught in a thicket by his horns,—and Abraham went, and took the ram, and caused him to ascend as an ascending-sacrifice, instead of his son.

So Abraham called the name of that place, Yahweh-yireh.\textsuperscript{8}—as to which it is still said to-day, <In the mountain of Yahweh> will provision be made.

Then called out the messenger of Yahweh, unto Abraham,—a second time, out of the heavens;\textsuperscript{16} and said,

<By myself> have I sworn is the oracle of Yahweh,—

<Because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only one> That I will [[richly bless]] thee, and [[abundantly multiply]] thy seed, as the stars of the heavens, and as the sand which is on the lip of the sea,—that thy seed may take possession of the gate of his foes:

So shall all the nations of the earth bless themselves in thy seed,— [[Because thou didst hearken\textsuperscript{h} unto my voice]]].

So Abraham returned unto his young men, and they mounted, and went on their way together, unto Beer-sheba,—and Abraham dwelt in Beer-sheba.

§ 33. The Death of Sarah, and her Burial in Machpelah.

Chapter 23.

1 And the life of Sarah came to be, a hundred and twenty-seven years,—[the years of the life of Sarah].

2 And Sarah died in Kiriath-arba, [the same] is Hebron, in the land of Canaan,—and Abraham went in to wail for Sarah, and to weep for her. And Abraham rose up from over the face of his dead,—and spake unto the sons of Heth, saying;

3 [A sojourner and settler] am I' with you,—
That I may bury my dead, from before me.

4 And the sons of Heth answered Abraham, saying to him:

Hear us, my lord!

<A prince of God> art thou' in our midst,

<In the choice of our buryingplaces> bury thy dead,—

Not [a man from among us] <his buryingplace> will withhold from thee, from burying thy dead.

5 And Abraham rose up, and bowed himself down to the people of the land, to the sons of Heth: and spake with them, saying,—

<If it is' with the consent of your minds, b that I should bury my dead from before me> hear me, and intercede for me, with Ephron son of Zohar:

9 That he would give me, the cave of Machpelah, which pertaineth unto him, which is within the bounds of his field,—

10 Now [Ephron] was sitting in the midst of the sons of Heth,—so Ephron the Hittite responded to Abraham, in the ears of the sons of Heth, even all that were entering the gate of his city, saying:

11 Nay, my lord, hear me,

12 The field> have I given to thee,

13 And Ephron responded to Abraham, in the ears of the sons of Heth, even all that were entering the gate of his city, saying:

14 So Ephron responded to Abraham, and said:

15 My lord, hear me,—

<Land worth four hundred shekels of silver—betwixt me and thee> what is that?

And <thy dead,> bury thou.

16 And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron, and weighed out to Ephron the silver, which he had spoken in the ears of the sons of Heth,—four hundred shekels of silver, current with the merchant. So was confirmed the field of Ephron, which is in Machpelah, which is before Mamre,—<the field, and the cave which is therein, and all the timber which was in the field, which was in all the boundary thereof round about> to Abraham as a purchase, in the eyes of the sons of Heth,—with all who were entering the gate of his city. And after this did Abraham bury Sarah his wife, within the cave of the field of Machpelah, over against Mamre, [the same] is Hebron,—in the land of Canaan. So was confirmed the field, with the cave which was therein, to Abraham, for a possession of a buryingplace,—from the sons of Heth.

§ 34. Abraham, sending his servant into Mesopotamia, obtains Rebekah, Nahor’s granddaughter, as wife for Isaac.

Chapter 24.

1 Now [Abraham] was old, far gone in days,—and [Yahweh] had blessed Abraham, in all things.

2 So Abraham said unto his servant, elder of his house, ruler of all that he had,—

Place, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh;

And the servant said unto him,
Peradventure the woman may not be willing to follow me into this land,—
May I [[take back]] thy son, into the land from whence thou camest?
And Abraham said unto him,—
Beware, that thou do not take back my son thither!

But [[if unwilling]] be the woman to follow thee> then shalt thou be clear, from this mine oath,—
Only! [[my son]] shalt thou not take back thither!
So the servant placed his hand, under the thigh of Abraham, his lord,—and sworn to him over this thing.
Then the servant took ten camels, from among the camels of his lord, and went his way,—[[all the goods of his master]] being in his hand,—so he mounted, and went his way unto Mesopotamia, unto the city of Nahor.  And he made the camels kneel down outside the city, against the well of water,—at the time of evening, at the time of the coming forth of the women that drew water.  Then he said,
O Yahweh, God of my lord Abraham!
I pray thee, cause it to fall out before me today,—that thou deal in lovingkindness, with my lord Abraham.

Here' am [[I]] stationed by the fountain of water,—and [[the daughters of the men of the city]] are coming forth to draw water:
so it shall come to pass [[that the young woman unto whom I shall say, Let down, pray, thy pitcher, that I may drink, and she shall say, Drink, and [[to thy camels also]] will I give to drink> that [[her]] hast thou appointed for thy servant, for Isaac, And [[hereby]] shall I get to know, that thou hast dealt in lovingkindness with my lord!
And it came to pass [[ere yet]] had done speaking> that lo! [[Rebekah]] was coming forth, who had been born to Bethuel son of Milcah, wife of Nahor, brother of Abraham,—with her pitcher upon her shoulder.  Now [[the young woman]] was of very pleasing appearance, a virgin whom [[no man]] had known,—and she went down unto the fountain, and filled her pitcher, and came up.
And the servant ran to meet her,—and said, I pray thee, let me drink a little water, out of thy pitcher.

And she said
Drink, my lord,—
And she hastened, and lowered her pitcher on her hand, and let him drink.  And [[when she had done giving him drink]],—she said, <For thy camels also> will I draw, until they have done drinking.
So she hastened, and emptied her pitcher into the drinking-trough, and ran again unto the well, to draw,—and she drew for all his camels.
Now [[the man]] was eagerly watching her,—keeping silence, to see—whether Yahweh had prospered his way, or not.
And it came to pass [[when the camels had done drinking> that the man took a ring of gold, half a shekel its weight,—and two bracelets, for her hands, ten of gold their weight; ]] and said, Whose daughter art thou? I pray thee, tell me.  Is there, in the house of thy father, a place for us to tarry the night?
And she said unto him,
<Daughter of Bethuel> am [[I]]—[[Bethuel]] son of Milcah, whom she bare to Nahor.
And she said unto him,
<Both straw and fodder in plenty> have we,—also a place, to tarry the night.
Then the man bowed his head, and bent himself down unto Yahweh;  and said, Blessed' be Yahweh, God of my lord Abraham, who hath not withdrawn his lovingkindness and his faithfulness, from my lord,—

<I—being in the way>, Yahweh led’ me unto the house of the brethren of my lord!

28 And the young woman ran, and told the household of her mother,—according to these words. 29 Now ||Rebekah|| had a brother, [whose name] was Laban,—so Laban ran unto the man, outside, unto the fountain.

30 And it came to pass, when he saw the ring, and the bracelets on the hands of his sister, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his sister saying, [Thus] did the man speak unto me> that he came unto the man, and lo! he was standing by the camels, near the fountain; 31 and he said, Come in, thou blessed of Yahweh,—Wherefore shouldst thou stand outside, when I have made ready the house, and a place for the camels?

32 So the man came in towards the house, and ungirded the camels,—and there was given him straw and fodder for the camels, and water for bathing his own feet, and the feet of the men who were with him; 33 and [food] was set before him to eat, But he said, I cannot eat, until I have spoken my words. And he said,—Speak!

34 Then said he,—<Servant of Abraham> am I’.

35 Now ||Yahweh|| having blessed my lord exceedingly, and made him great,—and given him flocks and herds, and silver and gold, and men-servants and maid-servants, and camels, and asses> then did Sarah, wife of my lord, bear a son to my lord, after she had become old,—so he gave to him all that he had;

And my lord put me on oath, saying,—Thou shalt not take a wife for my son, of the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land ||I|| am dwelling; 38 but <unto the house of my father> shalt thou go, and unto my family,—and take a wife for my son.

39 So I said unto my lord,—Peradventure’ the woman will not follow me.

And he said unto me,—||Yahweh, before whom I have walked to and fro||’ will send his messenger with thee, so shall he prosper thy way, and thou shalt take a wife for my son out of my kindred,’ and out of the house of my father.

41 ||Then|| shalt thou clear thyself from mine oath, for thou shalt go in unto my kindred,—and <if they will not grant her unto thee> then shalt thou be clear from mine oath.

42 So I came in to-day, unto the fountain,—and I said, O Yahweh, God of my lord Abraham! <if, I pray thee, thou art’ prospering my way whereon ||I|| am going> here’ am I’ stationed by the fountain of water,—so then it shall come to pass that the maiden that is coming forth to draw, and I shall say unto her, Let me drink, I pray thee, a little water out of thy pitcher; and she shall say unto me, Both ||thou|| drink, and <for thy camels also> will I draw ||the same|| shall be the woman whom Yahweh hath appointed for the son of my lord.

45 <Ere yet ||I|| could make an end of speaking unto mine own heart> lo! then ||Rebekah|| coming forth, with her pitcher on her shoulder, and she went down to the fountain, and drew,—and I said unto her, Let me drink, I pray thee!

46 So she hastened, and lowered her pitcher from off her, and said, Drink! and <for thy camels also> will I give to drink,—So I drank, and <the camels also> she let drink. Then I asked her, and said, [Whose daughter] art thou? And she said, Daughter of Bethuel, son of Nahor, whom ||Milcah|| bare to him,—Then put I the ring’ upon her nose, and the bracelets upon her hands; and bowed my head and bent myself down, unto Yahweh,—and I blessed Yahweh, God of my lord Abraham, who had led me, in a way of faithfulness, to take the daughter of the brother of my lord, for his son.

49 ||Now|| therefore <if ye are’ dealing in lovingkindness and faithfulness with my lord> tell me,—and <if not> tell me, that I may turn unto the right hand, or unto the left.

50 Then answered Laban and Bethuel, and said,
<From Yahweh> hath come forth the word,—we cannot speak unto thee, ill or well.

51 Lit.: “fell.”

51 Lo! ||Rebekah|| is before thee,

Take [her] and go thy way,—
And let her become wife unto the son of thy lord, as Yahweh hath spoken.

52 And it came to pass, ≪when Abraham’s servant heard their words≫, that he bowed himself down towards the earth unto Yahweh. Then the servant brought forth jewels of silver and jewels of gold, and raiment,4 and gave unto Rebekah,—and <precious things> gave he to her brother, and to her mother.54 And they did eat and drink, ||he, and the men who were with him||, and they tarried the night,—and when they arose in the morning, he said,

Let me go unto my lord!

53 Then said her brother and her mother,

Let the young woman remain with us some days, or rather ten,—

≪After that≫ she shall go.

54 And he said unto them,

Do not hinder me, when ||Yahweh|| hath prospered my journey,—
Let me go, that I may take my journey unto my lord!

55 Then said they,

We must call the young woman, and ask at her mouth.

56 So they called Rebekah, and said unto her,

Wilt thou go with this man?
And she said, I will go.

57 So they let go Rebekah their sister, and her nurse, and Abraham’s servant, and his men.60 And they blessed Rebekah, and said to her,

And let thy seed take possession of the gate of them that hate them!b

61 Then mounted Rebekah and her young woman, and they rode upon the camels, and followed the man,—so the servant took Rebekah, and went his way.

65 and said unto the servant,

Who is this man that is walking in the field, to meet us?

And the servant said,

||That|| is my lord.
So she took the veil, and covered herself.66 And the servant recounted to Isaac,—all the things which he had done.67 And Isaac brought her into the tent of Sarah his mother; thus he took Rebekah, and she became his wife, and he loved her,—and Isaac consoled himself, for the lossf of his mother.

4 And ||the sons of Midian|| Ephah and Epher, and Hanoch and Abida, and Eldaah,—||all these|| were the sons of Keturah.

5 And Abraham gave all that he had to Isaac;

§ 37. The further “Genesis” of the Covenant-Family, from Isaac: the Birth, and early Characters, of Jacob and Esau.

19 And ||these|| are the generations of Isaac, son of Abraham,—||Abraham|| begat Isaac; 20 and it came to pass, that ||Isaac|| was forty years old, when he took Rebekah, daughter of Bethuel the Syrian, of the Plain of Syria,—sister of Laban the Syrian, to himself to wife. 21 So then Isaac made entreaty unto Yahweh, in behalf of his wife, for she was ||barren||,—and Yahweh suffered himself to be entreated by him, and Rebekah his wife conceived. 22 And the sons within her struggled together, so she said—<If so> wherefore’ now am ||I|| [thus]?

And she went to seek Yahweh. 23 And Yahweh said to her, ||Two nations|| are in thy womb, And ||two races|| <from thy body> shall be parted,— And ||one race|| shall be stronger ||than the other race||, And ||the elder|| shall serve the younger.e

24 Then were fulfilled her days to bring forth,—and lo! twins, in her womb. 25 And the first came forth red, all over, f as a mantle of hair,—so theyg called his name, Esau. 26 And <after that> came forth his brother, with his hand fast hold of the heel of Esau, so they called his name, Jacob, h —Now ||Isaac|| was sixty years old, when she bare them.

27 And <when the youths grew up> it came to pass that ||Isaac|| was a man skilled in game, a man of the field,—but ||Jacob|| was a readyj man, dwelling in tents. 28 And ||Isaac|| loved ||Esau||, because of the game [he put] in his mouth,—but ||Rebekah|| was a lover of ||Jacob||. 29 And Jacob had boiled pottage,—when Esau came in from the field, ||he|| being famished. 30 So Esau said unto Jacob, Do let me devour some of the red—this red, for ||famished|| I am’.<For this cause> was his name called Edom.j 31 And Jacob said,— Come sell, [just now], k thy birthright, unto me.

32 And Esau said Here am ||I||, on the point of dying,—wherefore, then, should I [have] ||a birthright||?

33 And Jacob said, Come swear to me, just now! And he swore to him,—and sold his birthright, to Jacob. 34 And ||Jacob|| having given to Esau bread and a dish of lentils, he did eat and drink, and rose up, and went his way,—thus Esau despised his birthright!

§ 38. Another Famine: Isaac forbidden to go down to Egypt; Isaac and Abimelech: Esau's Marriages grieve his Father and Mother.

Chapter 26.

1 And there came to be a famine in the land, besides the first famine, which happened in the days of Abraham,—so Isaac went his way unto Abimelech, king of the Philistines, towards Gerar;

2 and Yahweh appeared unto him, and said,

   Do not go down towards Egypt,—

   Make thy habitation in the land, which I may name unto thee:

3 Sojourn in this land, that I may be with thee, and bless thee,—for to thee, and to thy seed will I give all these lands,

   So will I establish the oath which I sware to Abraham, thy father; and will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heavens, and will give to thy seed all these lands,—

   And all the nations of the earth shall bless themselves in thy seed:

5 Because that Abraham hearkened unto my voice,—and so kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes and my laws.

6 So Isaac dwelt in Gerar. 7 Then asked the men of the place, as to his wife, and he said,

   <My sister> is she,—

   For he feared to say My wife, lest [said he] the men of the place should slay me, on account of Rebekah, for <fair to look on> she is.

8 And it came to pass <when the days had lengthened out to him there>, that Abimelech, king of the Philistines, looked out through the lattice of a window,—and he beheld, and lo! [Isaac—laughing with Rebekah his wife].

9 So Abimelech called for Isaac, and said,

   But lo! she is ||thy wife||?

   How, then, saidst thou, She is ||my sister||?

   And Isaac said unto him,

   Because I said, Lest I die on her account.

10 Then said Abimelech,

   What’s this’ thou hast done to us?b

   <A little more> and one of the people might have lien with thy wife, so shouldst thou have brought upon us [guilt].

11 And Abimelech commanded all the people, saying,—

   |[He that toucheth this man or his wife] shall surely be put to death|.

12 And Isaac sowed in that land, and found, in the same year, a hundredfold,—seeing that Yahweh had blessed’ him. 13 So the man waxed great,—and went on and on waxing great, until that he had waxed exceeding great. 14 So he came to have possessions of flocks, and possessions of herds, and a large body of servants,—and the Philistines envied’ him. 15 And <as for all the wells, which the servants of his father digged, in the days of Abraham his father> the Philistines stopped them up, and filled them with dust. 16 And Abimelech said unto Isaac,—

   Get thee from us, for thou hast become far mightier than we.

17 So Isaac went from thence,—and encamped in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there. 18 And Isaac again digged the wells of water which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father, and which the Philistines stopped up after the death of Abraham,—and he called their names, after the names which his father called’ them. 19 And Isaac’s servants digged in the valley,—and found, there, a well of living water. 20 And the herdmen of Gerar disputed with the herdmen of Isaac, saying, [Ours] is the water!

   So he called the name of the well, Esek; because they had stirred up a quarrel with him. 21 And they digged another well, and they disputed over that also,—so he called the name thereof, Sitnah.d

   And he moved on from thence, and digged another well, and they disputed not for it,—so he called the name thereof, Rehoboth,e and said,

   For ||now|| hath Yahweh made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land.

22 And be went up from thence, to Beer-sheba.

23 And Yahweh appeared unto him the same night, and said,

   ||I|| am the God of Abraham thy father,—

   Do not fear, for <with thee> am I,

   And I will bless thee, and multiply thy seed, For the sake of Abraham my servant.

25 So he built there an altar, and called on the name of Yahweh, and spread out there, his tent,—and the servants of Isaac cut out there, a well.

26 And ||Abimelech|| came unto him from Gerar,—with Ahuzzath his friend, and Phicol, commander of his host. 27 And Isaac said unto them, Wherefore’ have ye come in unto me,—seeing that ||[ye]|| hated me, and sent me away from you?

28 And they said:
We saw plainly that Yahweh was with thee, so we said,
Let there be, we pray thee, an oath betwixt us both, ||[betwixt us and thee],—and let us solemnise a covenant with thee:—

29 That thou wilt not do wrong by us, according as we touched not thee, and according as we did by thee ||[nothing but good],—and then sent thee away in peace, ||[thee]|| who ||[now]|| art blessed of Yahweh!

30 So he made for them a banquet, and they did eat and drink,—and rose up early in the morning, and took an oath, each man to his brother,—so Isaac let them go, and they departed from him, in peace.

32 And it came to pass, on the same day, that the servants of Isaac came in, and told him concerning the well, which they had digged,—and said to him, We have found water.

33 So he called it, Shibah. ||[For this cause]|| hath ||[the name of the city]|| been Beer-sheba, unto this day.

34 And ||when Esau was forty years old|| he took to wife Judith, daughter of Beeri, the Hittite; and Basemath, daughter of Elon, the Hittite: 35 and they became a bitterness of spirit,—to Isaac and to Rebekah.

§ 39. Jacob, at Rebekah’s Instigation, defrauds Esau of the Birthright Blessing, leaving only an Inferior Blessing for his elder Brother.

Chapter 27.

1 And it came to pass that Isaac was old, and his eyes became too dim to see, so he called Esau his elder son, and said unto him,—My son!
And he said unto him,

Behold me!

2 And he said,

Behold, I pray thee, I am old,—I know not the day of my death.

3 ||[Now]|| therefore, take, I pray thee, thy weapons, thy quiver and thy bow, and go out to the field, and catch me game;

4 and make for me dainty meats, such as I love, and bring in to me, that I may eat,—To the end my soul may bless thee, ere yet I die!

5 Now ||[Rebekah]|| was hearkening, when Isaac spake unto Esau his son,—and Esau went his way to the field, to catch game, to bring in. 6 ||[Rebekah]|| therefore, spake unto Jacob her son, saying,—Lo! I heard thy father, speaking unto Esau thy brother, saying:

7 Bring in for me game, and make for me dainty meats, that I may eat; and let me bless thee in the presence of Yahweh, before my death.

8 ||[Now]|| therefore, my son, hearken unto my voice,—in that which I am commanding thee:

9 Go, I pray thee, unto the flock, and fetch me from thence, two kids of the goats, fine ones,—that I may make of them dainty meats for thy father, such as he loveth;

10 Then shalt thou take them in unto thy father, and he shall eat,—To the end he may bless thee, before his death.

11 And Jacob said unto Rebekah his mother,—Lo! ||[Esau my brother]|| is a hairy man, whereas ||[I]|| am a smooth man: 12 peradventure’ my father might feel’ me, then should I be in his eyes, as one that mocketh,—and should bring upon myself a reproach, and not a blessing!

13 And his mother said to him, <Upon me> be thy reproach, my son,—only’ hearken unto my voice, and go fetch [them] for me.

14 So he went, and fetched [them], and brought them in to his father,—and his mother made dainty meats, such as his father loved. 15 Then took Rebekah the garments of Esau her elder son, the costly ones, which were with her, in the house,—and put them on Jacob, her younger son: 16 and the <skins of the kids of the goats> put she upon his hands,—and on the smooth part of his neck; 17 then

Then said Isaac unto Jacob,
How is it thou hast been so quick in finding, my son?
And he said,
Because Yahweh thy God caused it so to fall out before me.

Then said Isaac unto Jacob,
Come near, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my son,—whether thou thyself art my son Esau, or not.

So Jacob came near unto Isaac his father, and he felt him; then said he,

The voice! is the voice of Jacob; But the hands! are the hands of Esau.'

So he did not find him out, because [his hands] were like the hands of Esau his brother [hairy],—so he blessed him. 24 And he said,

Thou thyself! art my son Esau? And he said, I am!

So he said,
Bring it near to me, that I may eat of the game of my son,
To the end my soul may bless thee.
And he brought it near to him, and he did eat, and he brought in to him wine, and he drank. 26 Then Isaac his father said unto him,— Come thou near, I pray thee, and kiss me, my son.

So he came near, and kissed him, and he smelled the smell of his garments, and blessed him,—and said,
See! the smell of my son, As the smell of a field, which Yahweh hath blessed;

Then, may God give thee of the dew of the heavens,
And of the fatness of the earth,—
And abundance of corn, and new wine:
Let peoples serve thee,
And races bow down to thee,
Become thou lord to thy brethren,
And let the sons of thy mother bow down to thee,—
He that curseth thee shall be accursed!
And he that blesseth thee shall be blessed!

And it came to pass <as soon as Isaac had made an end of blessing Jacob>—yea it came to pass <when Jacob had only just gone forth> from the presence of Isaac his father> that [Esau his brother] came in from his hunting.

Then [he too] made dainty meats, and brought in to his father,—and said to his father,
Let my father rise, that he may eat of the game of his son,
To the end thy soul may bless me!

And Isaac his father said to him,
Who' art thou? And he said,

Thou thyself! art my son Esau? But [my name] is called [Jacob].

Then did Isaac tremble with an exceeding great trembling, and said,
Who then' was' it that caught game and brought in to me, and I did eat of all ere yet thou didst come in, and I blessed him?

Yea, blessed! shall he remain!

<When Esau heard the words of his father> then cried he out with an outcry loud and bitter, exceedingly,—and said to his father,
Bless [even me also], O my father!

Then he said,
Thy brother came in, with deceit,—and took away thy blessing.

And he said,
Is it because [his name] is called [Jacob] that he hath tricked me, now twice?
<My birthright> he took away,
And lo! [now] he hath taken away [my blessing]!

And he said,
Hast thou not reserved, for me, a blessing?

Then answered Isaac, and said to Esau,—
Lo!  have I appointed him unto thee,

—yea it came to pass <when Jacob had only just gone forth> from the presence of Isaac his father> that [Esau his brother] came in from his hunting.

Then [he too] made dainty meats, and brought in to his father,—and said to his father,
Let my father rise, that he may eat of the game of his son,
To the end thy soul may bless me!

And Isaac his father said to him,
Who' art thou? And he said,

Thou thyself! art my son Esau? But [my name] is called [Jacob].

Then did Isaac tremble with an exceeding great trembling, and said,
Who then' was' it that caught game and brought in to me, and I did eat of all ere yet thou didst come in, and I blessed him?

Yea, blessed! shall he remain!

<When Esau heard the words of his father> then cried he out with an outcry loud and bitter, exceedingly,—and said to his father,
Bless [even me also], O my father!

Then he said,
Thy brother came in, with deceit,—and took away thy blessing.

And he said,
Is it because [his name] is called [Jacob] that he hath tricked me, now twice?
<My birthright> he took away,
And lo! [now] he hath taken away [my blessing]!

And he said,
Hast thou not reserved, for me, a blessing?

Then answered Isaac, and said to Esau,—
Lo!  have I appointed him unto thee,
And <all his brethren> have I given to him ||as servants||,
And <with corn and new wine> have I sustained him,—
And <for thee—now> what can I do, my son?

And Esau said unto his father,
But one blessing hast thou, O my father?
Bless [me also], O my father!
And Esau lifted up his voice, and wept.

Then answered Isaac his father, and said unto him,— Lo! of the fat parts of the earth shall be thy dwelling,
And of the dew of the heavens above;
And on thy sword shalt thou live,
And shalt thou serve; But it shall come to pass when thou shalt rove at large>
Then shalt thou break his yoke from off thy neck.

And Esau lay in wait for Jacob, on account of the blessing wherewith his father had blessed him,—and Esau said in his heart,
The days of mourning for my father draw near, when I can slay Jacob my brother.

Then were told to Rebekah, the words of Esau, her elder son,—so she sent and called for Jacob, her younger son, and said unto him—
Lo! ||Esau thy brother|| is consoling himself as touching thee, to slay thee.

||Now|| therefore, my son, hearken to my voice,—and rise, flee thou to Laban my brother, to Haran;
And thou shalt dwell with him a few days,—until that the wrath of thy brother turn away; 45 [until the turning away of the anger of thy brother from thee], and he forget what thou hast done to him, and I send and fetch thee from thence.

Wherefore should I lose ||you both|| in one day?

So then Rebekah said unto Isaac,
I am disgusted with my life, because of the daughters of Heth,— <Should Jacob be taking a wife of the daughters of Heth, like these, of the daughters of the land> wherefore’ could I wish for life?d

Chapter 28.

1 Then Isaac called Jacob, and blessed him,—and commanded him, and said to him,
Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan.
2 Rise, go thy way to Padan-aram’ to the house of Bethuel, thy mother’s father,—and take thee from thence’ a wife, of the daughters of Laban, thy mother’s brother.
3 And ||GOD Almighty|| bless thee, and make thee fruitful, and multiply thee,—so shalt thou become a multitude of peoples.
4 And may he give thee the blessing of Abraham, [to thee, and to thy seed with thee],—that thou mayest possess the land of thy sojournings, which GOD gave to Abraham.
5 So Isaac sent away Jacob, and he took his journey to Padan-aram,8—unto Laban son of Bethuel, the Syrian, brother of Rebekah, mother of Jacob and Esau.
6 And Esau beheld that Isaac when he blessed Jacob, and sent him to Padan-aram, b to take to himself from thence, a wife> that [in blessing him] he laid command upon him, saying,
Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan;
And that Jacob hearkened unto his father, and unto his mother,—and took his journey to Padan-aram.
8 So then Esau beheld that ||displeasing|| were the daughters of Caanan,—in the eyes of Isaac his father: 9 Esau therefore went unto Ishmael,—and took Mahalah, daughter of Ishmael, son of Abraham, sister of Nebaioth, to himself to wife, [in addition to the wives that he had].

§ 40. Jacob’s Departure: Heaven opened: First Divine Appearing to Jacob.

10 So Jacob went forth, from Beer-sheba, and journeyed towards Haran. 11 And he lighted on a place, and tarried the night there, because the sun had gone in,—and he took of the stones of the place, and put for his pillow,—and lay down in that place. 12 And he dreamed, and lo! [a stairway] planted earthwards, with [its top] reaching towards the heavens,—and lo! [messengers of God] ascending and descending thereon; 13 and lo! [Yahweh] standing by a him,—and he said, [[I] am Yahweh, God of Abraham thy father and God of Isaac,—

And thy seed shall become, as the dust of the earth, and thou shalt break forth westward and eastward, and northward and southward,—
And all the families of the ground shall be blessed in thee, [and in thy seed].

Lo! then, [[I] am with thee, so will I keep thee in every place whithersoever thou mayest go, and will bring thee back unto this soil,—

For I will not forsake thee until I have done that of which I have spoken to thee.

And Jacob awoke from his sleep, and said, [Surely] Yahweh was' in this place, And [[I]] knew it not.

And he feared, and said, How' fearful is this place!

None other' this, than the house of God!

Nor this' than the gate of the heavens!

So Jacob rose early in the morning, and took the stone which he had put for his pillow, and put it for a pillar,—and poured out oil upon the top thereof; 19 and called the name of that place—Beth-el;—[nevertheless] Luz was the name of the city, aforetime. 20 And Jacob vowed a vow, saying,—

<If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way whereon [[I]] am going, and give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on;

and I come back in prosperity unto the house of my father>

Then will Yahweh prove to be my' God,—

And <of all which thou shalt give me> [a tenth] will I tithe unto thee.

§ 41. Jacob and Rachel meet: After seven Years’ Waiting—the Deceiver is deceived.

Chapter 29.

1 Then Jacob lifted up his feet,—and went his way towards the land of the sons of the East. 2 And he looked, and lo! [a well] in the field, and lo! <there> three flocks of sheep, lying down near it, for <out of that well> do they water the flocks,—but [[the stone]] is great, on the mouth of the well:

3 so they gather together thither all the flocks, and roll away the stone from off the mouth of the well, and water the sheep,—and put back the stone upon the mouth of the well, to its place. 4 And Jacob said to them,

My brethren, whence are ye?
And they said:

<From Haran> are we'.

5 And he said to them,

Know ye Laban, son of Nahor?

And they said,

We know [him].

6 And he said to them,

Is it well with him?

And they said,

Well, but lo! [Rachel his daughter] coming in with the sheep.

7 And he said—

Lo! the day is yet' high, it is not time for gathering together the cattle,—water the sheep, and go feed.

8 And they said,

We cannot, until that all the flocks are gathered together, and they roll away the stone, from off the mouth of the well,—and then can we water the sheep.

9 <While yet' he was speaking with them> [Rachel] had come in with the sheep which belonged to her father, for  was she. 10 And it came to pass <when Jacob saw Rachel daughter of Laban, his mother’s brother, and the sheep of Laban, his mother’s brother> that Jacob went near, and rolled away the stone from off the mouth of the well, and watered the sheep of Laban, his mother’s brother. 11 And Jacob kissed Rachel,— b Chap. xii. 3; cp. chap. iii. 17.

c =“House of God.”
and lifted up his voice, and wept. 12 And <when Jacob told Rachel>, that he was ||her father’s brother|| and that he was Rebekah’s son> then ran she, and told her father. 13 And it came to pass <when Laban heard the tidings of Jacob his sister’s son> that he ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fondly kissed him, and brought him into his house,—when he recounted to Laban all these things. 14 And Laban said to him, Surely’ <my bone and my flesh> art thou’. So he abode with him a month of days. 15 Then said Laban to Jacob, Is it because ||my brother> thou art’, that thou shouldst serve me for naught? Come, tell me! What shall be thy wages?

16 Now ||Laban|| had two daughters,—the name of the elder ||Leah||, and the name of the younger ||Rachel||. 17 But ||the eyes of Leah|| were weak,—whereas ||Rachel|| was comely in form, and comely in countenance. 18 So Jacob loved’ Rachel,—and he said, I will serve thee seven years, for Rachel thy younger daughter.

19 And Laban said, ||Better|| that I give her to thee’, than that I should give her to another’ man,—Abide with me! 20 So Jacob served for Rachel—seven years,—and they became, in his eyes, as single days, for his love to her. 21 Then said Jacob unto Laban: Come give me my wife, for fulfilled’ are my days,—that I may go in unto her. 22 So Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a banquet. 23 And it came to pass, <in the evening> that he took Leah his daughter, and brought her in unto him,—and he went in unto her. 24 And Laban gave her Zilpah, his handmaid, unto Leah his daughter, as handmaid. 25 And it came to pass <in the morning> that lo! ||it was Leah||,—and he said unto Laban, What’ is this’ thou hast done to me? Was it not <for Rachel> I served with thee? Wherefore, then, hast thou deceived me? 26 And Laban said,

It must not be done so, in our place,—to give the later-born before the firstborn.

27 Fulfil the week of this one,—then must we give thee ||the other one also||, for the service wherewith thou shalt serve with me [yet seven years more].

28 And Jacob did so, and fulfilled the week of this one,—and he gave him Rachel his daughter—to him5 to wife. 29 And Laban gave, to Rachel his daughter Bilhah, his handmaid,—to be hers, as a handmaid. 30 So he went in ||unto Rachel also||, and loved ||Rachel also|| more than Leah,—and he served with him [yet seven years more].

§ 42. There are born to Jacob eleven Sons and a Daughter.

31 And <when Yahweh saw that Leah was hated> he granted her to bear children,—whereas ||Rachel|| was barren. 32 So Leah conceived, and bare a son, and called his name, ||Reuben||,—for she said, Because6 Yahweh hath looked’ upon my humiliation, For ||now|| will my husband love’ me. 33 And she conceived again, and bare a son, and said, <Because7 Yahweh heard that ||I|| was ||hated||> he gave me ||this one also||. So she called his name ||Simeon||. 34 And she conceived again, and bare a son, and said, ||Now—this time|| will my husband be bound unto me, For I have borne him three sons,—<For this cause> called she’ his name ||Levi||. 35 And she conceived again, and bare a son, and said, ||This time|| will I praise Yahweh, <For which cause> she called his name ||Judah||. And she left off bearing.

Chapter 30.

1 And Rachel saw she had borne no children unto Jacob, so Rachel became envious of her sister,—and said unto Jacob, Come! give me children, or else [I die].
Then kindled the anger of Jacob with Rachel,—and he said,

Am I [in the place of God] who hath withheld from thee the fruit of the womb?

And she said,

Lo! my handmaid, Bilhah,

Go in unto her,—that she may bear upon my knees, so that I also may be builded up by her!

And she gave him Bilhah her handmaid, and gave her to Jacob, to wife,—and Jacob went in unto her; 5 and Bilhah conceived, and bare unto Jacob a son; 6 and Rachel said, God hath vindicated me.

Moreover also' he hath hearkened unto my voice, and hath given me a son.

<For this cause> called she his name [Dan]. 7 And Bilhah, Rachel’s handmaid, conceived again, and bare a second son to Jacob. 8 Then said Rachel,

<With wrestlings of God> have I wrestled with my sister,

Yea! I have prevailed.

So she called his name [Naphtali]. 9

Then saw Leah, that she had left off bearing,—so she took Zilpah, her handmaid, and gave her to Jacob, to wife. 10 And Zilpah, Leah’s handmaid, bare to Jacob a son; 11 and Leah said, Victory hath come!

So she called his name [Gad]. 12 And Zilpah, Leah’s handmaid, bare a second son to Jacob; and Leah said,

<For my happiness> surely happy’ have daughters pronounced me.

So she called his name [Asher]. 13

Then went Reuben, in the days of the wheat harvest, and found mandrakes in the field, and brought them in unto Leah his mother,—and Rachel said unto Leah,

Pray give me, some of the mandrakes of thy son!

And she said to her,

Is it [a small thing] that thou hast taken away my husband?

And wouldst thou take away [even the mandrakes of my son]?

Then said Rachel,

Therefore shall he lie with thee to-night, for the mandrakes of thy son.

And Jacob came in from the field, in the evening, so Leah went out to meet him, and said:

<Unto me> shall thou come in, for I have [hired] thee, even with the mandrakes of my son.

And he lay with her that night. 17 And God hearkened unto Leah,—and she conceived, and bare to Jacob a fifth son. 18 Then said Leah,

God hath given my hire, in that I gave my handmaid to my husband.

So she called his name [Issachar]. 19 And Leah conceived again, and bare a sixth son to Jacob. 20 Then said Leah,

God hath dowered me, [even me] with a handsome dowry,

[Now] will my husband dwell with me, for I have borne him six sons.

So she called his name [Zebulon]. 21 And afterwards she bare a daughter,—so she called her name [Dinah]. 22

Then God remembered Rachel,—and God hearkened unto her, and granted her to bear.

23 So she conceived and bare a son,—and said,

God hath taken away my reproach:

24 So she called his name [Joseph], saying,

Yahweh is adding unto me another son.

§ 43. Jacob again defrauded by Laban, makes Reprisals upon him.

And it came to pass [when Rachel had borne Joseph], that Jacob said unto Laban,

Let me go, that I may take my journey, unto my place, and to my land.

Come, give me my wives and my children, for whom I have served thee, and let me take my journey,—for [thou] knowest my service, wherewith I have served thee.

And Laban said unto him,

<If, I pray thee, I have found favour in thine eyes>...I have divined that Yahweh hath blessed me for thy sake.

And he said,—

Come, fix thy wages for me, that I may give it!

And he said unto him,

“Judge.”

Or: “mighty wrestlings.”

“Fortune.”

“There is hire”; or, “He is hired.”

Prob.: “Habitation.”

Prob.: “Strife.”

Mi: “opened her womb.”

Prob.: “He is adding”; or: “He is giving increase.”
||Thou|| knowest how I have served thee,—and how thy cattle have fared [with me].

30 For it was ||little|| that thou hadst—before I came,* and then it brake forth into a multitude, and Yahweh blessed thee at my every step.

||Now|| therefore, when am ||I|| also to do something [for my own house]? 31

And he said,

What shall I give thee?

And Jacob said:

Thou shalt give me [nothing at all],

<If thou wilt do for me this thing> I will return,

I will shepherd thy flock, I will keep it:

32 <Let me pass through all thy flock to-day, removing from thence—every young one that is speckled and spotted, and every young one that is dark-coloured, [among the young sheep], and spotted and speckled [among the goats]>—and they shall be my wages.

33 And my righteousness shall answer for me, on a future day, when thou shalt come in respecting my hire that is before thee,—

<Every one that is not speckled and spotted among the goats, and dark-coloured among the young sheep> ||stolen|| shall it be accounted, if found [with me].

34 Then said Laban,

Lo! would it might he according to thy word!

35 So he removed, on that day, the he-goats that were striped and spotted, and all the she-goats that were speckled and spotted, every one* that had white in it, and every dark-coloured one among the young sheep,—and delivered them into the hand of his sons; 36 then put he a journey of three days between himself and Jacob,—but ||Jacob himself|| continued tending the flocks of Laban that were left.

37 So then Jacob took him rods of young storax, and hazel and maple,*—and peeled in them white stripes, laying bare the white, which was on the rods. 38 And he set the rods which he had peeled, in the channels, in the troughs of water,—where the flocks came in to drink, straight before the flocks, and the females of the flock used to be in heat when they came in to drink; 39 and the males of the flock were in heat before the rods,—so the flocks brought forth ring-straked, speckled, and spotted. 40 <The rams also> did Jacob separate, and then set the faces of the flocks towards the ring-straked and all the dark-coloured, among the flocks of Laban,—and he put [his own] drives by themselves, and put them not with the flocks of Laban. 41 So it came to pass <whenever the stronger of the flocks were in heat> that Jacob set the rods before the eyes of the flocks, in the channels,—that the females might be in heat among the rods; 42 but <when the flocks were late in bearing> he did not set them,—and so the late-born were Laban’s, but the strong ones Jacob’s. 43 Thus did the man break forth ||exceedingly||,—thus came he to have flocks in abundance, and maid-servants, and men-servants, and camels, and asses.

§ 44. Jacob, stealing away, is pursued by Laben. They covenant together.

Chapter 31.

1 Then heard he the words of the sons of Laban, saying,

Jacob hath taken away’ all that belonged to our father;

Yea <out of what belonged to our father> hath he made all this wealth. e

2 And Jacob looked upon the face of Laban,—and lo! it was not with him as aforetime. 3 Then said Yahweh unto Jacob, Return unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred,—that I may be with thee.

4 So Jacob sent, and called for Rachel and for Leah,—to the field, unto his flock; 5 and said to them,

||Beholding|| am I’ the face of your father, that it is not’ towards me as aforetime,f—nevertheless ||[the God of my father] hath been with me; 6 and ||[ye]|| know that <with all my vigour> have I served your father.

7 But [your father] hath deceived me, and hath changed my wages ten times,—yet God hath not suffered’ him to deal harmfully with me.

8 <If thus’ he saith, ||The speckled] shall be thy wages> then do all the flock bring forth speckled,—

But if thus’ he saith, ||The ring-straked|| shall be thy wages> then do all the flock bring forth ring-straked.

9 So hath God stripped away the herds of your father, and given them to me.

10 And it came to pass <in the season when the flock were in heat> then lifted I mine eyes, and beheld in a dream,—and lo! ||[the he-goats that were leaping upon the flock]] were ring-straked, speckled, and dappled.

11 And the messenger of God said unto me in a dream, Jacob! and I said, Behold me! 12 Then he said,

Lift, I pray thee, thine eyes and behold, ||[All the he-goats that are leaping upon the flock]] are ring-straked, speckled, and dappled,—for I have seen all that ||[Laban]] has been doing to thee.

13 ||L] am the God of Beth-el, wherea thou didst anoint a pillar, where thou didst vow to me a vow,—||[Now]b rise, go forth out of this land, and return unto the land of thy kindred.ç

14 Then responded Rachel and Leah, and said to him,—

Have we any longer’ a portion or an inheritance, in the house of our father?

15 Are we not accounted ||[aliens]] to him, seeing that <having sold us> he hath then gone on’ ||[devouring]] our silver?

16 Surely <all the riches which God hath stripped off from our father> ||unto us]] it belongeth, and unto our sons,— ||[Now], therefore, <whatsoever God hath said unto thee> ||do]].

17 So Jacob arose,—and mounted his sons and his wives on the camels; 18 and drave away all his herds, and all his goods which he had gathered, the gains he had gained,ç which he had gathered in Padan-aram; that he might go in unto Isaac his father, unto the land of Canaan.

19 Now ||[Laban]] had gone, to shear his sheep,—so Rachel stole the household godsç that belonged to her father. çThus Jacob stole away unawares to Laban,ç the Syrian,—in that he had not told him that he was ||about to flee]]. 21 So he fled, ||[he—and all that he had]], and he arose, and passed over the River,ç—and set his face towards the mountain of Gilead.

22 And it was told Laban, on the third day,—that Jacob had fled. 23 So he took his brethren with him, and pursued after him, a journey of seven days,— and overtook him in the mountain of Gilead. 24 And God went in unto Laban the Syrian, in a dream of the night,—and said to him,

Take heed to thyself, that thou speak not with Jacob, either good or bad.

25 So then Laban came up with Jacob,—||[Jacob]] having pitched his tent in the mountain, ||[Laban]] also, with his brethren, pitched in the mountain of Gilead. 26 Then said Laban to Jacob,

What hadst thou done, that thou shouldst steal away unawares to me,ç—and shouldst carry off my daughters, as captives of the sword?

27 Wherefore’ didst thou secretly’ flee, and rob me,—and didst not tell me, that I might send thee away with rejoicing and with songs, with timbrel and with lyre;ç and didst not suffer me to kiss my sons and my daughters?

||[Now] hast thou done [foolishly].ç ||[It is] in the power of my hand] to deal with thee for harm,—but ||[the God of your father]] <last night> spake unto me, saying,

Take heed to thyself that thou speak not with Jacob, either good or bad.

30 But ||[now]], <though thou ||[didst even take thy journey]] because thou ||[didst sorely long]] for the house of thy fatherç, whereforeç didst thou steal away my gods?ç

31 And Jacob answered and said unto Laban,—

Because I was afraid, for I said,

Lest thou take by force thy daughters from me!

32 ||[He with whom thou find thy gods]] shall not live!

<Before our brethren> note thou for thyself what is with me, and take what is thine.

Neither did Jacob know that ||[Rachel]] had stolen them.

Then entered Laban into the tent of Jacob and into the tent of Leah and into the tent of the two handmaids, and found nothing,—then went he forth out of the tent of Leah, and entered into the tent of Rachel. Now [Rachell] had taken the household gods" and put them in the basket-saddle of the camel, and taken her seat upon them. And Laban felt about throughout all the tent, and found them not. And she said unto her father,

Let it not be vexing in the eyes of my lord, that I cannot rise up at thy presence, for [the way of women] is upon me.

So he made search, but found not the household gods. And it was vexing to Jacob, and he contended with Laban,—and Jacob responded, and said to Laban,

What was my trespass, what my sin, that thou shouldst have come burning after me?

<Now that thou hast felt about among all my goods> what hast thou found of the goods of thine own house?

Set it out here, right before my brethren and thy brethren,—that they may give sentence betwixt us two.

<This twenty years’ time> have [II] been with thee—
||Thy ewes and thy she-goats|| have not cast their young,—

<And the rams of thy flock> have I not eaten,

<The tor> have I not brought in unto thee—
[II] bare the loss,
<At my hand> didst thou require it,—
Stolen by day, or stolen by night.

Thus have I been—
<By day> drought hath consumed me,
And [frost] by [night],—
So that my sleep fled away from mine eyes.

[[This]] hath been my’ lot twenty years, in thy house,—
I served thee fourteen years, for thy two daughters,
And six years, for thy sheep,—
And thou didst change my wages ten times;—

Le but that the God of my father—

The God of Abraham, and the Dread of Isaac—Proved to be mine<
Surely’ <even now> ||[empty]|| hadst thou let me go?
<My humiliation and the wearying toil of my hands> God had seen, And therefore gave sentence last night!

Then responded Laban and said unto Jacob—
[[The daughters]] are my’ daughters,
And [[the sons]] are my’ sons,
And [[the sheep]] are my’ sheep,
And <all that [thou] beholdest> ||To me|| doth it belong!
But <to my daughters> what can I do to these, this day,
Or to their sons, whom they have borne?

[Now] therefore, come on! Let us solemnise a covenant ||I and thou||,—
So shall it be a witness betwixt me and thee.

So Jacob took a stone,—and set it up as a pillar. Then said Jacob to his brethren—Gather stones. And they took stones, and made a heap,—and they did eat there, by the heap. And Laban called it, Jegar-sahadutha,<—but [Jacob] called it, Galeed. Then said Laban:
[[This heap]] be witness, betwixt me and thee, today.
[For this cause] is the name thereof called, Galeed; also The Watch Tower, as to which it is said, Yahweh watch betwixt me and thee, when we are parted one from another.

If thou oppress my daughters, or if thou take wives besides my daughters>—||there may be no man with us||—see! ||God|| be witness betwixt me and thee!

And Laban said to Jacob—
Behold this heap, and behold this pillar, which I have set betwixt me and thee:

<A witness> be this heap, and  the pillar,—
That [II] am not to pass, unto thee, over this heap, § 45. Jacob prepares to meet Esau: his Arrangements, Prayer and Wrestling.

Chapter 32.

1. <When ||Jacob|| had gone on his way> there met him, messengers of God. 2. And Jacob said, when he saw them,
   <The camp of God> is this!
   So he called the name of that place, Mahanaim. Then did Jacob send messengers before him, unto Esau his brother,—to the land of Seir, the field of Edom. 4. And he commanded them, saying,
   <Thus> shall ye say to my lord, to Esau,
   <Thus> saith thy servant Jacob,
   <With Laban> have I sojourned, and tarried until [now];
5. And I have oxen and asses, flocks and men-servants and maid-servants,
   So I must needs send to tell my lord, that I might find favour in thine eyes.
6. And the messengers returned unto Jacob, saying,—
   We came in unto thy brother, unto Esau, moreover also, he is in his way to meet thee, and four hundred men with him.
7. Then was Jacob greatly afraid, and in distress. So he divided the people that were with him, and the flocks and the herds and the camels, into two camps. 8. And he said, <Should Esau come upon the one camp, and smite it> yet shall the camp that is left escape.
9. And Jacob said’
   God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac,—Yahweh, who wast saying unto me,—

Return to thy land and to thy kindred, that I may deal well with thee;—
10. I am too small for all the lovingkindnesses, and for all the faithfulness, which thou hast done unto thy servant,—
   For <with my staff> passed I over this Jordan, But ||now|| have I become two camps. 11. Deliver me, I pray thee, out of the hand of my brother, out of the hand of Esau,—for ||II|| am afraid’ of him, lest he come in and smite—mother, as well as’ sons!
12. But ||thou thyself|| saidst,—
   I wilt ||deal well|| with thee,—
   So will I make thy seed as the sand of the sea, which is not to be counted, for multitude.
13. And he tarried there that night, and took of that which came to his hand, a present for Esau his brother:—
14. She-goats, two hundred; Cows, forty;
   And he-goats twenty; And bulls, ten;
   Ewes, two hundred; She-asses, twenty;
   And rams, twenty; And young he-asses, ten.
15. And he gave them into the hand of his servants, each drove by itself,—and said unto his servants—Pass over before me, and  shall ye put betwixt drove and drove.
16. And he commanded the first one, saying:
   <When Esau my brother shall fall in with thee, and shall ask thee, saying, Whose are these ||thou||? and whither wouldst thou go? and to whom’ belong these before thee?> 18. then shalt thou say,
   To thy servant Jacob:
   It is ||a present|| sent to my lord, to Esau;
   And behold ||he himself also|| is behind us.
17. And he commanded the second also, and the third, yea all that were going on behind the drives, saying,— <According to this word> shall ye speak unto Esau, when ye find him. 20. Then shall ye say,
   Also, lo! thy servant Jacob is behind us.
For he said:

I must pacify him with the present that goeth on before me, And <after that> will I see his face: Peradventure he will accept me. 21 So the present passed over before him,—whereas [he himself] tarried that night in the camp. 22 And he arose in that night and took his two wives, and his two handmaids and his eleven sons,—and pressed over the ford of Jabbok. 23 So he took them, and sent them over the brook,—and sent over that which he had. 24 And Jacob was left alone,—and there wrestled a man with him, until the uprisings of the dawn. 25 And <when he saw that he prevailed not against him> he touched the hollow of his thigh,—and the hollow of Jacob’s thigh was put out of joint, as he wrestled with him. 26 Then said he— Let me go, for uprisen hath the dawn. And he said: I will not let thee go,—except’ thou have blessed me. 27 Then he said unto him— What is thy name? And he said— Jacob. 28 Then he said— <Not Jacob> shall thy name be called any more, but Israel,— For thou hast contended with God and with men, and hast prevailed. 29 Then asked Jacob and said, Do, I pray thee, tell me thy name! And he said— Wherefore now, shouldest thou ask for my name? And he blessed him there. 30 So Jacob called the name of the place Peniel, For I saw God, face to face; and my soul was delivered. 31 And the sun rose on him as soon as he had passed over Peniel,—||he||, moreover, was halting upon his thigh. 32 <For this cause> the sons of Israel eat not of the nerve of the large hip-sinew, which is by the hollow of the thigh, until this day,— because he touched the hollow of the thigh of Jacob, in the nerve of the hip-sinew.

§ 46. Jacob and Esau reconciled.

Chapter 33.

1 Then Jacob lifted up his eyes, and looked, and lo! ||Esau|| coming in,—and <with him> four hundred men. So he divided the children—unto Leah, and unto Rachel, and unto the two handmaids; 2 and put the handmaids and their children first,—and Leah and her children next, and Rachel and Joseph next; 3 but [he himself] passed over before them, and bowed himself to the earth seven times, until he had come near unto his brother. 4 Then ran Esau to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck, and they wept. 5 Then lifted he up his eyes, and beheld the women and the children, and said, What are these’ to thee? And he said— The children wherewith God hath favoured thy servant. 6 Then came near the handmaids, [they—and their children],—and bowed themselves. 7 Then came near Leah also, with her children,—and they bowed themselves. And <afterwards> came near Joseph with Rachel, and they bowed themselves. 8 Then said he, What to thee is all this camp, which I have fallen in with? And he said,— To find favour, in the eyes of my lord. 9 Then said Esau, I have’ an abundance,—my brother, be thine! what thou hast! 10 Then said Jacob, Nay, I pray thee, EXPR I pray thee, have found favour in thine eyes> then thou wilt take my present at my hand,— 11 For <on this account> hath my seeing thy face been like seeing the face of God, [in that thou wast well-pleased with me]. shewed me favour, and because I have' everything.
So he was urgent with him, and he took it. 12 Then he said,
Let us break up and go,—and let me go on before thee.

13 And he said unto him,
[||My lord||] is taking note, that [||the children||] are tender,—and [||the flocks and the herds||] are giving suck with me,—and [should I overdrive them a single day] then would all the flocks die.

Let my lord, I pray thee, pass over before his servant,—and let [||me||] lead on in my own easy way, at the pace of the cattle that are before me, and at the pace of the children, until that I come in unto my lord, towards Seir.

15 Then said Esau:
Let me leave, I pray thee, along with thee, some of the people who are with me!
And he said—
Why so? let me find favour in the eyes of my lord!

16 So Esau returned, that day, to his journey towards Mount Seir. 17 But [||Jacob||] brake up towards Succoth, and built for himself a house,—<for his cattle> made he places of shelter, 2 <for which cause> the name of the place was called, 3 Succoth. 4

And Jacob came in peace to the city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan,—when he came in from Padan-aram, 5—and he encamped before the city. 19 And he bought the portion of the field, where he had spread out his tent, at the hand of the sons of Hamor, father of Shechem,—for a hundred kesitahs. 6 20 And he set up there‘ an altar,—and called it, El-elohe-Israel. 7 § 47. Dinah being defiled by Shechem, the Deed is avenged by her Brothers.

Chapter 34.

Then went forth Dinah, the daughter of Leah, whom she had borne to Jacob,—to see the daughters of the land. 2 And Shechem, son of Hamor the Hivite, prince of the land, saw her,— so he took her, and lay with her, and humbled her.

3 And his soul clave unto Dinah, daughter of Jacob,—and he loved the young woman, and spake to the heart of the young woman. 4 Then spake Shechem unto Hamor his father, saying,—

Take me this girl, to wife!

5 Now [||Jacob||] had heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, but [||his sons||] happened to be with his cattle in the field,—so Jacob kept quiet, until they came in. 6 Then came forth Hamor, father of Shechem,—unto Jacob,—to speak with him.

7 Now [||the sons of Jacob||] came in from the field, as soon as they heard, and the men were grieved, and it was vexing to them exceedingly,—for [||a disgraceful deed||] had he done with Israel, in lying with Jacob’s daughter, seeing that [<so> it should not be done. 9 So then Hamor spake with them, saying,—

<As for Shechem my son> his soul hath become attached to your daughter,—I pray you give her to him, to wife.

9 And exchange ye daughters with us in marriage,—<your daughters> shall ye give to us’, and <our daughters> shall ye take to you’.

10 And <with us> shall ye dwell,—and the land shall be before you, tarry, and go through it, and get possessions therein.

11 Then said Shechem unto her father, and unto her brethren,
Let me find favour in your eyes,—and <whatsoever ye may say unto me> will I give:

12 Heap on me, exceedingly, dowry and gift, and I will give, just as ye may say unto me,—but give me the young woman, to wife.

13 And the sons of Jacob answered Shechem, and Hamor his father, deceitfully, and spake (because he had defiled Dinah their sister)—

14 and said unto them—
We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to a man that is uncircumcised,—<for a reproach> it would be’ to us.

15 <Only herein> can we consent to you,—

<If ye will become like us, by circumcising to you every male> 16 then will we give our daughters to [you], and <your daughters> will we take to [us],—and we will dwell with you, and become one people.

17 But [if ye will not hearken unto us, to be circumcised] then will we take our daughter, and be gone.

18 And their words looked fair, in the eyes of Hamor,—and in the eyes of Shechem, Hamor's son; and the young man deferred not to do the thing, because he had delight in Jacob's daughter,—[he] moreover being more honourable than all the house of his father.

20 So Hamor entered, with Shechem his son, into the gate of their city,—and they spake unto the men of their city, saying:

<As for these men> [[in peace]] they are' with us—let them therefore dwell in the land, and go through it, for [[the land]], lo! it is roomy on both hands, before them,—<their daughters> let us take to us for wives, and <our daughters> let us give to them.

<Only herein> will the men consent to us, to dwell with us, to become one people,—If we circumcise to us every male, even as [[they]] are circumcised.

23 <Their herds, and their substance, and all their beasts> shall [[they]] not be ours'?

<Only> we must consent to them, that they may dwell with us.

24 And they hearkened unto Hamor, and unto Shechem his son, [even all that were going forth out of the gate of his city], —and every male was circumcised, [all that were going forth out of the gate of his city].

25 And it came to pass on the third day, [when they were in pain], that two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brothers, took each man his sword, and came in upon the city, boldly,—and slew every male; 26 <Hamor also, and Shechem his son> slew they with the edge of the sword,—and took Dinah out of the house of Shechem, and came forth. 27 [[The sons of Jacob]] came in upon the slain, and plundered the city,—because they had defiled their sister: 28 <their flocks, and their herds, and their asses,—and that which was in the city, and that which was in the field> they took; 29 and <all their wealth, and all their little ones, and their women> took they captive, and seized as plunder,—even all that was in their houses. 30

Then said Jacob unto Simeon and unto Levi—Ye have troubled me, by making me odious among them that dwell in the land, among the Canaanites, and among the Perizzites,—[[I]] having only men that may be counted they will gather themselves together against me, and smite me,—and I shall be destroyed, [[both I'] and my house]].

31 And they said,—<As with a harlot> was he to deal with our sister?

Chapter 35.

1 Then said God unto Jacob,

Arise, go up to Beth-el, and dwell there,—and make there an altar, to the GOD who appeared unto thee, when thou fleddest from the face of Esau thy brother.

2 And Jacob said unto his house, and unto all who were with him,—Put away the gods of the alien which are in your midst, and purify yourselves, and change your garments;

3 And let us arise, and go up to Beth-el,—that I may make there an altar, to the GOD who answered me in the day of my distress, and was with me, in the way that I went.

4 So they gave unto Jacob all the gods of the alien which were in their hand, and the earrings which were in their ears,—and Jacob hid them under the oak, 5 which was by Shechem. 5 And they brake up,—and it came to pass that [[the terror of GOD]] was on the cities which were round about them, so that they pursued not after the sons of Jacob. 6 And Jacob came in towards Luz, which was in the land of Canaan, [[the same]] is Beth-el,—[[he'] and all the people who were with him]]. 7 And he built there an altar, and called the place El-Beth-el, 8—because [there] GOD revealed himself unto him, when he fled from the face of his brother. 9

And God went up from him, at the place where he had spoken with him. 14 And Jacob set up a pillar, in the place where he had spoken with him, |a pillar of stone,—and he poured thereon, a drink-offering, and poured thereon, oil. 15 And Jacob called the name of the place, where God had spoken with him, ||Beth-el]].

Then brake they up from Beth-el, and it came to pass <when there was yet a stretch of country, to enter into Ephrath> that Rachel was in childbirth, and had hard-labour in her child-birth. 17 So it came to pass <when she was in hard-labour in her child-birth> that the midwife said to her—

6 Then took Esau his wives, and his sons, and his daughters, and all the souls of his house, and his herds and all his beasts, and all his possessions whatsoever he had gathered in the land of Canaan,—and went into a land, away from the face of Jacob his brother. 7 For their substance had become too great, for them to dwell together,—neither could the land of their sojournings sustain them, because of their herds. 8 So Esau dwelt in Mount Seir, ||[Esau]|| is Edom. 9 And ||[these]|| are the generations of Esau, father of Edom,—in Mount Seir. 10 ||[These]|| are the names of the sons of Esau,—Eliphaz, son of Adah, wife of Esau, Reuel, son of Basemath, wife of Esau.

§ 50. Joseph—envied, hated and sold by his Bretheren—is taken down into Egypt.

Chapter 37.

1 So Jacob dwelt in the land of the sojournings of his father,—in the land of Canaan.

2 ||These|| are the generationsō of Jacob—||Joseph|| <when seventeen years old> was shepherding with his brethren among the flocks, and ||[he|| being [a youth] was with the sons of Bilhah and with the sons of Zilpah, wives of his father,—so then Joseph brought in the talk about them—something bad unto their father.

3 Now ||Israel|| loved Joseph more than any of his sons, because he was to him ||[the son of his old age],—and he had made him, a long tunic. 4 So his brethren saw that their father loved [him] more than any of his brethren, and they hated him,—and could not bid him prosper.

5 And Joseph dreamed a dream, and told it to his brethren,—and they went on yet moreʹ to hate him. 6 And he said unto them,—

Hear ye, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed:

7 Lo! then, ||we|| were binding sheaves in the midst of the field, when lo! my sheaf rose upʹ, yea and took its stand,—and lo! round about came your sheaves, and bowed themselves down, to my sheaf.

8 And his brethren said to him, Shalt thou ||[reign]|| over us, shalt thouʹ ||[have dominion]|| over us?

So they went on yet moreʹ to hate himʹ, because of his dreams, and because of his words. 9 Then dreamed he ||yet another| dream, and related it to his brethren,—and said:—

Lo! I have dreamed a dream |yet again|,
Lo! then, ||[the sun and the moon, and eleven stars]|| were bowing themselves down to me.

10 So he related it unto his father, and unto his brethren,—and his father rebuked him, and said unto him,

What is this dream which thou hast dreamed? Shall we ||[indeed come in]|| <I, and thy mother and thy brethren> to bow ourselves down to thee, to the earth?

11 Then were his brethren jealous of him,—but ||[his father]|| marked the word.

12 Now his brethren went their way,—to feed their father’s flock in Shechem. 13 So Israel said unto Joseph—

Are not thy brethren feeding the flock in Shechem? Come on! and let me send thee unto them.

And he said to him—

Behold me!

14 So he said to him—

Go, I pray thee, look after the welfare of thy brethren, and the welfare of the flock, and bring me back word.

And he sent him from the vale of Hebron, and he came in towards Shechem. 15 And a man found him, and lo! he was wandering about, in the field,—so the man asked him, saying—

What seekest thou?

16 And he said, <My brethren> am ||[I]|| seeking,—do tell me. I pray thee, where theyʹ are feeding their flock.

They have broken up from hence, for I heard them saying—

Let us go our way towards Dothan.

So Joseph went after his brethren, and found them, in Dothan. And they saw him, afar off,—and ere yet he drew near unto them> they conspired against him, to put him to death. And they said, each man unto his brother,—

Lo! [that master] of dreams yonder] coming in! 20 [Now] therefore, come! let us slay him, and cast him into one of the pits, and we will say—

[A cruel beast] hath devoured him,—And let us see what will become of his dreams.

And Reuben heard it, and rescued him out of their hand,—and said—

Let us not smite him, so as to take his life!b

And Reuben said unto them—

Do not shed blood! Cast him into this pit, which is in the wilderness, but put not forth [a hand] against him! that he might rescue him out of their hand, to restore him unto his father.

So it came to pass <when Joseph had come in unto his brethren> that they stript Joseph of his tunic, [the long tunicc which was upon him], 24 and took him, and cast him into the pit,—but [the pit] was empty, there was in it [no water]. 25 And <when they had sat down to eat bread> they lifted up their eyes, and looked, and lo! [a caravan of Ishmaelites] coming in from Gilead,—and [their camels] were bearing tragacanth gum, and balsam and cistus-gum, they were going their way, to take them down to Egypt. 26 So Judah said unto his brethren,—

What profit, that we slay our brother, and conceal his blood?

Come, and let us sell him to the Ishmaelites; but let not [our own hand] be upon him, for [our own brother, our own flesh] is he.

And his brethren hearkened. 28 And there passed by certain Midianites, travelling merchants, so they drew forth and uplifted Joseph out of the pit, and sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites, for twenty pieces of silver,—and they brought Joseph into Egypt.

29 And Reuben returned unto the pit, and lo! Joseph was not’ in the pit,—so he rent his clothes; 30 and returned unto his brethren, and said—

The [lad] is’ not! And [I] oh where can [I] go? 31 And they took Joseph’s tunic,—and slaughtered a buck of the goats, and dipped the tunic in the blood; 32 and sent the long tunic and brought it in unto their father, and said—

<This> have we found!

Examine, we pray thee, whether it is [the tunic of thy son], or not!

33 So he examined it, and said,—

The tunic of my son! [A cruel beast] hath devoured him,—[<torn in pieces—torn in pieces>] is Joseph!

34 And Jacob rent his garments, and put sackcloth upon his loins,—and mourned over his son many days. 35 And all his sons and all his daughters rose up to console him, but he refused to be consoled, and said—

Surely I will go down unto my son, mourning, to hades!c

And his father wept for him.

36 Now [the Midianites sold him into Egypt,—to Potiphar, courtier of Pharaoh, chief of the royal executioners.

§ 51. Judah, and his Family. Tamar bears Perez and Zerah.

Chapter 38.

1 And it came to pass <at that time> that Judah went down, away from his brethren,—and turned aside unto a certain Adullamite, whose [name] was Hirah. 2 And Judah saw there, a daughter of a certain Canaanite, whose [name] was Shua,—and he took her, and went in unto her; 3 and she conceived, and bare a son,—and he called her name, Er.

4 And she conceived again, and bare a son,—and she called his name Onan. 5 And she [yet again] bare a son, and called his name, Shelah,—and [she] was at Chezib, when she bare him.

6 And Judah took a wife, for Er his firstborn,—and [her name] was Tamar. 7 And it came to pass that Er, Judah’s firstborn, was displeasingh in the eyes of Yahweh,—so Yahweh put him to death. 8

Then said Judah to Onan,
Go in unto thy brother’s wife, and fulfil the duty of a brother-in-law unto her,—and raise up seed, to thy brother. 9
And Onan knew that the seed would not be his,— and so <although he did go in unto his brother’s wife> yet made he waste upon the ground, so as to not give seed to his brother.
10 And it was displeasing* in the eyes of Yahweh, what he had done,—so he put ||him also|| to death.
11 Then said Judah to Tamar his daughter-in-law—Remain a widow in the house of thy father, until Shelah my son grow up.
For he said,
Lest ||he also|| die, like his brethren.
So Tamar went her way, and remained in the house of her father. 12
And <when the days were multiplied> then died Shua’s daughter, Judah’s wife,—and Judah consoled himself, and went up unto his sheepshearers ||he, and Hirah his friend the
Adullamite||, towards Timnah. 13 And it was told Tamar, saying—
Lo! ||thy father-in-law|| is going up towards
Timnah, to the shearing of his sheep.
14 So she put off from her the garments of her widowhood1, and covered herself with a veil, and wrapped herself up, and sat down in the entrance of Enaim,b which is by the way towards Timnah,—for she saw that Shelah had grown up, and ||she|| had not been given him to wife. 15 And Judah, seeing her, reckoned her to be an unchaste woman,—for she had covered her face. 16 So he turned aside unto her, by the way, and said,
Grant it! I pray thee, let me come in unto thee! For he knew not that she’ was ||his daughter-in-law||. And she said,
What wilt thou give me, if thou shouldstf come in unto me?
17 And he said,
||I|| will send a kid of the goats, from the flock.
And she said,
Wilt thou give a pledge, until thou send it?
18 And he said—
What is the pledge that I shall give thee?
And she said—
Thy signet-ring, and thy guard, and thy staff that is in thy hand.
So he gave them to her, and came in unto her, and she conceived by him. 19 Then she arose and went her way, and put off her veil from her,—and put on the garments of her widowhood. 20 And Judah sent the kid of the goats, by the hand of his friend the Adullamite, to receive the pledge, at the hand of the woman,—but he found her not. 21 So he asked the men of her place, saying,
Where is the devotee, ||she’ that was in Enaim,
by the way||?
And they said—
There hath been, here, no devotee.
22 Then returned he unto Judah, and said—
I found her not,—moreover’ also, ||the men of the place|| said,
There hath been, here, no devotee.
23 And Judah said:
Thou must take it to her, lest we become a contempt,—lo! I sent this kid, and ||thou|| hast not found her.
24 And it came to pass that <about three months after> it was told Judah, saying—Tamar thy daughter-in-law hath been guilty of unchastity, moreover also’ lo! ||she hath conceived by unchastity||.
Then said Judah,
Bring her forth, and let her be burnt.
25 <When ||she|| was about to be brought forth> then
||she herself|| sent unto her father-in-law, saying,
<By the man to whom these belong> have ||I|| conceived!
And she said—
Examine, I pray thee, to whom belong the signet-ring, and the guard, and the staff—
||these||!
26 So Judah examined them and said—
More righteous than I! ||forasmuch|| as I had not given her to Shelah my son.
And he knew her again ||no more||.
27 And it came to pass <at the time of her travail> that lo! ||twins|| were in her womb.
28 And it came to pass <when she was in travail> that one put forth a hand,—so the midwife took and bound upon his hand a crimson thread, saying—||This|| came first!

a Or: “base.”
b =“Two fountains.”

c Cp. O.G. 173°, 2 b.
And so it was that <no sooner had he withdrawn his hand> than lo! his brother had come. And she said, Wherefore hast thou made for thyself a breach? So his name was called Perez. And <afterwards> came his brother, on whose hand was the crimson thread,—so his name was called Zerah.

§ 52. Joseph, from Potiphar’s House, is cast into Prison.

Chapter 39.

Now ||Joseph|| was taken down to Egypt,—and Potiphar, courtier of Pharaoh, chief of the royal executioners, an Egyptian, bought him, at the hand of the Ishmaelites, who had brought him down thither. And it came to pass that ||Yahweh|| was with Joseph, so that he became a prosperous man,—and was in the house of his lord the Egyptian. And his lord saw, that ||Yahweh|| was with him,—and that <whosoever he was doing> ||Yahweh|| was causing to prosper in his hand. So Joseph found favour in his eyes, and waited upon him,—and he made him overseer over his house, and <all that he had> gave he into his hand. And it came to pass <from the time that he made him overseer in his house> — and over all that he had—gave he into his hand. And it came to pass <after these things> that his lord’s wife lifted up her eyes unto Joseph,—and she said—

Come! lie with me.

And he refused, and said unto his lord’s wife,

Lo! my lord taketh no note with me, as to what is in the house,—but <all that pertaineth to him> hath he delivered into my hand: There is no’ one greater in this house than I, neither hath he withheld from me, anything, save only myself, in that ||thou| art his wife,—how, then, could I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?

And it came to pass, that <although she spake unto Joseph day after day> yet hearkened he not unto her, to lie beside her, to be with her. And it came to pass, <when, on a certain day, he went into the house to attend to his business,—and there was no’ man, of the household, there, in the house> that she caught him by his garment, saying—

Come! lie with me. Then left he his garment in her hand, and fled, and got forth outside. And it came to pass <when he saw that he had left his garment in her hand,—and fled forth outside> that she cried out to the men of her house, and spake to them, saying,

Look ye! he hath brought in to us, a Hebrew man to insult us,—

He came in unto me, to lie with me, so I cried out with a loud voice.

And it came to pass <when he heard that I lifted high my voice, and cried out> then left he his garment beside me, and fled, and got forth outside.

So she laid by his garment beside me,—until his lord should come into his house. Then spake she unto him, according to these words, saying,—

He hath been in unto me—the Hebrew servant whom thou didst bring in to us—to insult me.

And it came to pass <when I lifted high my voice, and cried out> then left he his garment beside me, and fled outside.

And it came to pass <when his lord heard the words of his wife, which she spake unto him, saying,

<According to these words> hath thy servant done to me?

Then was kindled his anger. So Joseph’s lord took him, and delivered him up to the prison, the place where ||the prisoners of the king|| were imprisoned,—so he was there, in the prison.

And it came to pass <when he was therein>—that ||Yahweh|| was with Joseph, and extended unto him lovingkindness,— § 53. Pharaoh’s Butler and Baker, in Prison, are waited upon by Joseph; they dream, and Joseph interprets their Dreams.

Chapter 40.

1 And it came to pass after these things, that the butler of the king of Egypt, and the baker, had sinned against their lord, the king of Egypt. Then fell the wroth of Pharaoh upon his two courtiers,—upon the chief of the butlers, and upon the chief of the bakers; so he delivered them up into the ward of the house of the chief of the royal executioners, into the prison,—the place where Joseph was imprisoned. And the chief of the royal executioners charged Joseph with them, and he waited upon them,—and they were some days in ward. And they dreamed a dream—they two, each man his dream, in one night, each man according to the interpretation of his dream,—the butler and the baker, who belonged to the king of Egypt, who were imprisoned in the prison. And Joseph came in unto them, in the morning,—and looked at them, and lo! they were sad. So he asked Pharaoh’s courtiers, who were with him in the ward of his lord’s house, saying,—Why are your faces troubled to-day?

And they said unto him, A dream have we dreamed, but there is none to interpret it.

Then said Joseph unto them—Is it not unto God that interpretations belong? Relate it, I pray you, to me.

9 And the chief of the butlers related his dream to Joseph,—and said to him, In my dream then lo! a vine before me; and in the vine three shoots,—and the same, at sprouting time had shot up her blossom, and her clusters had brought to perfection ripe grapes.

Now the cup of Pharaoh being in my hand I took the ripe grapes, and pressed them out into the cup of Pharaoh, and set the cup upon Pharaoh’s palm.

12 And Joseph said to him, This is the interpretation thereof,—The three shoots are three days: In three days more will Pharaoh lift up thy head, and restore thee to thine office, and thou shalt set the cup of Pharaoh in his hand, according to the former custom, when thou wast his butler.

But if thou remember how I was with thee, when it shall go well with thee, then wilt thou, I pray thee, do me a lovingkindness,—and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, and bring me forth out of this house;

For I was stolen out of the land of the Hebrews,—and had I done nothing, that they should have put me in the dungeon.

Then the chief of the bakers, seeing that he had well interpreted, said unto Joseph, I too was in my dream, when lo! three wicker baskets of fine bread were on my head; and in the uppermost basket was some of every kind of food for Pharaoh, that a baker could make,—but the birds kept eating them out of the basket from off my head.

And Joseph responded, and said, This is the interpretation thereof,—The three baskets are three days: In three days more will Pharaoh lift up thy head from off thee, and hang thee upon a tree,—and the birds shall eat thy flesh from off thee.

And it came to pass on the third day—the birthday of Pharaoh—that he made a banquet for all his servants,—and uplifted the head of the chief of the butlers, and the head of the chief of the bakers, in the midst of his servants; and restored the chief of the butlers to his butlership,—so that he set the cup upon the palm of Pharaoh; but the chief of the bakers he hanged,—as Joseph had interpreted unto them.

Yet the chief of the butlers made no mention of Joseph, but did forget him.

Chapter 41.

1 And it came to pass <at the end of two years of days> that [Pharaoh] was dreaming, when lo! he was standing by the river (Nile); 2 and lo! <from the river> were coming up seven heifers, comely in appearance, and fat in flesh,—and they fed among the rushes. 3 And lo! [[seven heifers more]] coming up after them, out of the river, uncomely in appearance, and lean in flesh,—and they came and stood beside the heifers, by the lip of the river. 4 Then did the heifers that were uncomely in appearance, and lean in flesh [eat up] the seven heifers that were comely in appearance, and fat. So Pharaoh awoke.

5 And he fell asleep, and dreamed a second time, when lo! [seven ears] coming up on one stalk, fat and good; 6 and lo! [seven ears, lean and shrivelled by an east wind], coming up after them. 7 Then did the lean ears swallow up the seven fat and full ears. So Pharaoh awoke, and lo! it was a dream.

8 And it came to pass <in the morning> that his spirit became restless, so he sent and called for all the sacred scribes of Egypt, and all her wise men,—and Pharaoh related to them his dreams, 9 but there was no one that could interpret them, to Pharaoh. 10 Then spake the chief of the butlers with Pharaoh, saying,—

<My faults> would [I] mention this day.

[Pharaoh] was wroth with his servants,—and put them<in the ward of the house of the chief> of the royal executioners, [me, and the chief of the bakers].

11 Then must we needs dream, a dream in one night, [I and he],—[each man] <according to the interpretation of his dream> did we dream.

12 And <there with us>, was a young man, a Hebrew, servant to the chief of the royal executioners, and we related to him, and he interpreted to us, our dreams,—<to each man—according to his dream> did he interpret.

13 And it came to pass <as he interpreted to us> [[so]] it happened,—<me> he restored to mine office, but <him> he hanged.

14 Then sent Pharaoh and summoned Joseph, and they hastened him out of the dungeon,—so he shaved himself, and changed his garments, and came in unto Pharaoh. 15 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph,

<A dream> have I dreamed, but none’ can [[interpret]] it,—but [I] have heard say concerning thee, that <on hearing a dream> thou canst interpret it.

16 And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying,

||Not to me|| doth it pertain!

May ||God|| grant in answer, the prosperity of Pharaoh!

17 Then spake Pharaoh unto Joseph,—

<In my dream> [[there was I]] standing on the lip of the river;

When lo! <out of the river> were coming up seven heifers, fat in flesh, and comely in form,—and they fed among the rushes.

19 And lo! [[seven other heifers]] coming up after them, poor, and very uncomely in form, and lean in flesh,—I had never seen such in all the land of Egypt, [for uncomeliness].

20 Then did the lean and uncomely heifers [eat up] the first seven, fat heifers; and they passed into their stomach, yet could it not be known that they had passed into them, [their appearance] being uncomely, as at the beginning. So I awoke.

22 Then looked I in my dream,—

And lo! [[seven ears]] coming up on one stalk, full and good;

23 And lo! [[seven ears, withered, lean, shrivelled by an east wind]] growing up after them.

Then did the lean ears [swallow up] the seven good ears.

So I told [these things] unto the sacred scribes, but there was none’ that could explain [them] to me.

25 Then said Joseph unto Pharaoh, 26 [[The dream of Pharaoh]] is [one]. <What God is about to do hath he announced to Pharaoh.>

||The seven good heifers|| are [seven years], and ||the seven good ears|| are [seven years],—

[the dream] is [one].

c MI: “pit.”
And ||the seven lean and uncomely heifers that were coming up after them|| are ||seven years||, and ||the seven lean ears, shrivelled by an east wind||, will turn out to be—seven years of famine.

<The very word that I spake unto Pharaoh> <what ||God|| is about to do> hath he showed unto Pharaoh.

Lo! ||seven years|| coming in,—||of great plenty, in all the land of Egypt||.

Then shall arise seven years of famine, after them, so shall be forgotten all the plenty in the land of Egypt,—and the famine shall consume the land; 31 neither shall the famine be discernible, because of that famine [coming after],—for it shall be ||very severe||.

And <for that there was a repeating of the dream unto Pharaoh [twice]> it is because the thing ||is established|| from God, and God is hastening’ to do it.

||Now||, therefore, let Pharaoh look out a man, discreet and wise,—and set him over the land of Egypt. 34 Let Pharaoh do this, that he may appoint overseers over the land,—so shall he take up a fifth of the land of Egypt, during the seven years of plenty.

And let them gather up all the food of these seven good years that are coming in,—and let them heap up corn under the hand of Pharaoh, as food in cities, so shall they keep it.

So shall the food become a store for the land, for the seven years of famine, which shall come about in the land of Egypt,—and the land shall not be cut off in the famine.

And the thing was good in the eyes of Pharaoh,—and in the eyes of all his servants; 38 and Pharaoh said unto his servants,—

Can we find such a one, ||a man in whom is the Spirit of God||?

So Pharaoh said unto Joseph,

<After God hath made known unto thee all this> there is no’ one discreet and wise like thee.

||Thou|| shall be over my house, and <on thy mouth> shall all my people kiss,—<only as to the throne> will I be greater than thou.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph,—

See, I have set thee over all the land of Egypt.

So Pharaoh took his ring from off his hand, and put it upon Joseph’s hand,—and clothed him in garments of fine linen, and put the chain of gold upon his neck; 43 and made him ride in the second chariot which belonged to him, and theya cried out before him,

Bow the knee! thus setting him over all the land of Egypt. 44 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph,

||I|| am Pharaoh,

<Without thee> therefore, shall no man raise his hand or his foot, in all the land of Egypt.

And Pharaoh called Joseph’s name Zaphenath-paneah, and gave him Asenath, daughter of Potipheraab priest of On, to wife,—and Joseph went forth over the land of Egypt. 46 Now ||Joseph|| was thirty years old, when he took his station, before Pharaoh king of Egypt. So Joseph went forth from before Pharaoh, and passed along through all the land of Egypt.

And the land produced, <in the seven years of plenty> ||by handfuls||. 48 And he gathered up all the food of the seven years in which there was plenty in the land of Egypt,e and laid up food in cities,—<the food of the fields of the city, which were round about it> laid he up within it. 49 Thus did Joseph heap up corn like the sand of the sea, making it exceeding abundant,—until one hath left off reckoning, because it cannot be reckoned.

Now <to Joseph> were born, two sons, ere yet came in the year of famine,—whom Asenath, daughter of Potipherahd priest of On, bare to him. 51 And Joseph called the name of the firstborn |Manasseh,c—

For God hath made me forget all my trouble, and all the house of my father.

And <the name of the second> called he, |Ephraim,f—

For God hath made me fruitful’ in the land of my humiliation.

Then came to an end the seven years of the plenty,—which was in the land of Egypt; and the seven years of famine began to come in, according as Joseph had said,—and it came to pass that there was a famine in all the lands, but in all the land of Egypt there was bread. Yet was famine felt in all the land of Egypt, and the people made outcry unto Pharaoh, for bread,—and Pharaoh said to all Egypt,—

Go ye unto Joseph, <that which he saith to you shall ye do.

Now the famine was over all the face of the land,—so Joseph opened all places wherein it was, and sold corn to the Egyptians, and the famine laid fast hold of the land of Egypt. Then came to an end the seven years of the famine of your houses; but the famine of the land of Egypt was yet upon it. And they said to Pharaoh, <we are come to buy corn from the Egyptians; for there is no bread in our houses.

And Joseph said unto them,—<Thus came in the sons of Israel, to buy corn, for he said,—

Lest there befall him any mischief. Thus came in the sons of Israel, to buy corn, in the midst of them that came,—for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

Now Joseph—he it was, that was in power over the land, |he| it was, that was selling corn to all the people of the land,—so Joseph’s brethren came in, and bowed themselves down to him, with their faces to the earth. And Joseph beheld his brethren, and recognised them,—and made himself a stranger unto them, and spake with them harsh things, and said unto them—

Whence have ye come in?

And they said, <From the land of Canaan, to buy food.

Yet was there bread in all the land of Egypt;

And Joseph recognised his brethren,—whereas [they] recognised him not.

And Joseph remembered the dreams which he had dreamed regarding them,—so he said unto them—

||Spies|| are |ye|! <to see the nakedness of the land> have ye come in!

And they said unto him,

Nay, my lord,—but ||thy servants|| are come to buy food. All of us|| are |sons of one man|,—||honest men|| are |we|: ||thy servants|| are not [spies].

And he said unto him,—

Nay! but ye <the nakedness of the land> are ye come in to see. And they said:

We ||thy twelve servants|| are |brethren|, sons of one man, in the land of Canaan,—and lo! ||the youngest|| is with our father, this day, and ||the one|| is’ not!

And Joseph said unto them,—

||The very thing|| that I spake unto you, saying—

||Spies|| are |ye|.

<By the life of Pharaoh> ye shall not go forth from hence, save only by the coming in of your youngest brother, hither.

Send—from among you—one, that he may fetch your brother, but be ||ye|| held as prisoners, that your words may be proved, whether ||truth|| is with you,—and if not ||by the life of Pharaoh|| surely ||spies|| ye are’.

So he drew them all together into ward, for three days. And Joseph said unto them, on the third day,

||This|| do, and live,—<God himself> do ||I|| revere.

<If ye |are| ||honest men||> one brother of you shall be kept as a prisoner in your house of ward,—but ||ye||, go, take in corn for the famine of your houses; and <your youngest brother> shall ye bring in unto me, that your words may be confirmed, and ye die not. And they did so. And they said, each man unto his brother—

<Verily guilty> we are’, respecting our brother, in that we saw the distress of his soul, when he

And Reuben responded to them, saying—

Spake I not unto you, saying,

Do not sin against the child!

And ye hearkened not?

<His very blood> therefore, lo! it is required.

But ||[they]| knew not, that Joseph was hearkening, for ||[the interpreter]| was between them. 24 So he turned away from them, and wept, then came back unto them, and spake unto them, and took away from them Simeon, and bound him prisoner before their eyes.

Then commanded Joseph that their bags should be filled with corn, and their silver be returned, each man’s into his sack, and provision be given for the journey—and it was done to them thus. 26 So they lifted up their corn on their asses, and went their way, from thence. 27 And the first opened his sack, to give fodder to his ass, at the inn, and beheld his silver, yea ||[there]| it was, in the mouth of his sack! 28 So he said unto his brethren,

My silver hath been returned!, yea verily, ||[there]| it is, in my sack!

Then went forth their heart, and they turned trembling—each man unto his brother, saying,

What is this that God hath done to us? 29

So they came in unto Jacob their father, to the land of Canaan,—and told him all that had befallen them, saying:

The man that is lord of the land, spake unto us harsh things,—and then delivered us up, as spies of the land. 31 And we said unto him, ||[Honest men]|| are ||[we]|,—we are not spies!

||[Twelve brethren]|| are ||[we]|, sons of our father,—||[the one]|| is not, and ||[the youngest]|| is this day with our father, in the land of Canaan.

Then said the man, the lord of the land, unto us, <Hereby> shall I get to know that <honest men> ye are,—

<One brother of you> leave ye remaining with me, and <corn> for the famine of your houses> take ye and go your way;

And bring ye in your youngest brother unto me,

So must I get to know that ye are ||[not spies]||, but are ||[honest men]||:

<Your brother> will I give up to you, and <with the land> shall ye traffic.

And it came to pass <when ||[they]|| were emptying their sacks, then lo! each man’s bundle of silver was in his sack,—and <when they beheld their bundles of silver—they and their father> they were afraid. 36 And Jacob their father said unto them,

<Me> have ye bereaved,—

||[Joseph]|| is not', and ||[Simeon]|| is not’, and <Benjamin> ye would take!

<Against me> have happened [all these things].

Then spake Reuben unto his father, saying,

<My two sons> shalt thou put to death, if I bring him not unto thee,—

Come, give him up upon my hand, and ||[I]|| will restore him unto thee.

And he said’

My son shall not go down with you,—

For ||[his brother]|| is dead, and ||[he alone]|| is left, and <as surely as there befall him any mischief by the way wherein ye go> so surely shall ye bring down my grey hairs with sorrow unto hades.

§ 56. Jacob’s Sons, with Benjamin, being sent to Egypt a second time, are entertained in Joseph’s House.

Chapter 43.

But ||[the famine]|| was severe in the land. 2 So it came to pass <when they had made an end of eating the corn which they had brought in out of Egypt> that their father said unto them,—

Return, buy for us a little food.

3 Then spake Judah unto him, saying,—

The man ||[did protest]|| to us, saying,—

Ye shall not see my face, except ||[your brother]|| is with you.

4 <If thou art’ sending our brother with us> we will certainly go down, and buy for thee food; 5 but <if thou art not’ sending him> we will not go down’, for ||[the man]|| said unto us,

Ye shall not see my face, except [your brother] is with you.

6 And Israel said,
   Wherefore did ye ill to me,—to tell the man, there yet remained to you, a brother?

7 And they said,
   The man [did ask] I concerning ourselves and concerning our kindred, saying,—
   Is your father yet' alive? Have' ye a brother’?
So we told him according to the tenor of these words. Could we [at all know] that he would say,
   Bring down your brother?

8 Then said Judah unto Israel his father—
Come! send thou down the young man with me, that we may arise and go our way,—and live and not die, both [we and thou, and our little ones].

9 [[Il] will be surety for him, [at my hand] shalt thou require him,—<as surely as I bring him not in unto thee, and set him down before thee> so surely will I be counted a sinner against thee, all the days,

For [if we had not lingered] surely [now] had we come back here a second time.

11 Then Israel their father said unto them—
   [If so] then [do [this]],—
   Take of the song of the land in your vessels, and carry down to the man, a present,—
   A little balsam, and a little honey, tragacanth gum and cistus gum, pistachio nuts, and almonds.

12 And [double silver] take in your hand,—also [the silver that was put back in the mouth of your sacks] carry ye back in your sack, peradventure' it was [an error].

13 [Your brother also] take ye,—and arise, go again unto the man.

14 And [God Almighty] give you compassion before the man, so shall he send you with, your other brother, [and Benjamin].
But [as for me] when I am bereaved I am bereaved!

15 So the men took this present, [double silver also] took they in their hand, and Benjamin,—and arose, and went down into Egypt, and stood before

Joseph. 16 And Joseph saw—with them—
   Benjamin, so he said to him that was over his house,
   Bring the men into the house,—and slay meat, and make ready, for [with me] shall the men eat, at noon.

17 So the men did, as Joseph had said, and the man brought the men into Joseph’s house. Then were the men afraid, because they had been brought into the house of Joseph, and they said—
   <For the matter of the silver that came back in our sacks at the beginning> have we [been brought in,—that he may turn round upon us] and fall upon us, and take us for servants, and our asses.

19 So they drew near unto the man that was over Joseph’s house,—and spake unto him, at the entrance of the house; and said,
   May it please my lord! We did indeed come down at the beginning to buy food.

21 And it came to pass [when we had entered into the inn] that we opened our sacks, and lo! [the silver of each man] in the mouth of his sack,—our silver in its full weight,—so we have bought it back in our hand!

22 And [more silver] have we brought down in our hand, to buy food,—we know not who put our silver in our sacks.

23 And he said—
   Peace to you, do not fear! [Your God, and the God of your father] hath given you secret treasure, in your sacks, [as for your silver] it came in unto me.

And he brought forth unto them, Simeon.

24 So the man brought the men into Joseph’s house,—and gave them water, and they bathed their feet, and he gave them provender for their asses. And they made ready the present, against the coming in of Joseph, at noon,—for they heard that it was [there] they should eat bread.

26 So [when Joseph came into the house> they brought in to him the present which was in their hand, into the house,—and bowed themselves down to him' to the earth. Then asked he after their welfare, and said—

28 And they said—

And they bent their heads, and bowed themselves down.

29 Then lifted he up his eyes, and saw Benjamin his brother, son of his mother, and said—
Is [this] your youngest brother, of whom ye spake unto me?
And he said,
||God|| grant thee favour, my son!

30 And Joseph made haste, for his compassions towards his brother [were pent up], and he sought to weep,—so he went into the inner chamber, and wept there. 31 Then bathed he his face, and came forth,—and restrained himself, and said, Set on bread!

32 So they set on, for him—by himself, and for them—by themselves,—and for the Egyptians that were eating with him—by themselves, for the Egyptians might not eat [bread] with the Hebrews, for <an abomination> had that’ been to Egyptians.

33 So they took their seats before him, [the firstborn] according to his birthright, and [the youngest] according to his youth,—and the men looked with amazement, each one at his companion. 34 And he sent portions, from before him, unto them, and the portion of Benjamin exceeded the portions of them all [five-fold]. And they drank and made merry with him.

§ 57. Joseph, returning his brethren’s money, and depositing his own silver cup in Benjamin’s sack, arrests his Brethren and brings them back.

Chapter 44.

1 Then commanded he him who was over his house’ saying—
Fill the sacks of the men, with food, as much as they can carry,—and put each man’s silver in the mouth of his sack; and <my cup—the cup of silver> shalt thou put in the mouth of the sack of the youngest, with his corn-silver.

So he did, according to the word of Joseph, which he had spoken.

3 <By the time [the morning] was light> [the men] had been sent away, [they, and their asses]. 4 [They themselves] had gone out of the city—they had not gone far, when [Joseph] said to him who was over his house,
Rise, chase after the men,—so shalt thou overtake them, and shalt say unto them,
Wherefore’ have ye requited evil for good? 5 Is not [this] that in which my lord drinketh, and whereby [he himself] doth [divine]?
Ye have done evil, in what ye have done.

6 So he overtook them,—and spake unto them these words. 7 And they said unto him,
Wherefore’ should my lord speak such words as these? Far be thy servants, from doing such a thing as this! 8 Lo! <the silver that we found in the mouth of our sacks> we brought back unto thee, out of the land of Canaan,—how then could we steal, out of the house of thy lord, silver or gold?

9 <With whomsoever of thy servants it can be found> he shall die,—and [we also] will become my lord’s servants.

10 And he said,
||Ye, now||, <according to your words> [so] let it be,—[he with whom it is found] shall be my servant,
||Ye|| however, shall be clear.

11 So they fastened and took down, each man his sack to the ground,—and opened, each man his sack. 12 Then made he thorough search, <with the eldest> he began, and <with the youngest> he ended,—and the cup was found in the sack of Benjamin! 13 And they rent their mantles,—and laded each man his ass, and returned to the city. 14 And Judah and his brethren came into the house of Joseph, [he] yet being there,—and fell down before him, to the earth. 15 And Joseph said to them,
What is this deed which ye have done? 16 Then said Judah—
What shall we say to my lord, how shall we speak, and how shall we justify ourselves,— when’ [God himself] hath found out the iniquity of thy servants? Behold us! my lord’s

17 And he said’
Far be it from me, to do this thing!
<The man in whose hand the cup hath been found> ||he|| shall be my servant, but <as for you> go ye up in peace, unto your father.

§ 58. Judah’s Intercession for the Return of Benjamin.

18 Then Judah drew near unto him, and said—
Pardon, my lord! Pray let thy servant speak a word in the ears of my lord, and do not let thine anger be kindled against thy servant,—for ||thus|| art ||thou||, as Pharaoh!

19 It was ||my lord|| who asked his servants, saying,—
Have’ ye a father, or a brother?

So we said unto my lord,
We have’ an aged father, and the child of his old age, a youth,—<||his brother|| being dead> ||he alone|| is left of his mother, and ||his father|| loveth him.

21 So then thou saidst unto thy servants,
Bring him down unto me,—that I may set mine eyes upon him.

22 And we said unto my lord,
The lad cannot leave his father,—<as surely as he leaveth his father> so surely will he ||die||.

23 And thou saidst unto thy servants,
<Except your youngest brother do come down with you> ye shall not again behold my face.

24 So it came to pass, <when we had gone up unto thy servant, my father>, that we told him the words of my lord.

25 Then said our father,—
Go again, buy us a little food.

26 And we said,
We cannot go down,—<If our youngest brother be’ with us> ||then|| will we go down, for we cannot see the face of the man, if ||our youngest brother|| is not’ with us.

27 Then said thy servant my father, unto us,—
||Ye yourselves|| know, that [||two||] did my wife bear to me, 28 and the one went forth from me, and I said—
Certainly he hath been ||torn in pieces||,—And I have never seen him since.

29 <As surely as ye take ||this one also|| away from before my face, and there befalh him any mischief>, so surely shall ye bring down my grey hairs, with misfortune, to hades.

30 ||Now|| therefore, <as surely as I go in unto thy servant my father, and ||the lad|| is not’ with us,—seeing that his soul is bound up with ||the lad’s|| soul> 31 so surely shall it come to pass that <when he seeth that the lad is not’ with us>, a then will he die.

So shall thy servants bring down the grey hairs of thy servant our father, with sorrow, to hades.

32 For ||thy servant|| became surety for the lad, while away from my father, saying,—
<If I bring him not unto thee> then will I count myself a sinner against my father all the days.

||Now|| therefore, I pray thee, let thy servant remain instead of the lad, as servant to my lord,—but <as for the lad> let him go up with his brethren. 34 For how can I go up unto my father, should ||the lad|| not’ be with me? lest I look on the calamity, that shall find out my father.

§ 59. Joseph makes himself known to his Brethren, and sends for his Father.

Chapter 45.

1 And Joseph could not restrain himself, before all who were stationed near him, so he cried out—
Have forth every man from me!

And there stood no man with him, when Joseph made himself known unto his brethren. 2 Then gave he forth his voice, in weeping,—and the Egyptians heard, and the house of Pharaoh heard.

3 Then said Joseph unto his brethren:
||I|| am Joseph, is my father ||yet’ alive||?

But his brethren could not answer him, for they were terrified because of him. 4 Then said Joseph unto his brethren—
Draw near, I pray you, unto me.
And they drew near. And he said—
||I|| am Joseph your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt.

5 But now do not grieve, neither let it be vexing in your eyes, that ye sold me hither,—for <to save life> did God send me before you.

a So it shd be (w. Sam., Sep., Syr.).—G.n.
6 For these two years hath the famine been in the midst of the land,—and yet five years are there, in which there shall be neither ploughing nor harvest.

7 So then God sent me before you, to plant for you a remainder, in the earth,—and to save you alive, by a great deliverance. 8 Therefore it was not you who sent me hither, but God himself,—who also appointed me to be a father to Pharaoh, and a lord to all his house, and a ruler over all the land of Egypt.

9 Haste ye, and go up unto my father, then shall ye say unto him,—Thus saith thy son Joseph, God hath appointed me lord to all Egypt,—come down unto me, do not delay; 10 so shalt thou dwell in the land of Goshen, and shalt be near unto me, and thy sons, and thy sons’ sons,—and thy flocks and thy herds, and all that is thine; 11 so will I sustain thee, there, for there are yet five years of famine,—lest thou come to poverty.—Thus spoke he to them.

12 Now lo! your eyes do see, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin,—that it is my own mouth that doth speak unto you.

13 As soon as ye have told my father all my honour in Egypt, and all that ye have seen, so soon shall ye hasten, and bring down my father, hither.

14 Then fell he upon the neck of Benjamin his brother, and wept,—and Benjamin wept on his neck. 15 Then kissed he all his brethren, and wept upon them,—and thereafter his brethren spake with him.

16 Now the report was heard by the house of Pharaoh, saying,

The brethren of Joseph have come in.
And it was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his servants. 17 So then Pharaoh said unto Joseph—

Say unto thy brethren,

Do ye,—Take you out of the land of Egypt, wagons for your little ones, and for your wives, so shall ye bring your father, and come in.

19 Their eye therefore command them, a

4 ||I|| will go down with thee to Egypt and ||I|| will bring thee up, ||yea wholly up||,—and ||Joseph|| shall lay his own hand upon thine eyes.

5 So Jacob rose up from Beer-sheba,—and the sons of Israel brought Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the waggons which Pharaoh had sent to bring him; 6 and they took their cattle, and the gains which they had gained, in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt,—||Jacob, and all his seed with him||: 7 <his sons, and his sons’ sons with him, his daughters, and his son’s daughters, and all his seed> brought he with him, into Egypt.

8 Now ||these|| are the names of the sons of Israel, who came into Egypt—||Jacob and his sons||,—||The firstborn of Jacob|| Reuben:

9 And ||the sons of Reuben||,—
   Hanoch and Pallu, and Hezron and Carmi;
10 And ||the sons of Simeon||,—
   Jemuel and Jamin and Ohad, and Jachin and Zohar,—and Shaul, son of the Canaanitess;
11 And ||the sons of Levi||,—
   Gershon, Kohath, and Merari;
12 And ||the sons of Judah||,—
   Er and Onan and Shelah, and Perez and Zerah,—but Er and Onan died, in the land of Canaan, and the sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul;
13 And ||the sons of Issachar||,—
   Tola and Puvah, and Iob and Shimron;
14 And ||the sons of Zebulun||,—
   Sered and Elon, and Jahleel.
15 ||These|| are the sons of Leah, whom she bare to Jacob, in Padan-aram, with Dinah also his daughter,—||All the souls of his sons and of his daughters|| were thirty-three.

16 And ||the sons of Gad||,— Zaphon and Haggi, Shuni and Ezbon,—Eri and Arodi, and Ariel;
17 And ||the sons of Asher||,—
   Imnah and Ishvah and Ishvi and Beriah, and Serah their sister,—and ||the sons of Beriah|| Heber and Malchiel.
18 ||These|| are the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter,—so she bare these to Jacob,—sixteen souls.
19||The sons of Rachel, Jacob’s wife||,—
   Joseph, and Benjamin;
20 And <there were born to Joseph in the land of Egypt, whom Asenath, daughter of Poti-phera, priest of On, bare to him>:
   Manasseh, and Ephraim;
21 And ||the sons of Benjamin||—
   Bela and Becher, and Ashbel, Gera and Naaman, Ehi and Rosh,—Muppim and Huppim, and Ard.
22 ||These|| are the sons of Rachel, who were born to Jacob,—||all the souls|| were fourteen.
23 And ||the sons of Dan||,— Hushim;
24 And ||the sons of Naphtali||,—
   Jahzeel and Guni, and Jezer and Shillem.
25 ||These|| are the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban gave to Rachel his daughter,—so she bare these to Jacob,—||all the souls|| were seven.
26 <All the souls that came in with Jacob to Egypt, that had come forth of his loins, besides Jacob’s sons’ wives,—all the souls> were sixty-six; 27 and <the sons of Joseph who were born to him in Egypt> were two souls: <All the souls of the house of Joseph that came into Egypt> were seventy.
28 And he sent ||Judah|| before him unto Joseph, to direct his face to Goshen,—so they came in towards the land of Goshen. 29 Then yoked Joseph his chariot, and went up to meet Israel his father, towards Goshen,—and he appeared unto him, and fell upon his neck, and wept upon his neck, a good while. 30 Then said Israel unto Joseph, I am ready to die at last,—now that I have seen thy face, in that thou art yet alive.
31 Then said Joseph unto his brethren, and unto the house of his father,
I must go up, and must tell Pharaoh,—and must say unto him, ||My brethren, and the house of my father, who were in the land of Canaan|| have come in unto me.

Now [the men] are feeders of flocks, for [men of cattle] they are,—and <their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have> have they brought in.

So shall it come to pass when Pharaoh shall call for you,—and shall say— What is your occupation?≥

Then shall ye say— <Men of cattle> have thy servants been, from our youth even until now, [both we, and our fathers],—

To the end ye may dwell in the land of Goshen, for an abomination to Egyptians> is every feeder of a flock.a

§ 61. Joseph introduces his Brethren and Father to Pharaoh, and relieves the Distress of the Egyptians. Israel multiplies.

Chapter 47.

1 So then Joseph went in, and told Pharaoh, and said— ||My father and my brethren, and their flocks and their herds and all that they have|| are come in, from the land of Canaan,—and ||here they are|| in the land of Goshen.

2 Moreover <out of the whole number of his brethren> he took with him< five men,—and set them before Pharaoh. And Pharaoh said unto the brethren of Joseph—c What is your occupation? And they said unto Pharaoh— <Feeders of flocks> are thy servants, [both we and our fathers].

4 And they said unto Pharaoh— <To sojourn in the land> are we come in, for there is no pasture for the flocks which pertain to thy servants, for [severe] is the famine, in the land of Canaan. ||Now|| therefore, let thy servants dwell, we pray thee, in the land of Goshen.

5 Then spake Pharaoh unto Joseph, saying—

||Thy father and thy brethren|| are come in unto thee.

6 ||The land of Egypt|| is ||before thee, <in the best of the land> cause thou thy father and thy brethren to dwell.—let them dwell in the land of Goshen,

And <if thou knowest that there are> among them, men of ability> then shalt thou set them as chieftains of cattle, over mine.

7 So Joseph brought in Jacob his father, and caused him to stand before Pharaoh,—and Jacob blessed Pharaoh. 8 And Pharaoh said unto Jacob: ||About how many|| have been the days of the years of thy life?

9 And Jacob said unto Pharaoh, ||The days of the years of my sojournings|| have been a hundred and thirty years,—

||Few and evil|| have been the days of the years of my life, neither have they attained unto the days of the years of the lives of my fathers, in the days of their sojournings.

10 And Jacob blessed Pharaoh,—and came forth from the presence of Pharaoh.

11 So then Joseph fixed the dwelling of his father and his brethren, and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, [in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses],—as Pharaoh had commanded.

12 And Joseph nourished his father and his brethren, and all his father's house,—with bread, according to the need of their little ones.

13 But ||bread|| was there none, in all the land,—for the famine was [very severe],—so that the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan, fainted by reason of the famine. 14 So Joseph gathered up all the silver that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which [they] were buying,—and Joseph brought the silver into the house of Pharaoh. 15 And the silver was spent out of the land of Egypt, and out of the land of Canaan, so all the Egyptians came in unto Joseph, saying—

Do give us bread, for why' should we die before thee, although ||silver|| hath failed?

16 Then said Joseph:

Give your cattle, and I will give youd for your cattle,—if silver hath failed.
17 So they brought in their cattle unto Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for the horses, and for the cattle of the flock, and for the cattle of the herd, and for the asses,—and he provided them with bread, for all their cattle, throughout that year.

18 When that year was ended, then came they unto him, in the second year, and said to him—

We will not hide from thy lord, how that the silver, and the herds of beasts for my lord, are come to an end,—there is nothing left before my lord, save only our bodies, and our ground:

Wherefore should we die before thine eyes ||both we, and our ground||? Buy thou, us and our ground, for bread,—and |we| and our ground will become servants to Pharaoh, and give seed, that we may live, and not die, and |the ground|| that lie waste.

20 So Joseph bought all the ground of the Egyptians for Pharaoh, for the Egyptians sold every man his field, because the famine had laid fast hold upon them,—so the land became Pharaoh’s. 21 And <as for the people> he brought them into bondage as servants,—<from one end of the boundary of Egypt unto the other end thereof.> 22 Only <the ground of the priests> bought he not,—for the priests had ||a statutory-portion|| from Pharaoh, and they had been eating their statutory-portion, which Pharaoh had given them, ||for which cause|| they had not sold their ground. 23 And Joseph said unto the people,

Lo! I have bought you this day, and your ground, for Pharaoh,—see, here is seed for you, so shall ye sow the ground; 24 and it shall come to pass that, <of the yield> ye shall give a fifth, to Pharaoh,—but ||the four parts|| shall be your own—for seed for the field, and for your food, and for them who are in your households, and for food for your little ones.

25 And they said—

Thou hast saved our lives! let us find favour in the eyes of my lord, so will we become Pharaoh’s servants.

26 And Joseph appointed it for a statute—until this day, regarding the ground of Egypt, that ||Pharaoh|| should take a fifth,—<only> <the ground of the priests> was theirs alone, it had not become Pharaoh’s.

27 Thus Israel dwelt in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen,—and gained possessions therein, and became fruitful and multiplied, exceedingly.

§ 62. Jacob blesses Ephraim and Manasseh.

28 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt, seventeen years,—so it came to pass that the days of Jacob, the years of his life, were a hundred and forty-seven. 29 And the days of Israel drew near that he must die, so he called for his son, for Joseph, and said to him—

<If, I pray thee, I have found favour in thine eyes> place, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh,—so shalt thou deal with me in lovingkindness and faithfulness—

Do not, I pray thee, bury me in Egypt.<When I shall lie down with my fathers> then shalt thou carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their buryingplace.

And he said:

||I|| will do according to thy word.

31 Then he said:

Come, swear to me! And he swears to him. Then did Israel bow himself down on the head of the couch.9

Chapter 48.

1 And it came to pass <after these things> that one said to Joseph,

Lo! ||thy father|| is sick.

So he took his two sons with him, Manasseh and Ephraim. 2 And one told Jacob, and said—

Lo! ||thy son Joseph|| coming in unto thee.

So Israel strengthened himself, and sat up on the couch. 3 Then said Jacob, unto Joseph,

||God Almighty|| appeared unto me in Luz, in the land of Canaan,—and blessed me; and said unto me—

Behold me! about to make thee fruitful, so will I multiply thee, and give thee to become a multitude of peoples,—so will I give this land to thy seed after thee, as an age-abiding possession.

4 ||Now|| therefore, <thy two sons who were born to thee in the land of Egypt, before I came in unto thee in Egypt> are [mine]! ||Ephraim and Manasseh|| <like Reuben and Simeon>, shall

8 Or: “convocation”—Heb.: qâhâl.

21 Or: “staff.”
be mine! 6 But <thine offspring which thou hast begotten after them> ||thine own| shall they be,—<after the name of their brethren> shall they be called, in their inheritance.

7 But ||as for me|| <when I came in from Padan> a Rachel died by me, in the land of Canaan, in the way, while yet there was a stretch of country to come into Ephrath,—so I buried her there, in the way to Ephrath, ||the same|| is Bethlehem.

8 Then Israel saw Joseph's sons—and said— Who are these?

9 And Joseph said unto his father, <My sons> they are', whom God hath given me, in this place. And he said—

Bring them, I pray thee, unto me, that I may bless them.

10 Now ||the eyes of Israel|| had become dim from old age,—he b could not see,—so he drew them near unto him, and kissed them, and embraced them. 11 And Israel said unto Joseph, <To see thine own face> had I not thought,—and lo! God hath caused me to see ||even thy seed||!

||God himself—before whom walked c my fathers, Abraham and Isaac, God himself—who hath been my shepherd, since I came into being until this day;—

The Messenger—who hath been my redeemer from all evil||—bless the lads! And may they be called upon, my name, and the name of my fathers, Abraham and Isaac;

And may they swarm into a multitude in the midst of the earth! d

17 And Joseph saw that his father had laid his right hand on the head of Ephraim, and it was displeasing in his eyes,—so he took hold of his father's hand, to remove it from off the head of Ephraim, on to the head of Manasseh. 18 And Joseph said unto his father— Not so', my father! for ||this|| is the first-born, lay thy right hand upon his head.

19 And his father refused, and said— I know—my son, I know! ||He also|| shall become a people, and ||he also|| shall become great,—but nevertheless, ||his younger' brother|| shall become greater than he, and ||his seed|| shall become a filling up of the nations.

20 And he blessed them on that day, saying— <In thee> let Israel bless himself', saying God set thee as Ephraim, and as Manasseh! So he set Ephraim before Manasseh.

21 And Israel said unto Joseph: Lo! ||I|| am about to die,—but it shall come to pass that ||God|| will be ||with you||, and will take you back into the land of your fathers.

22 But ||I|| have given to thee one mountain-track, above thy brethren,—which I took out of the hand of the Amorite, with my sword and with my bow.

Now <when the brethren of Joseph saw that their father was dead> they said—
Oh! if Joseph should lie in wait for us,—and should return to us, all the evil wherewith we requited him!

So they sent in charge unto Joseph, saying,—
||Thy father|| gave command, before he died, saying:

<Thus> shall ye say to Joseph—
Ah now! do forgive, we pray thee, the transgression of thy brethren and their sin, in that <with evil> they requited thee.
||Now|| therefore, grant forgiveness, we pray thee, for the transgression of the servants of the God of thy father!
And Joseph wept, when they spake unto him. Then went his brethren also, and fell down before him,—and said,
Be behold us! thine, for servants.

And Joseph said unto them—
Do not fear,—although <in place of God> I am'.
||Ye|| indeed, planned against me |evil|,—||God|| planned it |for good|, for the sake of doing, as at this day, to save alive much people.
||Now|| therefore, do not fear! ||I|| will nourish you, and your little ones.
Thus he consoled them, and spake unto their heart.

And Joseph abode in Egypt, and his fathers house|,—and Joseph lived a hundred and ten years. And Joseph saw ||Ephraim's|| sons of three generations,—moreover ||the sons of Machir, son of Manasseh|| were born upon Joseph's knees. Then said Joseph unto his brethren,
||I|| am about to die,—but ||God|| will ||surely concern|| himself for you,' so will he take you up out of this land, into the land, which he sware to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

Then Joseph made the sons of Israel swear, saying,— 26 So Joseph died, being a hundred and ten years old,—and they embalmed him, and put him in a coffin, in Egypt.

§ 1. The Sons of Israel in Egypt become a numerous People, notwithstanding Oppression and Peril.

Chapter 1.

1 Now [these] are the names of the Sons of Israel, who came into Egypt,—<with Jacob> did each man and his household come in:—
2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah;
3 Issachar, Zebulon, and Benjamin;
4 Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher.
5 And it came to pass that [all the persons] who were descended from Joseph were seventy souls,—but [Joseph] was already in Egypt. 6 So then Joseph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation.
7 But [the sons of Israel] were fruitful, and swarmed and multiplied and waxed mighty, with [exceeding vigour],—so that the land was filled with them.
8 Then arose a new king over Egypt,—who had not known Joseph. 9 So he said, unto his people,—Lo! [the people of the sons of Israel] are too many and mighty for us!
10 Come on! let us shew ourselves wise with regard to them,—lest they so multiply that it shall come to pass <when war befalleth us> that [they also] shall join themselves unto them who hate us, and shall make war upon us, and then go up out of the land.
11 So they set over them chiefs of tribute, to the end they might humiliate them with their burdens,—and they built store-cities for Pharaoh, even Pithom and Raamses. 12 But <the more they were multiplying> [the more] were they breaking forth,—so they were filled with alarm, because of the sons of Israel. 13 And the Egyptians rigorously made the sons of Israel serve; 14 and embittered their lives with harsh service, in clay and in bricks, and in all manner of service in the field,—all their service, wherein they rigorously made them serve.
15 Then said the king of Egypt to the Hebrew midwives,—of whom [the name of the one] was Shiphrah| and [the name of the other] Puah;—then he said—
<When ye act as midwives unto the Hebrew women> then shall ye look out for the sex,—b
<If it is [a son]> then shall ye kill it,
But <if it is [a daughter]> then shall it live.
16 But the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt spake’ unto them,—but suffered the male children to live. 17 Then called the king of Egypt for the midwives, and said to them—Wherefore’ have ye done this thing,—that ye should let the male children live?
18 And the midwives said unto Pharaoh, Because <not like the Egyptian women> are the Hebrew women,—for’ they are [full of life], <ere yet the midwife can come in unto them> they have given birth.
19 So then God dealt well with the midwives,—and the people multiplied, and waxed exceeding mighty. 21 And it came to pass, <because the midwives feared God> that he made for them households.
22 Then gave Pharaoh command to all his people, saying—
||Every son that is born to the Hebrews| <into the river> shall ye cast him;
But <every daughter> shall ye suffer to live.

§ 2. Moses the Deliverer: his Birth, Rescue, Adoption by Pharaoh’s Daughter. First Attempts to help his Kinsmen, and sudden Departure to Midian, where he dwells thenceforth.

Chapter 2.

1 And there went a man of the house of Levi,—and took a daughter of Levi. 2 And the woman conceived, and bare a son,—and she saw him, that he was a [goodly child], so she hid him three months. 3 And when she could no longer hide him she took for him an ark of paper-reed, and fetched it.—so she took pity on him, and said, “Of the children of the Hebrews is this.”

4 Then did his sister unto Pharaoh’s daughter, Shall I go and call thee a nurse, of the Hebrew women,—that she may nurse for thee, the child? 5 So then the daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe by the river, and [her maidens] were walking by the side of the river,—when she saw the ark in the midst of the rushes, and sent her handmaid, and fetched it. 6 And she opened and beheld it—even the child, and lo! [a boy’ weeping],—so she took pity on him, and said, <Of the children of the Hebrews> is this.

7 Then said his sister unto Pharaoh’s daughter, So the woman took the child, and nurses it for me, and [I] will give thee thy wages. So the woman took the child, and nursed it. 10 And the child grew, and she brought him in to Pharaoh’s daughter, and he became her son. And she called his name Moses, and said—For <out of the water> I drew him. 11 And it came to pass in those days <when Moses grew up> that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens,—and saw [an Egyptian] smiting a Hebrew,—of his brethren. 12 So he turned this way and that, and <when he saw that there was no man> he smote the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand. 13 And he went out on the second day, and lo! [two Hebrews] striving together,—so he said to him that did the wrong, Wherefore shouldest thou smite thy fellow?

14 And he said—Who hath set thee’ for a chief and a judge over us? <To slay me> art thou’ thinking, as thou didst slay the Egyptian?

Then was Moses afraid, and said—Surely’ the thing is [known]!

15 So Pharaoh heard this thing, and sought to slay Moses,—and Moses fled from the face of Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian, and sat down by the well.

16 Now [the priest of Midian] had seven daughters,—and they came and drew, and filled the troughs, to water their father’s flock. 17 Then came the shepherds, and drove them away,—so Moses rose up, and succoured them, and watered their flock. 18 Then came they in, unto Reuel their father,—and he said, Wherefore have ye so early’ come in, to-day?

19 And they said, [An Egyptian] delivered us out of the hand of the shepherds,—Moreover also’ he drew for us, and watered the flock.

20 And he said unto his daughters—And where is he? wherefore is it that ye left the man?—Call him, that he may eat bread.

21 And Moses was well-pleased to dwell with the man,—and he gave Zipporah his daughter, to Moses. 22 And she bare a son, and he called his name, Gershom,—for he said, A sojourner I am, in a strange land.

23 And it came to pass <during those many days>a that the king of Egypt died, and the sons of Israel sighed by reason of the servitude, and lamented,—and their cry for help went up to God, by reason of the servitude. 24 And God heard’ their groaning,—and God remembered’ his covenant, with Abraham, with Isaac and with Jacob; 25 so then, God looked upon the sons of Israel,—and God regarded. b

Chapter 3.

1 Now ||Moses|| was shepherding the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, priest c of Midian,—so he led forth the flock behind the desert, and came in unto the mountain of God, to Horeb. 2 Then appeared the messenger of Yahweh d unto him, in a flame of fire, from the midst of the thorn-bush, e—so he looked, and lo! ||the thorn-bush, burning with fire|| and yet ||the thorn-bush|| was not consumed. 3 And Moses said,—Let me turn aside, pray, and see this great sight,—why the thorn-bush [doth not burn up]. 4 And Yahweh f saw, that he turned aside to see,—so God called unto him, out of the midst of the thorn-bush, and said—Moses! Moses! And he said—Behold me! 5 And he said—Do not draw nigh hither,—put off thy sandals from thy feet, for [the place whereon thou art standing] is [holy ground]. 6 And he said—||I|| am the God of thy father, God of Abraham, God of Isaac,—and God of Jacob. And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look upon God.

7 Then said Yahweh,

I have ||seen|| the humiliation of my people, who are in Egypt,—and <their outcry> have I heard, by reason of their task-masters, for I know their pains; g therefore have I come down to deliver them from the hand of the Egyptians, and to take them up out of that land, into a land good and large, into a land flowing with milk and honey,—into the place of the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Amorite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite. 9 ||Now|| therefore, lo! ||the outcry of the sons of Israel|| hath come in unto me,—moreover also’ I have seen the oppression, wherewith ||the Egyptians|| are oppressing them. 10 ||Now|| therefore, come thou! that I may send thee unto Pharaoh,—and bring thou forth my people—the sons of Israel—out of Egypt. 11 And Moses said unto God,

Who am ||I||, that I should go unto Pharaoh,—and that I should bring forth the sons of Israel, out of Egypt? 12 And he said—

I will be g with thee, and ||this|| ||<to thee> [shall be] the sign, that ||I|| have sent thee,—<When thou bringest forth the people out of Egypt> ye shall do service unto God, upon h this mountain. 13 And Moses said unto God—

Lo! ≤as surely as ||I|| go in unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them, ||The God of your fathers|| hath sent me unto you≥ So surely will they say unto me—What is his name? What shall I say unto them? 14 And God said unto Moses,

I Will Become whatsoever I please. i And he said—

What he will be is left unexpressed—He will be with them, helper,
Chapter 4.

Then responded Moses, and said, And lo! they will not believe me, neither hearken to my voice,—for they will say, Yahweh hath not appeared unto thee.

And Yahweh said unto him— What is this in thy hand? And he said— A staff.

Then said he— Cast it to the earth. And he cast it to the earth, and it became a serpent,—and Moses fled from the face thereof. And Yahweh said unto Moses. Put forth thy hand, and take it by its tail: So he put forth his hand, and laid hold of it, and it became a staff in his hand:— that they may believe that Yahweh God of their fathers,—God of Abraham, God of Isaac, and God of Jacob hath appeared unto thee.

Then said Yahweh unto him, yet again— Bring, I pray thee, thy hand, into thy bosom. So he brought his hand, into his bosom,—and then took it out, and lo! his hand was leprous,—like snow. And he said— Put back thy hand into thy bosom: So he put back his hand, into his bosom,—and then took it out of his bosom, and lo! it had come again, like his own flesh: thus shall it come to pass, if they will not believe thee, nor hearken to the voice of the first sign> then will they believe the voice of the next sign; and it shall come to pass if they will not believe [even these two signs] nor hearken to thy voice> then shalt thou take of the water of the river, and pour it out on the dry land,—so shall the water which thou hast taken from the river, become, yea it shall become blood, on the dry land.

And Moses said unto Yahweh— Pardon, O My Lord! <not a man of words> am I, neither heretofore, nor since thou hast spoken unto thy servant,—for <heavy of mouth, and heavy of tongue> I am'.

Thus will I give favour to this people, in the eyes of the Egyptians,—so shall it come to pass that when ye do go ye shall not go empty; but every woman shall ask of her neighbour, and of her that sojourneth in her house, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and mantles,—and ye shall put them upon your sons, and upon your daughters, so shall ye spoil the Egyptians.

strengthener, deliverer.”—Professor A. B. Davidson, in Hastings’ Bible Dictionary, Vol. II. 199. [It will be seen by the discriminating that the above brief exposition of the meaning of the Divine Name (Yahweh) is in essential accord with that offered in Chapter IV. of the Intro.]
Then Yahweh said unto him—

Who' appointed a mouth' for man, or who' appointeth him to be dumb, or deaf, or seeing, or blind? Is it not [If] [Yahweh]? [Now] therefore, go,—and [If] will be* with thy mouth, so will I direct thee, what thou shalt speak.

And he said—
Pardon, O My Lord! send, I pray thee, by the hand of whom thou wilt send—

Then was kindled the anger of Yahweh against Moses, and he said—

Is there not Aaron, thy brother, the Levite? I know that he' [can speak]. [Moreover also] lo! [he himself] is coming forth to meet thee, [as surely as he seeth thee] so surely will he rejoice in his heart.

Then shalt thou speak unto him, and shalt put the words in his mouth,—and [If] will be* with thy mouth, and with his mouth, so will I direct you what ye shall do.

And [he] shall speak for thee unto the people,—so shall it come to pass that [he] shall become thy' mouth, and [If] thou shall become to him as God.

And <this staff> take thou in thy hand,—wherewith thou shalt do the signs.

§ 4. The Return of Moses to Egypt.

So Moses went and returned unto Jethro* his father-in-law, and said to him—

Let me go, I pray thee, and return unto my brethren who are in Egypt, that I may see whether they are yet alive. And Jethro said to Moses:—

Go and prosper.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses in Midian, Go, return to Egypt,—for all the men are dead* who were seeking thy life.

So Moses took his wife and his sons, and caused them to ride upon the ass, and he returned to the land of Egypt,—and Moses took the staff of God, in his hand.

And Yahweh said unto Moses,

<When thou goest to return to Egypt> see <as touching all the wonders which I have put in thy hand> that thou do them before Pharaoh—but [If] will let his heart wax bold, and he will not suffer the people to go.

Then shalt thou say unto Pharaoh,—

[Thus] saith Yahweh—

My son—my firstborn is Israel;

Therefore I say unto thee,—

Let my son go, that he may serve me, But <if thou refuse to let him go> behold [If] am going to slay [thy* son, thy* firstborn].

And it came to pass <on the way, in the resting-place for the night> that Yahweh fell upon him, and sought to kill him.

So Zipporah took a sharp stone, and cut off the foreskin of her son, and cast it down at his feet,—and said—

Surely,  art thou’ to me!

So he let him go. [Then] it was that she said, A bridegroom by rites of blood—with regard to the rites of circumcision.

And Yahweh said unto Aaron,

Go thy way to meet Moses, towards the desert. So he went his way, and fell in with him in the mountain of God, and kissed him.

And Moses told Aaron, all the words of Yahweh, wherewith he had sent him,—and all the signs wherewith he had charged him.

So Moses and Aaron went their way,—and gathered together all the elders of the sons of Israel.

And Aaron spake all the words which Yahweh had spoken unto Moses,—and did the signs, before the eyes of the people.

And the people believed,—and <when they heard that Yahweh had concerned himself for the sons of Israel, and that he had the course of the narrative clearly shows (cp. vii. 13, 22; viii. 15, 19, 32; ix. 7, 12, 34–35; x. 19, 20, 27; xi. 10). Nevertheless the translation in the text above would seem fairer to the average Occidental mind, and is thoroughly justifiable on the two grounds (1) of the known character of God, and (2) the well-attested latitude of the Semitic tongues, which are accustomed to speak of occasion as cause. See Kalsisch, cited in appendix; and Gesenius’s Heb. Gram. p. 120 (Asher & Co.), Cp. O.T. Ap. article, “Pharaoh’s Heart, The Hardening of.”

§ 5. The First Interview with Pharaoh, and its Results.

Chapter 5.

1 And afterwards Moses and Aaron went in, and said unto Pharaoh,—
   ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel,
   Let my people go, that they may hold a festival to me, in the desert.

2 Then said Pharaoh,
   Who is Yahweh, that I should hearken to his voice, to let Israel go?
   I know not Yahweh, and <certainly, Israel> will I not let go!

3 And they said,
   ||The God of the Hebrews|| hath met with us,— let us go, we pray thee, a journey of three days into the desert, and sacrifice to Yahweh our God, lest he fall upon us, with pestilence or with sword.

4 And the king of Egypt said unto them,
   Wherefore, O Moses and Aaron, should ye loose the people, from their works?
   Get you to your burdens.

5 And Pharaoh said,
   Lo! <many—now> are the people of the land,— and are ye to make them rest from their burdens?

6 So then Pharaoh gave command, on that day, unto the taskmasters over the people, and unto their overseers—saying:

7 Ye shall not more give straw unto the people, for making the bricks, as heretofore: Let ||them|| go ||themselves||, so shall they gather for themselves straw: 8 Nevertheless, <the fixed number of bricks, which they’ have been making heretofore> shall ye lay upon them, ye shall not diminish therefrom.,—for <idle> they are’, <on this account> it is that they’ are making an outcry, saying,

   We must go our way, we must sacrifice to our God.

9 The service must be made heavy on the men, that they may labour on it,—and let them not pay regard to words of falsehood.

10 Then went forth the taskmasters of the people, and their overseers, and spake unto the people,— saying,— [[Thus]] saith Pharaoh,
   I am not’ going to give you straw,

11 Ye yourselves go fetch you straw, of any ye can find,—yet hath there not been diminished from your service a single thing.

12 So the people dispersed themselves throughout all the land of Egypt,—to gather stubble for straw: 13
   ||the taskmasters|| meanwhile, being urgent,
   saying,—
   Complete your works,
   <The task of a day> in its day, as when the straw was provided’.

14 Then were beaten the overseers of the sons of Israel, whom the taskmasters of Pharaoh had set over them, saying:
   Wherefore’ have ye not completed your task for making bricks, <as heretofore> ||so also|| yesterday and’ to-day?

15 Then came in the overseers of the sons of Israel, and made outcry unto Pharaoh, saying, Wherefore shouldst thou do thus, to thy servants?

16 ||No straw|| is given to thy servants, yet
   <bricks>—they keep saying to us—make ye!
   And lo, ||thy servants|| are beaten—thou dost, therefore, wrong thy people.b

17 But he said:
   <Idle> ye are’—||idle|| <on this account> are
   ||ye|| saying,
   We must take our journey, we must sacrifice to Yahweh.

18 ||Now|| therefore, go labour, but ||straw|| shall not be given you,—yet <the tale of bricks> shall ye render.

19 Then did the overseers of the sons of Israel see themselves to be in an evil case, when it was said,—
   Ye shall not diminish from your bricks—<the task of a day> in its day!

20 So they fell upon Moses and upon Aaron, stationing themselves to meet them,—as they came forth from Pharaoh; 21 and they said unto them,
   Yahweh look’ upon you, and judge,—in that ye have made us odiousc in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his servants, putting a sword into their hand to slay us.

22 And Moses returned unto Yahweh, and said,—O My Lord a wherefore hast thou caused harm to this people?

Wherefore b now c didst thou send me? 23 seeing that <from what time I came in unto Pharaoh to speak in thy name> he hath done harm to this people, and thou hast not [delivered] thy people.c

Chapter 6.

1 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,
   Now shalt thou see, what I will do to Pharaoh,— for <with a strong hand> shall he let them go, and <with a strong hand> shall he drive them out from his land.

§ 6. The Commission of Moses renewed.

2 And God d spake unto Moses,—and said unto him—
   ||I|| am Yahweh:

3 I appeared, therefore unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, as God Almighty,—although ||by my name Yahweh|| was I not made known to them;

4 Moreover also e I established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan,—||even the land of their sojournings wherein they sojourned||.

5 Moreover also f ||I|| heard the groaning of the sons of Israel, whom ||the Egyptians|| were holding in servitude,—So then I remembered my covenant.

6 Therefore g say thou to the sons of Israel—||I|| am Yahweh,
   Therefore will I bring you forth from under the burdens of Egypt,
   And will deliver you out of their service,—
   And will redeem you with a stretched-out arm, and with great judgments;

7 And will take you to myself, for a people,
   And will become your God,—

And ye shall know, that ||I Yahweh|| am your God, who brought you forth from under the burdens of Egypt:

8 And I will bring you into the land’ as to which I uplifted my hand to give it to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob,—and will give it to you as an inheritance: ||I|| am Yahweh.

9 And Moses spake thus, unto the sons of Israel,—but they hearkened not unto Moses, through shortness of spirit,e and through hard service. 10 And Yahweh spake unto Moses—saying:

11 Go in, speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt,—that he let the sons of Israel go out of his land.

12 And Moses spake before Yahweh, saying,—Lo! ||the sons of Israel|| have not hearkened unto me, how then shall ||Pharaoh|| hear, ||I|| also being of uncircumcised lips.

§ 7. The Genealogy of Moses and Aaron; their Commission concluded.

13 Thus then did Yahweh spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, yea he gave them a charge unto the sons of Israel, and unto Pharaoh king of Egypt,—for the bringing forth of the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

14||These|| are the heads of their ancestral house:

And <the sons of Merari> Mahli and Mushli.

[These] are the families of the Levites, by their generations.

So then, Amram took Jochebed, his father’s sister, to himself to wife, and she bare to him—Aaron and Moses.

And [the years of the life of Amram] were a hundred and thirty-seven.

And <the sons of Izhar>
Korah and Nepheg, and Zichri.

And <the sons of Uzziel>
Mishael and Elzaphan, and Sithri.

And Aaron took Elisheba, daughter of Amminadab, sister of Nahshon, to himself to wife,—and she bare to him—Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

And <the sons of Korah>
Assir and Elkanah, and Abiasaph.

[These] are the families of the Korahites.

And Eleazar, son of Aaron, took to himself [one] of the daughters of Putiel, to himself to wife, and she bare to him Phinehas.

[These] are the heads of the fathers of the Levites, by their families.

The same Aaron and Moses,—to whom said Yahweh,

Bring ye forth the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt, according to their hosts:

They who were to speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring forth the sons of Israel out of Egypt: [The same] Moses and Aaron.

Thus came it to pass, that <on a certain day> Yahweh spake unto Moses in the land of Egypt:

So then Yahweh spake unto Moses saying—

I am Yahweh:

Speak thou unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, all that I am speaking unto thee.

And Moses said before Yahweh,—

Lo! I am of uncircumcised lips, how then will Pharaoh’ hear unto me?

Chapter 7.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

See! I have appointed thee to be God unto Pharaoh,—and [Aaron thy brother] shall be thy prophet!

[Thou] shalt speak all that which I may command thee, and [Aaron thy brother] shall speak unto Pharaoh, and he shall let the sons of Israel go out of his land.

But [I] will suffer Pharaoh to harden his heart,—so will I multiply my signs and my wonders, in the land of Egypt.

And Pharaoh will not hearken unto you, so will I lay my hand on Egypt,—and bring forth my hosts—my people, the sons of Israel, out of the land of Egypt, with great judgments.

And the Egyptians shall know that [I] am Yahweh, when I have stretched forth my hand over Egypt,—and brought forth the sons of Israel out of their midst.

And Moses and Aaron did [so],—<as Yahweh commanded them> [so] did they. 7 Now [Moses] was eighty years old, and [Aaron] eighty-three years old,—when they spake unto Pharaoh.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

When Pharaoh shall speak unto you saying,

Shew for yourselves a wonder> then shalt thou say unto Aaron,

Take thy staff, and cast it down before Pharaoh, let it become a sea-serpent.

So Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and did so, as Yahweh had commanded,—<as> and Aaron cast down his staff before Pharaoh and before his servants, and it became a sea-serpent. 11 Then called Pharaoh also for the wise men and for the magicians,—<and> they too <the sacred scribes of Egypt, with their secret arts> did in like manner; 12 yea they cast down each man his staff, and they became sea-serpents,—but Aaron’s staff swallowed up their staves. 13 Then waxed bold the heart of Pharaoh, and he hearkened not unto them,—as spake Yahweh.

14 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,
||Dull|| is the heart of Pharaoh,—he hath refused to let the people go.
15 Get thee unto Pharaoh in the morning—lo! he is coming out to the waters, therefore shalt thou station thyself to meet him, on the bank of the river,—and <the staff which was turned into a serpent> shalt thou take in thy hand. 16 Then shalt thou say unto him—
||Yahweh, God of the Hebrews|| hath sent me unto thee, saying,— Let my people go, <that they may serve me in the desert,—
And lo! thou hast not hearkened, hitherto.
17 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
||Hereby|| shalt thou know that ||I|| am
Yahweh,—
Lo! ||I|| am smiting with the staff that is in my hand upon the waters that are in the river, and they shall be turned to blood;
and ||the fish that is in the river|| shall die, and the river ||shall be loathsome||,—and the Egyptians ||shall disdain|| to drink water out of the river.
18 And Yahweh said unto Moses,—
Say unto Aaron,—
Take thy staff, and stretch forth thy hand over the waters of Egypt, over their streams, over their rivers, and over all their collections of water—that they may become blood,—so shall there be blood, in all the land of Egypt, both in vessels of wood, and in vessels of stone.
20 And Moses and Aaron ||did so||, as Yahweh commanded, and he lifted high the staff, and smote the waters which were in the river, before the eyes of Pharaoh, and before the eyes of his servants,—and all the waters which ||were in the river|| were turned to blood; 21 and ||the fish that was in the river|| died, and the river ||became loathsome||, so that the Egyptians could not drink water out of the river,—thus came it to pass that blood was in all the land of Egypt.
22 And the sacred scribes of Egypt did in like manner, with their secret arts,—so the heart of Pharaoh waxed bold, and he hearkened not unto them, as spake Yahweh. 23 Then Pharaoh ||turned away|| and entered into his house—neither applied
he his heart ||even to this||.
24 And all the Egyptians dug round about the river, for water to drink,—for they could not drink of the water of the river. 25 And seven days ||were fulfilled||,—after Yahweh had smitten the river.

§ 10. The Second Plague: Frogs.

Chapter 8.

1 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,
Go in unto Pharaoh,—then shalt thou say unto him—
||Thus|| saith Yahweh,—
Let my people go, that they may serve me.
2 But <if thou art ||refusing|| to let them go> lo!
||I|| am plaguing all thy boundaries with frogs; 3 so shall the river swarm with frogs, and they shall come up, and enter into thy house, and into thy bedchamber, and upon thy couch,—and into the house of thy servants, and among thy people, and into thine ovens, and into thy kneading-troughs; 4 <both against thee, and against thy people, and against all thy servants> shall come up the frogs.
5 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,
Say unto Aaron—
Stretch forth thy hand, with thy staff, over the streams, over the rivers, and over the pools,—and bring up the frogs, over the land of Egypt.
6 So Aaron stretched forth his hand, over the waters of Egypt,—and the frog came up, and covered the land of Egypt.
7 And the sacred scribes did in like manner, with their secret arts,—and brought up frogs, over the land of Egypt. 8 Then called Pharaoh for Moses and for Aaron, and said—
Make entreaty unto Yahweh, that he take away the frogs from me, and from my people,—and I must let the people go, that they may sacrifice to Yahweh.
9 And Moses said to Pharaoh—
Explain thyself unto me: 9 <For what time> shall I make entreaty for thee, and for thy servants, and for thy people, to cause the frogs to be cut off, from thee, and from thy houses,—<only in the river> shall they remain?

10 And he said—
For to-morrow.
And he said—
According to thy word! that thou mayest know, that there is none’ like Yahweh, our God: 11 so the frogs shall depart—from thee, and from thy houses, and from thy servants, and from thy people,—<only in the river> shall they remain.

12 Then went forth Moses and Aaron from Pharaoh,—and Moses made outcry unto Yahweh, over the matter of the frogs, which he had appointed for Pharaoh. 13 And Yahweh did’ according to the word of Moses,—and the frogs died, out of the houses, and out of the yards, a and out of the fields; 14 and they piled them up, heaps—heaps, b—and the land became loathsome.

But <when Pharaoh saw that there had come a respite> then made he his heart dull, and hearkened not unto them,—as spake Yahweh. c § 11. The Third Plague: Gnats.

16 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,
Say unto Aaron—
Stretch forth thy staff, and smite the dust of the land,—so shall it become gnats in all the land of Egypt.

And they did so, and Aaron stretched forth his hand with his staff, and smote the dust of the land, and there came to be gnats, among men, and among beasts,—[all the dust of the land] became gnats d [in all the land of Egypt], 18 And the sacred scribes did in like manner, with their secret arts, e to bring forth the gnats, but they could not. f So there came to be gnats, among men and among beasts. 19 Then said the sacred scribes unto Pharaoh,

<The finger of God> it is!
But the heart of Pharaoh waxed bold, and he hearkened not unto them, as spake Yahweh. g

20 Then said Yahweh unto Moses—
Rise thou early in the morning, and station thyself before Pharaoh, lo! he is coming forth to the waters,—then shalt thou say unto him—

||[Thus]|| saith Yahweh: Let my people go, that they may serve me. 21 But <if thou art not’ letting my people go> behold me! sending forth—against thee, and against thy servants, and against thy people, and against thy houses, the gad-fly,—and the houses of the Egyptians shall be full of the gad-fly, moreover also’ the ground whereon [they] are: 22 then will I make to differ, on that day, the land of Goshen, wherein my people do dwell, so that there shall not be, there’ a gad-fly! in order that thou mayest know, that [I, Yahweh] am in the midst of the land; 23 so will I put a separation betwixt my’ people and thy ‘people.

<By to-morrow> shall come to pass this sign.
And Yahweh did’ so, and brought a grievous gad-fly, unto the house of Pharaoh, and the houses b of his servants, and in all the land of Egypt, and the land was laid waste, by reason of the gad-fly. 25 Then did Pharaoh cry out—unto Moses, and to Aaron,—and said—
Go your way, sacrifice to your God [in the land].

And Moses said:
<Not meet> is it, to do thus, for <an abomination to the Egyptians> we should sacrifice to Yahweh our God.
Lo! could we sacrifice that which is an abomination to the Egyptians before their eyes, and they not stone us? k

Then said Yahweh unto Moses, Go in unto Pharaoh,—then shalt thou say unto him—

"Thus" saith Yahweh, God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may serve me.

But <if refusing thou art> to let them go,—and still' art holding them fast> 3 lo! [<the hand of Yahweh] is coming on thy cattle, which are in the field, on the horses, on< the asses, on< the camels, on the herds, and on the flocks,—[a very grievous pestilence];> 4 and Yahweh will make a difference between the cattle of Israel, and the cattle of the Egyptians,—so that there shall not die from among all that pertaineth to the sons of Israel [a thing]!

And Yahweh appointed a set time—saying,—<To-morrow> will Yahweh do this thing, in the land.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses, and unto Aaron, Take ye, your hands full of the ashes of an oven,—and Moses shall scatter them towards the heavens, before the eyes of Pharaoh:

that shall they become fine dust, over all the land of Egypt,—and shall become on man and on beast, a burning sore, breaking out in pustules, in all the land of Egypt.

So they took the ashes of an oven, and stood before Pharaoh, and Moses scattered them towards the heavens,—and it came to pass that there was a burning sore, in pustules breaking out, among men, and among beasts; 11 and the sacred scribes could not stand before Moses, because of the burning sore,—for the burning sore had come on the sacred scribes, and on all the Egyptians. 12 But Yahweh let the heart of Pharaoh wax bold, and he hearkened not unto them,—as spake Yahweh unto Moses. 1 § 15. The Seventh Plague: Hail.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses, Rise thou early in the morning, and station thyself before Pharaoh,—then shalt thou say unto him—

"Thus" saith Yahweh, God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may serve me; for <this time> am I sending all my plagues unto thy heart, and amongst thy servants, and amongst thy people,—to the intent thou mayest get to know, that there is none' like me, in all the earth.

For <now> might I have put forth my hand, and smitten thee and thy people, with pestilence,—and thou shouldst have secretly disappeared from the earth;

16 but [in very deed] <for this purpose> have I let thee remain, a for the purpose of showing thee my might,—and that my name may be celebrated in all the earth.

17 <Even yet> art thou exalting thyself over my people,—in not letting them go?

18 Behold me! raining down [about this time tomorrow] an exceeding heavy hail,—such as hath not been in Egypt, from the day it was founded, and not unto the present time.

19 ||Now therefore, send—bring into safety thy cattle, and all that thou hast in the field,—<as touching all men and beasts which shall be found in the field, and shall not be withdrawn into shelter> the hail shall come down upon them, and they shall die.

20 ||He that feared the word of Yahweh, among the servants of Pharaoh| made his servants and his cattle flee, under shelter; b but ||whoso applied not his heart unto the word of Yahweh| left his servants and his cattle, in the field.

22 Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

Stretched forth thy hand over the heavens, that there may be hail, in all the land of Egypt,—on man and on beast, and on every herb of the field, in the land of Egypt. 23 So Moses stretched forth his staff over the heavens, and ||Yahweh| gave forth thunderings and hail, and there came fire, towards the earth,— and Yahweh rained down hail, on the land of Egypt. 24 So there came to be hail, and fire catching hold of itself, c in the midst of the hail,— exceeding heavy, such as had not been in all the land of Egypt, d from the very time it became a nation. 25 And the hail smote, in all the land of Egypt, all that was in the field, both man and beast,—and <every herb of the field> did the hail smite, and <every tree of the field> did it shiver. 26 Only <in the land of Goshen, where were the sons of Israel> was there no hail. 27 Then sent Pharaoh, and called for Moses and for Aaron, and said unto them—

I have sinned this time,—||Yahweh| is the righteous one, and ||I and my people| are the wrong-doers.

28 Make ye request unto Yahweh, and it shall be enough, without there being any more thunderings of God, and hail,—and I must let you go, and not again shall ye delay.

29 And Moses said unto him,

<As soon as I am gone out of the city> will I spread out my hands unto Yahweh,—||the thunderings| shall cease, and ||the hail| shall come no more,—that thou mayest know, that <to Yahweh> belongeth the earth.

But <as touching thee and thy servants> I know, that not yet will ye stand in awe of Yahweh Elohim.

30 Now ||the flax and the barley| were smitten,— for ||the barley| was in the ear, and ||the flax| was in flower; 32 but ||the wheat and the spelt| were not smitten,—for they were ||not ripe|.

33 So Moses went away from Pharaoh, out of the city, and spread out his hands unto Yahweh,— then did the thunderings and the hail cease, and ||rain| was not poured out on the earth.

34 And <when Pharaoh saw that the rain and the hail and the thunderings had ceased> he again sinned,—and made his heart dull, ||he, and his servants|. 35 And the heart of Pharaoh waxed bold, and he did not let the sons of Israel go,—as spake Yahweh by the hand of Moses.

§ 16. The Eighth Plague: Locusts.

Chapter 10.

1 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,

Go in unto Pharaoh,—for ||I| have suffered his heart to be dull, and the heart of his servants, that I may show these my signs, in their midst; 2 and that thou mayest recount in the ears of thy son, and thy son’s son, what I did in derision of the Egyptians, and my signs, which I displayed among them,—so shall ye know that ||I| am Yahweh.

And Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and said unto him—

[Thus] saith Yahweh, God of the Hebrews, How long' hast thou refused to humble thyself before me?

Let my people go, that they may serve me.

But <if [refusing] thou art' to let my people go> behold me bringing in, to-morrow, a locust, within thy bounds; and it shall cover the eye of the land, so that one shall not be able to see the land,—and it shall eat the residue that hath escaped, that is left you from the hail, and shall eat up all the trees that sprout for you, out of the field; and they shall fill thy houses, and the houses of all thy servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians, such as thy fathers and thy fathers' fathers have never seen, from the day they came to be on the ground, until this day.

And he turned away, and came out from the presence of Pharaoh. Then said the servants of Pharaoh unto him,

How long' shall this [man] become to us a snare?

Let the men go, that they may serve Yahweh their God.

<Not yet> knowest thou, that Egypt is [ruined]?

So Moses and Aaron were brought back unto Pharaoh, and he said unto them—

Go, serve Yahweh your God,—[who]' are they that are going?

And Moses said,

<With our young and with our old> will we go,—<with our sons and with our daughters, with our flocks and with our herds> will we go,—for [the festival of Yahweh] is ours.

Then he said unto them:

Let Yahweh [so]|b| be with you, when I let go you and your little ones!

Look out, for [harm] is straight before your faces.

Not so! Go, I pray you, ye grown men, and serve Yahweh, for [that] is what [ye] were seeking. And they were driven out from the presence of Pharaoh.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

Stretch forth thy hand over the land of Egypt, for the locust, that it may come up over the land of Egypt,—and may eat up every herb of the land, all that the hail hath left.

And Moses stretched forth his staff over the land of Egypt, and [Yahweh] caused an east wind to drive through the land, all that day, and all the night,—<when [the morning] had come> [the east wind] had brought the locust. And the locust came up over all the land of Egypt, and settled in all the bounds of Egypt,—very grievous, <before it> had not been such a locust [as that], neither <after it> should be one like it. So it covered the eye of all the land, and the land was darkened, and it did eat every herb of the land, and all the fruit of the trees, which the hail had left remaining,—so that there was not left remaining any green sprout in the trees, or in the herb of the field, in all the land of Egypt.

Then hastened Pharaoh, to call for Moses and for Aaron,—and said—

I have sinned against Yahweh your God, and against you.

||Now]| therefore, forgive, b I pray you, my sin—only this time, and make entreaty unto Yahweh your God,—that he may take away from me [at least, this death].

So he c came out from Pharaoh,—and made entreaty unto Yahweh; and Yahweh turned back a west wind, strong exceedingly, and carried away the locust, and cast it into the Red Sea,—there was not left a single locust in all the bounds of Egypt.

But Yahweh suffered the heart of Pharaoh to wax bold, d—and he did not let the sons of Israel go.

§ 17. The Ninth Plague: Darkness.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses:

Stretch forth thy hand over the heavens, that there may be darkness, over the land of Egypt,—and that one may feel the darkness.

So Moses stretched forth his hand over the heavens,—and there was thick darkness in all the land of Egypt, for three days; they saw not one another, neither rose any man from his couch, for three days,—but [all the sons of Israel] had light in their dwellings. Then Pharaoh called out unto Moses, and said—

Go, serve Yahweh, only' [your flocks and your herds] shall be left,—[even your little ones] shall go with you.

And Moses said,
29 Moreover also' ||our own cattle|| shall go with us—there shall not be left behind |a hoof|, for <thereof> must we take, to serve Yahweh our God,—||even we ourselves|| cannot know wherewith we must serve Yahweh, until we have come in thither.

27 And Yahweh let the heart of Pharaoh wax bold,—and he was not willing to let them go. 28 So Pharaoh said to him—

Get thee from me,—take heed to thyself—do not |see my face|, for <in the day thou dost see my face> thou shalt die.

29 And Moses said—

||Well|| hast thou spoken,—|no more again| to see thy face.

§ 18. The Tenth Plague threatened: the Death of the Egyptian Firstborn.

Chapter 11.

1 Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

|Yet one plague| will I bring in upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt, |after that| he will let you go from hence,—|when he doth let you go| he will ||altogether drive|| you out from hence.

2 Speak, I pray you, in the ears of the people,—and let them ask—|every man of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, articles of silver and articles of gold.||

3 And Yahweh gave the people favour, in the eyes of the Egyptians,—||even the man Moses himself|| was exceeding great in the land of Egypt,—in the eyes of Pharaoh’s servants, and in the eyes of the people. 4 And Moses said, 5

||Thus saith Yahweh||,—

|About midnight| am ||I|| going forth in the midst of Egypt; 5 then shall every firstborn in the land of Egypt die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who is sitting on his throne, unto the firstborn of the handmaid who is behind the two millstones,—and every firstborn of beasts;

then shall there be a great outcry, in all the land of Egypt,—||such| as never was and ||such|| as shall not be again.

But <against none of the sons of Israel> shall a dog sharpen his tongue, neither against man nor beast,—that ye may know that Yahweh maketh a difference between Egypt and Israel.

So shall all these thy servants come down unto me, and bow themselves down to me, saying—

Go forth, ||thou and all the people who are in thy footsteps||, and <after that> will I go forth.

And he went forth from Pharaoh, in a heat of anger. 9 And Yahweh had said unto Moses, Pharaoh will not hearken unto you,—that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 So then ||Moses and Aaron|| did all these wonders, before Pharaoh,—but Yahweh let Pharaoh’s heart wax bold, and he did not let the sons of Israel go, out of his land.

§ 19. The Passover commanded and observed.

Chapter 12.

1 Then spake Yahweh, unto Moses and unto Aaron, in the land of Egypt, saying—

|This month|| is |to you| a beginning of months,—|the first| it is ’|to you| of the months of the year. 3 Speak ye unto all the assembly of Israel, saying,

<On the tenth of this month> then let them take to them, each man a lamb for his ancestral household, a lamb for a household. 4 But |if the household be too small for a lamb> then shall he and his neighbour that is near unto his house take [one], according to the number of souls,—<each man according to his eating> shall ye number for the lamb.

5 |A lamb without defect, a male a year old> shall yours be,—<from the sheep, or from the goats> shall ye take it.

6 So shall it be yours, to keep, until the fourteenth day of this month,—then shall all the... convocation of the assembly of Israel slay it, between the two evenings.

7 And they shall take of the blood, and put upon the two door-posts, and upon the upper-beam,—upon the houses wherein they are to eat it.

8 Then shall they eat the flesh, in the same night,—roast with fire, and with unleavened cakes, with bitter herbs shall they eat it. Do not eat of it underdone, nor cooked by boiling in water,—but roast with fire, its head with its legs, and with its inward parts.

9 And ye shall let nothing thereof remain until morning,—but that which is left remaining until morning in the fire shall ye consume. And thus shall ye eat it,—your loins girded, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand,—so shall ye eat it in haste, it is Yahweh’s passing over.

12 I will pass along, therefore, throughout the land of Egypt, this night, and will smite every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from man even to beast,—and against all the gods of Egypt will I execute judgments—

13 Then shall the blood serve you for a sign, on the houses wherein ye are, then will I behold the blood, and will pass over you,—and there shall be among you no plague to destroy, when I smite the land of Egypt.

14 So shall this day serve you for a memorial, and ye shall celebrate it, as a festival to Yahweh,—to your generations—as an age-abiding statute shall ye celebrate it.

15 Seven days unleavened cakes shall ye eat, surely, on the first day shall ye put away leaven, out of your houses,—for whosoever eateth what is leavened then shall that soul be cut off out of Israel, from the first day, until the seventh day. Both on the first day—a holy convocation, and on the seventh day—a holy convocation shall there be to you,—[no work] shall be done therein, [save only what must be eaten by every soul] that alone shall be done by you. So then ye shall observe the unleavened cakes, because in this self-same day brought I forth your hosts out of the land of Egypt,—so then ye shall observe this day to your generations, as a statute age-abiding. In the first [month], on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening shall ye eat unleavened cakes,—until the one-and-twentieth [day] of the month, in the evening. For seven days shall not be found in your houses,—for [whosoever eateth what is leavened] then shall that soul be cut off out of the assembly of Israel, [whether sojourner, or native of the land]. Nothing leavened shall ye eat,—in all your dwellings shall ye eat unleavened cakes.

21 So then Moses called for all the elders of Israel, and said unto them,— Proceed and take for yourselves one of the flock, according to your families, and slay the passover. Then shall ye take a bunch of hyssop, and dip it in the blood which is in the basin, and strike the upper beam, and the two door-posts, with the blood which is in the basin,—and ye shall not go forth, any man out of the entrance of his house, until morning. And Yahweh will pass along to plague the Egyptians, and when he beholdeth the blood upon the upper beam, and upon the two door-posts then will Yahweh pass over the entrance, and not suffer the destroyer to enter into your houses, to inflict on you the plague. And ye shall observe this thing,—for a statute to thee and to thy sons, unto times age-abiding.

And so it shall come to pass when ye shall enter into the land which Yahweh will give you, as he hath spoken,—and ye shall observe this service; and it shall come to pass, that your sons shall say unto you,—What is this your service?

Then shall ye say—

<A passover' sacrifice> it is’ to Yahweh, who passed-over the houses of the sons of Israel, in Egypt, when he plagued the Egyptians, but <our houses> he delivered.

Then did the people bend their heads and bow themselves down.

And the sons of Israel went their way and did,—<as Yahweh had commanded Moses and Aaron> ||so|| did they.

§ 20. The Tenth Plague inflicted, and Israel urged forth.

And it came to pass ||at midnight|| that ||Yahweh|| smote every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sat upon his throne, unto the firstborn of the captive who was in the pit of his prison, 3— and every firstborn of beasts. 30 Then rose up Pharaoh by night, ||he, and all his servants, and all the Egyptians||, and there arose a great outcry throughout Egypt,—for there was not a house, where’ there was not one dead. 31 So he called for Moses and for Aaron by night, and said— Rise ye, go forth out of the midst of my people, ||both ye, and the sons of Israel||,—and go, serve Yahweh, according to your word; 32 also <your flocks and your herds> take ye, as ye spake, and go your way,—so shall ye bless, ||even me||.

And the Egyptians became urgent with the people, to send them in haste out of the land,—for they said— ||We all|| are dying.

So the people took up their dough, ere yet it was leavened,—with their kneading-bowls, bound up in their mantles, on their shoulders. 35 And ||the sons of Israel|| did according to the word of Moses,—and asked of the Egyptians, articles of silver and articles of gold and mantles. 36 And ||Yahweh|| gave the people favour in the eyes of the Egyptians, and they gave them gladly,—so they spoiled the Egyptians.

§ 21. The Exodus begun, and the Passover confirmed.

Then did the sons of Israel break up from Rameses, towards Succoth,—about six hundred thousand foot, of men grown, besides little ones.

Moreover also ||a mixed multitude|| came up with them,—flocks also, and herds, exceeding much cattle. 39 Then baked they the dough which they had brought out of Egypt—into round unleavened cakes, for it had not been leavened,—for they had been driven out of Egypt, and could not tarry, and indeed no ||provisions|| had they made ready for themselves.

Now <the time during which the sons of Israel dwelt in Egypt> was four hundred and thirty years. 41 And it came to pass <at the end of four hundred and thirty years> yea it came to pass <on this selfsame day> that all the hosts of Yahweh had come forth out of the land of Egypt. 42 <A night of solemn observances> it is’ unto Yahweh, for bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt,— ||this same night|| pertaineth to Yahweh, for solemn observances, by all the sons of Israel, to their generations.

And Yahweh said unto Moses and Aaron:

||This|| is the statute of the passover,—||No stranger|| shall eat thereof; 44 but <every man’s servant bought with silver,—when thou hast circumcised him> ||then|| shall he eat thereof; 45 ||An alien or a hireling|| shall not eat thereof.

In one house> shall it be eaten, thou shalt not take forth out of the house, any of the flesh, ||outside||; and a <bone thereof> shalt thou not break. 46 ||All the assembly of Israel|| shall keep it. 48 And <when there may sojourn with thee a sojourner who may wish to keep a passover to Yahweh> there must be circumcised to him every male, and ||then|| may he draw near to keep it, so shall he be as a native of the land,—but ||no uncircumcised male|| shall eat thereof.

||One law|| shall there be for the native,—and for the sojourner that sojourneth in your midst.

Thus did all the sons of Israel,—<as Yahweh had commanded Moses and Aaron> ||so|| did they.

And it came to pass ||on this selfsame day|| that Yahweh brought forth the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt, by their hosts.
§ 22. The Law of the Firstborn, and further Instructions as to the Passover.

Chapter 13.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

2 Hallow to me every firstborn, that which any female first beareth among the sons of Israel, among men and among beasts,—[mine] it is.

3 And Moses said unto the people—

[Ye are] to remember this day, on which ye came forth out of Egypt, out of the house of slaves, that <with strength of hand> did Yahweh bring you forth from hence,—there shall not, therefore, be eaten anything leavened. 4 ||To-day|| are ||ye|| coming forth,—in the month Abib.

5 And it shall be, <when Yahweh> shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanite and the Hittite and the Amorite, and the Hivite and the Jebusite, which he spake to thy fathers to give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey> then shalt thou serve with this service, in this month. 6 <Seven days> shalt thou eat unleavened cakes,—and <on the seventh day> [shall be] a festival to Yahweh. 7 ||Unleavened cakes] shall be eaten for the seven days,—neither shall there be seen with thee anything leavened, nor shall there be seen with thee leaven, within any of thy bounds. 8 And thou shalt tell thy son, on that day, saying,—

[This is] ||because|| of that which Yahweh did for me, when he brought me forth out of Egypt.

9 And it shall be to thee for a sign upon thy hand, and for a memorial between thine eyes, in order that the law of Yahweh may be in thy mouth,—for <with a strong hand> did Yahweh bring thee forth out of Egypt. 10 So shalt thou observe this statute, in its appointed time,—from year to year.d

11 And it shall be <when Yahweh> shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanite, as he spake to thee and to thy fathers,—and shalt give it thee>

12 that thou shalt set apart whatsoever is born first, to Yahweh; and <of all firstlings of beasts which thou shalt have> [the males] shall pertain to Yahweh. 13 But <every firstling of an ass> shalt thou redeem with a lamb or <if thou wilt not redeem it> then shalt thou break its neck,—but <every firstborn of men among thy sons> shalt thou redeem.

14 And it shall be <when thy son shall ask thee, in time to come, saying, What is this?>

Then shalt thou say unto him:

<With strength of hand> did Yahweh bring us forth out of Egypt, out of the house of slaves. 15 And it came to pass <when Pharaoh had shown himself too hardened to let us go> then did Yahweh slay every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of men, even unto the firstborn of beasts. <For this cause> am ||I|| sacrificing to Yahweh whatsoever is born first, of the males, and <every firstborn of my sons> must I redeem.1

16 And it shall be for a sign upon thy hand, and for frontlets between thine eyes,—that <with strength of hand> did Yahweh bring us forth out of Egypt.

§ 23. The Exodus completed; the Red Sea passed through; Pharaoh and his Host destroyed.

17 And it came to pass <when Pharaoh had let the people go> that God did not lead by the land-way of the Philistines, although it was ||near||,—for God said—

Lest the people be dismayed when they see war, and turn back to Egypt.

18 So God took the people round the desert-way of the Red Sea,—and the sons of Israel went up ||armed|| out of the land of Egypt.

19 And Moses took the bones of Joseph, with him,—for he had ||taken an oath|| of the sons of Israel, saying,

God will ||surely visit|| you,1 so then ye shall carry up my bones from hence, with you.

20 And they brake up from Succoth,—and encamped in Etham, at the edge of the desert.
Now ||Yahweh|| was going before them—<by day> in a pillar of cloud to lead them the way, and <by night> in a pillar of fire to give them light,—that they might journey day and night: 22 the pillar of cloud by day ceased not, nor the pillar of fire by night,—from before the people.

Chapter 14.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Speak unto the sons of Israel, that they turn back and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea,—before Baal-zephon <over against it> shall ye encamp, by the sea. Then will Pharaoh say, of the sons of Israel, <Entangled> they are’ in the land,—the desert hath closed in upon them.

So will I let the heart of Pharaoh wax bold, and he will pursue them, that I may get me honour over Pharaoh, and over all his forces, and the Egyptians shall know, that ||I|| am Yahweh.

And they did so.

And it was told the king of Egypt, that the people had fled,—and the heart of Pharaoh and his servants was turned against the people, and they said—

What is this we have done, that we have let Israel go from serving us?

So he yoked his chariot.—and <his people> took he with him. 7 And he took six hundred chosen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt,—with warriors, in every one. 8 And Yahweh let the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt wax bold, and he pursued the sons of Israel,—when ||the sons of Israel|| were going out with a high hand.

So the Egyptians pursued them, and overtook them, encamping by the sea—all the horses and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his forces,—by Pi-hahiroth, before Baal-zephon.

Now <when ||Pharaoh|| had drawn near> the sons of Israel lifted up their eyes, and lo! ||the Egyptians|| moving along after them, and they feared greatly, and the sons of Israel made outcry unto Yahweh. 11 Then said they unto Moses,

Was it because there were no’ graves in Egypt, that thou didst fetch us, to die in the desert?

What’ is this’ thou hast done to us,’ bringing us forth out of Egypt?

Is not this the word which we spake unto thee in Egypt, saying,

Let us alone, that we may serve the Egyptians,—for it is ||better for us|| to serve the Egyptians, than to die in the desert?

And Moses said unto the people—

Do not fear, stand still, and see the salvation of Yahweh, which he will work for you to-day,—for <as for the Egyptians whom ye have seen to-day> ye shall not again see them any more, to times age-abiding.

||Yahweh|| will fight for you—and ||you|| shall [forbear].

And Yahweh said unto Moses,

What outcry wouldst thou make unto me? Speak unto the sons of Israel that, they go forward; 16 and <thou> lift high thy staff, and stretch forth thy hand over the sea, and cleave it asunder,—that the sons of Israel may enter into the midst of the sea, on dry ground; 17 and ||I|| behold me, letting the heart of the Egyptians wax bold, that they may enter after them,—that I may get me honour over Pharaoh, and over his forces, over his chariots, and over his horsemen. 18 And the Egyptians shall know, that ||I|| am Yahweh,—when I have gotten me honour over Pharaoh, over his chariots, and over his horsemen.

And the messenger of God who was going on before the camp of Israel, removed, and came on behind them,—and the pillar of cloud removed from before them, and stood behind them; 20 so it came in between the camp of the Egyptians, and the camp of Israel, so it became a cloud and darkness, and yet lighted up the night,—so that the one came not near unto the other, all the night.

And Moses stretched forth his hand over the sea, and Yahweh carried away the sea by a mighty east wind, all the night, and turned the sea into dry land,—and the waters were cloven asunder.

Then went the sons of Israel into the midst of the sea, on the dry ground,—and ||the waters|| <to them> were a wall, on their right hand, and on their left. 23 And the Egyptians pursued, and entered after them—all the horses of Pharaoh, his chariots and his horsemen,—into the midst of the sea.

\[\text{Or: "||What, now|| hast thou done us?" Cp. O.G. 261, 4b.}\]
And it came to pass <in the morning watch> that Yahweh looked down into the camp of the Egyptians, through the pillar of fire and cloud, and confused the camp of the Egyptians; and he took off the wheels of their chariots, and made them drive heavily, so that the Egyptians said—

We must flee from the face of Israel, for Yahweh is fighting for them, against the Egyptians.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses,

Stretch forth thy hand over the sea, that the waters may return upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen.

So Moses stretched forth his hand over the sea, and the sea returned, towards morning, to its steady flow, when the Egyptians were fleeing to their chariots, and upon their horsemen, even all the forces of Pharaoh, that were entering after them into the sea, there was not left remaining among them [so much as one].

But the sons of Israel had gone their way on dry ground in the midst of the sea, and the waters had been to them a wall, on their right hand and on their left.

Thus did Yahweh, on that day, save Israel out of the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians, dead on the shore of the sea. And when Israel saw the mighty hand wherewith Yahweh had wrought against the Egyptians, then did the people revere Yahweh, and they put their trust in Yahweh, and in Moses, his servant.

§ 24. Israel's Song of Triumph.

Chapter 15.

1 ||Then|| sang Moses, and the sons of Israel, this song unto Yahweh, and they spake, saying,—

I will sing to Yahweh, for he is exalted, exalted,—

<The horse and his rider> hath he cast into the sea.

2 <My might and melody> is Yah, And he became mine, by salvation,—

||This|| is my GOD, and I will glorify him, The God of my father, and I will set him on high.

||Yahweh|| is a warlike one,— <Yahweh> is his name.

<The chariots of Pharaoh and his train> hath he cast into the sea,—

Yea <the choice of his warriors> were sunk in the Sedgy' Sea.

||Roaring deeps|| covered them—

They went down, in the raging depths, like a stone.

||Thy right hand||, O Yahweh, is splendid in power,—

||Thy right hand||, O Yahweh, dasheth in pieces a foe;

And <in the greatness of thine exaltation> dost thou tear down thine opposers,—

Thou dost send forth thy wrath, it consumeth them, as straw;

And <with the blast of thy nostrils> heaped up are the waters,

<Upreared like a mound> are the flowing waves,—

Roaring deeps are congealed, in the heart of the sea.

Said the foe—

I will pursue—overtake, divide spoil,—

Take her fill of them—shall my soul, I will bare my sword, root them out—shall my hand.

Thou didst blow with thy wind, they were covered by the sea—

They rolled like lead, into the waters so wide.

Who is [like unto thee], among the mighty, O Yahweh?

Who is [like unto thee], Majestic in holiness,—

To be revered in praises,

Doing a marvellous thing?

Thou didst stretch forth thy right hand, earth swallowed them up.

15 [Then] were amazed the chiefs of Edom, The mighty ones of Moab, there seizeth them, a trembling,—Melted away, have all the dwellers of Canaan; There falleth upon them a terror and dread, <With the greatness of thine arm> are they struck dumb as a stone—

§ 25. From the Red Sea to the Desert of Sin.

21 And Moses caused Israel to break up from the Red Sea, and they went out into the desert of Shur,—and journeyed three days in the desert, and found no water;\(^f\) and, when they came in towards Marah, they could not drink the waters of Marah, for they were [bitter],—<for this cause> was the name thereof called Marah.\(^d\)

24 So the people murmured against Moses—saying, What are we to drink?

25 And he made outcry unto Yahweh, and Yahweh pointed out a tree, and he cast it into the waters, and the waters became sweet—<There> he appointed him\(^e\) a statute and regulation, And <there> he put him\(^f\) to the proof.

26 And he said:

27 Then came they in to Elim, and <there> were twelve fountains of water, and seventy palms—trees,—so they encamped there, by the waters.

Chapter 16.

1 Then moved they on from Elim, and all the assembly of the sons of Israel entered into the desert of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month, by their coming forth out of the land of Egypt.

2 Then did all the assembly of the sons of Israel murmur against Moses and against Aaron, in the desert;\(^3\) and the sons of Israel said unto them—Oh that we had died by the hand of Yahweh, in the land of Egypt, when we remained by the pot of flesh, when we did eat bread to the full,—for ye have brought us forth into this desert, to cause all this multitude\(^g\) to die by famine.

4 Then said Yahweh unto Moses, Behold me! raining down for you bread\(^h\) out of heaven,—and the people shall go out and

5 And it shall come to pass <on the sixth day> that they shall settle what they shall bring in,—and it shall be twice as much as they gather day by day.

6 So Moses and Aaron said’ unto all the sons of Israel—

<At eventide> then shall ye know that it was ||Yahweh|| who brought you forth, out of the land of Egypt; 7 and <in the morning> then shall ye see the glory of Yahweh, in that he hath heard your murmurings against Yahweh,—what then are ||we|| that ye should murmur against [us]?

8 And Moses said—

<In that Yahweh giveth you in the evening flesh to eat, and bread in the morning, to the full, in that Yahweh heareth your murmurings, wherewith ||ye|| are murmuring against him> what then are ||we||? <Not against us> do ye murmur, but against Yahweh.

9 And Moses said unto Aaron,

Say unto all the assembly of the sons of Israel, Draw near, before Yahweh,—for he hath heard your murmurings.

10 And it came to pass, <when Aaron spake unto all the assembly of the sons of Israel> then turned they towards the desert,—and lo! ||the glory of Yahweh|| had appeared in the cloud. 11 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses—saying,

12 I have heard the murmurings of the sons of Israel,—speak unto them, saying—

<Between the two evenings> shall ye eat flesh, and <in the morning> shall ye be filled with bread,—so shall ye know that ||I Yahweh|| am your God.

13 And it came to pass <in the evening> that there came up quail, and covered the camp,—and in the morning was the outpouring of dew, round about the camp; 14 and <when the outpouring of dew went up> then lo! <on the face of the desert> a thin flake, thin as hoar-frost, on the earth. 15 And when the sons of Israel saw it, they said one to another—

What is that?
For they knew not what “that” was. Then said Moses unto them,

“That” is the bread which Yahweh hath given you to eat. 16 ||This|| is the thing which Yahweh hath commanded,

Gather ye thereof, each man, what he needeth for eating, 5—an omer a head, by the number of your souls, <each man>—for them who are in his tent> shall ye take.

17 And the sons of Israel did so,—and gathered, [some] more, and [some] less; 18 and <when they measured it with the omer> he who had gathered more had nothing over, and ||he who had gathered less|| had no lack: <each man, what he needed for eating> did they gather. 19 And Moses said unto them,—

Let ||no man|| leave thereof, until morning.

20 But they hearkened not unto Moses, but certain men left’ thereof until morning, and it swarmed with worms, and become loathsome,—and Moses was wroth with them. 21 Thus then they gathered it, morning by morning, each man what he needed for eating,—and <as soon as the sun waxed hot> so soon it melted.

22 And it came to pass <on the sixth day> that they gathered food twice as much, two omers for each one,—so all the princes of the assembly came in, and told Moses. 23 And he said unto them—

||That|| is what Yahweh spake.

<The observance of a holy sabbath to Yahweh> is to-morrow,—<what ye would bake> bake, and <what ye would boil> boil, and <all that is left over> put by you, to keep until the morning.

24 So they put it by until the morning, as Moses had commanded,—and it gave no unpleasant odour, neither was there  therein. 25 Then said Moses—

Eat ye it to-day, for  is to-day, unto Yahweh,—<to-day> ye shall not find it in the field. 26 <Six days> shall ye gather it,—but <on the seventh day> a sabbath it shall not be therein.

27 And it came to pass <on the seventh day> that there went forth some of the people to gather,—but they found not. 28 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,— § 27. Water from the Rock at Rephidim.

Chapter 17.

And all the assembly of the sons of Israel set forward out of the desert of Sin, by their removals, at the bidding of Yahweh,—and encamped in Rephidim, and there was no water for the people to drink. 2 And the people found fault with Moses, and said—

Give us water, that we may drink.

And Moses said to them,

Why should ye find fault with me? Why should ye put Yahweh to the proof?

So the people thirsted there, for water, and the people murmured against Moses,—and said—

Wherefore is it that thou hast brought us up out of Egypt, to kill me and my sons, and my cattle, with thirst?

And Moses made outcry unto Yahweh, saying,

What am I to do with this people? <Yet a little> and they will stone me.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

Pass over before the people, and take, with thee, some of the elders of Israel,—<thy staff also, wherewith thou didst smite the river> take thou in thy hand, so shalt thou go thy way.

Behold me! standing before thee, there, upon the rock in Horeb, then shalt thou smite the rock, and there shall come forth there-from water, and the people shall drink.

And Moses did so, in the sight of the elders of Israel. 7 So he called the name of the place, Massah, 1 and Meribah, 2 —because of the fault-finding of the sons of Israel, and because of their putting Yahweh to the proof, saying,

Is' Yahweh in our midst, or is he not?

§ 28. War with Amalek.

8 Then came in Amalek,—and fought with Israel, in Rephidim. 9 And Moses said unto Joshua—

Choose for us men, and go forth, fight with Amalek,—<to-morrow> am I stationing myself upon the top of the hill, with the staff of God in my hand.

So Joshua did, as Moses had said to him, to fight with Amalek,—and [Moses, Aaron and Hur] went up to the top of the hill.

And it shall be <when Moses shall lift on high his hands> 3 then shall Israel prevail, but <when he shall let down his hands> then shall Amalek prevail. 4 § 29. The Visit of Jethro, Moses' Father-in-law.

Chapter 18.

1 And Jethro, priest\(^g\) of Midian, father-in-law of Moses, heard\(^d\) all that God had done for Moses, and for Israel his people,—in that Yahweh had brought forth Israel out of Egypt.\(^h\)

2 So Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, took Zipporah, Moses' wife,—after she had been sent home;\(^i\) and her two sons,—of whom ||the name of the one|| was Gershom,\(^j\) for, said he, ||A sojourner> am I in a strange land, and ||the name of the other|| Eliezer,\(^k\) for ||The God of my father|| was my help, and delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh.

7 So Moses went forth to meet his father-in-law, and bowed himself down to him, and kissed him, and they asked each other of their welfare,—and came into the tent.\(^8\) Then Moses recounted to his father-in-law, all that Yahweh had done to Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians, for Israel’s sake,—all the hardship which had befallen them by the way, and how Yahweh had delivered’ them.\(^9\) Then did Jethro rejoice, for all the good which Yahweh had done to Israel,—whom he had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians.\(^10\) And Jethro said—

Bless’d be Yahweh, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh,—Who hath delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians:

11 ||Now|| I know, that ||greater|| is Yahweh than all the gods,—||Even in the thing wherein they were arrogant over them||.

12 Then took Jethro, father-in-law of Moses, an ascending-offering and sacrifices\(^q\) to God,—and Aaron and all the elders of Israel came in, to eat bread with the father-in-law of Moses before God.

§ 30. The Arrival at Sinai: Israel invited to enter into Covenant.

Chapter 19.

1 <In the third month, by the coming forth of the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt> ||on this day|| came they into the desert of Sinai;

2 then was it that they brake up out of Rephidim, and came into the desert of Sinai, and encamped in the desert,—yea Israel encamped there, before the mountain.  And <when ||Moses|| had gone up unto God> then called Yahweh unto him, out of the mountain, saying,

3 ||Thus|| shalt thou say to the house of Jacob, And tell the sons of Israel:

4 ||Ye|| have seen, what, I did unto the Egyptians,—

5 And how I bare you upon wings of eagles, And brought you in, unto myself:—

6 ||Now||, therefore <if ye will ||indeed hearken|| to my voice, And keep my covenant> Then shall ye be mine, as a treasure beyond all the peoples, For <mine> is all the earth.d

7 But ||ye|| shall be mine, As a kingdom of priests, And a holy nation. ||These|| are the words, which thou shalt speak unto the, sons of Israel.

8 Then came Moses, and called for the elders of the people,—and put before them all these words, which Yahweh had commanded him.  And all the people responded together, and said, <All that Yahweh hath spoken> will we do. And Moses took back the words of the people, unto Yahweh.  Then said Yahweh unto Moses: Lo! ||I|| am coming unto thee in the veiling of cloud, in order that the people may hear when I speak;e thee ||moreover also|| that ||in thee|| they may trust to times-abiding. Then told Moses the words of the people, unto Yahweh.  And Yahweh said unto Moses—

17 Then said Moses’ father-in-law unto him,—

18 Not good is the thing that thou’ art doing.

19 ||Now|| hearken thou to my voice—let me counsel thee, and may God be with thee: Be [thou] for [the people] in front of God, so shalt ||thou|| bring the matters unto God;

20 and shalt cause to shine upon them, the statutes and the laws,—and make known to them the way wherein they should go, and the work they should do.

21 ||Thou thyself|| therefore, shalt look out, from among all the people—men of ability, reverers of God, men of fidelity, haters of extortion,—and place [them] over them as rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens.  So shall they judge the people at any time, and it shall be, <all the great matters> shall they bring in unto thee, but <all the small matters> shall ||they themselves|| judge,—so, lighten thou the burden for thyself, and let them bear it with thee.

22 ||If [this thing] thou wilt do, and God shall command’ thee> then shalt thou be able to endure,—yea ||moreover|| ||all this people|| shall go in ||unto their dwellings|| contented.b

24 So Moses hearkened’ to the voice of his father-in-law, and did all that he had said;

25 and Moses chose men of ability out of all Israel, and set them to be heads over the people,—rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens.

26 And they shall judge the people, at any time,— <the hard matters> shall they bring in unto Moses, but <all the small matters> shall ||they themselves|| judge.c

27 And Moses sent forth his father-in-law,—and he went his way by himself, unto his own land.

f John v. 45.
Go unto the people, and thou shalt hallow them to-day, and to-morrow,—and they shall wash their clothes; 11 and shall be ready, by the third day,—for <on the third day> will Yahweh come down in the sight of all the people, upon Mount Sinai. 12 So then thou shalt set bounds for the people round about, saying,

Take heed to yourselves—that ye go not up into the mountain, nor touch the boundary thereof,—[[whosoever toucheth the mountain]] shall [[surely die]]. 13 No hand shall touch it, but he shall be [[surely stoned]] or be [[surely shot]], <whether <beast or man> he shall not live,—

<When the ram’s horn soundeth> [[they themselves]] shall come up within the mount. 14 Then Moses went down out of the mount, unto the people,—and hallowed the people, and they washed their clothes. 15 And he said unto the people, Be ready, by the third day,—do not approach a woman.

And it came to pass <on the third day>, when the morning had come> that there were thunderings and lightnings, and a heavy cloud upon the mount, and the sound of a horn, loud exceedingly,—and all the people who were in the camp trembled. 17 And Moses brought forth the people, to meet God, out of the camp,—and they stationed themselves in the lower part of the mount. 18 And [[Mount Sinai]] smoked [all over], because Yahweh had come down thereon, [in fire],—and the smoke thereof went up as the smoke of a furnace, and all the mountain trembled exceedingly. 19 And <as oft as the sound of the horn went on and became exceeding loud> [[Moses]] spake and [[God]] responded to him with a voice. 20 Thus came Yahweh down upon Mount Sinai, unto the top of the mount, and Moses [went up]. 21 Then said Yahweh unto Moses, Go down, adjure the people,—lest they press through unto Yahweh, to see, and so there fall from among them a multitude.

22 Yea <even the priests> who do approach unto Yahweh must hallow themselves,—lest Yahweh break in upon them.

23 And Moses said unto Yahweh, The people cannot come up into Mount Sinai,—for [[thou thyself]] hast adjured us, saying: Set bounds to the mountain and hallow it. 24 And Yahweh said unto him—Away, down! then shalt thou come up, [thou and Aaron with thee],—but <as for the priests> let it not be that they press through to come up unto Yahweh, lest he break in upon them.

25 So Moses went down unto the people,—and said [these things] unto them.

Chapter 20.

1 And God spake all these words, saying:—

2 [[I]] am Yahweh thy God,—who have brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants:—

3 Thou shalt not have other gods, besides me. 4 Thou shalt not make to thee an image, or any form, that is in the heavens above,—or that is in the earth beneath,—or that is in the waters beneath the earth: 5 thou shalt not bow thyself down to them, nor be led to serve them—For [I, Yahweh thy God] am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of fathers, upon sons, unto three [generations] and unto four, [of them that hate me]; 6 but shewing lovingkindness unto thousands [of generations],—of them who love me, and keep my commandments.

||He that sacrificeth to the gods|| shall be devoted to destruction,—except [he sacrificeth] to Yahweh alone.

And  shalt thou not tread down, neither shalt thou drive him away,—for <sojourners> ye became in the land of Egypt.

<Neither widow nor fatherless> shalt thou humble: 23 <If thou ||do humble|| him> ||when he in anywise crieth out unto me|| I will ||surely hear|| his outcry; 24 so shalt thou not kindle mine anger, and I will slay you with the sword,—and your [wives] shall become [widows], and your [sons] [fatherless].

<If [silver] thou wilt lend unto my people—unto the humbled one by thee> thou shalt not be to him’ like one that lendeth on interest,—thou shalt not lay upon him’ interest.

Thy fulness and thine outflow shall thou not delay,—<the firstborn of thy sons> shalt thou give to me. 30 ||Thus|| shalt thou do with thine ox, with thy sheep,—<seven days> shall it be with its dam, <on the eighth day> shalt thou give it to me.

Chapter 23.

1 Thou shalt not utter a false report. Do not lay thy hand with a lawless man, to become a witness helping forward violence and wrong. 2 Thou shalt not follow multitudes to commit wickedness, neither shalt thou answer in a quarrel, so as to turn away after multitudes, to mislead. 3 <Even a poor man> shalt thou not prefer in his quarrel.

<When thou meetest the ox of thine enemy, or his ass, going astray> thou shalt ||surely bring it back|| to him.

<When thou seest the ass of him that hateth thee, sinking down under his burden, and mightest have foreborne to unload him> thou shalt ||surely help him to unload||

Thou shalt not pervert the vindication of thy needy one, in his quarrel.

<From a matter of falsehood> thou shalt keep far away,—and <the innocent one and the righteous> do not thou slay, for I will not justify a lawless man. 8 And  shalt thou not take,—for ||the bribe|| blindeth the clear-sighted, and perverteth the words of the righteous. 9 And  shalt thou not drive away,—seeing that ||ye yourselves|| know the soul of a sojourner; for <sojourners> became ye in the land of Egypt.

And <six years> shalt thou sow thy land,—and shalt gather the yield thereof; 11 but <the seventh year> shalt thou let it rest and be still, so shall the needy of thy people eat, and <what they leave> shall the wild-beast of the field eat,—<in like manner> shalt thou deal with thy vineyard, with thine oliveyard.

<Six days> shalt thou do thy work, but <on the seventh day> shalt thou keep sabbath,—that thine ox may rest, and thine ass, and that the son of thy handmaid, and the sojourner, ||may be refreshed|.

20 Lo! ||I|| am sending a messenger< before thee, to guard thee in the way,—and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared. 21 Take thou heed of his presence, and hearken to his voice—do not vex him,—for he will not pardon your transgression, for ||my name|| is within him. 22 But <if thou |wilt| indeed hearken|> to his voice, and so wilt do all that I may speak> then will I be an enemy to thine enemies, and an adversary to thine adversaries; 23 for my messenger shall go before thee, and bring thee in—unto the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Canaanite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite,—so will I destroy them. 24 Thou shalt not bow thyself down to their gods, neither shalt thou be led to serve them, neither shalt thou do according to their works,—but thou shalt ||verily overthrow|| them, and ||completely break in pieces|| their pillars. 25 So shall ye serve Yahweh your God, and he will bless thy bread, and thy water,—and I will take away sickness out of thy midst. There shall be nothing casting its young or barren, in thy land,—<the number of thy days will I make full.> 26 <My terror> will I send before thee, and will confound all the people, amongst whom thou shalt come,—and will deliver up all thine enemies unto thee as they flee.

And I will send the hornet, before thee,—and it shall drive out the Hivite, the Canaanite, and the Hittite, from before thee. 29 I will not drive them out from before thee, in one year,—lest the land should become a desolation, so would the wild-beast of the field multiply over thee.

28 Little by little will I drive them out from before thee,—until thou become fruitful, then shalt thou take possession of the land. 31 So will I set thy bounds from the Red Sea, even unto the sea of the Philistines, and from the desert unto the River (Euphrates),<h>—for I will deliver into your hand the inhabitants of the land, so shalt thou drive them out from before thee. 32 Thou shalt not make, <with them or with their gods> ||a covenant||:

Come up unto Yahweh—[thou, and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel], so shall ye bow yourselves down, from afar. 2 And Moses alone shall draw near unto Yahweh, but [they] shall not draw near,—and [the people] shall not come up with him. 3 So Moses came, and recounted to the people all the words of Yahweh, and all the regulations, and all the people responded with one voice, and said, <All the words which Yahweh hath spoken> will we do. 4 Then wrote Moses all the words of Yahweh, and rose up early in the morning, and built an altar, under the mountain,—and twelve pillars, for the twelve tribes of Israel; 5 and he sent young men of the sons of Israel, and they caused to go up, ascending-sacrifices,—and slew peace-offerings to Yahweh, of oxen. 6 Then took Moses, half of the blood, and put it in basins, and <half of the blood> dashed he over the altar; 7 then took he the book of the covenant, and read in the ears of the people. And they said, <All that Yahweh hath spoken> will we do, and will hearken. 8 Then Moses took the blood, and dashed over the people,—and said, Lo! the blood of the covenant which Yahweh hath solemnised with you, over all these words. 9 Then went up Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel; 10 and they saw the God of Israel,—and <under his feet> like a pavement of sapphire, and like the very heavens, 11 <against the nobles of the sons of Israel> put he not forth his hand,—so then they had vision of God, and did eat and drink. 12 Then said Yahweh unto Moses—Come thou up unto me, in the mountain, and remain thou there,—for I must give thee tables of stone, and the law, and the commandment, which I have written, to direct them. 13 And Moses rose up, and Joshua his attendant, and Moses went up into the mountain of God; 14 but <unto the elders> he said—Tarry for us here, until we return unto you. And lo! ||Aaron and Hur|| are with you, ||he that hath a cause|| let him draw near unto them. 15 So then Moses went up into the mountain,—and the cloud covered the mountain. 16 And the glory of Yahweh rested upon Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days,—then called he unto Moses, on the seventh day, out of the midst of the cloud. 17 And ||the appearance of the glory of Yahweh|| was like a consuming fire, 18 on the top of the mountain,—in the sight of the sons of Israel. 18 And Moses entered into the midst of the cloud, and ascended into the mountain. And it came to pass that Moses was in the mountain forty days and forty nights.

§ 36. By Divine Command, Moses, attended by Joshua only, ascends Mount Sinai to receive the Two Tables and further Laws; and remains in the Mountain forty Days and forty Nights.

So shall they make for me a sanctuary,—and I will make my habitation in their midst:

<according to all that || will I shew thee, the pattern of the habitation, and the pattern of all the furnishings thereof> || even so shall ye make it.

And they shall make an ark of acacia wood,—|| two cubits and a half| the length thereof, and || a cubit and a half| the breadth thereof, and || a cubit and a half| the height thereof. 11 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, <within and without> shalt thou overlay it,—and thou shalt make thereon a rim of gold, round about. 12 And thou shalt cast for it four rings of gold, and shalt put [them] on the four feet thereof,—even two rings on the one’ side thereof, and two rings, on the other’ side thereof. 13 And thou shalt make staves, of acacia wood,—and shalt overlay them, with gold.

Chapter 26.

1 Also ||the habitation|| shalt thou make, with ten curtains,—of twined linen, and blue, and purple, and crimson, <with cherubim, the work of a skilful weaver> shalt thou make them. 2 ||The length of each’ curtain|| twenty-eight cubits, and ||the breadth|| four cubits, of each’ curtain,—||one measure|| for all the curtains. 3 ||The five curtains|| shall be joined, one to another, and ||the other five curtains|| joined, one to another. 4 And thou shalt make loops of blue, on the border of each curtain, at the edge of the set,—and ||thus|| shalt thou do in the border of the curtain, that is outmost in the second’ set. 5 <fifty loops> shalt thou make, in the one curtain, and <fifty loops> shalt thou make, in the edge of the curtain which is in the second set,—the loops ||being opposite|| one to another. 6 And thou shalt make, fifty clasps of gold,—so shalt thou join the curtains, one to another, with the clasps, and thus shall the habitation be [one].

7 And thou shalt make curtains of goat’s hair, for a tent, over the habitation, 8—<eleven curtains> shalt thou make them. 9 ||The length of each' curtain|| thirty cubits, and ||the breadth|| four cubits, of each’ curtain,—||one measure|| to the eleven curtains.

9 And thou shalt join the five curtains by themselves, and the six curtains by themselves,—and thou shalt fold back the sixth curtain, in the forefront of the tent. 10 And thou shalt make fifty loops on the border of the one’ curtain, that is outmost in the set,—and fifty loops on the border of the curtain, of the second set. 11 And thou shalt make fifty clasps of bronze,—and bring the clasps into the loops, so shalt thou join the tent, and it shall be [one]. 12 And <the overplus that remaineth in the curtains of the tent,—the half curtain that remaineth> shall hang over at the back of the habitation. 13 And ||the cubit on the one side, and the cubit on the other side, of that which remaineth, in the length of the curtains of the tent|| shall be hung over the sides of the habitation, on this side and on that side, to make a covering.

[[with cherubim]]; 32 and thou shalt hang it upon four pillars of acacia, overlaid with gold, with their hooks of gold,—upon four sockets of silver. 33 And thou shalt hang up the veil under the clasps,—and shalt bring in thither, within the veil, the ark of the testimony; and the veil shall make a division for you, between the holy [place] and the most holy. 34 And thou shalt place the propitiatory, upon the ark of the testimony,—in the most holy [place]. 35 And thou shalt set the table outside the veil, and the lampstand, over against the table, on the side of the habitation, southward,—and <the table> shalt thou place on the north side.
And thou shalt make a screen, for the opening of the tent, of blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine-twined linen,—the work of an embroiderer. 37 And thou shalt make, for the screen, five pillars of acacia, and shalt overlay them with gold, and their hooks\textsuperscript{d} [shall be] of gold,—and thou shalt cast for them, five sockets of bronze.

Chapter 27.

And thou shalt make the altar of acacia wood,— of five cubits length, and five cubits breadth, <four square> shall the altar be, and three cubits the height thereof. 2 And thou shalt make its horns upon its four corners, <of the same> shall be its horns,—and thou shalt overlay it with copper.\textsuperscript{e}
And thou shalt make its pans for removing its ashes, and its shovels, and its sprinkling bowls, and its flesh-hooks,\textsuperscript{f} and its fire-pans,—<all its vessels> shalt thou make of bronze. 4 And thou shalt make to it a grating, a network of bronze,—and thou shalt make, upon the network, four rings of bronze, upon the four corners thereof.
And thou shalt place it under the margin of the altar, beneath,—so shall the network reach unto the midst\textsuperscript{g} of the altar. 6 And thou shalt make staves, for the altar, staves of acacia wood,—and shalt overlay them with copper.\textsuperscript{h}
And the staves shall be brought into the rings,—so shall the staves be on the two sides of the altar, in lifting it: 8 <Hollow, with boards> shalt thou make it,—<as it was showed thee in the mount> [so] shall they make it.
And thou shalt make the court of the habitation,—<on the south side southward> hangings for the court, of fine-twined linen, a hundred cubits in length, to the one side;

EXODUS – Chapter 28.

Chapter 28.

||Thou thyself|| therefore, bring near unto thee—Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him, out of the midst of the sons of Israel, that they may minister as priests unto me,—|Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, sons of Aaron|.
2 And thou shalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother,—for glory and for beauty.
3 ||These|| therefore, shall speak unto all the wise-hearted, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom,—and they shall make Aaron’s garments, to hallow him for ministering as priest unto me.
4 ||These|| therefore, are the garments which they shall make—a breastpiece, and an ephod, and a robe, and a tunic of checker work, a turban and a girdle,—so shall they make holy garments, for Aaron thy brother, and for his sons, for ministering as priests unto me.
5 ||They themselves|| therefore, shall take the gold, and the blue, and the purple,—and the crimson, and the fine linen.
6 And they shall make the ephod,—of gold, blue and purple, crimson and fine-twined linen, the work of a skilful weaver.
7 ||Two joining shoulderpieces|| shall there be to it, upon the two extremities thereof, that it may be joined together.
8 And [the curious band for fastening it, that is upon it], <like the work thereof> of the same> shall it be,—of gold, blue and purple and crimson, and fine-twined linen.
9 And thou shalt take two onyx stones,—and engrave upon them, the names of the sons of Israel:
10 ||six of their names|| on the one< stone,—and ||the names of the six that remain|| on the second< stone, according to their births:
11 <with the work of a stone engraver, like sealing engravings> shalt thou engrave the two stones, after the names of the sons of Israel,—<to be encircled with settings of gold> shalt thou make them.
12 And thou shalt put the two and the pillars thereof, twenty, with their sockets twenty, of bronze,—<and the hooks> of the pillars and their cross-rods, of silver.

And ||so|| for the north side, in length, hangings, a hundred cubits,—<and the pillars thereof twenty, and their sockets twenty, of bronze, and the hooks of the pillars and their cross-rods of silver.
12 And <the breadth of the court, on the west side> hangings, fifty cubits,—<their pillars ten, and their sockets ten.
13 And <the breadth of the court, on the east side eastward> fifty cubits;
14 and fifteen cubits, the hangings for the side-piece,—<their pillars three, and their sockets three;
15 and <for the second side-piece> fifteen hangings,—<their pillars three, and their sockets three.
16 And <for the gate of the court> a screen of twenty cubits, of blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine-twined linen, the work of an embroiderer,—<their pillars four, and their sockets four.
17 ||All the pillars of the court round about|| to be joined with cross-rods of silver, and their hooks of silver,—<and their sockets of bronze.
18 |The length of the court|| a hundred cubits, and [the breadth] fifty throughout, and [the height] five cubits, of fine-twined linen,—<and their sockets of bronze.
19 <All the utensils of the habitation, throughout all the service thereof,—<and all the pins thereof, and all the pins of the court> of bronze.

stones, upon the shoulderpieces of the ephod, as stones of memorial, for the sons of Israel,—so shall Aaron bear their names before Yahweh, upon his two shoulders, for a memorial. 13 And thou shalt make ouches of gold; and two chains of pure gold, like cord shalt thou make them, of wreathen work,—and thou shalt put the wreatheh chains on the ouches.

And thou shalt make a breastpiece for giving sentence, the work of a skilful weaver, of gold, blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine-twined linen shalt thou make it. 16 Four-square shall it be, double,—a span the length thereof, and a span the breadth thereof. 17 And thou shalt set therein, a setting of stones, four rows of stones,—one row—a sardius, a topaz, and an emerald, the first row; and the second row—a carbuncle, a sapphire, and a diamond, and the third row—an opal, an agate, and an amethyst; and the fourth row—a Tarshish stone, a sardonyx, and a jasper,—enclosed with gold shall they be when they are set. 21 And the stones shall be, after the names of the sons of Israel,—twelve, after their names,—as the engravings of a seal-ring every one, after his name shall they be, for the twelve tribes. 22 And thou shalt make, upon the breastpiece, chains like cords, of wreatheh work,—of pure gold.

And thou shalt make, upon the breastpiece, two rings of gold,—and thou shalt place the two rings, upon the ends of the breastpiece. 24 And thou shalt hang the two wreatheh chains of gold upon the ends of the breastpiece; and the other two ends of the wreatheh chains shalt thou fasten upon the two ouches,—so shall thou hang them upon the shoulderpieces of the ephod, in the forefront thereof. 26 And thou shalt make two rings of gold, and put them on the two ends of the breastpiece—upon the border thereof, which is on the side of the ephod, inwards. 27 And thou shalt make two rings of gold, and place them upon the two shoulderpieces of the ephod, beneath, on the front of the face thereof, over against its joining,—above the curious band of the ephod: 28 that they may bind the breastpiece, by the rings thereof, unto the rings of the ephod, with a cord of blue, so that it may remain upon the curious band of the ephod,—and the breastpiece not be removed from of the ephod. 29 So shall Aaron bear the names of the sons of Israel, in the breastpiece for giving sentence, upon his heart, when he goeth into the holy place,—for a memorial before Yahweh, continually.

Thus shalt thou place, in the breastpiece for giving sentence, the lights and the perfections, so shall they be upon the heart of Aaron, when he goeth in before Yahweh,—so shall Aaron bear the sentence of the sons of Israel, upon his heart, before Yahweh, continually.

And thou shalt make the robe of the ephod, wholly of blue; and the opening for his head shall be in the midst thereof,—a border shall there be to the opening thereof round about, the work of a weaver, a opening of a coat of mail shall there be to it, it must not be rent. 33 And thou shalt make upon the skirts thereof, pomegranates of blue and purple and crimson, upon the skirts thereof, round about,—and bells of gold in the midst of them, round about: a bell of gold, and a pomegranate, a bell of gold, and a pomegranate,—upon the skirts of the robe, round about. 35 And it shall be upon Aaron, for ministering,—so shall be heard the sound of him—when he goeth into the holy place, before Yahweh, and cometh out, and dieth not.

And thou shalt make a burnished plate, of pure gold,—and shalt engrave thereupon, like the engravings of a seal-ring, Holiness to Yahweh. 37 And thou shalt put it upon a cord of blue, so shall it be upon the turban,—upon the forefront of the turban shall it be. 38 So shall it be upon the forehead of Aaron, and Aaron shall bear the iniquity of the hallowed things, which the sons of Israel shall hallow, for all their hallowed gifts,—and it shall be upon his forehead continually, that there may be acceptance for them, before Yahweh.

39 And thou shalt weave, in checker work, the tunic of fine linen, and shalt make a turban of fine linen,—and a girdle shalt thou make, the work of an embroiderer.

40 And for the sons of Aaron shalt thou make tunics, and shalt make for them girdles,—and caps shalt thou make for them, for glory and for beauty.

41 And thou shalt clothe therewith, Aaron thy brother, and his sons, with him,—and shalt anoint them, and install them, and hallow them, so shall they minister as priests unto me.

42 And thou shalt make for them, breeches of linen, to cover their unseemliness <from the loins even unto the thighs> shall they be;

43 so shall they be upon Aaron and upon his sons, when they go into the tent of meeting, or when they approach unto the altar, to minister in the holy place, lest they bear iniquity, and die,—a statute age-abiding, to him and to his seed after him.

Chapter 29.

1 And is the thing which thou shalt do to them, to hallow them, that they may minister as priests unto me,—Take one young bullock, and two rams, without defect;

2 and bread unleavened, and cakes unleavened with oil poured over, and wafers unleavened, anointed with oil,—of fine wheaten meal shalt thou make them;

3 and thou shalt place them in one basket, and bring them near in the basket,—and the bullock, and the two rams.

4 And Aaron and his sons shalt thou bring near, unto the opening of the tent of meeting,—and shalt bathe them in water.

5 And thou shalt take the garments, and clothe Aaron—with the tunic, and with the robe of the ephod, and with the ephod, and with the breastpiece,—and shalt gird him, with the curious band of the ephod;

6 and shalt put the turban upon his head,—and place the holy crown upon the turban.

7 Then shalt thou take the anointing’ oil, and pour upon his head,—so shalt thou anoint him.

8 His sons also shalt thou bring near,—and clothe them with tunics;

9 and thou shalt gird them with girdles, Aaron and his sons, and twist round for them caps, so shall they have priesthood, by a statute age-abiding,—so shalt thou install Aaron, and his sons.

10 And thou shalt bring near the bullock, before the tent of meeting,—and Aaron and his sons shall lean their hands upon the head of the bullock;

11 then shalt thou slay the bullock before Yahweh,—at the opening of the tent of meeting;

12 and thou shalt take of the blood that is upon the altar, with thy finger,—and all the remaining blood shalt thou pour out at the foundation of the altar;

13 and thou shalt take all the fat that covereth the inner part, and the caul upon the liver, and the two kidneys, with the fat which is upon them, and burn as incense on the altar;

14 but the flesh of the bullock, and its skin, and its dung shalt thou burn up with fire, outside the camp,—a sin-bearer! it is’.

15 One also shalt thou take,—and Aaron and his sons shall lean their hands upon the head of the ram;

16 then shalt thou slay the ram,—and take its blood, and dash upon the altar, round about;

17 but the ram itself shalt thou cut up into its pieces,—and bathe its inner part, and its legs, and lay upon its pieces, and upon its head;

18 and shalt burn the whole ram as incense on the altar, an ascending-sacrifice it is’ to Yahweh,—a satisfying odour, an altar-flame to Yahweh it is’.

19 Then shalt thou take the second ram,—and Aaron and his sons shall lean their hands upon the head of the ram;

20 then shalt thou slay the ram, and take of its blood, and place upon the tip of the ear of Aaron, and upon the tip of the ear of his sons—the right ear, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot,—and shalt dash the blood upon the altar, round about.

21 Then shall thou take of the blood that is upon the altar, and of the anointing oil, and sprinkle upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his sons, and upon the garments of his sons, with him,—so shall he be hallowed—[the, and his garments, and his sons, and the garments of his sons, with him]. 22 Then shalt thou take from the ram—the fat and the fat-tail, and the fat that covereth the inner part, and the caul of the liver and the two kidneys, with the fat that is upon them, and the right shoulder,—for a ram of installation it is,—and one round-cake of bread, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer,—out of the basket of unleavened cakes, which is before Yahweh; and shalt lay the whole, upon the hands of Aaron, and upon the hands of his sons,—then shalt thou wave them to and fro, as a wave-offering, before Yahweh; and shalt take them from their hand, and burn them as incense on the altar, upon the ascending-sacrifice, as a satisfying odour, before Yahweh, an altar-flame it is, to Yahweh. 26 Then shalt thou take the breast from the ram of installation, which is for Aaron, and shalt wave it as a wave-offering, before Yahweh,—so shall it be thy share. 27 And thou shalt hallow the breast of the wave-offering, and the shoulder of the heave-offering, which is waved to and fro, and which is heaved up,—from the ram of installation, from that which is for Aaron, and from that which is for his sons; so shall it belong to Aaron and to his sons, for an age-abiding statute, from the sons of Israel, for a heave-offering it is,—and a heave-offering shall it remain, from the sons of Israel, out of their peace-offerings, their heave-offering to Yahweh.

29 And the holy garments which belong to Aaron shall belong to his sons, after him,—to be anointed therein, and to be installed therein. 30 <Seven days> shall they be put on by him from among his sons who is priest in his stead,—by him who goeth into the tent of meeting, to minister in the holy place. 31 And a ram of installation shalt thou take, and shalt boil its flesh, in a holy place; 32 and Aaron and his sons shall eat the flesh of the ram, and the bread that is in the basket,—at the opening of the tent of meeting: thus shall they eat those things wherewith a propitiatory-covering hath been made, to install them, to hallow them,—but a stranger shall not eat, for holy they are. And if there be left over of the flesh of installation, or of the bread, until the morning then shalt thou burn up what is left over, in the fire, it shall not be eaten, for holy it is.

So then thou shalt do for Aaron and for his sons in this manner, according to all which I have commanded thee, <seven days> shalt thou install them. And a sin-bearing bullock shalt thou offer daily, for them who are to be covered by propitiation, and shalt make a sin-cleansing for the altar, when thou puttest a propitiatory-covering thereon,—and shalt anoint it, to hallow it. <Seven days> shalt thou put a propitiatory-covering over the altar, and so shalt hallow it,—thus shall the altar become most holy; whosoever toucheth the altar must be holy.

And this is what thou shalt offer upon the altar,—two lambs of a year old, day by day continually: <The one> lamb shalt thou offer in the morning,—and <the second> lamb shalt thou offer between the evenings; and a tenth part of fine meal mingled with a fourth part of the hin of beaten oil, and <as a drink-offering> a fourth part of the hin of wine,—with the one lamb. And <the second> lamb shalt thou offer between the evenings,—according to the meal-offering of the morning, and according to the drink-offering thereof shalt thou offer with it, for a satisfying odour, an altar-flame, to Yahweh: a continual ascending-sacrifice, to your generations, at the opening of the tent of meeting, before Yahweh,—where I will meet with you, to speak unto thee, there. So will I meet there, with the sons of Israel, and it shall be hallowed by my glory. Thus will I hallow the tent of meeting, and the altar,—and Aaron and his sons will I hallow, to minister

Chapter 30.

1 And thou shalt make an altar, for burning incense,—<of acacia wood> shalt thou make it: 2 a cubit, the length thereof, and a cubit, the breadth thereof <four square> shall it be,—and two cubits, the height thereof, <of the same> [shall be] the horns thereof. 3 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, the top thereof, and the sides thereof round about, and the horns thereof,—and thou shalt make to it a border of gold, round about. 4 And <two rings of gold> shalt thou make to it, <under the border thereof> upon the two corners thereof> shalt thou make [them] on the two sides thereof,—so shall they become receptaclesb for the staves, to lift it therewith. 5 And thou shalt make the staves, of acacia wood,—and overlay them with gold. 6 And thou shalt place it before the veil, which is by the ark of the testimony,—before the propitiatory which is upon the testimony, where I will meet thee. 7 And Aaron shall burn thereon fragrant incense,—<morning by morning, when he trimmeth the lamps> shall he burn it; 8 and <when Aaron lighteth the lamps, between the evenings>c shall he burn it,—a continual incense before Yahweh, to your generations. 9 Ye shall not cause to ascend thereupon strange incense, nor an ascending-sacrifice, nor a meal-offering,—and  shall ye not pour out thereupon. 10 But Aaron shall put a propitiatory-covering upon the horns thereof, once in the year: <of the blood of the sin-bearer for propitiatory-coverings, once in the year> shall he put a propitiatory-covering thereupon, to your generations, <most holy> it is't to Yahweh.

11 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying—

<When thou takest the sum of the sons of Israel, by their numberings> then shall they give, every man a propitiatory-coveringd for his soule to Yahweh, when they are numbered,—that there may be among them no plague, when they are numbered.

||This|| shall they give—every one that passeth over to them that have been numbered—a half-shekel, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—the shekel is |twenty gerahs|,—|the half-shekel| shall be a heave-offering to Yahweh.

||All who pass over to the numbered, from twenty years old and upwards|| shall give the heave-offering of Yahweh. 15 ||The rich|| shall not give more, and ||the poor|| shall not give less, than the half-shekel,—when they give the heave-offering of Yahweh, to put a propitiatory-covering over your souls.16 So then shalt thou take the silver for the propitiatory-coverings, from the sons of Israel, and shalt expend it upon the service of the tent of meeting,—thus shall it be for the sons of Israel, as a memorial before Yahweh, to put a propitiatory-covering over your souls.

17 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying—

And thou shalt make a laver of bronze, and its stand of bronze, for bathing,—and thou shalt place it between the tent of meeting and the altar, and shalt put therein, water.

So shall Aaron and his sons bathe thereat,—their hands, and their feet. 20 <When they enter the tent of meeting> they shall bathe with water, so shall they not die,—or when they approach unto the altar to minister, to burn as incense an altar-flame to Yahweh:

so then they shall bathe their hands and their feet, and shall not die,—and it shall be to them an age-abiding statute, ||to him and to his seed, to their generations||.

22 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying—

||Thou|| therefore, take to thee—principal spices,—||self-flowing myrrh|| five hundred, and ||fragrant cinnamon|| half as much, two hundred and fifty, and ||fragrant cane|| two hundred and fifty; 24 and ||cassia|| five hundred, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—and ||oil olive|| and the table, and all its utensils, and the lampstand, and its utensils,—and the incense altar, 28 and the altar for the ascending-sacrifice, and all its utensils,—and the laver, and its stand. 29 So shalt thou hallow them, and they shall be most holy,—||[whosoever toucheth them]| shall be holy. 30 <Aaron also, and his sons> shalt thou anoint,—so shalt thou hallow them, to minister as priests unto me. 31 And <unto the sons of Israel> shalt thou speak, saying,

Take to thee aromatic spices, stacte, and onycha, and galbanum,—aromatic spices, and pure frankincense,—<weight for weight> shall it be. 35 And thou shalt make of it an incense, a perfume, the work of a perfumer,—salted, pure, holy. 36 And thou shalt beat some of it to powder, and place thereof before the testimony, in the tent of meeting, where I am to meet with thee,—<most holy> shall it be to you.

Chapter 31.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses saying:

2 See, I have called by name,—Bezaleel, son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah; and have filled him with the Spirit of God,—in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanship;

4 to devise 4 skilful designs,—to work in gold, and in silver, and in bronze; 5 and in the cutting of stones for setting, and in the carving of wood,—to work in all manner of workmanship. 6 ||I myself therefore, lo! I have given with him—Oholiab, son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, and <in the heart of every one that is wise-hearted> have I put wisdom,—so shall they make all that I have commanded thee:—7 the tent of meeting, and the ark of the testimony; and the propitiatory which is thereupon,—and all the utensils 6 of the tent; 8 and the table, and its utensils, and the pure lampstand, and all its utensils,—and the incense altar; 9 and the altar for the ascending-sacrifice, and all its utensils,—and the laver, and its stand; 10 and the cloths of variegated stuff; 11 and the holy garments, for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, for ministering as priests; 11 and the anointing oil and the fragrant incense, for the holy place,—<according to all which I have commanded thee> shall they do.

13 ||Thou thyself|| therefore, speak unto the sons of Israel, saying—

||Surely|| <my sabbaths> shall ye keep,—for ||a sign|| it is betwixt me and you, to your generations, that ye may know that ||I Yahweh|| do hallow you. Chapter 32.

1 And <when the people saw that Moses delayed to come down out of the mount>a the people gathered themselves together unto Aaron, and said unto him—

Up, make for us gods, b who shall go before us, for <as for this> Moses—the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt> we know not what hath befallen him.

2 And Aaron said unto them,

Break off the rings of gold, which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters,—and bring them unto me.

3 And all the people of themselves brake off the rings of gold which were in their ears,—and brought them unto Aaron. 4 And he received [the gold] at their hand, and fashioned it with a graving tool, and made it a molten calf; f—and they said— ||[These] are thy gods, O Israel, who brought thee up, out of the land of Egypt.

5 And, when Aaron saw it, he built an altar before it. And Aaron made proclamation, and said, <A festival to Yahweh> to-morrow!

6 So they rose up early, on the morrow, and offered ascending-sacrifices, and brought near peace-offerings,—and the people sat down, to eat and to drink, and then rose up—to make sport! g 7 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses—

Go, get thee down, for thy people whom thou hast brought up out of the land of Egypt have corrupted themselves. 8 They have turned aside quickly out of the way which I commanded them, they have made for themselves—a molten calf,—and have bowed themselves down thereto, and have sacrificed thereto, and have said,

|These| are thy gods, O Israel, who have brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

9 So then Yahweh said unto Moses,—

I have looked on this people, and lo!  it is’.

10 ||Now|| therefore, let me alone, b that mine anger may kindle upon them, and that I may consume them, and may make of thee a great nation.

11 And Moses besought the face of Yahweh his God,—and said—

Wherefore, O Yahweh, should thine anger kindle upon thy people, whom thou hast brought forth out of the land of Egypt, with great might, and with a firm hand?

12 Wherefore should the Egyptians speak, saying—

<For mischief> hath he taken them forth, to slay them among the mountains, and to make an end of them from off the face of the ground?

Turn thou from the kindling of thine anger, and be grieved over the calamity to thy people. 13 Have remembrance of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Israel, thy servants, to whom thou didst swear by thyself, and didst speak unto them [saying],

I will multiply your seed, as the stars of the heavens,—and <all this land of which I

So then Yahweh was grieved,—over the calamity,—which he had spoken of inflicting on his people.

And Moses turned, and went down out of the mount, with the two tables of testimonya in his hand,—tables written upon, on both sides of them, <on this and on that> were they written.

Now as for the work of God they were,—and as for the writing the writing of God it was', graven upon the tables.

And Joshua heard the noise of the people, as they shouted,—so he said unto Moses—The noise of war, in the camp!

But he said—

Not the noise of the cry of heroism, nor yet the noise of the cry of defeat,—the noise of alternate song> do hear.

And it came to pass <when he drew near unto the camp, and saw the calf, and the dancings> that the anger of Moses kindled, and he cast out of his hands the tables, and brake them in pieces, at the foot of the mountain.

Then took he the calf which they had made, and burned it in the fire, and ground it till it became powder,—and strewed it on the face of the waters, and made the sons of Israel drink.c 21 And Moses said unto Aaron,

What had this people done to thee,—that thou shouldst have brought upon them a great sin?

And Aaron said

Let not the anger of my lord kindle,—thou knowest the people, that ready for mischief they are'. So they said to me—Make for us gods, who shall go before us,—for the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt> we know not what hath befallen him.

And I said to them—

Whosoever hath gold let them break it off, So they gave it to me,—and I cast it into the fire, and there came out—this calf.

And Moses saw the people, that <unbrided> they were',—for Aaron had given them the rein, for a whispering, among their enemies.d

So Moses took his stand in the gate of the camp, and said—

Who is for Yahweh?…To me! Then gathered unto him all the sons of Levi.

And he said to them—

Thus saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Put ye every man his sword upon his thigh,— pass through and return from gate to gate, in the camp, and slay ye every man his brother, and every man his friend, and every man his neighbour.

So the sons of Levi did', according to the word of Moses,—and there fell, from among the people, on that day, about three thousand men.

And Moses said—

Install yourselves, to-day, unto Yahweh, yea every man for his son, and for his brother,—so will he bestow upon you, to-day, a blessing.

And it came to pass, on the morrow, that Moses said unto the people,

Ye have sinned a great sin,— therefore, I must go up unto Yahweh,e Peradventure I may make a propitiatory-covering for your sin.

So Moses returned unto Yahweh, and said—

Oh now! this people hath sinned a great sin, and they have made for themselves— gods of gold.

||Ye|| have sinned a great sin,—

||Now|| therefore, I must go up unto Yahweh,e I may make a propitiatory-covering for your sin.

So Moses returned unto Yahweh, and said—

Oh now! this people hath sinned a great sin, and they have made for themselves— gods of gold.

||Now|| therefore, if thou wilt forgive their sin>…<if not> blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book, which thou hast written.f

And Yahweh said unto Moses,—

<Hi> must I blot out of my book.

||Now|| therefore, go lead the people to the place of which I spake to thee, lo!b ||my messenger|| shall go before thee,— But <in the day when I do visit> then wilt I visit upon them, their sin.

And Yahweh plagued the people,—for what they had done with the calf, which Aaron made.

Chapter 33.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses—
   Get thee away, go up from hence, ||[thou, and the people whom thou hast brought up out of the land of Egypt||,—into the land of which I sware to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying,
   <To thy seed> will I give it;

2 And I will send before thee a messenger,—and will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite,a and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, theb Hivite, and the Jebusite; c into a land flowing with milk and honey,—for I will not go up in thy midst,d in that  thou art, lest I consume thee, in the way.

4 And <when the people heard these evil tidings> they afflicted themselves,—and they put not, any man, his ornaments, upon him. 5 Then said Yahweh unto Moses—
   Say unto the sons of Israel,
   ||[Ye]| are a stiff-necked people, <in one moment—if I should go up in thy midst> should I make an end of thee—
   ||[Now]| therefore, lay down thine ornaments from off thee, that I may see what I must do with thee.

6 So then the sons of Israel stripped themselves of their ornaments, [and moved on] from Mount Horeb.

7 aAnd ||[Moses]| proceeded to take a tent, and pitch it by itself outside the camp, afar off from the camp, and he called it, The Tent of Meeting,—and so it came to pass that ||[whosoever was seeking Yahweh]| went out unto the tent of meeting, which was on the outside of the camp. 8 And it came about, that <when Moses went out unto the tent> all the people used to rise up, and station themselves, every man at the opening of his tent,—and they watched Moses, until he entered the tent. c And it came to pass that <when Moses entered the tent> the pillar of cloud came down, and stood at the opening of the tent,—and spake with Moses. d And <when all the people beheld the pillar of cloud, standing at the opening of the tent> then all the people rose up, and bowed themselves down, every man at the entrance of his tent. 11 Thus Yahweh used to speak unto Moses, face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend,— and <when he returned unto the camp> ||[his attendant, Joshua, e son of Nun, a young man|| moved not from the midst of the tent.

12 Then said Moses, unto Yahweh,
   See! ||[thou]| art saying unto me—
   Take up this people,
   and yet ||[thou]| hast not let me know, whom thou wilt send with me,—though ||[thou thyself]| didst say—
   I acknowledge thee by name, Yea, moreover, thou hast found favour, in mine eyes.

13 ||[Now]| therefore, <if, I pray thee, I have' found favour in thine eyes> let me know, I beseech thee, thy way, f that I may acknowledge thee, to the intent I may find favour in thine eyes,—see thou, therefore, that this nation is ||[thine own people]|.

14 So then he said,—
   ||[Mine own presence]| g shall go on, thus will I give thee rest. h

15 And he said unto him,—
   <If thy presence is not' going on> do not take us up from hence. 16 Whereby, indeed, shall it be known, then, that I have found favour in thine eyes, ||[I, and thy people]|? Shall it not be, by thy going on with us? So shall we be' more distinguished, ||[I, and thy people]|, than any people that are on the face of the ground.

17 Then said Yahweh, unto Moses:
   <Even this thing, which thou hast spoken> will I do,—
   For thou hast found favour in mine eyes,
   And I have acknowledged thee by name.

18 And he said,—
   Show me, I pray thee, thy glory.

   And will shew favour, unto whom I may show favour,
   And will have compassion on whom I may have compassion.
20 But be said—
   Thou canst not see my face,—
   For no son of earth can see me, and live.
21 And Yahweh said,

Chapter 34.
1 And Yahweh said unto Moses—
   Hew thee two tables of stone, like the first,—and I will write upon the tables, the words which were upon the first tables, which thou didst break in pieces; ™ and be thou ready by the morning,—and thou shalt come up, in the morning, into Mount Sinai; then shalt thou station thyself for me there, upon the top of the mount; ™ and ||no man|| may come up with thee, and let no man so much as be seen, in all the mount,—and let not even ||the flocks or the herds|| feed, in front of that mountain.
4 So he hewed two tables of stone, like the first, and Moses rose up early in the morning, and went up into Mount Sinai, as Yahweh had commanded him,—and took in his hand two tables of stone. ™
   And Yahweh descended in the cloud, and took his station with him, there,—and proclaimed himself by the name Yahweh. ™
   So Yahweh passed before him, and proclaimed,— Yahweh, Yahweh,

   Keeping lovingkindness to a thousand generations,
   Forgiving iniquity, and transgression, and sin,
   Though he leave not ||utterly unpunished||.
   Visiting the iniquity of fathers
   Upon sons,
   And upon sons’ sons,
   Unto a third and unto a fourth generation.™
8 Then Moses made haste,—and bent his head towards the earth, and bowed himself down;
9 and said—
   <If, I pray thee, I have found favour in thine eyes, O My Lord> I pray thee let My Lord go on in our midst,—although ||a stiff-necked people|| it is™, so wilt thou pardon our iniquity ™ and our sin, ™ and take us as thine own.
10 And he said—
   Lo! ||I|| am about to solemnise a covenant,—<in presence of all thy people> will I do marvellous things, which have not been created in any part of the earth, nor among any of the nations,—so shall all the people in whose midst ||thou|| art, see the work of Yahweh, for  it is™, which ||I|| am doing with thee.

d This most gracious proclamation, by God, of His name and character is printed in the type set apart in this Bible [O.T.] for “refrains”; so as at once to call attention to the fact (to be verified as we go on) that this passage is well worthy to be described as The Refrain of the Bible. The devout reader cannot fail to be delighted with the typographical reminders of this fundamental revelation which are scattered throughout the Old Testament. The paragraph, in full, may occur nowhere else, but snatches of it abound.—On its closing words, Kalisch comments in the following weighty manner:—“God does not clear off the sin at once, but settles [p-k-d] it gradually within three or four generations; lest the individual, crushed by the weight of the punishments, perish. And this is indeed an act of divine mercy!”—But the sons to the third or fourth generation can the more bear a part of the guilt, as the blessing of [a] thousand, that is, innumerable generations is promised to them, so that this circumstance also is a testimony of the love of God.” Cp. on Exo. xx. 6. Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Jebusite.

12 Take heed to thyself,
Lest thou solemnise a covenant with the inhabitant of the land, whereupon [thou] art about to enter,— Lest he become a snare in thy midst;
For <their altars> shall ye smash,
And <their pillars> shall ye shiver,—
And <their sacred-stems> shall ye fell.
For thou shalt not bow thyself down to another God,—
For <as for Yahweh>
<Jealous> is his name,
<A jealous God> he is':

15 Lest thou solemnise a covenant, with the inhabitant of the land,—
And then <as surely as they go unchastely after their gods, and sacrifice to their gods>
So surely will he invite thee,
And thou wilt eat of his sacrifice;
And thou wilt take of his daughters, for thy sons,—
And his daughters will go unchastely after their gods,
And will cause thy sons to go unchastely after their gods.

16 <Molten gods> shalt thou not make to thee.

17 <The festival of unleavened cakes> shalt thou keep, <seven days> shalt thou eat unleavened cakes, which" I commanded thee, at the set time, in the month Abib,—for <in the month Abib> camest thou forth out of Egypt.

18 ||Every one that is the first to be born|| is mine,— and every one of thy cattle that is born a male, firstling of oxen or sheep. 20 But <thefirstling of an ass> thou mayst redeem with a lamb, and <if> thou wilt not redeem it then shalt thou break its neck. <Every firstborn of thy sons> shalt thou redeem, and he must not see my face [with empty hand].

<Six days> shalt thou labour, but <on the seventh day> shalt thou rest,—<in plowing time and in harvest> shalt thou rest.

22 And <the festival of weeks> shalt thou make to thee, the firstfruits of the wheat harvest,—and the festival of ingathering, at the closing in of the year: 23 <three times in the year> shall every one of thy males see the face of the Lord, Yahweh, the God of Israel. 24 For I will root out nations from before thee, and will enlarge thy borders,—and no man shall covet thy land, when thou goes up to see the face of Yahweh thy God, three times in the year.

Thou shalt not slay, along with anything leavened, the blood of my sacrifice,—neither shall remain to the morning, the sacrifice of the festival of the passover.

26 <The beginning of the firstfruits of thy ground> shalt thou bring into the house of Yahweh, thy God. Thou shalt not boil a kid, in the milk of its dam. 8

27 And Yahweh said unto Moses,
Write for thyself these words,—for |according to the tenor of these words| have I solemnized with thee, a covenant, and with Israel.

So then he was there, with Yahweh, forty days and forty nights, <bread> did he not eat, and <water> did he not drink,—and He wrote upon the tables, the words of the covenant, the ten words.

And it came to pass <when Moses came down out of Mount Sinai, with the two tables of testimony in the hand of Moses, when he came down out of the mount> that Moses knew not that the skin of his face shone, through his having spoken with him. 30 And Aaron and all the sons of Israel saw Moses, and lo! the skin of his face shone,—and they stood in awe of drawing nigh

Chapter 35.

1 And Moses called together all the assembly of the sons of Israel, and said unto them,—
   ||These|| are the things which Yahweh hath commanded, to do them.

2 <Six days> shall work be done, but <on the seventh day> shall there be to you a holy sabbath-keeping, unto Yahweh,—||whosoever doeth work therein|| shall be put to death. 3 Ye shall not kindle a fire, in any of your dwellings,—on the sabbath day. c

4 And Moses spake unto all the assembly of the sons of Israel, saying,—
   ||This|| is the thing which Yahweh hath commanded, d saying,—

5 Take ye from among you, a heave-offering to Yahweh, ||every one whose heart is willing|| shall bring it in, even the heave-offering of Yahweh,—gold and silver, and bronze.

6 and blue and purple, and crimson, and fine linen and goat’s-hair; 7 and rams’ skins dyed red, and badgers’ skins, and acacia wood; 8 and oil for giving light,—and aromatic spices for the anointing’ oil, and for fragrant’ incense; 9 and onyx stones, and setting stones,—for the ephod, and for the breastpiece.

10 And ||all the wise-hearted among you|| shall come in, that they may make, all that which Yahweh hath commanded:—11 the habitation, its tent, and its covering,—its clasps, its boards, and its bars, its pillars, and its sockets; 12 the ark with its staves, the propitiatory,—and the screening’ veil; 13 the table with its staves, and all its utensils, and the Presence’ bread; 14 the lampstand for giving light, with its utensils, and its lamps,—and the oil for giving light; 15 and the incense’ altar, with its staves, and the anointing’ oil, and the fragrant’ incense,—and the entrance’ screen, for the entrance of the habitation; 16 the altar for the ascending-sacrifice, and the bronze’ grating which pertaineth thereto, its staves, and all its utensils,—the laver, and its stand; 17 the hangings for the court, its pillars, and its sockets,—and the screen for the gate of the court; 18 the pins of the habitation, and the pins of the court, and their cords; 19 the cloths of variegated stuff, for ministering in the sanctuary,—the sacred’ garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, for ministering as priests.

20 So all the assembly of the sons of Israel went forth from the presence of Moses; 21 and they brought in—every man whose heart lifted him up,—and ||every one whose spirit made him willing|| brought in the heave-offering of Yahweh, for the construction of the tent of meeting, and for all its service, and for the holy’ garments.

22 Yea they brought in—the men with the women,— ||all who were willing-hearted|| brought in—bracelets and nose-ornaments, and rings, and buckles, all manner of jewels of gold, even every man who waved a wave-offering of gold unto Yahweh. 23 And ||every man with whom was found—blue and purple and crimson, and fine linen and goat’s-hair,—and rams’ skins dyed red, and badgers’ skins|| brought them in. 24 ||Every one who would heave a heave-offering of silver, or...
bronze] brought in the heave-offering of Yahweh,—and [every one with whom was found acacia wood, for any construction for the service] brought it in. 25 And [all the women who were wise-hearted] [with their hands] did spin,—and brought in that which they had spun—the blue, and the purple, the e crimson, and the fine linen.

26 [And all the women whose hearts lifted them up with wisdom] span the goat’s-hair. 27 And [the princess] brought in the onyx stones and the setting stones,—for the ephod, and for the breastpiece; 28 and the aromatic spices, and the oil,—for giving light, and for anointing oil, and for the fragrant incense. 29 [In the case of] [every male and woman, whose heart made them willing, to bring in for any construction which Yahweh had commanded them to make, by the hand of Moses] [in their case] did the sons of Israel bring in a free-will offering unto Yahweh. 30 And Moses said unto the sons of Israel—

See! Yahweh hath called by name,—Bezaleel, son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah; 31 and filled him with the spirit of God,—in wisdom, in understanding and in knowledge, and in all manner of execution; to devise skilful designs,—to work in gold and in silver, and in bronze; 32 and in the cutting of stones for setting, and in the cutting of wood,—to work in any manner of skilful workmanship. 33 <To teach also> hath he put in his heart, [the heart of] him, and of Oholiab—son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan]; 34 hath filled them with wisdom of heart, to work all manner of workmanship—of cutter, and devisor, and embroiderer, in blue and in purple, in crimson and in fine linen, and of the weaver,—workers of any manner of workmanship, and devisers of skilful designs.

Chapter 36.

1 Thus shall Bezaleel and Oholiab work, and every man that is wise-hearted, in whom Yahweh hath put wisdom and understanding, to know how to work any manner of workmanship for the holy service,—according to all that Yahweh hath commanded.

§ 40. The Sanctuary is prepared.

2 So then Moses called upon Bezaleel, and upon Oholiab, and upon every man that was wise-hearted, in whose heart Yahweh had put wisdom,—every one whose heart lifted him up, to draw near unto the work, to do it. 3 And they took, from the presence of Moses, all the heave-offering which the sons of Israel had brought in, for the work of the holy service, to do it,—howbeit [they] brought in unto him yet more free-will offerings, morning by morning. 4 Then came in all the wise men who were doing all the holy work,—man by man, from his work which [they] were doing;

and spake unto Moses, saying,

<More than enough> are the people bringing in,—[more] than is needed for the service pertaining to the work, which Yahweh hath commanded to be done.

6 So Moses gave commandment, and they passed a proclamation throughout the camp, saying,

Let [neither man nor woman] make any more material for the holy heave-offering.

So the people were restrained from bringing in.

7 For the material was enough for all the work, to make it,—[and to spare].

8 Then did all the wise-hearted among the workers of the material, make the habitation, of ten curtains,—<of fine-twined linen, and blue and purple and crimson, with cherubim, the work of the skilful weaver> did he make them. 9 [The length of each curtain] was twenty-eight cubits, and [the breadth] four cubits, for each curtain,—<one measure> had all the curtains. 10 And he joined the [first] five curtains, one to another,—and <the other five curtains> joined he one to another. 11 And he made loops of blue, upon the border of the first curtain, at the edge of the set,—[thus] made he in the border of the [other] curtain, at the edge of the second set: 12 <Fifty loops> made he in the first' curtain, and <fifty loops> made he in the edge of the curtain that was in the second' set,—the loops being ||opposite|| one to another.

13 And he made fifty clasps of gold,—and joined the curtains one to another with the clasps, and so the habitation became [one].

14 And he made curtains of goat's-hair, for the tent, over the habitation,—<eleven curtains> did he make them: 15 ||the length of each' curtain|| was thirty cubits, and ||a cubit and a half|| the breadth of each' curtain,—<one measure> had the eleven curtains. 16 And he joined five of the curtains by themselves,—and the six curtains, by themselves,

17 And he made fifty loops upon the border of the curtain that was outmost in the [one] set and <fifty loops> made he upon the border of the curtain of the second set. 18 And he made fifty clasps of bronze,—to join together the tent, that it might become one.

19 And he made a covering to the tent, of rams' skins, dyed red,—and a covering of badgers' skins [above].

20 And he made the boards, for the habitation,—of acacia wood, for standing up: 21 ||ten cubits|| the length of each board,—and ||a cubit and a half|| the breadth of each' board: 22 two tenons to each' board, united one to another,—||thus|| made he for all the boards of the habitation.

23 And he made the boards for the habitation,— ||twenty boards|| for the south side southwards;

24 and <forty sockets of silver> made he, under the twenty boards,—||two sockets|| under the first' board, for its two tenons, and ||two sockets|| under the next' board, for its two tenons. 25 And <for the second side of the habitation, to the north quarter> made he twenty boards; 26 and their forty sockets of silver,—||two sockets|| under the first' board, and two sockets under the next' board. 27 And <for the hinder part of the habitation, westward> made he six boards;

28 and <two boards> made he for the corners of the habitation,—in the hinderpart. 29 Thus were they to be double beneath, and <at the same time> should they be entire, at the top thereof, into each' ring,—thus did he for them both, for the two corners. 30 Thus were there to be eight boards, and their sockets of silver were sixteen sockets,—two sockets apiece under each' board.

31 And he made bars, of acacia wood,—||five|| for the boards of the first' side of the habitation,

32 and ||five bars|| for the boards of the other' side of the habitation,—and ||five bars|| for the boards of the habitation9 at the hinderpart westward.

33 And he made the middle bar,—to run along in the midst of the boards, from end to end.

34 And <the boards> overlaid he with gold, and <their rings> made he of gold, as receptacles2 for the bars,—and he overlaid the bars with gold.

35 And he made the veil, of blue and purple and crimson, and fine-twined linen,—<of the work of a skilful weaver> made he it, ||with cherubim|. 36 And he made for it—four pillars of acacia, and overlaid them with gold, their hooks of gold,—

37 And he made a screen for the opening of the tent, of blue and purple and crimson and fine twined linen, the work of an embroiderer; 38 and the five pillars thereof, and their hooks, and he overlaid their capitals and their cross-rods,4 with gold, but ||their five sockets|| were of bronze.

Chapter 37.

1 And Bezaleel made the ark, of acacia wood,—||two cubits and a half|| the length thereof, and ||a cubit and a half|| the breadth thereof, and ||a cubit and a half|| the height thereof; 2 and he overlaid it with pure gold, within and without,—and made for it a rim5 of gold, round about;

3 and he cast for it four rings of gold, upon the four feet thereof,—even ||two rings|| on the one' side thereof and ||two rings|| on the other' side thereof;

4 and he made staves of acacia wood,—and overlaid them with gold; 5 and he brought the staves into the rings, upon the sides of the ark,—for lifting the ark.

6 And he made a propitiatory6 of pure gold,—||two cubits and a half|| the length thereof, and ||a cubit and a half|| the breadth thereof; 7 and he made two cherubim, of gold,—<of beaten work> did he make them, out of the two ends of the propitiatory:

8 ||one cherub|| out of this' end, and ||one cherub||

And he made the table of acacia wood,—<two cubits> the length thereof, and  the breadth thereof, and  the height thereof. And he overlaid it with pure gold,—and he made thereto a rim of gold, round about; and he made thereof a border of a handbreadth, round about,—and he made a rim of gold to the border thereof, round about;

and he cast for it, four rings of gold,—and placed the rings upon the four corners, which pertained to the four feet thereof; <near to the border> were the rings,—as receptacles for the staves, for lifting the table; and he made the staves of acacia wood, and overlaid them with gold,—for lifting the table; and he made the utensils which were to be upon the table—its dishes, and its pans, and its bowls, and its basins, for pouring out therewith,—<of pure gold>.

And he made the lampstand, of pure gold,—<of beaten work> made he the lampstand—<its base and its shafts, its cups, its apples and its blossoms> were <of the same>; with <six branches> coming out of its sides,—<three branches of the lampstand> out of its one side, and <three branches of the lampstand> out of its other side: <three cups like almond-flowers> in the one branch—apple and blossom, and <three cups like almond-flowers> in the next branch, apple and blossom,—<so> for the six branches, coming out of the lampstand, and <in the lampstand itself> four cups,—like almond-flowers, its apples and its blossoms; with <an apple> under the two branches, of the same, and <an apple> under the next two branches, of the same, and <an apple> under the next two branches of the same,—for the six branches coming out of the same:

<their apples and their branches> were <of the same>,—<all of it> one beaten work, of pure gold.

23 And he made the lamps thereof, seven,—with its snuffers and its snuff-trays, of pure gold. <Of a talent of pure gold> made he it,—and all the utensils thereof.

25 And he made the incense altar, of acacia wood,— the length thereof, and  the breadth thereof, <four square>, and <two cubits> the height thereof, <of the same> were the horns thereof. And he overlaid it with pure gold—the top thereof and the sides thereof round about, and the horns thereof,—and he made thereto a rim of gold, round about. And <two rings of gold> made he thereto—beneath the rim thereof, upon the two corners thereof, upon the two sides thereof,—as receptacles for the staves, to lift it therewith. And he made the staves of acacia wood,—and overlaid them with gold.

29 And he made the holy’ anointing’ oil, and the pure fragrant’ incense,—the work of a perfumer.

Chapter 38.

1 And he made the altar for the ascending-sacrifice of acacia wood,—<five cubits> the length thereof, and <five cubits> the breadth thereof, <four square>, and <three cubits> the height thereof. And he made the horns thereof, upon the four corners thereof, <of the same> were the horns thereof,—and he overlaid it with bronze.

3 And he made all the utensils of the altar—the pans and the shovels, and the sprinkling bowls, the flesh-hooks and the fire-pans,—<all the utensils thereof> made he of bronze. And he made to the altar a grating, of network of bronze,—under the margin thereof beneath, as far as the midst thereof. And he cast four rings in the four corners, to the grating of bronze,—<as receptacles for the staves. And he made the staves of acacia wood,—and overlaid them with bronze. And he brought the staves into the rings, upon the sides of the altar, to lift it therewith,—<hollow with boards> did he make it.

8 And he made the laver of bronze, and the stand thereof of bronze,—with the mirrors of the female hosts who did service at the opening of the tent of meeting.

9 And he made the court.—<on the south side southward> the hangings of the court, of fine twined linen, [a hundred cubits]; 10 [their pillars] twenty, and their sockets twenty, of bronze,—the hooks of the pillars and their connecting-rods, 9 of silver: 11 and <on the north side> a hundred cubits, [their pillars] twenty, and [their sockets] twenty, of bronze,—the hooks of the pillars and their connecting-rods 9 of silver. 12 And <on the west side> [hangings] fifty cubits, [their pillars] ten, and [their sockets] ten,—and [the hooks of the pillars and their connecting-rods] 9 of silver. 13 And <on the east side towards the dawn> fifty cubits: 14 [hangings] fifteen cubits, for the side-piece,—[their pillars] three, and [their sockets] three; 15 and <for the second' side-piece, on this side and on that, of the gate of the court> [hangings] fifteen cubits,—[their pillars] three, and [their sockets] three. 16 ||All the hangings of the court, round about,|| were of fine twined linen. 17 And [the sockets for the pillars] were of bronze, [the hooks of the pillars, and their connecting-rods] 9 of silver,—and [the overlaying of their capitals] was silver,—and [they themselves] were filleted with silver, even all the pillars of the court. 18 And [the screen of the gate of the court] was the work of an embroiderer, blue and purple and crimson, and fine twined linen,—and [the height, according to the breadth], of five cubits, to match the curtains of the court; 19 and [their pillars] were four, and [their sockets] four, of bronze,—[their hooks] of silver, and [the overlaying of their capitals, and their connecting-rods] 9 of silver. 20 And ||all the pins for the habitation, and for the court round about||, of bronze.

21 ||These|| are the details of the habitation—the habitation of testimony, 4 which were detailed at the bidding of Moses,—[the service of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest].

22 So then ||Bezaleel, son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah|| made all that Yahweh had commanded Moses. 23 And <with him> was Oholiab, son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, an artificer and skilful weaver,—and an embroiderer—in blue, and in purple, and in crimson, and in fine linen.

24 <As for all the gold that was used for the work, in all the construction of the sanctuary> it came to pass that the gold of the wave-offering was nine-and-twenty talents, and seven hundred and thirty shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary. 8

25 And <the silver of them who were numbered of the assembly> 8 was one hundred talents,—and one thousand, seven hundred, and seventy-five shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary; 26 a bekah per head, that is a half shekel, by the shekel of the sanctuary, for all that passed over to them who had been numbered, from twenty years old, and upwards, for six hundred and three thousand, and five hundred and fifty.

27 And it came to pass, that ||the hundred talents of silver|| were used for casting the sockets of the sanctuary, and the sockets of the veil,—one hundred sockets with the hundred talents, a talent for a socket. 28 And <with the thousand, seven hundred and seventy-five> made the hooks, for the pillars,—and overlaid their capitals, and united them with connecting-rods.

29 And ||the bronze of the wave-offering|| was seventy talents,—and two thousand and four hundred shekels. 30 And he made therewith, the sockets for the opening of the tent of meeting, and the altar of bronze, and the grating of bronze which pertained thereto,—and all the utensils of the altar, 31 and the sockets for the court round about, and the sockets for the gate of the court,—and all the pins for the habitation, and all the pins for the court, round about.

Chapter 39.

1 And <of the blue, and the purple, and the crimson> made they cloths of variegated stuff, for ministering in the sanctuary,—and they made the holy garments which were for Aaron,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

h The Sanctuary was, in part, constructed out of redemption money.
And they did beat out the plates of gold, and he proceeded to cut them into threads, to work into the midst of the blue, and into the midst of the purple, and into the midst of the crimson, and into the midst of the fine linen,—with the work of a skilful weaver. 4 <Shoulder-pieces> made they thereto, for joining,—<at its two edges> was it joined. 5 And <as for the curious fastening girdle which was thereon> <of the same> it was according to the working thereof; gold, blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine twined linen,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And they wrought the onyx stones, enclosed in ouches of gold,—graven with the engravings of a seal-ring, after the names of the sons of Israel. 7 And he put them on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod, as stones of memorial, for the sons of Israel,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And he made the breastpiece, the work of a skilful weaver, like the work of the ephod,—of gold, blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine twined linen. 9 <Foursquare> it was, <doubled> made they the breastpiece,— was the length thereof, and  the breadth thereof, <doubled>. 10 And they set therein, four rows of stones,—<row> sardius, a topaz, and an emerald, the first row; and <row> a carbuncle, a sapphire, and a diamond; and <row> an opal, an agate, and an amethyst; and <row> a Tarshish stone, a sardonyx, and a jasper,—enclosed in ouches of gold, when they were set. 14 And <as for the stones> <after the names of the sons of Israel> they were <twelve>, after their names,—with the engravings of a seal-ring, <each one> after his name, for the twelve tribes. 15 And they made, upon the breastpiece, chains like cords, of woven work,—of pure gold. 16 And they made two ouches of gold, and two rings of gold,—and they placed the two rings, upon the two ends of the breastpiece; and they placed the two ouches of gold, upon the two rings,—upon the ends of the breastpiece, and <the other two ends of the two ouches> placed they upon the two ouches,—and placed them upon the shoulder-pieces of the ephod, in the forefront thereof. 19 And they made two rings of gold, and put on the two ends of the breastpiece,—upon the border thereof, which is towards the ephod, inwards. 20 And they made two other rings of gold, and placed them upon the two shoulder-pieces of the ephod, below, on the front of the face thereof, to match the joining thereof,—above the curious girdle of the ephod. 21 And they bound the breastpiece by the rings thereof, into the rings of the ephod, with a cord of blue, that it might remain upon the curious girdle of the ephod, and the breastpiece not be removed from upon the ephod,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And he made the robe of the ephod, the work of a weaver,—wholly of blue; with the opening of the robe in the midst thereof, like the opening of a coat of mail,—a border to the opening thereof, round about—it might not be rent open. 24 And they made, upon the skirts of the robe, pomegranates—of blue and purple and crimson,—twined. 25 And they made bells of pure gold,—and placed the bells in the midst of the pomegranates, upon the skirts of the robe, round about, in the midst of the pomegranates:
a bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate, upon the skirts of the robe, round about,—to minister in—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And they made the tunics of fine linen, the work of a weaver,—for Aaron, and for his sons; and the turban of fine linen, and the ornamental caps of fine linen,—and the linen' drawers, of fine twined linen; and the girdle of fine twined linen, and blue and purple and crimson, the work of an embroiderer,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And they made the burnished plate of the holy crown, of pure gold,—and wrote thereupon a writing, with the engravings of a seal-ring Holy unto Yahweh. 31 And they placed there upon a cord of blue, to fasten it upon the turban' up above,—
As Yahweh commanded Moses.

32 Thus was finished all the work of the habitation, of the tent of meeting,—thus did the sons of Israel, <according to all that Yahweh commanded Moses> ||[so]|| did they.

§ 41. The Work is brought in to Moses.

33 And they brought in the habitation, unto Moses, the tent, and all its furniture,—its clasps, its boards, its bars, and its pillars and its sockets; 34 and the covering of rams’ skins dyed red, and the covering of badgers’ skins,—and the screening' veil; 35 the ark of the testimony, with its staves,— and the propitiatory; 36 the table, all its utensils, and the Presence’-bread;

37 the pure lampstand, the lamps thereof, the lamps to be put in order, and all the utensils thereof;— and the oil for giving light; 38 and the altar of gold, and the oil of anointing, and the fragrant' incense,— and the screen for the opening of the tent; 39 the altar of bronze, and the grating of bronze which pertaineth thereto, the staves thereof, and all the utensils thereof,— the laver, and its stand, and all the utensils thereof for the service of the habitation, for the tent of meeting; 41 the cloths of variegated stuff, for ministering in the sanctuary,—the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, for ministering as priests. 42 <According to all that Yahweh commanded Moses> ||[so]|| did the sons of Israel make all the work.

43 And Moses looked' upon all the structure, and lo! they had made it,’ <as Yahweh had commanded> so had they made it,—and Moses blessed them.

§ 42. By express Divine Command the Holy Habitation is at length set up, and is filled with Yahweh’s Glory; yet not so as to deprive Israel of the Guiding Pillar of Cloud and Fire by Day and Night in all their Journeyings.

Chapter 40.

1 Then spake Yahweh, unto Moses, saying—

2 <On the first day of the month, in the first month> shalt thou rear the habitation, of the tent of meeting; 3 and thou shalt put therein, the ark of the testimony,—and shalt screen the ark, with the veil; 4 and thou shalt bring in the table, and set in order what is to be arranged thereupon,—and thou shalt bring in the lampstand, and mount the lamps thereof; 5 and thou shalt place the altar of gold, for incense, before the ark of the testimony,—and put up the screen for the opening of the habitation; 6 and thou shalt place the altar for the ascending-sacrifice,—before the opening of the habitation of the tent of meeting, 7 and thou shalt place the laver between the tent of meeting, and the altar,—and shalt put, therein, water.

And thou shalt put up the court, round about,— and hang up the screen of the gate of the court.

9 And thou shalt take the oil of anointing, and anoint the habitation, and all that is therein,— and shalt hallow it, and all the furniture thereof, so shall it be holy.

10 And thou shalt anoint the altar of ascending sacrifice, and all its utensils,—and hallow the altar, so shall the altar be most holy: 11 and thou shalt anoint the laver, and its stand,—and shalt hallow it. 12 And thou shalt bring near Aaron, and his sons, unto the opening of the tent of meeting,—and shalt bathe them in' the water; 13 and thou shalt clothe Aaron with the holy’ garments,—and shalt anoint him, and hallow him, so shall he minister as priest unto me.

14 <His sons also> shalt thou bring near,—and shalt clothe them with tunics; 15 and shalt anoint them, as thou didst anoint their father, and they shall minister as priests unto me,—so shall their anointing remain to them, for an age-abiding’ priesthood, to their generations.

16 And Moses did,—<according to all that Yahweh had commanded him> ||| did he.

17 Thus came it to pass <in the first month, in the second year, on the first of the month> that the habitation was reared. 18 Yea Moses reared the habitation, and placed its sockets, and fixed its boards, and fastened its bars,—and reared its pillars. 19 Then spread he abroad the tent upon the habitation, and put the covering of the tent upon it, [above],—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

20 And he took and placed the testimony, within the ark, and put the staves upon the ark,—and placed the propitiatory upon the ark [above]; 21 and brought in the ark into the habitation, and put up the screening’ veil, and screened over the ark of the testimony,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

22 And he placed the table, in the tent of meeting,—on the side of the habitation [northward],—outside the veil; 23 and set in order thereupon the arrangement of bread, before Yahweh,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

24 And he put the lampstand, in the tent of meeting, over against the table,—on the side of the habitation [southward]; 25 and mounted the lamps, before Yahweh,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

26 And he put the altar of gold, in the tent of meeting,—before the veil; 27 and burned thereupon the fragrant’ incense,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

28 And he put up the screen of the entrance pertaining to the habitation; 29 and <the altar of ascending-sacrifice> put he at the entrance of the habitation of the tent of meeting,—and he caused to ascend thereupon, the ascending-sacrifice, and the meal-offering,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

30 And he put the laver, between the tent of meeting, and the altar,—and put therein water, for bathing; 31 and Moses, and Aaron, and his sons, thenceforth bathed thereat,—their hands and their feet; 32 <when they were entering into the tent of meeting, and when they were drawing near unto the altar> then used they to bathe,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

33 And he reared the court, round about, to the habitation and to the altar, and put up the screen of the gate of the court,—and Moses finished the work. 34 Then did the cloud cover the tent of meeting,—and ||the glory of Yahweh|| filled the habitation; 35 and Moses was not able to enter into the tent of meeting, because the cloud had made its habitation thereupon,—and ||the glory of Yahweh|| filled the habitation. 36 And <whenever the cloud descended from off the habitation> then did the sons of Israel set,—forward in all their journeyings,4 37 but <if the cloud did not ascend> then did they not set forward,—until the day when it did ascend. 38 For ||the cloud of Yahweh|| was upon the habitation, by day, and ||a fire|| came to be, by night, therein,—in the sight of all the house of Israel, in all their journeyings."
§ 1. Of various kinds of Offering.

Chapter 1.

1 Then called he unto Moses,—and Yahweh spake unto him, out of the tent of meeting, saying:

2 Speak thou unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them—

≤When ||any man|| could bring near from among you an oblation, \( ^{b} \) unto Yahweh \( ^{2} \) shall he bring it, for its acceptance, before Yahweh. \( ^{4} \) Then shall he lean his hand, upon the head of the ascending-sacrifice,—and it shall be accepted for him, to put a propitiatory covering \( ^{c} \) over him; \( ^{5} \) and he should slay the young bullock \( ^{k} \), before Yahweh,—and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall bring near the blood, and shall dash the blood against the altar, round about, \( ^{12} \) and the priest shall arrange them upon the wood, that is on the fire, that is on the altar. \( ^{13} \) But the inwards and the legs \( ^{d} \) shall he bathe in water,—then shall the priest bring near the whole, and make a perfume at the altar, \( ^{i} \) an ascending-sacrifice of a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh.

c. Of Birds.

14 But \( ^{14} \) of birds \( ^{2} \) shall be the ascending-sacrifice of his oblation unto Yahweh—then shall he bring near of the turtle-doves or of the young pigeons, his oblation. \( ^{15} \) And the priest shall bring it near unto the altar, shall nip off its head, and make a perfume at the altar,—and its blood shall be drained out upon the wall of the altar. \( ^{16} \) Then shall he take away its crop with water,—then shall the priest make, of the whole, a perfume at the altar, an ascending-sacrifice, an altar-flame of a satisfying odour unto Yahweh.

Chapter 2.

ii. The Meal-offering (A.V. "Meat-offering": Heb. minḥah.)

a. Of fine Meal.

But ≤when ||any person|| would bring near as an oblation, a meal-offering, unto Yahweh it shall be his oblation,—and he shall pour out thereon, oil, and place thereon, frankincense; 2 so shall he bring it in unto the sons of Aaron, the priests, and he shall grasp therefrom a handful of the fine meal thereof, and of the oil thereof, besides all the frankincense thereof,—and the priest shall make a perfume with the memorial thereof, at the altar, an altar-flame of a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh. 3 But ||the remainder of the meal-offering|| pertaineth unto Aaron and to his sons,—||most holy, from among the altar-flames of Yahweh||.

b. From the Oven.

Moreover ≤when thou wouldst bring near, as an oblation of a meal-offering, something baked in an oven round, unleavened cakes of fine meal, overflowed with oil> [shall it be], or unleavened wafers anointed with oil.

c. From the Girdle.

But ≤if  be thine oblation > <of fine meal, overflowed with oil, unleavened> shall it be; 6 <parting it into pieces> then shalt thou pour thereon, oil,— it is'.

d. From the Boiler.

But ≤if  be thine oblation > <of fine meal, with oil> shall it be made. 8 Then shalt thou bring in the meal-offering that is made of these, unto Yahweh,—and one shall bring it near, unto the priest, and he shall take it near, unto the altar. 9 Then shall the priest uplift, out of the meal-offering, a memorial thereof, and make a perfume at the altar,—an altar-flame of a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh. 10 But ||the remainder of the meal-offering|| pertaineth to Aaron and to his sons,—||most holy, from among the altar-flames of Yahweh||.

||None of the meal-offerings which ye bring near unto Yahweh|| shall be made into anything leavened,—for <of no leaven, and of no syrup>d may ye make a perfume, as an altar-flame unto Yahweh.

e. Of First-fruits.

As for an oblation of first-fruits ye shall bring them near, unto Yahweh,—but <unto the altar> they shall not take them up, as a satisfying odour.

And ≤every meal-offering’ oblation of thine > <with salt> shalt thou season, and thou shalt not suffer to be lacking the salt of the covenant of thy God, from upon thy meal-offering,—<upon every oblation of thine> shalt thou offer salt.

f. Of First-ripe Corn.

But ≤if thou wouldst bring near a meal-offering of first-ripe corn, unto Yahweh> <of green ears, roasted in fire, crushed grain of garden-land> shalt thou bring near thy meal-offering of first-ripe corn. 15 And thou shalt place thereon, oil, and shalt put thereon, frankincense,— it is'. 16 Then shall the priest make a perfume, with the memorial thereof,—from the crushed grain thereof, and from the oil thereof, besides all the frankincense thereof,—||an altar-flame, unto Yahweh||.

Chapter 3.

iii. The Peace-offering.

a. Of the Herd.

But ≤if  be his oblation> ≤if <of the herd> ||he himself|| be bringing near,—whether male or female> <without defect> shall he bring it near, before Yahweh. 2 Then shall he lean his hand upon the head of his oblation, and slay it at the entrance of the tent of meeting,—and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall dash the blood against the altar, round about. Then shall he bring near, out of the peace-offering, an altar-flame unto Yahweh,—the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards; and the two kidneys, and the fat which is upon them, which is upon the loins,—and the caul upon the liver, <upon the kidneys> shall he remove it. Then shall the sons of Aaron make thereof a perfume, at the altar, upon the ascending-sacrifice, which is on the wood, which is on the fire,—||an altar-flame of a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh].

b. Of the Flock.

6 But ≤If <out of the flock> be his oblation, for a peace-offering unto Yahweh≥ <whether male or female—without defect> shall he bring it near. ≤If  [the himself] be bringing near as his oblation≥ then shall he bring it near before Yahweh. And he shall lean his hand upon the head of his oblation, and shall slay it, before the tent of meeting,—and the sons of Aaron shall dash the blood thereof against the altar, round about.

Then shall he bring near, out of the peace-offering, an altar-flame unto Yahweh, the fat thereof, the fat-tail thereof entire <close to the backbone> shall he remove it,—and the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards; and the two kidneys, with the fat that is on them, which is on the loins,—and the caul that is on the liver, <on the kidneys> shall he remove it. Then shall the priest make a perfume, at the altar,—||the food of an altar-flame, unto Yahweh]]. But ≤If  be his oblation≥ then shall he bring it near, before Yahweh. And he shall lean his hand upon its head, and shall slay it, before the tent of meeting,—and the sons of Aaron shall dash its blood against the altar, round about. Then shall he bring near therefrom, as his oblation, an altar-flame unto Yahweh,—the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards; and the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is on the loins,—the caul upon the liver, <on the kidneys> shall he remove it. Then shall the priest make a perfume at the altar,—||the food of an altar-flame, for a satisfying odour,—||all the fat—unto Yahweh]]. An age-abiding statute to your generations, in all your dwellings,—<none of the fat nor of the blood> shall ye eat.

§ 2. Of various kinds of Offences, and the Offerings appointed for them.

Chapter 4.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses saying:

2 Speak thou unto the sons of Israel, saying—≤When ||any person|| shall sin by mistake, departing from any of the commandments of Yahweh, as to things which should not be done, and shall do any one of them≥—

i. Offences by the Priests.

3 ≤If ||the anointed priest|| shall sin, so as to bring guilt upon the people≥ then shall he bring near, for his sin which he hath committed, a choice young bullock without defect, unto Yahweh, as a sin-bearer. And he shall bring in the bullock unto the entrance of the tent of meeting, before Yahweh,—and shall lean his hand upon the head of the bullock, and shall slay the bullock, before Yahweh. And the anointed priest shall take of the blood of the bullock,—and bring it into the tent of meeting; and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood,—and sprinkle of the blood seven times, before Yahweh, in front of the veil of the sanctuary. Then shall the priest put of the blood upon the horns of the altar of fragrant incense, before Yahweh, which is in the tent of meeting,—and <all the [remainder of the] blood of the bullock> shall he pour out at the base of the altar of ascending-sacrifice, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. And <all the fat of the sin-bearing' bullock> shall he heave up therefrom,—the fat that covereth over the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards; and <all the kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is upon the loins,—and <as for the caul upon the liver> <upon the kidneys> shall he remove it: just as it is heaved up from the ox of the peace'offering,—and the priest shall make of them a perfume on the altar of ascending-sacrifice. But <as for the skin of the bullock, and all its flesh, with its head, and with its legs,—and its inwards, and its dung> he shall take forth the entire bullock—unto the outside of the camp, unto a clean place, unto the outpoured heap of fat-ashes, and shall burn it up on wood, in the fire,—<upon the outpoured heap of fat-ashes> shall it be burned up.

ii. Offences by the Assembly.

13 And ⒱[the whole assembly of Israel] shall make a mistake, and a matter be hidden from the eyes of the convocation,—and so they do something, whereby they depart from any of the commandments of Yahweh, as to things which should not be done, and become guilty; and the sin shall become known, which they have committed therein: then shall the convocation bring near a choice young bullock, as a sin-bearer; yea they shall bring it in, before the tent of meeting; and the elders of the assembly shall lean their hands upon the head of the bullock, before Yahweh,—and shall slay the bullock, before Yahweh; and the anointed priest shall bring in of the blood of the bullock,—into the tent of meeting; and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood,—and shall sprinkle of the blood seven times before Yahweh, upon the face of the veil; and <some of the blood> shall he put upon the horns of the altar which is before Yahweh, which is in the tent of meeting; and <all the [remainder of the] blood> shall he pour out at the base of the altar of ascending-sacrifice, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting; and <as for all the fat thereof> he shall heave up therefrom,—and make a perfume at the altar. And he shall do to the bullock, <as he did to the [first] sin-bearing' bullock> ||[so] shall he do with this,—and the priest shall put a propitiatory-covering over them, and it shall be forgiven them. And he shall take forth the bullock unto the outside of the camp, and burn it up, just as he burned up the first bullock,—<the sin-bearer of the convocation> it is'.

iii. Offences by a Ruler.

22 ⒱[a prince] shall sin,—and shall do something, departing from any of the commandments of Yahweh his God, as to things which should not be done, by mistake and shall become aware of his guilt; or his sin wherein he hath sinned be made known unto him: then shall he bring in, as his oblation, a he-goat, a male without defect; and shall lean his hand upon the head of the goat, and shall slay it in the place where they slay the ascending-sacrifice before Yahweh,— it is'. And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin-bearer with his finger, and put upon the horns of the altar of ascending-sacrifice; and <the [remainder of the] blood thereof> shall he pour out at the base of the altar of ascending-sacrifice; and <with all the fat thereof> shall he make a perfume at the altar, as with the fat of the peace'offering,—so shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him, because of his sin, and it shall be forgiven him.

iv. Offences by one of the People.

27 And ⒱[any person] shall sin |by mistake| from among the people of the land,—by his doing anything departing from any of the commandments of Yahweh, as to things which should not be done, and shall become aware of his guilt; 28 or his sin which he hath committed shall be made known' unto him: 29 then shall he bring in, as his oblation, a kid of the goats, a female [without defect], for his sin which he hath committed; and shall lean his hand upon the head of the sin-bearer,—and shall slay the sin-bearer, in the place of the ascending-sacrifice. 30 Then shall the priest take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put upon the horns of the altar of the ascending-sacrifice,—and all the blood thereof shall he pour out, at the base of the altar; and shall remove as the fat from off the peace-offering was removed, and the priest shall make a perfume at the altar, for a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh,—so shall the priest put propitiatory-covering over him, and it shall be forgiven him. 32 And if a lamb be brought in, as his oblation, for a sin-bearer: a female without defect shall be brought in; 33 and shall lean his hand, upon the head of the sin-bearer,—and shall slay it as a sin-bearer, in the place where they slay the ascending-sacrifice. 34 Then shall the priest take of the blood of the sin-bearer, with his finger, and put upon the horns of the altar of the ascending-sacrifice,—and all the blood thereof shall he pour out, at the base of the altar;

and shall remove, as the fat of the lamb is removed, from the peace-offering, and the priest shall make a perfume therewith at the altar, upon the altar-flames of Yahweh,—so shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him, on account of his sin which he hath committed, and it shall be forgiven him.

Chapter 5.

1 <||Any person||, moreover, whensoever he shall sin, in that, when he heareth a voice of swearing, ||he himself|| being a witness, either seeing or knowing,—if he do not tell, and so hath to bear his iniquity:—3 Or ||any person|| who toucheth anything unclean, whether the carcase of an unclean wild-beast, or the carcase of an unclean tame-beast, or the carcase of an unclean creeping thing,—and it is hidden from him, ||he himself|| being unclean, 4 and he become aware of his guilt:— 5 Or whensoever one shall touch the uncleanness of man, as regardeth any uncleanness of his, wherewith one may become unclean,—and it be hidden from him, and then ||he himself|| getting to know it, become aware of his guilt:— 6 Or ||any person|| whensoever he shall swear, speaking unadvisedly with the lips, to harm or to help, as regardeth anything wherein the son of earth may speak unadvisedly by way of oath, and it be hidden from him,—and then ||he himself|| getting to know it, become aware of his guilt, as regardeth any one of these things:—

5 Then shall it be, <when he become aware of his guilt, as regardeth any one of these things> that he shall confess that wherein he hath sinned; 6 and shall bring in as his guilt-bearer unto Yahweh, for his sin which he hath committed, a female from the flock—a lamb or a kid of the goats—as a sin-bearer,—so shall the priest put propitiatory-covering over him, because of his sin. 7 And if his hand can-not reach sufficient for a lamb> then shall he bring in to bear his guilt—for that he hath sinned—two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, unto Yahweh,—one for a sin-bearer, and one for an ascending-sacrifice. 8 And he shall take them in unto the priest, who shall bring near that which is for a sin-bearer, first—and shall nip through the neck close to the head, 9 but shall not divide it asunder. 9 And he shall sprinkle of the blood of the sin-bearer upon the wall of the altar, and the remainder of the blood> shall he drain out, at the base of the altar,—a sin-bearer> it is. 10 And of the second shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, according to the regulation,—so shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him, because of his sin which he hath committed, and it shall be forgiven him. 11 But if his hand cannot lay hold of two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, he shall take two pigeons instead, and he shall give them to the priest, who shall make an ascending-sacrifice for him. 12 Then shall he bring in a female from the flock—a lamb or a kid of the goats. 13 And the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, upon the wall of the altar, and he shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 14 And he shall make an ascending-sacrifice—a lamb, or a kid of the goats, to be a propitiatory covering over him, because of his sin which he hath committed, and it shall be forgiven him. 15 But if he bring in a lamb in place of a kid of goats, then shall he bring in a lamb, or a kid of the goats, for the sin-offering, and he shall give it to the priest. 16 And the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 17 And he shall make an ascending-sacrifice—a lamb, or a kid of the goats, as propitiatory-covering, and it shall be forgiven him. 18 And if he bring in a lamb which is not for an offering, and it is a male, and the head thereof be not cut off, then shall he bring in a male lamb, or a male kid of the goats, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 19 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 20 And if the male be not found, then shall he bring in a female, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 21 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 22 And if he bring in a female which is not for an offering, and it is a lamb, or a kid of the goats, and the head thereof be not cut off, then shall he bring in a lamb, or a kid of the goats, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 23 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 24 And if the male be not found, then shall he bring in a female, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 25 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 26 And if he bring in a female lamb, or a female kid of the goats, which is not for an offering, and the head thereof be not cut off, then shall he bring in a lamb, or a kid of the goats, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 27 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 28 And if the male be not found, then shall he bring in a female, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 29 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 30 And if he bring in a female lamb, or a female kid of the goats, which is not for an offering, and the head thereof be not cut off, then shall he bring in a lamb, or a kid of the goats, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 31 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 32 And if the male be not found, then shall he bring in a female, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 33 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him. 34 And if he bring in a female lamb, or a female kid of the goats, which is not for an offering, and the head thereof be not cut off, then shall he bring in a lamb, or a kid of the goats, and the priest shall take of the blood thereof, and sprinkle of it upon the altar, and shall make a perfume in the altar-flames. 35 Then shall he make an ascending-sacrifice, with the fat thereof, and it shall be forgiven him.
pigeons> then shall he bring in as his oblation—because he hath sinned—the tenth of an ephah of fine meal, for bearing sin,—he shall not put thereon oil, neither shall he lay thereon frankincense, for  it is'.

12 And he shall bring it in unto the priest, and the priest shall take therefrom a handful, as the memorial thereof, and shall make a perfume at the altar, upon the altar-flames of Yahweh,— it is'. 13 So shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him, on account of his sin which he hath committed, departing from some one of these things, and it shall be forgiven him,—then shall it be the priest’s, like the meal-offering." 14 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying— 15 <Whensoever ||any person|| shall commit a trespass, and shall take away by mistake, from the holy things of Yahweh> then shall he bring in as his guilt-bearer unto Yahweh, a ram without defect out of the flock, with thine estimate in silver by shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, for a guilt-bearer: 16 <that, moreover, which he took away from the sanctuary> shall he make good, and <the fifth part thereof> shall he add thereunto,—<to whomsoever it belongeth> ||to him|| shall he give it, in the day he becometh aware of his guilt; 6 but <his guilt-bearer> itself shall he bring in unto Yahweh,—a ram without defect, out of the flock, by thine estimate as a guilt-bearer, unto the priest. 7 So shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him before Yahweh, and it shall be forgiven him,—on account of any one thing, of all which one might do, so as to become guilty therein.

§ 3. Instructions for the Priests as to the Offerings.

8 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying: 9 Command Aaron and his sons, saying, ||This|| is the law of the ascending-sacrifice,—||the same|| is the ascending-sacrifice, which is upon the hearth, upon the altar, all the night until the morning,—and ||the fire of the altar|| shall be kept burning therein. 10 So then the priest shall put on his upper garment of linen, and <breaches of linen> shall he put on over his flesh, then shall he take up the fat-ashes, whereto the fire consumeth the ascending-sacrifice on the altar,—and shall put them beside the altar.

Then shall he put off his garments, and put on other garments,—and shall carry forth the fat-ashes, unto the outside of the camp, unto a clean place. 12 And ||the fire on the altar|| shall be kept burning therein, it shall not be suffered

Chapter 6.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying— 2 <When ||any person|| shall sin, and shall commit a trespass against Yahweh,—and shall withhold something of the truth from his neighbour, in respect of a deposit, or a pledge or anything plundered, or shall use extortion with his neighbour; 3 or shall find something lost and shall withhold something of the truth therein, and shall swear to a falsehood,—as regardeth a single thing of all that a son of earth may do, to commit sin thereby; 4 and so it shall come about that he shall commit sin and then become aware of his guilt> then shall he return the plunder which he had plundered, or the extortion which he had extorted, or the deposit that was deposited with him,—or the lost thing which he hath found: 5 or <in anything as to which he hath been swearing to a falsehood> then shall he make it good in the principal thereof, and <the fifth part thereof> shall he add thereunto,—<to whomsoever it belongeth> ||to him|| shall he give it, in the day he becometh aware of his guilt; 6 but <his guilt-bearer> itself shall he bring in unto Yahweh,—a ram without defect, out of the flock, by thine estimate as a guilt-bearer, unto the priest. 7 So shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him before Yahweh, and it shall be forgiven him,—on account of any one thing, of all which one might do, so as to become guilty therein.

to go out, but the priest shall kindle up thereon pieces of wood, morning by morning,—and shall set in order thereupon the ascending-sacrifice, and shall make a perfume thereon, with the fat-pieces of the peace-offerings. 13 ||fire|| shall continually be kept burning on the altar, it shall not be suffered to go out.

And [this] is the law of the meal-offering,—the sons of Aaron shall bring it near before Yahweh, unto the front of the altar. Then shall one lift up therefrom a handful of the fine meal of the meal-offering, and all the frankincense which is upon the meal-offering,—and shall make a perfume at the altar, <an altar-flame> of a satisfying odour shall the memorial thereof be, unto Yahweh. 16 And <the remainder thereof> shall Aaron and his sons eat, <as unleavened cakes> shall it be eaten in a holy place, <within the court of the tent of meeting> shall they eat it. 17 It shall not be baked into anything leavened, <as their portion> have I given it, from among the altar-flames of Yahweh,—<most holy> it is', like the sin-bearer, and like the guilt-bearer. 18 Any male among the sons of Aaron may eat it, an age-abiding statute to your generations, from among the altar-flames of Yahweh,—every one that toucheth them shall be hallowed.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying—

||This|| is the oblation of Aaron and his sons, which they shall bring near unto Yahweh in the day when he is anointed, The tenth of an ephah of fine meal, as a continual meal-offering,—half thereof in the morning, and half thereof in the evening; 21 <on a pan, with oil> shall it be made, <when well mingled> shalt thou bring it in,—<in baked portions, as a meal-offering in pieces> shalt thou bring it near, as a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh. 22 And ||the priest that is anointed in his stead from among his sons|| shall prepare it,—[it is] an age-abiding statute, that <unto Yahweh> shall a perfume ||of the entire gift|| be made; 23 yea ||every meal-offering of a priest|| shall be ||entire||—it shall not be eaten.

Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons, saying,

||This|| is the law of the sin-bearer. 2 <In the place where the ascending-sacrifice is slain> shall the sin-bearer be slain, before Yahweh, <most holy> it is'. 20 ||The priest who maketh it a sin-bearer|| shall eat it,—<in a holy place> shall it be eaten, in the court of the tent of meeting. 27 ||Every one who toucheth the flesh thereof|| shall be hallowed; and <when one sprinkleth some of the blood thereof upon a garment> <that whereon it was sprinkled> shalt thou wash in a holy place. 28 But ||the earthen vessel wherein it is boiled shall be broken,—or ||in a vessel of bronze|| it hath been boiled then shall [the vessel] be scoured and rinsed in water. 29 ||Any male among the priests|| may eat thereof,—<most holy> it is'. 30 But ||no sin-bearer whereof any of the blood is taken into the tent of meeting to make a propitiatory-covering in the sanctuary|| shall be eaten,—<with fire> shall it be consumed.

Chapter 7.

1 And ||this|| is the law of the guilt-bearer,—<most holy> it is! 2 <In the place where they slay the ascending-sacrifice> shall they slay the guilt-bearer; and <the blood thereof> shall one dash against the altar, round about; 3 and <as for all the fat thereof> one shall bring near therefrom,—the fat-tail, and the fat that covereth the inwards; 4 and the two kidneys, with the fat that is upon them, which is upon the loins,—and the caul upon the liver, <up to the kidneys> shall he remove it. 5 And the priest shall make a perfume with them at the altar, an altar-flame unto Yahweh— it is'. 6 ||Any male among the priests|| may eat thereof,—<in a holy place> shall it be eaten, <most holy> it is'. 7 <As' the sin-bearer> so the guilt-bearer,—||one law|| for them,—<the priest who maketh a propitiatory-covering therewith>—||to him|| shall it belong. 8 And <as for the priest who bringeth near the ascending-sacrifice of any man> ||the skin of the ascending-sacrifices which he hath brought near|| <to the priest himself> shall it belong.

And <as for any meal-offering that may be baked in an oven, or anything that hath been prepared in a boiler or on a girdle> <to the priest that bringeth it near—to him> shall it belong.
And <as for any meal-offering overflowed with oil, or dry>—<to all the sons of Aaron> shall it belong, to one as much as to another.

And ||this|| is the law of the peace‘-offering which one may bring near unto Yahweh.
If <for thanksgiving> he bring it near> then shall he bring near, with the thanksgiving ‘sacrifice, perforated cakes, unleavened, overflowed with oil, and wafers, unleavened, anointed with oil,—and of fine flour moistened, perforated cakes overflowed with oil.
With perforated cakes of leavened bread shall he bring near his oblation, with his peace‘-offering of thanksgiving.
Then shall he bring near, therefrom, one of each oblation, a heave-offering unto Yahweh,—<to the priest who dasheth [against the altar] the blood of the peace-offering—to him> shall it belong.
But <as for the flesh of his peace‘-offering of thanksgiving> <on the day of bringing it near> shall it be eaten,—he shall not leave thereof until morning.
But <as for a vow or a freewill offering> be his sacrifice of obligation <in the day he bringeth near his sacrifice> shall it be eaten,—and <on the morrow> then may ||the remainder thereof|| be eaten;
but <as for the remainder of the flesh of the sacrifice> <on the third day—in fire> shall it be consumed.

And ||if any of the flesh of his peace‘-offering [be at all eaten]|| on the third day he that brought it near [shall not be accepted] it shall not be reckoned to him, ||unclean|| shall it be,—and ||the person who shall eat thereof|| shall bear ||his iniquity|.
And ||if the flesh that toucheth anything unclean|| shall not be eaten, <in fire> shall it be consumed,—but <as for the [other] flesh> ||any one who is clean|| may eat flesh.
But as for the person who shall eat flesh from the peace‘-offering, which pertaineth unto Yahweh, while his uncleanness is on him> then shall that person be cut off from among his kinsfolk.
Yea, as for ||any person|| whenever he shall touch anything unclean—the uncleanness of man, or an unclean beast, or any unclean disgusting thing,—and then eateth of the flesh of a peace‘-offering that pertaineth unto Yahweh> then shall that person be cut off from among his kinsfolk.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying—
Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying—
No fat, of ox or sheep or goat> shall ye eat:
and <though ||the fat of what dieth of itself and the fat of that which has been torn in pieces|| may be used for any other service> yet shall ||ye in nowise|| eat it.
Nay <as touching any one who eateth the fat of any beast, wherefrom he< might bring near an altar-flame unto Yahweh> then shall the person that eateth be cut off from among his kinsfolk.
And <no manner of blood> shall ye eat, in any of your dwellings,—whether of bird, or of beast:
—as touching any person who eateth any manner of blood> then shall that person be cut off from among his kinsfolk.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying—
Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying—
He that offereth his peace‘-offering unto Yahweh|| shall bring in his own oblation unto Yahweh, out of his peace‘-offering:

||his own hands|| shall bring in the altar-flames of Yahweh,—<the fat with< the breast> he shall bring it in, ||the breast|| to wave it as a wave-offering before Yahweh.
Then shall the priest make a perfume with the fat at the altar,—and the breast shall be for Aaron and for his sons.

But <the right shoulder> of flesh shall ye give as a heave-offering, unto the priest,—from among your peace‘-offerings
<he that bringeth near the blood of the peace‘-offerings and the fat, from among the sons of Aaron> ||to him|| shall belong the right shoulder for a portion.
For <the wave-breast, and the heave-shoulder> have I taken of the sons of Israel, out of their peace-offerings,—and have given them unto Aaron the priest, and unto his sons, as an age-abiding statute, from the sons of Israel.

35 ||This|| is what pertaineth to the anointing of Aaron, and to the anointing of his sons out of the altar-flames of Yahweh,—[granted] in the day when he brought them near, to minister as priests unto Yahweh: 36 which Yahweh commanded to give them in the day when he anointed them, from among the sons of Israel,—||an age-abiding statute, to their generations||.

37 ||This|| is the law—for the ascending-sacrifice, for the meal-offering,
and for the sin-bearer, c and for the guilt-bearer,— and for the installation-offerings, and for the peace-offering:
which Yahweh commanded Moses, in Mount Sinai,—in the day when he commanded the sons of Israel to bring near their oblations unto Yahweh, in the desert of Sinai.

§ 4. The Installation of Aaron and his Sons in the Priesthood.

Chapter 8.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:
2 Take thou Aaron, and his sons with him, and the garments, and the anointing’ oil,—and the sin-bearing bullock, and the two rams, and the basket of unleavened cakes; 3 and <all the assembly> call thou together,—unto the entrance of the tent of meeting.

4 And Moses did, as Yahweh commanded him,— and the assembly was called together, unto the entrance of the tent of meeting. 5 Then said Moses unto the assembly,—
||This|| is the thing, which Yahweh hath commanded to be done.

6 So Moses brought near, Aaron and his sons,— and bathed them with water, 7 and put upon him the tunic, and girded him with the band, and clothed him with the robe, and put upon him the ephod, and girded him with the curiously-woven band of the ephod, and bound it to him therewith; 8 and he put upon him the breastpiece,—and placed in the breastpiece the Lights and the Perfections; d 9 and he put the turban e upon his head,—and put upon the turban, on the forefront thereof, the burnished plate of gold—the holy crown,

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

10 And Moses took the anointing’ oil, and anointed the habitation, and all that was therein,—and hallowed them; 11 and he sprinkled thereof upon the altar, seven times,—and anointed the altar, and all the utensils thereof, and the laver and its stand, to hallow them;

12 and he poured of the anointing’ oil, upon the head of Aaron,—and anointed him, to hallow him. 13 And Moses brought near the sons of Aaron, and clothed them with tunics, and girded them with bands, and wrapped round for them turbans, h—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

14 Then was led near the sin-bearing bullock,— and Aaron and his sons leaned their hands upon the head of the sin-bearing bullock.

15 Then was it slain, and Moses took the blood, and put [thereof] upon the horns of the altar round about, with his finger, and cleansed the altar from sin,—and <the remainder of the blood> poured he forth at the base of the altar, and hallowed it, putting a propitiatory-covering thereupon. 16 And he took all the fat that was on the inwards, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat,—and Moses made a perfume at the altar. 17 But <the bullock itself, and its skin, and its flesh and its dung> consumed he with fire, outside the camp, i—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

18 Then was brought near the ram for the ascending-sacrifice,—and Aaron and his sons leaned their hands upon the head of the ram; and it was slain,—and Moses dashed\(^a\) the blood against the altar, round about; 20 and [the ram itself] was cut up into its pieces,—and Moses made a perfume with the head and with the pieces, and with the fat;\(^b\) but [the inwards and the legs] were bathed in water,—and Moses made a perfume with the whole ram at the altar, <an ascending-sacrifice> it was'—for a satisfying odour, <an altar-flame> it was' unto Yahweh.

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

Then was brought near the second ram, the ram of installation,—and Aaron and his sons leaned their hands upon the head of the ram:

and it was slain, and Moses took of the blood thereof, and put upon the tip of Aaron’s right ear,—and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

Then were brought near the sons of Aaron, and Moses put of the blood upon the tip of their right ear, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot,—and Moses dashed\(^c\) the blood against the altar, round about.

And he took the fat and the fat-tail, and all the fat that was on the inwards, and the caul\(^d\) of the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat,—and the right shoulder; and <out of the basket of unleavened-cakes that was before Yahweh> took he one round unleavened-cake, and one round oil-cake, and one wafer,—and put them upon the fat portions, and upon the right shoulder;\(^e\) and placed the whole upon the opened palms of Aaron, and upon the opened palms of his sons,—and waved them as a wave-offering, before Yahweh. 28 And Moses took them from off their opened palms, and made a perfume at the altar upon the ascending-sacrifice,—<an installation> they were', for a satisfying odour, <an altar-flame> it was' unto Yahweh. 29 And Moses took the breast, and waved it as a wave-offering, before Yahweh,—<of the ram of installation> unto Moses it belonged, as a portion.

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And Moses took of the anointing’ oil, and of the blood that was upon the altar, and sprinkled upon Aaron, upon\(^f\) his garments, and upon his sons, and upon the garments of his sons, with him,—and hallowed Aaron, his\(^g\) garments, and his sons, and the garments of his sons, with him. 31 And Moses said unto Aaron and unto his sons,

Boil ye the flesh, at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and <there> shall ye eat it, and the bread which is in the basket of installation,—as I have been commanded,\(^i\) saying,

||Aaron and his sons|| shall eat it.

But <that which is left of the flesh, and of the bread> <with fire> shall ye consume.

And <from the entrance of the tent of meeting> shall ye not go forth, for seven days, until the day that filleth up the days of your installation,—because <for seven days> will he install you: 34 <as hath been done this day> hath Yahweh commanded to be done, to put a propitiatory-covering over you. 35 <Even at the entrance of the tent of meeting> shall ye abide, day and night, for seven days, and shall keep the watch of Yahweh, and shall not die,—for ||so|| am I commanded.

And Aaron and his sons did' all the things which Yahweh had commanded through the mediation\(^j\) of Moses.

§ 5. Aaron begins to officiate in the Priesthood, and the Glory of Yahweh appears.

Chapter 9.

And it came to pass, <on the eighth day> that Moses called for Aaron, and for his sons,—and for the elders of Israel; 2 and said unto Aaron—

Take for thyself a choice calf, as a sin-bearer,\(^k\) and a ram for an ascending-sacrifice, each without defect,—and bring them near before Yahweh; 3 and <unto the sons of Israel> shalt thou speak, saying,—

Take ye a he-goat, as a sin-bearer, and a calf and a young sheep, each a year old, without defect, for an ascending-sacrifice; and an ox and a ram for peace-offerings, to sacrifice before Yahweh, and a meal-offering

So they brought that which Moses commanded, before the tent of meeting,—and all the assembly drew near, and stood before Yahweh. 6 And Moses said—

||This|| is the thing which Yahweh hath commanded that ye shall do,—that the glory of Yahweh may appear unto you.

and Moses said unto Aaron—
Draw near unto the altar, and offer thy sin-bearer, and thine ascending-sacrifice, and put a propitiatory-covering about thyself, and about the people,—and offer the oblation of the people, and put a propitiatory-covering about them,

As Yahweh hath commanded.

So Aaron drew near unto the altar, and slew the sin-bearing’ calf, which was for himself; and the sons of Aaron brought the blood unto him, and he dipped his finger in the blood, and put [thereof] upon the horns of the altar,—and <the remainder of the] blood poured he out at the base of the altar; 10 and <with the fat and the kidneys, and the caul from the liver, of the sin-bearer> made he a perfume at the altar,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

But <the flesh and the skin> consumed he with fire, outside the camp. 12 Then slew he the ascending-sacrifice,—and the sons of Aaron presented unto him the blood, and he dashed it against the altar, round about.

And <the ascending-sacrifice> presented they unto him, piece by piece thereof, also the head,— and he made a perfume upon the

and he bathed the inwards, and the legs,—and made a perfume upon the ascending-sacrifice, at the altar. 15 Then brought he near the oblation of the people,—and took the sin-bearing goat which pertained to the people, and slew it and made therewith a sin-bearer, like the first. 16 Then brought he near the ascending-sacrifice,—and offered it, according to the regulation. 17 Then brought he near the meal-offering, and filled his hand therefrom, and made a perfume upon the altar,—in addition to the ascending-sacrifice of the morning. 18 Then slew he the ox, and the ram, as a peace-offering, which pertained unto the people,—and the sons of Aaron presented the blood unto him, and he dashed it against the altar, round about; 19 and the portions of fat, from the ox,—and from the ram, the fat-tail, and the covering, and the kidneys, and the caul of the liver; 20 and they put the portions of fat upon the breasts,—and he made a perfume with the fat at the altar; 21 but <the breasts and the right shoulder> did Aaron wave as a wave-offering, before Yahweh,—as Moses commanded.

Then Aaron lifted up his hands towards the people, and blessed them,—and he came down from offering the sin-bearer, and the ascending-sacrifice, and the peace-offering.

And <when Moses and Aaron had entered into the tent of meeting,—and had come forth, and blessed the people> then appeared the glory of Yahweh unto all the people;
<yea, there came forth fire from before Yahweh, and consumed, upon the altar, the ascending-sacrifice, and the portions of fat,—and all the people beheld, and shouted, and fell down upon their faces.>

§ 6. Aaron’s Sons, Nadab and Abihu, offer Strange Fire and are consumed.

Chapter 10.

Then Aaron’s sons, Nadab and Abihu, took each man his censer, and placed therein fire, and put thereon incense,—and brought near before Yahweh, strange fire, which he had not commanded them. 2 Then came there forth fire from before Yahweh, and consumed them,—and they died before Yahweh. 3 Then said Moses unto Aaron—

||The very thing|| that Yahweh spake, saying—
8 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

9 <Wine and strong drink> thou mayest not drink, — | thou nor thy sons with thee | when ye enter into the tent of meeting, so shall ye not die,—an age-abiding statute, to your generations;

10 That ye may make a difference, between the sacred and the common,—and between the unclean, and the clean;

11 And may teach the sons of Israel,—all the statutes which Yahweh hath spoken unto them, by the mediationb of Moses.

12 Then spake Moses unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and unto Ithamar his sons, that were left,

Take ye the meal-offering that is left, of the altar-flames of Yahweh, and eat it unleavened, beside the altar,—for <most holy> it is!; 13 therefore shall ye eat it in a holy place, for <thine by statute, and thy sons’ by statute> it is', from among the altar-flames of Yahweh,— for ||so|| am I commanded. 14 And <the wave-breast, and the wave-shoulder> shall ye eat in a clean place, | thou, and thy sons and thy daughters with thee|,—for <as thine by statute, and thy sons’ by statute> have they been given, from among the peace-offerings of the sons of Israel. 15 <The heave-shoulder and the wave-breast, upon the altar-flames of the fat portions> shall they bring in, to wave as a wave-offering, before Yahweh,—so shall they be thine, and thy sons’ with thee, by an age-abiding statute, As Yahweh hath commanded.

§ 8. Aaron’s Justification for not eating the Sin-offering.

16 Now <as for the sin-bearing’ goat> Moses [diligently sought] it, but lo! it had been burnt up,—then was he wroth against Eleazar and against Ithamar, the sons of Aaron that were left, saying:

17 Wherefore’ did ye not eat the sin-bearer in the holy place? for <most holy> it is’,—and ||the same|| hath he given you, that ye may bear the iniquity of the assembly, to put a propitiatory-covering over them, before Yahweh. 18 Lo! the blood thereof had not been taken into the holy place, | within|,—ye should have ||indeed eaten|| it, in a holy place, as I commanded.

19 Then spake Aaron unto Moses—

Lo! <this very day, when they had brought near their own sin-bearer, and their own ascending-sacrifice> there befell me’ such things as these,—<if, then, I had eaten of the sin-bearer this day> would it have been well-pleasing in the eyes of Yahweh?

20 And <when Moses heard that> then was it well-pleasing in his eyes.

§ 9. Concerning Clean and Unclean Beasts.

Chapter 11.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying unto them:

2 Speak ye unto the sons of Israel, saying,—

||These|| are the living things which ye may eat, of all the beasts which are upon the earth; 3 <Whatsoever parteth the hoo|, and is cloven-footed, and cheweth the cud, among beasts> ||[that]|| may ye eat. 4 Nevertheless ||these||

||The camel|| because <though he ||cheweth the cud> yet <the hoof> he parteth not, <unclean> he is’ to you;
5 And ||the coney||* because <though he ||cheweth the cud> yet <the hoof> he parteth not,—<unclean> he is’ to you;

9 ||These|| may ye eat, of all that are in the waters,—<all that have fins and scales> in the waters, in the seas and in the rivers> ||them|| may ye eat. 10 But <all that have not fins and scales> in the seas and in the rivers, of all that swarm in the waters, and of all the living souls that are in the waters> <an abomination> they are’ unto you; 11 and <an abomination> shall they remain to you,—<of their flesh> ye shall not eat, and <their carcases> shall ye abhor. 12 ||Whatsoever hath not fins and scales> in the waters> <an abomination> it is’ unto you.

20 <Every creeping thing that flieth, that goeth on all-fours> <an abomination> it is’ unto you. 21 Nevertheless ||these|| may ye eat, of all

26<As for every kind of beast which <though it parteth the hoof> yet is not cloven-footed, nor cheweth the cud> <unclean> they are’ unto you,—every one who toucheth them|| shall be unclean. 27 And <all that go upon their paws, among all the living things that go on all-fours> <unclean> they are’ unto you,—<of those that part the hoof> shall be unclean until the evening. 28 And ||he that beareth away the carcase of them|| shall wash his clothes, and shall be unclean until the evening,—<unclean> they are’ unto you.
29 And ||these|| <unto you> shall be unclean, among the creeping things that creep upon the earth,—the weazel and the mouse, and the lizard after its kind; 30 and the ferret and the chameleon, and the wall-lizard,—and the winding lizard, and the mole.
31 ||These|| are they which are unclean to you, among all that creep,—||whosoever toucheth them when they are dead|| shall be unclean until the evening; 32 and ||everything whereon any of them shall fall when they are dead|| shall be unclean—<of any articles of wood, or cloth, or skin, or sackcloth, any article wherewith any work is done>—shall be put in water and shall be unclean until the evening, and then be clean. 33 And <as for any earthen vessel whereinto any of them may fall> ||everything therein||

Chapter 12.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying,

3 <A ||woman|| when she conceiveth seed, and giveth birth to a male child> then shall she be unclean seven days, <according to the days of her removal in her sickness shall she be unclean. ³ And <on the eighth day> shall the flesh of his foreskin be circumcised.

4 And <for thirty-three days> shall she continue in the blood of purification,—<no hallowed thing> shall she touch, and <into the sanctuary> shall she not enter, until her days of purification are fulfilled. ⁵ But <if ||a female child|| she bear> then shall she be unclean two weeks, as in her removal,—and <for sixty-six days> shall she continue in the blood of purification. ⁶ And <when the days of her purification are fulfilled, whether for a son or for a daughter> she shall bring in a lamb, the choice of its year, as an ascending-sacrifice, and a young pigeon or a turtle-dove, as a sin-bearer, unto the entrance of the tent of meeting, unto the priest; ⁷ and he shall bring it near before Yahweh, so shall the priest⁸ put a propitiatory-covering over her, and she shall be clean from her fountain of blood.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying—

2 <When ||any man|| shall have—in the skin of his flesh—a rising, or a scab, or a bright spot, and it shall become in the skin of his flesh the plague-spot\(^b\) of leprosy> then shall he be brought in unto Aaron the priest, or unto one of his sons the priests; \(^3\) and the priest shall view the spot in the skin of his flesh—\(^≤\)if \(||the hair in the plague|| have turned white and the appearance of the spot be deeper than the skin of his flesh\(≥\)|| the plague-spot of leprosy\(≥\) it is\(≤\)|—so the priest shall view him, and pronounce him unclean. \(^4\) But \(≤\)if the bright spot, though white in the skin of his flesh, is not \(||deeper|| in appearance than the skin, and \(||the hair|| hath not turned white\(≥\)|| then shall the priest shut up the plagued one,\(≤\) seven days. \(^5\)

And the priest shall view him on the seventh day, and lo! \(≤\)if the spot hath stayed to his sight,\(≥\) and the spot hath not spread in the skin> then shall the priest shut him up seven days, more\(≤\).

6 Then shall the priest view him, on the seventh day, a second time, and lo! \(||the spot is \(||faint||, and the spot hath not spread in the skin|| then shall the priest pronounce him clean—it is \(||a scab||, and he shall wash his clothes, and be clean. \(^7\) But \(≤\)if the scab shall have \(||verily spread|| in the skin, since he was shown to the priest that he might be cleansed\(≥\)|| then shall he shew himself again\(≤\) unto the priest; \(^8\) and the priest shall take a view, and lo! \(||the scab hath spread in the skin\(≥\)|| then shall the priest pronounce him unclean—\(||leprous\|| it is\(≤\).\)

\(^b\) The P.B. has here merely “mark.” But (1) it is scarcely right to suppress all reference to Divine infliction; and (2) “spot” is better than “mark” with reference to a person, though “mark” is to be preferred to “spot” when applied to a house, as in chap. xiv. 34. “Plague” throughout would be too heavy, and would need frequent qualification. The translation here has therefore been lightened in places, yet so as to keep the reader in mind of the main facts and the ideas associated with them.

\(^c\) Lit.: “the plague-spot.”

\(^d\) Gr.: “in its appearance”—G.n.

\(^e\) Or: “a second time.”

\(^f\) “Need not”—P.B.

\(^g\) That is: the case is undoubted; there is no need of confinement to wait for further proof.
and if it clearly spreadeth in the skin then shall the priest pronounce him unclean—a plague-spot it is'. But if in its place the bright spot stayeth, hath not spread a boil it is', and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

Or when any one’s flesh hath in the skin thereof, a fiery burning—and the burning wound becometh a bright spot, reddish white, or white then shall the priest view it—and lo! if the hair is turned white in the bright spot, and the appearance thereof is deeper than the skin leprosy it is', broken out in the burning, so the priest shall pronounce him unclean, the plague-spot of leprosy it is'. But if the priest shall view it, and lo! there is not in the bright spot, white hair, and it is not deeper than the skin, but itself is faint then shall the priest shut him up seven days; and the priest shall view him on the seventh day, if it hath plainly spread in the skin then shall the priest pronounce him unclean, the plague-spot of leprosy it is'. But if, in its place, the bright spot hath stayed, and hath not spread in the skin, but itself is faint the rising of a burning it is', and the priest shall pronounce him clean, for only the inflaming of the burning it is'.

And when there cometh to be in any man or woman a spot, in the head, or in the beard then shall the priest view the spot, and lo! if the appearance thereof is deeper than the skin, and therein is yellow, thin hair then shall the priest pronounce him unclean, a scall it is', a leprosy of the head or of the beard it is'. But when the priest vieweth the spot and lo! there is no appearance of it deeper than the skin, and no dark hair is therein then shall the priest shut up him that hath the plague-spot of scall, seven days; and the priest shall view the spot on the seventh day, and lo! if the scall hath not spread, and there hath not come to be therein yellow hair—and the appearance of the scall is not deeper than the skin then shall he shave himself, but the scall shall he not shave, and the priest shall shut up him who hath the scall seven days, more; then shall the priest view the scall, on the seventh day, and lo! if the scall hath not spread in the skin, and the appearance thereof is not deeper than the skin then shall the priest pronounce him clean, and he shall wash his clothes, and be clean. But if the scall do indeed spread in the skin, after he hath been pronounced clean then shall the priest take a view, and lo! if the scall hath spread in the skin the priest shall not search for the yellow hair—he is', and the scall is at a stay, and dark hair hath grown up therein the scall is healed', clean he is', and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

And when either man or woman hath in the skin of their flesh bright spots, bright spots that are white then shall the priest take a view, and lo! if in the skin of their flesh are bright spots, that are dull white dead white spot it is', that hath broken through in the skin—clean he is'.

And when any man’s head loseth its hair though bald, he is clean. And if in front his head loseth its hair though bald in the forehead he is clean.

But should there be in the baldness behind, or in the baldness in front a spot, that is reddish white leprosy broken out it is', in his baldness behind, or in his baldness in front. So the priest shall view it, and lo! if the rising-spot be reddish white in his baldness behind, or, in his baldness in front, like the appearance of leprosy in the skin of the flesh a leper is he, unclean he is',—unclean shall the priest pronounce him, in his head is his plague.

Now as for the leper in whom is the plague His clothes shall be rent, and his head shall be bare, and as his beard shall he cover,—and unclean! Unclean! shall he cry. All the days that the plague is in him shall he continue unclean, he is',—alone shall he remain, outside the camp shall be his dwelling.

And when there is a plague-spot of leprosy,—whether in a garment of wool, or a garment of flax; or in warp or in weft, made with flax, or with wool,—or in a skin, or in anything wrought of skin; and the spot cometh to be of a greenish yellow or reddish, in the garment or in the skin, whether in warp or in weft, or in any utensil of skin—<the plague-spot of leprosy> it is;—and shall be shown unto the priest; and the priest shall view the spot,—and shall shut up him that is plagued, seven days; then shall he view the spot, on the seventh day <if the spot hath spread in the garment, whether in warp or in weft, or in the skin, or anything which may be made of skin for service> the spot is  it is. Then shall he burn up the garment, whether it be in the warp or the weft, in wool or in flax, or any utensil of skin, wherein shall be the plague-spot,—for  it is, <in fire> shall it be burnt up.

And <if the priest hath taken a view, and lo! the spot is [faint] since it hath been washed>, then shall he rend it out of the garment, or out of the skin, whether out of the warp or out of the weft; and if it appear still in the garment—either in the warp or in the weft, or in any utensil of skin>  it is,—<in the fire> shalt thou burn up that wherein is the plague. But <as for the garment—whether the warp or the weft, or any utensil of skin which thou shalt wash, and the plague shall depart therefrom> then shall it be washed a second time, and shall be clean.

This is the law as to the plague-spot of leprosy, in a garment of wool or of flax, whether in the warp or the weft, or in any utensil of skin,—To pronounce it clean, or to pronounce it unclean.

Chapter 14.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying—

Then shall he burn up that wherein is the plague. And the priest shall take a view,—and shall wash his clothes, and shave off all his hair, and bathe in water, and be clean, and <afterwards> shall he come into the camp,—and dwell outside his tent, seven days; and it shall be <on the seventh day> that he shall shave off all the hair of his head, and his beard, and his eyebrows, <even all his hair> shall he shave off,—and shall wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in water, so shall he be clean. And <on the eighth day> he shall take two he-lambs, without defect, and one ewe-lamb, the choice of its year, without defect,—and three-tenths of fine meal for a meal-offering, overflowed with oil, and one log of oil. And the priest... that is cleansing him shall cause the man that is to be cleansed, and those things, to stand before Yahweh, at the opening of the tent of meeting. 12 And the priest shall take one’ he-lamb, and bring him near as a guilt-bearer, and the log of oil,—and shall wave them as a wave-offering, before Yahweh; 13 and shall slay the lamb in the place where the sin-bearer and the ascending-sacrifice are slain, in the holy place,—for <like the sin-bearer> ||[the guilt-bearer]|| is the priest’s, <most holy> it is. 14 Then shall the priest take of the blood of the guilt-bearer, and the priest shall put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed,—and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot; 15 and the priest shall take of the log of oil,—and shall pour it upon the palm of the priest’s left hand, 16 and the priest shall dip his right finger [and take] of the oil that is on the palm of his left hand,—and shall sprinkle of the oil with his finger seven times, before Yahweh:

and <of the remainder of the oil which is on the palm of his hand> shall the priest put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot,—upon the blood of the guilt-bearer; 18 and <that which remaineth of the oil which is on the palm of the priest’s hand> he shall put upon the head of him that is to be cleansed,—so shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him, before Yahweh. 19 Then shall the priest offer the sin-bearer, and shall put a propitiatory-covering over him that is to be cleansed, because of his uncleanness,—and <afterwards> shall he slay the ascending-sacrifice.

And the priest shall cause the ascending-sacrifice, and the meal-offering to ascend at the altar,—so shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him, and he shall be clean.

But <if he be ||poor|| and his hand hath not enough> then shall he take one he-lamb as a guilt-bearer to be waved, to put a propitiatory-covering over him,—and one-tenth of fine meal, overflowed with oil for a meal-offering, and a log of oil, 22 and two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, for which his hand hath enough,—so shall one’ be a sin-bearer, and the other’ an ascending-sacrifice. 23 And he shall bring them in, on the eighth day, for his cleansing, unto the priest,—unto the entrance of the tent of meeting, before Yahweh. 24 Then shall the priest take the guilt-bearing lamb and the log of oil,—and the priest shall wave them as a wave-offering, before Yahweh. 25 Then shall the guilt-bearing lamb be slain, and the priest shall take of the blood of the guilt-bearer, and put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed,—and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot; 26 also <of the oil> shall the priest pour out,—on the palm of his own left hand; 27 and the priest shall sprinkle, with his right finger, of the oil that is on the palm of his left hand,—seven times, before Yahweh;

then shall the priest put, of the oil that is on the palm of his hand, upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot,—upon the place of the blood of the guilt-offering;

and <that which remaineth of the oil which is on the palm of the priest’s hand> shall he put upon the head of him that is to be cleansed,—to put a propitiatory-covering over him, before Yahweh. 30 Then shall he offer one’ of the turtle-doves, or of the young pigeons,—of that for which his hand hath enough; 31 even that for which his hand hath enough,—the one as a sin-bearer and the other as an ascending-sacrifice, upon the meal-offering, b—so shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over him that is to be cleansed, before Yahweh. 32 ||This|| is the law for him in whom hath been the plague of leprosy,—whose hand hath not enough, for that which pertaineth to his cleansing.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

<When ye enter into the land of Canaan which I’m about to give you, for a possession,—and I put a plague-mark of leprosy in a house, of the land of your possession>, 35 then shall he that owneth the house come in, and tell the priest, saying,— and the priest shall give command, and they shall empty the house, ere yet the priest cometh in to view the mark, so that he do not pronounce unclean all that is in the house,—and after this shall the priest come in, to view the house: 37 then shall he view the mark, and lo! <if the mark is in the walls of the house, with sunken places, greenish yellow, or reddish,—and they appear to be lower than the [surface of the] wall>, 38 then shall the priest come forth out of the house, unto the entrance of the house,—and shall shut up the house, seven days; 39 and the priest shall return on the seventh day,—and take a view, and lo! <if the mark hath spread in the walls of the house>, 40 then shall the priest give command, and they shall pull out the stones, wherein is the mark,—and cast them forth outside the city, into an unclean place; 41 and <the house itself> shall he cause to be scraped on the inside, round about,—and they shall pour out the mortar which they have scraped off, outside the city, into an unclean place; 42 and shall take other stones, and put in the place of the stones,—and <other mortar> shall he take, and plaster the house. 43 But <if the mark again' breaketh out in the house, after the taking out of the stones,—and after the scraping of the house, and after the plastering>, 44 then shall the priest come in, and take a view, and lo! <if the mark hath spread in the house>  it is' in the house, <unclean> it is', 45 and he shall pull down the house,—the stones thereof, and the timber thereof, and all the mortar of the house,—and shall carry them forth outside the city, into an unclean place. 46 And <as for him that entereth into the house, all the days it is shut up> he shall be unclean, until the evening; 47 And ||he that lieth in the house|| shall wash his clothes, and ||he that eateth in the house|| shall wash his clothes. 48 But <though the priest ||do cometh> into the house, and take a view, yet lo! <if the plague-mark hath not spread in the house after the house was plastered> then shall the priest pronounce the house clean; 49 Then shall he take, to cleanse the house two birds,—and cedar wood, and crimson and hyssop; 50 and shall kill one bird,—within an earthen vessel, over living water; 51 and take the cedar wood, and the hyssop, and the crimson, and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of the slain bird, and in the living water,—and sprinkle the house, seven times; 52 and so cleanse the house, with the blood of the bird, and with the living water,—and with the living bird, and with the cedar wood, and with the hyssop, and with the crimson; 53 and shall let go the living bird unto the outside of the city, unto the face of the field,—so shall he put a propitiatory-covering over the house, and it shall be clean.

§ 13. The Great Day of Propitiation: Once a Year.

Chapter 16.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, after the death of the two sons of Aaron,—when they had offered strange fire before Yahweh, and died.

2 And Yahweh said unto Moses—

Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he do not come at all times into the holy place, within the veil,—into the presence of the propitiatory, which is upon the ark, so shall he not die, for <in the cloud> will I appear upon the propitiatory.

3 <Herewith> shall Aaron come into the holy place,—With a bullock, the choice of the herd, as a sin-bearer, and a ram as an ascending-sacrifice. 4 <A holy tunic of linen> shall he put on, and |drawers of linen| shall be upon his flesh, and |with a band of linen| shall he gird himself, and |with a turban of linen| shall his head be wrapped about,—<holy garments> they are’, therefore shall he bathe in water his flesh, and so put them on. 5 And <from the assembly of the sons of Israel> shall he receive two he-goats, for bearing sin,—and one ram, as an ascending-sacrifice.

6 Then shall Aaron bring near the sin-bearing bullock which is for himself,—and put a propitiatory-covering about himself, and about his household.

7 Then shall he take the two goats,—and cause them to stand, before Yahweh, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 8 And Aaron shall cast lots over the two goats,—one lot for Yahweh, and one lot for Azazel. 9 Then shall Aaron bring near the goat over which came up the lot for Yahweh,—and shall make of him a sin-bearer; 10 but <the goat over which came up the lot for Azazel> shall he cause to stand alive—before Yahweh, to put a propitiatory-covering over him,—to send him away unto Azazel, towards the desert.

11 So Aaron shall bring near the sin-bearing bullock which is for himself, and shall put a propitiatory-covering about himself, and about his household,—and shall slay the sin-bearing bullock which is for himself;

12 and shall take the censer-full of burning coals of fire from off the altar, from before Yahweh, and his hands full of fragrant incense, beaten small,—and bring within the veil; 13 and shall put the incense upon the fire, before Yahweh,—and the cloud of incense shall cover the propitiatory which is over the testimony, and he shall not die.

14 Then shall he take of the blood of the bullock, and shall sprinkle with his finger upon the face of the propitiatory, eastwards,—and <before the propitiatory> shall he sprinkle seven times, of the blood, with his finger.

15 Then shall he slay the sin-bearing goat which is for the people, and bring in its blood, within the veil,—and do with its blood, as he did to the blood of the bullock, and shall sprinkle it, upon the propitiatory, and before the propitiatory: 16 so shall he put a propitiatory-covering over the holy place, because of the uncleanness of the sons of Israel, and because of their transgressions, to the extent of all their sins,—and ||so|| shall he do for the tent of...
And Aaron shall lean his two hands upon the head of the living goat, and confess over him, all the iniquities of the sons of Israel, and all their transgressions, to the extent of all their sins, —and shall put them upon the head of the goat, and then send him away, by the hand of a man appointed, towards the desert: c so shall the goat bear upon him all their iniquities, into a lone’ land, —and he shall set the goat free, in the desert.

Then shall Aaron come into the tent of meeting, and put off the linen’ garments which he put on when he came into the holy place, —and shall leave them there;
and shall bathe his flesh in water, in a holy place, and put on his [other] garments, —and go forth, and offer his own ascending-sacrifice, and the ascending-sacrifice of the people, so shall he put a propitiatory-covering about himself, and about the people; and <with the fat of the sin-bearer> shall he make a perfume at the altar.
And ||he that sent away the goat unto Azazel|| shall wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in water, —and <after that> shall he come into the camp.

And the <sin-bearing bullock, and the sin-bearing goat, whose blood was brought in to make a propitiatory-covering in the holy place> shall be carried forth, outside the camp,—and they shall burn up, f in fire, their skins and their flesh, and their dung; g

And ||he that hath burned them|| shall wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in water,—and <after that> shall he come into the camp.

And it shall become unto you, a statute age-abiding,— <In the seventh month, on the tenth of the month>
Shall ye humble your souls,
And <no work> shall ye do,
The homeborn,
Or the sojourner that sojourneth in your midst;

For <on this day> shall a propitiatory-covering be put over you, to cleanse you,—
<From all your sins before Yahweh> shall ye be clean.

<A sabbath of sacred rest> h it is’ unto you, Therefore shall ye humble your souls,
A statute age-abiding.

Therefore shall the priest who shall be anointed, and installed, to minister as priest in the stead of his father, [make propitiation], —
So then he shall put on the linen’ garments, the holy’ garments;
And make propitiation for the holy’ sanctuary,
And <for the tent of meeting, and for the altar> shall he make propitiation,— <Over the priests also, and over all the people of the convocation> shall he put a covering by propitiation.

So shall this become unto you an age-abiding statute,—to put a propitiatory-covering over the sons of Israel, because of all their sins, ||Once in the year||.

And he did’

||This|| is the thing which Yahweh hath commanded, saying:
3 \(\leq||\) What man soever there be of the house of Israel, who slayeth an ox or lamb or goat, in the camp,—or who slayeth it outside the camp; \(\leq\) and \(\leq\) unto the entrance of the tent of meeting> bringeth it not in, to present [it as] an oblation unto Yahweh, before the habitation of Yahweh> \(\leq||\) [blood] shall be imputed to that man—\(\leq||\) what man soever hath he shed, therefore shall that man be cut off from the midst of his people: \(\leq\) to the end that the sons of Israel may bring in their sacrifices which they are offering upon the face of the field, that they may bring them in unto Yahweh—unto the entrance of the tent of meeting, unto the priest,—and that so \(\leq\) as peace-offerings unto Yahweh> they may offer them. \(\leq\) Then shall the priest dash the blood against the altar of Yahweh, at the entrance of the tent of meeting,—and shall make a perfume of the fat, as a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh; so shall they no more offer their sacrifices unto demons, \(\geq\) after whom they are uncleanly going away,—\(\geq\) a statute abiding shall this be to them, unto their generations. \(\geq\) Wherefore \(\geq\) shall thou say:

\(\leq||\) What man soever there may be of the house of Israel, or of the sojourners that sojourn in their midst,—who causeth to go up an ascending-offering, or a sacrifice; and \(\leq\) unto the entrance of the tent of meeting> doth not bring it in, to offer it unto Yahweh> then shall that man be cut off from among his kinsfolk.

And \(\leq\) what man soever there may be of the house of Israel, or of the sojourners that sojourn in their midst, that partaketh of any manner of blood then will I set my face against the person that partaketh of the blood, and will cut him off from the midst of his people. \(\leq\) For \(\leq\) as for the life of the flesh \(\leq\) in the blood> it is the, therefore have \(\leq||\) given it unto you upon the altar, to put a propitiatory-covering over your lives,—\(\leq\) for \(\leq\) the blood> it is, which \(\leq\) by virtue of the life maketh propitiation. \(\leq\) For this cause> have I said unto the sons of Israel, \(\leq||\) Not a person from among you shall partake of blood,—

Even \(\leq||\) the sojourner that sojourneth in your midst> shall not partake of blood.

And \(\leq\) what man soever there may be, of the sons of Israel, or of the sojourners that sojourn in their midst, who taketh by hunting any wild-beast or bird that may be eaten then shall he pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust; \(\leq\) for \(\leq\) as for the life of all flesh \(\leq\) the blood thereof> \(\leq\) for the life thereof> standeth, therefore have I said unto the sons of Israel—

\(\leq||\) Of the blood of no manner of flesh> shall ye partake.

For \(\leq\) the life of all flesh> is \(\leq\) the blood thereof>; whose partaketh thereof> shall be cut off.

And \(\leq\) in the case of any person who eateth that which died of itself or was torn in pieces, whether he be home-born, or a sojourner then shall he wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until the evening, and then be clean.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them,—

||I—Yahweh|| am your God;—

3 |<After the doings of the land of Egypt wherein ye dwell>| shall ye not do,—
And |<after the doings of the land of Canaan, whither ||I|| am bringing you in>| shall ye not do,
And |<in their statutes>| shall ye not walk:
And |<my statutes>| shall ye observe, to walk therein,—

||I—Yahweh|| am your God.

Therefore shall ye observe my statutes, and my regulations,
Which |<if the son of earth shall do them>| Then shall he live in them,—

||I|| am Yahweh.

4 |<No person whatsoever>| |<unto any of the near kin of his own flesh>| shall approach, to uncover the parts of shame,—

||I|| am Yahweh.

5 |<The shame of thy father, even the shame of thy mother>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<thy mother> she is', thou shalt not uncover her shame.

6 |<The shame of thy father's wife>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<thy father's wife> it is'.

7 |<The shame of thy sister, daughter of thy father, or daughter of thy mother, born at home or born abroad>| thou shalt not uncover their shame.

8 |<The shame of the daughter of thy son, or the daughter of thy daughter>| thou shalt not uncover their shame,—|<thine own shame> they are'.

9 |<The shame of the daughter of thy father's wife, born to thy father, she being thy sister>| thou shalt not uncover her shame.

10 |<The shame of thy mother's sister>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<thy mother's near of kin> she is'.

11 |<The shame of thy mother's sister>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<thy mother's near of kin> she is'.

12 |<The shame of thy father's brother>| shalt thou not uncover |<unto his wife>| shalt thou not approach, |<thine aunt> she is'.

13 |<The shame of thy father's daughter-in-law>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<thy son's wife> she is', thou shalt not uncover her shame.

14 |<The shame of thy brother's wife>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<the shame of thy brother> it is'.

15 |<The shame of a woman, and of her daughter>| shalt thou not uncover,—|<neither the daughter of her son nor the daughter of her daughter>| shalt thou take, to uncover her shame, |<near of kin> they are', <wickedness> it is.

16 And || shalt thou not take,—to cause rivalry, by uncovering her shame, besides her own, while she is living.

17 And |<unto a woman during her removal for uncleanness>| shalt thou not approach, to uncover her shame.

18 And |<of the wife of thy neighbour>| shalt thou not have carnal knowledge,|<an abomination> it is.

19 And |<of no beast>| shalt thou deliver up, to cause to pass through to Molech,—that thou profane not the name of thy God,

10 ||I|| am Yahweh.

20 And |<with mankind>| shalt thou not lie, as with womankind,—|<an abomination> it is'.

21 And |<of no beast>| shalt thou have carnal knowledge, to commit uncleanness therewith,—|<neither shall ||a woman|| present herself to a beast to couch down thereto,— <confusion> it is'.

22 Do not make yourselves unclean, in any of these things,—
For |<in all these things> have the nations made themselves unclean, whom ||I|| am sending out from before you.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

2 <Unto the sons of Israel> therefore, shalt thou say,

<||What man soever|| there may be of the sons of Israel, or of the sojourners that sojourn in Israel, that giveth of his seed unto Molech> a he shall ||surely be put to death||,—||the people of the land|| shall stone him with stones; b ||I, also|| will set my face against that man, and will cut him off out of the midst of his people,—because <of his seed> hath he given unto Molech, b seeing that he hath made unclean my sanctuary, even to the extent of profaning my holy' name. c But <if the people of the land ||do even hide|| their eyes from that man, when he giveth of his seed unto Molech, d—so as not to put him to death> g then will ||myself|| set my face against that man, and against his family, d—and will cut him off, and all that follow unchastely after him—in going unchastely after Molech e—out of the midst of their people. e <The person also that turneth unto mediums and unto oracles, in going unchastely after them> then will I set my face against that person, and will cut him off out of the midst of his people.

§ 17. Especial Sanctity enjoined on the Priests.

Chapter 21.

1 And Yahweh said unto Moses,

Say unto the priests, the sons of Aaron,—yea thou shalt say unto them,

For a dead person‖ shall no one make himself unclean, among his people:

2 Saving for his kin, that are near unto him, for his mother or for his father, or for his son or for his daughter, or for his brother; 3 or for his sister, a virgin who is near unto him, who belongeth not unto a husband,— he may make himself unclean:

4 He shall not make himself unclean, being a chief among his people,—by profaning himself:

5 They shall not make a baldness behind in their head, and the border of their beard shall they not cut off,—

6 Holy persons‖ shall they be unto their God, and not profane the name of their God,—for the altar-flames of Yahweh, the food of their God do they bring near— Therefore shall they be holy.

7 A woman that is unchaste or dishonoured should not take,

And a woman divorced from her husband shall they not take,— § 18. Holiness further enforced on both Priests and People by Demand for Perfect Offerings.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

18. <Speak unto Aaron, and unto his sons, and unto all the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them—

<What man ||soever|| of the house of Israel, or of the sojourners c in Israel, may bring near his oblation, as regardeth any of their vows, or any of their freewill offerings which they may bring near unto Yahweh, as an ascending-sacrifice>—

<that ye may be accepted> [it must be] a male without defect, of the beesee, or of the sheep, or of the goats: 20 <whatsoever hath in it a blemish> shall ye not bring near,—for it shall not be accepted for you.

And <whosoever would bring near a peace-offering unto Yahweh, to consecrate a vow, or as a freewill-offering with a bullock or a sheep> <without defect> shall it be, to be accepted, no ||blemish|| shall be therein. 22 Blind, or broken, or rent, or having a running sore, or scurvy, or scab> ye shall not bring these near unto Yahweh,—and no ||altar-flame|| shall ye present therefrom upon the altar, unto Yahweh. 23 <Whether an ox or a lamb, long or short limb> <as a free-will offering> thou mayest offer it, but ||for a vow> it shall not he accepted. 24 But <that which is bruised in the stones, or broken therein, or torn or cut> shall ye neither bring near unto Yahweh, nor ||on your own land> shall ye offer. 25 <Even at the hand of the son of a stranger> shall ye not bring near the food of your God, of any of these,—for ||their damage|| is in them, ||a blemish|| is in them, they shall not be accepted for you.

<When ||a beeve or a sheep or a goat|| is brought forth> then shall it be seven days under its dam,—<and from the eighth day and onwards> it shall be accepted as an oblation of an altar-flame, unto Yahweh. 28 <Whether cow or ewe—it and its young> shall ye not slaughter on one day.

And <when ye would offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving unto Yahweh> <for your acceptance> shall ye offer it. 30 <On the same day> shall it be eaten, ye shall not leave thereof until morning,— § 19. Appointed Seasons.

Chapter 23.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them,

<As for the appointed seasons of Yahweh, which ye shall proclaim as holy convocations> ||these|| are they—my appointed seasons:—

3 <Six days> shall work be done, but <on the seventh day> shall there be a sabbath of sacred rest, a holy convocation, <no work> shall ye do,— shall it be unto Yahweh, in all your dwellings.

4 ||These|| are the appointed seasons of Yahweh, holy convocations,—which ye shall proclaim in their appointed season:—

5 <In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, between the evenings> is a Passover unto Yahweh; 6 and <on the fifteenth day of this month> is the festival of unleavened cakes unto Yahweh,—<seven days—unleavened cakes> shall ye eat. 7 <On the first day—a holy convocation> shall there be to you: <no laborious work> shall ye do. 8 So then ye shall bring near an altar-flame unto Yahweh, seven days,—<on the seventh day> [shall there be] a holy convocation, <no laborious work> shall ye do.

9 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

be unto Yahweh, [for the priest]. 21 And ye shall make proclamation on this self-same day—a holy convocation—shall it be unto you; <no laborious work> shall ye do,—an age-abiding statute, in all your dwellings, unto your generations. 22 And <when ye reap the harvest of your land> thou shalt not wholly clear the border of thy field, when thou reapest, and <the gleanings of thy field> shalt thou not glean,—<for the poor and for the sojourner> shalt thou leave them. |||—Yahweh|| am your God.

23 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

24 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying:

25 <In the seventh month, on the first of the month> shall there be unto you a sacred rest, a trumpet-blowing commemoration, a holy convocation. 26 <no laborious work> shall ye do,—but ye shall bring near an altar-flame unto Yahweh.

27 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying,

Surely <on the tenth of this seventh month> is ||the Day of Propitiation|| a holy convocation—shall it be to you, therefore shall ye humble your souls,—and bring near an altar-flame unto Yahweh. 28 And <no work> shall ye do, on this selfsame day,—for  it is, to put a propitiatory-covering over you before Yahweh your God. 29 For <whosoever be the person> that shall not be humbled on this selfsame day then shall he be cut off from among his kinsfolk. 30 And <whosoever be the person> that shall do any work on this selfsame day then will I destroy that person from the midst of his people. 31 <No work> shall ye do,—an age-abiding statute, to your generations, in all your dwellings. 32 <A sabbath of sacred rest> shall it be unto you, so shall ye humble your souls,—<on the ninth of the month, in the evening> shall ye keep your sabbath. 33 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

34 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying:—

<On the fifteenth day of this seventh month> shall be the festival of booths, for seven days, unto Yahweh. 35 <On the first day> [shall be] a holy convocation,—<no laborious work> shall ye do. 36 <Seven days> shall ye bring near an altar-flame unto Yahweh: <on the eighth day—a holy convocation> shall there be unto you, so shall ye bring near an altar-flame unto Yahweh—<the closing of the feast> it is', <no laborious work> shall ye do.

37 ||These|| are the appointed seasons of Yahweh, which ye shall proclaim, as holy convocations,—for bringing near, as an altar-flame unto Yahweh, an ascending-sacrifice, and a meal-offering, a sacrifice and a drink-offering, each day’s appointment on its own day:—

38 besides the sabbaths of Yahweh, and besides your presents, and besides all your vows, and besides all your freewill offerings which ye shall give unto Yahweh.

39 Surely’ <on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when ye have gathered in the yield of the land> shall ye celebrate the festival of Yahweh, seven days,—<on the first day> a sacred rest, and <on the eighth day> a sacred rest. 40 So then ye shall take you, on the first day, boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm-trees, and boughs of thick trees, and poplars of the ravine,—and shall rejoice before Yahweh your God, seven days.

40 So shall ye celebrate it as a festival unto Yahweh, seven days in the year,—a statute age-abiding, to your generations.

41 <In the seventh month> shall ye celebrate it; <In booths> shall ye dwell seven days;—||All the home-born in Israel|| shall dwell in booths:

42 To the end that your generations may know, that <in booths> made I the sons of Israel to dwell, when I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt,— § 20. Provision for the Sanctuary, in Oil and Bread.

Chapter 24.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:
2 Command the sons of Israel, That they bring unto thee—pure oil olive, beaten, for giving light,—to cause the lamp to burn up continually. 3 <Outside the veil of the testimony, in the tent of meeting> shall Aaron order it, from evening until morning, before Yahweh, continually,—a statute, age-abiding, to your generations. 4 <Upon the pure lampstand> shall he order the lamps,—before Yahweh, continually.
5 And thou shalt take fine meal, and bake it, in twelve cakes,—<of two-tenths> shall each' cake be. 6 And thou shalt set them in two rows, six in a row,—upon the pure table, before Yahweh. 7 And thou shalt put, upon each row, pure frankincense,—so shall it belong unto the bread as a memorial, an altar-flame unto Yahweh. 8 <Sabbath day by sabbath day> shall he order it, before Yahweh, continually,—from the sons of Israel, as an age-abiding covenant. 9 so shall it be for Aaron and for his sons, and they shall eat it, in a holy place,—for <most holy> shall it be unto him, from among the altar-flames of Yahweh, a statute age-abiding.

10 And forth went the son of a woman of Israel—<he> being the son of a man of Egypt—in the midst of the sons of Israel; 11 and the son of the woman of Israel, and a man of Israel, reviled one another in the camp. And the son of the Israelitish woman uttered contumeliously the Name, and reviled. So they brought him in unto Moses,—now ||the name of his mother|| was Shelomith, daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan; 12 and they put him in ward,—that a clear answer might be given to them, at the mouth of Yahweh.
14 Bring forth him that reviled, unto the out-side of the camp, then shall all that heard [him] lean their hands upon his head,—and all the assembly shall stone him. 15 And <unto the sons of Israel> shalt thou speak, saying,— ||What man soever curseth his God|| shall bear his sin. 16 And ||he that contumeliously uttereth the name of Yahweh|| shall be ||surely put to death||, all the assembly shall ||surely stone|| him,—<as the sojourner, so the home-born> <when he contumeliously-uttereth the Name> he shall be put to death.
17 And <when any man> by smiting taketh the life< of any human being> he shall be surely put to death. 18 And ||he that by smiting taketh away the life< of a beast|| shall make it good,—<life for life>. 19 And <when any man> inflicteth a blemish upon his neighbour <as he hath done>, ||so|| shall it be done to him: <fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth> <as he inflicteth a blemish upon a human being> ||so|| shall one be inflicted upon him. 20 And ||he that killeth< a beast|| shall make it good,—and ||he that killeth a human being|| shall be put to death. 22 <One rule> shall ye have, <as the sojourner> ||so the home-born|| shall be,—

For ||—Yahweh|| am your God.

23 So then Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, and they took forth the reviler, unto the outside of the camp, and stoned him with stones. Thus ||the sons of Israel|| did’, as Yahweh commanded’ Moses.

thou sow thy field, and shalt thou prune thy vineyard,—and gather the increase thereof; 4 but in the seventh year—a sabbath of sacred rest> shall there be unto the land, a sabbath unto Yahweh: thy field shalt thou not sow, and thy vineyard shalt thou not prune; 5 <that which growth of itself of thy harvest> shalt thou not reap; and <the grapes of thine unpruned vines> shalt thou not cut off;  shall there be to the land. 6 So shall the sabbath of the land be unto you for food: <unto thee, and unto thy servant and unto thy handmaid,—and unto thy hireling, and unto thy sojourners that are sojourning with thee; 7 and unto thy tame-beasts, and unto the wild-beasts that are in thy land> shall belong all the increase thereof, for food.

And thou shalt count to thee seven weeks< of years, seven years, seven times,—so shall the days of the seven weeks< of years become to thee, forty-nine years. 9 Then shalt thou cause a signal-horn to pass through, in the seventh month, on the tenth of the month: <on the Day of Propitiation> shall ye cause a horn to pass throughout all your land. 10 So shall ye hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim freedom throughout the land, to all the dwellers thereof,— shall it be unto you, and ye shall return, every man unto his possession, and <every man, unto his family> shall ye return.

<A jubilee> shall that fiftieth year be unto you,—ye shall not sow, neither shall ye reap the self-grown corn thereof, nor cut off the grapes of the unpruned vines thereof. 12 For  it is', <holy> shall it be unto you,—<out of the field> shall ye eat her increase.

<In this same jubilee> year shall ye return, every man unto his possession.

And <when ye sell anything to thy neighbour, or buy aught at thy neighbour’s hand> do not overreach one another. <By the number of years after the jubilee> shalt thou buy of thy neighbour,—<by the number of the years of increase> shall he sell unto thee; 16 <according to the multitude of the years> shalt thou increase the price thereof, and <according to the fewness of the years> shalt thou diminish the price thereof,—because <the sum of the increase> it is' that he selleth thee. 17 So then ye shall not overreach one another; but thou shalt stand in awe of thy God,—for [I—Yahweh] am your God.

Wherefore ye shall do my statutes, and <my regulations> shall ye observe, and do them,—so shall ye dwell upon the land with confidence; 19 and the land shall yield her fruit; and ye shall eat to the full,—and shall dwell with confidence thereupon.

And <since ye may say, What shall we eat in the seventh’ year? Lo! we are not to sow, neither are we to gather our increase>.

Therefore will I command my blessing upon you, in the sixth’ year,—and it shall make the increase of three years; 22 and ye shall sow, the eighth’ year, and eat of old store,—<until the ninth’ year, until the coming in of the increase thereof> shall ye eat old store.

The land moreover, shall not be sold beyond recovery, for <mine> is the land,—for <sojourners and settlers> ye are’ with me’. 24 And <in all the land of your possession> a <right of redemption> shall ye give to the land. 25 <When thy brother waxeth poor, and so selleth aught of his possession> then may his kinsman that is near unto him come in, and redeem that which was sold by his brother.

And <when ||any man|| hath no kinsman,—but his own hand geteth enough, so that he findeth what is needed to redeem it> 27 then shall he reckon the years since he sold it, and restore the overplus, to the man to whom he sold it,—and shall return to his possession. 28 But <if his hand have not found enough to get it back unto him> then shall that which he sold remain in the hand of him that bought it, until the year of the jubilee,—and shall go out in the jubilee, and he shall return unto his possession.

And when any man selleth a dwelling-house in a walled city then shall his right of redemption remain, until the completion of a year after he sold it, <for a year of days> shall his right of redemption remain. But if it be not redeemed before the end of a full year then shall the house that is in the city that hath walls be confirmed beyond recovery, to him who bought it, unto his generations,—it shall not go out in the jubilee. But as for the houses of villages which have no wall round about them, shall it be reckoned,—by right of redemption shall belong to it, and in the jubilee shall it go out. And as for the cities of the Levites, the houses of the cities of their possession by an age-abiding right of redemption shall pertain unto the Levites. And if one of the Levites should not redeem then shall the sale of the house and the city of his possession go out in the jubilee; for the houses of the cities of the Levites are their possession, in the midst of the sons of Israel. But the field of the pasture-land of their cities shall not be sold, for an age-abiding possession it is unto them.

And when thy brother waxeth poor, and his hand becometh feeble with thee then shalt thou strengthen him, as a sojourner and a settler so shall he live with thee. Do not accept from him interest or profit, but stand thou in awe of thy God, so shall thy brother live with thee. Thy silver shalt thou not give him on interest, neither shalt thou give him thy food.

[I—Yahweh] am your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, to become your God.

And when thy brother waxeth poor with thee, and so selleth himself unto thee thou shalt not bind him with the bondage of a bondman:

[as a hired servant, as a settler] shall he remain with thee, until the year of the jubilee shall he serve with thee; then shall he go forth from thee, [he and his sons with him],—and shall return unto his family, and unto the possession of his fathers shall he return. For my bondmen they are, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt,—they shall not sell themselves with the sale of a bondman. Thou shalt not rule over him with rigour,—so shalt thou stand in awe of thy God. And as for thy bondman and thy bond-maid which thou shalt have of the nations that are round about you—from them may ye buy bondman and bond-maid. Moreover also, of the sons of the settlers who are sojourning with you—of them may ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they have begotten in your land,—so shall they become yours, as a possession; and ye may take them as an inheritance, for your sons after you, to inherit as a possession, unto times age-abiding of them may ye take to be bondmen,—but over your brethren the sons of Israel—a man over his brother ye shall not rule over him with rigour.

And when the hand of the sojourner and settler with thee gettest possessions, and thy brother with him waxeth poor,—and so he selleth himself to the sojourner, [who is] a settler with thee, or to one who hath taken root, of the family of the sojourner after that he hath sold himself by right of redemption pertaineth to him,—one of his brethren may redeem him; or [his uncle, or his uncle’s son] may redeem him, or [a near flesh-relation of his, of his family] may redeem him,—or [his own hand may have gotten enough] and so he may redeem himself. the number of years, <according to the days of a hired servant> shall he be with him. 51 <If there is yet a multitude of years> <according to them> shall he return, as his redemption price, of the silver of him that bought him. 52 Or <if [there is] but a small remainder of years, until the year of the jubilee> then shall he reckon to himself,—<according to the years thereof> shall he return his price of redemption. 53 <As a servant hired year by year> shall he be with him,—he shall not rule over him with rigour, before thine eyes. 54 But <if he be not redeemed in any of these ways> then shall he go out in the jubilee' year, ||he, and his sons with him||. 55 For <unto me> are the sons of Israel ||bondmen||, <my bondmen> they are', whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt. ||I, Yahweh|| am your God.

§ 23. After a brief Summary of Law, the Blessings of Obedience and the Evils of Disobedience are largely set forth.

Chapter 26.

1 Ye shall not make unto you idols,—<neither image, nor pillar> shall ye set up for yourselves, nor <sculptured stone> shall ye place in your land, to bow yourselves down thereunto,—

For ||I—Yahweh|| am your God.

2 <My sabbaths> shall ye observe,
And <my sanctuary> shall ye revere,—

||I|| am Yahweh.

3 <If in my statutes> ye will walk,—
And <my commandments> ye will observe, and do them>

Then will I give your rains in their season,—
And the land shall yield her increase,
And ||the trees of the field|| shall yield their fruit.

Then shall your threshing reach' unto the vintage,
And ||the vintage|| shall reach unto the seedtime,—
And ye shall eat your food to the full;
And shall dwell securely in your land.

4 And I will give peace° in the land,
And ye shall lie down, and nothing shall make you afraid;
And I will take away vicious beasts out of the land;
And ||the sword|| shall not go through your land.

5 And ye shall chase your foes,—
And they shall fall before you, by the sword;
And ||five|| of you shall chase' ||a hundred||
And ||a hundred|| of you shall put ||ten thousand|| to flight,—
So shall your foes fall before you, by the sword.

6 And I will turn unto you,
And make you fruitful,—
And multiply you,
And will establish my covenant with you.
And ye shall eat old store, well seasoned,—
And <the old from before the new> shall ye put forth.

7 And I will set my habitation in your midst,—
And my soul shall not abhor' you;
But I will walk to and fro° in your midst,
And shall be unto you’ a God,—
And ||ye|| shall be unto me’ a people.

8 ||I—Yahweh|| am your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, that ye should not be their' bondmen; so I brake in pieces the staves of your yoke, and caused you to walk ||erect||.

9 But ≤if ye will not hearken unto me,
And will not do' all these commandments;
And if <my statutes> ye refuse,
And <my regulations> your souls shall abhor,—
So that ye will not do all my commandments,
But shall break my covenant≥

||I also|| will do this unto you—
I will set over you <for terror> consumption and fever,
Causing the eyes to fail, and the soul° to pine away,—
And ye shall sow, in vain, your seed, for it shall be eaten by your foes.f

10 And I will set my face against you,
And ye shall be smitten before your foes,—

And be trodden down by them who hate you, and shall flee, when no’ one is pursuing you.

And if even these things ye will not hearen unto me

Then will I yet further correct you seven times, for your sins.

So will I break your pomp of power, and will set your heavens as iron, and your land as bronze;

And your strength shall be spent in vain,—

And ||the trees of the land|| shall not yield their fruit.

If, therefore, ye will go in opposition to me,

And will go in opposition to me

Then will I yet further plague you seven times, according to your sins;

And will send among you the wild-beast of the field,

And it shall rob you of your children, and cut off your cattle, and make you few in number; and your roads shall be silent.

And if [by these things] ye will not be corrected by me,—

But will go in opposition to me

Then will ||I also|| go in opposition [to you] and I ||even I|| will plague you seven times, for your sins;

And will bring in upon you a sword, that shall inflict the covenanted avenging:

So shall ye be gathered into your cities,—

Then will I send a pestilence into your midst, and ye shall be delivered into the hand of an enemy.

<When I have broken your staff of bread> then shall ten women bake your bread in one oven, and give back your bread by weight,—

And ye shall eat, and not be filled.

And if [with this], ye will not hearen to me,—

But will go in opposition to me

Then will I go in a rage of opposition to you,—

And I ||even I|| will correct you seven times, for your sins;

And ye shall eat the flesh of your sons,—

Yea <even the flesh of your daughters> shall ye eat.

And I will destroy your high places, and cut down your sun-pillars, and cast your caresses upon the calluses of your manufactured gods, b—

Thus shall my soul abhor you.

And I will give your cities unto desolation’,

And make your holy places dumb,—

And will find no fragrance in your satisfying odour; d

And ||I|| will make the land dumb,

And your foes that dwell therein shall regard it with dumb amazement:

<When ||even you|| I scatter among the nations, and make bare, after you a sword>

Then shall your land become an astonishment, and your cities become a desolation.

||Then|| shall the land be paid d her sabbaths,

All the days she lieth desolate,

While ||ye|| are in the land of your foes,—

||Then|| shall the land keep sabbath,

And pay off d her sabbaths:

<All the days she lieth desolate> shall she keep sabbath,—the which she kept not as your sabbaths, while ye dwelt thereupon.

And <as for such as are left of you>

Then will I bring faintness into their heart, in the lands of their foes,—

So that the sound of a driven leaf shall chase them,

And they shall flee as though fleeing from a sword,

And they shall fall, when no’ one is pursuing;

And they shall stumble one upon another, as from before a sword, when ||pursuer|| there is none; e

And ye shall not have wherewith to stand before your foes;

And ye shall perish among the nations,—

These are the statutes and the regulations and the laws, which Yahweh granted between himself, and the sons of Israel,—

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:
Speak unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them—

<When ||any man|| would consecrate and pay a vow by thine estimate of lives unto Yahweh>3 then shall <thine estimate be ||for the male|| from twenty years of age even to sixty years of age> yea thine estimate shall be—fifty shekels of silver, by the shekel of the sanctuary; 4 but <if it be ||a female||> then shall thine estimate be, thirty shekels. 5 And <if it be from five years of age, even unto twenty years of age> then shall thine estimate be <for the male> twenty shekels,—and <for the female> ten shekels. 6 And, <if it be from a month old, even unto five years old> then shall thine estimate be—<for the male> five shekels of silver,—and <for the female> thine estimate [shall be] three shekels of silver. 7 And <if it be from sixty years of age and upwards> <if a male> then shall thine estimate be fifteen shekels,—and <for the female> ten shekels. 8 But <if he be ||too poor|| for thine estimate> then shall he present himself before the priest, and the priest shall estimate him,—<according to that which the hand of him who would vow can attain to> shall the priest estimate him. 9 And <if it be a beast whereof men may bring near an oblation unto Yahweh> ||all that whereof aught is given to Yahweh|| shall be holy. 10 He shall not alter it, nor change it,—good for bad, or bad for good,—<but if he ||do|| change beast for beast> then shall ||both it and what was given in exchange for it|| be holy. 11 And <if it be any unclean beast, whereof men may not bring near an oblation to Yahweh> then shall he present the beast before the priest: 12 and the priest shall estimate it, whether it is good or bad,—

<according to thine estimate, O priest> ||so|| shall it be.

But <if he ||should please to redeem|| it> then shall he add the fifth part thereof unto thine estimate.

And <when ||any man|| would hallow his house to be holy unto Yahweh> then shall the priest estimate it, whether it is good or bad,—<as the priest shall estimate it> ||so|| shall it stand.

But <if ||he that halloweth it|| would redeem his house> then shall he add the fifth part of the silver of thine estimate thereunto, and it shall be his.

And <if ||of the field of his possession|| any man would hallow unto Yahweh> then shall thine estimate be according to the seed thereof,— ||the seed of a homer of barley|| at fifty shekels of silver.

<If| from the year of jubilee| he would hallow his field> <according to thine estimate> shall it stand.

But <if |after the jubilee| he would hallow his field| then shall the priest reckon to him the silver, according to the years that remain, until the year of the jubilee,—|and it shall be abated from thine estimate.

But <if he that hath hallowed it ||should be pleased to redeem|| the field > then shall he add the fifth part of the silver of thine estimate thereunto, and it shall be assured to him.

But <if he will not redeem the field, but have sold the field to another man> it shall be redeemable no longer;

so shall the field, when it goeth out in the jubilee, be holy unto Yahweh, as a devoted field,—<to the priest> shall belong the possession thereof.

<If, however, <|a field that he hath bought, which is not of the fields of his possession>| he would hallow unto Yahweh> <then shall the priest reckon to him the amount of thine estimate, until the year of the jubilee,—and he shall give thine estimate, in that day, as holy unto Yahweh.

<In the year of the jubilee> shall the field return unto him from whom he bought it, to him whose it was, as a possession in the land.

And ||every estimate of thine|| shall be by the holy shekel,—||twenty gerahs|| make the shekel.

Only’ <the firstling which is born a firstling to Yahweh, among beasts> no man shall hallow it,—<whether ox or sheep> <unto Yahweh> it belongeth.

But <if it be among the beasts that are unclean> then shall he ransom it by thine estimate, and add the fifth part of it thereunto,—but <if it is not redeemed> then shall it be sold by thine estimate.

Only’ <no devoted thing which any man shall devote unto Yahweh, of all that belongeth to him,—of man or beast, or of the field of his possession> shall be either sold or redeemed,—||as to every devoted thing|| <most holy> it is’ unto Yahweh.

||As touching any one devoted, who may be devoted from among men|| he shall not be ransomed,—he must be ||surely put to death||.

And ||as for all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, ||or|| of the fruit of the trees|| <unto Yahweh> it belongeth,—||as something holy unto Yahweh.

But <if any man should be pleased ||to redeem|| aught of his tithes> ||the fifth part thereof|| shall he add thereunto.

And <as for all the tithe of herd and flock, all that passeth under the rod> <the tenth> shall be holy unto Yahweh.

He shall not examine whether it be good or bad, neither shall he change it,—or <if he ||do’ in anywise change|| it> then shall both ||it’ and what is given in exchange for it|| be holy, it shall not be redeemed.

||These|| are the commandments, which Yahweh commanded Moses, for the sons of Israel,—in Mount Sinai.

§ 1. The Numbering of the Hosts of Israel.
(Cp. § 22).

Chapter 1.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, in the desert of Sinai, in the tent of meeting,—on the first of the second month, in the second year, by their coming forth out of the land of Egypt, saying:

2 Reckon ye up the sum of all the assembly of the sons of Israel, by their pedigrees,—by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, every male, by their polls; 3 from twenty years old and upwards, every one able to go forth to war, in Israel,—ye shall number them by their hosts, ||thou and Aaron||; 4 and <with you> shall be one man for each tribe,—||each man|| <head of his ancestral house> shall be*. 5 ||These||, then, are the names of the men who shall stand with you,—

<Of Reuben> Elizur, son of Shedeur;
<Of Simeon> Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai;
<Of Judah> Nahshôn, son of Amminadab;
<Of Issachar> Nethanêl, son of Zuar;
<Of Zebulun> Eliab, son of Hêlôn;
<Of the sons of Joseph>
<Of Ephraim> Elishama, son of Ammihud;
<Of Manasseh> Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur;
<Of Benjamin> Abidan, son of Gideoni;
<Of Dan> Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai;agt
<Of Asher> Pagiel, son of Ochran;
<Of Gad> Eliasaph, son of Deuel;
<Of Naphtali> Ahira, son of Enân.

||These|| are they who had been summoned by the assembly, being |princes of the tribes of their fathers,—heads of the thousands of Israel.||

17 So then Moses and Aaron took these men, who were distinguished by name; 18 <all the assembly also> called they together, on the first of the second month,—and they declared their pedigree according to their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old and upwards, by their polls. 19 <As Yahweh commanded Moses> so he mustered them in the desert of Sinai. 20 And they were [as followeth]—

<The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, by their polls, every male, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; 21 such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Reuben> forty-six thousand, and five hundred.

22 <Of the sons of Simeon, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—such as were numbered of him, in the counting of names, by their polls, every male, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; 23 such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Simeon> fifty-nine thousand, and three hundred.

24 <Of the sons of Gad, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; 25 such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Gad> forty-five thousand, and six hundred and fifty.

26 <Of the sons of Judah, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; 27 such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Judah> seventy-four thousand, and six hundred.

28 <Of the sons of Issachar, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; 29 such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Issachar> fifty-four thousand, and four hundred.

agt Some cod. (w. 2 ear. pr. edns., Onk. MS., Jon., Sep. and Syr.) omit this clause: cp. verses 20, 24, 26, etc.—G.n.
<Of the sons of Zebulun, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Zebulun> fifty-seven thousand, and four hundred.

<Of the sons of Joseph—Of the sons of Ephraim, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Ephraim> forty thousand, and five hundred. <Of the sons of Manasseh, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Manasseh> thirty-two thousand, and two hundred.

<Of the sons of Benjamin, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Benjamin> thirty-five thousand and four hundred.

<Of the sons of Dan, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Dan> sixty-two thousand, and seven hundred.

<Of the sons of Asher, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Asher> forty-one thousand, and five hundred.

<The sons of Naphthali, in their pedigrees—by their families, by their ancestral houses,—in the counting of names, from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war; such as were numbered of them, as belonging to the tribe of Naphthali> fifty-three thousand, and four hundred.

[[These]] are they who were numbered, whom Moses and Aaron, and the twelve princes of Israel did number, the princes acting each one for his ancestral house. So then all they who were numbered of the sons of Israel, by their ancestral houses,—from twenty years old, and upwards, every one able to go forth to war in Israel; so then all they who were numbered were six hundred and three thousand, and five hundred and fifty.

But [[the Levites, by the tribe of their fathers]] were not numbered in their midst. For Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

Only <the tribe of Levi> shalt thou not number, nor <the sum of them> shalt thou reckon up,—in the midst of the sons of Israel. But do [[thou thyself]] put the Levites in charge over the habitation of the testimony, and over all the furniture thereof, and over all that pertaineth thereto, [[they]] shall bear the habitation, and all the furniture thereof, and [[they]] shall attend thereupon; and <round about the habitation> shall they encamp. And <when the habitation is to be pitched> [[the Levites]] shall take it down, and <when the habitation is to be pitched> [[the Levites]] shall set it up,—but [[the stranger that draweth near]] shall be put to death.

So then the sons of Israel shall pitch their tents,—[[every man]] near his own camp, and [[every man]] near his own standard, by their hosts; but [[the Levites]] shall pitch their tents round about the habitation of the testimony, that there be no wrath upon the assembly of the sons of Israel,—so shall the Levites keep the watch of the habitation of the testimony.

Thus did the sons of Israel,—<according to all that Yahweh commanded Moses> [[so]] did they.

§ 2. The Order of March—in Five Camps.

Chapter 2.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

2 <Every man—near his standard, with the ensigns belonging to their ancestral houses> shall the sons of Israel encamp,—<at a distance round about the tent of meeting> shall they encamp.

3 ||And they who encamp eastwards, towards sunrise[.] shall be the standard of the camp of Judah, by their hosts,—even the prince of the sons of Judah, Nadúan, son of Amminadab; 4 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—seventy-four thousand, and six hundred. 5 ||Then they who encamp by him, the tribe of Issachar, Rabbi, son of Zuar; 6 and his host, even ||they who are numbered of them],—fifty-four thousand, and four hundred. 7 The ||tribe of Zebulun] even the prince of the sons of Zebulun, Eliab, son of Hel-ce; 8 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of him], fifty-seven thousand, and four hundred. 9 <All they who are numbered to the camp of Judah, a hundred and eighty-six thousand, and five hundred, by their hosts> shall first set forward.

10 ||The standard of the camp of Reuben southwards, by their hosts],—even the prince of the sons of Reuben, Elizur, son of Shedu; and his host, ||even they who are numbered of him],—fourteen thousand, and five hundred. 12 ||Then they who encamp by him], the tribe of Simeon, even the prince of the sons of Simeon, Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai; 13 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—fifty-nine thousand, and three hundred. 14 ||Then the tribe of Gad], even the prince of the sons of Gad, Eliasaph, son of Reuel; 15 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—forty-five thousand, and six hundred and fifty. 16 <All they who are numbered to the camp of Reuben,—a hundred and fifty-one thousand, and four hundred and fifty, by their hosts> and they <in the second rank> shall set forward.

17 Then shall set forward the tent of meeting—the camp of the Levites, in the midst of the camps,—<as they encamp> ||so shall they set forward, every man at the side thereof, by their standards.

18 ||The standard of the camp of Ephraim, by their hosts, westwards],—even the prince of the sons of Ephraim, Naphsheil, son of Amminadab; 19 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—forty thousand, and five hundred. 20 ||Then by him, the tribe of Manasseh], even the prince of the sons of Manasseh, Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur; 21 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—thirty-two thousand, and two hundred. 22 Then the tribe of Benjamin, even the prince of the sons of Benjamin, Abidan, son of Gideoni; 23 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—thirty-five thousand, and four hundred. 24 <All they who are numbered to the camp of Ephraim, a hundred and eight thousand, and one hundred, by their hosts> and they <in the third rank> shall set forward.

25 ||The standard of the camp of Dan, northwards, by their hosts], even the prince of the sons of Dan, Ahiezer, son of Ammišaddai; 26 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—sixty-two thousand, and seven hundred. 27 ||Then they who encamp by him, the tribe of Asher],—even the prince of the sons of Asher, Pagiel, son of Ochran; 28 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—thirty-one thousand, and five hundred. 29 ||Then the tribe of Naphtali],—even the prince of the sons of Naphtali, Ahira, son of Enan; 30 and his host, ||even they who are numbered of them],—fifty-three thousand, and four hundred. 31 <All they who are numbered to the camp of Dan, a hundred and fifty-seven thousand, and six hundred> <in the hindmost rank> shall they set forward, by their standards.

1 Now these were the pedigrees of Aaron, and Moses,—in the day that Yahweh spake with Moses in Mount Sinai. 2 And these are the names of the sons of Aaron—<the firstborn> Nadab,—and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 3 These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the priests that were anointed,—who were installe<

§ 3. The Numbering of the Levites as the Substituted Tribe.

32 ||These|| are they who were numbered of the sons of Israel, by their ancestral houses,—||all they who were numbered of the camps, by their hosts|| were six hundred and three thousand, and five hundred, and fifty.

33 But ||the Levites|| were not numbered in the midst of the sons of Israel,—As Yahweh commanded Moses.

34 Thus did’ the sons of Israel,—<according to all that Yahweh commanded’ Moses> ||so|| did they encamp by their standards, and ||so|| did they set forward, every one by his families, near his ancestral house.

14 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, in the desert of Sinai, saying—

15 Number thou the sons of Levi, by their ancestral houses, by their families,—<every male, from one month old and upwards> shalt thou number them.

16 So then Moses numbered them, according to the bidding of Yahweh,—as he was commanded.

17 And these were’ the sons of Levi, by their names,—<Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari.>

18 And ||these|| the names of the sons of Gershon, by their families,—<Libni, and Shimei.>

19 And ||the sons of Kohath, by their families|| Amram, and Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

20 And ||the sons of Merari, by their families|| Mahli and Mushi.

||These|| are they—the families of the Levites, by their ancestral houses.

21 To <Gershon> belonged the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimeites,—||these|| are they—the families of the Gershonites.

22 <They who were numbered of them, in the counting of every male, from one month old, and upwards,—they who were numbered of them> were seven thousand, and five hundred. 23 ||The families of the Gershonites|| to the rear of the given> they are’ unto him, from among the sons of Israel;

10 but <unto Aaron, and unto his sons> shalt thou give oversight, so shall they keep charge of their priesthood,—and ||the stranger who cometh near|| shall be put to death.

11 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying—

12 ||I|| therefore, lo! I have taken the Levites out of the midst of the sons of Israel, instead of every firstborn that a mother beareth, from among the sons of Israel,—so shall the Levites’ be mine’. 13 for <mine> is every firstborn, <in the day when I smote every firstborn in the land of Egypt> I hallowed unto myself, every firstborn in Israel, both of man and of beast,—<mine> did they become, [and belong] ||unto me, Yahweh||.

habitation> were to encamp, westward. 24 And [the prince of the ancestral house of the Gershonites] was Eliasaph, son of Lâêl. 25 And [the charge of the sons of Gershon] was over the tent of meeting, the habitation, and the tent,—the covering thereof, and the screen for the entrance of the tent of meeting; 26 and the hangings of the court, and the screen for the entrance of the court which was near the habitation, and near the altar, round about,—and the cords thereof, [as to all the laborious work thereof].

27 And <to Kohath> belonged the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Uzzielites,—[these] are they—the families of the Kohathites. 28 In <the counting of every male, from one month old and upwards> there were eight thousand, and six hundred, to keep the charge of the sanctuary. 29 The [families of the sons of Kohath] were to encamp,—on the side of the habitation, [southward]. 30 And [the prince of the ancestral house of the Kohathites] was Elizaphan, son of Uzziel. 31 And [their charge] was—the ark, and the table, and the lampstand and the altars, and the utensils of the sanctuary wherewith they were to minister,—and the screen, as to all the laborious work thereof. 32 And [the prince of the princes of the Levites] was Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest,—to have the oversight of them that were to keep the charge of the sanctuary.

33 <To Merari> belonged the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Mushites,—[these] are they—the families of Merari.

34 And <who were numbered of them, in the counting of every male, from one month old and upwards> were six thousand, and two hundred.

35 And [the prince of the ancestral house of the families of Merari] was Zuriel, son of Abihail,—<on the side of the habitation> were they to encamp [northward]. 36 And [the oversight of the charge of the sons of Merari] was—the boards of the habitation, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof and the sockets thereof,—and all the furniture thereof, to as all the laborious work thereof; 37 also the pillars of the court round about, and their sockets,—and their pins, and their cords. 38 But [they who were to encamp before the habitation, eastwards, before the tent of meeting, towards sun-rise] were Moses and Aaron and his sons, to keep the charge of the sanctuary, as the charge of the sons of Israel, and [the stranger that came near] was to be put to death.

<All they who were numbered of the Levites, whom Moses [and Aaron] numbered at the bidding of Yahweh, by their families,—every male, from one month old and upwards> were two-and-twenty thousand.

40 And Yahweh said unto Moses:

Number thou every firstborn male belonging to the sons of Israel, from one month old and upwards,—and reckon up the number of their names; 41 then shalt thou take the Levites for me, [me Yahweh], instead of every firstborn among the sons of Israel,—also the cattle of the Levites, instead of every firstling among the cattle of the sons of Israel.

42 So then Moses numbered, as Yahweh commanded him,—every firstborn among the sons of Israel. 43 And it was so—that all the firstborn of the males, in the counting of names from one month old and upwards, of such as were numbered of them,—were two-and-twenty thousand, two hundred and seventy-three. 44 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:—

45 Take the Levites, instead of all the firstborn among the sons of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites, instead of their cattle,—so shall the Levites' belong unto me, [me Yahweh]; 46 and <as the ransom of the two hundred and seventy-three,—who are more than the Levites, of the firstborn of the sons of Israel> thou shalt take five shekels apiece, by the poll,—<by the shekel of the sanctuary> shalt thou take it, twenty gerahs to the shekel; 48 and shalt give the silver to Aaron, and to his sons,—as the ransom of them that are in excess over them.

Chapter 4.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

Reckon up the sum of the sons of Kohath, out of the midst of the sons of Levi,—by their families, by their ancestral house:

from thirty years old, and upwards, even unto fifty years,—every one that can enter into the host, to do service in the tent of meeting.

||This] shall be the labour of the sons of Kohath, in the tent of meeting,—[the most holy things].

So then Aaron and his sons shall enter, when the camp is to set forward, and take down the screening veil, and enwrap therein the ark of the testimony; and put thereon a covering of badgers’ skin, and spread a complete wrapper of blue, and put them on a frame. And <over the Presence-table> shall they spread a wrapper of blue, and put thereon the pans and the bowls and the libation cups, ||the perpetual bread also|| <thereupon> shall remain; and they shall spread over them a wrapper of crimson, and cover the same with a covering of badgers’ skin,—and shall put in the staves thereof. Then shall they take a wrapper of blue, and cover the light-giving lampstand, and the lamps thereof, and the snuff-trays thereof, and the vessels thereof, and all the oil-vessels thereof, wherewith they minister thereunto; and shall put the same, and all the vessels thereof, within a covering of badgers’ skin,—and shall put it upon a frame.

And <upon the altar of gold> shall they spread a wrapper of blue, and shall cover the same in a covering of badgers’ skin,—and shall put in the staves thereof. And they shall take all the utensils of attendance wherewith they attend in the sanctuary, and put them within a wrapper of blue, and cover the same in a covering of badgers’ skin,—and put them on a frame. Then shall they remove the fat-ashes from the altar,—and spread over it a wrapper of purple; and put thereupon all the utensils thereof, wherewith they minister thereupon,—the fire-pans, the flesh-hooks and the shovels and the tossing-bowls, all the utensils of the altar,—and shall spread over it a covering of badgers’ skin, and put in the staves thereof.

So shall Aaron and his sons make an end of covering the sanctuary, and all the utensils of the sanctuary, when the camp is to set forward, then <after that> shall the sons of Kohath enter to bear it, but they must not put forth a touch unto which is holy, else should they die,—||these]] shall be the burden of the sons of Kohath, in the tent of meeting.

But ||the care of Eleazar son of Aaron the priest|| [shall be]—the light-giving’ oil, and the fragrant incense, and the perpetual meal-offering, and the anointing oil, the care of all the habitation, and all that is therein, both as to the sanctuary, and as to the furniture thereof.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

Do not let the tribe of the families of the Kohathites be cut off out of the midst of the Levites. Therefore, do ye for them, so shall they live, and not die, when they approach the most holy place,—Aaron and his sons shall enter and set them, man by man, over his labour, and unto his burden; but they shall not enter to see, for a moment, that which is holy, else should they die.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Reckon up the sum of the sons of Gershon, even of them also,—by their ancestral house, by their families; <from thirty years old and upwards, even to fifty years> shalt thou... number them,—all that may enter to take rank in the host, to do laborious work in the tent of meeting. 24 {This} shall be the labour of the families of the Gershonites,—in labouring and in bearing:—

25 they shall bear the curtains of the habitation, and the tent of meeting, the covering thereof, and the covering of badgers’ skin which is over above it,—and the screen, at the entrance of the tent of meeting; 26 and the hangings of the court, and the screen for the entrance of the gate of the court which is near the habitation, and near the altar, round about, and their cords, and all their articles of service,⁴ and all that is to be done to them, when they shall do their labour. 27 {At the bidding of Aaron and his sons} shall be all the labour of the sons of the Gershonites, to the extent of their every burden, and to the extent of all their labour,—so shall ye appoint unto them in charge, their every burden. 28 {This} shall be the labour of the families of the sons of the Gershonites, in the tent of meeting,—and {the charge of them} shall be in the hand of Ithamar, son of Aaron, the priest.

29 {As for the sons of Merari,}—{by their families, by their ancestral house} shall ye number them; 30 {from thirty years old and upwards, even to fifty years} shall ye number them,—all that enter into the host, to do laborious work in the tent of meeting. 31 And {this} shall be their charge of the burdens, to the extent of all their labour in the tent of meeting,—the boards of the habitation, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof and the sockets thereof; 32 and the pillars of the court round about, and their sockets and their pins and their cords, to the extent of all their articles, to the extent of all their labour,—and {by names} shall ye put under their care the articles of their charge of burdens. 33 {This} shall be the labour of the families of the sons of Merari, to the extent of all their labour in the tent of meeting,—in the hand of Ithamar, son of Aaron, the priest.

34 Then did Moses and Aaron, and the princes of the assembly, number the sons of the Kohathites,—by their families, and by their ancestral house; 35 from thirty years old and upwards, even unto fifty years old, all that might enter the host, to labour in the tent of meeting; 36 and they who were numbered of them, by their families, were found to be—two thousand, seven hundred, and fifty. 37 {These} were they who were numbered, of the families of the Kohathites, all that might labour in the tent of meeting,—whom Moses and Aaron did number, at the bidding of Yahweh by the mediation⁶ of Moses.

38 And {they who were numbered of the sons of Gershon,}—by their families, and by their ancestral house; 39 from thirty years old and upwards, even to fifty years old,—all that might enter the host, to labour in the tent of meeting; 40 yea they who were numbered of them, by their families, by their ancestral house,—were found to be—two thousand, and six hundred, and thirty. 41 {These} are they who were numbered of the families of the sons of Gershon, all who might labour in the tent of meeting,—whom Moses and Aaron did number, at the bidding of Yahweh.

42 And {they who were numbered of the families of the sons of Merari,}—by their families, by their ancestral house; 43 from thirty years old and upwards, even unto fifty years old,—all that might enter the host to labour in the tent of meeting; 44 yea they who were numbered of them, by their families,—were found to be—three thousand and two hundred. 45 {These} are they who were numbered of the families of the sons of Merari,—whom Moses and Aaron did number, at the bidding of Yahweh, by the mediation⁶ of Moses.

Chapter 5.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:
2 Command the sons of Israel, that they send forth out of the camp, every leper, and every one that hath a flux,—and every one that is unclean by the dead: 3 <whether male or female> ye shall send them forth, <unto the outside of the camp> shall ye send them,—that they make not their camps unclean, in the midst whereof ||I|| have my habitation.
4 And the sons of Israel [did so], and sent them forth unto the outside of the camp,—<as Yahweh spake unto Moses> ||so|| did the sons of Israel.
5 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:
6 Speak unto the sons of Israel: <When ||any man or woman|| shall do aught of any human’ sin, in acting unfaithfully against Yahweh,—and that person shall become aware of his guilt> then shall they confess their sin which they have done, and he shall make good that wherein he is guilty, in the principal thereof, and <the fifth part thereof> shall he add thereunto,—and give to him against whom he is guilty. 8 But <if one have no kinsman unto whom he may make good that wherein he is guilty> then ||that wherein he is guilty, which is to be restored to Yahweh|| shall be the priest’s,—besides’ the ram of propitiation, wherewith a propitiatory-covering is to be put over him. 9 And <every heave-offering, of all the hallowed things of the sons of Israel, which they bring near to the priest> [unto him] shall it belong. 10 And ||every man’s hallowed things|| shall be ||his own||,—||whatc any man giveth to the priest|| shall be ||his||.
11 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:
12 Speak unto the sons of Israel and thou shalt say unto them,—
<When ||any man’s wife|| shall turn aside, and commit against him an act of unfaithfulness; 13 and a man shall lie with her carnally, and it shall be concealed from the eyes of her husband, and be kept close, but [she] hath committed uncleanness,—though <witness> there is none against her, and [she] hath not been caught;
14 but there shall pass over him a spirit of jealousy, and he shall become jealous of his wife, [she] having committed uncleanness,—or there shall pass over him a spirit of jealousy, and he shall become jealous of his wife, [she] not having committed uncleanness≥ 15 then shall the man bring in his wife unto the priest, and shall bring in her offering for her, the tenth of an ephah of the meal of barley,—he shall not pour thereon oil, nor put thereon frankincense, for  it is’, a reminding’ gift, bringing to mind iniquity.
Then shall the priest bring her near,—and cause her to stand before Yahweh;
and the priest shall take hallowed water in an earthen vessel,—and <of the dust which shall be upon the floor of the habitation> shall the priest take, and put into the water; 18 and the priest shall cause the woman to stand before Yahweh, and shall bare the head of the woman, and shall place upon her hands the reminding gift, it being ||a jealousy’ gift||,—and <in the hand of the priest> shall be the deadly water, that bringeth a curse;
and the priest shall put her on oath, and shall say unto the woman:—
<If no man hath lain with thee, and if thou hast not turned aside, in uncleanness, [unto another] instead of thy husband> be thou clear from this’ deadly water that causeth a curse.
But <if ||thou|| hast turned aside [to another] instead of thy husband, and if thou hast made thyself unclean,—in that a man hath known thee carnally, other’ than thy husband>
then shall the priest put the woman on oath, with an oath of cursing, and the priest shall say unto the woman, Yahweh give’ thee up for a curse and for an oath, in the midst of thy people,—in that Yahweh shall give up’d thy thigh to fall

And the woman shall say,

Amen, Amen.

Then shall the priest write these curses in a scroll,—and wipe them out into the deadly water; 24 and shall cause the woman to drink the deadly water that causeth a curse,—and the deadly water that causeth a curse shall enter into her. 25 Then shall the priest take from the hand of the woman the jealousy’ meal-offering,—and shall wave the meal-offering before Yahweh, and bring it near unto the altar; 26 and the priest shall take a handful from the meal-offering, a remembrancer thereof, and make a perfume at the altar,—and <afterwards> shall cause the woman to drink the water.

And <as soon as he causeth her to drink the water> then shall it be, that, <if she have fallen into uncleanness, and committed unfaithfulness against her husband> <as soon as the deadly water that causeth a curse hath entered into her> so soon shall her womb swell and her thigh fall away,—thus shall the woman become a curse, in the midst of her people. 28 But <if the woman have not fallen into uncleanness, but is pure> then shall she be clear, and shall bear seed. 29 ||This|| is the law of jealousies,—when a wife shall turn aside [to another] instead of her husband, and fall into uncleanness; 30 or <when there passeth over ||a husband|| a spirit of jealousy, and he becometh jealous of his wife> then shall he cause the woman to stand before Yahweh, and the priest shall execute upon her all this law: 31 thus shall the man be clear of iniquity; but ||that woman|| shall bear her iniquity.

§ 8. The Dedication of the Altar, and the Offerings of the Princes.

Chapter 7.

1 And it came to pass on the day when Moses made an end of rearing up the habitation, and anointing it, and hallowing it, and all the furniture thereof, and the altar, and all the utensils thereof,—both of anointing them, and hallowing them> 2 that the princes of Israel, the heads of their ancestral houses [made an offering],—||they’ being princes of the tribes, they’ being the men who stood over them who were numbered||; 3 yea, then brought they in, as their offering, before Yahweh—six covered waggons, and twelve oxen, a waggon for every two of the princes, and an ox for each one,—yea they brought them near before the habitation. 4 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

5 Take [them] of them, so shall they be for doing the laborious work of the tent of meeting,—and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to the need of his laborious work.

6 So Moses took the waggons, and the oxen,—and gave them unto the Levites: 7 <two of the waggons and four of the oxen> gave he unto the sons of Gershom,—according to the need of their laborious work; 8 and <four of the waggons, and eight of the oxen> gave he unto the sons of Merari,—according to the need of their laborious work, in the hand of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest; 9 but <unto the sons of Kohath> gave he none,—because ||as to the laborious work of the

So then the princes offered for the dedication of the altar, on the day it was anointed,—yea the princes offered their oblation before the altar. And Yahweh said unto Moses:

<Each prince on his appointed day> thus shall they offer their oblation, for the dedication of the altar.

And so it was, that [he who <on the first day> offered his oblation],—was Naḥšôn son of Ammînâdâb, of the tribe of Judah; and [his offering] was—one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—[both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, for a meal-offering; one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—[this] was the offering of Elîāb, son of Hêlôn.

<On the fourth day> the princes of Reuben,—Elîzûr, son of Shedeûr: [his offering] one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—[both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; one young he-goat for a sin-bearer; and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—[this] was the offering of Elîzûr, son of Shedeûr.

<On the second day> Nethanèl, son of Zuâr, prince of Issachar, brought his offering.

He offered as his oblation—one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—[both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—[this] was the offering of Nethanèl, son of Zuâr.

<On the third day> the prince of the sons of Zebûlun,—Elîab, son of Hêlôn: [his offering] one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—[both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; one spoon, of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—[this] was the offering of Elîab, son of Hêlôn.

<On the fourth day> the princes of Reuben,—Elîzûr, son of Shedeûr: [his offering] one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—[both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; one young he-goat for a sin-bearer; and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—[this] was the offering of Elîzûr, son of Shedeûr.

<On the fifth day> the prince of the sons of Simeon,—Shelûmiel, son of Zurîshaddai: [his offering] one charger of silver  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary; [both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—[this] was the offering of Shelûmiel, son of Zurîshaddai.

<On the sixth day> the prince of the sons of Gad,—Elîasaph, son of Deûl: [his offering] one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—[both of them] full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice.

49 |his offering| one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—||both of them|| full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; 50 one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; 51 one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; 52 one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; 53 and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—||this|| was the offering of Elishama, son of Ammihud.

54 <On the eighth day> the prince of the sons of Manasseh,—Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur: 55 |his offering| one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—||both of them|| full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; 56 one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; 57 one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice: 58 one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; 59 and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—||this|| was the offering of Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur.

56 <On the ninth day> the prince of the sons of Benjamin,—Abidan, son of Gideoni: 61 |his offering| one charger of silver,  the weight thereof,—one tossing bowl of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—||both of them|| full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; 62 one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; 63 one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; 64 one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; 65 and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—||this|| was the offering of Abidan, son of Gideoni.

66 <On the tenth day> the prince of the sons of Dan,—Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai: 67 |his offering| one charger of silver,  the weight thereof,—one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—||both of them|| full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; 68 one spoon, of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; 69 one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; 70 one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; 71 and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—||this|| was the offering of Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai.

72 <On the eleventh day> the prince of the sons of Asher,—Pagiel, son of Ochran: 73 |his offering| one charger of silver  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—||both of them|| full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; 74 one spoon of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; 75 one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; 76 one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; 77 and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year,—||this|| was the offering of Pagiel, son of Ochran.

78 <On the twelfth day> the prince of the sons of Naphtali,—Ahira, son of Enan: 79 |his offering| one charger of silver,  the weight thereof, one tossing bowl, of silver, seventy shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary,—||both of them|| full of fine meal overflowed with oil, as a meal-offering; 80 one spoon, of ten [shekels] of gold, full of incense; 81 one choice young bullock, one ram, one he-lamb of the first year, as an ascending-sacrifice; 82 one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer; 83 and <as a peace-offering> two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five he-lambs of the first year this,—||this|| was the offering of Ahira, son of Enan.

§ 10. The First Commemorative Passover.

Chapter 9.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses in the desert of Sinai, in the second year by their coming forth out of the land of Egypt, in the first month, saying:

2 Let the sons of Israel, therefore, keep the passover, in its appointed season: 3 <on the fourteenth day of this month, between the two evenings> shall ye keep it, in its appointed season,—<according to all the statute thereof, and according to all the regulations thereof> shall ye keep it.

4 Then spake Moses unto the sons of Israel, that they should keep the passover. 5 So they kept the passover, in the first [month], on the fourteenth day of the month, between the two evenings, 6 in the desert of Sinai,—<according to all that Yahweh commanded Moses> ||so| did the sons of Israel. 8 But so it was, that there were certain men who had become unclean, by a dead person, and could not keep the passover on that day,—therefore came they near, before Moses and before Aaron, on that day. 7 Then said those men unto him,

||We|| are unclean by a dead person,—wherefore should we become of less esteem, for want of offering the oblation of Yahweh in its appointed season, in the midst of the sons of Israel?

8 And Moses said unto them,—

Stay, and let me hear, what Yahweh shall command concerning you!

9 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

10 Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying,—

<Though ||any man|| be unclean by a dead person, 11 or be on a journey afar off, whether in the case of yourselves or of your generations> yet shall he keep a passover unto Yahweh. 11 <In the second month, on the fourteenth day between the two evenings> shall they keep it,—with unleavened cakes and bitter herbs> shall they eat it. 12 They shall not leave thereof until morning, and <no bone> shall they break therein—<according to all the statutes of the passover> shall they keep it. 13 But ≤as for the man who ||is| clean, and <no a journey> doth not chance to be, and yet faileth to keep the passover≥ that person shall be cut off from among his kinsfolk,—for <the oblation of Yahweh> hath he not offered in its appointed season, <his own sin> shall [that’ man] bear. 14 <When, moreover, there may sojourn with you a sojourner, who would keep a passover unto Yahweh> <according to the statute of the passover, and according to the regulation thereof> ||so| must he keep [it].—||one § 12. The Ordinance of the Silver Trumpets.

Chapter 10.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

2 Make thee two trumpets of silver, <of beaten work> shalt thou make them,—and they shall be unto thee for calling the assembly, and for setting forward the camps. 3 <As soon as they blow therewith> so soon shall all the assembly assemble themselves unto thee, unto the entrance of the tent of meeting. 4 And <if they blow> then shall the princes, the heads of the thousands of Israel, gather themselves unto thee. 5 But <when ye blow an alarm> then shall set forward the camps that are encamped eastwards; 6 and <when ye blow a second alarm> then shall set forward the camps that are encamped southwards,—<an alarm> shall they blow, for setting them forward. 7 But <in calling together the convocation> ye shall blow, but shall not sound an alarm. 8 And ||the sons of Aaron the priests|| shall blow with the trumpets,—and it shall be unto you for a statute age-abiding, unto your generations. 9 And <when ye go into war in your land, against the assailing that assaileth you>, then shall ye blow an alarm with the trumpets,—and bring yourselves to mind before Yahweh your God, and be saved, from your enemies. 10 And <in your day of rejoicing and in your appointed seasons, and in the beginnings of your months> then shall ye blow with the trumpets, over your ascending-sacrifices, and over your peace-offerings,—so shall they be unto you for a memorial before your God. b

||—Yahweh|| am your God.

11 And so it came to pass <in the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth of the month> that the cloud lifted itself up, from off the habitation of the testimony; 12 and the sons of Israel set forward, by their removals, from the desert of Sinai,—and then the cloud abode in the desert of Paran. 13 Thus then did they set forward, for the first time,—at the bidding of Yahweh, by the hand of Moses.

14 So the standard of the camp of Judah was set forward first, by their hosts, and Nahshôn, son of Amminadab; 15 and Nethanêl, son of Zuar;

16 and Eliab, son of Hélôn.

17 Then was taken down the habitation,—and the sons of Gershon and the sons of Merari set forward’, bearing the habitation.

18 Then set forward the standard of the camp of Reuben, by their hosts,—and Elizur, son of Shedeûr; 19 and Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai; 20 and Eliasaph, son of Deuel.

Then set forward the Kohathites, bearing the sanctuary,—and so the habitation was reared’ by the time they came in.

21 Then set forward the standard of the camp of Ephraim, by their hosts,—and Elizaphan, son of Aminadab; 22 and Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur; 23 and Abidan, son of Gideoni.

24 Then set forward the standard of the camp of Dan, bringing up the rear of all the camps, by their hosts,—and Pagiel, son of Ochran; 25 and Ahirem, son of Shaphan; 26 and Pagiel, son of Ochran; 27 and Ahirem, son of Shaphan.

28 Then said Moses to Hobab, son of Raguel the Midianite, father-in-law of Moses:

29 Then said Moses to Hobab, son of Raguel the Midianite, father-in-law of Moses: "Setting forward are we unto the place of which Yahweh hath said, "The same" will I give unto you,—Oh come with us, and we will do thee good, for ||Yahweh|| hath spoken good, concerning Israel.

30 And he said unto him, I will not go,—but I will go with you> will I go.

31 Then said he:

I beseech thee, do not forsake us,—for hast thou come to know of our encamping in the desert, so shalt thou be unto us [as eyes]; 32 and it shall be if thou wilt go with us, yea it shall be that with the very good wherewith Yahweh shall do us good will we do good unto thee.

33 So they went forward, from the mountain of Yahweh, a journey of three days,—and the ark of the covenant of Yahweh was going before them, a journey of three days, to search out for them a resting-place. 34 And the cloud of Yahweh was over them by day,—when they set forward out of the camp. 35 And it came to pass when the ark set forward that Moses said:

"Arise, O Yahweh! and scatter be thy foes, Let them that hate thee flee before thee;

36 But when it rested he said,— Return, O Yahweh! unto the myriads of the thousands of Israel.d

§ 14. The Murmuring of the People occasions the Satisfying (and the Smiting) of the Flesh, and the wider Gift of the Spirit.

Chapter 11.

1 And it came to pass, that when the people were giving themselves up to murmuring> it was grievous in the ears of Yahweh,—so Yahweh hearkened, and kindled was his anger, and the fire of Yahweh burned among them, and consumed the uttermost part of the camp. 2 Then did the people make outcry unto Mose,—and Moses prayed unto Yahweh, and the fire sank down. 3 So he called the name of that place, Taberah [i.e. “A Burning”],—because there burned among them the fire of Yahweh.

—Note here again the distinction between “camp” and “host”; comp. chap. ii. 3.
—Cp. chap. i. 7; ii. 3.
—These two verses are bracketed by the earliest Massoretic authorities (by means of “inverted nuns” to indicate some dislocation. Ginsburg concludes that the arrangement in the Sep. [where the order is—vers 35, 36, 34] shows their “proper place”—G. Intro. pp. 342, 343.
Moreover, ||[the mixed multitude]| that was in their midst, concealed not their lusting, and so even the sons of Israel fell away and wept, and said: Who will grant us to eat flesh? We remember the fish that we did eat in Egypt, without money,—the cucumbers, and the water-melons, and the leeks and the onions, and the garlic. But ||[our soul]| is dried up, there is nothing at all,—unless <unto the manna> we turn our eyes.

Now ||[the manna]| was ||[like coriander seed], and the appearance thereof like the appearance of bdellium. The people used to go about and pick it up, and grind it with a pair of millstones, or pound it in a mortar, and boil it in a pot, and make it into round cakes,—then was the taste thereof like the taste of a sweet cake made with oil. <When the dew came down upon the camp by night> the manna came down thereupon.

So then Moses heard the people weeping by their families, every one at the entrance of his tent,—then kindled the anger of Yahweh fiercely, and in the eyes of Moses it was grievous. And Moses said unto Yahweh—

Wherefore hast thou let thy servant come to grief, and wherefore have I not found favour in thine eyes,—and let me not see my grief.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

Gather thou unto me seventy men, from among the elders of Israel, of whom thou knowest that they are elders of the people, and their overseers,—then shalt thou take them unto the tent of meeting, and they shall station themselves there, with thee.

Then will I come down, and speak with thee there, and will take of the spirit that is upon thee, and put upon them,—and they shall carry, with thee, the burden of the people, and ||[thou]| shalt not carry it ||by thyself|. And <unto the people> shalt thou say:

Hallow yourselves by to-morrow, and ye shall eat flesh, for ye have wept in the ears of Yahweh, saying—Who will grant us to eat flesh? for it was well with us in Egypt,—so then Yahweh will give you flesh, and ye shall eat.

And Moses said,

<Six hundred thousand footmen> are the people in whose midst am I; yet ||[thou]| hast said— <Flesh> will I give unto them, and they shall eat for a month of days.

Shall ||[the flocks and herds]| be slaughtered for them, that it may suffice for them? Shall ||all

But ||[in this way]| thou art going to deal with me> ||[slay me], I beseech thee, ||[slay]|, if I have found favour in thine eyes,—and let me not see my grief.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

Gather thou unto me seventy men, from among the elders of Israel, of whom thou knowest that they are elders of the people, and their overseers,—then shalt thou take them unto the tent of meeting, and they shall station themselves there, with thee.

Then will I come down, and speak with thee there, and will take of the spirit that is upon thee, and put upon them,—and they shall carry, with thee, the burden of the people, and ||[thou]| shalt not carry it ||by thyself|. And <unto the people> shalt thou say:

Hallow yourselves by to-morrow, and ye shall eat flesh, for ye have wept in the ears of Yahweh, saying—Who will grant us to eat flesh? for it was well with us in Egypt,—so then Yahweh will give you flesh, and ye shall eat. <Not one day> shall ye eat, nor two days,—nor five days, nor ten days, nor twenty days: for a month of days, until it cometh forth out of your nostrils, so shall it become to you a loathsome thing,—because ye have refused Yahweh who is in your midst, and have wept before him, saying,

Wherefore, now, came we forth out of Egypt?

And Moses said,

<Six hundred thousand footmen> are the people in whose midst am I; yet ||[thou]| hast said— <Flesh> will I give unto them, and they shall eat for a month of days.

Shall ||[the flocks and herds]| be slaughtered for them, that it may suffice for them? Shall ||all may not see my evil." From the Jerusalem Targum it is evident that in some Schools the textual reading was, "the evil of the people," or “their evil”—Condensed from G. Intro. p. 353.

Lit.: “Withdraw,” “secrete,” “steal away.” What can be the meaning of this? Must Moses needs be a channel through which the Spirit might be imparted to the Seventy; as if in adumbration of the mediatorial position of the Messiah in reference to the same gift? Comp. (Ps. lxviii. 18) Eph. iv. 7, 8; Acts ii. 33.

the fishes of the sea]| be gathered together unto them, that it may suffice for them?

23 Then said Yahweh unto Moses,

Shall ||the hand of Yahweh| fail?

||Now|| shalt thou see whether my word come to pass unto thee, or not.

24 And Moses went forth, and spake unto the people the words of Yahweh,—and gathered together seventy men from among the elders of the people, and caused them to stand, round about the tent. 25 Then Yahweh came down in the cloud, and spake unto him, and took of the spirit| that was upon him, and gave unto the seventy men—the elders. And it came to pass, that <when the spirit rested upon them> they prophesied, and then did so no more. 26 Now there were two men left behind in the camp—||the name of the one| was Eldad, and ||the name of the other| Medad, so then the spirit [rested on them]—||they|| being among them who were written, though they had not gone forth unto the tent,—but they prophesied in the camp. 27 And there ran a young man, and told Moses, and said,—

||Eldad and Medad|| are prophesying in the camp!

28 Then responded Joshua, son of Nun, the attendant of Moses from his youth, and said,—

My lord Moses, forbid them!

29 But Moses said unto him,

Art ||thou|| jealous for me? Oh would that ||all the people of Yahweh|| were prophets! Yea, let Yahweh put his spirit upon them!

30 Then was Moses received back into the camp,—||he and the elders of Israel||.

31 Now ||a wind|| had sprung up from Yahweh, and cut off quails from the sea, and let them lie over the camp—as it were a day’s journey here, and a day’s journey there, round about the camp,—and as it were two cubits, on the face of the land. And the people rose up all that day and all the night and all the next day, and gathered the quails, ||he that did least|| gathered ten homers,—and they spread them out for themselves, spreading away, round about the camp. 33 ||The flesh|| was yet between their teeth, not yet chewed,—when ||the anger of Yahweh|| had kindled upon the people, and Yahweh smote the people, with an exceeding great plague. 34 And the name of that place was called, Kibroth-hattaavah,—because ||there|| they buried the people who had lusted. 35 ||From Kibroth-hattaavah|| the people set forward to Hazeroth,—and they remained in Hazeroth.

§ 15. Miriam and Aaron jealous of Moses.

Chapter 12.

1 And Miriam and Aaron spake against Moses, on account of the Cushite woman whom he had taken,—for ||a Cushite woman|| had he taken.

2 And they said:

Is it ||only’|| and solely’| with Moses| that Yahweh hath spoken?

<With us also> hath he not spoken?

And Yahweh heard it. 3 Now ||the man Moses|| was patient exceedingly,—above all the sons of earth, who were on the face of the ground. 4 Then said Yahweh, suddenly, unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam,

Come out, ye three, unto the tent of meeting. And they three went’ out. 5 Then Yahweh came down, in a pillar of cloud, and stood at the entrance of the tent,—and called Aaron and Miriam, and they both went forth. 6 Then said he,

Hear, I beseech you, my words.

<When ye have your prophet>k

<As Yahweh, in a vision> will I make myself known [unto him];

<In a dream> will I speak with him.

7 <Not so> my servant Moses,—

<In all my house> ||trust|| is he:

8 <Mouth to mouth> do I speak with him,

And plainly—not in dark sayings,

And <the form of Yahweh> doth he discern,— Wherefore, then, were ye not afraid to speak against my servant—against Moses?

And the anger of Yahweh kindled upon them, and he departed.

And [when the cloud] removed from off the tent—lo! [Miriam] leprous, like snow! And Aaron turned unto Miriam, and lo! leprous!c Then said Aaron unto Moses,—Oh my lord, do not I beseech thee lay upon us sin, although we have made ourselves foolish, and although we have sinned.

Let her not, I beseech thee, lay upon us sin, although we have made ourselves foolish, and although we have sinned.

Then Moses made outcry unto Yahweh, and Yahweh said unto Moses:

Let her not, I beseech thee, remain like the still-born,—which when proceeding from our mother’s womb the half of its flesh is consumed.

Then Moses made outcry unto Yahweh, saying,—O God, I beseech thee, grant healing to Miriam, my sister.

And Yahweh said unto Moses:

If [her own father] had had [but spat] in her face wouldn’t she have acknowledged the shame for seven days? Let her shut herself up for seven days, outside the camp, and afterwards let her be received back.

So Miriam shut herself up, outside the camp, for seven days,—and [the people] set not forward, until Miriam had been received back. Then <afterwards> did the people set forward from Hazeroth, and encamped in the desert of Paran.

(Cp. Deu. i. 22–36.)

Chapter 13.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Send for thee men, and let them spy out the land of Canaan, which I am giving unto the sons of Israel,—<one man each, for the tribe of his fathers> shalt thou send, each one a prince among them.

So then Moses sent them out of the desert of Paran, at the bidding of Yahweh,—all of them great men, heads of the sons of Israel> were they’. And [these] are their names,—

Of the tribe of Reuben> Shammua, son of Zaccur;

Of the tribe of Simeon> Shaphat, son of Horai;

Of the tribe of Judah> Caleb, son of Jephunneh;

Of the tribe of Issachar> Igal, son of Joseph;

Of the tribe of Ephraim> Hoshea, b son of Nun;

Of the tribe of Benjamin> Palti, son of Raphu;

Of the tribe of Zebulun> Gaddiel, son of Sodi;

Of the tribe of Joseph—of the tribe of Manasseh> Gaddi, son of Susi;

Of the tribe of Dan> Ahammiel, son of Gemalli;

Of the tribe of Asher> Sethur, son of Michael;

Of the tribe of Naphtali> Nahbi, son of Vophsi;

Of the tribe of Gad> Geuel, son of Machi.

These> are the names of the men, whom Moses sent, to spy out the land,—but Moses called Hoshea of Nun, Joshua.’

So Moses sent them, to spy out the land of Canaan,—and said unto them—Go up, here, in the South, Yea ye shall go up the mountain; And shall see the land, what it is,—And the people that dwell thereupon. Whether they are strong or [weak], Whether they are [few] or [many]; And what [the land] is, wherein they dwell, Whether it is [good] or [bad],—And the cities within which they dwell, Whether in camps, or in strongholds; And what the land is, Whether [fat] or [lean], Whether there is’ timber therein, or is not’,

Then shall ye pluck up courage, and take of the fruit of the land. Then shall ye pluck up courage, and take of the fruit of the land. Now the days were the days of the first-fruit of grapes. So they went up, and spied out the land,—from the wilderness of Zin unto Rehob, at the entering in of Hamath. Yea they went up in the South, and entered as far as Hebron, and there were Ahiman, Sheshai and Talmai, descendants of the Anak. Now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan of Egypt. And they entered as far as the ravine of Eschol, and cut down, from thence, a branch with one cluster of grapes, and bare it on a pole between two,—also of the pomegranates and of the figs. That place was called, The Ravine of Eschol (=“Cluster-ravine”)—on account of the cluster, which was cut down from thence by the sons of Israel. And they returned from spying out the land,—at the end of forty days. So they took their journey, and came in unto Moses and unto Aaron, and unto all the assembly of the sons of Israel, into the wilderness of Paran, towards Kadesh,—and brought back word—unto them, and unto all the assembly, and showed them the fruit of the land. And they recounted unto him, and said, We entered into the land whither thou didst send us,—and surely it doth flow with milk and honey,—and is the fruit thereof. Nevertheless surely mighty are the people that dwell in the land,—and the cities walled in, exceeding great, moreover also, the descendants of the Anak saw we there. Amalek dwelleth in the land of the South; And the Hittite, and the Jebusite and the Amorite, dwell in the mountain, And the Canaanite, dwelleth by the sea, and by the side of the Jordan. And Caleb stilled the people unto Moses,—and said unto them—

Let us go straight up, and possess it, for we shall surely prevail against it. But the men who went up with him said,

We cannot go up against the people,—for are they than we.

So they sent forth a rumour of the land which they had spied out, <among the sons of Israel> saying,— <As touching the land through which we passed, to spy it out> it is a land that eateth up them who dwell therein,

And all the people that we saw in the midst thereof were men of great stature.

And saw we the giants, sons of Anak, descendant of the giants,— And we were in our own eyes as grass-hoppers,

And were in their eyes.

Chapter 14.

Then did all the assembly lift up, and give forth their voice,—and the people wept throughout that night. And all the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron,—and all the assembly said unto them—

Oh that we had died in the land of Egypt! Or in this wilderness oh that we had died! Wherefore then is Yahweh bringing us into this land, to fall by the sword? Our wives and little ones will become a prey! Would it not be well for us to go back towards Egypt?

And they said, one to another,—

Let us appoint a head, and let us go back towards Egypt.

Then did Moses and Aaron fall upon their faces,—before all the convocation of the assembly of the sons of Israel.

But Joshua son of Nun, and Caleb son of Jephunneh, of them who spied out the land rent their clothes; and spake unto all the assembly of the sons of Israel, saying,—

<As for the land through which we passed to spy it out>

Good is the land, exceedingly

8 If Yahweh delight in us then will he bring us into this land, and give it unto us,— [A land which doth’ flow with milk and honey].

9 Only against Yahweh do not rebel,
Do not [eye] fear the people of the land,
For [our food] they are,—
Their shade hath departed’ from over them.
And [Yahweh] is with us,
Do not fear them!

10 But when all the assembly bade stone them, with stones> [the glory of Yahweh] appeared, in the tent of meeting, unto all the sons of Israel. Then said Yahweh unto Moses, ||How long|| must this people [despise me]?
And [How long] can they not believe in me in view of all the signs which I have done in their midst?

12 Let me smite them with pestilence, and disinherit them,—
And make thee’ into a nation greater and more mighty than they!

13 Then said Moses unto Yahweh, —
So shall the Egyptians hear,
For thou hast brought up, in thy might, this people, out of their midst;
And will tell it unto the inhabitants of this land:
They have heard
That [thou, Yahweh] art in the midst of this people,—
That [eye to eye] is he seen—[thou, Yahweh],
And [thy cloud] is standing over them,
And [in a pillar of cloud] [thou thyself] art going on before them by day,
And [in a pillar of fire] by night.

15 As soon, therefore, as thou hast put to death this people, as one man> so soon will the nations who have heard thy fame speak, saying:

16 Because Yahweh was not able] to bring in this people into the land which he had sworn unto them> therefore did he slay them in the desert.

17 ||Now||, therefore, I beseech thee, let the might of My Lord> [be magnified],—according as thou didst speak, saying:

18 Yahweh—slow to anger and great in lovingkindness;
Forgiving iniquity and transgression.
Though he will not leave [wholly unpunished]
Visiting the iniquity of fathers upon sons,
Upon a third generation, and upon a fourth.

19 Pardon, I beseech thee, the iniquity of this people,
According to the greatness of thy lovingkindness,—
And according as thou hast forgiven this people, from Egypt, even thus far.

20 And Yahweh said,
I have pardoned, according to thy word;

21 Nevertheless <as I live,—and that all the earth may be filled with the glory of Yahweh>

22 Verily, ||none of the men who have been beholdng my glory and my signs, which I have done in Egypt, and in the desert,—and have put me to the proof these ten times, and have not hearkened unto my voice|| shall see the land, which I sware to their fathers,— yea, ||none of my despisers|| shall see it.

24 But [my servant Caleb]<because there was another spirit with him, and he followed me fully> therefore will I bring him into the land whereinto he entered, and ||his seed|| shall possess it. 25 Now ||the Amalekites and the Canaanites|| are dwelling in the valley,—<to-morrow> turn ye away; and set yourselves forward towards the desert, by the way of the Red Sea.

26 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

27 How long, <as regardeth this evil assembly> are they to be murmuring against me?

<As I live> is the oracle of Yahweh:
Surely <as ye have spoken in mine ears>
||so|| will I do unto you:—

29 <In this desert> shall your dead bodies fall, And <none of you who were numbered, in all your counting, from twenty years old and upwards,—who have murmured against me> shall enter into the land, as to which I uplifted my hand, to give you an abode therein,—save Caleb son of Jephunneh, and Joshua, son of Nun: whereas <your little ones, of whom ye said, they should become ||a prey||> I will bring them’ in, and they shall acknowledge the land which ye refused.

But ||your own’ dead bodies|| shall fall in this desert; and ||your sons|| shall be shepherds in the desert forty years, and shall bear your unchastities,—until your dead bodies are consumed in the desert.

32 By the number of the days, wherein ye spied out the land—forty days—<each day for a year> shall they bear your iniquities—forty years,—so shall ye know my opposition.

35 ||I—Yahweh|| have spoken,
Verily <this> will I do to all this evil assembly, who have conspired against me,—
In this desert they shall be consumed And <there> shall they die.

Now <as for the men whom Moses sent to spy out the land,—who returned and caused all the assembly to murmur against him, by giving out a rumour against the land> they died—the men who gave out an evil rumor of the land,—<by the plague, before Yahweh>. But ||Joshua son of Nun, and Caleb son of Jephunneh|| remained alive—of those men who went to spy out the land.

And Moses spake these words unto all the sons of Israel,—and the people were greatly depressed.

So they arose early in the morning, and went up into the top of the mountain, saying,—

We are here—therefore will we go up into the place as to which Yahweh hath said, that we have sinned.

But Moses said,
Wherefore is it that ||ye|| are going beyond the bidding of Yahweh,—since ||that|| cannot prosper?

Do not go up,
For Yahweh is not’ in your midst,—
Lest ye be smitten down before your enemies.

For ||the Amalekites and the Canaanites|| are there before you,
So shall ye fall by the sword,—
For <inasmuch> as ye have turned back from following Yahweh>
Therefore will Yahweh not be with you.

But they presumptuously, ascended into the top of the mountain,—though ||neither the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, nor Moses|| moved out of the midst of the camp. So then the Amalekites and the Canaanites, that dwelt in that mountain, [came down],—and smote them and routed them, even unto Hormah.

Speak unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them,—

And <when ye shall make a mistake, b> and not observe all these commandments,—which Yahweh hath spoken unto Moses; 22 even all that Yahweh hath given unto you in command, by the hand of Moses,—from the day that Yahweh gave command, and onward, unto your generations— 24 then shall it be.—<if away from the eyes of the assembly] it hath been done [by mistake]> that all the assembly shall offer one choice young bullock for an ascending-sacrifice, as a satisfying odour unto Yahweh, with the meal-offering thereof and the drink-offering thereof, according to the regulation,—and one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer.

So shall the priest put a propitiatory-covering over all the assembly of the sons of Israel, and pardon shall be granted unto them,—because  it was', ||they|| therefore have brought in their offering—an altar-flame unto Yahweh, and their sin-bearer before Yahweh, for their mistake; 26 and pardon shall be granted unto all the assembly of the sons of Israel, and unto the sojourner that sojourneth in their midst,—for <in the case of all the people> it was [by mistake].

§ 18. The Conspiracy against Moses under Korah, Dathan and Abiram.

Chapter 16.

1 Then took Korah, son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi,—and Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, and On, son of Peleth, sons of Reuben; and rose up before Moses, with certain men of the sons of Israel, two hundred and fifty,—princes of assembly, called to the stated meeting, men of renown; and gathered themselves together against Moses and against Aaron, and said unto them,

||Too much for you|| when ||all the assembly|| are ||all of them|| holy, and <in the midst of them> is Yahweh,— Wherefore, then, should ye set yourselves up, above the convocation of Yahweh?

4 And <when Moses heard it> he fell upon his face. Then spake he unto Korah, and unto all his assembly, saying,

In the morning will Yahweh make known— who are his, and who is the holy one, and will cause him to come near unto himself,—y<e>a</e>him whom he shall choose will he cause to come near unto himself.

5 This do,—

Take to you censers, Korah, and all his assembly; 2 and place therein fire, and put thereon incense, before Yahweh, to-morrow, So shall it be—that the man whom Yahweh shall choose ||he|| shall be the holy one. Too much for you, ye sons of Levi!

8 And Moses said unto Korah,—

Hear, I pray you, ye sons of Levi! 9 Is it too small a thing for you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the assembly of Israel, to bring you near unto himself,—to do the laborious work of the habitation of Yahweh, and to stand before the assembly, to wait upon them? 10 But having brought thee near, and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee must ye seek |priesthood also|?

11 Wherefore’ ||thou and all thine assembly|| are conspiring against Yahweh,—

But Aaron what is he’, that ye should murmur against him’?

12 Then sent Moses, to call for Dathan and for Abiram, sons of Eliab,—and they said,

We will not come up:

13 Was it ||a small thing|| that thou didst bring us up out of land flowing with milk and honey, to put us to death in the desert, but thou must ||continue even to lord it|| over us?

31 Because <the word of Yahweh> hath he despised, and <his commandment> hath he broken ; that person shall be |surely cut off|, ||his iniquity|| is in himself'.

32 While the sons of Israel were in the desert, they found a man gathering sticks on the sabbath day. And they who found him gathering sticks [brought him near] unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto all the assembly. And they put him in ward,—because it was not clear what they should do unto him. 35 Then said Yahweh unto Moses, The man shall be ||put to death||,—all the assembly ||stoning him with stones||, outside the camp. So then all the assembly ||put him forth|| outside the camp, and stoned him with stones, and he died,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

37 And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

Speak unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them,

That they shall make them fringes on the corners of their garments, unto their generations—and shall put upon the fringe of the corner, a cord of blue: 39 so shall they serve you as fringes, and when ye see then, then shall ye call to mind all the commandments of Yahweh, and shall do them,—and shall not spy out, |after your own hearts, and after your own eyes| for things, after which ||ye|| are ready to go unchastely away; 40 to the intent ye may call to mind, and do all my commandments, and be<holy unto your God.||

[I—Yahweh] am your God—who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to become your Father,—

[I—Yahweh] am your God.

Certainly <not into a land flowing with milk and honey> hast thou brought us, nor given unto us an inheritance of field and vineyard,—

"The eyes of those men" wilt thou dig out?

We will not come up.

Then was Moses very angry, and he said unto Yahweh,

Do not thou have respect unto their meal-offering.

"Not one ass, from them" have I taken, neither have I wronged one of them.

And Moses said unto Korah,

"If [as all human beings die] these‘ do die, and [the visitation of all human beings] be visited upon them[≥] [Yahweh] hath not sent me.

But ≤[if] a creation> Yahweh create, and the ground open wide her mouth, and swallow them up, with all that pertain unto them, and so they go down, alive, unto hades≥ then shall ye know, that these men have despised Yahweh.

And it came to pass, <as he made an end of speaking all these words> that the ground which was under them |clave asunder|; and the earth opened’ her mouth, and swallowed up them, and their households,—and all the human beings who pertained unto Korah, with all their goods: 33 so [they], and all that pertained unto them, |went down|, alive‘, unto hades,—and the earth |closed upon them|, and they perished out of the midst of the convocation. 34 And |[all Israel who were round about them]| fled at their cry,—for they said,

Lest the earth |swallow us up|.

||Fire also|] came forth, from Yahweh,—and consumed the two hundred and fifty men, who offered the incense.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Say unto Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the midst of the burning, and <the fire> scatter thou yonder,—for they have been hallowed.

<As for the censers of these sinners against their own persons> they shall be made into beaten-out plates, as an overlay for the altar, for they had brought them near before Yahweh, and hallowed them,—so shall they become a sign, unto the sons of Israel.

39 And Eleazar the priest took the censers of bronze, which the consumed men had brought near,—and beat them out into plates for overlaying the altar:

40 a memorial unto the sons of Israel,

That no stranger, who is [not of the seed of Aaron] shall draw near to offer incense before Yahweh,—lest he become like Korah and like his assembly,

As spake Yahweh by the hand of Moses, with regard thereto.

41 And all the assembly of the sons of Israel murmured, on the morrow, against Moses and against Aaron, saying,— [Ye] have caused the death of the people of Yahweh.

42 And it came to pass, [when the assembly gathered themselves together] against Moses and against Aaron> that they turned towards the tent of meeting, and lo! the cloud [had covered it]: and the glory of Yahweh [appeared].

And Moses and Aaron came in, before the tent of meeting. 44 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

45 Lift yourselves up out of the midst of this assembly, that I may consume them, as in a moment,—

And they fell upon their faces. 46 Then said Moses unto Aaron—

Take the censer and place thereon fire, from off the altar, and put incense [thereon], and going quickly into the assembly, put a propitiatory-covering over them,—for wrath [hath gone forth] from before Yahweh, the plague [hath begun].

47 Then took Aaron, as Moses spake, and ran into the midst of the convocation, and lo! the plague [had begun] among the people,—so he placed the incense, and put a propitiatory-covering over the people; 48 thus did he take his stand between the dead and the living,—and the plague [was restrained]. 49 And so it was, that they who died in the plague were fourteen thousand, and seven hundred,—besides them who died over the matter of Korah. 50 And Aaron returned unto Moses, unto the entrance of the tent of meeting,—when [the plague] had been restrained.

§ 19. Aaron’s Budding Staff.

Chapter 17.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

2 Speak unto the sons of Israel, and take of them, one staff each for an ancestral house, of all their princes, by their ancestral houses, [[twelve staves]],—<each man’s name> shalt thou write upon his staff;

3 and <Aaron’s name> shalt thou write upon the staff of Levi,—for <one staff> shall there be for the head of their ancestral house. 4 Then shalt thou lay them up in the tent of meeting,—before the testimony, where I meet with you. b

5 So shall it come to pass, that <the man whom I shall choose> [[his staff]] shall bud,—so will I cause to cease from against me’ the murmurings of the sons of Israel, wherewith [they] are murmuring against you’.

6 And Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, and every one of their princes gave unto him [[a staff apiece, for each prince]] by their ancestral houses, [[twelve staves]],—and [[the staff of Aaron]] was in the midst of their staves. 7 So Moses laid up the staves before Yahweh,—in the tent of the testimony.

8 And it came to pass [[on the morrow]], that Moses entered into the tent of the testimony; and lo! the staff of Aaron for the house of Levi [had budded],—yea it had brought forth buds, and bloomed blossoms, and borne ripe almonds. 9 So then Moses brought forth ‘all the staves, from before Yahweh, unto all the sons of Israel,—and they saw and took, each man his own staff.

10 And Yahweh said unto Moses—

Put back the rod of Aaron, before the testimony, to be kept as a sign unto such as are perverse,c—that thou mayest bring to an end their murmurings against d me, that they die not.

11 Thus did Moses,—<as Yahweh commanded him> [[so]] did he.

12 Then spake the sons of Israel unto Moses, saying:

§ 20. Provision for Priests and Levites.

Chapter 18.

1 And Yahweh said unto Aaron,[[Thou, and thy sons, and the house of thy father with thee]] shall bear the iniquity of the sanctuary,—and [[thou, and thy sons with thee]] shall bear the iniquity of your priesthood. ² Therefore also <thy brethren of the tribe of Levi>, the stem of thy father, bring thou near with thee, and let them be joined unto thee, and let them wait upon thee,—||both on thee and on thy sons with thee||, before the tent of the testimony. ³ So shall they keep thy charge, and the charge of all the tent,—only <unto the vessels> of the sanctuary, and unto the altar—shall they not come near, lest they die.—||both they, and ye||.

4 So shall they be joined unto thee, and shall keep the charge of the tent of meeting, as to all the laborious work of the tent,—but ||a stranger|| shall not come near unto you.

5 So shall ye keep the charge of the sanctuary, and the charge of the altar,—that there no more* be wrath against the sons of Israel.

6 ||therefore, lo! 8 And Yahweh spake unto Aaron,||therefore, lo! I have given unto thee* the charge of my heave-offerings,—as to all the hallowed things of the sons of Israel,—unto thee> have I given them, as pertaining to the anointing, and unto thy sons, for a statute age-abiding. ⁹ ||This|| shall be thine, out of the things most holy, out of the fire,—their every oblation—to the extent of their every meal-offering, and their every sin-bearer, and their every guilt-bearer wherein they make amends* unto me, <most holy unto thee> shall it be, and unto thy sons. ¹⁰ <As something most holy> shall ye eat it,—||every male|| shall eat it, <holy> shall it be unto thee.

Chapter 19.

1 And Yahweh spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying:

2 This is the statute of the law, which Yahweh hath commanded, saying,—

Speak unto the sons of Israel—That they bring unto thee a red heifer, without defect, wherein is no blemish, and whereupon hath come no yoke. 3 Then shall ye give her unto Eleazar the priest, and he shall take her forth unto the outside of the camp, and she shall be slain, before him; 4 and Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood, with his finger,—and shall sprinkle, towards the front of the tent of meeting, of her blood, seven times; 5 and the heifer shall be burned up before his eyes,—[her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, with her dung] shall be burned up.

Then shall the priest take cedar-wood, and hyssop and crimson,—and cast into the midst of the burning up of the heifer.

And the priest shall wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in water, and afterwards' come into the camp,—but the priest shall be unclean until the evening. 6 And [he that burneth her] shall wash his clothes in water, and bathe his flesh sons of Israel shall heave up unto Yahweh have I given unto thee, and unto thy sons and unto thy daughters with thee, by a statute age-abiding,—<an age-abiding covenant of salt> it is', before Yahweh, for thee, and for thy seed with thee.

Then said Yahweh unto Aaron:

In their land> thou shalt have no inheritance, and no <allotted portion> shalt thou have, in their midst,—[I] am thine allotted portion and thine inheritance, in the midst of the sons of Israel. 21 And <unto the sons of Levi> lo! I have given all the tenth in Israel, for an inheritance,—the allotted portion for their laborious work which [they] are performing, the laborious work of the tent of meeting: 22 that the sons of Israel [come near no more], unto the tent of meeting,—to bear sin, to die. 23

So shall the Levites themselves' perform the laborious work of the tent of meeting, and [they] shall bear their iniquity, a statute age-abiding, unto your generations, and <in the midst of the sons of Israel> they shall take no inheritance. 24 Because <the tenth of the sons of Israel, which they shall offer up unto Yahweh as a heave-offering> have I given unto the Levites, as an inheritance,—<for this cause> said I regarding them,

<In the midst of the sons of Israel> shall they take no inheritance.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Unto the Levites> therefore, shalt thou speak, and shalt say unto them,

When ye shall take of the sons of Israel the tenth which I have given unto you from them, as your inheritance> then shall ye offer" up therefrom the heave-offering of Yahweh,—[a tenth of the tenth]. 27 shall your heave-offering be reckoned your own,—as corn out of the threshing-floor, and as the abundance, out of the wine-press. 28 Thus shall ye also] offer up the heave-offering of Yahweh, out of all your tenths which ye shall take from the sons of Israel,—and give therefrom the heave-offering of Yahweh, unto Aaron, the priest. 29 <Out of all your gifts> shall ye offer" up every' heave-offering of Yahweh,—out of all the best thereof, the hallowed part thereof, out of it.

And thou shalt say unto them,—

<When ye offer the best thereof, out of it> then shall it be reckoned to belong unto the Levites, as the increase of the threshing-floor, and as the increase of the wine-press. 31 And ye shall eat it in any place, ||[ye, and your household]],—[for ][a reward] it is, unto you, the allotted portion for your laborious work in the tent of meeting. 32 And ye shall not, by reason of it, bear sin, when ye offer up the best thereof, out of it; and <the hallowed things of the sons of Israel> shall ye not profane, neither shall ye die.

in water,—and be unclean, until the evening.

9 Then shall a man that is clean gather up the ashes of the heifer, and put them by, outside the camp, in a clean place,—so shall they be for the assembly of the sons of Israel, to keep for water of separation, it is [[a taking away of sin]].

10 Then shall he that gathered up the ashes wash his clothes, and be unclean until the evening,—so shall it be for the sons of Israel, and for the sojourner that sojourneth in your midst, by a statute age-abiding.

11 <He that toucheth the dead, even any human person> shall be unclean seven days.

12 ||[He]] shall cleanse himself from sin therewith, on the third day, then <on the seventh day> shall he be clean,—but <if he cleanse not himself from sin on the third day> then <on the seventh day> shall he not be clean.

13 <Whosoever toucheth the dead, the person of the human being that dieth, and doth not cleanse himself from sin> <the habitation of Yahweh> hath he made unclean; that person, therefore, shall be cut off out of Israel,—<because ||[the water of separation]] was not dashed upon him> <unclean> shall he be, his uncleanness is yet’ upon him.

14 ||[This]] is the law—<When ||[a human being] shall die in a tent> ||[every one who goeth into the tent, and every one who is in the tent]] shall be unclean, seven days.

And [in the case of every open vessel, on which no’ cover is fastened] <unclean> it is’.

16 And ||[whosoever toucheth, on the face of the field, one slain with a sword, or one who hath died, or a human bone, or a grave]] shall be unclean, seven days.

And they shall take, for him that is unclean, of the ashes of the burning of the sin-bearer,—and living water shall be put thereon, in a vessel.

18 Then shall a man that is clean [take hyssop, and dip in the water], and sprinkle upon the tent, and upon all[[ the vessels,]] and upon the persons who were there,,—and upon him that touched the bone, or him who had been slain, or him who had died of himself, or the[[ grave; ]]

19 and the clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean, on the third day, and on the seventh day,—so shall he cleanse himself from sin, on the seventh day, and shall wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be clean in the evening.

20 But <in the case of the man who shall be unclean and shall not cleanse himself from sin> that person [shall be cut off,] out of the midst of the convocation,—for <the sanctuary of Yahweh> hath he made unclean, ||[the water of separation]] hath not been dashed upon him, <unclean> he is’.

So shall it be unto them< for a statute age-abiding,—and ||[he that sprinkleth the water of separation]] shall wash his clothes, and ||[he that toucheth the water of separation]] shall be unclean until the evening;

22 and ||[whosoever the unclean person toucheth]] shall be unclean,—and ||[the person who toucheth it]] shall be unclean until the evening.

§ 22. The Waters of Meribah (“Contention”).

Chapter 20.

1 Then came the sons of Israel, the whole assembly, into the desert of Zin, in the first month, and the people dwelt in Kadesh,—and Miriam died there, and was buried there.

2 And there was no water for the assembly,—so they gathered together against Moses, and against Aaron.

3 And the people contended with Moses,—and spake, saying,

Would then, we had died< when our brethren died,> before Yahweh!

4 Wherefore’ then, hast thou< brought the convocation of Yahweh into this desert,—to die there, ||[we, and our cattle]]?

5 And wherefore< did ye> cause us to come up out of Egypt, to bring us into this wretched place?—not a place of seeds, and figs, and vines, and pomegranates! <even water> is there none’ to drink.

6 And Moses and Aaron went in, from the presence of the multitude< unto the entrance of the tent of meeting, and fell upon their faces,—and the glory of Yahweh appeared' unto them. 7 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

8 Take the staff, and gather together the assembly, [thou, and Aaron thy brother], then shall ye speak unto the cliff, before their eyes, and it shall go forth its waters,—so shalt thou bring forth unto them water, out of the cliff, and shall cause the assembly, and their cattle, to drink.

9 And Moses took the staff, from before Yahweh,—as he commanded him. 10 And Moses and Aaron gathered together the convocation, before the cliff,—and he said unto them:

Hear, I pray you, ye rebels!

<Out of this cliff> must we bring forth for you, water?

11 And Moses lifted high his hand, and smote the cliff, with his staff, twice,—and there came forth water in abundance, and the assembly and their cattle [did drink].

12 Then said Yahweh unto Moses and unto Aaron, <Because ye believed not in me, to hallow me in the eyes of the sons of Israel> [therefore] shall ye not bring in this convocation into the land which I have given unto them.

13 ||The same|| were the waters of Meribah [that is “Contention”] in that the sons of Israel contended with Yahweh,—and so he hallowed himself among them.

§ 23. Edom refuses Israel a Passage.

14 And Moses sent messengers from Kadesh, unto the king of Edom,—

||Thus|| saith thy brother Israel,

||Thou thyself|| knowest all the distress which befell us; 15 and how our fathers went down to Egypt, and we abode in Egypt, many days,—and that the Egyptians ill-treated us, and our fathers; 16 and we made outcry unto Yahweh, and he heard our voice, and sent a messenger, and brought us forth out of Egypt,—lo! then, ||we|| are in Kadesh, a city at the extremity of thy boundary.

17 Let us, we pray thee, pass through thy land—we will not pass through field or vineyard, nor will we drink the waters of a well,—<by the king’s road> will we go—we will turn neither to the right hand nor to the left, until we get through thy boundary.

18 And Edom said unto him,

Thou shalt not pass through my land,—lest <with the sword> I come out to meet thee.

19 And the sons of Israel said unto him—<By the highway> will we go up, and <if <thy waters> we should drink—||I, and my cattle||> then would I give the price thereof,—only'—it is nothing!—<with my feet> would I pass through.

20 And he said,

Thou shalt not pass through.

And Edom came out to meet him, with a strong people, and with a firm hand. 21 Thus did Edom refuse to give Israel passage through his boundary,—and Israel turned away from him.

§ 24. The Death of Aaron on Mount Hor.

22 Then set they forward from Kadesh,—and the sons of Israel, all the assembly, came in to Mount Hor. 23 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses and unto Aaron, in Mount Hor,—near the boundary of the land of Edom, saying:

24 Aaron shall be withdrawn unto his kinsfolk, for he shall not enter into the land, which I have given unto the sons of Israel,—because ye spurned my bidding, at the waters of Meribah.

25 Take thou Aaron, and Eleazar his son,—and bring them up Mount Hor; 26 and strip thou Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son,—and ||Aaron|| shall be withdrawn, and shall die there.

27 And Moses did as Yahweh commanded,—and they went up into Mount Hor, in sight of all the assembly. 28 And Moses stripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son, and Aaron died there, in the top of the mount,—and Moses and Eleazar came down out of the mount. 29 And all the assembly saw that Aaron was dead; 30 and they bewailed Aaron thirty days, even all the house of Israel.

§ 25. The Seraph Serpents.

Chapter 21.

1 And the Canaanite, the king of Arad, who dwelt in the South, 31 heard that Israel had entered 32 by the way of Atharim—a so he made war with Israel, and took some of them captive.

2 Then Israel vowed a vow unto Yahweh, and said,—

   <If thou wilt surely deliver up this people into my hand> then will I utterly destroy their cities.

3 And Yahweh hearkened unto the voice of Israel, and delivered up the Canaanite into his hand, so he utterly destroyed them, and their cities,—and called the name of the place Hormah [that is, “Utter Destruction”].

4 Then brake they up from Mount Hor, by way of the Red Sea, to go round the land of Edom,—and the soul of the people became impatient because of the way. So then the people spake against God, and against Moses,

   Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt, to die in the desert? for there is neither bread, nor water, and ||our soul|| doth loathe this contemptible bread!

5 And Yahweh sent among the people the poisonous serpents; and they bit the people,—and much people out of Israel died. Then came the people of Israel unto Moses, and said—

   We have sinned, in that we spake against Yahweh, and against thee,

   Pray thou unto Yahweh, that he may take from us the serpent.

So Moses prayed for the people. Then said Yahweh unto Moses—

   Make thee a like serpent, and put it upon a standard,—and it shall come to pass, that ||any one who is bitten|| <as soon as he seeth it> shall live.

9 So Moses made a serpent of bronze, and put it upon the standard,—and it came to pass—<if the serpent had bitten any man> <as soon as he directed his look unto the serpent of bronze> he lived.

§ 26. From Edom to Moab.

10 And the sons of Israel brake up,—and encamped in Oboth. And they brake up from Oboth,—and encamped in Ije-Abarim, in the desert which is over against Moab, towards the rising of the sun.

12 <From thence> brake they up,—and encamped in the ravine of Zered. <From thence> brake they up, and encamped on the other side of Arnon which is in the desert, that cometh forth out of the boundary of the Amorites,—for ||Arnon|| is the boundary of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites. For this cause is it said, in the Book of the Wars of Yahweh,—

   …Waheb with a hurricane,

   And the ravines of Arnon;

15 And the bottom of the ravines, that extendeth toward the dwelling of Ar,—

   And adjoineth to the boundary of Moab,

16 And <from thence> towards Beer,—||the same|| is the well, whereof Yahweh said unto Moses,

   Gather together the people, that I may give them water.

17 ||Then|| sang Israel this song,—

   Spring thou up, O well!

   Respond ye thereunto,

   A well!—princes digged’ it,

   ||Nobles of the people|| delved it,

   With a sceptre,

   With their staves.

And <from the desert> to Mattanah;' 19 and <from Mattanah> to Nahaliel!; and <from Nahaliel> to Bamoth!; 20 and <from Bamoth of the valley, which is in the field-country of Moab> to the top of Pisgah,—which overlooketh Jeshimon. 21 Then sent Israel, messengers, unto Sihon king of the Amorites, saying:

22 Let me pass through thy land—we will not turn aside into field or into vineyard, nor will we drink the water of a well,—<by the king’s road> will we go, until we get through thy boundary.

23 And Sihon suffered not Israel to pass through his boundary, but Sihon gathered together all his people, and came forth to meet Israel, towards the desert, and entered Jahaz,—and fought with Israel.

24 And Israel smote him with the edge of the sword,—and took possession of his land, from Arnon unto Jabbok, unto the sons of Ammon, for

Chapter 22.

Then did the sons of Israel break up, and encamp in the waste plains of Moab, on the other side of the Jordan by Jericho.

§ 27. Balak King of Moab sends for Balaam.

And Balak son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done unto the Amorites, and Moab shrank with great fear from the presence of the people, because they were, and Moab was alarmed at the presence of the sons of Israel.

So Moab said unto the elders of Midian—

"Now shall the gathered host lick up all that are round about us, as the ox doth lick up the verdure of the field.

But Balak son of Zippor was king unto Moab at that time. So he sent messengers unto Balaam son of Beor, to Pethor, which was by the river of the land of the sons of his people, to call him,—saying—

Lo! hath come forth out of Egypt Lo! he hath covered the eye of the land,

Ye is tarrying over against me."

Therefore, do come, I pray thee, curse me this people.

For he is stronger than I,

If peradventure I prevail we shall smite him,

That I may drive him out of the land,—

For I know that he whom thou dost bless is to be blessed,

And he whom thou dost curse is to be cursed.

And the elders of Moab and the elders of Midian went their way, with the rewards of divination in their hand,—so they came in unto Balaam, and spake unto him the words of Balak. And he said unto them—

Tarry ye here for the night, and I will bring you back word, as Yahweh shall speak unto me.

So the princes of Moab abode with Balaam. And God came in unto Balaam,—and said,

Who are these men, with thee?

||strong] was the boundary of the sons of Ammon.

So Israel took all these cities,—and Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heshbon, and in all her villages; a for [as for Heshbon] <the city of Sihon king of the Amorites> it was,—||he having fought with the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, unto Arnon. b

<For this cause> say the poets—

Enter ye Heshbon,—

Built and prepared be the city of Sihon;

For [a fire] hath come forth out of Heshbon,
||[A flame] out of the stronghold of Sihon;
It hath consumed Ar of Moab,

The lords of the high places of Arnon.

Woe to thee, Moab,
Thou art lost, O people of Chemosh,—
He hath given up his sons as fugitives
And his daughters into captivity,
Unto the king of the Amorites, Sihon.

Then we shot them—

Heshbon is destroyed, as far as Dibon,—
Then laid we waste as far as Nophah,
A fire reacheth unto Medeba.

So then Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites. c
And Moses sent to spy out Jazer, and they captured the villages thereof,—and dispossessed the Amorites that were there. Then turned they, and went up by the way of Bashan,—and Og, king of Bashan, came forth to meet them,—||he, and all his people||, to give battle at Edrei. Then did the sons of Israel break up,—and encamp in the waste plains of Moab, on the other side of the Jordan by Jericho.

So then Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites. d

Therefore shalt thou do unto him, as thou didst unto Sihon, king of the Amorites, who was dwelling in Heshbon.

So then they smote him, and his sons, and all his people, until there was not left him, a remnant,—and took possession of his land.

g Some cod. (w. Sam., Syr., and Vul.) have: “sons of Ammon”—G.n. h Some cod. (w. sp. v.r. [sevir] Sam., Onk. MS., Jon., Sep., and Syr.) have here: “and lo!”—G.n.
Then said Balaam unto God,—
||Balak, son of Zippor, king of Moab|| hath sent unto me:
11
Lo! ||the people that hath come forth out of Egypt||—he covereth the eye of the land.
||Now||do come, do revile me him,
Peradventure I shall prevail in making war with him,
And shall drive him out.
12
And God said unto Balaam,
Thou shalt not go with them,—
Thou shalt not curse the people,
For <blessed> he is'.
13
And Balaam rose up in the morning, and said unto the princes of Balak, Get you into your own land,—
For Yahweh hath refused' to let me go with you.
14
So the princes of Moab arose, and came in unto Balak,—and said, Balaam refused' to come with us.
15
Then added Balak again,—to send princes, more and weightier than these. 16
And they came in unto Balaam,—and said unto him—
||Thus|| said Balak son of Zippor,
Do not be withheld, I pray thee, from coming unto me:
17
For I will ||honour|| thee, ||exceedingly||, and <all that thou shalt say unto me> will I do.
Do come therefore, I pray thee, oh revile me this people.
18
And Balaam responded, and said unto the servants of Balak, <Though Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold> I could not go beyond the bidding of Yahweh my God, to do less or more.
19
||Now|| therefore, abide here, I pray you, even ||ye||—for the night,—that I may get to know what further' Yahweh may be speaking with me.
20
And God came in unto Balaam, by night, and said unto him—
<If ||to call thee|| the men have come in> arise, go with them,—
||But only|| <the thing that I shall speak unto thee> ||that|| shalt thou do.
21
So Balaam arose’ in the morning, and saddled his ass,—and went with the princes of Moab. 22
Then kindled the anger of God, because he’ ||was going||, and the messenger of Yahweh stationed’ himself in the way, to withstand him,—||as he was riding upon his ass, his two young men being with him||. 23
And the ass saw the messenger of Yahweh, stationed in the road, with his drawn sword in his hand, so the ass turned aside out of the road, and went into the field,—and Balaam smote the ass, to make her turn back into the road.
24
But the messenger of Yahweh took his stand, in a hollow pass of the vineyards,—with a fence on this side, and a fence on that side. 25
And <when the ass saw the messenger of Yahweh> she squeezed herself against the wall, and squeezed the foot of Balaam, against the wall,—and again’ he smote her. 26
And the messenger of Yahweh went on further’, and took his stand in a narrow place, where there was no way to turn, to the right hand or to the left. 27
And <when the ass saw the messenger of Yahweh> she sank down under Balaam,—then was Balaam’s anger kindled, and he smote the ass with the staff. 28
And Yahweh opened the mouth of the ass,—and she said unto Balaam—
What have I done to thee, that thou hast smitten me, these three times?
29
And Balaam said unto the ass,
Surely thou hast been making sport of me,—
Would there had’ been a sword in my hand, for ||now|| would I have slain thee.
30
Then said the ass unto Balaam—
Am not |||| thine own ass, on which thou hast ridden all thy life, until this day? Have I ||been wont|| to do unto thee |thus|?
And he said,
Nay!
31
Then did Yahweh unveil the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the messenger of Yahweh stationed in the road, with his sword drawn, in his hand,—so he bent his head and bowed down before him. 32
And the messenger of Yahweh said unto him, suggest that the command of ver. 20 scarcely even amounted to a permission, but was rather a piece of irony, or, at most, intimated that if Balaam was determined to go, he would not be forcibly prevented. Cp. O.T. Ap. “Pharaoh’s Heart, The hardening of.”

Chapter 23.

§ 28. Balaam’s First Prophecy.

Then said Balaam unto Balak:

Build me here, seven altars,—and prepare me here, seven bullocks and seven rams.

2 And Balak did’ as Balaam had spoken’,—and Balak and Balaam caused to ascend a bullock and a ram on each altar. 3 Then said Balaam unto Balak:

Station thyself by thine ascending-sacrifice, and let me go my way—peradventure’ Yahweh may come and meet me, and <what thing soever he may shew me> I will tell thee. So he went his way to a bare height. 4 And God came unto Balaam,—so he said unto him—

<The seven altars> have I built in a row, b and have caused to ascend, a bullock and a ram on each altar.

5 And Yahweh put a word into the mouth of Balaam,—and said—

Return unto Balak, and ||[thus]|| shalt thou speak.

6 So he returned unto him, and lo! he was stationed by his ascending-sacrifice,—||[he, and all the princes of Moab]||. 7 So he took up his parable and said,—

<From Aram> doth Balak’ conduct me,

||[The king of Moab]|| from the mountains of the East,

Come thou! curse me Jacob,

Yea, come thou! rage on Israel.

8 How can I revile one whom GOD’ hath not’ reviled?

Yea, how can I rage on one on whom Yahweh’ hath not’ raged?

9 Surely <from the head of the rocks> do I see him,

Yea, <from the hills> do I observe him,—

Lo! ||[a people]|| who alone’ doth dwell,

And <among the nations> he doth not reckon himself.

10 Who’ hath counted the dust of Jacob?

Or who’ hath numberedf the fourth part of Israel?

Let me< die the death of the upright, And let my hereafter> be like his!

11 Then said Balak unto Balaam,

What hast thou done for me?

And he answered and said,—

Was it not [to be so] that <whatsoever Yahweh should put into my mouth> [the same] should I take heed to speak?

Then said Balak unto him—

Come, I pray thee, with me, unto another place, from whence thou mayest see him, <nothing but his utmost part> shalt thou see, but <all of him> shalt thou not see,—and so revile me him, from thence.

And he took him to the field of Zophim, unto the head of Pisgah,—and built seven altars, and caused to ascend a bullock and a ram on each altar.

Then said he to Balak,

Station thyself here, by thine ascending-sacrifice,—while [I] meet him yonder.

And Yahweh met Balaam, and put a word into his mouth,—and said—

Return unto Balak, and put a word into his mouth,—and said—

<Doth the very horns of the buffalo> are his:

Surely, there is no enchantment against Jacob,
Nor divination against Israel,—

<What hath GOD wrought!>

Lo || a people || <like a lioness> shall rise,
And <like a strong lion> shall rouse himself up;
He will not lie down, till he eat the torn,
And <the blood of the slain> he drink.

Then said Balak unto Balaam,

Thou shalt neither ||revile|| him,—nor ||bless|| him.

And Balaam responded, and said unto Balak,—

Spake I not unto thee, saying,
<All that Yahweh shall speak> ||that|| must I do?

Section 30. Balaam's Third and Fourth Prophecies.

And Balak said unto Balaam,

Come, I pray thee! let me take thee unto another place,—peradventure ||it may be right in the eyes of God|| that thou revile me him, from thence.

And Balaam said unto Balaam,

Build me here, seven altars,—and prepare me here, seven bullocks and seven rams.

And Balak did as Balaam said,—and caused to ascend a bullock and a ram on each altar.

Chapter 24.

And when Balaam saw that it was good in the eyes of Yahweh, to bless Israel— he went not as at other times, to invoke enchantments,—but set towards the desert] his face. 2 So Balaam lifted up his eyes, and saw Israel, dwelling, according to his tribes,—then came upon him, the Spirit of God; 3 and he took up his parable, and said,—

The oracle of Balaam, son of Beor,
Yea the oracle of the man, of opened eye;

a The infinitive here following the finite verb: See Intro., Synopsis, B., b., end.

b Or: "heedfully ('scrupulously') speak."

4 The oracle of one hearing sayings of God,
Who <the sight of the Almighty> receiveth in vision,
Who, falleth down, but hath unveiled eyes:—

5 How pleasing are thy tents, O Jacob,— Thy e habitations, O Israel:

6 Like ravines extended, b
Like gardens by a river,—
Like aloe-trees Yahweh hath planted, c
Like cedars by waters:

7 He poureth forth water from his buckets, d
And [his seed] is among many waters,—
And taller than Agag is his King,
And exalted is his kingdom.

8 <God having, brought him f forth out of Egypt>

Then kindled the anger of Balak against Balaam, and he smote together his hands,—and Balad said unto Balaam—

<To revile my foes> I called thee,
And lo! thou hast ||kept on blessing||, f these three times.

||Now|| therefore, flee thou unto thy place,—
I said, I will ||highly honour|| thee; but lo!
Yahweh hath kept thee back from honour.

And Balaam said unto Balad,—

Was it not so, that <even unto thy messengers whom thou didst send unto me> I spake, saying—

<Though Balad would give me his house full of silver and gold> yet could I not go beyond the bidding of Yahweh, to do good or ill, out of my own heart,—<what Yahweh shall speak> [that] must I speak?

||Now|| therefore, behold me! going to my own people,—
Come now! let me advise thee, what this people shall do unto thy people, in the after-part of the days. g

So he took up his parable, and said,—

The oracle of Balaam, son of Beor,
Yea the oracle of the man, of opened eye;

The oracle of one hearing sayings of God,
And knowing the knowledge of the Most High,—

Who <the sight of the Almighty> receiveth in vision,
Who falleth down, but hath unveiled eyes:—

I see One, who is not now,
I observe One, who is not nigh,—
There hath marched forth b a Star out of Jacob,
And arisen a Sceptre out of Israel,
That hath dishonoured the beard of Moab,
Yea the crown of the head d of all the tumultuous;i

So Edom hath become a possession,
Yea a possession' is Seir to his foes,—
But ||Israel|| is doing valiantly;

Yea One wieldeth dominion out of Jacob,—
Who hath destroyed the remnant out of the fortress.

And <when he saw Amalek> he took up his parable, and said—

<when he saw the Kenite> he took up his parable, and said,—

Enduring' thy dwelling-place,
Set thou then, in the crag thy nest,k

Yet shall it be for destruction, O Kain,—
How long shall Assyria hold thee captive?

And he took up his parable, l and said,—

§ 31. Israel and the Daughters of Moab: Phineas jealous for his God.

Chapter 25.

And Israel remained among the acacias,c—and the people began to go away unchastely unto the daughters of Moab; 2 who invited the people unto the sacrifices of theird gods,—so the people did eat, and did bow themselves down unto theira gods. 3 Thus Israel let himself be bound unto Baalpeor, —and the anger of Yahweh kindled upon Israel. 4 And Yahweh said unto Moses—

Take all the heads of the people, and crucifyg them unto Yahweh, in the face of the sun,—that the heat of the anger of Yahweh may turn away from Israel.

And Moses said unto the judges of Israel,— Slay ye each one his men, who have let themselves be bound unto Baal-peor.

And lo! [a man of the sons of Israel coming in] who brought near unto his brethren a Midianite woman, before the eyes of Moses, and before the eyes of all the assembly of the sons of Israel,—[when they were weeping at the entrance of the tent of meeting]]. 7 And Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saw it,—so he rose up out of the midst of the assembly, and took a spear in his hand;

and went in after the man of Israel, into the pleasure-tent, and thrust both of them through, the man of Israel, and the woman, in her parts of shame,—so the plague was restrained, from against the sons of Israel. 9 Then was it found that they who had died by the plague were four and twenty thousand. 10 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Chapter 26.

And it came to pass <after the plague> that Yahweh spake unto Moses, and unto Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saying:

Reckon ye up the sum of all the assembly of the sons of Israel, from twenty years old and upwards, by their ancestral houses,—every one able to go forth to war, in Israel.

So then Moses and Eleazar the priest spake with the judges of Israel,—and over the matter of Peor,—and over the matter of Cozbi, daughter of Zur,—<the head of his kindred, of an ancestral house in Midian> was he.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, saying:

Besiege the Midianites,—and ye shall smite them: 18 for [besiegers] were they unto you', with their wiles wherewith they beguiled you, over the matter of Peor,—and over the matter of Cozbi, daughter of a prince of Midian, [their sister], who was smitten in the day of the plague, over the matter of Peor.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Unto these shall be apportioned the land, as an inheritance, by the number of names.

For the large one thou shalt make large his inheritance, and for the small one thou shalt make small his inheritance, unto each one, in proportion to them who were numbered of him shall be given his inheritance.

Nevertheless, by lot shall the land be apportioned, by the names of the tribes of their fathers shall they inherit.

At the bidding of the lot shall be apportioned his inheritance, between large and small.

And there were born to Aaron, Nadab and Abihu,—Eleazar, and Ithamar;

But Nadab and Abihu died, when they brought near strange fire before Yahweh:

And they who were numbered of them were found to be twenty-three thousand, all the males, from one month old and upwards,—for they had not numbered themselves in the midst of the sons of Israel, because there was given unto them no inheritance, in the midst of the sons of Israel.

These are they who were numbered by Moses, and Eleazar, the priest,—when they numbered the sons of Israel, in the waste plains of Moab, by Jordan, near Jericho. And among these was there not found a man of them who had been numbered by Moses, and Aaron the priest,—when they numbered the sons of Israel, in the desert of Sinai. For Yahweh had said’ of them,

They shall surely die in the desert. And there was not left of them a man, save only Caleb son of Jephunneh, and Joshua son of Nun.

§ 33. The Daughters of Zelophehad.

Chapter 27.

Then came near the daughters of Zelophehad, son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, pertaining to the families of Manasseh, son of Joseph,—these being the names of his daughters, Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah and Milcah, and Tirzah. So they stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the priest, and before the princes, and all the assembly,—at the entrance of the tent of meeting, saying:

Our father died in the desert, although, he was not among the assembly that conspired against Yahweh, in the assembly of Korah,—but in his own sin died he; and sons had he none.

Therefore should the name of our father be withdrawn, out of the midst of his family, because he had no son?

Give ye unto us a possession, in the midst of the brethren of our father.

And Moses brought near their cause, before Yahweh. Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

A right thing are the daughters of Zelophehad speaking: Thou shalt surely give them a possession for an inheritance, in the midst of the brethren of their father,—and shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass over unto them.

And unto the sons of Israel shalt thou speak, saying,—

<When any man shall die, having no son> then shall ye cause his inheritance to pass over to his daughter. And <if he hath no daughter> then shall ye give his inheritance unto his brethren. 10 And <if he hath no brethren> then shall ye give his inheritance unto the brethren of his father. And <if his father hath no brethren> then shall ye give his inheritance unto his blood-relation that is near unto him, of his family, and he shall possess it,— 15 So shall it serve the sons of Israel as a regulative statute. 16 As Yahweh commanded Moses.

§ 34. Moses warned of his Death, and Joshua appointed.

And Yahweh said unto Moses, Go up into this mount of Abarim,—and see the land which I have given unto the sons of Israel; 13 And <when thou hast seen it> then shalt ||thou also|| be withdrawn unto thy kinsfolk,—as |Aaron thy brother| was withdrawn; 14 because ye resisted my bidding—in the desert of Zin, when the assembly contended,—that ye should hallow me regarding the waters, before their eyes,—||[the same]|| were the waters of Meribah, of Kadesh, in the desert of Zin. 15 Then spake Moses unto Yahweh, saying: Let Yahweh, God of the spirits of all flesh, b appoint’ a man over the assembly; 17 who may go out before them, and who may come in before them, and who may take them out, and who may bring them in,—that the assembly of Yahweh become not as sheep that have no shepherd. 18 And Yahweh said unto Moses: Take thee Joshua’s son of Nun, a man in whom is spirit,—then shalt thou lean thy hand upon him; 19 and shalt cause him to stand, before Eleazar the priest, and before all the assembly,—and shalt charge him, before their eyes; 20 and shalt put some of thine honour upon him,—that all the assembly of the sons of Israel [may hearken].

21 And <before Eleazar the priest> shall he stand, d and shall ask by him for the decision of the Lights, e before Yahweh,—<at the bidding thereof> f shall they go out, and <at the bidding thereof> shall they come in—||he, and all the sons of Israel with him, even all the assembly||. 22 And Moses did’ as Yahweh commanded him,— and took Joshua, and caused him to stand before Eleazar the priest, and before all the assembly; 23 and leaned his hands upon him, and charged him,— As Yahweh spake by the hand of Moses.

And <on the tenth of this seventh month> ||[a holy convocation]|| shall there be unto you,—when ye shall humble your souls,—<no work> shall ye do; ⁷ but ye shall bring near, as an ascending-sacrifice unto Yahweh, a satisfying odour, one choice bullock, one ram,—seven he-lambs a year old, <without defect> shall they be for you; ⁸ and, as their meal-offering, fine meal overflowed with oil,—three-tenths to a bullock, two-tenths to the one’ ram; ⁹ a tenth severally to each’ lamb,—of the seven lambs; ¹⁰ one young he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to| the propitiatory sin-bearer, ¹¹ and the continual ascending-sacrifice, with its meal-offering and their drink-offerings.

And <on the fifteenth day of the ² seventh month> ||[a holy convocation]|| shall there be unto you, <no laborious work> shall ye do,—but ye shall celebrate a festival unto Yahweh, seven days. ¹² Then shall ye bring near as an ascending-sacrifice—an altar-flame of a satisfying odour unto Yahweh,—thirteen choice bullocks, two rams,—fourteen he-lambs a year old, <without defect> shall they be; ¹³ and <as their meal-offering> fine-meal overflowed with oil, three-tenths to each’ bullock, of the thirteen bullocks, two-tenths to each’ ram, of the two rams; and a tenth severally, to each’ lamb,—of the fourteen lambs; ¹⁶ also one young he-goat, as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to the continual ascending-sacrifice, the meal-offering thereof, and the drink-offering thereof. ¹⁷ And <on the second day> twelve choice bullocks, two rams,—fourteen he-lambs a year old, without defect; ¹⁸ with their meal-offerings and their drink-offering—to the bullocks, to the rams, and to the lambs, by their number, according to the regulation; ¹⁹ also one young he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to the continual’ ascending-sacrifice, with its meal-offering, and their drink-offerings. ²⁰ And <on the third day> eleven bullocks, two rams,—and fourteen he-lambs a year old, [without defect]; ²¹ with their meal-offering and their drink-offerings, to the bullocks, to the rams, and to the lambs, by their number, according to the regulation; ²² also one young he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to the continual’ ascending-sacrifice, with the meal-offering thereof, and the drink-offering thereof. ²³ And <on the fourth day> ten bullocks, two rams,—fourteen he-lambs a year old, [without defect]; their meal-offering, and their drink-offerings, to the bullocks, to the rams, and to the lambs, by their number, according to the regulation; ²⁵ also one he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to the continual’ ascending-sacrifice, the meal-offering thereof, and the drink-offering thereof. ²⁶ And <on the fifth day> nine bullocks, two rams,—fourteen he-lambs a year old, without defect; ²⁷ with their meal-offering and their drink-offerings,—to the bullocks, to the rams, and to the lambs, by their number, according to the regulation: ²⁸ also one young he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to the continual’ ascending-sacrifice, with the meal-offering thereof, and the drink-offering thereof. ²⁹ And <on the sixth day> eight bullocks, two rams,—fourteen he-lambs a year old, without defect; ³⁰ with their meal-offering and their drink-offerings—to the bullocks, to the rams, and to the lambs, by their number, according to the regulation; ³¹ also one young he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition’ to the continual’ ascending-sacrifice, the meal-offering thereof, and the drink-offerings thereof. ³² And <on the seventh day> seven bullocks, two rams,—fourteen he-lambs a year old, without defect; ³³ with their meal-offering and their drink-offering, to the bullocks, to the rams, and to the lambs—by their number,

The Children of Israel shall bring near—as an ascending-sacrifice, an altar-flame of a satisfying odour, unto Yahweh—one bullock, one ram, seven he-lambs a year old, without defect: 37 [with] their meal-offerings and their drink-offerings—unto the bullock, to the ram, and to the lambs—by their number, according to the regulation; 38 also one young he-goat as a sin-bearer,—in addition to the continual ascending-sacrifice, with the meal-offering thereof, and the drink-offering thereof.

39 [These] shall ye offer unto Yahweh, in your appointed seasons, besides your vow-offerings and your freewill offerings—as your ascending-sacrifices, and as your meal-offerings, and as your drink-offerings, and as your peace-offerings.

1 And Moses spake unto the heads of the tribes of the sons of Israel, saying:

[This] is the thing which Yahweh hath commanded—

2 <When a man shall vow a vow unto Yahweh, or swear an oath to bind a bond upon his soul> he shall not break his word, —<according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth> shall he do.

3 And <when a woman shall vow a vow unto Yahweh, and bind a bond in the house of her father, in her youth; 4 and her father shall hear her vow or her bond which she bindeth upon her soul, and her father shall hold his peace at her> then shall all her vows stand, and [every bond which she hath bound upon her soul] shall stand. 5 But <if her father forbade her, in the day when he heard> [none of her vows or her bonds which she hath bound upon her soul] shall stand, —and [Yahweh] will pardon her, because her father forbade her. 6 But <if she belongeth to a husband, when her vows were taken upon her, or a rash utterance fell from her lips, wherewith she put a bond upon her soul; 7 and her husband heard it, and on the day that he heard> he held his peace at her, then shall her vows stand, and [her bonds which she hath bound upon her soul] shall stand. 8 But <if on the day her husband heard>, he forbade her> then shall he have made of none effect her vow that is upon her, or the rash utterance of her lips, wherewith she put a bond upon her soul,—and [Yahweh] will pardon her. 9 But <as for the vow of a widow, or of a woman divorced> [whatsoever she hath bound on her soul] shall stand against her. 10 But <if <in the house of her husband> she vowed,—or bound a bond upon her soul, with an oath; 11 and her husband heard, and held his peace at her, did not forbid her> then shall all her vows stand, and [every bond which she hath bound upon her soul] shall stand. 12 But <if her husband <did make> them >nothing which came forth out of her lips—of her vows, or of the bond of her soul> shall stand,—[her husband] made it of none effect, and [Yahweh] will pardon her: 13 <As for any vow, or any oath of binding, to humble one’s soul> [her husband] may make it stand, or [her husband] may make it of none effect. 14 But <if her husband >do hold his peace at her, from day to day> then shall he cause all her vows to stand, or all her bonds which are upon her,—[cause them to stand] because he held his peace at her, on the day when he heard. 15 And <if he >do make them of none effect> after that he hath heard them> then shall he bear her iniquity.

16 [These] are the statutes which Yahweh commanded Moses, between a man and his wife,—between a father and his daughter, [in her youth, in the house of her father].
§ 37. The Avenging of Israel on the Midianites.

Chapter 31.

1 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:
2 Exact thou, the avenging of the sons of Israel, from the Midianites,—and afterwards shalt thou be withdrawn unto thy kinsfolk.
3 So Moses spake unto the people, saying,
Arm ye from among you men, for the war,—and let them go against Midian, to render the avenging of Yahweh upon Midian. 4 <A thousand from each tribe,—of all the tribes of Israel> shall ye send forth unto the war.
5 And there volunteered out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand of each tribe,—twelve thousand, armed for war. 6 And Moses sent them, a thousand of each tribe, to the war,—and Phinehas son of Eleazar the priest to the war, with the vessels of the sanctuary, and the alarm trumpets, in his hand. 7 So they made war upon Midian, as Yahweh had commanded Moses,—and slew every male: 8 and the kings of Midian—<Balaam also, son of Beor> slew they besides their other slain—namely, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian,—<whoever hath touched the slain> slew they with the sword. 9 And the sons of Israel took captive the women of Midian, and their little ones,—<all their cattle also, and all their flocks, and all their substance> carried they off as a prey; 10 <all their cities also, in their sites, and all their encampments> burned they up with fire. 11 Then took they all the spoil, and all the booty,—both of man and beast; 12 and brought in unto Moses, and unto Eleazar the priest, and unto the assembly of the sons of Israel—the captives, and the booty, and the spoil, unto the camp,—unto the waste plains of Moab, which are by Jordan, near Jericho. 13 And Moses, and Eleazar the priest, and all the princes of the assembly, went forth to meet them,—unto the outside, of the camp. 14 Then was Moses sore displeased with the officers of the force,—the princes of thousands, and the princes of hundreds, who were coming in from the warring host.

15 And Moses said unto them,—
Have ye saved alive every female? 16 Lo! [they] became unto the sons of Israel, by the advice of Balaam, the cause of daring acts of treachery against Yahweh, over the affair of Peor,—and then came the plague against the assembly of Yahweh!
17 [[Now]] therefore, slay ye every male among the young,—<every woman also that hath cohabited with man> slay ye. 18 But <all the young of womankind that have not cohabited with man> preserve alive for yourselves.
19 [Ye] then, pitch outside the camp, for seven days,—<whosoever hath killed a person, and whoever hath touched the slain> cleanse yourselves (from sin) on the third day, and on the seventh day, [ye, and your captives].
20 Every garment also, and every article of skin, and every thing made of goat's-hair, and every article of wood> shall ye cleanse (from sin).
21 Then said Eleazar the priest unto the men of the host, who had been to the war:
[[This]] is the statute of the law, which Yahweh hath commanded Moses:
22 Surely <the gold, and the silver,—the bronze, the iron, the tin and the lead> [whatsoever thing can go into fire> ye shall pass through fire, and it shall be clean; only' <with the water of separation> shall ye cleanse it (from sin).]
But <whatsoever cannot go into fire> ye shall pass through water.
24 And ye shall wash your clothes, on the seventh day, and be clean,—and afterwards shall ye come into the camp.
25 Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:
Reckon thou up the sum of the booty that was captured, both of man and of beast,—<thou, and Eleazar the priest, and the ancestral heads of the assembly>; 27 and divide the booty into two parts, between them who took upon them the war, who went out in the host,—and all the [rest of the] assembly.

Then shalt thou levy a tribute unto Yahweh—<from the men of war, who went forth in the host>, one' living thing, out of five hundred,— of the human beings, and of the herd, and of the asses, and of the flock:
shall ye take [them],—and thou shalt give [them] unto Eleazar the priest, as a heave-offering unto Yahweh.

And <out of the half allotted to the sons of Israel> shalt thou take one allotted portion out of fifty, of the human beings, of the herd, of the asses and of the flock, of all' the cattle,—and shalt give them unto the Levites, who keep the charge of the habitation of Yahweh.

And Moses and Eleazar the priest did',—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

And it came to pass that the booty, <over and above> the prey which the people of the host had seized> was,—<of the flock> six hundred and seventy-five thousand;
and <of the herd> seventy-two thousand;
and <of the asses> sixty-one thousand;
and <of the human persons, even the woman-kin who had not cohabited with man>,—<all the persons>, thirty-two thousand.

And the half, the share of them who had gone forth in the host, was,—<the tribute of them unto Yahweh, out of the flock> was—six hundred and seventy-five;
and <the tribute of them unto Yahweh, out of the herd> was—three hundred and thirty-seven thousand, and five hundred;
and <the tribute of them unto Yahweh, out of the herd> was—seven hundred and thirty thousand, and five hundred;
and <the tribute of them unto Yahweh, out of the herd> was—six hundred and thirty thousand, and five hundred;
and <of the herd>, six and thirty thousand;
and <of the herd>, six and thirty thousand, and five hundred;
and <of the herd>, six and thirty thousand, and five hundred;
and <of the herd>, six and thirty thousand, and five hundred;
and <of the herd>, six and thirty thousand, and five hundred.

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

Then came near unto Moses, the officers who belonged unto the thousands of the host,—the princes of thousands, and the princes of hundreds;
and said unto Moses,

Therefore have we brought near an offering unto Yahweh, what ||each man|| hath found—articles of gold, ankle chains and bracelets, rings, earrings and buckles,—to put a propitiatory-covering over our souls, d before Yahweh.

So Moses, and Eleazar the priest took the gold, of them,—all the wrought articles.
And all the gold of the heave-offering which they offered up unto Yahweh, was—sixteen thousand, seven hundred and fifty shekels,—||of the princes of thousands, and of the princes of hundreds||.

||The men of the host|| had taken prey, each man for himself.f
So then Moses and Eleazar the priest took’ the gold of the princes of thousands, and hundreds,—and brought it into the tent of meeting, as a memorial for the sons of Israel, before Yahweh.

Now ||much cattle|| had come into the possession of the sons of Reuben, and of the sons of Gad, ||an exceeding mighty number||. And <when they saw the land of Jazer and the land of Gilead> lo! ||the place|| was a place for cattle.
So the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben came in,—and spake unto Moses, and unto Eleazar the priest, and unto the princes of assembly, saying:

3 As touching Ataroth and Dibon, and Jazer and Nimrah, and Heshbon, and Elealeh,—and Sebam and Nebo, and Beôn—"the land which Yahweh smote' before the assembly of Israel" a a land for cattle it is',—and ||thy servants|| have cattle.

5 And they said—

<If we have found favour in thine eyes> let this land be given unto thy servants, for a possession,—do not take us over the Jordan.

6 Then said Moses unto the sons of Gad and unto the sons of Reuben,—

Shall ||your brethren|| go into the war, and ||ye|| settle down here? b Wherefore, then, should ye dissuade the heart of the sons of Israel,—from passing over into the land which Yahweh hath given' to them?

8 ||Thus|| did your fathers,—when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea, to view the land, and they went up as far as the ravine of Eschol, and viewed the land, and then dissuaded the heart of the sons of Israel from entering into the land, which Yahweh [had given them]. Then was the anger of Yahweh kindled, on that day,—and he sware, saying:

Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upwards, shall see the soil, which I sware unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob,—because they have not followed after me fully; c save Caleb son of Jephunneh, the Kenezite, and Joshua, son of Nun,—for they followed after Yahweh fully.

11 So the anger of Yahweh kindled upon Israel, and he made them wander in the desert, forty years,—until all the generation who had done the evil in the eyes of Yahweh [had wasted away].

14 Lo! therefore, ye have arisen in the room of your fathers, brood of sinful men,—to heap up yet more upon the heat of the anger of Yahweh, towards Israel.

15 <If ye do turn away from following him> then will he yet again leave them behind in the desert,—so shall ye bring destruction upon all this people.

16 Then came they near unto him, and said, <Folds for flocks> would we build for our cattle [here],—and cities for our little ones;

17 but ||we|| would arm ourselves promptly, before the sons of Israel, until that we have brought them into their place,—so should our little ones remain in the fortified' cities, because of the inhabitants of the land. 18 We would not return unto our houses,—until the sons of Israel have possessed themselves [each man] of his inheritance. 19 For we would not inherit with them, over the Jordan, and onwards,—because our inheritance hath come unto us on this side the Jordan, towards sunrise.

20 And Moses said unto them,

<If ye will indeed do this thing,—if ye will arm yourselves, before Yahweh, for the war; 21 and every armed man of you pass over the Jordan before Yahweh,—until he hath dispossessed his enemies, from before him; 22 and the land be subdued' before Yahweh> then afterwards shall ye return, and shall be acquitted by Yahweh and by Israel,—and this land shall be' yours for a possession before Yahweh.

23 But <if ye shall not do this> lo! b ye will have sinned against Yahweh,—and take note of your sin, that it will find you out.

24 Build you cities for your little ones, and folds for your flocks,—and then <that which hath gone forth from your mouth> ye shall do.

25 Then spake the sons of Gad, and the sons of Reuben, unto Moses, saying,—

||Thy servants|| will do, as ||my lord|| is giving command. d ||Our little ones, our wives, our cattle, and all our beasts|| shall remain there, in the cities of Gilead; 27 and ||thy servants|| will pass over, every one armed for war, before Yahweh, to battle,—as ||my lord|| is speaking.

28 So Moses gave command concerning them, unto Eleazar the priest, and unto Joshua son of Nun,—and unto the heads of the fathers of the tribes, of the sons of Israel; 29 and Moses said unto them—

<If the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben will pass’ with you over the Jordan, every one armed for the war, before Yahweh, and the

Chapter 33.

1 These are the departures of the sons of Israel, whereby they came forth out of the land of Egypt, by their hosts,—in the hand of Moses and Aaron.

2 And Moses wrote their comings forth, by their departures, at the bidding of Yahweh,—and these are their departures, by their comings forth.

3 So then they brake up from Rameses, in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month, [on the morrow of the passover] came forth the sons of Israel, with an uplifted hand, in the sight of all the Egyptians; 4 when [these Egyptians] were burying them whom Yahweh had smitten among them, every firstborn,—when upon their gods Yahweh had executed judgments. 5 Thus then the sons of Israel brake up from Rameses,—and encamped in Succoth. 6 And they brake up from Succoth,—and encamped in Etham, which is at the edge of the desert. 7 And they brake up from Etham, and turned upon Pi-hahiroth, which is over against Baal-zephôn,—and encamped before Migdôl. 8 And they brake up from before Hahiroth, 9 and passed through the midst of the sea, towards the desert,—and went their way a journey of three days, in the desert of Etham, and encamped in Marah. 9 And they brake up from Marah, and came in towards Elim; there being in Elim twelve fountains of water, and seventy palm-trees, so they encamped there. 10 And they brake up from Elim,—and encamped by the Red Sea. 11 And they brake up from the Red Sea,—and encamped in the desert of Sin. 12 And they brake up from the desert of Sin,—and encamped in Dophkah. 13 And they brake up from Dophkah,—and encamped in Alush. 14 And they brake up from Alush,—and encamped in Rephidim, where was no water, for the people to drink. 15 And they brake up from Rephidim,—and encamped in the desert of Sinai. 16 And they brake up from the desert of Sinai,—and encamped in Kibroth-hattaavah. 17 And they brake up from Kibroth-hattaavah,—and encamped in Hazeroth. 18 And they brake up from Hazeroth,—and encamped in Rithmah. 19 And they brake up from Rithmah,—and encamped in Rimmon-perez. 20 And they brake up from Rimmon-perez,—and encamped in Libnah. 21 And they brake up from Libnah,—and encamped in

And <for a west' boundary>—ye shall have the great sea, even a boundary,—||this|| shall serve you as west’ boundary.

And ||this|| shall serve you as a north’ boundary,—<From the great sea> ye shall draw a line for you, to Mount Hor:a

<From Mount Hor> ye shall draw a line to the entering in of Hamath,—and the extension of the boundary shall be towards Zedad; ‘then shall the boundary reach out towards Ziphron, and the extension thereof,’ be to Hazar-enân. ||This|| shall serve you as a north’ boundary.

Then shall ye draw for yourselves a line, for an east boundary,—from Hazar-enân towards Shephâm; 11 and the boundary shall go down from Shephâm towards Riblah, on the east of Ain—then shall the boundary go down, and strike on the side of the Sea of Chinnereth, eastward; 12 then shall the boundary go down towards the Jordan, and the extension thereof be to the salt’ sea. ||This|| shall be your land, by the boundaries thereof, round about.

And Moses commanded the sons of Israel, saying,—

||This|| is the land, which ye shall inherit by lot, which Yahweh had commanded to be given to the nine tribes, and the half tribe.

For the tribe of the sons of the Reubenites, by their ancestral house, and the tribe of the sons of Gad, by their ancestral house, have received,—and ||the half tribe of Manassêh|| have received, their inheritance:

||the two tribes, and the half tribe|| have received their inheritance—on this side Jordan near Jericho, eastwards, towards sunrise.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

||These|| are the names of the men who shall receive for you the land, as an inheritance,—

Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, son of Nun.

Also <one prince from each tribe> shall ye take to receive the land' as an inheritance.

¶These¶ therefore, are the names of the men,—

<For the tribe of Judah> Caleb, son of Jephunneh;

And <for the tribe of the sons of Siman> Shemuel, son of Ammihud:

<For the tribe of Benjamin> Elidad, son of Chislon;

And <for the tribe of the sons of Dan> a prince—Bukki, son of Jogli:

<For the sons of Joseph>

<For the tribe of the sons of Manassêh> a prince,—Hanniel, son of Ephod;

And <for the tribe of the sons of Ephraim> a prince,—Kemuel, son of Shiphtân;

And <for the tribe of the sons of Zebulun> a prince,—Elizaphân, son of Parnach;

And <for the tribe of the sons of Issachar> a prince,—Paltiel, son of Azzân;

And <for the tribe of the sons of Asher> a prince,—Ahihud, son of Shelomi:

And <for the tribe of the sons of Naphtali> a prince,—Pedahel,b son of Ammihud.

¶These¶ are they whom Yahweh hath commanded, to receive—for the sons of Israel—their inheritance, in the land of Canaan.

Then spake Yahweh unto Moses, saying:

Speak unto the sons of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them,—

When ye are passing over the Jordan, unto the land of Canaan then shall ye find for you, convenient cities, cities of refuge shall they be unto you,—and the manslayer, who hath slain a person by mistake, shall flee thither.

So shall the cities serve you for places of refuge from the manslayer,—that the manslayer may not die, until he has stood before the assembly, for judgment.

And as touching the cities which ye shall give six cities of refuge shall there be unto you.

Three of the cities shall ye give, on this side the Jordan, and three of the cities shall ye give in the land of Canaan,—cities of refuge shall they be.

For the sons of Israel, and for the sojourner, and for the settler in your midst shall these six cities serve, as places of refuge,—that any one may flee thither who hath slain a person by mistake.

If, then, with an instrument of iron he smote him, and he died a manslayer he is,—the manslayer shall surely die. Or if with a stone thrown by hand, where-by one might die he smote him, and he died a manslayer he is,—the manslayer shall surely die. Or if with hand-weapon of wood, wherewith one might die he smote him, and he died a manslayer he is,—the manslayer shall surely die. The blood-redeemer shall put to death the manslayer,—when he lighteth upon him he shall put him to death.

Or if with hate he shall thrust at him, or hurl him designedly, and he have died or if with enmity he hath smitten him with his hand, and he is dead then shall he that dealt the blow be surely put to death, the blood-redeemer he is,—the blood-redeemer shall put to death the manslayer when he lighteth upon him.

But if suddenly, without enmity he shall thrust him, or hurl upon him any missile, or with any stone whereby one might die, without seeing him, and it fall upon him, and he dieth; he shall not be put to death for the blow, but the assembly shall judge, between him that smote and the blood-redeemer, according to these regulations; and the assembly shall rescue the manslayer out of the hand of the blood-redeemer, and the assembly shall restore him unto his city of refuge, whither he had fled,—and he shall dwell therein, until the death of the high priest, who hath been anointed with the hallowing oil. But if the manslayer go out of the bounds of his city of refuge, whereinto he hath fled; and the blood-redeemer find him, outside the bounds of his city of refuge then may the blood-redeemer slay the slayer, without being guilty of blood; for in his city of refuge should he have remained, until the death of the high priest,—and after the death of the high priest might he have returned into the land which he doth possess.

So shall these serve you as a regulative statute unto your generations,—wheresoever ye may dwell.

Whosoever taketh away life at the mouth of witnesses shall the slayer be slain,—but one...
And ye shall accept no ransom for the life of him that slayeth, if he have unlawfully causedb death,—but he ||must surely be put to death]]. 32
And ye shall accept no ransom for him that hath fled to his city of refuge, if he should return to dwell in the land before the death of the priest.c

Chapter 36.

1 Then came near the heads of fathers, belonging to the family of the sons of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, out of the families of the sons of Joseph,—and spake before Moses, and before the princes, heads of fathers, belonging to the sons of Israel; 2 and they said—

<Unto my lord> did Yahweh give command, to bestow the land as an inheritance, by lot, unto the sons of Israel,—||[my lord’]|| therefore, was commanded by Yahweh, to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother, unto his daughters. 3 <When, therefore, <unto any one from among the sons of the [other] tribes of the sons of Israel> they become wives> their inheritance shall disappear out of the inheritance of our fathers, and be added to the inheritance of the tribe to which they shall be received,—and so <out of the lot of our inheritance> shall it disappear’. 4 And <when the jubilee shall come to the sons of Israel> then shall their inheritance be added’ unto the inheritance of the tribe to which they shall be received,—and <out of the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers> shall their’ inheritance disappear’.

5 Then Moses commanded the sons of Israel, at the bidding of Yahweh, saying,—

<A right thing> are [the tribe of the sons of Joseph][b speaking.

6 ||[This]] is the thing which Yahweh hath commanded, as to the daughters of Zelophehad, saying: <Unto whomsoever it may be good in their eyes> let them become wives,—[save only]’ <unto the family of the tribe of their father> let them become wives. 7 So shall no inheritance belonging to the sons of Israel go round’ from tribe to tribe,—for the sons of Israel shall ||[each one] cleeve ||unto the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers]]. 8 And ||[every daughter possessing an inheritance, from among the tribes of the sons of Israel]] <unto one of the family of the tribe of her father> shall become wife,—to the intent that the sons of Israel may possess, ||[each one] the inheritance of his fathers; 9 and no inheritance go round’ from one tribe to another tribe,—for the tribes of the sons of Israel shall cleeve ||[each one unto his own inheritance]].

10 <As Yahweh commanded Moses> ||[so]] did’ the daughters of Zelophehad. 11 Thus then did Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milchah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, become wives ||unto the sons of their father’s brethren. 12<Unto men from among the families of the son of Manasseh, son of Joseph> became they wives,—and so their inheritance remained’ with the tribe of the family of their father.

13 ||[These]] are the commandments and the regulations which Yahweh gave in charge, by the hand of Moses, unto the sons of Israel,—in the waste plains of Moab, by Jordan, near Jericho.

cp. vers. 1 and 5.\(^a\)

Chapter 1.

1 ||These|| are the words, which Moses spake unto all Israel, over the Jordan,—in the wilderness, in the waste plain\(^b\) over against Suph, between Paran and Tophel, and Laban and Hazeroth, and Di-zahab: \(^c\) eleven days from Horeb, by way of Mount Seir,—as far as Kadesh-barnea.\(^d\)

3 And it came to pass, \(\text{in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first of the month}\) that Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, according to all that Yahweh had given him in charge, for them; \(\text{after he had smitten Sihon, king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon,—and Og, king of Bashan, who dwelt in Ashtaroth, in Edrei:}\) \(\text{in the land of Moab}\) did Moses take in hand\(^e\) to expound this law, saying:—

§ 2. A Retrospect—Spoken by Moses, with an Occasional Editorial Explanation thrown in.

6 ||Yahweh our God|| spake unto us in Horeb, saying,— \(<\text{Long enough}>\) have ye dwelt in this mountain:

7 Turn ye and set yourselves forward, and enter into the hill country of the Amorites, and into all the places near, in the plain, in the mountain, and in the lowland, and in the south, and in the coast of the sea,—the land of Canaan, and the Lebanon, as far as the great river, the river Euphrates.\(^f\)

8 See! I have set before you, the land,—enter, and possess the land, which Yahweh spake unto your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give unto them, and unto their seed after them.

9 So I spake unto you, at that time, saying,— \(\text{I am unable [by myself], to carry you.}\)

10 ||Yahweh your God|| hath multiplied you,—

\(\text{and [here ye are] to-day, like the stars of the heavens, for multitude.}\) \(\text{The God of your fathers}|| \text{be adding unto you the like of you, a thousand times,—and bless you, as he hath spoken unto you!}\)\(^i\)

12 How’ should I carry [by myself] the fatigue of you and the burden of you, and your controversies?

13 Set forth, for you—men wise and discerning, and known to your tribes,—that I may appoint them to be heads over you.

14 And ye answered me,—and said, ||Good|| is the word which thou hast spoken, to be done\(^i\).

15 So I took heads for your tribes, wise men and known, and placed them as heads over you,—captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds, and captains of fifties, and captains of tens, and overseers for your tribes.

16 And I charged your judges, at that time, saying,—

Ye are to hear, between your brethren, and shall judge righteously, between each man and his brother, and his sojourner. \(\text{Ye shall not take note of faces, in judgment—}\)

\(<\text{so’ the small, as’ the great}>\) shall ye hear, ye shall not shrink from the face of any man, for ||judgment|| \(\text{unto God}|| \text{belongeth,—but <the thing which is too hard for you> shall ye bring near unto me, and I will hear it.}\)

18 So I commanded you, at that time, all the things which ye should do.
19 And <when we brake up from Horeb> we came through all that great and terrible desert\(^a\) which ye saw, by way of the hill-country of the Amorites, as Yahweh our God commanded us,—and we entered in, as far as Kadesh-barnea. 20 Then said I unto you,—
Ye are come in as far as the hill-country of the Amorites, which ||Yahweh our God|| is giving unto us.
21 See thou—Yahweh thy God hath set before thee, the land,—go up—take possession, as Yahweh the God of thy fathers hath spoken unto thee, do not fear, neither be dismayed.
22 And ye came near unto me, all of you, and said—
Let us send men before us, that they may search out for us a place, and bring us back word, the way by which we must go up, and the cities whereinto we must enter.\(^b\)
23 And the thing was good in mine eyes,—so I took from among you twelve men, one man for each tribe. 24 And they turned and went up the hill-country, and entered in as far as the ravine of Eshcol, and explored it.\(^c\)
25 And they took in their hand of the fruit of the country, and bare it down unto us,—and brought us back word, and said, Good' is the land, which ||Yahweh our God|| is giving unto us.
26 Nevertheless ye were not willing to go up,—but rebelled against the bidding of Yahweh, your God; 27 and murmured in your tents, and said, <Because Yahweh hated' us> hath he brought us forth out of the land of Egypt,—to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to destroy us.
28 ||Whither|| are ||we|| to go up? ||Our own brethren||\(^d\) have made our heart\(^e\) melt, saying—
<A people greater and taller\(^f\) than we, cities large and walled-up into the heavens,—yea, moreover', sons of Anakim> have we seen there.

29 Then I said unto you,—
Ye must not tremble, nor be afraid of them: <Yahweh your God, who is going before you> ||he|| will fight for you,—according to all that he did with you in Egypt, before your eyes; 31 also in the desert which thou hast seen, where Yahweh thy God carried thee as a man will carry his son,\(^g\) throughout all the way that ye journeyed, until ye entered as far as, this place.
32 But <in this thing> ye were putting no' trust in Yahweh your God; 33 who was going before you in the way—to search out for you a place,\(^h\) where ye might encamp,—in the fire by night, that ye might get sight of the way wherein ye should go, and in the cloud, by day.
And Yahweh heard' the voice of your words,— and was wroth, and sware—saying:
Surely, not one of these men, this wicked generation,—shall see' the good land, which I sware to give unto your fathers:
saving Caleb, son of Jephunneh, ||he|| shall see it, and <unto him> will I give the land through which he hath trodden, |and unto his sons,|—because he hath wholly followed Yahweh.
37 <Even with me> did Yahweh show himself angry, for your sakes, saying,— ||Even thou|| shall not enter therein.
38 <Joshua son of Nun, who standeth before thee> ||he|| shall enter in thither,—<him> strengthen thou, for ||he|| shall cause Israel to inherit it.
And <your little ones, of whom ye said they should become ||a prey||, and your sons, who to-day know not good and evil> ||they|| shall enter in thither,—and <unto them> will I give it, and ||they|| shall possess it.
But <as for you> turn ye, for your' part,— and set forward towards the desert, by way of the Red Sea.
Then responded ye and said unto me—
We have sinned against Yahweh, ||We, ourselves|| will go up, and fight, according to all that Yahweh our God hath commanded' us.

Then turned we, and set forward towards the desert, by way of the Red Sea, as Yahweh spake unto me; and we encompassed Mount Seir many days. And Yahweh spake unto me, saying:

"Long enough" have ye encompassed this mountain,—turn yourselves northwards. And "the people" command thou saying,

Ye're are about to pass through the boundary of your brethren, the sons of Esau, who are dwelling in Seir,—and "should they be afraid of you" take ye good heed to yourselves: do not engage in strife with them, for I will not give you of their land, so much as place for the tread of a footsole,—for as "a possession to Esau" have I given Mount Seir.

"Food" shall ye buy of them with silver, so shall ye eat,—"yea even water" shall ye buy of them with silver, so shall ye drink. For "Yahweh thy God" hath blessed thee, in all the work of thy hand; he hath considered thy traversing of this great desert,—"these forty years" hath Yahweh thy God been with thee, thou hast lacked [nothing].

So we passed on, a way from our brethren the sons of Esau, who dwell in Seir, from the way of the waste plain, from Elath, and from Ezion-geber,—and we turned and passed on by way of the desert of Moab.

And Yahweh said unto me—

Do not lay siege to Moab, nor engage in strife with them, in battle,—for I will not give unto thee of his land, as a possession, for <unto the sons of Lot>d have I given Ar, as a possession.

||The Emim|| formerly dwelt therein,—a people great and many and tall, like the Anakim.

||Giants|| used [they also] to be accounted like the Anakim,—but ||the Moabites|| called them Emim.<12 And <in Seir> dwelt the Horim aforetime, but ||the sons of Esau|| dispossessed them, and destroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their stead,—as did Israel unto the land of his own possession, which Yahweh had given unto them.

||Now|| arise, and pass ye over the ravine of Zered.

So we passed over the ravine of Zered.

Now ||the days in which we journeyed from Kadesh-barnea|| as far as where we crossed the ravine of Zered|| were thirty-eight years,—until all the generation of the men of war were consumed' out of the midst of the camp, as Yahweh had sworn unto them.

Yea ||even the hand of Yahweh|| was against them, to destroy them out of the midst of the camp,—until they were consumed.

So it came to pass <when all the men of war were consumed, by dying, out of the midst of the people> 17 then spake Yahweh unto me, saying:

||Thou|| art passing, to-day, the boundary of Moab, even Ar; 19 so wilt thou draw near over against the sons of Ammon, do not thou besiege them, neither engage in strife with them,—for I will not give of the land of the sons of Ammon unto thee, as a possession, for <unto the sons of Lot> have I given it as a possession.

20 A land of giants> used ||that also|| to be accounted,—||giants|| dwelt therein aforetime, but ||the Ammonites|| called them Zamzummim:

21 a people great and many and tall, like the Anakim,—but Yahweh destroyed them from before them, and they took their possessions, and dwelt in their stead: 22 as he did for the sons of Esau, who are dwelling in Seir,—when he destroyed the Horim from before them, and they took their possessions, and dwelt in their stead, ||even unto this day||. 23 <The Avvim also, who dwelt in settlements> as far as Gaza> ||Caphtor||, destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.

24 Arise ye, set forward, and cross over the ravine of Arnon, see! I have given into thy hand—Sihon king of Heshbon, the Amorite, and his land, begin—take possession,—and engage in strife with him in battle.

25 ||This day|| will I begin to extend the dread of thee, and the fear of thee, over the face of the peoples under all the heavens,—who will hear the report of thee, then will they quake, and writhe in pain because of thee.

26 So I sent messengers out of the desert of Kadeemoth, unto Sihon, king of Heshbon,—with words of peace saying:

27 I would pass along through thy land, <by the road> will I go,—I will not turn aside, to the right hand or to the left: 28 <Food for silver> shalt thou sell me, so will I eat, and <water for silver> shalt thou let me have, so will I drink,—only' I would pass through on my feet;— 29 as the sons of Esau, who are dwelling in Seir, did to me, and the Moabites, who are dwelling in Ar,—until that I pass over the Jordan, into the land which ||Yahweh our God|| is giving unto us.

30 But Sihon king of Heshbon |was not willing|, to let us pass along through it,—for Yahweh thy God had suffered⁴ him to make his spirit harsh, and his heart bold, that he might give him into thy hand,—(as [appeareth] this day).

31 Then said Yahweh unto me,

See! I have begun to deliver up before thee, Sihon and his land,—begin, take possession, that thou mayest make a possession of his land.

32 So then Sihon came out to meet us, ||he, and all his people||, to give battle at Jahaz.

33 And Yahweh our God delivered him up before us,—and we smote him, and his sons, ⁶ and all his people. ³⁴ And we captured all his cities, at that time, and devoted to destruction every city of males, with the women, and the little ones,—we left not remaining a survivor: ³⁵ only' <the cattle> made we our prey,—and the spoil of the cities which we captured. ³⁶ <From Aror, which is on the edge of the ravine of Arnon, and the city that is in the ravine, even as far as Gilead> there was not a fortress that proved too high for us,—<the whole> did Yahweh our God deliver up before us.

37 Only' <unto the land of the sons of Ammon> didst thou not come near,—all the side of the Jabbok ravine, nor the cities of the hill country, nor any which Yahweh our God had forbidden to us.

Chapter 3.

1 Then turned we, and went up, the way of Bashan;¹ and Og king of Bashan |came out| to meet us, ||he, and all his people|| to give battle at Edrei. ² And Yahweh said unto me:

Do not fear him, for |unto thy hand| have I delivered him, and all his people, and his land,—so then thou shalt do unto him, as thou didst unto Sihon king of the Amorites, who was dwelling in Heshbon.

3 Then did Yahweh our God deliver into our hand, ⁶ Og also, king of Bashan, and all his people,—so we smote him, until there was not left remaining to him a survivor.

And we captured all his cities, at that time, there was no fortress, which we took not from them,—sixty cities, all the region of Argob, a the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

All these were fortified cities, each with a high wall, folding gates and a bar,—besides country towns exceeding many.

And we devoted them to destruction, [doing unto them] as we did unto Sihon king of Heshbon,—devoting to destruction every city of males, the women, and the little ones.  But all the cattle, and the spoil of the cities] made we our prey.

Thus did we, at that time, take the land out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites (which was over the Jordan), from the ravine of Arnon as far as Mount Hermon.

||Sidonians] call Hermon, Sirion,—but [the Amorites] call it Senir.

All the cities of the table-land, and all Gilead, and all Bashan,—unto Salecah, and Edrei,—cities of the kingdom of Og, in Bashan.

For [only Og, king of Bashan] was left remaining of the remnant of the giants, loth [his bedstead] was a bedstead of iron, is not [the same] in Rabbath, of the sons of Ammon? <nine cubits> the length thereof, and <four cubits> the breadth thereof, by the fore-arm of a man.

And <this land> took we in possession at that time,—<from Aror which is by the ravine of Arnon, and half the hill-country of Gilead and the cities thereof> gave I unto the Reubenites and unto the Gadites; but <the remainder of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og> gave I unto the half tribe of Manasseh,—all the region of the Argob, with all Bashan.

[The same] is called, A land of giants. ||Jair, son of Manasses] took all the region of Argob, as far as the boundary of the Geshurites, and the Maachathites,—and called them, after his own name, The Bashan of Havvoth-jair unto this day.

And [unto Machir] gave I Gilead;

And <unto the Reubenites and unto the Gadites> gave I—from Gilead, even as far as the ravine of Arnon, the middle of the ravine, and boundary,—even as far as the Jabbok ravine, the boundary of the sons of Ammon; the Waste Plain also, and the Jordan and boundary,—from Chinnereth, even as far as the sea of the Waste Plain, the Salt Sea, under the slopes of Pisgah on the east.

So I commanded you, at that time, saying,—

||Yahweh your God|| hath given unto you this land to possess it, <armed> shall ye pass over before your brethren the sons of Israel, all the sons of valour. Only' [your wives and your little ones and your cattle]—I know that ye have |much cattle|—shall abide in your cities' which I have given unto you; until that Yahweh shall give rest unto your brethren, as well as you, so shall [they too] possess the land which ||Yahweh your God|| is giving unto them, over the Jordan,—then shall ye return, every man unto his possession, which I have given unto you.

Joshua also commanded I, at that time, saying,—

||Thine' are the eyes|| that have seen all that Yahweh your God hath done unto these two kingdoms, [thus] will Yahweh do unto all the kingdoms, whereunto thou art passing over: ye shall not fear them,—for

Chapter 4.

1 ||Now|| therefore, O Israel, hearken thou unto the statutes, and unto the regulations, which ||I|| am teaching you, to do [them],—to the end ye may live, and enter, and possess the land, which ||Yahweh, the God of your fathers|| is giving unto you. 2 Ye shall not add unto the word which ||I|| am commanding you, neither shall ye take awayb therefrom,—that ye may keep the commandments of Yahweh your God, which ||I|| am commanding you. 3 ||Yours are the eyes|| that have seen what Yahweh did in Baal-peor, for <every man who went after Baal-peor> did Yahweh thy God destroy' out of the midst; 4 but ||ye who kept on cleaving unto Yahweh your God|| <alive> are ye all’ today.c

5 See! I have taught you statutes, and regulations, as Yahweh my God commanded' me,—that ye should do so', in the midst of the land whereinto ye’ are entering to possess it. Therefore shall ye observe, and do [them], for ||that|| will be your wisdom, and discernment, in the eyes of the peoples,—who will hear all these statutes, and will say—

15 lest ye should break faith, and make you an image, a form of any likeness,—a model of male or female; 17 a model of any beast, that is in the earth,—a mode of any winged bird, that fieth in the heavens; 18 a model of any thing that creepeth on the ground,—a model of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth; 19 or lest thou shouldest lift up thine eyes towards the heavens, and see the sun, and the moon, and the stars—all the host of the heavens, and shouldest be seduced, and shouldest bow thyself down to them, and be led to serve them,—the which Yahweh thy God hath assigned unto all the peoples under all the heavens;

20 whereas <you> hath Yahweh taken, and brought you forth out of a smelting-pot of iron, out of Egypt,—that ye might become his own, inherited people, as at this day.

21 But [[Yahweh]] shewed himself angry with me, for your sakes,—and sware, that I should not pass over the Jordan, and that I should not enter into the good land, which [[Yahweh thy God]] is giving unto thee, as an inheritance; 22 for [[I]] am about to die in this land, I’ am not’ to pass over the Jordan,—but [[ye]] are to pass over, and possess this good land.

23 Take heed to yourselves, lest ye forget the covenant of Yahweh your God, which he hath solemnised with you,—and so make for yourselves an image, the form of anything, the which Yahweh thy God hath forbidden thee; 24 seeing that [[as for Yahweh thy God]] [[a consuming fire]] he is’,—a jealous God.

25 When thou shalt beget sons, and sons’ sons, and become careless in the land, and break faith, and make an image, the form of any thing, and shalt do the thing that is wicked in the eyes of Yahweh thy God, provoking him to anger; 26 I take both the heavens and the earth to witness against you, to-day, that ye shall be speedily from off the land which ye are passing over the Jordan to possess,—ye shall not prolong your days thereupon; for [[ye shall surely be laid waste]]; 27 and Yahweh will scatter you among the peoples,—and ye shall have left remaining of you, men easily counted, among the nations whither Yahweh will drive you; 28 and ye will serve, there, gods made by the hands of man,—wood or stone, which neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. 29 <If thou shalt seek from thence, Yahweh thy God> then shalt thou find him,—when thou shalt search after him with all thy heart, and with all thy soul. 30 <In thy distress, when all these things have found thee out> in the afterpart of the days thou wilt return unto Yahweh thy God, and wilt hearken to his voice. 31 For [[a God of compassion]] is Yahweh thy God, he will not forsake thee, neither will he destroy thee,—nor forget the covenant of thy fathers which he sware unto them.

32 For ask, I pray you, of the former days which were before thee, even from the day when God created man upon the earth, yea from one end of the heavens, even to the other end of the heavens,—whether aught was ever brought to pass, like this great thing, or was ever heard of like it: 33 Did a people ever hear the voice of a god speaking out of the midst of fire, as [[thou]] didst hear, and yet live? 34 Or did a god ever make trial of entering in, to take unto him a... nation, out of the midst of a nation, by provings, by signs and by wonders, and by fighting, and by a stretched-out arm, and by great terrors,—according to all that Yahweh your God did for you in Egypt, before your eyes?

§ 35 ||Thou|| wast allowed to see, that thou mightest know, that ||Yahweh|| he’ is God, there is’ none other than [he alone].

§ 36 <Out of the heavens> he let thee hear his voice, to instruct thee,—and <upon the earth> he let thee see his great fire, and <his own words> thou didst hear, out of the midst of the fire. And <because that he loved thy fathers> therefore chose he his seed after him,—and brought thee forth, with his presence, with his great might, out of Egypt; to dispossess nations, greater and stronger than thou, from before thee,—to bring thee in, to give unto thee their land for an inheritance: As at this day.

So then thou must consider to-day, and bring it back to thy heart, that ||Yahweh|| he’ is God, in the heavens above, and upon the earth beneath,—there is’ none other. So shalt thou keep his statutes and his commandments, which ||I|| am commanding thee, to-day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy sons, after thee,—and to the end thou mayest prolong [thy] days upon the soil, which ||Yahweh thy God|| is giving thee, [all the days].

§ 44 ||This|| then is the law which Moses set before the sons of Israel: ||These|| are the testimonies, and the statutes, and the regulations,—which Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, when they came forth out of Egypt: over the Jordan, in the valley over against Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon,—whom Moses and the sons of Israel smote, when they came forth out of Egypt; so they took possession of his land, and the land of Og king of Bashan, the two kings of the Amorites, who were over the Jordan,—towards the rising of the sun; from Aror which is on the edge of the ravine of Arnon, even unto Mount Siôn, ||the same|| is Hermon; and all the waste plain over the Jordan, towards sunrise, even unto the sea of the waste plain,—under the slopes of the Pisgah.

Chapter 5.

1 Then called Moses unto all Israel, and said unto them—

Hear, O Israel, the statutes and the regulations, which I’ am speaking in your ears to-day,—so shall ye learn them, and observe, to do them.

2 ||Yahweh our God|| solemnised with us a covenant in Horeb: not with our fathers’ did Yahweh solemnise this covenant,—but with us, ourselves—||these here to-day, all of us living||.

3 <Face to face> spake Yahweh with you, in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, (I’ was standing between Yahweh and you, at that time, to declare unto you the word of Yahweh,—for ye shrank with fear from the presence of the fire, and went not up in the mount) saying:—

4 ||I|| am Yahweh thy God, who have brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants:—

So then Yahweh commanded us to do all these statutes, to reverence Yahweh our God,—for our good, all the days, to preserve us alive, (as at this day); and righteousness shall it be to us,—when we take heed to do all this commandment, before Yahweh our God, as he commanded us.

§ 8. Canaanite Nations to be cut off,—Moses still speaking.

Chapter 7.

When Yahweh thy God shall bring thee into the land which thou' art going in to possess, and shall clear away many nations from before thee—the Hittites and the Girgashtites and the Amorites, and the Canaanites and the Perizzites, and the Hivites and the Jebusites—seven nations greater in number and stronger than thou;

and Yahweh thy God shall deliver them up before thee, and thou shalt smite them, thou shalt devote them to destruction, thou shalt not solemnise with them a covenant, neither shalt thou shew them favour; neither shalt thou intermarry with them, thou shalt not give unto his son, nor shalt thou take for thy son;

for he will turn aside thy son from following me, and they will serve other gods,—so shall the anger of Yahweh kindle upon you, and he will destroy thee speedily.

Verily thus shall ye do unto them: Their altars shall ye break in pieces,—And their sacred stems shall ye hew down, And their carved images shall ye burn up in the fire.

For a holy people art thou unto Yahweh thy God: of thee hath Yahweh thy God made choice, that thou shouldst become his people as a treasure, above all the peoples that are on the face of the ground: not because ye were more in number than any of the peoples did Yahweh become attached to you, and made choice of you,—for ye were fewer than any of the peoples; but because Yahweh loved you, and because he would keep the oath which he sware unto your fathers did Yahweh bring you forth with a firm hand, and redeem thee out of the house of servants, out of the hand of Pharaoh, king of Egypt. So then, thou must know that, Yahweh thy God, the faithful God, keeping his covenant and his lovingkindness with them that love him, and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations but requiring them who hate him unto his face, to destroy them,—he will not be slack towards him that hateth him, unto his face will he requite him. shalt thou keep the commandment, and the statutes and the regulations, which I am commanding thee to-day, to do them.

12 Then shall it come to pass if ye will hearken unto these regulations, and keep and do them: then will Yahweh thy God keep with thee, the covenant and the lovingkindness which he sware unto thy fathers;

13 and will love thee, and bless thee, and multiply thee,—and bless the fruit of thy body and the fruit of thy ground, thy corn, and thy new wine and thine oil, the young of thy kine, and the ewes of thy flock, upon the soil which he sware unto thy fathers to give unto thee.

14 Blessed’ shalt thou be beyond all the peoples,—there shall not be in thee a barren male or female, nor among thy cattle;

Moreover also <the hornet> will Yahweh thy God send among them,—until they’are destroyed who are left remaining, and who are hiding themselves from thy face.

20 Thou shalt not be affrighted at their presence,—for ||Yahweh thy God in thy midst| is a GOD great and to be revered.

21 So will Yahweh thy God |clear away| these nations from before thee, [little by little],—thou mayest not consume them [at once], lest the wild beast of the field should multiply over thee. But Yahweh thy God will deliver them up before thee,—and discomfit them with a great discomfiture, until they are destroyed; and will deliver their kings into thy hand and thou shalt destroy their name, from under the heavens,—not a man shall stand before thee, until thou hast destroyed them.

22 <The carved images of their gods> shalt thou consume with fire,—thou shalt not covet the silver and gold upon them, to take unto thee, lest thou be ensnared thereby; for <the abomination of Yahweh thy God> it is; and thou shalt not bring an abomination into thy house, and so become devoted to destruction, [like it],—thou shalt ||abhor| it, and thou shalt ||loathe| it, because  it is’.

known, neither had thy fathers’ known,—that he might lead thee to consider that shall the son of earth live, but on whatsoever cometh from the bidding of Yahweh shall the son of earth live. Thy mantle hath not fallen with age from off thee, and thy foot hath not become swollen,—these forty years. Thou must consider, then, with thy heart,—that as a man chasteneth his sons, hath been chastening thee. Thou shalt therefore keep the commandments of Yahweh thy God,—to walk in his ways, and to revere him.

For is bringing thee into a land; a land of ravines of water, of fountains and depths, coming forth in valley, and in mountain; a land of wheat and barley, and vine and fig-tree, and pomegranate,—a land of olive oil, and honey; a land wherein shalt thou eat food, thou shalt lack nothing therein,—a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest hew copper.

So then thou shalt eat, and be satisfied,—and bless Yahweh thy God, for the good land which he hath given unto thee.

Take heed to thyself, lest thou forget Yahweh thy God,—so as not to keep his commandments, and his regulations and his statutes, which I am commanding thee to-day; lest thou eat, and be satisfied,—and thou build, and inhabit; and herd and thy flock will increase, and silver and gold will increase unto thee,—and all that thou hast will increase; and thou forget Yahweh thy God, who brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants; who caused thee to journey through the great and terrible desert, of fiery serpents and scorpions, and thirsty wastes, where was no water,—who brought forth for thee water out of the flinty rock; who fed thee with manna in the desert, which thy fathers had not known,—that he might humble thee, and that he might put thee to the proof, to do thee good in thy hereafter, and lest thou shouldest say in thy heart,—

||Mine own strength and the might of mine own hand|| have gotten me this wealth. But thou shalt remember Yahweh thy God, that it was who had been giving thee strength to get wealth,—that so he might establish his covenant which he spake unto thy fathers (as at this day).

But it shall be thou shalt forget Yahweh thy God, and go after other gods, and serve them, and bow thyself down to them> I testify against you, to-day, that ye shall perish: <like the nations which is causing to perish from before you> shall ye perish,—because ye would not hearken unto the voice of Yahweh your God.

Chapter 9.

1 Hear, O Israel! thou art passing, to-day, over the Jordan, to go in to dispossess nations, greater and stronger than thou,—cities great and fortified into the heavens;

2 a people great and tall, the sons of Anakim,—whom knowest, and of whom hast heard say,

Who can stand before the sons of Anak?

So then, thou must consider to-day, that it is that is passing over before thee, as a consuming fire, will destroy them, and will cause them to bow down before thee,—so shalt thou dispossess them, and destroy them speedily, as Yahweh hath spoken’ unto thee.

But do not speak in thy heart, when Yahweh thy God casteth them out from before thee, saying, <For mine own righteousness> hath brought me in, to possess this land,— whereas it is <for the lawlessness of these nations> that ||Yahweh|| is dispossessing them from before thee. 5 <Not for thine own righteousness, nor for the uprightness of thine own heart> art thou' going in to possess their land,—but <for the lawlessness of these nations> is ||Yahweh thy God|| driving them out from before thee, and that he may establish the word which Yahweh swear' unto thy fathers, unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob. 6 So then, thou must consider that <not for thine own righteousness> is ||Yahweh thy God|| giving unto thee this good land, to possess it,—for  thou art'.

Remember—do not forget, how thou didst provoke Yahweh thy God, in the desert,—yea <from the day when thou came's forth out of the land of Egypt, until ye entered as far as this place> have ye been ||quarrelling|| with Yahweh.b

8 <Even in Horeb> ye provoked Yahweh to wrath,—so that Yahweh showed himself angry with you, to destroy you. 9 <When I went up into the mountain, to receive the tables of stone—the tables of the covenant, which Yahweh had solemnised with you> then abode I in the mountain, forty days and forty nights, <food> did I not eat and <water> did I not drink.

Then did Yahweh deliver unto me the two tables of stone, written with the finger of God,—and [there was] <upon them>, according to all the words which Yahweh had spoken' with you in the mountain, out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the convocation.c

So then it came to pass <at the end of forty days, and forty nights> that Yahweh gave' unto me, the two tables of stone, the tables of the covenant. 12 Then said Yahweh unto me—

Up! get down quickly out of this mountain, for thy people whom thou hast brought forth out of Egypt, [have broken faith],—they have turned aside quickly, out of the way which I commanded them,—they have made them a molten image.

And Yahweh spake unto me, saying,—

I have looked on this people, and lo!  it is'. 14 Let me alone, d that I may destroy them, and wipe out their name, from under the heavens,—and make thee' into a nation stronger and more in number than they.

So I turned, and came down out of the mountain, now ||the mountain|| was burning with fire,—and the two tables of the covenant were upon my two hands. 16 Then looked I, and lo! ye had sinned against Yahweh your God, ye had made you a molten calf,—ye had turned aside quickly, out of the way which Yahweh had commanded you. 17 So I seized the two tables, and cast them from off my two hands,—and brake them in pieces before your eyes.

Then lay I prostrate before Yahweh, as at the first, e forty days and forty nights, <food> did I not eat, and <water> did I not drink,—because of all your sin which ye had sinned, in doing the thing that was wicked f in the eyes of Yahweh, to provoke him to anger. 19 For I shrunk with fear, from the face of the anger and the hot displeasure, wherewith Yahweh was provoked against you, to destroy you,—but Yahweh hearkened unto me, even at that time. 20 And <with Aaron> did Yahweh show himself exceedingly angry, to destroy him,—so I prostrated myself, even in behalf of Aaron, at that time. 21 And <your sin which ye had made, even the calf> took I, and burned it up with fire, and pounded it very small, until it was fine as dust,—then cast I the dust thereof into the torrent, that descended out of the mountain.g

22 Also <at Taberah, h and at Massah, i and at Kibroth-hataavah> i  became ye, unto Yahweh. 23 Also ≤when Yahweh sent you out of Kadesh-barnea, saying,

Go up and possess the land, which I have given unto you; 25 then quarreled ye with the bidding of Yahweh your God, and trusted him not, neither hearkened unto his voice. 26 Ye have been quarrelling with Yahweh,—from the day that I first knew you].
Thus, then, lay I prostrate before Yahweh, the forty days and the forty nights that I did lie prostrate,—because Yahweh spake of destroying you]. 27 Therefore I prostrated myself unto Yahweh, and said,
My Lord Yahweh! Do not destroy thy people, even thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed in thy greatness,—which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt with a firm hand. 28 Have remembrance of thy servants, of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob,—do not regard the obduracy of this people, or their lawlessness, or their sin: 29 lest the land out of which thou hast brought us forth say',
Because Yahweh was not able to bring them into the land of which he had spoken to them,—and because he hated them,—took he them forth, to put them to death in the desert.
Yet are thy people, and thine inheritance,—whom thou hast brought forth with thy great strength, and with thy stretched-out arm.

Chapter 10.

1 At that time said Yahweh unto me—
Cut thee out two tables of stone, like the first, and come up unto me, into the mountain,—and make thee an ark of wood; 2 that I may write, upon the tables, the words which were on the first tables, which thou brakest in pieces,—then shalt thou put them in the ark.

3 So I made an ark, of acacia wood, and cut out two tables of stone, like the first,—and went up the mountain, having the two tables in my hand. 4 And he wrote upon the tables, according to the first writing—the ten words, which Yahweh had spoken unto you in the mountain, out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the convocation,—and Yahweh delivered them unto me. 5 Then turned I, and came down out of the mountain, and put the tables in the ark which I had made,—and they have remained there, as Yahweh commanded me.

6 And the sons of Israel] set forward out of Beeroth Bene-jaakan] to Moserah,—<there> died Aaron, and was buried there, and Eleazar, his son, became priest in his stead. 7 From thence] set they forward unto the Gudgodah,—and from the Gudgodah to Jotbathah, a land of torrents of water.

8 <At that time> did Yahweh separate the tribe of Levi,—to bear the ark of the covenant of Yahweh,—to stand before Yahweh, to wait upon him, and to bless in his name (until this day). 9 <For this cause> hath Levi neither portion nor inheritance, with his brethren,— ||Yahweh|| is his inheritance, as Yahweh thy God spake unto him.
But ||] stayed in the mountain, according to the former days, forty days, and forty nights,—and Yahweh hearkened unto me, at that time also, Yahweh was not willing] to destroy thee. 11 So then Yahweh said unto me,
Up with thee—to break away onward, before the people,—that they may enter in, and possess the land, which I sware unto their fathers, to give unto them.

Therefore shalt thou love Yahweh thy God, and keep his observance, and his statutes, and his regulations, and his commandments, all the days. 2 And ye must know, to-day, (for not with your sons [do I speak] who know not, neither have they seen) the discipline of Yahweh your God,—his greatness, his firm hand, and his stretched-out arm; 3 and his signs, and his doings, which he did in the midst of Egypt,—unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and unto all his land; 4 and what he did unto the forces of Egypt—unto his horses and unto his chariots, in that he caused the waters of the Red Sea to flow over their faces, when they were pursuing after you;—and so Yahweh destroyed them (unto this day); and what he did unto you, in the desert,—until ye came in as far as this place; 6 and what he did to Dathan and to Abiram, 1 sons of Eliab, son of Reuben, in that the earth opened wide her mouth, and swallowed-up them and their households, and their tents,—and all the living things that attended them, in the midst of all Israel.

Therefore shall ye keep all the commandment 1 which I am commanding thee, to-day,—that ye may be strong; 1 and so enter and possess the land, whither ye’ are passing over to possess it; and that ye may prolong your days upon the soil’ which Yahweh sware unto your fathers, to give unto them and unto their seed,—a land flowing with milk and honey.

For ||the land which thou’ art entering to possess|| <not like the land of Egypt>, it is’, from whence ye came out,—where thou didst sow thy seed, and then water it with thy foot, like a garden of herbs; 11 but ||the land whereinto ye’ are passing over to possess it|| is

Chapter 11.

1 Therefore shalt thou love Yahweh thy God, and keep his observance, and his statutes, and his regulations, and his commandments, all the days. 2 And ye must know, to-day, (for not with your sons [do I speak] who know not, neither have they seen) the discipline of Yahweh your God,—his greatness, his firm hand, and his stretched-out arm; and his signs, and his doings, which he did in the midst of Egypt,—unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and unto all his land; and what he did unto the forces of Egypt—unto his horses and unto his chariots, in that he caused the waters of the Red Sea to flow over their faces, when they were pursuing after you;—and so Yahweh destroyed them (unto this day); and what he did unto you, in the desert,—until ye came in as far as this place; and what he did to Dathan and to Abiram, 1 sons of Eliab, son of Reuben, in that the earth opened wide her mouth, and swallowed-up them and their households, and their tents,—and all the living things that attended them, in the midst of all Israel.

For ||the land which thou’ art entering to possess|| <not like the land of Egypt>, it is’, from whence ye came out,—where thou didst sow thy seed, and then water it with thy foot, like a garden of herbs; 11 but ||the land whereinto ye’ are passing over to possess it|| is a land of hills, and valleys,—which <of the rain of the heavens> doth drink water: 12 a land which Yahweh thy God’ careth for,—continually’ are the eyes of Yahweh thy God upon it, from the beginning of the year, even unto the end of the year.a

And it shall come to pass <if ye will ||hearken|| unto my commandments, which I’ am commanding you, to-day,—to love Yahweh your God, and to serve him, with, all your heart, and with all your soul> then [saith he]
I will give the rain of your land in its season, ||the early rainb and the latter rain||; so shalt thou gather in thy corn, and thy new wine, and thine oil; and I will give grassd in thy field for thy cattle,—and thou shalt eat and be satisfied.

Take heed to yourselves, lest your heart be befooled,—and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and bow down to them. 17 So would the anger of Yahweh kindle upon you, and he would shut up the heavens, that there should be no rain, and ||the ground|| would not yield her increase,—so should ye perish speedily, from off the good land, which Yahweh’ is giving unto you.

Therefore shall ye lay these my words upon your heart, and upon your soul,—and bind them for a sign upon your hand, and they shall serve as bands between your eyes;
and ye shall teach them unto your children,6 by speaking of them,—when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up;
and thou shalt write them upon the door-posts of thy house, and within thy gates: 21 that your days may multiply, and the days of your children,f upon the soil’ which Yahweh swore unto your fathers, to give unto them,—||like the days of the heavens upon the earth||. 22 For

<if ye do ||indeed keep|| all this commandment, which I’ am commanding youg to do it,—to love Yahweh your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him> then9 will Yahweh dispossess all these nations, from before you,—and ye shall dispossess nations’ greater and stronger than ye: 24 ||every place whereon the sole of your foot shall tread|| yours> shall it be,—<from the desert and the Lebanon, from the riveri—the river Euphrates, even unto the hinder sea> shall be your boundary. 25 No man shall stand before you,— <yours> shall be,—<the dread of you and the fearj of you> will Yahweh your God put forth over the face of all the land, wherein ye shall tread, ||as he spake
unto you||.

§ 14. All Traces of Idolatry to be removed, and Yahweh’s Worship to be centralised.

Chapter 12.

1 [These] are the statutes and the regulations which ye must observe to do, in the land’ which Yahweh the God of thy fathers hath given unto thee, 3 to possess it,—all the days that ye’ are living upon the soil:

2 Ye must utterly destroy all the places, where the nations whom ye’ are dispossessing have served their gods,—
   Upon the high mountains,
   And upon the hills,
   And under every green tree;

3 And ye must tear down their altars, and break in pieces their pillars, and [their sacred stems] must ye consume with fire,
   And <the carved images> of their gods> must ye fell to the ground,—
   And destroy their name out of that place.

4 Ye must not do thus unto Yahweh your God; 5 but unto the place’ which Yahweh your God shall choose, out of all thy tribes, to put his name there,—as his habitation shall ye ask your way, and come in thither; 6 and bring in thither your ascending-offerings, and your sacrifices, and your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand,—and your vow-offerings, and your freewill-offerings, and the firstlings of your herd, and of your flock; 7 and shall eat there, before Yahweh your God, and rejoice in all whereunto ye are putting your hand, ||ye, and your households,—wherewith Yahweh thy God hath blessed thee].

8 Ye must not do according to all that we’ are doing here, to-day,—[every man, whatsoever is right in his own eyes]. 9 Because ye have not entered, as yet,—into the resting-place and into the inheritance, which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee. 4 10 But when ye shall pass over the Jordan, and settle down in the land’ which ||Yahweh your God|| is causing you to inherit,—and he shall give you rest from all your enemies round about, and ye shall dwell securely 11 then shall it be, that <unto the place which Yahweh your God shall choose’ to make a habitation for his name there> ||thither|| shall ye bring in all that I’ am commanding you,—your ascending-offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand, and all your chosen vow-offerings which ye shall vow unto Yahweh. 12 So shall ye rejoice before Yahweh your God, ||ye, and your sons, and your daughters, and your servants, and your handmaids,—and the Levite that is within your gates||, forasmuch as he hath neither portion nor inheritance with you. 5

13 Take heed to thyself, lest thou cause thine ascending-sacrifice to go up in just any place which thou shalt see; 14 but <in the place which Yahweh shall choose’ in one of thy tribes> ||there|| shalt thou cause thine ascending-sacrifice to go up, and ||there|| shalt thou do’ all that I’ am commanding thee.

15 Howbeit <of anything thy soul desireth> mayest thou sacrifice and so eat flesh—according to the blessing of Yahweh thy God which he hath bestowed upon thee, in all thy gates, ||the unclean and the clean|| may eat thereof,—[as the gazelle and as the hart]. 16 Howbeit <the blood> shall ye not eat,—<upon the earth> shalt thou pour it out, like water.

17 Thou mayest not’ eat within thy gates, the tithe of thy corn, or< of thy new wine or of thine oil, or the firstlings of thy herd> or of thy flock,—nor any of thy vow-offerings which thou shalt vow, nor thy freewill-offerings, nor the heave-offering of thy hand; 18 but <before Yahweh thy God> shalt thou eat it, in the place which Yahweh thy God shall choose, ||thou, and thy

20 When Yahweh thy God shall enlarge thy boundary—as he hath spoken unto thee—and thou shalt say,
   I would eat flesh because thy soul desireth to eat flesh, 2 <of whatsoever thy soul desireth> mayest thou eat flesh.

21 When the place which Yahweh thy God shall choose to put his name there, shall be [too far for thee] then shalt thou sacrifice of thy herd or of thy flock, which Yahweh hath given unto thee, [as I have commanded thee],—and shalt eat, within thine own gates, [of whatsoever thy soul desireth].

22 Even as the gazelle and the hart is eaten so shall thou eat it,—[the unclean and the clean] alike shall eat it.

Howbeit firmly refrain from eating the blood; for [the blood] is the life, therefore must thou not eat the life with the flesh.

23 Thou shalt not eat it,—<upon the earth> shalt thou pour it out, like water. 25 Thou shalt not eat it,—that it may be well with thee, and with thy children after thee, [when thou shalt do that which is right in the eyes of Yahweh].

24 Howbeit thy holy things which thou shalt have, and thy vow-offerings shalt thou take and come in, unto the place which Yahweh shall choose; 27 and shalt offer thine ascending-sacrifices, the flesh and the blood, upon the altar of Yahweh thy God,—and <the blood of these [other] sacrifices> shall be poured out upon the altar of Yahweh thy God, and then <the flesh> shalt thou eat. 28 Observe and hear all these things which I am commanding thee,—that it may be well with thee, and with thy children after thee,—unto times age-abiding, |so long as thou shalt do that which is pleasing and right in the eyes of Yahweh thy God.

§ 15. Signs and Wonders not to tempt to Idolatry.

Chapter 13.

1 When there shall arise in thy midst—a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams,—and he shall give unto thee a sign or a wonder;

2 and the sign or the wonder shall come in, h whereof he spake unto thee, saying,—
   Let us go after other gods, which ye know not, and let us serve them

3 thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or unto that dreamer of dreams,—for Yahweh your God [is putting you to the proof] to know whether ye do love Yahweh your God, with all your heart and with all your soul.

4 After Yahweh your God shall ye walk, And <him> shall ye revere,—
   And <his commandments> shall ye observe,
   And <unto his voice> shall ye hearken,

§ 17. Tithes to be taken to Yahweh’s Habitation—Triennially.

22 Thou shalt ||surely tithe|| all the increase of thy seed,—which the field bringeth forth year by year. 23 And thou shalt eat, before Yahweh thy God—in the place which he shall choose, to make a habitation for his name there,—the tithe of thy corn, thy new wine and thine oil, and the firstlings of thy herd, and of thy flock,—that thou mayest learn to revere Yahweh thy God, all the days. 24 But <when the way becometh too long for thee, because thou canst not carry it, because the place is too far for thee, which Yahweh thy God shall choose to put his name, there,—because Yahweh thy God blesseth thee> 25 then shalt thou turn it into silver,—and shalt bind up the silver in thy hand, and shalt journey unto the place, which Yahweh thy God shall choose; 26 and shalt turn the silver into whatsoever thy soul desireth,—of the herd or of the flock, or of wine, or of strong drink, or of whatsoever thy soul shall ask thee for,—and shalt eat it there, before Yahweh thy God, and shalt rejoice, ||thou’ and thy household|| 27 and <the Levite who is within thy gates> thou shalt not forsake him,—for he hath neither portion nor inheritance with thee.

28 <At the end of three years> shalt thou bring forth all the tithe of thine increase, [in that year],—and shalt lay it up within thy gates; 29 and the Levite shall come in—because he hath neither portion nor inheritance with thee—and the sojourner, and the fatherless, and the widow, who are within thy gates, and they shall eat and be satisfied,—that Yahweh thy God may bless thee, in all the work of thy hand which thou shalt do.

§ 21. The Passover to be Kept.

Chapter 16.

1. Observe the month of Abib, when thou shalt keep a passover unto Yahweh thy God—for in the month of Abib did Yahweh thy God bring thee forth out of Egypt, by night:

2. therefore shalt thou sacrifice a passover unto Yahweh thy God, of flock or herd,—in the place which Yahweh shall choose, to make a habitation for his name there.

3. Thou shalt not eat therewith, any thing leavened, <seven days> shalt thou eat therewith unleavened cakes, the bread of humiliation,—for in haste camest thou forth out of the land of Egypt, that thou mayest remember the day when thou camest forth out of the land of Egypt, all the days of thy life. And there shall not be seen with thee leaven, in any of thy bounds, seven days,—nor shall there remain all night of the flesh which thou shalt sacrifice in the evening, on the first day, unto the morning. Thou mayest not sacrifice the passover,—within any of thine own gates, which Yahweh thy God is giving unto thee;

4. <In the place which Yahweh thy God shall choose> to make a habitation for his name there. Therefore shalt thou cook and eat it in the place which Yahweh thy God shall choose,—at the going in of the sun, at the very time thou camest forth out of Egypt. Therefore shalt thou cook and eat it in the place which Yahweh thy God shall choose,—and shalt turn away in the morning, and go thy way unto thy tents.

§ 22. The Festival of Weeks.

9. <Seven weeks> shalt thou count unto thee,—<from the beginning of thrusting in the sickle into the standing corn> shalt thou begin to count, seven weeks. So shalt thou keep the festival of weeks unto Yahweh thy God, in the measure of the freewill offering of thy hand, which thou shalt give,—as Yahweh thy God shall bless thee. So shalt thou rejoice before Yahweh thy God—||thou, and thy son and thy daughter, and thy servant and thy handmaid, and the Levite who is within thy gates, and the sojourner, and the fatherless and the widow, who are in thy midst,—in the place which Yahweh thy God shall choose, to make a habitation for his name there. So shalt thou remember that  thou wast, in Egypt,—and shalt observe and do’ these statutes.

§ 23. The Festival of Booths.

(Cp. chap. xxxi. 10.)

13. <The festival of booths> shalt thou keep for thyself, seven days,—when thou hast gathered in out of thy threshing-floor, and out of thy wine-vat. And thou shalt rejoice, in thy festival,—||thou, and thy son and thy daughter, and thy servant and thy handmaid, and the Levite and the sojourner, and the fatherless and the widow, who are within thy gates. <Seven days> shalt thou keep festival unto Yahweh thy God, in the place which Yahweh shall choose,—for Yahweh thy God will bless thee in all thine increase, and in all the work of thy hands,—therefore shalt thou do nothing but rejoice.

§ 24. Three Annual Festivals.

16. <Three times in the year> shall each one of thy males see the face of Yahweh thy God, in the place which he shall choose, at the festival of unleavened cakes, and at the festival of weeks, and at the festival of booths,—and none shall see the face of Yahweh empty-handed: ||every man accorded as his hand can give,— according to the blessing of Yahweh thy God, which he hath bestowed upon thee.||

§ 25. Concerning Petty Judges and Officers (and the Evils they are to suppress).

18 <Judges and officers> shalt thou appoint thee, in all thy gates, which Yahweh thy God' is giving unto thee, [by thy tribes],—and they shall judge the people, with righteous judgment. 19 Thou shalt not wrest judgment, thou shalt not take note of faces,—nor shalt thou accept a bribe, for ||the bribe|| blindeth the eyes of wise men, and perverteth the words of righteous men. 20 <What is right, what is right> e shalt thou pursue,—that thou mayest live, and possess the land, which ||Yahweh thy God|| is giving unto thee.

21 Thou shalt not plant thee, as a sacred stem, d any tree,—near unto the altar of Yahweh thy God, which thou shalt make for thyself;

22 neither shalt thou set thee up a pillar, e —which Yahweh thy God |doth hate|.

Chapter 17.

1 Thou shalt not sacrifice unto Yahweh thy God, a bullock or a sheep, wherein is a blemish, any unseemly thing: for <an abomination unto Yahweh thy God> it would be.

2 When there shall be found in thy midst, within any of thy gates, which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee, man or woman who doeth the thing which is wicked in the eyes of Yahweh thy God, by transgressing his covenant; 3 yea hath gone, and served other gods, and bowed down unto them,—whether unto the sun or unto the moon, or unto any of the host of the heavens, which I have not commanded; 4 and it shall be told thee, and thou shalt hear,—and shalt enquire diligently, and lo! f <true—certain> is the report, this abominable thing hath been done’ in Israel> 5 then shalt thou bring forth that man, or that woman, who hath done this wicked thing, within thy gates—||the man, or the woman||, 6—and shalt stone them with stones, that they die. 6 <At the mouth> of two witnesses, or three witnesses shall he that is to die ||be put to death||,—he shall not be put to death at the mouth of one’ witness. 7 <The hand of the witnesses> shall be upon him first’ to put him to death, and <the hand of all the people> afterwards,—so shalt thou consume the wicked thing out of thy midst.

§ 26. Difficult Cases to be referred to Superior Judges.

8 When any matter of judgment shall be too difficult for thee,—between blood and blood, between plea and plea, or between stroke and stroke, matters of contention within thy gates then shalt thou arise and go up unto the place which Yahweh thy God [shall choose]; 9 and shalt come in unto the priests, the Levites, and unto the judge, who shall be in those days,—and shalt enquire, and they shall declare unto thee, the sentence of judgment; 10 and thou shalt do, according to the sentence which they shall declare unto thee, out of that place, which Yahweh [shall choose],—y’ea thou shalt observe to do’ according to all which they shall direct thee: 11 <according to the direction wherewith they direct thee, and after the judgment which they shall announce to thee> shalt thou do,—thou shalt not turn aside from the sentence which they shall declare unto thee, to the right hand or to the left. 12 And <the man> who shall do presumptuously, by not hearkening unto the priest that standeth minister there, to Yahweh thy God, or unto the judge 13 that man [shall die], and so shalt thou consume the wicked thing out of Israel. 13 And ||all the people|| shall hear and fear,—and shall not act presumptuously any more.

§ 28. Levites to be honoured and cared for.

Chapter 18.

1 Neither the priests, the Levites, [nor] any of the tribe of Levi, shall have portion or inheritance with Israel,—<the altar-flames of Yahweh, and his inheritance> shall they eat. 2 But <inheritance> shall he not have, in the midst of his brethren,—||[Yahweh]|| is his inheritance, as he spake unto him. 3 ||[This][ therefore, shall be the due of the priests, from the people, from them who offer the sacrifice, whether ox or lamb,—there shall be given unto the priest, the shoulder, and the two cheeks, and the maw; 4 <the firstfruit of thy corn, thy new wine, and thine oil, and the first of the fleece of thy flock> shalt thou give unto him. 5 For <of him> hath Yahweh thy God made choice, out of all thy tribes,—to stand to minister* in the name of Yahweh, ||[of him and his sons, all the days]]. 6 And <when the Levite shall come in, out of any of thy gates, out of any part of Israel, where he’ is sojourning,— yea, shall come in with all the desire of his soul, into the place which Yahweh shall choose>

§ 37. Sundry Laws.

Chapter 22.

1 Thou shalt not see the ox of thy brother, or his sheep, going astray, and turn away 4 from them,—thou shalt ||bring them back|| unto thy brother. 2 And <if thy brother be not nigh unto thee> or thou know him not> then shalt thou make room for it within 4 thee own shed, p and it shall be with thee, until thy brother seek after it, when thou shalt return it unto him. 3 And ||so|| shalt thou do with his ass, and ||so|| shalt thou do with his mantle, and ||so|| shalt thou do with any lost thing of thy brother’s, which shall go astray from him, and thou shalt find,—thou mayest not turn away. 4 Thou shalt not see the ass of thy brother, or his ox, fallen in the way, and turn away from them,—thou shalt [raise] them with him.

5 A woman’ shall not have on [the wearing apparel of a man], nor shall a man’ put on the mantle of a woman’; for [an abomination to Yahweh thy God] is any one who doeth these things.

6 When a bird’s-nest chanceth to be before thee,—in the way, in any tree or upon the ground, whether with nestlings or eggs, and [the mother] be sitting upon the nestlings or upon the eggs thou shalt not take the mother upon the young; 7 thou shalt [let go] the mother, and then [the young] mayest thou take for thyself,—that it may go well with thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days.

8 When thou buildest a new house> then shalt thou make a parapet to thy roof, so shalt thou not treasure up blood-guiltiness against thy house, for he that is in danger of falling’ might fall therefrom.

9 Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with two sorts of seed,—lest the fulness of the seed which thou sowest, and the increase of thy vineyard [be profaned]. 10 Thou shalt not plough with an ox and an ass, together. 11 Thou shalt not put on linsey-woolsey, of wool and flax, together. 12 [Tassels> shalt thou make thee,—on the four corners of thy vesture, wherewith thou dost cover thyself.

13 When a man taketh a wife,—and goeth in unto her, and hateth her; 14 and raiseth against her, occasions of speech, and bringeth upon her an evil name, and saith—
<This woman> I took, and approached her, and found not that she had the tokens of virginity—then shall the father of the damsel and her mother take and bring forth the tokens of the virginity of the damsel, unto the elders of the city, in the gate; 16 and the father of the damsel shall say unto the elders,— <My daughter> gave I unto this man to wife, and he hated her; 17 and lo! [he] hath raised occasions of speech, saying—

I found not that thy daughter had the tokens of virginity and yet [these] are the tokens of the virginity of my daughter.

And they shall spread out the garment’ before the elders of the city. 18 Then shall the elders of that city take the man,—and chastise him; 19 and fine him a hundred [shekels] of silver, and give unto the father of the damsel, because he hath brought an evil name upon a virgin of Israel,—and she shall remain [his] wife, he may not put her away, all his days. 20 But <if this thing [be true]>,—[and the tokens of virginity] be not’ found with the damsel> then shall they bring forth the damsel into the entrance of her father’s house, and the men of her city shall stone’ her with stones, that she die, because she hath wrought wickedness in Israel, by committing unchastity in her father’s house,—so shalt thou consume the wicked thing out of thy midst.

21 When a man is found lying with a woman married to a husband> then shall [both] of them die’, [the man that lay with the woman, and the woman,—so shalt thou consume the wicked thing out of Israel.

22 When a damsel that is a virgin is betrothed to a husband,—and a man findeth her in the city, and lieth with her> then shall ye bring them [both] out unto the gate of that city, and stone them with stones, that they die, [the damsel] because she made not an outcry in the city, and [the man] because he hath humbled his neighbour’s wife,—so shalt thou consume the wicked thing out of thy midst. 23 But <if> then shall the elders of the city take the betrothed damsel and the man force her and lie with her> then shall the man that lay with her die [he alone]; 24 but <unto the damsel> shalt thou do nothing, [the damsel] is not guilty of a sin’ worthy of death,—for <as when a man riseth up against his neighbour, and smiteth him so as to take away life> [so] is this matter; for <in the field> he found her,—the betrothed damsel [made an outcry], and there was none’ to save her.

Chapter 23.

Neither he that hath been mutilated by crushing his privy member cut off, nor he that hath had his privy member cut off, shall enter into the convocation of Yahweh. A bastard shall not enter into the convocation of Yahweh,—<even to the tenth generation> shall none of his enter into the convocation of Yahweh. Neither an Ammonite nor a Moabite shall enter into the convocation of Yahweh,—<even to the tenth generation> shall none that belong to them enter into the convocation of Yahweh, unto times age-abiding: because they met you not with bread and water, in the way, when ye came forth out of Egypt,—but hired against thee Balaam son of Beor, from Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse thee. Nevertheless, Yahweh thy God consented not to hearken unto Balaam, but Yahweh thy God turned, for thee, the curse into a blessing,—because Yahweh thy God loved thee.

Thou shalt not seek their peace, nor their welfare,—all thy days, unto times age-abiding. Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite, for <thy brother> he is,—thou shalt not abhor an Egyptian, for  becamest thou in his land; ||the sons who are born to them, of the third generation|| may enter unto them in the convocation of Yahweh.

When thou goest forth into camp against thine enemies> then shalt thou beware of everything foul. <When there is in thy midst a man who is not clean, through a miscarriage of the night> then shall he go forth unto the outside of the camp, he shall not come into the midst of the camp; but it shall be, when the evening cometh on, he shall bathe himself in water,—and <at the going in of the sun> he shall come into the midst of the camp. And  shalt thou have, without the camp,—whither thou canst go forth [abroad]; and  shalt thou have upon thy staff;—so shall it be, that <when thou wouldst sit down outside> thou shalt dig therewith, and shalt turn back, and cover that which hath passed from thee: for ||Yahweh thy God|| walketh to and fro in the midst of thy camp, to rescue thee, and to deliver up thine enemies before thee, so shall thy camps be holy,—and he shall see in thee no shameful thing, that he should turn away from following thee.

Thou shalt not deliver up a slave unto his lord,—one who maketh his escape unto thee, from his lord: with thee shall he remain, in thy midst, in the place which he shall choose in any of thy gates, where it seemeth good to him,—thou shalt not oppress him.

There shall be no female devotee of the daughters of Israel,—neither shall there be a male devotee, of the sons of Israel.

Thou shalt not bring the wages of an unchaste woman, or the hire of a dog, into the house of Yahweh thy God, for any vow,—for an abomination unto Yahweh thy God> are they both.

19 Thou shalt not lend on interest to thy brother, interest of silver, interest of food,—interest of any thing that can be lent on interest:

<to a foreigner> thou mayest lend on interest, but <to thy brother> shalt thou not lend on interest,—that Yahweh thy God may bless thee in every whereunto thou puttest thy hand, upon the land which thou’ art entering to possess.

21 <When thou shalt vow a vow unto Yahweh thy God> thou shalt not delay to make it good,—for Yahweh thy God would require it of thee, and it should be in thee, [sin]. 22 But <if thou refrain from vowing> it shall not be in thee [sin].

23 <That which goeth forth out of thy lips> thou must observe and do,—according as thou didst vow unto Yahweh thy God’ the free-will offering of which thou didst speak with thy mouth.

24 <When thou enterest into the vineyard of thy neighbour> then mayest thou eat grapes at thy pleasure to thy fill—but <into thy vessel> shalt thou put none. 25 <When thou enterest the standing corn of thy neighbour> thou mayest pluck off ears with thy hand,—but  shalt thou not wield against the standing corn of thy neighbour.

Chapter 24.

1 <When a man taketh a woman, and marrieth her> then shall it be, <if she find not favour in his eyes, because he hath found in her some matter of shame> that he shall write her a scroll of divorcement, and put it into her hand, and shall send her forth out of his house. 2 And <when she cometh forth out of his house> then may she go her way, and become another man’s. 3 But <if the latter husband hate her, and write her a scroll of divorcement, and put it into her hand, and send her away out of his house>,—or <if the latter husband die, who had taken her to him to wife> 4 then may her first husband who sent her away not again take her to become his wife, after that she hath been defiled, for that were [an abomination] before Yahweh,—lest thou bring sin upon the land’ which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee for an inheritance.

5 <When a man taketh a new wife> he shall not go forth to war, neither shall he be charged with any business,—<free> shall he be for his own house one year, and shall rejoice with his wife whom he hath taken.

6 No man shall take in pledge a handmill, or an upper millstone,—for he’ would be taking [life] in pledge.

7 When a man is found stealing any person from among his brethren, or of the sons of Israel, and making merchandise of him, or selling him then shall that thief die, so shalt thou consume the wicked thing out of thy midst.

8 Take heed, in the plague of leprosy, that thou observe diligently, and do,—according to all that the priests the Levites shall direct you, <as I have commanded them> so shall ye observe to do. 9 Remember that which Yahweh thy God did to Miriam,—by the way, as ye came forth out of Egypt.

10 <When thou lendest thy neighbour a loan of anything> thou shalt not enter into his house, to secure his pledge; 11 <outside> shalt thou stand, and [the man to whom thou’ art lending] shall bring forth unto thee his pledge, outside. 12 And <if he be a poor man> thou shalt not sleep in his pledge: 13 thou shalt [restore] to him’ the pledge, at the going in of the sun, so shall he sleep in his own mantle, and bless thee,—and <unto thee> shall it be righteousness, before Yahweh thy God.

14 Thou shalt not oppress a hired servant, that is poor and needy,—of thy brethren or of thy sojourners that are in thy land, within thy gates; 15 <for his day> shalt thou give his hire, neither shall the sun [go in upon it], for <poor> he is’, and <unto it> is he’ lifting up his soul,— llest he cry out against thee, unto Yahweh, and it be, in thee, ||a sin||.

16 Fathers’ shall not be put to death for sons’, nor shall ||sons|| be put to death for fathers,a— ||every man|| <for his own sin> shall be put to death.

17 Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the sojourner [or] the fatherless,b—neither shalt thou take in pledge the garment of a widow; so shalt thou remember that  becamest thou in Egypt,c and that Yahweh thy God |redeemed thee| from thence,— <therefore> am I’ commanding thee to do this thing.

19 <When thou cuttest down thy harvest in thy field, and forgettest a sheaf in the field>d thou shalt not turn back to fetch it, <to the sojourner, to the fatherless, and to the widow> shall it belong,—that Yahweh thy God’ [may bless thee] in all the work of thy hands. 20 <When thou beatest thine olive-tree> thou shalt not glean after thee,— <to the sojourner, to the fatherless, and to the widow> shall it belong. 21 <When thou cuttest off the grapes of thy vineyard> thou shalt not go about picking after thee,— <to the sojourner, to the fatherless and to the widow> shall it belong: 22 so shalt thou remember that  becamest thou in the land of Egypt,— ||therefore|| am I’ commanding thee to do this thing.

Chapter 25.
1 <When there ariseth a controversy between men, and they come nigh unto judgment, and judgment is granted them> then shall they justify the righteous man, and condemn the lawless. 2 And it shall be—<if the lawless man be worthy of stripes>d then shall the judge cause him to lie down, and be beaten before him, according to the measure of his lawlessness, by number:

3 <forty stripes> may he give him, not going beyond,—lest <if he do go beyond> to smite him above these, with many stripes> then should thy brother be of no account in thine eyes.

4 Thou shalt not muzzle an ox when he is treading out the corn.

5 <When brethren dwell together, and one of them dieth, having ||no son||> the wife of the dead shall not marry outside, to a stranger,— ||her husband’s brother|| shall go in unto her, and take her unto him to wife, and do for her as a husband’s brother.

6 And it shall be, that ||the firstborn which she beareth|| shall succeed in the name of his brother, who is dead,—so shall his name not be wiped out from Israel. 7 But <if the man like not to take his sister-in-law> then shall his sister-in-law go up unto the gate, unto the elders, and say—

My husband’s brother hath refused, to raise up unto his brother a name in Israel, he is not willing to do as a husband’s brother unto me.

8 Then shall the elders of his city call’ him, and speak unto him,—and he shall stand and say, I like not to take her.

9 Then shall his brother’s wife come near’ unto him, in the presence of the elders, and draw his shoee from off his foot, and spit in his face,— and respond and say, ||Thus|| shall it be done unto the man’ who will not build up the house of his brother.

10 And his name shall be called in Israel,—

The house of him who had his shoe drawn off.

11 <When men strive together one with another, and the wife of the one draweth near to deliver her husband out of the hand of him that smiteth him,—and she putteth forth her hand, and seizeth him by his parts of shame> 12 then shalt thou cut off her hand, thine eye shall not pity.

And it shall be, <when thou shalt enter into the land which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee, for an inheritance,—and shalt possess it, and dwell therein> 2 then shalt thou take—of the first of all the fruit of the soil’ which thou shalt bring in from thy land which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee, and shalt put it in a basket,—and go thy way unto the place’ which Yahweh thy God [shall choose], to make a habitation for his name, there. 3 And thou shalt come in unto the priest’ who shall be in those days,—and shalt say unto him—

I declare, to-day, unto Yahweh thy God, that I am come into the land’ which Yahweh sware’ unto our fathers, that he would give unto us.

Then shall the priest take’ the basket, out of thy hand,—and set it down before the altar of Yahweh thy God. 5 And thou shalt respond and say, before Yahweh thy God—

<A Syrian’ ready to perish was my father, 6 so he went down to Egypt, and became a sojourner there, with men only few; but he became there, a nation great, mighty and numerous; 6 and the Egyptians [badly entreated us], and humiliated us,—and put upon us harsh service; 7 so we made outcry’ unto Yahweh, God of our fathers,—and Yahweh hearkened’ unto our voice, and looked upon our humiliation, and our toil, and our oppression; 8 and Yahweh [brought us forth] out of Egypt, with a firm hand, and with a stretched-out arm, and with great terror,—and with signs, and with wonders; 9 and brought us into this place,—and gave unto us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey. 10 ||[Now] therefore, lo! I have brought in the first of the fruit of the soil’ which thou hast given unto me, O Yahweh. Thus shalt thou set it down before Yahweh thy God, and shall bow thyself down, before Yahweh thy God; 11 and shalt rejoice in all the good things which Yahweh thy God [hath given unto thee], and unto thy house,—||[thou, and the Levite, and the sojourner who is in thy midst]].

I have carefully removed that which was hallowed out of the house, moreover also’ I have given it unto the Levite, and unto the sojourner, unto the fatherless and 11 unto the widow, according to all thy commandment which thou hast commanded me,—I have not transgressed any of thy commandments, neither have I forgotten. 14 I have not eaten in my sorrow therefrom, neither have I removed therefrom when unclean, neither have I given thereof unto the dead. 15— I have hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh my God, I have done according to all which thou hast commanded me.

Look thou down out of thy holy habitation, out of the heavens, and bless thy people Israel, and the soil which thou hast given unto us,—as thou didst swear unto our fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.

§ 40. Covenanting Avowals.

16 ||This day|| is Yahweh thy God’ commanding thee to do these statutes, and the regulations,—thou shalt therefore observe and do them, with all thy heart and with all thy soul.

Thou hast avowed, to-day, that ||Yahweh|| shall be [thy God], and that thou wilt walk in his ways, and keep his statutes and his commandments and his regulations, and wilt hearken unto his voice.

And ||Yahweh|| hath avowed to-day, that thou shalt be [his people] as a treasure, as he spake unto thee,—and that thou shalt observe all his commandments; and [hath avowed] that he will set thee on high, above all the nations which he hath made, for praise, and for renown and for glory, and that thou shalt be a holy people unto Yahweh thy God, as he hath spoken.

§ 41. Great Stones to be inscribed and an Altar to be reared in Mount Ebal.

Chapter 27.

1 And Moses, with the elders of Israel, commanded the people, saying,— Observe all the commandment which I’ am commanding you, to-day.

2 So then it shall be, <in the day when ye shall pass over the Jordan, into the land which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee—>—that thou shalt rear thee up great stones, and plaster them with plaster; and shalt write upon them all the words of this law, when thou shalt pass over,—to the end that thou mayest enter upon the land which Yahweh thy God’ is giving unto thee, a land flowing with milk and honey, as Yahweh the God of thy fathers’ hath spoken unto thee. 4 So then it shall be, <when ye shall pass over the Jordan> that ye shall rear up these stones, which I’ am commanding you to-day, in Mount Ebal,—and thou shalt plaster them with plaster.

And thou shalt build there, an altar unto Yahweh thy God,—an altar of stones, thou shalt not wield thereupon any tool of iron.

<Of whole stones> shalt thou build the altar of Yahweh thy God,—then shalt thou cause to go up thereon ascending-sacrifices, unto Yahweh thy God; and thou shalt sacrifice peace-offerings, and shalt eat there,—and rejoice before Yahweh thy God. And thou shalt write upon the stones, all the words of this law, doing it plainly and well.

And Moses commanded the people on that day, saying:

These shall stand to bless the people upon Mount Gerizim, when ye have passed over the Jordan,—Simeon and Levi and Judah, and Issachar, and Joseph and Benjamin; and these shall stand by the curse, in Mount Ebal,—Reuben, Gad and Asher, and Zebulun, Dan and Naphtali. Then shall the Levites respond and say unto every man of Israel, with voice uplifted:

Then shall the Levites respond and say unto every man of Israel with voice uplifted:

—Cursed be the man that maketh an image—cut or molten—a abomination unto Yahweh, the work of the hands of the craftsman, and putteth it in a secret place.

And all the people shall respond and say with voice uplifted:

—Amen.

—Cursed be he that holdeth in light esteem his father or his mother.

And all the people shall say with voice uplifted:

Chapter 28.

And it shall be, <if thou wilt hearken> unto the voice of Yahweh thy God, to observe to do all his commandments’ which I am commanding thee, to-day> then will Yahweh thy God set thee on high, above all the nations of the earth; and all these blessings shall come in upon thee, and reach thee,—because thou dost hearken unto the voice of Yahweh thy God:

Blessed shalt thou be in the city,—and blessed shalt thou be in the field:

Blessed shall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle,—the young of thy kine, and the ewes of thy flock:

28 Yahweh will smite thee with madness, and with blindness,—and with terror of heart;

29 and thou shalt he groping about in noontday brightness, as the blind man groppeth in thick darkness, and thou shalt not make thy ways prosper,—but shalt be only' oppressed and spoiled, all the days, with none' to save.

30 <A wife> shalt thou betroth, and ||another man|| shall lie with her,

45 Moreover, all these curses [shall come in upon thee] and pursue thee and overtake thee, until thou be destroyed,—because thou didst not hearken unto the voice of Yahweh thy God, to keep his commandments and his statutes, which he hath commanded thee; 46 and they shall be upon thee, for a sign, and for a wonder,—and upon thy seed, unto times age-abiding.

47 <Because thou servedst not Yahweh thy God, with rejoicing, and with gladness of heart, for abundance of all things> therefore shalt thou serve thine enemies, whom Yahweh will send' against thee, with hunger, and with thirst, and with nakedness, and with want of all things,—and he, will put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he hath destroyed thee.

49 Yahweh will bring against thee a nation from afar, from the end of the earth, as darteth a bird of prey,—a nation' whose tongue thou canst not understand; 50 a nation' of fierce countenance,—who wilt not respect an elder, <nor to the young> show favour: 51 then shall he eat the young of thy cattle and the fruit of thy ground, until thou art destroyed, who will not leave for thee corn, new wine< or oil, the

And thy life will be hung up for thee, in front,—and thou wilt be in dread by night and by day, and wilt not trust in thy life.

In the morning thou wilt say—Oh that it were evening! and in the evening thou wilt say—Oh that it were morning! because of the dread of thy heart, which thou wilt dread, and because of the sight of thine eyes, which thou wilt see. 68 And Yahweh [will take thee back again] to Egypt, in ships, by the way whereof I said unto thee, Thou shalt not again’ any more’ see it. And ye will offer yourselves there for sale unto thine enemies, as servants and as handmaids, with no’ one to buy.

§ 43. Renewed Exhortations; Hope in the End.

And Moses called unto all Israel, and said unto them,—

||Ye yourselves|| saw all that Yahweh did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh and unto all his servants, and unto all his land:
the great provings\(^d\) which thine own eyes saw,—those great signs and wonders:
yet hath Yahweh [not given] unto you a heart to know, or eyes to see, or ears to hear,—until this day.\(^b\)
I led you, therefore, forty years in the desert,—your mantles [fell not with age] from off you, even [thy sandal] fell not with age from off thy foot:
ye did not eat, and ye did not drink,—that ye might know that [I, Yahweh] was your God.
And [when ye entered into this place] then came forth Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan, to meet us in battle, and we smote them;
and we took their land, and gave it for an inheritance unto the Reubenites, and unto the Gadites,—and unto the half tribe of Manasseh.
Ye must, therefore, keep the words of this covenant, and do them,—that ye may prosper\(^c\) in all that ye do.

Ye’ are stationed, to-day, all of you, before Yahweh your God,—your heads, your tribes, and your elders, and your officers, [every man of Israel]; your little ones, your wives, and thy sojourner\(^\) that is in the midst of thy camps,—from him that heweth thy wood, unto him that draweth thy water:

thou mayest pass through\(^c\) into the covenant of Yahweh thy God, and into his oath,\(^d\)—which Yahweh thy God’ is solemnising with thee, to-day:
that he may confirm thee to-day as his own’ people,\(^e\) while [he] becometh thine own’ God, as he spake unto thee,—and as he spake unto thy fathers, unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob.

And <not with you alone> am I’ solemnising this covenant’ and this oath;
but with him who is’ here, with us, standing to-day’ before Yahweh our God,—and with him who is not’ here, with us to-day.
(For [ye] know, how we dwelt in the land of Egypt,—and how we passed through the midst of the nations which ye did’ pass through; and ye saw their disgusting images, and their manufactured gods,\(^f\)—the wood and the stone, the silver and the gold that are with them.)

Lest there be’ among you—a man or a woman, or a family or a tribe, whose heart is turning to-day, from Yahweh our God, to go and serve the gods of those nations,—lest there be’ among you, a root fruitful of poison and wormwood; and so it come to pass <while he is hearing the words of this oath> that he will bless himself in his heart—saying,

<Prosperity> shall I have, although <in the stubbornness of my heart> I go on,— so that the drunkenness addeth to the thirst:
Yahweh will not be willing to forgive him, but [then] will the anger of Yahweh and his jealousy smoke’ against that man, and all the oath that is written in this scroll [shall settle down upon him],—and Yahweh wipe out his name\(^c\) from under the heavens; and Yahweh single him out for calamity, out of all the tribes of Israel,—according to all the oaths of the covenant\(^c\) that is written’ in this scroll of the law.

So that the generation coming after—your sons who shall rise up after you, and the foreigner who shall come in from a far-off land, will say’—when they see the plagues of that land, and the sicknesses thereof wherewith Yahweh hath made it sick:

brimstone and salt, burning up all the land thereof, it shall not be sown, neither shall it shoot forth, neither shall there come up thereon any herbage,—like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which Yahweh overthrew in his anger and in his wrath:
yea all the nations will say,

\(^a\) This twofold covenanting would be true in fact, granting the historical validity of both narratives (Exo. xix.–xxiv.; chap. v. 2 ff; and here), but a weak invention, if due to a romanist of the 6\(^{th}\) or 7\(^{th}\) century B.C.

\(^b\) Surely a romanist would have refrained from this confession!

25 Then will men say, Because they forsook’ the covenant of Yahweh, the God of their fathers,—which he solemnised with them, when he brought them forth, out of the land of Egypt; 26 and went and served other gods, and bowed down to them,—gods which they had not known, and in which he had given them no share: 27 therefore did the anger of Yahweh kindle upon that land,—to bring in upon it all the curse’ that is written in this scroll; and therefore hath Yahweh [rooted them out] from off their own soil, in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation,—and cast them into another land, as at this day.

29 ||[The secret things]|| [belong unto Yahweh our God] and [the things that are revealed] belong to us and to our children, unto times age-abiding, that we may do’ all the words of this law.

Chapter 30.

1 And it shall come to pass, when all these things shall come in’ upon thee—the blessing and the curse, which I have set before thee,—and thou shalt bring them back unto thy heart, among all the nations’ whither Yahweh thy God hath driven thee; 2 and thou shalt return unto Yahweh thy God, and shalt hearken unto his voice, according to all that I am commanding thee to-day.—||thou and thy sons|| with all thy heart, and with all thy soul: 3 then will Yahweh thy God bring back thy captivity, and have compassion upon thee,—and return and gather thee, from among all the peoples’ whither Yahweh thy God hath scattered thee. 4

Though thou be driven out unto the utmost part of the heavens> will Yahweh thy God gather thee, and will he fetch thee; and Yahweh thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it,—and he will do thee good and multiply thee, beyond thy fathers. And Yahweh thy God will circumcise thy heart, and the heart of thy seed,—to love Yahweh thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live. And Yahweh thy God will put all these oaths upon thine enemies and upon them who hated thee, who persecuted thee. But ||thou|| wilt return, and hearken unto the voice of Yahweh,—and wilt do all his commandments, which I am commanding thee, to-day. 9 And Yahweh thy God will make thee pre-eminent, in every work of thy hand— in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, for good,—for Yahweh will again’ rejoice over thee for good, as he rejoiced over thy fathers: 10 if thou hearken unto the voice of Yahweh thy God, to keep his commandments, and his statutes, which are written in this scroll of the law,—if thou return unto Yahweh thy God, with all thy heart and with all thy soul.

For <as touching this commandment, which I am commanding thee to-day> it is not ||too wonderful|| for thee, neither is it ||far off||. 12 It is ||not in the heavens||,—that thou shouldest say— Who shall ascend for us into the heavens, that he may fetch it for us, that we may hear it, and do it?

Neither is it ||over the sea||—that thou shouldest say,
Who will pass over for us, to the other side of the sea, that he may fetch it for us, that we may hear it, and do it?

But <near unto thee> is the word, exceedingly, ||in thy mouth and in thy heart||, that thou mayest do it.

See! I have set before thee, to-day, life and prosperity,—and death and calamity; for thou must keep the commandments of Yahweh thy God which I am commanding thee, to-day, to love Yahweh thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments and his statutes, and his regulations,—so shalt thou live and multiply, and Yahweh thy God will bless thee in the land' which thou' art entering to possess. But ||if thy heart shall turn away, and thou wilt not hearken,—but shalt be drawn away, and shalt bow thyself down to other gods, and serve them> I declare unto you, to-day, that ye shall perish,—ye shall not prolong your days, upon the soil' which thou' art passing over the Jordan to enter and possess. I call to witness against you to-day, the heavens and the earth, that <life and death> have I set before thee, the blessing and the curse,—therefore shouldest thou choose life, that thou mayest live, ||thou and thy seed||; to love Yahweh thy God, to hearken unto his voice, and to cleave unto him,—for ||he|| is thy life, and thy length of days, that thou mayest abide upon the soil' which Yahweh sware to thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob, to give unto them.

Chapter 31.

1 And Moses went, and spake these' words, unto all Israel; and said unto them—

||Yahweh thy God|| is passing over before thee, ||he|| will destroy these nations from before thee, so shalt thou dispossess them,—||Joshua|| is passing over before thee, [as Yahweh hath spoken]. So will Yahweh do unto them' as he did unto Sihon and unto Og, kings of the Amorites, and unto the land of them' whom he destroyed. So will Yahweh deliver them up before you,—and ye shall do unto them—according to all the commandment which I have commanded you. Be firm and bold, do not fear nor tremble, because of them,—for <Yahweh thy God> it is' who is going with thee, he will not fail thee nor forsake thee.

And Moses called for Joshua, and said unto him, in the sight of all Israel, Be firm and bold, for, thou, shalt go with' this people, into the land' which Yahweh sware unto their fathers, to give unto them, and ||thou|| shalt cause them to inherit it.

But <Yahweh> it is' who is going before thee, ||he|| will be with thee, he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee,—thou must not fear, nor be dismayed.

And Moses wrote this law, and delivered it unto the priests, the sons of Levi, who were bearing' the ark of the covenant of Yahweh,—and unto all the elders of Israel. And Moses commanded them, saying,—

<At the end of seven years, in the appointed season of the year of release, during the festival of booths;> when all Israel cometh in to see the face of Yahweh thy God, in the place which he shall choose> thou shalt read this law before all Israel, ||in their hearing||. Call together the people—the men, and the women, and the little ones, and thy sojourner, who is within thy gates,—that they may hear, and that they may learn, so shall they revere
Yahweh your God, and observe to do all the words of this law: and that their children who know not may hear and learn, that they may revere Yahweh your God,—all the days that ye are living upon the soil, which ye are passing over the Jordan, to possess.

Then said Yahweh unto Moses: Lo! thy days have drawn near, that thou must die. Call Joshua, and station yourselves in the tent of meeting, that I may command him.

So Moses went, with Joshua, and they took their station in the tent of meeting. And Yahweh appeared in the tent, in a pillar of cloud,—and the pillar of cloud stood, at the entrance of the tent. Then said Yahweh unto Moses, Lo! thou art about to sleep with thy fathers,—and this people will rise up, and go away unchastely after the gods of the foreigners of the land, into the midst of whom they are entering, and will forsake me, and break my covenant which I solemnised with them. Then will mine anger kindle upon them in my sight, against the sons of Israel. And it shall come to pass when many calamities and misfortunes shall find them out then shall this Song respond to their face, as a witness, for it shall not be forgotten out of the mouth of their seed, for I know their imagination, which they are forming to-day, ere yet I bring them into the land of which I sware unto their fathers.

Moses therefore wrote this Song on that day,—and taught it unto the sons of Israel. And he commanded Joshua, son of Nun, and said—

Be firm and bold, for [thou] shalt bring the sons of Israel into the land which I have sworn to them,—and [t] will be with thee.

And it came to pass when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law upon a scroll,—until he had finished them then Moses commanded the Levites, who were bearing the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, saying:

Take this scroll of the law, and put it at the side of the ark of the covenant of Yahweh your God,—so shall it be there in thy midst as a witness. For [t] know thy perverseness, and thy stiff neck,—lo! while I am yet alive with you to-day ye are quarrelling with Yahweh, and how much more after my death?

Call together unto me, all the elders of your tribes, and your officers,—and let me speak in their hearing these words, and let me take to witness against them the heavens and the earth. For I know that after my death ye will break faith, and turn aside out of the way which I have commanded you,—and calamity will befall you in the afterpart of the

Chapter 32.

1 Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak,—
And let the earth hear the sayings of my mouth:
2 Let my teaching drop as the rain,
Let my speech distil as the dew,—
As copious rains on tender grass,
As myriad drops on seeding plants.

3 <When ||the name of Yahweh|| I proclaim>
Ascribe ye greatness unto our God:—

4 A Rock! faultless' his work,
For ||all his ways|| are just,—
A GOD of faithfulness, and without' perversity, <Right and fair> is he!

5 They have broken faith with him, to be no sons of his—their fault,—
A generation twisted and crooked.

6 Is it <Yahweh> ye thus requite,
O impious people and unwise?
Is not ||[he]|| thy father who begat thee?
||[He]|| that made thee, and established thee?

7 Remember the days of age-past times,\(^c\)

And gave him to suck honey out of the cliff,
And oil out of the rock of flint:

With fat of well-fed lambs,
Yea rams bred in Bashan,\(^i\) and he-goats,
With the white of the kernels\(^k\) of wheat,—

New ones lately come in; a
Your fathers never shuddered at them!

<Of the Rock who had begotten thee> thou wast unmindful,—
And didst forget GOD who had given thee birth.

<When Yahweh saw> he derided,— Because his sons and his daughters gave provocation.

So he said:—
I will hide my face from them,
I will see, what will be their hereafter,—
For  they are',
[[Sons]] whom there is no trusting;
[[They]] have moved me to jealousy with a
No-God,
They have angered me with their vanities:
[[I]], therefore, will move them to jealousy with a No-people, b

<With an impious nation> will I anger them.
For [[a fire]] is kindled in mine anger,
And shall burn as far as hades beneath,—
And consume the earth with her produce,
And set ablaze the foundations of the mountains:
I will heap' on them, calamities,—

<Mine arrows> will I spend upon them:
The meltings of hunger,
The devourings of fever, c
And the dangerous pestilence, f —
And <the tooth of beasts> will I send among them,
With the poison of crawlers of the dust:
<Without> shall the sword bereave,
<In the inmost recesses> terror,—
[To] both young man and virgin,
Suckling, with man of grey hairs.

I said,
I would puff them away,—
I would destroy from mortals, g their memory;

Were it not that <the taunt of the foe> I feared,
Lest their adversaries' should mistake, —
Lest they should say—
[[Our own hand]] is exalted',
It is [[not Yahweh]] therefore, who hath wrought all this!
For  they are', —
And there is in them no' understanding.

<If they had been wise>i they would have understood this,—
They would have given heed to their hereafter!
Oh! how' would' [one] have chased [a thousand], j
And [[two]] put [ten thousand] to flight,—
Were it not that [[their Rock]] had sold them,
And [[Yahweh]] had abandoned them;
For <not like our Rock> is their' rock,—
[[Our enemies themselves]] being judges;
For <of the vine of Sodom> is their vine,

§ 46. Moses further prepared for His Death.

And Yahweh spake unto Moses, on this selfsame day, saying:

Get thee up into this mountain of the Abarim,m
Mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, which is over against Jericho—and behold the land of Canaan' which I' am giving unto the sons of Israel, for a possession; 50 and die thou in the mount whither thou art going up, and be withdrawn unto thy kinsfolk, — as Aaron thy brother died in Mount Hor, and was withdrawn unto his kinsfolk; 51 for that ye acted unfaithfully against me, in the midst of the sons of Israel, regarding the waters of Meribah-Kadesh, in the desert of Zin,—for that ye hallowed me' not in the midst of the sons of Israel. 52 Yet <over against thee> shalt thou behold the land,—but <thereinto> shalt thou not enter, into the land which I’ am giving unto the sons of Israel.

§ 47. Moses’ Blessing on the Tribes and on All Israel.

Chapter 33.

1 Now ||this|| is the blessinge wherewith Moses, the man of God, blessed the sons of Israel,—before his death. 2 And he said—

||Yahweh|| <from Sinai> came near,—

Yea he dwallowed, out of Seir, upon them,
He shone forth out of Mount Paran,
Yea he came out of holy myriads,—

So that thy foes come cringing unto thee,
And ||thou|| upon their heights> dost march along.

§ 48. Moses views the Land: His Death, Burial, Character, and Successor.

Chapter 34.

1 So then Moses went up, from the waste plains of Moab, into Mount Nebo, the head of Pisgah, which is over against Jericho,—and Yahweh showed him all the land—even Gilead as far as Dan; 2 and all Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim and Manasseh,—and all the land of Judah, as far as the hinder sea; 3 and the South,—and the circuit 4 of the valley of Jericho, the city of palm trees as far as Zoar. 4 And Yahweh said unto him—
|This|| is the land which I sware to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying,
Unto thy seed will I give it.
I have let thee see with thine own eyes,
But thither shalt thou not pass over.

5 So Moses, the servant of Yahweh |died there|, in the land of Moab, at the bidding of Yahweh; and he buried him, in a valley in the land of Moab, over against Beth-peor,—but no man hath known his burying-place, until this day.

7 Now |Moses| was a hundred and twenty years old, when he died,—his eye’ had not dimmed, nor had his freshness fled.

8 And the sons of Israel bewailed’ Moses in the waste plains of Moab, thirty days,—then were completed the wailing-days of the mourning for Moses.

9 But |Joshua, son of Nun| was full of the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands upon him,—so the sons of Israel hearkened unto him, and did’ [as Yahweh commanded Moses].

10 And there arose not a prophet any more in Israel, like unto Moses,—whom Yahweh acknowledged, face to face; 11 by all the signs, and the wonders, which Yahweh sent him to do, in the land of Egypt,—unto Pharaoh, and unto all his servants, and unto all his land; 12 and by all the firm hand, and by all the great terror’ which Moses’ wrought in the sight of all Israel.

§ 1. Preparations for Entering Canaan.

Chapter 1.

1 And it came to pass, after the death of Moses the servant of Yahweh,—that Yahweh spake unto Joshua son of Nun, the attendant of Moses, saying:
2 ||Moses my servant|| is dead,—
   ||Now|| therefore, arise, pass over this Jordan, ||thou, and all this people||, into the land which I’ am giving unto them—unto the sons of Israel.
3 <Every place whereon the sole of your foot shall tread> ||unto you|| have I given it,—as I spake unto Moses.
4 ||From the desert and this Lebanon, even unto the great river—the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea, toward the going in of the sun|| shall be your boundary.
5 No man shall stand before thee, all the days of thy life,—as I was with Moses> so I will be a with thee, I will not fail thee, neither will I forsake thee.
6 Be firm and bold,—for ||thou|| shalt cause this people to inherit the land’ which I swear unto their fathers,—to give unto them.
7 Only’ be very firm and bold, taking heed to do b according to all the law which Moses my servant commanded thee, do not turn aside therefrom, to the right hand or to the left,—that thou mayest prosper, whithersoever thou goest.
8 This scroll of the law must not cease out of thy mouth, but thou must talk to thyself therein, day and night, that thou mayest take heed to do’ according to all that is written therein,—for ||then|| shalt thou make thy way d prosperous, and ||then|| shalt thou have good success.
9 Have I not commanded thee, Be firm and bold, do not start nor be dismayed,—for <with thee> is Yahweh thy God, whithersoever thou goest?

10 So then Joshua commanded the officers of the people, saying:
11 Pass ye through the midst of the camp, and command the people, saying:
   Make ready for yourselves, provisions,—for ||in three days more|| are ye’ to pass over this Jordan, to go in and possess the land’ which Yahweh your God’ is giving you, to possess.
12 And <unto the Reubenites, and unto the Gadites, and unto the half tribe of Manasseh> spake Joshua, saying:
13 Remember the word’ which Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded’ you, saying,—
   ||Yahweh your God|| is granting you rest, and doth give you this land.
14 ||Your wives, your little ones, and your cattle|| shall remain in the land which Moses hath given you over the Jordan,—but ||ye|| shall pass over, armed, before your brethren,—all ye mighty men of valour, and shall help them;
15 until that Yahweh shall grant rest unto your brethren, as unto you, so shall ||they also|| possess the land which Yahweh your God’ giveth them;—then shall ye return unto the land of your possession, and possess it, which Moses the servant of Yahweh hath given’ you over the Jordan, towards the rising of the sun.

16 Then responded they to Joshua, saying,—
   <All that thou hast commanded us> will we do, and <whithersoever thou shalt send us> will we go;
   <As in every thing we hearkened unto Moses> ||so|| will we hearken unto thee,—only’ let Yahweh thy God be with thee;b as he was with Moses.

§ 2. Spies sent to Jericho.

Chapter 2.

1 Then did Joshua son of Nun, send out from The Acacias, two men to spy out silently, saying,
Go viewa the land, and Jericho.
So they came, b and entered the house of a harlot, whose name was Rahab, and lay there. 2 And it was told the king of Jericho, saying,—
Lo! ||men|| have come in hither, to-night, of the sons of Israel, to search out the land.

3 So the king of Jericho sent unto Rahab, saying,—
Bring forth the men that are come in unto thee, who have entered thy house, for <to search out all|| the land> have they come.

4 And the woman took’ the two men, and hid them,—and said:
||Even so||, the men did come in unto me, but I knew not from whence they were;
and it came to pass, <as the gate was about to be shut in the darkness> that ||the men|| went out, I d know not whither the men went,—pursue them quickly, for ye shall overtake them.

5 But ||she|| had taken them up to the roof,—and concealed them with the stalks of flax’ which she had laid in order for herself, upon the roof. 7 So ||the men|| pursued them, by way of the Jordan, unto the fords,—||the gate being shut as soon as they who pursued them had gone forth]]. 8 And <ere yet they’ slept> ||she|| went up unto them, upon the roof;

9 and said unto the men,
I know that Yahweh hath given’ unto you the land,—and that the terror of you hath fallen’ upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land have melted away] from before you.

10 For we have heard how Yahweh [dried up] the waters of the Red Sea, from before you, when ye came forth out of Egypt,—and what ye did unto the two kings of the Amorites, who were overa the Jordan, unto Sihon and unto Og, whom ye devoted to destruction; 11 and <when we heard> then did our heart melt, f and there rose up no longer any spirit in any man, because of you,—for <as for Yahweh your God> ||he|| is God—in the heavens above, and upon the earth beneath.

12 ||Now|| therefore, I pray you, swear unto me, by Yahweh, <since I have dealt with you in lovingkindness> g that ||ye also|| will deal with the house of my father, in lovingkindness, and will give me a token of faithfulness: 13 and will save alive my father and my mother, and my brethren and my sisters, and all that they have,—and will deliver our souls] h from death.

14 And the men said’ unto her,
||Our souls, in your stead, unto death> if ye i utter not this our business,—so shall it be <when Yahweh shall give’ us the land> that we will deal with thee’ in lovingkindness and in faithfulness.

15 And she let them down with a cord through the window,—for ||her house|| was within the wall of the rampart, and <within the rampart> she was dwelling. 16 And she said unto them—
||To the mountain> get you, lest the pursuers [fall in] with you,—and hide yourselves there, three days, until the pursuers return, and <afterwards> shall ye go your way.

17 And the men said unto her,—
||Free> will we be’ from this thine oath’ which thou hast made us swear:

18 Lo! <when we’ are coming into the land> <this cord of crimson thread> must thou bind in the window, by which thou didst let us down, and <thy father and thy mother, and thy brethren and all the household of thy father> must thou gather together unto thee, unto the house. 19 And it shall be <whosoever shall go forth out of the doors of thy house, into the street> ||his blood|| shall be on his own head, and ||we|| shall be free,—but <whosoever shall be with thee in the house> ||his blood|| shall be on our’ heads, if a ||hand|| be upon him.

Joshua rose early in the morning, and they brake up from The Acacias, and came as far as the Jordan, and came as far as the edge of the Jordan, and came as far as the Jordan, and came as far as the edge of the Jordan, and came as far as the edge of the Jordan. And the officers went through the midst of the camp, and commanded the people, saying, "When ye see the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the priests the Levites bearing it [a distance] between you and it, about two thousand cubits by measure, do not come near unto it, that ye may get to know the way by which ye must go, for ye have not passed this way, heretofore." Then said Joshua unto the people, Hallow yourselves, for tomorrow will Yahweh do in your midst, wonderful things. And Joshua spake unto the priests, saying, "Take ye up the ark of the covenant, and pass on before the people. Then said Yahweh unto Joshua: "This day will I begin to magnify thee in the eyes of all Israel, who shall know, that as I was with Moses, I will be with thee. "Thou therefore, shalt command the priests who are bearing the ark of the covenant, saying,—"When ye are come as far as the edge of the waters of the Jordan, ye shall stand. Then said Joshua, unto the sons of Israel,—Draw near hither, and hear ye the words of Yahweh your God. And Joshua said, "Hereby shall ye know, that a Living God is in your midst,—and that he will certainly dispossess from before you, the Canaanite and the Hittite, and the Hivite and the Perizzite, and the Girgashite, and the Amorite, and the Jebusite. Lo! the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth is about to pass before you into the Jordan. Now therefore, take you twelve men, out of the tribes of Israel,—one man severally for each tribe; and it shall be, when the soles of the feet of the priests who are bearing the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth, do rest in the waters of the Jordan, shall be cut off, the waters that are coming down from above, and shall stand in one mound. And it came to pass, when the people set out from their tents, to cross the Jordan,—with the priests, bearing the ark of the covenant before the people, then as the bearers of the ark came as far as the Jordan, and the feet of the priests who were bearing the ark were dipped in the edge of the waters,—the Jordan being full over all his banks, all the days of harvest, that the waters which were coming down from above, stood—rose up in one mound, a great way off, by the city Adam, which is beside Zarethan, and they were going down to the sea of the waste plain, the 17 And the priests who were bearing the ark of the covenant of Yahweh stood on dry ground, in the midst of the Jordan, with firm footing, while all Israel were passing over on dry ground, until all the nation had made an end of passing over the Jordan.

Chapter 4.

1 And it came to pass, when all the nation had made an end of passing over the Jordan, that Yahweh spake unto Joshua, saying:

2 Take unto you, from among the people, twelve men, one man severally from each tribe; and command ye them, saying, Take you up from hence, out of the midst of the Jordan, from the place where stood the feet of the priests with firm footing, twelve stones; and carry them over with you, and lay them down in the lodging-place where ye shall lodge, to-night.

4 So Joshua called unto the twelve men whom he had made ready, from among the sons of Israel,—one man severally out of each tribe; and Joshua said unto them:

Pass ye over, before the ark of Yahweh your God, into the midst of the Jordan,—and lift ye up, each man one stone upon his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Israel: so that this may be a sign in your midst,—for your sons will ask in time to come, saying,

What mean these stones to you?

7 Then shall ye say unto them—That the waters of the Jordan [were cut off] from before the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, when it passed into the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan [were cut off].

So shall these stones become a memorial unto the sons of Israel, unto times age-abiding.

8 And the sons of Israel did so, as Joshua commanded, and took up twelve stones out of the midst of the Jordan, as spake Yahweh unto Joshua, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Israel,—and carried them with them unto the place where they lodged, and laid them down there.

9 Twelve stones also did Joshua set up in the midst of the Jordan, in the place where stood the feet of the priests who were bearing the ark of the covenant,—and they have remained there until this day.

10 Now the priests who were bearing the ark continued standing in the midst of the Jordan, until everything was finished which Yahweh commanded Joshua to speak unto the people, according to all that Moses had commanded Joshua,—the people therefore hastened, and passed over. And so it was, as soon as all the people had made an end of passing over,—then passed over the ark of Yahweh, and the priests, in presence of the people.

12 Also the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh, passed over armed, before the sons of Israel,—as Moses had spoken unto them: about forty thousand equipped for the war passed over before Yahweh, to battle, into the waste plains of Jericho.

14 On that day did Yahweh magnify Joshua in the eyes of all Israel,—and they revered him, as they revered Moses, all the days of his life.

15 Then spake Yahweh unto Joshua, saying:

Command the priests who are bearing the ark of testimony,—that they come up out of the Jordan.

17 So Joshua commanded the priests, saying,—Come ye up out of the Jordan.

18 And it came to pass, when the priests who were bearing the ark of the covenant of Yahweh came up out of the midst of the Jordan, and the soles of the feet of the priests were withdrawn unto the dry ground, then returned the waters of the Jordan unto their place, and went, as before, over all his banks.

19 So came up out of the Jordan, on the tenth of the first month,—and encamped in Gilgal, at the eastern end of Jericho. And these twelve stones which they took out of the Jordan did Joshua set up, in Gilgal.

21 Then spake he unto the sons of Israel, saying,— d Cp. chap. vi. 7, 9.

When your sons shall ask, in time to come, of their fathers, saying,—

What mean these stones?

then shall ye let your sons know, saying,—

<On dry ground> came Israel over this Jordan; 23 in that Yahweh your God dried up the waters of the Jordan, from before you, until ye had passed over,—as Yahweh your God had done unto the Red Sea, which he dried up from before us, until we had passed over: 24 that all the peoples of the earth might know the hand of Yahweh, that <firm> it is’; that they might revere Yahweh your God, all the days.

Chapter 5.

1 And it came to pass <when all the kings of the Amorites who were over the Jordan westward, And all the kings of the Canaanites who were by the sea, heard’ how that Yahweh had dried up the waters of the Jordan, from before you, until they had passed over> that their heart melted, and there was no spirit in them any more, because of the sons of Israel.

§ 4. The People are circumcised, and keep the Passover: The Manna ceaseth.

2 <At that time> said Yahweh unto Joshua,

Make thee knives of flint,—and again’ circumcise the sons of Israel [a second time].

3 So Joshua made him knives of flint,—and circumcised the sons of Israel, at the Hill of Foreskins. 4 Now ||this|| is the cause why Joshua did circumcise,—||all the people who came forth out of Egypt, who were males, all the men of war|| died in the desert, by the way, after they came forth out of Egypt. 5 For <though all the people who came forth had been circumcised> yet <all the people who were born in the desert by the way, after they came forth out of Egypt> had they not circumcised. 6 Because <for forty years> did the sons of Israel journey in the desert, until all the nationb who were men of war, who came forth out of Egypt, were consumed, because they hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh,—unto whom Yahweh sware that he would not let them see the land, which Yahweh sware unto their fathers, that he would give unto us, ||a land flowing with milk and honey||. 7 <Their sons, therefore, whom he had raised up in their stead> did Joshua circumcise,—for <uncircumcised> they were, in that they had not circumcised them by the way. 8 And so it came to pass, <when they had made an end of circumcising all the nation> they remained in their place, in the camp, until they were healed.

9 Then said Yahweh unto Joshua,

<To-day> have I rolled away the reproach of Egypt from off you.

Wherefore the name of that place is called Gilgal [i.e. a rolling away] unto this day.

10 Thus then the sons of Israel encamped in Gilgal,—and kept the passoverb on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening, in the waste plains of Jericho. 11 And they did eat of the corn of the land, on the morrow of the passover, unleavened cakes and parched ears of corn,—||on this selfsame day||. 12 And the manna ceased on the morrow, when they had eaten of the corn of the land, neither had’ the sons of Israel manna’ any more’,—so they did eat of the yield of the land of Canaan throughout that year.d

§ 5. The Prince of Yahweh’s Host appears to Joshua.

13 And it came to pass <when Joshua was at Jericho> that he lifted up his eyes, and looked, and lo! a man, standing over against him, with his sword drawn, in his hand,—so Joshua went’ unto him, and said to him,

<For us> art thou, or for our adversaries?

14 And he said—

Nay, but ||[I]|| <as prince of the host of Yahweh> have ||[now]|| come.

So Joshua fell on his face to the earth, and worshipped, and said unto him,

What is my lord speaking unto his servant?

15 Then said the prince of the host of Yahweh unto Joshua—

§ 6. Jericho Surrounded and Taken.

Chapter 6.

1 Now ||Jericho|| was shut up and barred because of the sons of Israel,—none’ came out and none’ went in. 2 Then said Yahweh unto Joshua, See, I have delivered, into thy hand, Jericho, and her king,—the mighty men of valour.

3 So then ye shall compass the city, all ye men of war, going round the city, once,—||thus|| shall thou do, six days.

4 And ||seven priests|| shall bear the seven rams’ horns, before the ark, and <on the seventh day shall ye compass the city, seven times,—and ||the priests|| shall blow with the horns. 5 And it shall come to pass, <when the ram’s horn soundeth, when ye hear the sound of the horn> that all the people shall shout with a great shout,—and then shall the wall of the city fall down under it, b and the people shall go up, ||every man straight before him||.

6 Then called Joshua son of Nun unto the priests, and said unto them, Bear ye the ark of the covenant,—and let ||seven priests|| bear seven rams’ horns, before the ark of Yahweh.

7 Then said he unto the people, Pass on, and compass the city,—and let ||the armed host|| pass on before the ark of Yahweh.

8 And it was so, <when Joshua had spoken unto the people> that ||the seven priests who were bearing the seven rams’ horns before Yahweh|| d passed on, and blew with the horns,—||the ark of the covenant of Yahweh also coming after them||.

9 And ||the armed host|| went on before the priests who blew with the horns,—and ||the rear-guard|| came after the ark, ||going on and blowing with the horns||. 10 Now <unto the people> had Joshua given command, saying—

Ye shall not shout, nor let your voice be heard, neither shall there go out of your mouth ||a word||,—until the day when I say unto you Shout! then shall ye shout.

11 So he caused the ark of Yahweh to compass the city, going round once,—and they came into the camp, and lodged in the camp.

12 And Joshua rose early in the morning,—and the priests bare the ark of Yahweh; 13 and ||the seven priests who bare the seven rams’ horns before the ark of Yahweh|| went on and on, and blew with the horns,—with ||the armed host|| going on before them, and ||the rear-guard|| coming after the ark of Yahweh, ||going on and blowing with the horns||.

14 So they compassed the city, on the second day once’, and returned into the camp,—||thus|| did they, six days.

15 And it came to pass <on the seventh day> that they rose early, at the uprisings of the dawn, and compassed the city after this manner, seven times,—only’, on that’ day, they compassed the city seven’ times. 16 And it came to pass <at the seventh time>—when the priests blew with the horns> then did Joshua say unto the people—Shout, for Yahweh hath delivered unto you, the city.

17 And it shall be, that ||as for the city|| <devoted> shall it be’ and all that is therein, unto Yahweh,”—nevertheless, ||Rahab the harlot|| shall live, ||she, and all who are with her in the house|| because she hid the messengers whom we sent.

18 But ||in any wise|| do ||yell|| beware of what is devoted, lest ye should covet, f and then take of what is devoted,—and so cause the camp of Israel to be devoted, and bring trouble upon it. 19 But ||as for all silver and gold and vessels|| of bronze and iron|| <hallowed> it is’ to Yahweh,—<unto the treasury of Yahweh> shall it come.

20 So the people shouted, when the horns were blown,—yea it came to pass <when the people heard’ the sound of the horn> that the people shouted with a great shout, and the wall fell down under it, and the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and so they captured the city. 21 And they devoted all that were in the city, [both man and woman, both young and old,—and ox and sheep and ass], with the edge of the sword. 22 But <unto the two men who spied out the land> Joshua said, Go into the house of the woman, the harlot,— and bring out thence the woman, and all that she hath, as ye sware unto her. 23 So the young men, the spies, went in, and brought out Rahab and her father and her mother and her brethren, and all that she had, yea <all her kindred> brought they out,—and set them outside the camp of Israel. 24 But <the city> burned they with fire, and all that was therein,—save only <the silver and the gold, and the vessels of bronze and of iron> put they into the treasury of the house of Yahweh. 25 And <Rahab the harlot, and the household of her father, and all that she had> did Joshua save alive, so she hath dwelt in the midst of Israel’ until this day,—because she hid the messengers’ whom Joshua sent to spy out Jericho. 26 And Joshua imposed an oath, at that time, saying,— Cursed’ be the man before Yahweh, who shall raise up and build this city—Jericho, <At the price of his firstborn> shall he lay its foundation, And <at the price of his youngest> shall he set up its doors. 27 And so it was, that Yahweh’ was with Joshua,— and his fame’ was in all the land.

§ 7. Achan’s Sin and Punishment.

Chapter 7.

1 But the sons of Israel had committed an act of unfaithfulness, in respect of what was devoted,— for Achan, son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, had taken’ of what was devoted, and the anger of Yahweh had kindled against the sons of Israel.

2 And Joshua sent men from Jericho, to Ai, which was beside Beth-aven, on the east side of Bethel, and spake unto them saying, Go up and spy out the land. So the men went up, and spied out Ai. 3 And they returned unto Joshua, and said unto him— Let not all the people’ go up, [about two thousand men or three thousand men] can go up, and smite Ai,—do not weary the whole people to go thither; for <but few> they are’.

4 There went up thither of the people, therefore, about three thousand men,—but they fled before the men of Ai. 5 And the men of Ai smote of them, about thirty-six men, and pursued them before the gate, as far as the Shebarim, and smote them on the slope,—so that the heart of the people melted, and became as water.

6 Then Joshua rent his clothes, and fell upon his face to the earth, before the ark of Yahweh, until the evening, [he, and the elders of Israel],—and they lifted up dust upon their heads. 7 And Joshua said—

Alas! My Lord Yahweh! Wherefore’ hast thou [brought] this people over the Jordan, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorite, to destroy us? Would, then, we had been content to dwell on the other side of the Jordan!

8 Oh, My Lord,—what shall I say, after Israel have turned their backs before their enemies? 9 <Only let the Canaanite and all the inhabitants of the land hear> and they will surround us, and cut off our name’ out of the earth,—what then wilt thou do, for thy great name?

10 And Yahweh said unto Joshua— Get thee up! 11 wherefore’ is it that thou’ art lying upon thy face? 11 Israel hath sinned, yea moreover’ they have transgressed my covenant which I commanded them,—yea moreover’ they have taken of what was devoted, yea moreover’ they have stolen, yea moreover’ they have dissembled, yea moreover’ they have put it among their own goods. 12 Therefore cannot the sons of Israel stand before their enemies, <their back> do they turn before their enemies, because they have become devoted,—I will no more be with you, except ye destroy the devoted thing out of your midst.

13 Up! hallow the people, and thou shalt say, Hallow yourselves by to-morrow,—for
    ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
    God of Israel:
    ||A devoted thing|| is in the midst of thee, O
    Israel,
    Thou canst not stand before thine enemies, until ye have put away the devoted thing,
    out of your midst.

14 Therefore shall ye be brought near, in the morning, by your tribes,—and it shall be that—||The tribe’ which Yahweh shall seize|| shall come near [by families], and ||The family’ which Yahweh shall seize|| shall come near [by households] and ||The household’ which Yahweh shall seize|| shall come near [man by man];
    and it shall be, that—
    ||He that is seized with the devoted thing|| shall be burned with fire, ||he, and all that he hath||,— because he hath transgressed the covenant of Yahweh, and because he hath wrought impiety in Israel.

15 So Joshua rose up early in the morning, and brought Israel near by their tribes,—and ||the tribe of Judah|| was seized;
17  and he brought near the family7 of Judah, and ||the family of the Zarhites|| was seized,—and he brought near the family of the Zarhites [man by man]a, and ||Zabdi|| was seized; 18 and he brought near his household, [man by man],—and ||Achan, son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah|| was seized.
19 And Joshua said unto Achan—
    My son, give, I pray thee, glory unto Yahweh, God of Israel, and make to him confession,— and tell me, I pray thee, what thou hast done, do not hide it from me.
20 And Achan answered Joshua, and said,—
    <Of a truth> ||I|| have sinned against Yahweh,
    God of Israel, and ||thus and thus|| have I done:

<When I saw among the spoil, a certain goodly mantle of Babylonia, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a certain wedgec of gold—fifty shekels the weight thereof> then I coveted them, then I took them,—and ||there they are|| hid in the earth, in the midst of my tent, ||and the silver under it].

22 So Joshua sent messengers, and they ran unto the tent,—and ||there it was|| hid in his tent, and ||the silver|| under it. 23 And they took them out of the midst of the tent, and brought them in unto Joshua, and unto all the sons of Israel,—and poured them out before Yahweh. 24 And Joshua and all Israel with him, took Achan—son of Zerah, and the silver and the mantle and the wedge4 of gold, and his sons and his daughters, and his oxen and his asses and his sheep and his tent, and all that he had, and brought them up the valley of Achor. 25
And Joshua said—
    Why hast thou troubled us?
    Yahweh’ ||will trouble thee|| this day.
    And all Israel stoned him with stones, and burned them up with fire, and covered them with stones;
26 yea they raised over him a great heap of stones [which remaineth] until this day. And Yahweh turned from the fierceness of his anger,—<for which cause> hath the name of that place been called—The Valley of Achor,a until this day.

§ 8. Ai Captured.

Chapter 8.

1 Then said Yahweh unto Joshua—
    Do not fear nor be dismayed, take with thee all the army,4 and arise, go up to Ai,—see! I have given into thy hand, the king of Ai and his people, and his city, and his land;
2 so shalt thou do unto Ai and to her king, as thou didst unto Jericho unto her king, save only< the spoil thereof and the cattle thereof> shall ye take as your own prey,—set thee an ambush for the city, behind it.

3 So Joshua arose, and all the people of war, to go up to Ai,—and Joshua chose out thirty thousand men, the mighty men of valour, and sent them forth by night. 4 And he commanded them, saying—

See! ||ye|| shall be lying in ambush against the city, behind the city, do not go very far from the city,—so shall ye all be ready.

But ||l, and all the people who are with me|| will draw near' unto the city,—and it shall be <when they come out to meet us, as at the first> then will we flee before them;

so will they come out after us, until we have drawn them away from the city, for they will say,

Fleeing before us, as at the first! therefore will we flee before the ambush. 7 Then ||ye|| shall rise up out of the ambush, and take possession of the city,—and Yahweh your God will deliver it into your hand.

And it shall be <when ye have seized the city> then shall ye burn the city with fire, <according to the word of Yahweh> shall ye do,—see! I have commanded you.

So Joshua sent them forth, and they went into ambush, and abode between Bethel and Ai, ||on the west of Ai||,—but Joshua lodged that night in the midst of the people. 10 And Joshua rose up early in the morning, and mustered the people, and went up—||he and the elders of Israel|| before the people, to Ai.

And ||all the people of war who were with him|| went up, and drew near, and came in, right before the city,—and pitched on the north of Ai, with ||a valley|| between them and Ai.

And ||all the people of war who were with him|| went up, and drew near, and came in, right before the city,—and pitched on the north of Ai, with ||a valley|| between them and Ai.

And he took' about five thousand men,—and set them in ambush between Bethel and Ai, ||on the west of the city||. 13 And <when the people had set all the host that was on the north of the city, with the rear thereof on the west of the city> then went Joshua, during the night, into the midst of the valley. 14 And it came to pass <when the king of Ai saw it> that they hasted, and rose up early, and the men of the city came out to meet Israel for battle, ||he and all his people|| at an appointed time, before the waste plain,—||he not knowing' that there was an ambush lying in wait for him, behind the city||. 15 So then Joshua and all Israel suffered themselves to be smitten before them,—and fled, by the way of the wilderness:

16 and all the people who were in the city'^c were called out to pursue them,—and they pursued Joshua, and so were drawn out away from the city.

And there remained not a man, in Ai or Bethel, who had not gone out after Israel,—and they left the city [open], and pursued Israel. 18 Then said Yahweh unto Joshua—

Stretch out with the javelin which is in thy hand, towards Ai, for <into thy hand> will I deliver it.

So Joshua stretched out with the javelin which was in his hand, towards the city. 19 And ||the ambush|| rose up quickly, out of their place, and ran, when he stretched out his hand, and entered the city, and captured it,—and hasted, and set the city on fire.

20 And the men of Ai turned behind them, and looked, and lo! the smoke of the city had risen up towards the heavens, and there was in them no strength, to flee this way or that way,—moreover ||the people that were fleeing to the wilderness|| turned back upon the pursuers. 21 Yea <when ||Joshua and all Israel|| saw that the ambush had captured the city, and that the smoke of the city had risen up> then returned they, and smote the men of Ai. 22 And ||the others|| came forth out of the city to meet them, so they were in the midst of Israel, some' on this side, and some' on that side,—and they smote them, until there was left them none to remain or to escape. 23 And ||the king of Ai> they caught alive,—and brought him near unto Joshua. 24 And it came to pass <when Israel had made an end of slaying all the inhabitants of Ai in the field, in the wilderness whither they had pursued them, and all of them had fallen by the edge of the sword until they were consumed>d then all Israel returned to Ai, and smote it' with the edge of the sword. 25 And so it was, that all who fell that day, both of men and of women, were twelve thousand,—||all people of Ail|. 26 Now ||Joshua|| drew not back his hand' which he had stretched out with the javelin,—until he had utterly destroyed' all the inhabitants of Ai. 27 Nevertheless' <the cattle and the spoil of that city> Israel took as their own' prey,—||according to the § 9. The Blessings and Curses of the Law, written on Altar-Stones, Read aloud, and Confirmed by all the People.

30 ||[Then]|| built Joshua, an altar, unto Yahweh, God of Israel,—in Mount Ebal:
31 as Moses, the servant of Yahweh, commanded the sons of Israel, as it is written in the scroll of the law of Moses, an altar of whole stones, whereon had not been wielded any tool of iron,—and they caused to go up thereon, ascending-sacrifices unto Yahweh, and sacrificed peace-offerings.
32 Then wrote he there, upon the stones, a copy of the law of Moses, which he wrote in the presence of the sons of Israel.

33 And ||[all Israel, and their elders and officers, b and their judges]|| were standing on this side and on that side of the ark, before the priests the Levites, who were bearing the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, [as well the sojourner as the home-born], half of them over against Mount Gerizim, and half of them over against Mount Ebal,—as Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded to bless the sons of Israel, first of all.
34 And <after that> read he all the words of the law, the blessing and the cursing,—according to all that was written in the scroll of the law.
35 There was not a word of all that Moses commanded,—which Joshua read not before all the convocation of Israel, with the women and the little ones, and the sojourner who was going on in their midst.

§ 10. The Gibeonites by Craft secure a Covenant with Israel.

Chapter 9.

1 And it came to pass, when they heard,—namely, all the kings who were over the Jordan, in the hill country and in the lowland, and in all the coast of the great sea, over against the Lebanon,—the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite,
2 the Hivite, and the Jebusite;—then gathered they themselves together as one man, to fight with Joshua, and with Israel,—[with one accord].

3 Now ||[the inhabitants of Gibeon]|| heard that which Joshua had done unto Jericho and unto Ai;
4 ||[they,]|| however, acted craftily, and went and started,—and took old sacks for their asses, and leathern wine bottles, old, and rent, and bound up;
5 and sandals, old and patched, upon their feet, and worn-out mantles upon them,—and ||[all the bread of their provision]|| was dry and broken.
6 So they took their journey unto Joshua, unto the camp, at Gilgal,—and said unto him, and unto the men of Israel,
7 <From a far country> are we come,
8 ||[Now]|| therefore, solemnise with us a covenant.
9 And the men of Israel said unto the Hivites,— 10 Peradventure <in our midst> ye’ are dwelling, 11 how then can we solemnise with you’ a covenant?
12 And they said unto Joshua:
13 <Thy servants> we are’.
14 And Joshua said unto them:
15 ||[Who]|| are’ ye? And ||[from whence]|| come ye?
16 And they said unto him—
17 <From a very far country> have thy servants come, because of the name of Yahweh thy God,—because we had heard his fame, and all that he had done in Egypt;
18 and all that he had done unto the two kings of the Amorites who were over the Jordan,—unto Sihon, king of Heshbon, and unto Og, king of Bashan, who was in Ashtaroth.
19 So our elders and all the inhabitants of our land spake unto us, saying—

Take ye, in your hand, provision for the journey, and go your way to meet them,—then shall ye say unto them, <Your servants> we are’. ||Now|| therefore, solemnise with us a covenant.

12 <This our bread> took we ||hot|| for our provision, out of our houses, on the day we came forth to journey unto you,—but ||now|| lo! it is dry, ||yea it is broken||; and <these leathern wine bottles> which we filled new> lo! also, they are rent,—and <as for these our mantles and our sandals> they are worn out, by reason of the very long journey.

14 So the men took of their provision,—but <the bidding of Yahweh> had they not asked.

15 And Joshua made peace’ with them, and solemnised with them a covenant’ to let them live,—and the princes of the assembly, entered into an oath’ with them. 16 And it came to pass <at the end of three days after they had solemnised with them a covenant> that they heard that <near neighbours> they were’ unto them, and <in their midst> they’ were dwelling. 17 So the sons of Israel brake up, and came in unto their cities on the third day,—||their cities|| being Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, and Kiriath-jearim.’

18 And the sons of Israel smote them not, because the princes of the assembly had sworn unto them by Yahweh, God of Israel,—but all the assembly murmured’ against the princes. 19 And all the princes said unto all the assembly,

||We|| have sworn unto them, by Yahweh, God of Israel,—||now|| therefore, we may not touch them.

20 ||This|| will we do unto them, even let them’ live,—lest there come on us wrath, because of the oath which we have sworn unto them.

21 And the princes said unto them—Let them live.

So they became’ hewers of wood and drawers of water unto all the assembly, as the princes spake unto them. 22 And Joshua called for them, and spake unto them, saying,—Wherefore’ did ye deceive us, saying—We’ are ||very far|| from you’, whereas ||ye|| <in our midst> are dwelling?

23 ||Now|| therefore, <accursed> ye are’,—and ye shall not cease to be in bond-service as hewers of wood and drawers of water, for the house of my God.

24 And they responded to Joshua, and said—Because it was ||plainly told|| thy servants, how that Yahweh thy God had commanded Moses his servant to give unto you all the land, and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you,—therefore feared we greatly, for our lives,’ because of you, and did this thing.

25 ||Now|| therefore, ||here we are|| in thy hand,—<as may be good and right in thine eyes, to do unto us> ||do||.

26 And he did to them so,—and rescued them out of the hand of the sons of Israel, and they slew them not. 27 And Joshua appointed them that day to be hewers of wood and drawers of water unto the assembly,—and unto the altar of Yahweh,’ [as they are] until this day, in the place which he should choose.

§ 11. The Conquests of Joshua described and summed up.

Chapter 10.

1 And it came to pass ≤when Adonizedec, king of Jerusalem, heard’ that Joshua had captured Ai, and devoted it to destruction, <as he had done unto Jericho and her king> ||so|| had he done unto Ai and her king,—and that the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace’ with Israel and had come into their midst≥ 2 then feared they greatly, because Gibeon’ was ||a great city||, as one of the royal’ cities,—and because ||it|| was greater than Ai, and ||all the men thereof|| were mighty: 3 therefore sent Adonizedec, king of Jerusalem, unto Hoham, king of Hebron, and unto Piram, king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhia, king of Lachish, and unto Debir, king of Eglon, saying:

4 Come up unto me and help me, that we may smite Gibeon,—for it hath made peace with Joshua, and with the sons of Israel.

5 So they gathered themselves together and came up, even the five kings of the Amorites—the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon,—

[h]ey, and all their hosts,—and encamped near Gibeon, and made war against it. 6 So the men of Gibeon sent unto Joshua, unto the camp at Gilgal,
saying,

Do not withhold thine hand ג from thy servants,—
Come up unto us quickly, and save us, and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites that dwell in the hill-country, are gathered together against us.

So Joshua went up from Gilgal, ||he and all the people of war with him, even all the mighty men of valour]]. 8 And Yahweh said unto Joshua:

Do not fear because of them, ג for <into thy hand ג have I delivered them,—not ג a man of them shall stand before thee.

So then Joshua came in unto them, suddenly,— <all the night> came he up, from Gilgal. 10 And Yahweh confused them before Israel, and smote them with a great slaughter at Gibeon,—and chased them along the way that goeth up Bethhoron, and smote them as far as Azekah and as far as Makkedah. 11 And it came to pass, when they fled from before Israel, ||they|| being on the slope of Beth-horon, that ||Yahweh|| cast down upon them great stones out of the heavens, as far as Azekah, and they died,—<more> were they who died by the hailstones, than they whom the sons of Israel slew with the sword.

12 ||Then|| spake Joshua unto Yahweh, ג on the day when Yahweh delivered up the Amorites before the sons of Israel, ג—yea he said, in the presence of Israel—

Thou Sun! <in Gibeon> be still,
And thou Moon! in the vale of Aijalon.

13 So the sun [was still] and [the moon] stayed, until a nation should be avenged on its foes. Is not ||that|| written in the Book of the Upright? So then the sun stayed in the middle of the heavens, and hardened not to go in, about a whole day. 14 And there was no day like that—before it or after it, when Yahweh hearkened unto the voice of a man,—in that ||Yahweh|| himself fought for Israel.” 15 So Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, unto the camp at Gilgal.

So these five kings fled ג,—hid themselves in a cave, at Makkedah. 17 And it was told Joshua,
saying,—

The five kings are found ג, hid in a cave at Makkedah.

And Joshua said:

Roll ye great stones against the mouth of the cave, ג—and set over it men, to watch them;
but do not ||ye|| stay, chase after your enemies, so shall ye attack them ג in the rear,—do not suffer them to enter into their cities, for Yahweh your God hath delivered ג them into your hand.

And it came to pass <when Joshua and the sons of Israel had made an end of smiting them with a very great slaughter, until they were spent> then did [the remainder that were left of them] enter into the fortified cities. 21 And all the people returned unto the camp, unto Joshua at Makkedah, in peace,—none sharpened his tongue ג at any man of the sons of Israel. 22 Then said Joshua,

Open ye the mouth of the cave, ג—and bring out unto me ג these five kings, out of the cave.

And they did so, and brought out unto him ג these five kings ג out of the cave, ג—namely, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon. 24
And it came to pass <when they brought out these kings ג unto Joshua> that Joshua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the captains of the men of war who had been with him,

Come near, put your feet upon the necks of these kings.

So they came near, and put their feet upon the necks of them. 25 Then said Joshua unto them:

f Sep. here adds: “when he destroyed them in Gibeon, and they

The terms of this narrative clearly intimate a direct Divine interposition, which, nevertheless, was local in its action, and may well have been purely phenomenal in its nature. That is how it appeared, and that is what it did. Anything more is speculation.

h Some cod. (w. 3 ear. pr. edns.) have: “these five kings”—G.n.
Do not fear, nor be alarmed,—be firm and bold, for <thus and thus> will Yahweh do unto all your enemies, against whom ye’ do fight.

And Joshua smote’ them after this, and put them to death, and hanged them upon five trees,—and they remained hung on the trees, until the evening.

And it came to pass <at the time of the going in of the sun> that Joshua gave command, and they took them down off the trees, and cast them into the cave, where they had hid themselves,—and put great stones upon the mouth of the cave, [which remain] ||until this very day||.

And Joshua captured ||Makkedah|| on that day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and <the king thereof> devoted he to destruction, them and all the souls that were therein, he left no survivor,—but did unto the king of Makkedah, as he had done unto the king of Jericho.

And Joshua passed over, and all Israel with him, from Makkedah unto Libnah,—and fought against Libnah; and Yahweh delivered ||it also|| into the hand of Israel, with the king thereof, and he smote it with the edge of the sword, with all the souls that were therein, he left therein no survivor,—but did unto the king thereof, as he had done unto the king of Jericho.

And Joshua passed over, and all Israel with him, from Libnah unto Lachish,—and encamped against it, and fought against it; and Yahweh delivered Lachish into the hand of Israel, and he captured it on the second day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and devoted to destruction every soul that was therein, he left not a survivor,—<as he had done unto Hebron> ||so|| did he unto Debir, and unto the king thereof, as also he had done unto Libnah, and unto her king.

So Joshua smote all the land—the hill country, and the south, and the lowland, and the slopes, and all their kings, he left not a survivor,—but <every breathing thing> devoted he to destruction, as Yahweh, God of Israel, had commanded.

Yea Joshua smote them, from Kadesh-barnea, even as far as Gaza,—and all the land of Goshen, even as far as Gibeon.

Yea <all these kings and their land> did Joshua capture at one time,—because ||Yahweh, God of Israel|| fought for Israel.

And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, unto the camp at Gilgal.

Chapter 11.

And it came to pass <when Jabin king of Hazor heard> that he sent unto Jobab king of Madôn, and unto the king of Shimron, and unto the king of Achshaph; and unto the kings who were on the north in the hill country and in the waste plain south of Chinneroth, and in the lowland,—and in the heights of Dor, on the west: the Canaanite on the east and on the west, and the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite and the Jebusite, in the hill country,—and the Hivite, under Hermon, in the land of Mizpah; and they came out—||they, and all their hosts with them, much people, like the sand that is upon the seashore for multitude,—with horses and chariots very’ many||. And <when all these kings were gathered together> they came in, and encamped as one man, at the waters of Merom> to fight with Israel. Then said Yahweh unto Joshua—

\^ Some cod. (w. 3 ear. pr. edns.) have: “it” (as in ver. 37)—G.n.

\^ See Destruction.
Do not fear because of them, for <to-morrow, about this time> am I going to deliver up all of them, slain, before Israel,—<their horses> shalt thou ham-string, and <their chariots> shalt thou burn up with fire.

7 So Joshua, and all the army with him, came in upon them, by the waters of Merom, suddenly, and fell upon them. 8 And Yahweh delivered them up into the hand of Israel, and they smote them, and chased them as far as great Zidon, and as far as Misrephoth-maim, and as far as the valley of Mizpeh, eastward,—yea they smote them until they left them not a survivor.

9 And Joshua did unto them, as Yahweh had said unto him,—<their horses> he ham-strung, and <their chariots> burned he up with fire.

10 Then Joshua turned back, at that time, and captured Hazor, and <the king thereof> smote he with the sword,—for ||Hazor, aforetime|| was the head of all these kingdoms. 11 And they smote all the souls that were therein, with the edge of the sword, devoting them to destruction, there was left no breathing thing,—and <Hazor> burned he up with fire. 12 And <all the cities of these kings, and all the kings thereof> did Joshua capture, and he smote them with the edge of the sword, devoting them to destruction,—as Moses, the servant of Yahweh, commanded.

13 Yet <none of the cities that were still standing upon their mound> did Israel burn <none but Hazor alone> did Joshua burn. 14 But <all the spoil of these cities, and the cattle> did the sons of Israel take as their prey,—nevertheless <all the human beings> smote they with the edge of the sword, until they had destroyed them, they left remaining no breathing thing.

15 <As Yahweh commanded Moses his servant> ||so|| Moses commanded Joshua', and ||so|| Joshua [did], he set aside nothing of all that Yahweh commanded Moses.e

16 So Joshua took all this land—the hill country, and all the south, and all the land of Goshen, and the lowland, and the waste plain,—and the hill country of Israel, and the lowland thereof:

17 from Mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir, even as far as Baal-gad, in the valley of the Lebanon, under Mount Hermon,—and <all their kings> he captured, and smote them, and put them to death. 18 <Many days> did Joshua <with all these kings> make war. 19 There was not a city' that made peace with the sons of Israel, save the Hivites dwelling in Gibeon,—<the whole> took they in battle. 20 For <from Yahweh> came it to pass, that their heart was emboldened' to come out to war with Israel, that he might devote them to destruction, that they might find no favour,—but that he might destroy them,—

As Yahweh commanded Moses.

21 And Joshua came in, at that time, and cut off the Anakim from the hill country—from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the hill country of Judah, and from all the hill country of Israel,—<with their cities> did Joshua devote them to destruction. 22 There was left remaining none of the Anakim, in the land of the sons of Israel,—save only <in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod> did some remain.

23 So Joshua took' the whole land, according to all that Yahweh had spoken unto Moses, and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel, according to their portions by their tribes,—and ||the land|| had rest from war.

Chapter 12.

§ 12. The Apportioning of the Land.

Chapter 13.

1 Now ||Joshua|| was old, advanced in days,—so then Yahweh said unto him—

||Thou|| art old, advanced in days, and ||much the larger part of the land|| remaineth to be possessed.

2 ||This|| is the land that remaineth,—all the regions of the Philistines, and all the Geshur; 3 from the Shihor which faceth Egypt, even as far as the boundary of Ekron northward, <to the Canaanites> is it counted,—five princes of Philistines—the Gazites, and the Ashdodites, the Ashkalonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites, also the Avvim 4 on the south: 4 a all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah which belongeth to the Zidonians, as far as Aphek,—as far as the boundary of the Amorites; 5 and the land of the Gebalites, and all the Lebanon, to the rising of the sun, from Baal-gad, under Mount Hermon,—as far as the entering in of Hamath: 6 <all the inhabitants of the hill country>, from the Lebanon as far as Misrephoth-maim—all 6 the Zidonians, ||I myself|| will dispossess them from before the sons of Israel,—nevertheless, assign thou it by lot unto Israel, for an inheritance, as I have commanded thee.

7 ||Now|| therefore, apportion this land as an inheritance, unto the nine tribes,—and the half tribe of Manasseh. 5 6

8. <With them> the ||Reubenites and the Gadites|| received their inheritance,—which Moses gave them beyond the Jordan, eastward, as Moses the servant of Yahweh gave unto them: 9 from Aroer, which is on the edge of the ravine of Arnon, and the city, which is in the midst of the ravine, and all the table-land of Medeba, as far as Dibon; 10 and all the cities of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon,—as far as the boundary of the sons of Ammon;

11 and Gilead, and the boundary of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan, as far as Salecah; 12 all the kingdom of Og, in Bashan, who reigned in Ashtaroth and in Edrei,—||he|| being left of the remnant of the giants; and Moses smote them and dispossessed them; 13 the sons of Israel, however, |did not dispossess| the Geshurites, or the Maacathites,—but Geshur and Maacath have remained in the midst of Israel, until this day.

14 Howbeit <unto the tribe of Levi> gave he no inheritance,—||the altar-flames of Yahweh God of Israel|| are his inheritance, as he spake unto him.

15 Thus then Moses gave |an inheritance| unto the tribe of the sons of Reuben, by their families; 16 and their boundary was from Aroer, that is on the edge of the ravine of Arnon, and the city which is in the midst of the ravine, and all the table-land by Medeba; 17 Heshbon and all her cities, which are on the table-land,—Dibon, and Bamoth-baal, and Beth-baal-meon;

18 and Jahaz and Kedemoth and Maphath;

19 and Kiriathaim and Sibmah, and Zareth-shahar e on the mount of the vale; 20 and Beth-peor, and the slopes of Pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth;

21 and all the cities of the table-land, and all the kingdom of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon,—whom Moses smote— with the princes of Midian, Evi and Rekem and Zur and Hur and Reba, ||dukes of Sihon|| dwelling in the land]; 22 <Balaam also son of Beor, the diviner> did the sons of Israel slay with the sword, among their slain. 23 And so the boundary of the sons of Reuben was the Jordan and district. ||This|| is the inheritance of the sons of Reuben, by their families, the cities and the villages thereof.

24 And Moses gave |an inheritance| unto the tribe of Gad, unto the sons of Gad, by their families;

25 and their boundary was—Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the sons of Ammon,—as far as Aroer, which faceth Rabbah;

26 and from Heshbon as far as Ramath-mizpeh, and Botonim,—and from Mahanaim, as far as the boundary of Debir; 27 and in the valley—Beth-haram and Beth-nimrah, and Succoth and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon, king of Heshbon, the Jordan, and district,—as far as the end of the sea of Chinnereth, beyond the Jordan, eastward. 28 ||This|| is the inheritance of the sons of Gad, by their families,—the cities and the villages thereof.

29 And Moses gave |an inheritance| unto the half tribe of Manasseh,—so it belonged to the half tribe of the sons of Manasseh, by their families; 30 and their boundary was—from Mahanaim, all Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the Encampments of Jair^ which are in Bashan, three-score cities;

31 and ||half Gilead, and Ashtaroth and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan|| pertaining to the sons of Machir, son of Manasseh, to half the sons of Machir, by their families.

32 ||These|| are |the portions| which Moses gave for inheritance, in the waste plains of Moab,—over the Jordan by Jericho, eastward. But <unto the tribe of Levi> Moses gave no inheritance,—<Yahweh, God of Israel> ||he|| was their inheritance, as he spake unto them.

Chapter 14.

1 And ||these|| are the inheritances which the sons of Israel received in the land of Canaan,—which Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the ancestral heads of the tribes of the sons of Israel gave them to inherit.

2 <By lot> was their inheritance divided,—||as|| Yahweh commanded by the hand of Moses, unto the nine tribes and unto the half tribe.

^ Some cod., referred to in the Mass., have: “and all their

^ Some cod. (w. 1 ear. pr. edn. and Sep.) have: “and all”—G.n.

^ A sp. v.r. (sevir): “which”—G.n.

^ Some cod. (w. 1 ear. pr. edn., Syr.) have: “to give (to be given) unto.” Cp. Num. xxxiv. 13—G.n.
For Moses had given the two tribes and the half tribe their inheritance over the Jordan,—but <unto the Levites> gave he no inheritance in their midst; for the sons of Joseph became two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim,—so they gave no portion to the Levites in the land, save only cities to dwell in, with the pasture lands thereof, for their cattle and for their substance.

<As Yahweh commanded Moses> ||so|| did' the sons of Israel,—when they apportioned the land.

Then came near the sons of Judah unto Joshua, in Gilgal, and Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, the Kenizzite, saith unto him,— ||Thou|| knowest the word which Yahweh spake unto Moses the man of God, in my behalf and in thine, in Kadesh-barnea.

<Forty years old> was I' when Moses the servant of Yahweh sent me, from Kadesh-barnea, to spy out the land,—so I brought him back word, as was in' my heart.

But ||my brethren who had been up with me|| had made the heart of the people melt,—whereas ||[I]|| wholly' followed Yahweh my God.

So then Moses sware, on that day, saying,

Surely ||the land on which thy foot hath trodden|| <unto thee> shall belong, for an inheritance, and unto thy sons, unto times age-abiding,—because thou hast wholly followed Yahweh my God.

||Now|| therefore, lo! Yahweh hath kept me alive, as he spake, these forty and five years, from the time Yahweh spake this word unto Moses, while Israel journeyed in the desert.

||Now|| therefore, lo! ||[I—to-day]|| am eighty and five years old:

11 I remain, to-day, as courageous as on the day when Moses sent me <as my strength was then'—so' also my strength is now',—for war, both to go out and to come in.

||Now|| therefore, give me this mountain, whereof Yahweh spake, on that day,—for ||thou thyself|| didst hear, on that day, that ||Anakim|| were there, and great cities fortified, <if so be Yahweh be with me> then shall I dispossess them, 13 So Joshua blessed him, and gave Hebron unto Caleb son of Jephunneh, for an inheritance.

<For this cause> hath Hebron belonged unto Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenezzite, for an inheritance, unto this day,—because he wholly followed Yahweh, God of Israel.

Now ||[the name of Hebron]|| was formerly, City of Arba, <the greatest man among the Anakim> was he'.

And ||[the land]|| had rest from war.

Chapter 15.

So then the boundary of the tribe of the sons of Judah, by their families,—reached unto the boundary of Edom, the desert of Zin southward, on the extreme south;

so their south boundary beginneth at the end of the Salt Sea,—from the bay that turneth to the south; and goeth forth on the south of the cliffs of Akrabbim, and crosseth over to Zin, and goeth up on the south of Kadesh-barnea,—and passeth over by Hezron, and goeth up to Addar, and turneth round to Karka;

and passeth over to Azmon, and goeth forth at the ravine of Egypt, and so the extensions of the boundary are to the sea.

||This|| shall be your south boundary.

And ||a boundary eastward|| is the Salt Sea, as far as the end of the Jordan.

And ||the boundary on the north side|| is from the bay of the sea, from the end of the Jordan.

And the boundary goeth up Beth-hoglah, and passeth over, on the north, by Beth-arabah,—and the boundary goeth up by the Stone of Bohan, son of Reuben; and the boundary goeth up towards Debir, out of the vale of Achor, then northward, turning unto Gilgal, which is over against the ascent of Adummim, which is on the south side of the ravine,—then the boundary passeth over unto the waters of En-shemesh, and so the extensions thereof are unto En-rogel.

then ascendeth the boundary by the valley of the son of Hinnom, to the side of the Jebusite, on the south, ||the same|| is Jerusalem,—and the boundary goeth up unto the top of the mountain which faceth the valley of Hinnom, to the west, which is at the end of the Vale of Giants, northwards; and the boundary turneth round, from the top of the mountain, unto...

the fountain of the waters of Nephtoah, and goeth out unto the cities of Mount Ephron,—then the boundary turneth round to Baalah, ||[the same]|| is Kiriath-je'ærîm; 10 then the boundary goeth round from Baalah westward, unto Mount Seir, and passeth over unto the slope of Mount Yearim, ||[the same]|| is Chesalon,—and descendeth Bethshemesh, and passeth over Timnah; 11 then the boundary goeth forth unto the side 6 of Ekron, northward, then the boundary turneth round towards Shikkeron, and crosseth over Mount Baalah, and goeth out at Jabneel,—and the extensions of the boundary are to the sea.

12 And <as a west boundary> are the great sea and coast. 7 ||[This]|| is the boundary of the sons of Judah, round about, by their families.

13 And <to Caleb> son of Jephunneh 8 gave he a portion, in the midst of the sons of Judah, at the bidding of Yahweh, by Joshua,—even the City of Arba, father of Anak, ||[the same]|| is Hebron. 14 And Caleb dispossessed from thence, the three sons of Anak,—Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, the descendants of Anak. 15 And he went up from thence, against the inhabitants of Debir,—now ||[the name of Debir, formerly]|| was Kiriath-sepher. 16 Then said Caleb, <[He that smiteth Kiriath-sepher, and captureth it]> I will give unto him 9 Achshah, my daughter, to wife.

17 And Othniel son of Kenaz, brother of Caleb, captured it,—so he gave unto him 10 Achshah, his daughter, to wife. 18 And it came to pass, <[when she came]> that she moved him to ask of her father a field, and <[when she alighted from off the ass]> Caleb said unto her—What aileth thee? 19 And she said—

Give me a present, 8 for <dry land> hast thou given me, therefore must thou give me, ||[pools of water]||.

So he 5 gave her upper pools and lower pools.

20 ||[This]|| is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Judah, by their families. 21 And the uttermost cities of the tribe of the sons of Judah, towards the boundary of Edom in the south, were,—Kabzeël and Eder, and Jagur,

22 and Kinah and Dimonah, and Adadah,—23 and Kedesh and Hazor, and Ithnan, 54 and Ziph and Talem, and Bealtoth, 25 and Hazor-hadattah and Kerioth-hezron, ||[the same]|| is Hazor; 26 Amâm and Shema, and Moladah, 27 and Hazar-gaddah and Heshmon, and Beth-pelet. 28 and Hazar-shual and Beer-sheba, with the hamlets thereof.

29 Baalah and Iyyim, and Ezem, 30 and Eltolad and Chesil and Hormah, 31 and Ziklag and Madmannah, and Sansannah, 32 and Lebaoth and Shilhim, and En-rimmon, 3 —all the cities are twenty-nine, with their villages]. 33

30 In the lowland,—Eshtoael and Zorah, and Ashnah, 34 and Zanoah and En-gannim, Tappuah, and Enam; 35 Jarmuth, and Adullam, Socoh, and Azekah; 36 and Shaaraim, and Adithaim, and Gederah, and Gederothaim,—||fourteen cities, with their villages]. 37 Zenan and Hadashah, and Migdal-gad, 38 and Dilan and Mizpeh, and Joktheel, 39 Lachish and Bozkath, and Eglon, 40 and Cabbon and Lahmas, 41 and Chithlish, and Gederoth, Beth-dagon and Naamah, and Makkedah,—||sixteen cities, with their villages]. 42 Libnah and Ether, and Aschan,

43 and Iphthah and Ashnah, and Nezib, 44 and Keilah and Achzib, and Mareshah,—||nine cities, with their villages|. 45 Ekron with her towns, and her villages. 46 From Ekron, even unto the sea,—||all that were by the side of Ashdod with their villages|. 47 Ashdod, her towns and her villages. Gaza, her towns and her villages, as far as the ravine of Egypt,—and the great sea and coast. 48

<And in the hill-country>,—Shamir and Jattir, and Socoh,

49 and Dannah and Kiriath-sannah, ||[the same]|| is Debir, 50 and Anab and Eshtemoah, and Anim, 51 and Goshen and Holon, and Giloh,—||eleven cities, with their villages|. 52 Arab and Rumah 5

But <as for the Jebusites, the inhabitants of Jerusalem> the sons of Judah could not dispossess them,—so the Jebusites have dwelt with the sons of Judah, in Jerusalem, until this day.

Chapter 16.

1 Then came out the lot for the sons of Joseph, from the Jordan by Jericho, at the waters of Jericho, eastward,—the desert, going up from Jericho, through the hill country to Bethel; 2 and it goeth out from Bethel towards Luz,—and passeth over unto the boundary of the Archites at Ataroth; 3 and descendeth westward, unto the boundary of the Japhletites, as far as the boundary of Beth-horon the nether, and as far as Gezer,—and the extensions thereof are to the sea. 4 So the sons of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, received their inheritance.

And the boundary of the sons of Ephraim, by their families, was,—|y [the] boundary of their inheritance on the east, was Ataroth-addar, as far as Beth-horon the upper; 6 and the boundary goeth out westward at Michmethath, on the north, then the boundary bendeth round easward, to Taannath-shiloh,—and passeth by it on the east to Janoah; 7 and goeth down from Janoah to Ataroth and to Naarah,—and toucheth upon Jericho, and goeth out at the Jordan. 8 <From Tappuah> runneth the boundary along westward, to the ravine of Kanah, and the extensions thereof are to the sea,—||this|| is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, by their families; 9 together with the cities which were separated for the sons of Ephraim, in the midst of the inheritance of the sons of Manasseh,—||all the cities, with their villages||.

But they did not dispossess the Canaanites who were dwelling in Gazer,—so the Canaanites have dwelt in the midst of Ephraim unto this day, and have become tributary servants.

Chapter 17.

1 And the lot for the tribe of Manasseh was, for ||[he]|| was the firstborn of Joseph,—<as for Machir, the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead> <because ||[he]|| was a man of war> therefore had he Gilead and Bashan. 2 So the lot pertained to the rest of the sons of Manasseh, by their families, to the sons of Abiezer, and to the sons of Helek, and to the sons of Asriel, and to the sons of Shechem, and to the sons of Hepher, and to the sons of Shemida,—||these|| were the sons of Manasseh, son of Joseph, even the male descendants, by their families. 3 But ||Zelophehad, son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh|| had no sons, but only daughters,—||[these]|| are the names of his daughters, Mahlah and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. 4 And they had come near, before Eleazar the priest, and before Joshua son of Nun, and before the princes, saying, ||[Yahweh]|| commanded Moses, 2 to give us an inheritance in the midst of our brethren,—And he had given them, according to the bidding of Yahweh, an inheritance, in the midst of the brethren of their father. 5 Thus there fell ten portions to Manasseh,—besides the land of Gilead, and Bashan, which is beyond the Jordan; 6 because ||the daughters of Manasseh|| received an inheritance in the midst of his sons,—and ||the land of Gilead|| became the possession of the sons of Manasseh that remained. 7 So then the boundary of Manasseh was from Asher, Michmethath, which faceth Shechem,—and the boundary goeth along unto the right hand, unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah. 8 ||Manasseh|| had the land of Tappuah,—but ||Tappuah itself|| towards the boundary of Manasseh, pertained unto the sons of

The sons of Joseph said unto Joshua, saying,—

Why hast thou given me, as an inheritance, but one lot and one portion, seeing that I am a numerous people, because hitherto hath Yahweh blessed me.

And Joshua said unto them:

If ye are a numerous people, get thee up to the forest, and cut down thine inheritance, according to the lot which I shall give thee, in the hill country of Ephraim, and in the land of the Perizzites and of the Rephaim, which dwell in the land of the valley, belonging both to them in Bethshean, and her towns, and to them in the valley of Jezreel.

And Joshua made answer unto the house of Joseph, to Ephraim and to Manasseh, saying,—

A numerous people thou art, and great vigour thou hast, thou shalt not have one lot only; for the hill country shall be thine, in that  it is', therefore canst thou cut it down, and thine' shall be the extensions thereof,—for thou shalt dispossess the Canaanites, though <chariots of iron> they have', and though they are'.

Chapter 18.

Then were gathered together all the assembly of the sons of Israel at Shiloh, and they set up there, the tent of meeting,—||the land|| having been subdued before them. But there remained among the sons of Israel, to whom had not been apportioned their inheritance,—||seven tribes|.

So Joshua said unto the sons of Israel,—

||How long|| will ye’ be too slothful, to enter in and take possession of the land, which Yahweh God of your fathers [hath given unto you]?

Set forth for you three men for each tribe,—that I may send them, that they may arise—and go up and down in the land—and map it out as required for their inheritance, and come in unto me.

So shall they apportion it for themselves into seven parts,—Let ||Judah|| stay upon his boundary| on the south|, and ||the house of Joseph|| stay upon their boundary| on the north| but ||Gad|| and ||Reuben|| and the half tribe of ||Manasseh|| have received their inheritance, beyond the Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of Yahweh gave’ unto them.

For Levi hath no’ portion in your midst, for ||the priesthood of Yahweh|| is his inheritance,—and ||Gad|| and ||Reuben|| and the half tribe of ||Manasseh|| have received their inheritance, beyond the Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of Yahweh gave’ unto them.

So the men arose, and went,—and Joshua commanded them who were going, to map out the land, saying—

Take your journey and go up and down in the land, and map it out, and return unto me, and ||here|| will I cast lots for you before Yahweh, in Shiloh.

So the men went, and passed through the land, and mapped it out by cities, into seven parts, upon a scroll,—and came in unto Joshua unto the camp, in Shiloh. And Joshua cast’ for them lots, in Shiloh, before Yahweh,—and Joshua there’ apportioned the land unto the sons of Israel, according to their portions.

11 Then came up the lot of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, by their families,—and the boundary of their lot came out, between the sons of Judah and the sons of Joseph. 12 And so their boundary, on the north border, was from the Jordan,—and the boundary goeth up unto the side of Jericho on the north, and goeth up in the hill country, westward, and the extensions thereof are towards the wilderness of Beth-aven; 13 and the boundary passeth over from thence towards Luz, to the side of Luz, southwards,—and then turneth to the ravine that faceth Jokneam; 14 and it turneth the boundary and goeth round the west border, southward, from the mountain which faceth Beth-horon, southward, and so the extensions thereof are unto Kiriath-baal,—the same is Kiriath-jeärim, a city of the sons of Judah,—and the boundary of the same is the west border. 15 And the boundary goeth down to the uttermost part of Kiriath-jeärim,—and the boundary goeth out westward, yea it goeth out unto the fountain of the waters of Nephtoah; 16 and the boundary goeth down to the uttermost part of the mountain which faceth the valley of the son of Hinnom, which is in the Vale of Giants, northward,—and descendeth the valley of Hinnom, unto the side of the Jebusite, southward, and then descendeth to En-rogel; 17 and it turneth on the north, and goeth out at En-shemesh, and goeth out unto Geliloth, which is over against the ascent of Adummim,—and goeth down by the Stone of Bohan, son of Reuben; 18 and passeth along unto the side over against the Arabah, northward,—and goeth down toward the Arabah; 19 and the boundary passeth along unto the side of Beth-hoglah, northward, and so the extensions of the boundary are unto the bay of the Salt Sea, northward, unto the end of the Jordan, southward,—the same is Jericho and Beth-hoglah, and Emekkeziz, 20 and Beth-araba and Zemaraim, and Bethel, and Avvim and Parah and Ophrah, 21 and Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 22 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 23 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 24 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 25 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 26 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 27 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages. 28 And Chephar-ammon and Ophni, and Geba,—the same is Jerusalem, Gibeah [and] Kiriath, fourteen cities, with their villages.

Chapter 19.

1 And the second lot came out, for Simeon, for the tribe of the sons of Simeon, by their families,—and their inheritance was in the midst of the inheritance of the sons of Judah. 2 And they had for their inheritance,—Beer-sheba or Sheba, and Moladah, and Hazar-shual, and Balah, and Ezem, and Eltolad and Bethûl, and Hormah, and Ziklag and Beth-marcah, and Hazar-susah, and Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhen,—thirteen cities, with their villages; 3 Ain, Rimmon, and Ether and Ashan,—four cities, with their villages; 4 and all the villages that were round about these cities, as far as Baalath-beer, Ramah of the South. 5 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Simeon, by their families: 9 Out of the portion of the sons of Judah is the inheritance of the sons of Simeon,—for it came to pass that what was allotted to the sons of Judah, was too much for them, therefore did the sons of Simeon receive an inheritance in the midst of their inheritance.

10 Then came up the third lot, for the sons of Zebulen, by their families,—and the boundary of their inheritance was as far as Sarid. 11 And their boundary goeth up westward, even towards Maralah, and toucheth Dabbesheth,—and reacheth unto the ravine that faceth Jokneam; 12 and turneth back from Sarid, eastward, toward the rising of the sun, upon the boundary of Chisloth-tabor,—and goeth out unto Daberath, and

And Yahweh spake unto Joshua, saying:

Set out for you the cities of refuge, whereof I spake unto you, by the hand of Moses:

And <when the blood'-redeemer pursueth after him> then shall they not deliver up the manslayer, into his hand,—because <unwittingly> it was that he slew his neighbour, and had not been ||cherishing hatred|| towards him, aforesight; 6 so shall he remain in that city, until he standeth before the assembly, for judgment, until the death of the high-priest' who shall be in those days,—

So then they set apart Kadesh in Galilee, in the hill country of Naphtali, and Shechem, in the hill country of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba, ||the same|| is Hebron, in the hill country of Judah. 8 And <beyond the Jordan, by Jericho eastward> they appointed Bezer in the wilderness, in the table-land, out of the tribe of Reuben,—and Ramoth in Gilead, out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan, out of the tribe of Manasseh. 9 ||These|| were the cities appointed for all the sons of Israel, and for the sojourner who sojourneth in their midst, that whosoever should slay a person by mistake ||might flee thither||,—and not die by the hand of the blood'-redeemer, until he should stand before the assembly.

Chapter 20.

1. Then came near the ancestral heads of the Levites, unto Eleazar, the priest, and unto Joshua son of Nun,—and unto the ancestral heads of the tribes, of the sons of Israel; 2 and spake unto them in Shiloh in the land of Canaan, saying:

||Yahweh himself|| commanded, by the hand of Moses, that there should be given unto us cities’ to dwell in,—with their pasture-lands 8 for our cattle.

3. So the sons of Israel gave unto the Levites, out of their own inheritance, at the bidding of Yahweh,—these cities, with their pasture-lands. 4 And <when the lot came out for the families of the Kohathites> then had the sons of Aaron the priest, from among the Levites —out of the tribe of Judah and out of the tribe of the Simeonites and out of the tribe of Benjamin—by lot ||[thirteen cities]|. 5 And ||the sons of Kohath that remained|| had—<out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim and out of the tribe of Dan and out of the half tribe of Manasseh—by lot ||[ten cities]]. 6 And ||the sons of Gershon|| had—<out of families of the tribe of Issachar and out of the tribe of Asher and out of the tribe of Naphtali and out of the half tribe of Manasseh in Bashan—by lot ||[thirteen cities]]. 7 ||The sons of Merari, by their families|| had—<out of the tribe of Reuben and out of the tribe of Gad and out of the tribe of Zebulun> ||twelve cities]]. 8

So the sons of Israel gave’ unto the Levites’ these cities, with their pasture lands, —||as Yahweh commanded, by the hand of Moses, by lot|. 9

Thus then they gave—out of the tribe of the sons of Judah and out of the tribe of the sons of Simeon—these cities which are 8 mentioned by name. 10 And the sons of Aaron, from among the sons of Kohath, from among the sons of Levi, had to them,—because <theirs> was the first lot; 11 yea there was given unto them, the city of Arba, a the father of Anak, [the same] is Hebron, in the hill country of Judah,—with the pasture land thereof, round about it;

whereas <the fields of the city, and the villages thereof> gave they unto Caleb son of Jephunneh, as his possession. 13 But <unto the sons of Aaron the priest> gave they the city of refuge for the manslayer, even Hebron, with the pasture lands thereof,—Libnah also, with her pasture lands; 14 and Jattir with her pasture land, and Eshtemoa with her pasture land;

and Holon, with her pasture land, and Debir, with her pasture land; 16 and Ain, with her pasture land, and Juttah, with her pasture land, Beth-shemesh, b with her pasture land,—[nine cities, out of these two tribes]. 17 And <out of the tribe of Benjamin> Gibeon, with her pasture land,—Geba, with her pasture land;

Anathoth, c with her pasture land, and Almon, with her pasture land,—[four cities]. 19 ||All the cities of the sons of Aaron, the priests|| were thirteen cities, with their pasture lands.

And <as for the families of the sons of Kohath, the Levites, which remained of the sons of Kohath> the cities of their lot were' out of the tribe of Ephraim. 21 So they gave unto them a city of refuge for the manslayer, even Shechem with her pasture land, in the hill country of Ephraim,—also Gezer, with her pasture land;

and Kibzaim, with her pasture land, and Bethhoron, with her pasture land,—[four cities]. 23 And <out of the tribe of Dan> Elteke, with her pasture land,—Gibbethon, d with her pasture land;

And [the sons of Gershon, of the families of the Levites] had <out of the half tribe of Manasseh> a city of refuge for the manslayer, even Golan f in Bashan, with her pasture land, and Be-eshterah, with her pasture land,—[two cities]. 28 And <out of the tribe of Issachar> Kishion, with her pasture land,—Daberath, with her pasture land;

Jarmuth, with her pasture land, En-gannim, g with her pasture land,—[four cities]. 30 And <out of the tribe of Asher> Mishal, with her pasture land, Abdon, with her pasture land; 31 Helkath, h with her pasture land, and Rehob, with her pasture land,—[four cities]. 32 And <out of the tribe of Naphtali> a city of refuge for the manslayer— even Kedesh in Galilee, with her pasture land, and Hammoth-dor, with her pasture land, and Kartan, with her pasture land,—[three cities]. 33 ||All the cities of the Gershonites, by their families|| were thirteen cities, with their pasture lands.

And <unto the families of the sons of Merari, the Levites that remained> <out of the tribe of Zebulun> Jokneam, with her pasture land,—Karth, i with her pasture land; cities, with their pasture lands: 42 these cities passed, each several, with its pasture lands round about it; thus was it with all these cities.

Dimnah, with her pasture land, Nahalal, with her pasture land,—[four cities]. 36 And <out of the tribe of Reuben> Bezer, k with her pasture land,—and Jahaz, with her pasture land; 37 Kedemoth, l with her pasture land and Mephaath, with her pasture land,—[four cities]. 38 And <out of the tribe of Gad> a city of refuge for the manslayer— even Ramoth in Gilead, with her pasture land,—and Mahanaim, with her pasture land; 39 Heshbon, with her pasture land, Jazer, with her pasture land,—[in all, four cities]. 40 ||All the cities for the sons of Merari, by their families, who remained of the families of the Levites> yea their lot was ||twelve|| cities.

43 So Yahweh gave unto Israel, all the land which he had sworn to give unto their fathers, and they took possession thereof, and dwelt therein. 44 And Yahweh gave them rest round about, according to all that he had sworn unto their fathers, and there stood not a man before them, of all their enemies; <all their enemies> did Yahweh deliver into their hand. 45 There failed not a thing, out of all the good things, whereof Yahweh had spoken unto the house of Israel,—||the whole|| came to pass. 4 § 15. The Two and Half Tribes Dismissed: their Altar of Witness.

Chapter 22.

1 ||Then|| called Joshua—for the Reubenites, and for the Gadites,—and for the half tribe of Manasseh; 2 and said unto them,

||Ye|| have observed all that Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded you,—and have hearkened unto my voice, in all that I commanded you: 3 ye have not forsaken your brethren, these many days, unto this day,—but have kept the charge of the commandment of Yahweh your God.

4 ||Now||, therefore, that Yahweh your God hath given rest unto your brethren, according as he spake unto them, 5—||now||, therefore, turn ye and get you to your homes within the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of Yahweh gave unto you, over the Jordan.

Only take ye diligent heed, to do the commandment and the law, which Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded you—to love Yahweh your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him,—and to serve him—with all your heart, and with all your soul.

6 So Joshua blessed them,—and sent them away, and they took their journey unto their homes. 7 Now unto the [one] half tribe of Manasseh had Moses given a possession in Bashan, and unto the [other] half> did Joshua give possession with their brethren, over the Jordan, westward,—moreover also <when Joshua sent them away unto their homes> he blessed them, 8 and spake unto them, saying—

<With much wealth> return ye unto your homes, even with very much cattle, with silver and with gold, and with copper and with iron, and with very much raiment,—divide ye the spoil of your enemies with your brethren.

9 So the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh, returned and departed, from the sons of Israel, from Shiloh, which was in the land of Canaan,—to go unto the land of Gilead, unto the land of their possession, wherein they had received their possessions, at the bidding of Yahweh by the hand of Moses. 10 And <when they came into the circles of the Jordan, which were in the land of Canaan>,—then did the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh build there an altar by the Jordan, ||an altar of large dimensions||, 11 And the sons of Israel heard say,—Lo! the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh have built an altar in front of the land of Canaan, in the circles of the Jordan, in the region opposite the sons of Israel.

12 And <when the sons of Israel heard> all the assembly of the sons of Israel gathered themselves together at Shiloh, to go up against them to war. 13 And the sons of Israel sent unto the sons of Reuben and unto the sons of Gad and unto the half tribe of Manasseh, within the land of Gilead,—Phinehas, son of Eleazar the priest; 14 and ten princes with him, one prince of an ancestral house for each of the tribes of Israel,—they being ||severally heads of their ancestral houses|| among the thousands of Israel. 15 So they came in unto the sons of Reuben and unto the sons of Gad and unto the half tribe of Manasseh, within the land of Gilead,—and spake with them, saying:

16 ||Thus|| say all the assembly of Yahweh—What is this act of treachery which ye have committed against the God of Israel, that ye should turn back, to-day', from following Yahweh,—in that ye have builded you an altar, that ye might rebel, to-day, against Yahweh?

17 <Too little for us> was the iniquity of Peor, from which we have not cleansed ourselves, unto this day,—although the plague came upon the assembly of Yahweh: 18 but that ||ye|| must turn back to-day from following Yahweh,—though it must needs be that ||if ||ye|| rebel to-day’ against Yahweh> then ||to-morrow|| <with all the assembly of Israel> will he be wroth?

19 Howbeit <if ||unclean|| be the land of your possession> do ye on your’ part come over into the land of the possession of Yahweh, where abideth the habitation of Yahweh, and take your possession in our midst,—but <against Yahweh> do not rebel, nor <against us> rebel, by building yourselves an altar apart from the altar of Yahweh our God.

20 Did not ||Achan son of Zerah|| commit an act of treachery, with a devoted thing, and <upon all the assembly of Israel> came wrath,—so that not ||he— one man alone|| died in his iniquity?

21 Then responded the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh,—and spake unto the heads of the thousands of Israel:

22 <Él-Elohim-Yahweh, Él-Elohim-Yahweh> ||he|| knoweth, and <Israel> ||he|| shall know,— <if in rebellion, or if in treachery, against Yahweh> do not save us this day: 23 that we should build for ourselves an altar, to turn back from following Yahweh,—or <if that we might cause to go up thereon ascending-sacrifice or meal-offering, or if that we might offer thereon peace-offerings> let Yahweh himself require it; 24 if, indeed, we have not, rather, <out of anxiety and of purpose> done this thing, saying,—

<In time to come> your’ sons might speak to our’ sons, saying,

What have ye to do with Yahweh, b God of Israel; 25 seeing that  hath Yahweh put between us and you, ye sons of Reuben and ye sons of Gad— ||even the Jordan||, ye’ have no’ portion in Yahweh,— so might your’ sons cause our’ sons, to cease from revering Yahweh. 26 We said, therefore,

Let us prepare, we pray you, to build us an altar,— not for ascending-offering, nor for sacrifice; but that  it may be’ between us and you, and between our generations after us, that we are to do the service of Yahweh, before him, with our ascending-offerings and with our sacrifices, and with our peace-offerings,—that your sons may not say, in time to come, to our sons,

Ye’ have no’ portion in Yahweh.

Therefore said we,

And it shall be, <when they [so] say to us, or to our generations>, in time to come,—that we will say—

Behold ye the pattern of the altar of Yahweh, which our fathers made, not for ascending-offerings nor for sacrifice, but that  it might be’ between us and you.

29 Far be it from us—that we should rebel against Yahweh, or turn back, to-day, from following Yahweh, by building an altar, for ascending-offering, or meal-offering or for sacrifice,—other than the altar of Yahweh our God, which is before his habitation.

30 And <when Phinehas the priest, and the princes of the assembly, even the heads of the thousands of Israel who were with him, heard’ the words which the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the sons of Manasseh spake’> then was it well-pleasing in their eyes. 31 And Phinehas son of Eleazar the priest said’ unto the sons of Reuben and unto the sons of Gad and unto the sons of Manasseh—

||To-day|| we know that <in our midst> is Yahweh, in that ye have not committed, against Yahweh, this act of treachery,— ||now|| have ye rescued the sons of Israel out of the hand of Yahweh.

32 So Phinehas son of Eleazar the priest and the princes returned’ from the sons of Reuben and from the sons of Gad, out of the land of Gilead, unto the land of Canaan, unto the sons of Israel,—and brought them back word. 33 And the thing was well-pleasing in the eyes of the sons of Israel, and the sons of Israel blessed God,—and spake not of going up against them, to war, to lay waste the

Chapter 23.

And it came to pass <after many days, when Yahweh had given rest unto Israel, from all their enemies round about,—and ||Joshua|| had become old, advanced in days> 2 that Joshua called for all Israel, for their elders, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers,—and said unto them, ||Yahweh your God|| is he’ that hath fought for you.

Behold, I have allotted to you these nations which remain, as an inheritance, for your tribes,—from the Jordan, and all the nations which I have cut off, even unto the great sea, at the going in of the sun.

But ||Yahweh your God—he|| will thrust them out from before you, and drive them away out of your sight,—so shall ye possess their land, ||as Yahweh your God spoke unto you||.

Therefore must ye be very firmc to observe and to do’ all that is written in the scroll of the law of Moses,—so as not to turn aside therefrom, to the right hand or to the left; 7 so as not to go in among these nations, these which remain’ with you,—and <with the name of their gods> shall ye neither make memoriald nor put on oath, and neither serve them, nor bow down to them. 8 But <unto Yahweh your God> must ye cleave,—||as ye have done until this day||; 9 therefore hath Yahweh dispossessed, from before you, nations great and strong,—but <as for you> not a man hath stood before you, ||until this day||.

themselves before God. 2 Then said Joshua unto all the people—

[[Thus]] saith Yahweh, God of Israel,
||[Beyond the River] dwelt your fathers from age-past times, [unto] Terah, father of Abraham, and father of Nahor,—and they served other gods. 3 So I took your father, Abraham, from beyond the River, and led him through all the land of Canaan,—and multiplied his seed, and gave unto him, Isaac; 4 and gave unto Isaac  Jacob and Esau,—and gave unto Esau, Mount Seir, to possess it, but Jacob and his sons]] went down into Egypt.  6 Then sent I Moses and Aaron, and plagued Egypt, according to that which I did in their midst, and afterwards brought you forth. 7 Yea I brought forth your fathers, out of Egypt, and ye came unto the sea, and the Egyptians pursued after your fathers, with chariots and with horsemen, unto the Red Sea.  8 So they made outcry unto Yahweh, and he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and covered them,—and your eyes beheld what I did with the Egyptians. And when ye had remained in the desert many days then I brought you into the land of the Amorites, who were dwelling over the Jordan, and they fought with you,—then delivered I them into your hand, and ye took possession of their land, so I destroyed them from before you.

Then rose up Balak, son of Zippor, king of Moab, and made war with Israel,—and sent and called for Balaam son of Beor, to curse you; but I was not willing to hearken unto Balaam,—so [he kept on ’ blessing] ] you, and I rescued you out of his hand.

Then passed ye over the Jordan, and came in unto Jericho, and when they would have made war with you—even the lords of Jericho—the Amorite and the Perizzite and the Canaanite and the Hittite and the Girgashite, the Hivite and the Jebusite] then delivered I them into your hand. 12 And I sent before you the hornet, which drave them out from before you, the two kings of the Amorites,—||not with thy sword, nor with thy bow]].  13 Thus I gave unto you a land on which thou hadst not laboured, and cities which ye had not built, and ye proceeded to dwell therein,—||of vineyards and oliveyards, which ye planted not> ye’ are eating.

| Then responded the people, and said,
Far be it from us, that we should forsake Yahweh,—to serve other gods; 17 for [as for Yahweh our God]] brought up both us and our fathers, out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants,—and who did before our eyes, these great signs, and preserved us throughout all the way wherein we journeyed, and among all the peoples through the midst of whom we passed,; 18 then did Yahweh drive out all the peoples, even the Amorites were dwelling in the land, from before us,—[we too]] will serve Yahweh, for [he] is our God.

Then said Joshua unto the people—
Ye cannot serve Yahweh, for [a holy God] he is’ [a jealous GOD] he is’, he’ will not forgive’ your transgression, nor your sins.

<When ye forsake Yahweh, and serve the gods of a stranger> then will he turn, and inflict on you calamity, and consume you, [after that he hath dealt well with you]]. 21 But the people said unto Joshua,—Nay! but <Yahweh> will we serve.

Then said Joshua unto the people—

<Witnesses> are yeʹ [against yourselves], that ||ye yourselves|| have chosen you Yahweh, to serve himʹ.

And they said:

Witnesses!

||Now|| therefore, put ye away the gods of the stranger, that are in your midst,—and incline your heart unto Yahweh, God of Israel.

And the people said unto Joshua,— <Yahweh our God> will we serve, and <unto his voice> will we hearken.

So then Joshua solemnised a covenant for the people, on that day,—and set for them a statute and a regulation, in Shechem. 26 And Joshua wrote these wordsʹ in the scroll of the law of God,—and took a great stone, and set it up there, under the oakʹ that was by the sanctuarya of Yahweh. 27 And Joshua said unto all the people—

Lo! [this stone] shall serve against us as a witness, for [it] hath heard all the sayings of Yahweh, which he hath spoken with us,—so shall it serve against you as a witness, ||lest ye should act deceptively againstb your God.

And Joshua sent the people away, every man unto his inheritance.

And it came to pass <after these things> that Joshua son of Nun, servant of Yahweh, died, being a hundred and ten years old. 30 And they buried him within the bounds of his own inheritance, in Timnath-serah, which is in the hill country of Ephraim, on the north of Mount Gaash.c

So then Israel served Yahweh all the days of Joshua,—and all the days of the elders who prolonged their days after Joshua, and who had known all the work of Yahweh, which he had wrought for Israel.

And <the bones of Joseph—which the sons of Israel had brought up out of Egypt> buried they in Shechem, in the portion of field, which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor, father of Shechem, for a hundred pieces of money,—and they belonged unto the sons of Joseph, as an inheritance.

And ||Eleazar son of Aaron|| died,—and they buried him in the hill of Phinehas his son, which was given to him, in the hill country of Ephraim.d

d In the Sep. are found these verses: “And on that day the sons of Israel took the ark of Yahweh, and bare it in their midst; and Phinehas ministered as priest instead of Eleazar his father until his death, and was buried in the hill which belonged to him. And the sons of Israel went every man to his own place and to his own city; and the sons of Israel served the Asherah and the Asheroth, and the gods of the nations which were round about them; and God sold them into the hand of Eglon king of Moab, and he ruled over them eighteen years.” Cp. Judg. iii. 12–14—G.n.
SPECIAL NOTE

ON THE DESTRUCTION OF THE CANAANITE NATIONS.

In reviewing the destruction of the nations of Canaan, it is most important to bear in mind the terrible nature of the crimes for which they were exterminated. Their worship was grossly sensual and revoltingly cruel. In honour of the deities women surrendered their virtue. Their sacred places were brothels. The generative organs were openly represented by disgusting symbols. The people had holy (!) prostitutes, male and female,—ḳᵉḏᵉšim and ḳᵉḏᵉshoth. Lustful gods are cruel, and demand to be worshipped with human blood. Hence, to the king-idol Molech, the Canaanites, with some contiguous nations, immolated their sons and daughters. At such crimes as these nature shudders; and Palestine was fain, in abhorrence, to eject her inhabitants. Who shall say the Most High has not the right to extinguish such polluters of the earth and contaminators of mankind as these? Doubtless the world has been made permanently the sweeter and the more habitable by reason of the occasional Divine use of the besom of destruction. Let us remember that there was long waiting before these nations were destroyed. Not till their iniquity was “full” did the stroke of vengeance fall. It was doubtless both safe and kind that the extermination was to be made ruthless complete. And let us not forget that Joshua’s mission was divine, direct, positive, explicit and repeated; and therefore no example for generals destitute of such sanction. How far other commanders may volunteer, or be lawfully commissioned, to follow Joshua’s example—is, for us, a question of casuistry into which we are not here called upon to enter. Moreover, Divine Mercy drew a line around the devoted nations, and outside that line peoples might be spared—unless, indeed, the interdict went forth against them; while, on the other hand, Divine Equity warned the Hebrews that, if they fell into the same sins, they should receive a like punishment. For their fathers’ sake, indeed, they were not to be utterly annihilated; but short of that, if they would sin, they must suffer. Their land would vomit them forth. We know the sad sequel: they fell into sensual and cruel idol-worship; and God kept His word, as the captives of Assyria and Babylon attest. We have yet to trace the long and painful story of Israel’s sin and punishment: let us be thankful that we shall also have the privilege of turning over to a brighter leaf and dwelling on glowing prophetic songs of redemption, deliverance and salvation.

So much by way of general statement. If the inquiry be urged whether there is sufficient evidence to justify the sweeping statements made at the outset of this Note, the answer can only be in the affirmative, due allowance being made for the circumstantial character of the testimony. It is just as well that the proof should, in a sense, run between the lines. In fact, it is only when some adequate knowledge is possessed of the really obscene and blood-thirsty nature of idol-worship in Western Asia that the mind is prepared to feel the full force of allusions scattered throughout the Old Testament. Many, indeed, are the allegations against Israel for going unchastely after other gods; but even the needlessly coarse terms of our public versions (in speaking of it as “going a-whoring” after idols) have probably failed to suggest to the majority of even educated minds the awful and undoubted fact that such worship was accompanied by rites (to use the guarded language of the Oxford Gesenius) “sometimes involving actual prostitution.” Hence there would appear to be something like a moral necessity to lift a little the veil which hides from view the true character of the worship of the Baals, the Asherahs and the Ashtaroths of Canaan.

As to the worship of the local Baals it is attested that “it was debased by repulsive immorality.” Further, “when Israel entered Canaan the worship of the Baalim was everywhere present. As it was especially associated with agriculture, which the Israelites learned from the Canaanites, there was danger lest they should take over also the religious festivals connected with the various agricultural seasons, and thus succumb to the deadly fascination of the sensual nature-worship of the older inhabitants. That this actually happened we learn from the history."

As to the Asherahs, there is a doubt which does not in any way affect the main issue. The doubt is merely whether Asherah is the name of a distinct goddess, as well as the name of the “poles,” “stumps,” or “stems” which represented her; or whether the notorious “Ashtoreth” (Astarte) was herself worshipped under these obscene images. In any case the rites associated with the “Asherahs” were immoral.

The “Encyclopædia Britannica” unhesitatingly designates “Asherah” an impure goddess. But even if, as some think, the two names became confused, so that even when Asherah is named Astarte is ultimately intended, we have only to pass on and give a moment’s attention to the latter to reach the fearful conclusion already indicated.

As to Astarte then: “She must have been pre-eminently the goddess of sexual passion. By Greeks and Phœnicians alike she is habitually identified with ‘Aphrodite,’ and there are sufficiently definite allusions to the unchaste character of the rites with which she was worshipped.”

From the point of view thus obtained, the passages referred to below slowly unfold their terrible significance.

To complete, once for all, the needful reference to this painful and admonitory subject, the student has only to connect the worship of the Golden Calf (Exodus xxxii.) with the Egyptian worship of Apis, as briefly disclosed by the “Encyclopædia Britannica,” to apprehend why, on that occasion, the sedate Moses was driven frantic with consternation; and has only to conceive, in the light of the facts indicated in Numbers xxv. and in this Note, the real nature of the awful snare into which Israel fell at Baal-peor, to apprehend that instant excision alone could be trusted to prevent national extermination.

b Obscene they manifestly were, as the monumental figures of them plainly enough attest. How readily a “pollard” could be shaped to suggest a conjuction which virtuouse shame must ever hide, can well be imagined. And the smallest predominance given to the one or other element would be quite enough to account for the interchange in usage between the two forms asherim (masc.) and asheroth (fem.).

§ 1. Israel, only in part driving out the Canaanites, fall into their Idolatry.

Chapter 1.

1 And it came to pass, after the death of Joshua, that the sons of Israel asked of Yahweh, saying,—Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites, first, to make war upon them?

2 And Yahweh said—

||Judah|| shall go,—lo!" I have delivered the land into his power.

3 Then said Judah, unto Simeon his brother—Come up with me into the territory allotted me, and let us make war on the Canaanites, then will I also go with thee, into thy territory. So Simeon went with him. 4 And Judah went up, and Yahweh delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand,—and they smote them in Bezek, ten thousand men. 5 And they found Adoni-bezek in Bezek, and fought with him,—and smote the Canaanites and the Perizzites. 6 But Adoni-bezek fled, and they pursued him,—and took him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes. 7 Then said Adoni-bezek—||Seventy kings, with their thumbs and great toes cut off|| have been picking up crumbs under my table, <as I have done> ||so|| hath God required me.

And they brought him into Jerusalem, and he died there. 8 And the sons of Judah made war upon Jerusalem, and captured it, and smote it with the edge of the sword,—and <the city> they set on fire. 9 And ||afterwards|| the sons of Judah went down to make war upon the Canaanites,—dwelling in the hill country, and in the south, and in the lowland.

10 And Judah went against the Canaanites who were dwelling in Hebron, 6 now ||the name of Hebron, formerly|| was Kiriath-arba,—and they smote Sheshai and Ahiman, and Talmai. 11 And he went from thence, against the inhabitants of Debir,—now ||the name of Debr, formerly|| was Kiriath-sepher. d 12 And Caleb said, <He that smiteth Kiriath-sepher, and captureth it> I will give unto him Achsah my daughter, to wife.

13 Then Othniel, son of Kenaz, Caleb’s younger brother, captured it,—and he gave him Achsah his daughter, to wife. 14 And it came to pass <when she came> that she moved him to ask of her father a field, and, when she alighted from off the ass, Caleb said unto her—What aileth thee?

15 And she said unto him—Give me a present; for <south land> hast thou given me, give me therefore pools of water. So Caleb gave her Upper-pools, and Lower-pools. 8

16 Now ||the sons of the Kenite, father-in-law of Moses|| had come up from the city of palm-trees, b with the sons of Judah, into the wilderness of Judah, which is in the south of Arad,—so they went and dwelt with the people.

17 Then went Judah, with Simeon his brother, and they smote the Canaanites dwelling in Zephath,—and devoted it to destruction, and the name of the city was called Hormah. i

18 And Judah captured Gaza with the boundaries thereof, and Ashkelon, with the boundaries thereof,—and Ekron, with the boundaries thereof. 19 And it came to pass that Yahweh was with Judah, and he took possession of the hill country,—but did not dispossess the inhabitants of the vale, because they had ||chariots of iron||. 20 So they gave unto Caleb’ Hebron, ||as spake

Moses],—and he drave out from thence the three sons of Anak.a

But <the Jebusites dwelling in Jerusalem> the sons of Benjamin did not drive out,—but the Jebusites have dwelt with the sons of Benjamin, b in Jerusalem, unto this day.

Then went up the house of Joseph—||the name of the city, formerly|| was with them. 23 And the house of Joseph sent to spy out Bethel,—now ||the name of the city, formerly|| was Luz. 24 So the watchers saw a man, coming forth from the city,—and they said unto him—

Shew us, we pray thee, the way to get into the city, and we will deal with thee, in lovingkindness.

And he shewed them the way to get into the city, and they smote the city, with the edge of the sword,—but <the man and all his family> they let go. 26 And the man went into the land of the Hittites,—and built a city, and called the name thereof, Luz, ||that|| is the name thereof, unto this day.

But Manasseh took not possession of Beth-shean and her towns, nor of Taanach and her towns, nor dispossessed the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam, and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo, and her towns,—but the Canaanites were determined to remain in this land; 28 <when Israel, however, had waxed strong>d they put the Canaanites under tribute,—though they ||dispossessed|| them not.

And ||Ephraim|| dispossessed not the Canaanites who were dwelling in Gezer,—so the Canaanites remained in their midst, in Gezer.

||Zebulun|| dispossessed not the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol,—but the Canaanites remained in their midst, and came under tribute.

||Asher|| dispossessed not the inhabitants of Acco, nor the inhabitants of Zidon,—nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob; 32 but the Asherites dwelt in the midst of the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land,—for they dispossessed them not.

||Naphtali|| dispossessed not the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath, but they dwelt in the midst of the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land,—and ||[the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh, and of Beth-anath]|| became theirs, under tribute.

And the Amorites forced’ the sons of Dan into the hill country,—for they suffered them not to come down into the vale; 35 and <though the Amorites were determined to remain in the hill country of Heres, in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim> yet was the hand of the house of Joseph heavy, so that they came under tribute. 36 And ||the boundary of the Amorites|| was from the ascent of Akrabbim, from Sela and upwards.

Chapter 2.

And the messenger of Yahweh came up from Gilgal, unto Bochim. And he said—

I led you up out of Egypt, and brought you into the land, which I had sworn unto your fathers, And I said

I will not break my covenant with you, to times age-abiding;

But ||ye|| must not solemnise a covenant with the inhabitants of this land, ||<Their altars> must ye tear down,—

But ye have not hearkened unto my voice, what’ is this’ ye have done?e

Wherefore also’ I said,

I will not drive them out from before you,—but they shall be your’ adversaries, and ||[their gods]|| shall become unto you a snare.

And it came to pass, <when the messenger of Yahweh had spoken these words’ unto all the sons of Israel> that the people lifted up their voice, and wept. 5 So they called the name of that place, Bochim,f and offered sacrifice there, unto Yahweh.

Now <when Joshua had let the people go>g the sons of Israel went their way, every man to his inheritance, to take possession of the land. 7 And the people served Yahweh’ all the days of Joshua,—and all the days of the elders who outlivedh Joshua, who had seen all the great work of Yahweh’ which he had wrought for Israel. 8 So then Joshua, the son of Nun, the servant of Yahweh died’,—being a hundred and ten years old.

9 And they buried him within the bounds of his inheritance, in Timnath-heres, a in the hill country of Ephraim,—on the north of Mount Gaash. 10 ||All that generation also did gather unto their fathers,—and there arose another generation, after them, who had not known Yahweh, nor even the work which he had wrought for Israel. 11 So the sons of Israel did the thing that was wicked in the sight of Yahweh,—and served the Baals;
12 and forsook Yahweh, the God of their fathers, who brought them up out of the land of Egypt, and went after other gods, from among the gods of the peoples who were round about them, and bowed themselves down unto them,—and angered Yahweh. 13 Yea, they forsook Yahweh,—and did service unto the Baal and unto Ashtaroth. b 14 Then kindled the anger of Yahweh upon Israel, and he delivered them into the hand of spoilers, who plundered them,—and he sold them into the hand of their enemies round about, so that they could no longer stand before their enemies. 15 <Whithersoever they went out> the hand of Yahweh was found to be against them for misfortune, ||as spake Yahweh, and as swears Yahweh unto them||,—and they were distressed exceedingly. 16 And <though Yahweh raised up judges,—who saved them out of the hand of them that plundered them> 17 yet <even unto their judges> did they not hearken, for they went unchastely astray after other gods, and bowed themselves down to them,—they turned aside speedily out of the way wherein their fathers who hearkened unto the commandments of Yahweh, walked, [they did not so]. 18 And <when Yahweh raised them up judges> then was Yahweh with the judges, and saved them out of the hand of their enemies, all the days of the judge,—for Yahweh was grieved at their outcry, because of them who oppressed them, and ill-treated them. 19 But <when the judge was dead> they again broke faith more than their fathers, by going their way after other gods, by serving them, and bowing themselves down to them,—they ceased not from their doings nor from their stubborn way.

20 So then the anger of Yahweh kindled upon Israel, and he said—
<Forasmuch as this nation have transgressed my covenant, which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkened unto my voice> 21 ||I also|| will no further dispossess a man from before them,—from among the nations which Joshua left remaining, when he died; 22 that I may, by them, put Israel to the proof,—whether they are going to be observant of the way of Yahweh, to walk therein as their fathers observed it, or not’.
23 Thus then Yahweh left these nations, not dispensing them speedily,—neither had he delivered them into the hand of Joshua.

Chapter 3.

1 Now ||these|| are the nations which Yahweh left, that he might, by them, put Israel to the proof,—all who had not known’ any of the wars of Canaan;
2 that the generations of the sons of Israel might certainly get to know, by being taught to make war,—such, at least, as aforetime knew nothing thereof;—3 five lords of the Philistines, and all the Canaanites, and the Zidonians, and the Hivites dwelling in Mount Lebanon,—from Mount Baal-hermon as far as the entering in of Hamath. 4 So then [these] were [left], that, by them, he might put Israel to the proof,—to know whether they would hearken unto the commandments of Yahweh’ which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. 5 And thus ||the sons of Israel|| dwelt in the midst of the Canaanites,—the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites; 6 and took their daughters to be their’ wives, <their own daughters moreover> gave they unto their sons ||and they served their gods||.

§ 2. Israel, for their Idolatry falling under Chastisement, Judges are raised up to serve them.

[I. OTHNIEL.]

7 Thus did the sons of Israel the thing that was wicked in the sight of Yahweh, and forgot Yahweh their God,—and served the Baals and the Asherahs. Then kindled the anger of Yahweh upon Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Chushan-rishathaim, king of Mesopotamia,—and the sons of Israel served Chushan-rishathaim, eight years. And the sons of Israel made outcry unto Yahweh, so Yahweh raised up a saviour unto the sons of Israel, who saved them,—even Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb’s younger brother. And the Spirit of Yahweh came upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war, and Yahweh delivered into his hand, Chushan-rishathaim, king of Syria,—and his hand prevailed over Chushan-rishathaim. And the land had rest forty years,—and Othniel son of Kenaz [died].

[II. EHUD.]

12 And the sons of Israel again did the thing that was wicked in the sight of Yahweh,—and Yahweh emboldened Eglon, king of Moab, against Israel, because they did the thing that was wicked in the sight of Yahweh; and he gathered unto him, the sons of Ammon, and Amalek,—and came and smote Israel, and took possession of the city of palm-trees. So the sons of Israel served Eglon king of Moab, eighteen years.

15 And the sons of Israel made outcry unto Yahweh, and Yahweh raised up unto them a saviour, Ehud son of Gera, a Benjamite, a man left-handed,—and the sons of Israel sent, by his hand, a present, unto Eglon king of Moab.

16 So Ehud made himself a sword which had two edges, a cubit in length,—and girded it under his raiment, upon his right thigh. So he offered the present unto Eglon, king of Moab,—now Eglon was an exceedingly fat man. And so it was when he had made an end of offering the present that he sent away the people who had been bearing the present; but he himself turned back from the images that were by Gilgal, and said,

<A secret word> have I, unto thee, O king! And he said—Silence!

Thereupon went out from his presence all who had been standing near him. And Ehud came out unto him [he] having been sitting in a summer parlour, which he had for himself [alone], and Ehud said,

"<A divine word> have I, unto thee. So he arose from off his seat. And Ehud put forth his left hand, and took the sword from off his right thigh,—and thrust it into his body, and [the handle also] went in after the blade, and the flesh closed upon the blade, for he withdrew not the sword out of his body,—and he came out into the ante-chamber. And when Ehud came out into the porch he closed the doors of the parlour upon him, and bolted them. <When [he] had come out> his servants went in, and looked, and lo! the doors of the parlour were bolted,—so they said, Surely he covereth his feet, in the summer chamber.

But <though they tarried a long time> yet lo! he opened not the doors of the parlour,—so they took the key, and opened [them], when lo! [their lord], fallen to the ground dead. But [a servant] escaped while they delayed,—yea [he] passed the images, and escaped into Seirah.

And so it was <when he came> that he blew with a horn, throughout the hill country of Ephraim,—and the sons of Israel came down with him, out of the hill country, [he] being before them. And he said unto them—

Come down after me, for Yahweh hath delivered your enemies, the Moabites, into your hand.

So they came down after him, and captured the fords of the Jordan, towards Moab, and suffered not a man to pass over. And they smote of Moab, at that time, about ten thousand men, every one a mighty man, and every one a man of valour,—and there escaped not a man. And Moab was subdued on that day, under the hand of Israel. And the land had rest eighty years, and Ehud judged them until his death."

Chapter 4.

1 And the sons of Israel again did the thing that was wicked in the sight of Yahweh,—when [[Ehud]] was dead. 2 So Yahweh sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor,—now ||the prince of his host|| was Sisera, and [he] dwelt in Harosheth of the nations. 3 And the sons of Israel made outcry unto Yahweh,—for he had ||nine hundred chariots of iron|| and ||he|| oppressed the sons of Israel heavily, twenty years.

4 And <Deborah, a woman who was a prophetess, wife of Lapidoth ||[she]] was judging Israel, at that time: 5 she' used to sit, therefore, under the palm-tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Bethel, in the hill country of Ephraim,—and the sons of Israel came up to her, for justice. 6 And she sent and called for Barak son of Abinoam, out of Kadesh-naphtali,—and said unto him—

Hath not Yahweh God of Israel, commanded,—

Come and draw towards Mount Tabor, and bring with thee—ten thousand men, of the sons of Naphtali, and of the sons of Zebulun; 7 and I will draw unto thee, unto the torrent○ of Kishon, Sisera, prince of the host of Jabin, with his chariots, and with his multitude,—and will deliver him into thy hand?○

8 And Barak said unto her, <If thou wilt go with me> then will I go—but <if thou wilt not go with me> I will not go.

9 And she said—

I will [[go]] with thee; [only] it shall not be [[thine own honour]] that shall arise from the journey which thou art about to take, for <into the hand of a woman> will Yahweh sell Sisera.

So Deborah arose, and went with Barak, towards Kadesh. 10 And Barak called together Zebulun and Naphtali, towards Kadesh, and there went up at his feet—ten thousand men,—and Deborah ||went up with him]]. 11 Now ||Heber the Kenite|| had separated himself from the Kenites, even from the sons of Hobab, father-in-law of Moses, and moved his tent as far as the oak○ of Zaanan, which is near Kadesh.

12 And they told Sisera that Barak, son of Abinoam, had gone up to Mount Tabor.

13 So Sisera called together all his chariots—||nine hundred chariots of iron||, and all the people that were with him,—from Harosheth of the nations, unto the torrent○ of Kishon. 14 Then said Deborah unto Barak—

Up! for ||this|| is the day on which Yahweh hath delivered○ Sisera into thy hand, hath not ||Yahweh|| gone forth before thee?

So Barak went down from Mount Tabor, with ten thousand men after him. 15 And Yahweh put to flight Sisera and all the chariots and all the host, with the edge of the sword, before Barak,—so Sisera alighted from his chariot, and fled on foot. 16 Now ||[Barak]|| pursued the chariots, and the host, as far as Harosheth of the nations,—and all the host of Sisera fell by the edge of the sword, ||there was not left so much as one||. 17 Now ||[Sisera]|| had fled on foot, unto the tent of Jael, wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin, king of Hazor, and the house of Heber the Kenite. 18 And Jael went out to meet Sisera, and said unto him:

Turn aside, my lord, turn aside with me, do not fear.

So he turned aside with her into the tent, and she threw over him a coverlet. 19 And he said unto her—

Let me drink, I pray thee, a little water, for I am thirsty.

So she opened the bottle of milk, and gave him to drink, and spread over him the coverlet. 20 And he said unto her,

Stand at the entrance of the tent,—and it shall be <if any' man come and ask thee and say—that thou shalt say, There is not○.

Is' there here a man?>

22 And lo! Barak—in pursuit of Sisera! So Jael went forth to meet him, and said unto him, Come and let me shew thee—the man whom thou’ art seeking.

23 Thus God subdued, on that day, Jabin king of Canaan,—before the sons of Israel.
24 And the hand of the sons of Israel went on, waxing more and more heavy upon Jabin king of Canaan,— until they had cut off Jabin king of Canaan.

Chapter 6.

1 And the sons of Israel did the thing that was wicked, in the sight of Yahweh,—so Yahweh delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years; ass; 5 for [they’ with their cattle] used to come up, with their tents—yea they used to come like locusts, for multitude, [both they and their cattle] were without’ number,—so they came into the land, to lay it waste. 6 Thus was Israel greatly impoverished, because of Midian,—and the sons of Israel made outcry unto Yahweh.

And it came to pass <when the sons of Israel cried unto Yahweh,—on account of Midian> then sent Yahweh a prophet unto the sons of Israel,—who said unto them—[Thus] saith Yahweh, God of Israel, [I] will be with you, and brought you forth out of Egypt,

Yea I rescued you out of the hand of Egypt, And out of the hand of all who oppressed you,— That I might drive them out from before you, And I gave unto you their land;

Yea and I said to you,— [I] am your God, Ye must not fear the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye’ are about to dwell,— But ye have not hearkened unto my voice.

Then came the messenger of Yahweh, and sat down under the oak which was in Ophrah, which belonged to Joash, the Abiezrite; and [Gideon his son] was beating out wheat’ in the winepress, to escape the notice of the Midianites; 12 so the messenger of Yahweh appeared unto him,—and said unto him, [Yahweh] is with thee, thou mighty man of valour!

And Gideon said unto him—
Pardon, my lord! [If] Yahweh be’ with us> then wherefore’ hath all this’ befallen us? and where are all his wonders, which our fathers have recounted to us—saying—
Was it not <out of Egypt> that Yahweh brought us up?
But [now] hath Yahweh abandoned’ us, and delivered us into the hand of Midian.

And Yahweh [turned unto him] and said—

Go in this thy might, 6 and thou shalt save Israel, out of the hand of Midian,—have I not sent thee?

And he said unto him—
Pardon, O my Lord! [How] shall I save Israel? Lo! [my thousand] is the poorest in Manasseh, and [I] am the youngest in the house of my father.

And Yahweh said unto him—
I will be 6 with thee,—so shalt thou smite the Midianites, as one man.

And he said unto him,
<If, I beseech thee, I have found favour in thine eyes> then wilt thou work for me a sign, that it is [thou] who art speaking with me.

Do not, I beseech thee, withdraw from hence, until I come unto thee, and bring forth my present, and set it before thee.

And he said: [I] will tarry until thou return.

So [Gideon] went in, and made ready a kid of the goats, and <of an ephah of meal>, unleavened cakes, <the flesh> he put in a basket, and <the broth> he put in a pot,—and brought them forth unto him, under the oak, and presented them. 20 And the messenger of God said’ unto him—

Take the flesh and the cakes, and set them on this crag, and <the broth> do thou pour out.
And he did so. 21 Then the messenger of Yahweh put forth the end of the staff, that was in his hand, and touched the flesh, and the cakes,—and there came up fire’ out of the rock, and consumed the flesh, and the cakes, and [the messenger of Yahweh] had departed out of his sight. 22 Then saw Gideon that <the messenger of Yahweh> it was’,—so Gideon said—

Alas, My Lord Yahweh! forasmuch’ as I have seen the messenger of Yahweh’ [face to face]!

And Yahweh said unto him—

Peace be unto thee! Do not fear,—thou shalt not die.

So Gideon built there an altar unto Yahweh, and called it, [Yahweh-shâlôm]. 23 <Unto this day> it remaineth, in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

And it came to pass, on that night, that Yahweh said unto him—

Take the young bullock that belongeth to thy father, even the second bullock of seven years,—and throw thou down the altar of Baal, that belongeth to thy father, and <the sacred stem that is by it> shalt thou cut down.

Then shalt thou build an altar, unto Yahweh thy God, on the top of this fort, with the pile,—and shalt take the second bullock, and cause it to go up as an ascending-sacrifice, with the wood of the sacred stem which thou shalt cut down.

So Gideon took ten men from among his servants, and did as Yahweh had spoken unto him,—and so it was that <as he too much feared the house of his father, and the men of the city, to do it by day> he did it by night. And the men of the city rose up early in the morning, and lo! the altar of Baal [had been overthrown], and [the sacred stem that was by it] had been cut down, and the second bullock had been caused to ascend upon the altar that had been built. So they said, one to another, Who hath done this thing? And they inquired, and made search, and it was said, ||Gideon son of Joash|| hath done this thing.

So the men of the city said unto Joash, Bring forth thy son, that he may die,—because he hath overthrown the altar of Baal, and because he hath cut down the sacred stem that was by it.

And Joash said unto all who stood by him—Will ||ye|| plead for Baal, or will ||ye|| save him? ||Whoso pleadeth for him|| let him be put to death while it is yet morning,—<if ||a god|| he be> let him plead for himself, because one hath overthrown his altar.

So he was called on that day, Jerub-baal, saying,—Let Baal [plead against him]. Because he had overthrown his altar.

Now ||all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the sons of the east|| were gathered together,—and they crossed over and pitched in the vale of Jezreel. But ||the spirit of Yahweh|| clothed Gideon,—so he blew with a horn, and Abiezer was gathered after him.

MESSengers also> sent he throughout all Manasseh, and ||they also|| were gathered after him,—<messengers also> sent he throughout Asher, and throughout Zebulun, and throughout Naphtali, and they came up to meet them.

And Gideon said unto God,—<If thou art> about to bring salvation, by my hand, unto Israel, as thou hast spoken> lo! I am placing a woollen fleece, on the threshing-floor,—<if ||dew|| be on the fleece alone> and ||on all the ground|| it be dry> then shall I know that thou wilt bring salvation, by my hand, unto Israel, ||as thou hast spoken||.

||And it was so|| and he rose up early, on the morrow, and pressed together the fleece,—and wrung out the dew from the fleece, a small bowl full of water. Then said Gideon unto God, Let not thine anger kindle upon me, but let me speak, ||only this once||,—Let me, I pray thee, put to the proof ||only this once|| with the fleece, I pray thee, let it be dry on the fleece alone', while <on all the ground> there be dew'.

And God did so on that night,—and it was dry on the fleece alone', while <on all the ground> there was dew'.

Chapter 7.

Then Jerubbaal, ||the same|| is Gideon, and all the people that were with him, rose up early, and encamped by the fountain of Harod,—and ||the camp of Midian|| was on the north of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the vale. And Yahweh said unto Gideon, <Too many> are the people that are with thee, for me to deliver the Midianites into their hand,—lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying, ||Mine own hand|| hath saved me.

||Now|| therefore, proclaim, I pray thee, in the ears of the people, saying, ||Whoso feareth and trembleth||—let him turn and go hack from Mount Gilead. And there returned of the people twenty-two thousand, and ||ten thousand|| remained. Then said Yahweh unto Gideon—

And he took down the people unto the waters,—and Yahweh said unto Gideon—

"By the three hundred men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thy hand; and let all [the rest of] the people go every man to his own place."

So the people took provisions in their hand and the hundred men that were with him, unto the outermost part of the camp, and all who were with me shall go with thee. Then said Gideon unto him, Arise! go down against the camp,—for I have delivered it into thy hand.

Or "if thou art afraid' to go down' go down—

||[he' and Purah thy young man]| unto the camp; 11 so shalt thou hear what they shall say,—and <afterward> shall thy hands grow strong, and thou shalt go down against the camp.

Then went he down, ||[he' and Purah his young man]| unto the outmost part of the armed men that were in the camp. 12 Now ||[the Midianites and the Amalekites and all the sons of the east]| were lying along in the vale, ||[like locusts for multitude]|—||[their camels also]| were without’ number, ||[as the sand that is by the sea side, for multitude]||. 13 And

Gideon came in, and lo! a man relating to his neighbour' a dream,—and he said—

Lo!  have I dreamt, and lo! a round cake of barley bread tumbling into the camp of Midian, and it came as far as the tent—and smote it that it fell, and turned it upside down, and the tent lay along.

Then responded his neighbour and said:—

<Nothing else> is this, than the sword of Gideon son of Joash, a man of Israel,—God hath delivered' into his hand, both Midian and all the host.

And it was so <when Gideon heard' the story of the dream, and the interpretation thereof> that he bowed himself down,—and returned unto the camp of Israel, and said—

Arise! for Yahweh hath delivered into your hand the host of Midian.

And he divided the three hundred men into three companies,—and put horns into the hands of them all, with empty pitchers, and torches inside the pitchers. 17 Then he said unto them,

"On me shall ye look, and <in like manner> shall ye do,—and lo! <when I’ am coming unto the outermost part of the camp> then shall it be, that <as I’ do> ||[so]| shall ye’ do. 18 <When I shall blow with the horn, ||[I and all who are with me]| then shall ||[ye also, round about all the camp]| blow with your horns, and shall say, 19 For Yahweh and for Gideon!"

So Gideon came, and the hundred men that were with him, unto the outermost part of the camp, at the beginning of the middle watch, they had but ||[newly set]| the watchers,—and they blew with the horns, and brake in pieces the pitchers, that were in their hand. 20 Yea the three companies blew with the horns, and shivered the pitchers, and caught hold—with their left hands—of the torches, while <in their right hands> were the horns, to blow with,—and they cried,

A sword for Yahweh, and for Gideon!

And they stood still, every man in his place, round about the camp,—and all the host ran’ and shouted, and fled. 22 When the three hundred blew the horns, Yahweh set the sword of every man, against his neighbour, and against all the host,—and the host fled, as far as the Place of Acacias, towards Zererah, as far as the border of Abel-meholah, a by Tabbath.

23 And the men of Israel were called together, out of Naphtali and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh,—and pursued Midian. 24 And <messengers> did Gideon send through all the hill country of Ephraim, saying—

Go down to meet Midian, and capture, before them, the waters, as far as Beth-barah, and the Jordan.

So all the men of Ephraim were called out, and captured the waters, as far as Beth-barah, and the Jordan. 25 And they captured the two princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb, and slew Oreb at Oreb's Rock, and <Zeeb> they slew at Zeeb's Winepress, and pursued Midian,—and <the heads of Oreb and Zeeb> brought they in unto Gideon at the ford of the Jordan.

Chapter 8.

1 And the men of Ephraim said unto him—

What is this thing thou hast done to us, in not calling us, when thou wentest to fight with Midian?

And they did chide with him, sharply. 2 And he said unto them,

What have I done ||now|| in comparison with you?

Is not the grape-gleaning of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer?

3 <Into your hand> hath God delivered the princes of Midian—Oreb and Zeeb, what then had I been able to do in comparison with you? ||Then|| was their spirit softened toward him, when he had spoken this word.

4 And Gideon came towards the Jordan, being about to pass over—[he] and the three hundred men who were with him, [faint yet pursuing].

5 So he said unto the men of Succoth,

Give, I pray you, loaves of bread to the people that are following me;" for <faint> they are", and ||I|| am in pursuit of Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.

6 And the princes of Succoth said,

Are the palms of the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in thy power,—that we should give to thine army bread?

7 And Gideon said,

Therefore<when Yahweh hath delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into my power> then will I tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness, and with the nettles.

8 So he went up from thence, to Penuel, and spake unto them' in like manner,—and the men of Penuel answered him, as had answered the men of Succoth. 9 So he spake to the men of Penuel also', saying,—

<When I return with success> I will break down this tower.

10 Now ||Zebah and Zalmunna|| were in Karkor, and their hosts with them, ||about fifteen thousand, all that were left' out of all the host of the sons of the east,—and ||the fallen|| were a hundred and twenty thousand men, who had drawn the sword. 11 So Gideon went up by the way of the tent-dwellers, on the east of Nobah and Jogbehah, and smote the host, when ||the host|| had become secure. 12 And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, then he pursued them, and captured the two kings of Midian—Zebah and Zalmunna, and <all the host> put he in terror.

13 And Gideon son of Joash returned from the battle,—from the ascent of Heres; 14 and caught a young man, of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him,—so he wrote down for him the princes of Succoth, and the elders thereof, seventy-seven men. 15 Then came he in unto the men of Succoth, and said,

Lo! Zebah and Zalmunna,—concerning whom ye did taunt me, saying—

Are the palms of the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in thy power, that we should give to thy weary men bread?

16 So he took the elders of the city, and the thorns of the wilderness and the nettles, and taught therewith the men of Succoth: 17 <the tower of Penuel also> brake he down,—and slew the men of the city.

18 Then said he unto Zebah and unto Zalmunna,

What manner of men were they, whom ye slew at Tabor?

And they said,

||As thou art|| so were they', [each one] as handsome as the sons of a king.

19 And he said:

Or: "soles (of the feet)."

Then said the men of Israel to Gideon, “Up! slay them.”

And Gideon said unto them, “Up! I will fall upon them, and it shall be as the Lord hath spoken unto me.”

And Gideon said unto them, “I will go with you; howbeit, I will not rule over you; neither shall my son rule over you: is it not so, Yahweh? I will bring it to pass by the heart of all his people.”

Then said the men of Israel unto Gideon, “Rule over us—[even thou, and thy son, and thy son’s son],—for thou hast saved us out of the power of Midian.”

And Gideon said unto them, “I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you;—[Yahweh] shall rule over you.

And Gideon said unto them, “I would make to you a request, Give me, then, every man the nose-ring of his spoil. For they had [nose-rings of gold] for <Ishmaelites> they were’. And they said, We will [freely give].

So they spread out a mantle, and cast therein, every man the nose-ring of his spoil. And so it was, that the weight of the nose-rings of gold which he requested, was a thousand and seven hundred [shekels] of gold, besides’ the crescents, and the pendants, and the raiment of purple that were upon the kings of Midian, and besides’ the ornaments that were on the necks of their camels. And Gideon made thereof an Ephod, and set it up in his own city, in Ophrah, and all Israel went unchastely astray after it there,—so it became, to Gideon and to his house, a snare.

Thus was Midian subdued, before the sons of Israel, neither did they again lift up their head,—and the land had rest forty years, in the days of Gideon.

So then Jerubbaal, son of Joash, went and dwelt in his own house. And [Gideon] had seventy sons, sprung from his own loins,—for <many wives> had he. And <his concubine who was in Shechem> [she also] bare him a son,—and he gave him the name of Abimelech. And Gideon, son of Joash, died’ in a good old age,—and was buried in the grave of Joash his father, in Ophrah, of the Abiezrites.

And it came to pass that <as soon as Gideon was dead> the sons of Israel turned back, and went unchastely astray after the Baals,—and appointed them Baal-berith, to be god. so the sons of Israel remembered not Yahweh, their own God,—who had rescued them out of the hand of all their enemies, on every side; neither dealt they in lovingkindness with the house of Jerubbaal [namely] Gideon,—[according to all the goodness wherewith he had dealt with Israel].

[VI. ABIMELECH.]

Chapter 9.

1 Then went Abimelech son of Jerubbaal, to Shechem, unto the brethren of his mother,—and spake unto them, and unto all the family of the house of his mother’s father, saying;

Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the owners of Shechem—

Which is better for you, that there should rule over you, seventy men, all sons of Jerubbaal, or that there should rule over you, one’ man?

And remember that <your bone and your flesh> am I’.

3 So the brethren of his mother spake for him, in the ears of all the owners of Shechem, all these words,—and their heart inclined after Abimelech, for they said—<Our own brother> is he’.

4 So they gave him seventy pieces of silver, out of the house of Baal-berith,—and Abimelech hired therewith, loose and unstable men, and they followed him. And he entered the house of his father, at Ophrah, and slew his brethren, sons of Jerubbaal [seventy men, upon one stone],—but there remained Jotham, the youngest son of Jerubbaal, for he had hidden himself. Then were gathered together all the owners of Shechem, and all the house of Millo, and they went and made Abimelech king,—by the oak of the pillar, that was in Shechem. And <when it was told Joatham> went and stood on the top of Mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice, and cried aloud,—and said unto them—

Hearken unto me, ye owners of Shechem, and may God’ [hearken unto you].

8 The trees [went their way][†] to anoint over them, a king,—and they said unto the olive tree—Reign thou over us.

9 But the olive tree said unto them,
Should I leave my fatness, which <in me> gods and men do honour,—and go to wave to and fro, over the trees?

10 Then said the trees unto the fig-tree,—
Come! [[t]h]ou reign over us.

11 But the fig-tree said’ unto them,
Should I leave my sweetness, and mine excellent increase,—and go to wave to and fro, over the trees?

12 Then said the trees unto the vine,—
Come! [[t]h]ou reign over us.

13 But the vine’ said unto them,
Should I leave my new wine, that rejoiceth gods and men,—and go to wave to and fro, over the trees?

14 Then said all the trees unto the bramble,—
Come [[t]h]ou to reign over us.

15 And the bramble said unto the trees,
<If [in truth] ye are about to anoint me to be king over you> come, take refuge in my shade,—but <if not> there shall come forth fire out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon.

16 [[Now]] therefore, <if <in truth and sincerity> ye have acted, in making Abimelech king,—and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal and with his house, and if <according to the deserving of his hands> ye have done unto him;> in that my father fought’ for you, and cast his soul away from before him, and rescued you’ out of the hand of Midian;—

yet have [ye] risen up against the house of my father, to-day, and slain his sons—[seventy men, upon one stone],—and made Abimelech, son of his maidservant, king over the owners of Shechem, because he is [your brother]; if then <in truth and in sincerity> ye have dealt with Jerubbaal and with his house, this day≥ rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let [[him also]] rejoice in you; 20 but <if not> let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the owners of Shechem, and the house of Millo,—and let fire come out from the owners of Shechem, and from the house of Millo, and devour Abimelech!

21 And Jotham hasted away, and fled, and went to Beer,—and dwelt there, away from the face of Abimelech his brother.

22 And Abimelech ruled over Israel three years.

23 Then God let go a spirit of mischief between Abimelech and the owners of Shechem,—and the owners of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech: 24 that the cruel wrong to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal might come [upon them],—and that their blood might be laid upon Abimelech their brother, who slew them, and upon the owners of Shechem who strengthened his hands, to slay his brethren. 25 So the owners of Shechem set for him liers in wait, upon the tops of the mountains, and they robbed all who crossed over them by the road,—and it was told Abimelech.

26 And Gaal son of Ebed, came, with his brethren, and they passed through to Shechem,—and the owners of Shechem put their trust in him. 27 Then went they out into the fields, and gathered the fruit of their vineyards and trode [the grapes], and held a vintage festival,—and entered the house of their god, and did eat and drink, and poured contempt on Abimelech.

28 And Gaal son of Ebed said:
Who is Abimelech—and who is the son of Shechem, that we should serve him?
Is he not the son of Jerubbaal? and Zebul his officer? Serve ye the men of Hamor, Shechem’s father, but why should [we] serve him?

29 Would, then, this people were in my hand! that I might set aside Abimelech,—and say to Abimelech, Increase thine army, and come out!

30 And <when Zubul, governor of the city, heard’ the words of Gaal the son of Ebed>, then was kindled his anger. 31 And he sent messengers unto Abimelech, by deceit, saying,—

Lo! ||Gaal son of Ebed, and his brethren|| are coming into Shechem; and lo! are fortifying the city against thee.

32 ||Now|| therefore, up by night, ||thou and the people that are with thee|| and lie in wait in the field; 33 and it shall be <in the morning, about sunrise> thou shalt get up early, and spread thyself out against the city,—when lo! he and the people that are with him’ come out against thee, so shalt thou do unto him as thy hand shall find opportunity.

34 So Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him, by night,—and they lay in wait above Shechem, in four companies. 35 Then came forth Gaal son of Ebed, and took his stand at the opening of the gate of the city,—so Abimelech rose up, and the people that were with him, from the place of ambush. 36 And <when Gaal saw the people> he said unto Zebul, Lo! people coming down from the tops of the mountains.

And Zebul said unto him, <The shadow of the mountains> thou’ seest, like men. 37 Then did Gaal yet further’ speak, and say—Lo! people coming down from the highest part of the land,—and one’ company, coming in by way of the Conjurers’ Terebinth.

38 So then Zebul said unto him—||Where, then||, is thy mouth that kept on saying, Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him? Is not [this] the people which thou didst despise? Go forth, I pray thee ||now||, and fight with them!

39 And Gaal went forth before the owners of Shechem,—and fought against Abimelech. 40 And Abimelech chased him, and he fled before him,—and there fell a multitude of slain as far as the entering of the gate. 41 Then dwelt Abimelech in Arumah,—and Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren, that they should not dwell in Shechem.

42 And it came to pass <on the morrow> that the people went forth into the field,—and they told Abimelech. 43 So he took the people and divided them into three companies, and lay in wait in the field,—and he looked, and lo! the people coming forth out of the city, so he rose up against them, and smote them. 44 And ||Abimelech, and the companies that were with him|| spread themselves out, and [one of the companies] took their stand at the opening of the gate of the city,—while ||the two companies|| spread themselves out against all that were in the field, and smote them. 45 And ||Abimelech|| fought against the city, all that day, and captured the city, <the people also that were therein> he slew,—and brake down the city, and sowed it with salt.

46 And <when all the owners of the tower of Shechem heard> they entered into the basement of the house of El-berith. 47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the owners of the tower of Shechem had gathered themselves together. 48 So Abimelech went up Mount Zalmon ||he and all the people that were with him||, and Abimelech took an axe in his hand, and cut down a bough from the trees, 49 and lifted it, and laid it on his shoulder,—and said unto the people that were with him—<What ye have seen me do> haste! do likewise.

49 So, even all’ the people cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and laid them over the basement, and set it on fire over them who were therein,—even all’ the men of the tower of Shechem died, about a thousand men and women.

50 Then went Abimelech unto Thebez,—and encamped against Thebez, and captured it. 51 Now ||a strong tower|| was in the midst of the city, and there fled thither all the men and the women, and all the owners of the city, and shut themselves in,—and went up on the roof of the tower. 52 And Abimelech came in as far as the tower, and fought against it,—and so came near, as far as the entrance of the tower, to burn it with fire. 53 And a certain woman cast an upper millstone upon the head of Abimelech,—and brake in pieces his skull.

54 Then called he hastily unto the young man bearing his armour, and said unto him—

Draw thy sword, and put me to death, lest they say of me, ||A woman|| slew him!

And there arose, after Abimelech, Tola son of Puah son of Dodo, a man of Issachar; and he judged Israel twenty-two years.

And there arose, after him, Jair the Gileadite, and he judged Israel twenty-three years; and he died, and was buried in Shamir.

And the sons of Israel again did wickedness in the sight of Yahweh, and served the Baals and the Ashtoreths, and the gods of Syria, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the sons of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines; and forsook Yahweh, and served him not. So the anger of Yahweh kindled upon Israel,—and he sold them into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the sons of Ammon; and they enfeebled and oppressed the sons of Israel in that year,—eighteen years; did they this unto all the sons of Israel who were beyond the Jordan, in the land of the Amorites, that was in Gilead.

And the sons of Ammon crossed the Jordan, to fight against Judah and against Benjamin, and against the house of Ephraim,—so that Israel was sore distressed.

Then did the sons of Israel make outcry unto Yahweh, saying,—We have sinned against thee, because we have forsaken our God, and have served the Baals.

And the sons of Israel said unto Yahweh,—Was it not <from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites, and from the sons of Ammon, and from the Philistines> [that I saved you]?

Yet have ye forsaken me, and served other gods,—therefore will I not again save you.

Go and make outcry unto the gods whom ye have chosen,—they must save you, in the time of your tribulation.

And the sons of Israel said unto Yahweh,—We have sinned, do thou with us, according to all that is fitting in thine eyes,—only rescue us, we beseech thee this day.

And they put away the gods of the stranger out of their midst, and served Yahweh,—and his soul was impatient of the misery of Israel.

Now the sons of Ammon were called out, and they encamped in Gilead,—and the sons of Israel assembled themselves together, and encamped in Mizpah. Then said the people, the princes of Gilead, one to another,

Who is the man that will begin to fight against the sons of Ammon? he shall become head to all the inhabitants of Gilead.

Chapter 11.

Now Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valour, but he was the son of an unchaste woman,—yet Gilead was the father of Jephthah.

And the wife of Gilead bare him sons,—and <when the wife’s sons grew up> they thrust out Jephthah, and said unto him—

Thou shalt not inherit with the house of our father, for <son of an alien woman> art thou’.

So Jephthah fled from the face of his brethren, and dwelt in the land of Tob,—and there gathered about Jephthah unemployed men, who went forth with him.  And so it came to pass, after a time,—that the sons of Ammon made war with Israel.  <When, therefore, it came to pass that the sons of Ammon made war with Israel> then went the elders of Gilead, to summon Jephthah out of the land of Tob.  And they said to Jephthah, Oh! come and be our’ commander,—that we may do battle’ with the sons of Ammon.

But Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, Have not [yet] hated me, and thrust me out from the house of my father? Wherefore, then, are ye come unto me ||now|| when ye are in distress?

And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah— ||Therefore|| have we ||now|| returned unto thee, that <if thou go with us, and do battle with the sons of Ammon> then shalt thou become our’ head, for all the inhabitants of Gilead.

And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead— <If ye’ do bring me back to do battle with the sons of Ammon, and Yahweh deliver’ them up before me> shall ||I myself|| become your’ head?

And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah— ||[Yahweh himself]|| will be hearkeningb between us, if <according to thy word> ||[so]|| we do not.

Then went Jephthah with’ the elders of Gilead, and the people set him over them, as head and commander,—and Jephthah spake all his words before Yahweh, in Mizpah.

So then Jephthah sent messengers’ unto the king of the sons of Ammon, saying,—

What occasion is there between us,4 that thou shouldst have come unto me, to fight against my land?

And the king of the sons of Ammon said unto the messengers of Jephthah—

Because Israel took away my land, when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even unto the Jabbok, and unto the Jordan,—||now|| therefore, restore them in peace.

And Jephthah yet once more’ sent messengers’ unto the king of the sons of Ammon; 15 and saide unto him, ||Thus|| saith Jephthah,—

Israel took not away the land of Moab, or the land of the sons of Ammon; 16 for <when they came up out of Egypt, and Israel journeyed through the desert as far as the Red Sea, and came in unto Kadesh> 17 then did Israel send messengers unto the king of Edom, saying—

Let me’ pass, I pray thee, through thy land, but the king of Edom hearkened not, <unto the king of Moab also> sent they, but he would not consent,—so Israel abode in Kadesh. 18 Then journeyed they through the desert, and went round the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and so came [from the rising of the sun] to the land of Moab, but encamped beyond Arnon,—and entered not within the boundary of Moab, for ||[Arnon]|| is the boundary of Moab. 19 Then did Israel send messengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon,—and Israel said unto him, Let us8 pass, we pray thee, through thy land as far as my own place.

But Sihon trusted not Israel, to pass through his boundary, so Sihon gathered together all his people, and encamped in Jahaz,—and fought against Israel. 21 Then did Yahweh, God of Israel, deliver up Sihon, and all his people, into the hand of Israel, and they smote them,—so Israel took possession of all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that land. 22 Yea they took possession of all the territory of the Amorites,—from Arnon, even as far as the Jabbok, and from the desert, even as far as the Jordan.

||Now|| therefore, it was ||[Yahweh God of Israel]|| that dispossessed the Amorites from before his people Israel,—and shalt ||[thou]|| possess it? 24 <What Chemosh thy god giveth’ thee to possess ||[that]|| wilt thou not possess? and <whatsoever Yahweh our God

Let Yahweh, the Judge, give judgment\' to-day, between the sons of Israel, and the sons of Ammon!

28 But the king of the sons of Ammon hearkened not\' unto the words of Jephthah, which he sent unto him.

Let this\' thing \[be done for me\],—

Let me alone two months, that I may depart, and go down\text{d} upon the mountains, and bewail my virginity, |||I\' and my companions\|.

38 And he said—

Depart. So he let her go, for two months,—and she departed, |||she and her companions\|, and bewailed her virginity, upon the mountains. 39 And it came to pass, at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, and he fulfilled on her his vow\' which he had vowed,—|||she\| not having known man\|]. 4 And Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim,—and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said—

<Fourtives of Ephraim> are ||ye||, O ye Gileadites, in the midst of Ephraim, in the midst of Manasseh.

5 And the Gileadites captured the fords of the Jordan, against the Ephraimites,—and so it was, that <when the fugitives of Ephraim said, Let me pass over> the men of Gilead said to him, <An Ephraimites> art thou? and <if he said— Nay!> they said to him,

Come now, say Shibboleth, and <if he said Sibboleth, and he could not take heed> to speak in that manner> then laid they hold on him, and slew him at the fords of the Jordan,—and there fell ||at that time|| of the Ephraimites, forty-two thousand.

6 And <when Jephthah had judged> Israel six years> then Jephthah the Gileadite died, and was buried in [one of] the cities of Gilead.

[XII. ABDÔN.]

13 And there judged Israel, after him, Abdôn son of Hillel, the Pirathonite. 14 And so it was, he had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy ass colts,—and he judged Israel eight years. 15 And Abdôn son of Hillel, the Pirathonite died,—and was buried in Pirathon, in the land of Ephraim, in the hill country of the Amalekites.

Chapter 13.

1 And the sons of Israel again’ did the thing that was wicked in the sight of Yahweh,—so Yahweh delivered them up into the hand of the Philistines, forty years.

2 And there was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danites, and ||his name|| was Manoah; and ||his wife|| was barren, and had borne no child. 3 And the messenger of Yahweh appeared unto the woman,—and said unto her— Lo! I pray thee, ||thou|| art barren, and hast borne no child, but thou shalt conceive, and shalt bear a son. 4 ||Now|| therefore, beware, I pray thee, and do not drink wine or strong drink,—nor eat anything unclean; 5 for lo! ||thou|| art about to conceive and bear a son, and no ||razor|| shall come on his head, for <one separate unto God> shall begin to save Israel out of the hand of the Philistines. 6 So the woman came in, and told her husband, saying,

||A man of God|| came unto me, and ||his appearance|| was as the appearance of the messenger of God, reverend exceedingly,—and I asked him not whence he was, and ||his name|| he told me not. 7 But he said unto me, Lo! thou art about to conceive, and bear a son,—||now|| therefore, do not drink wine or strong drink, nor eat anything unclean, for <one separate unto God> shall begin to save Israel out of the hand of the Philistines. 8 Then Manoah made entreaty unto Yahweh, and said:

Pardon, O My Lord! <the man of God whom thou didst send> I pray thee, let him come again unto us, that he may teach us what we are to do, unto the boy that is to be born.

And God hearkened unto the voice of Manoah,—and the messenger of God came again unto the woman, as [she] was sitting in the field, [Manoah her husband] not being with her. So the woman made haste, and ran, and told her husband,—and said unto him, Lo! the man hath appeared unto me], who came the other day unto me.

Then Manoah arose, and followed his wife,—and came unto the man, and said unto him—

Art thou the man that spake unto the wife? And he said—

I am'.

And Manoah said,

[Now] let thy words come to pass,—

What shall be the rule for the boy, and his work?c

And the messenger of Yahweh said unto Manoah,—

<Of all that I said unto the woman> let her beware.

<Of nothing that cometh of the vine> may she eat, <nor wine nor strong drink> let her drink, nor <anything unclean> let her eat,—<all that I commanded her> let her observe.

And Manoah said unto the messenger of Yahweh,—

I pray thee, let us detain thee, that we may make ready for thy presence, a kid.

But the messenger of Yahweh said unto Manoah—

<Though thou detain me> yet will I not eat of thy food, and <though thou make ready an ascending-sacrifice> unto Yahweh] must thou cause it to ascend. For Manoah had not discerned that <the angel of Yahweh> he was'. Then said Manoah unto the messenger of Yahweh,

What is thy name,—that <when thy word cometh to pass> we may do thee honour?

And the messenger of Yahweh said unto him, Wherefore' is it, that thou shouldst ask after my name,—seeing that [it] is Wonderful?

And Manoah took the kid, and the meal-offering, and caused them to ascend upon the rock unto Yahweh, who was about to do [wondrously], [while Manoah and his wife were looking on]. And it came to pass [when the flame ascended from off the altar, towards the heavens] that the messenger of Yahweh ascended in the flame of the altar,—[while Manoah' and his wife' were looking on]. Then fell they on their faces, to the earth. And the messenger of Yahweh did no more' appear unto Manoah or unto his wife. [Then] Manoah knew that <the messenger of Yahweh> he was'. And Manoah said unto his wife,

We shall [die],—for <upon God>d have we looked.

But his wife said unto him,

<If Yahweh had been pleased to put us to death> he would not have received at our hand, an ascending-sacrifice and a meal-offering, nor would he have shewed us all these things,—and <at such a time>e have let us hear the like of this!

So the woman bare a son, and called his name Samson,f—and the boy grew, and Yahweh blessed' him. And the spirit of Yahweh began to urge him to and fro, in the camp of Dan,g—between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Chapter 14.

And Samson went down to Timnath,—and saw a woman in Timnath, of the daughters of the Philistines. So he came up, and told his father and his mother, and said—

<A woman> have I seen in Timnath, of the daughters of the Philistines,—[now] therefore, take her for me, to wife.

And his father and his mother said to him—

Is there not', among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, a woman, that thou art going away, to take a woman from among the uncircumcised' Philistines? But Samson said unto his father—

Take [her] for me, for [she] is pleasant in mine eyes.

"If ye had not ploughed with my heifer
Ye had not found out my riddle!"

And the Spirit of Yahweh came suddenly over him, and he went down to Ashkelon, and smote of them thirty men, and took their garments, and gave unto them, and they did eat, but he told them not that <out of the carcase of the lion> he had taken the honey.
And his father went down unto the woman,—and Samson made there a banquet, for [so] used the young men, to do,
And it came to pass <because they feared him> that they took thirty companions, who remained with him.
And Samson said unto them,

I pray ye let me put you forth a riddle, —<if ye tell it me, within the seven days of the banquet, and find it out> then will I give you thirty linen wraps and thirty changes of raiment; <but if ye cannot tell me> then shall I give me thirty linen wraps, and thirty changes of raiment.
And they said unto him,
Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

And he said to them—

"Out of the eater came forth food,
And out of the strong came forth sweetness."

But they could not tell the riddle, in three days.

And it came to pass <on the fourth day> that they said to Samson’s wife,

Entice thy husband, that he may tell us the riddle, lest we burn thee and the house of thy father, with fire. Was it not to impoverish us> that ye invited us—[was it not]?
And the wife of Samson wept upon him, and said—

"Thou dost altogether hate me, and dost not love me.
Hast thou put forth to the sons of my people, and thou hast not told it!"

And he said to her,

"Lo! have I not told it, and shall I tell it?"

And he said to them:

"If ye had not ploughed with my heifer
Ye had not found out my riddle!"

And the Spirit of Yahweh came suddenly over him, and he went down to Ashkelon, and smote of them thirty men, and took their garments, and gave the changes [of raiment] to them who had told the riddle,—and his anger was kindled, and he went up to his father’s house.
And the wife of Samson was given unto his companion’ who had served him as his friend.

Chapter 15.

And it came to pass <after a time, in the days of wheat-harvest> that Samson went to visit his wife, with a kid, and he said—

"I will go in unto my wife, in the chamber."
"But her father would not suffer him to go in."

And her father said—

"I thought thou didst hate her, so I gave her to thy companion,—

And Samson said of them, I shall be more blameless, this time, than the Philistines, though I should do them a mischief.

So Samson went, and caught three hundred jackals,—and took torches, and turned tail to tail, and put one torch between the two tails, in the midst. And, when he had set fire to the torches, he let them go into the standing corn of the Philistines,—and set fire, both to the stack of sheaves and to the standing corn, and besides to the olive plantation. Then said the Philistines—Who hath done this?

And they said—Samson, son-in-law of the Timnite, because he hath taken his wife, and given her to his companion.

So the Philistines went up and burned her and her father, with fire. And Samson said to them, <Though ye do the like of this> yet will I be avenged upon you, and <afterwards> will I cease.

So he smote them, leg on thigh, with a great smiting,—and went down and dwelt in a cleft of the crag Etam.

Then went up the Philistines, and encamped in Judah,—and were spread abroad in Lehi.

And the men of Judah said, Wherefore have ye come up against us?

And they said—<To bind Samson> are we come up, to do unto him as he hath done unto us'.

Then went down three thousand men out of Judah, unto the cleft of the crag Etam, and said unto Samson—Knowest thou not that the Philistines are lording it over us? What, then, is this thou hast done to us?

And he said unto them, <As they have done to me> ||[so] have I done to them'.

And they said to him—<To bind thee> are we come down, to deliver thee into the hand of the Philistines.

And Samson said to them, Swear to me, that ye will not fall upon me ||[yourselves]].

And they answered him, saying—Nay; but we will [bind] thee, and deliver thee into their hand, but we will not [put thee to death]].

So they bound him with two new ropes, and took him up from the crag. [He] was coming in as far as Lehi, and [the Philistines] came shouting to meet him,—when the Spirit of Yahweh came suddenly over him, and the ropes that were upon his arms became as threads of flax which have been ignited with fire, so that his bonds melted from off his hands. Then found he the jawbone of an ass newly-slain,—so he thrust forth his hand, and took it, and smote therewith [a thousand men]].

And Samson said,

<With the jawbone of an ass>—Have I piled them up in heaps?

<With the jawbone of an ass>

Have I smitten a thousand men!

And it came to pass <when he had made an end of speaking> that he cast away the jawbone out of his hand,—and called the name of that place, Ramath-lehi. And he was sore athirst, so he cried unto Yahweh, and said, [[Thou thyself]] hast given, into the hand of thy servant, this great salvation,—and [now] must I die of thirst, and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?

So then God clave open the hollow that is in Lehi, and there came therefrom water, and he drank, and his spirit came back, and he revived,—<for this cause> called he the name thereof—Ain-hakkore, which is in Lehi, until this day.

Chapter 16.

Then went Samson unto Gaza,—and saw there an unchaste woman, and went in unto her. And it was told the Gazites, saying—Samson hath come in hither. So they came round, and lay in wait for him, all the night, in the gate of the city,—but kept themselves quiet all the night, saying, <Until the light of the morning> then will we slay him.

And Samson lay till midnight, and arose at midnight, and took hold of the doors of the gate of the city, and of the two doorposts, and tore them away, with the bar, and put them on his shoulders,—and carried them up to the top of the hill that faceth Hebron.

And it came to pass, after this, that he loved a woman in the ravine of Shorek, whose name was Delilah. So the lords of the Philistines came up unto her, and said to her—

Entice him, and see wherein lieth his great strength, and wherewith we may prevail against him, and bind him, to humble him,—and, we will give thee, every man, eleven hundred pieces of silver.

So Delilah said unto Samson,

Do tell me, I pray thee, wherein lieth thy great strength,—and wherewith thou mightest be bound, to humble thee.

And Samson said unto her,

<If they bind me with seven green cords, that have not been dried> then shall I become weak, and be as any other man.

And it came to pass, when he slept, that Delilah took the seven braids of his head, and wove them with the warp, and beat them up with the pin, and said, "That the Sep. exhibits the primitive text is confirmed by the fact that the Massoretic text as it now stands says nothing about Samson having gone to sleep, though verse 14 alludes to it"—G. Intro. 177.

And he snapped the cords as a thread of tow is broken, when fire bloweth thereon, so his strength was not discovered. And Delilah said unto Samson, Lo! thou hast been laughing at me, and speaking unto me falsehoods,—[Now] do tell me, I pray thee, wherewith thou mightest be bound.

And he said unto her,

<If they bind me fast> with new ropes, wherewith work was never done> then shall I become weak, and be as any other man.

So Delilah took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and said unto him—

||The Philistines|| are upon thee, Samson! Now ||the liers in wait|| were tarrying in an inner chamber. And he snapped them off his arms like a thread.

And Delilah said unto Samson—

||Hitherto|| hast thou been laughing at me, and speaking unto me falsehoods, do tell me, wherewith thou mightest be bound.

And he said unto her,

<If thou weave the seven braids of my head with the warp>?

So she beat them up with the pin, and said unto him,

||The Philistines|| are upon thee, Samson! And he awaked out of his sleep, and pulled out the pin of the loom, and the warp.

And she said unto him—

How canst thou say, I love thee, when ||thy heart|| is not with me?

<These three times> hast thou laughed at me, and hast not told me wherein lieth thy great strength.

And it came to pass <when she urged him with her words continually, and pressed him> that his soul became impatient unto death; so he told her all his heart, and said to her—

No ||razor|| hath come on my head, for <one separate unto God> have I been, from my birth,—<if I were shaven> then would depart

18 And <when Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart> she sent and called for the lords of the Philistines, saying—
Come up this once, for he hath told me all his heart.

And the lords of the Philistines came up unto her, and brought up the silver in their hand. 19 And she made him sleep upon her knees, and called for a man, and caused him to shave off the seven braids of his head,—and she began to humble him, and his strength departed from him. 20 And she said—

||The Philistines|| are upon thee, Samson!

And he awoke out of his sleep, and said—
I will go out now, as time after time, b and shake myself free:
||he|| not knowing, that ||Yahweh|| had departed from him. 21 And the Philistines seized him, and put out his eyes,—and took him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of bronze, and it came to pass that he used to grind in the prison.

22 And the hair of his head began to grow after he had been shaven.

23 Now ||the lords of the Philistines|| had gathered themselves together to offer a great sacrifice unto Dagon their god, and to rejoice,—and they said,
Our god hath delivered into our hand, Samson our enemy.

24 And <when the people saw' him> they praised their god,—for they said—
Our god hath delivered into our hand our enemy, even him who laid waste our land, and who multiplied our slain.

25 And it came to pass <when their heart was merry> that they said,
Call for Samson, that he may make sport for us.c So they called for Samson out of the prison, and he made sport before them, and they stationed him between the pillars. 26 And Samson said unto the youth that held him by his hand,
Place me where I may feel the pillars whereon the house resteth, that I may lean upon them.

27 Now ||the house|| was full of men and women,
<there> also were all the lords of the Philistines,—and <on the roof> were about three thousand men and women, looking on while Samson made sport.

28 So then Samson cried unto Yahweh, and said,—My Lord Yahweh! remember me, I pray thee,—and strengthen me, I pray thee, only this once, O God, that I may be avenged ||with one avenging, for my two eyes|| e upon the Philistines.

29 Then did Samson grasp the two middle pillars, whereon the house rested, and whereon it was upheld, and he braced himself against them,—the one with his right hand, and the other with his left.

30 And Samson said—
Let my soul die with the Philistines!

And he bowed mightily, and the house fell upon them, and upon all the people that were therein. So the dead, whom he slew at his death, were more than they whom he slew in his life.

31 Then came down his brethren, and all the house of his father, and lifted him, and carried him up, and buried him, between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the buryingplace of Manoah his father,—||he|| having judged Israel twenty years.

4 But he restored the silver to his mother,—so his mother took two hundred pieces of silver, and gave it to the smiths, who made thereof a graved (molten) image, and it was in the house of Micah.

5 Now the man Micah had a house of gods, and he made an ephod, and teraphim, and installed one of his sons, who became his priest.

6 <In those days> there was no king in Israel,—every man did [that which was right in his own eyes].

7 And there was a young man out of Bethlehem-judah, of the family of Judah,—being a Levite, and being a sojourner there. So the man took his journey out of the city, out of Bethlehem-judah, to sojourn, wheresoever he could find [a home], and he came into the hill country of Ephraim, as far as the house of Micah, in pursuing his journey. And Micah said unto him, Whence comest thou? And he said unto him—

8 <A Levite> am I', from Bethlehem-judah, and [1] am taking my journey to sojourn, wheresoever I can find [a home]. And Micah said unto him—

9 Dwell with me, and be to me a father and a priest, and [1] will give thee ten pieces of silver by the year, and a suit of apparel, and thy sustenance. So the Levite went.

10 And the Levite was content to dwell with the man,—and the young man became to him, as one of his sons. And Micah installed the Levite, and the young man became his priest,—and remained in the house of Micah. Then said Micah—[Now] I know that Yahweh will do me good,—seeing I have a Levite' as my priest.

Chapter 18.

1 <In those days> there was no king in Israel,—and <in those days> the tribe of the Danites was seeking for itself an inheritance to dwell in for there had not fallen to them, unto that day, in the midst of the tribes of Israel, enough for an inheritance. So then the sons of Dan sent, out of their family, five men out of their bounds—men who were sons of valour—out of Zorah and out of Eshtaol—to spy out the land, and to explore it, and they said unto them, Go! explore the land.

2 And they came into the hill country of Ephraim, as far as the house of Micah, and lodged there.

3 ||[They]|| <being by the house of Micah> knew the voice of the young man, the Levite,—so they turned aside there, and said to him—

4 Who brought thee in hither? and what art thou doing in this place, and what hast thou here? And he said unto them, <Thus and so> hath Micah dealt with me, and hath hired me, and I am become his' priest. So they said unto him—

5 Ask of God, we pray thee,—that we may know whether the journey on which we are going shall have good success.

6 And the priest said unto them—

7 Go! and prosper,—<before Yahweh> is your journey on which ye go.

8 So the five men went their way, and entered Laish,—and saw the people who were therein, dwelling securely, <after the manner of the Zidonians> quietly and securely, and there was no one to reproach them with anything in the land, none to possess himself of dominion, they' being afar away] from the Zidonians, and having no dealings with any one. So they came unto their brethren, in Zorah and Eshtaol,—and their brethren said unto them—

9 Why are ye' minded to do nothing?c

10 And they said—

Ariseid and let us go up against them, for we have seen the land, and lo! it is very good,—are [ye] then, minded to do nothing? do not be too slothful to go, and enter, and take possession of the land.

11 <When ye do enter> ye will enter amongst a people secure, and [the land] is of ample bounds,—yea Godd hath delivered it into your hands,—[a place] where there is no lack of anything that is in the earth].

11 So there brake up from thence <out of the family of the Danites, out of Zarah and out of Eshtaol> six hundred men, begirt with weapons of war. 12 And they went up and encamped in Kiriath-jearim, in Judah,—wherefore they have called that place, Mahaneh-dan”—unto this day, lo! it is behind Kiriath-jearim. 13 And they passed on from thence unto the hill country of Ephraim,—and came as far as the house of Micah. 14 Then responded the five men who had been to spy out the land of Laish, and said unto their brethren, know ye that there are in these houses, an ephod, and teraphim, and a graven image, and a molten image,—[now] therefore, know what ye will do!

15 So they turned aside thither, and entered into the house of the young man the Levite, the house of Micah,—and asked him of his welfare.

16 Now [the six hundred men, begirt with weapons of war] were standing at the entrance of the gate,—they being of the sons of Dan. 17 Then went up the five men who had been to spy out the land, they came in thither, they took the graven image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image,—now [the priest] was standing at the entrance of the gate, with the six hundred men who were begirt with weapons of war. 18 But <when [these]] had entered the house of Micah, and taken the graven image and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image> the priest said unto them,

   What are ye' doing?

19 And they said unto him—

   Hold thy peace, lay thy hand upon thy mouth, and go with us, and become to us a father and a priest,—is it better that thou be priest to the house of one man, or that thou be priest to a tribe and to a family in Israel?

20 Then was the heart of the priest glad, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the graven image,—and came into the midst of the people. 21 So they turned, and went their way,—and put the little ones, and the cattle, and the goods, before' them.

22 [They]] had gone a good way from the house of Micah, when[ the men that were in the houses near to the house of Micah] were called out and overtook the sons of Dan. 23 And they called unto the sons of Dan, who turned their faces,—and said unto Micah,

   What aileth thee, d that thou hast called out thy neighbours? 24 And he said—

   <My gods which I had made> ye have taken away, and the priest, and have departed, and what have I more? How then is it that ye can say unto me, What aileth thee?

25 And the sons of Dan said unto him,

   Do not let thy voice be heard among us,—lest men embittered in soul fall' upon you, and thou gather in thy life and the lives of thy household.

26 And the sons of Dan went on their journey,—and <when Micah saw that they' were [too strong]] for him> he turned and went back unto his house. 27 [They], therefore, took what Micah had made, and the priest that he had, and came upon b Laish, upon a people quiet and secure, and smote them with the edge of the sword,—<the city also> burned they with fire. 28 And there was no' one to rescue, because it was [far] from Zidon, and they had no [dealings] with any one; i [it]] being in the vale that pertaineth to Beth-rehob. Then built they the city, and dwelt therein, 29 and called the name of the city [Dan], by b the name of Dan their father, who was born to Israel,—howbeit <Laish> was the name of the city [at the first]. 30 And the sons of Dan set up for themselves the graven image,—and [Jonathan, son of Gershom, son of Moses,] he and his sons] became priests to the tribe of the Danites, until the day of the captivity of the land. 31 So they set up for themselves the graven image

Chapter 19.

1 And it came to pass in those days, <when ||king|| there was none’ in Israel> that there was a certain Levite sojourning on the farther side of the hill country of Ephraim, who took to him a concubine out of Bethlehem-judah.

2 And his concubine went astray against him, and departed from him, unto the house of her father, in Bethlehem-judah,—and remained there, the space of four months. 3 Then arose her husband, and went after her, to speak unto her heart,[b] that he might bring her[c] back again, having his young man with him, and a couple of asses,—and she brought him into the house of her father, and <when the father of the damsel saw him> he rejoiced to meet him.

4 And his father-in-law, the father of the damsel, constrained him, and he abode with him three days,—and they did eat and drink, and lodged there. 5 And it came to pass <on the fourth day, when they arose early in the morning, and got up to go> that the father of the damsel said unto his son-in-law,—

Stay thy heart with a morsel of bread, and <afterwards> ye shall go your way.

So they both of them sat down and did eat together, and drink. Then said the father of the damsel unto the man,

Be content, I pray thee, and tarry the night, and let thy heart be glad.

And <when the man rose up to go> his father-in-law pressed him, so he turned back and[d] tarried the night there. 8 And <when he arose early on the morning of the fifth day, to go> the father of the damsel said—

Come now, stay thy heart, and tarry ye until the decline[e] of the day.

And they did eat, both of them.

9 And <when the man rose up to go—he and his concubine and his young man>—his father-in-law, the father of the damsel, said to him, Come now, see! the day hath sunk down towards evening, come now! tarry the night; lo! the day goeth down, tarry the night here, and let thy heart be glad, so shall ye rise early to-morrow for your journey, and thou shalt go thy way to thine own home.f

10 But the man would not tarry the night, but rose up and went his way, and came as far as over against Jebus, |[the same|| is Jerusalem,—and <with him> were a couple of asses, saddled, ||his concubine also|| was with him. 11 <They' being by Jebus, and ||the day|| having gone far down> the young man said unto his lord—

Do come, I pray thee, and let us turn aside into this city of the Jebusites, and tarry the night therein.

12 And his lord said unto him,
We will not turn aside into a city of aliens, who are ||not of the sons of Israel||,—but will pass on as far as Gibeah.

13 And he said to his young man,
Come and let us draw near unto one of the places,—and tarry the night in Gibeah, or in Ramah.

14 So they passed on, and went their way,—and the sun went in upon them beside Gibeah, which belongeth to Benjamin. 15 Then turned they aside there, to go in and tarry the night in Gibeah,—so he went in and abode in the broadway of the city; and there was no one minded to take them into a house, to tarry the night. 16 But lo! ||an old man|| coming in from his work, out of the field, in the evening, and ||the man|| was from the hill country of Ephraim, ||he himself|| being a sojourner in Gibeah,—but ||the men of the place|| were Benjamites. 17 So he lifted up his eyes, and saw a wayfaring man in the broadway of the city,—and the old man said—

Whither goest thou? and from whence hast thou come?

18 And he said unto him—
We’ ||are passing along|| from Bethlehem-judah, unto the farther side of the hill country of Ephraim, whence I’ am, but I have been as far as Bethlehem-judah, and now <unto the house of Yahweh> am I going, and there is no one minded to take me into a house. 19 Nevertheless

20 And the old man said—

Thou art welcome! only ||all thy wants|| be on me,—by no' means <in the broadway> mayest thou lodge.

21 So he brought him into his house, and gave provender to the asses,—and they bathed their feet, and did eat and drink. 22 ||They|| were gladdening their heart, when lo! ||men of the city, men of the sons of the Abandoned One||6 beset the house round about, beating violently against the door,—and they spake unto the old man the owner of the house, saying,

Bring forth the man that hath entered into thy house, that we may know him.

23 And the man, the owner of the house, went forth unto them, and said unto them,

Do not, my brethren, do not act vilely, I pray you,—<after this man hath entered into my house> do not commit this impiety.

24 Lo <my virgin daughter, and his concubine> I must needs now bring [them] forth, and ye must humble [them], and do [unto them] what seemeth good in your own eyes,—but <unto this man> must ye not< do this impious thing!d

25 But the men would not hearken unto him, so the man laid hold on his concubine, and brought her forth unto them, outside,—and they knew [her], and abused her all the night, until the morning, and let her go at the uprisings of the dawn. 26 So the woman came in at the turnings of the morning,—and fell down at the entrance of the man’s house where her lord was, and [lay there] till it was light.

27 So then her lord rose up in the morning, and opened the doors of the house, and went forth, to go on his journey,—when lo! ||the woman, his concubine|| fallen at the entrance of the house, [with her hands upon the threshold]]. 28 And he said unto her—

Up! and let us be going.

But there was no' answer.e So he took her up on the ass, and the man rose up, and went his way to his own place. 29 And <when he was come into his house> he took a knife, and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, limb by limb, into twelve pieces,—and sent her throughout all the bounds of Israel. 30 And so it was, that every one who beheld said—

There hath not happened, nor been seen the like of this, from the day when the sons of Israel came up out of the land of Egypt, until this day: Put it to yourselves concerning it, take counsel and speak!

Chapter 20.

1 Then went forth all the sons of Israel, and the assembly came together as one man, from Dan even to Beersheba with the land of Gilead,—unto Yahweh at Mizpah. 2 And the chiefs of all the people—all the tribes of Israel—presented themselves in the convocation of the people of God,—four hundred thousand footmen, that drew the sword. 3 And the sons of Benjamin heard that the sons of Israel had gone up to Mizpah. Then said the sons of Israel, Tell [us], In what manner' was brought to pass this vileness?

4 And the Levite, husband of the woman that was cut in pieces, responded and said,—

<Into Gibeath that pertaineth to Benjamin> I entered <at my concubine> to tarry the night.

5 And the owners of Gibeah rose up against me, and beset the house, for my sake, by night,—<me> they thought to slay, and <my concubine> they so humbled, that she died.

6 So I laid hold on my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel,—because they had wrought lewdness and impiety, in Israel.

7 Lo! ||ye all|| are sons of Israel,—give your’ word and counsel, [here].

8 Then arose all the people, as one man, saying,—

No man of us will go to his tent, and no man of us will turn aside to his house. 9 ||Now|| therefore, [this' is the thing] that we will do to Gibeath,—[Go] against it by lot;

and we will take ten men of a hundred of all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred of a thousand, and a thousand of ten thousand, to fetch provisions for the people—that they may do, when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the impiety that it hath wrought in Israel.

11 So all the men of Israel were gathered together against the city, [as one man ‘knot together’].

12 And the tribes of Israel sent men throughout all the divisions of Benjamin, saying,—

What is this vile thing that hath been brought to pass, among you?

13 ||Now therefore, deliver up the men—the sons of the Abandoned One—who are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and vileness be consumed out of Israel.

14 But [the sons of] Benjamin would not hearken unto the voice of their brethren, the sons of Israel.

15 Then did the sons of Benjamin gather themselves together out of the cities unto Gibeah, to go forth to battle against the sons of Israel. And the sons of Benjamin were numbered on that day, out of the cities, twenty-six thousand men, that drew the sword,—besides’ <of the inhabitants of Gibeah> were numbered seven hundred chosen men. <Out of all this people> were seven hundred chosen men, left-handed, any one of whom could sling with a stone to a hair’s-breadth, and not miss. And ||[the men of Israel] were numbered, apart from Benjamin, four hundred thousand men, that drew the sword,—every one of these being a man of war.

16 And they arose, and went up to Bethel, and asked of God, and the sons of Israel said, Who shall go up for us first, to fight against the sons of Benjamin?

And Yahweh said—

||[Judah] first.

19 And the sons of Israel arose in the morning,—and encamped against Gibeah. And the men of Israel went forth, to fight against Benjamin, so the men of Israel set themselves in array against them, to fight against Gibeah. Then came forth the sons of Benjamin out of Gibeah,—and laid low of Israel, on that day, twenty-two thousand men, to the ground. 22 And the people, the men of Israel, encouraged themselves,—and again’ set themselves in array for battle in the place where they had set themselves in array on the first’ day.

23 Now the sons of Israel had gone up, and wept before Yahweh, until the evening, and asked of Yahweh, saying, Shall I again’ draw near to battle against the sons of Benjamin, my brother?

And Yahweh said,

Go up against him.

24 So the sons of Israel came near against the sons of Benjamin, on the second’ day. And Benjamin came forth to meet them out of Gibeah, and the second’ day, and laid low, of the sons of Israel, yet eighteen thousand men, to the ground,—||all these drew the sword. Then went up all the sons of Israel, and all the people, and came to Bethel, and wept, and tarried there before Yahweh, and fasted on that day, until the evening,—and caused to go up ascending-sacrifices and peace-offerings, before Yahweh. And the sons of Israel asked of Yahweh,—||there being the ark of the covenant of God, in those days; and Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron|| was standing before it in those days, saying:

Shall I yet’ again’ go forth to battle, against the sons of Benjamin, my brother, or shall I forbear?

And Yahweh said—

Go up, for <to-morrow> will I deliver him into thy hand.

29 And Israel set liers in wait’ against Gibeah, round about. So the sons of Israel went up against the sons of Benjamin, on the third’ day,—and set themselves in array against Gibeah, as time after time.

31 And the sons of Benjamin came forth against the people, they were drawn away from the city,—and began to smite of the people, slaying as time after time, in the highways, whereof ||one] goeth up to Bethel, and ||the other] to Gibeah in the field, ||about thirty men in Israel]. Then said the sons of Benjamin,

They are ||being smitten] before us, as at the first.

But the sons of Israel had said—

Let us flee, and draw them away from the city, into the highways.

And all the men of Israel rose up out of their place, and set themselves in array in Baalphamar, and the liers in wait of Israel began to break forth out of their place, out of the forest of Gibeah. And there came over against Gibeah ten thousand chosen men, out of all Israel, and the battle was severe, not knowing that disaster was overtaking them. Thus Yahweh smote Benjamin before Israel, and the sons of Israel destroyed in Benjamin that day, twenty-five thousand and one hundred men,—all these drew the sword. So the sons of Benjamin saw that they were smitten, and that the men of Israel had given place to Benjamin, because they trusted to the liers in wait, whom they had set near Gibeah. And the liers in wait hasted, and rushed upon Gibeah, and the liers in wait marched forward, and smote all the city with the edge of the sword. Now the appointed sign between the men of Israel and the liers in wait, had been,—to cause a great cloud of smoke to ascend out of the city. So when the men of Israel turned in the battle,—and the Benjamites began to smite and slay of the sons of Israel, about thirty men, for they said, Yea! they are smitten before us, as in the first battle then began to ascend out of the city, a pillar of smoke, and the Benjamites looked behind them, and lo! the whole city flamed up towards the heavens. And <when the men of Israel turned> then were the men of Benjamin dismayed,—for they saw that disaster had overtaken them. And <when they turned before the men of Israel unto the way of the desert> the benjamites over took them,—while as for them that came out of the cities they began to destroy them in their midst: they hemmed in the Benjamites, they pursued them, with ease trode them down, as far as over against Gibeah, towards sunrise. So there fell of Benjamin, eighteen thousand men,—all these being men of valour. And <when they turned and fled towards the desert unto the cliff Rimmon> then gleaned of them in the highways, five thousand men,—and they followed hard after them as far as Gidôm, and smote of them, two thousand men. So then it came to pass that all the fallen of Benjamin were twenty-five thousand men, that drew the sword, on that day,—all these being men of valour. But there turned and fled, towards the desert, unto the cliff Rimmon, six hundred men,—who abode in the cliff Rimmon, four months. Thus the men of Israel turned against the sons of Benjamin, and smote them with the edge of the sword, beginning with the city, each and every one down to the beast, even to every one that was met with, moreover <all the cities they came to> they set on fire.

1 Now had sworn in Mizpah, saying,—

Not a man from among us shall give his daughter unto Benjamin, to wife.

2 So then the people came to Bethel, and abode there, until the evening, before God,—and lifted up their voice, and wept bitterly, and said, Wherefore, O Yahweh, God of Israel, hast this come about in Israel,—that there should be lacking, to-day, out of Israel, one tribe? And it came to pass, on the morrow, that the people rose early, and built there an altar, and offered ascending-sacrifices, and peace-offerings. And the sons of Israel said, Who was there that came not up, in the convocation, out of all the tribes of Israel, unto Yahweh? For the great oath had been taken, as to any who came not up unto Yahweh at Mizpah, saying—He shall be put to death]. And the sons of Israel grieved for Benjamin, their brother,—and they said, There is cut off, to-day, one tribe out of Israel. What are we to do for them who remain, for wives,—seeing that we ourselves have sworn by Yahweh, not to give them of our daughters, for wives? So they said, What one of the tribes of Israel is there, that hath not come up unto Yahweh at Mizpah?

And lo! no man had come into the camp out of Jabesh-gilead, unto the convocation: 9 When the people were numbered lo! there was not there a man of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead.

10 So the assembly sent thither twelve thousand men, of the sons of valour,—and commanded them, saying:—

Go and smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, with the edge of the sword, with the women, and the little ones.

11 And this is the thing that ye shall do,—Every male and every woman that hath cohabited with man shall ye devote to destruction.

12 And they found—of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead—four hundred young women, virgins, who had not cohabited with man,—so they brought them into the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan. 13 Then the whole assembly sent, and spake unto the sons of Benjamin, who were in the cliff Rimmon,—and proclaimed to them, peace. 14 So Benjamin returned at that time, and they gave them the women whom they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh-gilead,—but they found not for them [to suffice] even so.

15 Now the assembly had grieved for Benjamin,—because Yahweh had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. 16 So then, the elders of the assembly said,

What are we to do for them who remain, for wives,—for womankind hath been destroyed out of Benjamin?

17 And they said,

There is an inheritance for the escaped of Benjamin,—and there must not be wiped out a tribe out of Israel. 18 Yet may not give them wives, of our own daughters, For the sons of Israel had sworn, saying,

Cursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Then said they—

Lo! the festival of Yahweh in Shiloh, from year to year,

Which [Shiloh] is on the north of Bethel, towards sunrise, by the highway that goeth up from Bethel, towards Shechem, and on the south of Lebanon. 20 And they commanded the sons of Benjamin, saying,—

Go and lie in wait in the vineyards; 21 and look, and lo! if the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in the dances, then shall ye come forth out of the vineyards, and catch you every man his wife, of the daughters of Shiloh,—and go your way to the land of Benjamin.

22 And it shall be when their fathers, or their brethren, come in to complain to us that we will say unto them—

As a favour to us, grant them, because we took not for each man his wife in the battle,—for ye yourselves gave them not unto them, so as to be guilty.

23 And the sons of Benjamin did so, and carried off wives, according to their number, of them who were dancing, whom they seized,—and they went their way, and returned unto their inheritance, and built the cities, and dwelt therein.

24 And the sons of Israel at that time went their several ways from thence, every man to his own tribe, and to his own family,—yea they went forth from thence, every man to his own inheritance.

25 In those days there was no king in Israel,—every man did that which was right in his own eyes.
Chapter 1.

1 And it came to pass <in the days when the Judges administered justice> that there was a famine in the land,—and so a certain man went his way out of Bethlehem-judah to sojourn in the country of Moab, ||[he, and his wife, and his two sons]]. 2 And ||[the name of the man]] was Elimelech, and ||[the name of his wife]] Naomi, and ||[the name of his two sons]] Mahlon and Chilion—Ephrathites’ out of Bethlehem-judah,—so they came into the country of Moab, and remained there. 3 And Elimelech, husband of Naomi, died’,—and she was left, ||[she and her two sons]]. 4 And they took them wives, of the women of Moab, ||[the name of the one]] was Orpah, and ||[the name of the other]] Ruth,—and they dwelt there, about ten years. 5 And |[they also] both ||[died]], |[Mahlon and Chilion],—so the woman was bereft of her two sons, and of her husband.

6 Then she arose, ||[she and her daughters-in-law]], and returned out of the country of Moab,—for she had heard, in the country of Moab, how that Yahweh had visited’ his people, in giving unto them ||[bread]]. 7 So she went forth out of the dwelling-place where she had remained, and her two daughters-in-law with her,—and they went on the way, to return unto the land of Judah.

8 Then said Naomi to her two daughters-in-law:
   Go return, each one to the house of her mother,—
   Yahweh deal with you’ in lovingkindness, as ye have dealt with the dead’, [and with me].

9 Yahweh grant you, that ye may find a place of rest,a each one in the house of her husband,—
   And she kissed them, and they lifted up their voice, and wept. 10 And they said to her,—<With thee> will we return, unto thy people.

11 Then said Naomi—
   Go back: my daughters! wherefore’ should ye journey with me?

12 Have I ||[yet]] sons in my womb, that they should become your’ [husbands]?

13 Go back, my daughters, go your way, for I am too old to have a husband,—
   <If I should sayb I have’ [hope], if I should [even to-night’ have a husband], and should [even bear sons]> 13 would ye ||[therefore] tarry until they were grown? would ye ||[therefore] shut yourselves up from having husbands?

Nay! my daughters, for it is far more bitter for me’ than for you’, that forth hath gone against me, the hand of Yahweh.

14 And they lifted up their voice and wept, ||[yet more]]. Then Orpah kissed’ her mother-in-law, but, ||[Ruth] clave unto her. 15 And she said—
   Lo! thy sister-in-law hath gone back, unto her people, and unto her gods,—go thou back, after thy sister-in-law.

16 And Ruth said—
   Do not urge me’ to leave thee, to go back from following thee,—for <whither thou goest> I’ will go, and <where thou’ lodgest> I’ will lodge, ||[thy’ people]] shall be my’ people, and ||[thy’ God]] my’ God;
   <where thou’ diest> I’ will die, and ||[there]] will I be buried:
   ||[So]] let Yahweh do to me, and ||[so]] let him add, if ||[death itself]] part me and thee.

17 And <when she saw that ||[bravely determined]] was she’ to go with her> she ceased entreating her.’ 19 So ||[they two]] went their way, until they entered Bethlehem.

And it came to pass <when they entered Bethlehem> that all the city was moved’ concerning them, and the women said—
   Is this Naomi?

20 And she said unto them,
   Do not call me Naomi [=“Sweet”],—call me Mara [=“Bitter”], for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me: 21 I’ was full’ when I departed, but <empty> am I brought back of 1 Now \[\text{Naomi}\] had an acquaintance\(^c\) of her husband’s, a man of great integrity, of the family of Elimelech,—\[\text{whose name}\] was Boaz. 2 And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi—

Let me go, I pray thee, to the field, and glean ears of corn after him in whose eyes I may find favour.

And she said to her—

Go, my daughter.

3 So she went her way, and came, and gleaned in the field, after the reapers,—and it happened to her, to light upon the portion of field-land belonging to Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech. 4 And lo! Boaz’ coming from Bethlehem, and he said to the reapers, [Yahweh] be with you!

and they said to him—

Yahweh bless’ thee!

5 Then said Boaz to his young man, that was set over the reapers,— Whose’ is this maiden?

And the young man that was set over the reapers’ answered and said,—

<The Moabitish maiden> is she’ who came back with Naomi, out of the country of Moab; 7 and she said—

Let me glean, I pray thee, and gather among the sheaves, after the reapers; so she came in, and hath continued from that time, all the morning\(^d\) until just now, and hath not rested\(^e\) in the house, for a little.

8 And Boaz said unto Ruth—

Hearest thou not, my daughter?

Do not go to glean in any other field, neither indeed shalt thou pass on, from hence,—but <here> shalt thou keep fast by my maidens: 9 \[\text{thine eyes}\] be on the field which they shall reap, and go thou after them,
Have I not commanded the young men, that they touch thee not?
And <when thou art athirst> then go unto the vessels, and drink of what the young men shall draw.

10 Then she fell upon her face, and bowed herself to the ground,—and said unto him—

Wherefore have I found favour in thine eyes, that thou shouldstest take notice of me, seeing that \[\text{I}\] am [a stranger]?\(^f\)

11 And Boaz answered, and said to her,
It hath been \[\text{told}\] me—all that thou hast done unto thy mother-in-law, since the death of thy husband,—and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and come unto a people whom thou knewest not, aforetime.

12 Yahweh recompense’ thy deed,—and let thy reward be full from Yahweh, the God of Israel, unto whom thou hast come to take refuge under his wings.

13 And she said—

Let me find favour in thine eyes, my lord, for that thou hast comforted me, and for that thou hast spoken unto the heart of thy handmaid,— though \[\text{I}\] be not\(^g\) as [one of thine own handmaidens].

14 And Boaz said to her at mealtime—

Draw nigh hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar.

So she sat beside the reapers, and there was reached\(^h\) to her parched corn, and she did eat and was satisfied, and left thereof remaining. 15 And <when she rose up to glean> Boaz commanded his young men, saying—<Even between the sheaves> let her glean, and reproach her not; 16 yea’ moreover \[\text{draw out}\] for her, from the bundles,—and leave behind that she may glean it, and rebuke her not.

17 So she gleaned in the field, until the evening,— and beat out that which she had gleaned, and there was about an ephah of barley. 18 And she took it up, and came into the city, and <when her mother-in-law had seen what she had gleaned> she brought forth and gave her what had been left remaining, after that she was satisfied.
19 And her mother-in-law said to her—
In what place hast thou gleaned, to-day? and where hast thou wrought?
May he that took notice of thee, be blessed!
So she told her mother-in-law, with whom she had wrought, and said—
||The name of the man with whom I wrought today|| is Boaz.
20 Then said Naomi, to her daughter-in-law—
||Blessed|| be he’ of Yahweh, who hath not left dead.

And Naomi said to her—
<Near to us> is the man,

21 And Ruth the Moabitess said,— Yea’ for he said unto me—
<By my young men> shalt thou keep fast, until they have ended all my harvest.
22 And Naomi said unto Ruth her daughter-in-law,—
||Good|| is it, my daughter, that thou go forth with his maidens, and that they meet thee not, in any other field.
23 So she kept fast by the maidens of Boaz, to glean, until the end of the barley’ harvest, and the wheat’ harvest,—and dwelt with’ her mother-in-law.

Chapter 3.

1 Then Naomi her mother-in-law said to her,— My daughter! shall I not seek for thee a place of rest, in which it may be well with thee?
2 ||Now|| therefore, is not [Boaz] of our kindred, with whose maidens thou hast been? Lo! he’ is

5 And she said unto her,—

6 So she went down to the threshing-floor,—and did’ according to all that her mother-in-law had feet, and laid her down. 8 And it came to pass, <in and turned,8—and lo! ||a woman|| lying at his feet.

9 And he said,
Who art ||thou||?
And she said,
||I|| am Ruth, thy handmaid, spread, therefore, thy wing’ over thy handmaid, for
thou art’.
10 And he said—
||Blessed|| be thou’ of Yahweh, my daughter, for thou hast made thy last’ lovingkindness better than the first,—in not following after young men, whether poor, or rich.
11 ||Now|| therefore, my daughter, do not fear,
<whatsoever thou shalt say> I will do for thee,—for all the gate of my people doth know, that  thou art’.

||Of this young woman||.

13 So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his' wife, and he went in unto her,—and Yahweh granted' her conception, and she bare a son. 14 Then said the women unto Naomi,
||Blessed|| be Yahweh!
Who hath not let thee fail of a kinsman today,—
And may his name' ||be proclaimed| in Israel;
So shall he become a restorer of thy life,||
And a nourisher of thine old age,—
For ||thy daughter-in-law who loveth thee||
hath borne him,
Even ||she|| who is better to thee than seven sons.

16 So Naomi took the boy, and laid him in her bosom, and she became his' nurse. 17 And the women, her neighbours, gave him a name, saying,
There is born a son to Naomi,—
So they called his name Obed, ||he|| was
The father of Jesse,
The father of David.
18 ||These|| then, are the generations of Perez:
||Perez|| begat [Hezron];
19 ||Hezron|| begat [Ram],
And ||Ram|| begat [Ammi'nadab];
20 And ||Ammi'nadab|| begat [Nahshon],
And ||Nahshon|| begat [Salmon],b
21 And ||Salmon|| begat [Boaz],
And ||Boaz|| begat [Obed];
22 And ||Obed|| begat [Jesse],
And ||Jesse|| begat [David].c

c See “SPECIAL NOTE: A SUGGESTIVE GENEALOGY,” (below).
ONE of the greatest charms of the Bible is to be found in its genealogies. Commonly considered to be dry as dust, it may safely be affirmed that in that dust lie hidden grains of purest gold.

This short snatch of pedigree, at the end of the Book of Ruth—how rich in suggestiveness it is! Whether by author or by editor appended, the hand that wrote it was guided by the spirit of the entire Old Testament. Boaz points to one who was then yet to come—to David, in the first instance: how much further, remains to be seen. Boaz stands in the line that runs from Perez to David, and behind Perez, of course, stands Judah his father, so that we at once span from Judah to David—Judah, the heir of special promises, to David the first of a royal line which runs forward into a future which has not ended yet, and which cannot end until provision has been made thereby for every thirsty one to partake freely of “the lovingkindness to David well assured.”

Boaz brings Ruth into the royal line, and Ruth was a Moabitess—in other words, a Gentile—so that the exclusiveness of Hebrewism is evidently not the only aspect in which it may be viewed. But what power is it that brings this young Gentile widow to dwell in Bethlehem? Plainly, the power of love: on the face of it, love to Naomi, Ruth’s mother-in-law. But was there not, in that love, a religious strength of conviction and fervour which ennobled the human affection? “Thy God shall be my God,” she said: and she is afterwards treated as if she meant it; as if she knew what she was doing, when she came to Bethlehem that she might find “refuge,” from the idol-worship of her native land, “under the wings of Yahweh God of Israel.”

Finally, the place is significant. Bethlehem may have been a small city—in fact, a mere village; nevertheless it is known in after times as “the village where David was,” and—which is still more significant—the village from which, according to a well-known prediction, was to come forth One greater than David, even He “whose comings forth have been from of old, from the days of age-past time.”

And so the outlook widens. As when some traveller, greeting the timely sign-post, makes pause and asks—Whence have I come, and whither am I bound? so the thoughtful reader of the Bible considers the stages by which his journey is advancing:—From Adam, by way of Seth, to Noah; from Noah, by way of Shem, to Abraham; from Abraham, by way of Isaac and Jacob, to Judah; from Judah, by way of Perez and Boaz, to David; and then, will it not be—a road that leads still on, from David to David’s Son and Lord?

§ 1. Samuel and Eli.

Chapter 1.

1 And there was a certain man, of Ramathaim-zuphi, of the hill country of Ephraim,—[whose name] was Elkanah, son of Jeroham, son of Elihu, son of Tohu, son of Zuph, an Ephraimite;

2 and ||he|| had two wives, ||the name of the one|| Hannah, and ||[the name of the other]|| Peninnah,—and Peninnah had children', but ||Hannah|| had no' children. 3 So then that man went up, out of his city, from time to time,b to worship and to sacrifice unto Yahweh of hosts, in Shiloh,—and ||[there]|| were the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, priests unto Yahweh. 4 And <when the day came for Elkanah to sacrifice> he used to give [to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and her daughters| portions]; 5 and ||unto Hannah|| used he to give one portion, —howbeit’ <Hannah> he loved, although ||Yahweh|| had restrained her from having children.d 6 And her rival used even to cause her great vexation, for the sake of provoking her,—because Yahweh had restrained her from having children.e 7 And ||thus|| used she to do, year by year, whenever she went up to the house of Yahweh, ||thus|| used she to vex her,—and she wept, and would not eat. 8 So Elkanah her husband said to her—

Hannah! wherefore' shouldst thou weep? and wherefore' wilt thou not eat? and wherefore should thy heart be sad?

Am ||I|| not better to thee [than ten sons]?

9 And Hannah rose up, after she had eaten in Shiloh, and after she had drunk,—and ||[Eli the priest]|| was sitting upon his chair, f by the door-post of the temple of Yahweh; 10 and <she’ being in bitterness of soul> prayed unto Yahweh, and ||[wept sore].|| 11 And she vowed a vow, and said—

Yahweh of hosts!

<If thou wilt ||look|| upon the humiliation of thy handmaid,
And remember me,
And not forget thy handmaid,
But wilt give unto thy handmaid a man-child>g
Then will I give him unto Yahweh, all the days of his life,
And no ||razor|| shall come upon his head,h

12 And so it was <as she continued' praying before Yahweh> that Eli’ was watching her mouth. 13 But as for <Hannah> ||[she]|| was speaking in her heart, ||[only her lips] were moving, but ||[her voice]|| could not be heard,—so Eli thought she had been drunken. 14 And Eli said unto her,

||[How long]|| wilt thou be [drunken]?
Put away thy wine from thee.

15 And Hannah responded and said—

Nay! my lord;

<A woman depressed in spirit> am I’:

<Neither wine nor strong drink> have I drunk,—but I poured out my soul, before Yahweh.

16 Do not count thy handmaid' for an abandoned woman,i—<for <out of the abundance of my grief and my vexation> have I spoken hitherto>,

17 Then responded Eli, and said—

Go and prosper!
And the ||[God of Israel]|| grant thy petition’ which thou hast asked of him!

18 And she said:

Let thy serving-woman find favour, in thine eyes.

So the woman went her way, and did eat, and |[her countenance]|| was sad no longer. 19 And they rose up early in the morning, and worshipped before Yahweh, and returned, and entered their own house, in Ramah,—and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and Yahweh remembered her.

And so it was <when the days had come round during which Hannah was with child> that she bare a son,—and called his name Samuel [=“Heard of God”],

Because, <of Yahweh> I asked him.

And the man Elkanah, and all his house, went up, to offer unto Yahweh the yearly’ sacrifice, and [each] his own vow.  22 But ||Hannah|| went not up,—for she said to her husband—

[Not] till the boy is weaned,
Then will I take him,
And he shall appear before Yahweh,a
And abide there evermore.  b

And Elkanah her husband said to her—
Do what is good in thine own eyes, tarry until thou have weaned him,
Only’ may Yahweh establish’ his word!
So the woman tarried, and nursed her son, until she weaned him.  24 Then took she him up with her, when she had weaned him, with a bullock of three years old,c and one ephahd of meal, and a skin of wine, and took him to the house of Yahweh, at Shiloh,—||the boy yet being young]].  25 So they slew the bullock,—and took the boy in, unto Eli.

And she said—

Pardon, my lord!
<By the life of thy soul> my lord,—||I|| am the woman who was standing near thee here, praying unto Yahweh:

<For this boy> I prayed,—
And Yahweh hath given me my petition’ which I asked of him.

Hence ||I also|| have loaned him unto Yahweh, all the days that he liveth.e
||He|| is lent unto Yahweh.
And he bowed down there, unto Yahweh.

Chapter 2.

Then prayed Hannah, and said,

My heart hath leaped for joy in Yahweh,
My horn is exalted in Yahweh,  f
My mouth is opened wide, o’er my foes,

Because I rejoice in thy salvation.
There is none’ holy like Yahweh,
Nay! there [is none] except Thee,
Nor [is] there a rock, like our God.

Do not multiply words, so loftily—loftily,  g
Nor let arrogance proceed from your mouth,—
For  is Yahweh,
And <for himself>  b are great doings made firm.

||The bow of the mighty|| is dismayed,—
While ||the fainting|| are girded with strength;
||The sated|| have, for bread, taken hire,
But ||the famished|| have left off their toil,—

While ||she that hath many sons|| languisheth:

||Yahweh|| doth kill, and make alive,—
Taketh down to hades, and bringeth up:

||Yahweh|| maketh poor, and enricheth,— Layeth low, yea exalteth;
Raiseth, from the dust, the poor,
(From the dunghill) uplifeth the needy;  i
To give them a dwelling with nobles,
And  to make them inherit.

For <to Yahweh> belong the pillars of the earth,
And he setteth thereon the habitable world.

But ||the lawless|| in darkness’ shall be silent,—
For <by strength> shall no’ man prevail.

<As for Yahweh>—theyk shall be shattered who contend with him,
||Over him|| in the heavens’ will he thunder,
||Yahweh|| will judge the ends of the earth,—
That he may give strength to his King,
And exalt the horn of his Anointed One.

Then went Elkanah to Ramah, unto his own house,—but ||the boy|| remained ministering unto Yahweh, before Eli the priest.

priests with the people was—<when any man offered a sacrifice> then would come the priest’s young man, as the flesh was boiling, with a three-pronged fork in his hand; and would strike it into the boiler, or into the trough, or into the kettle, or into the pot, <all that the fork would bring up> the priest took for himself. <Thus and thus> used they to do unto all Israel, who came thither, in Shiloh. |Also| <before any could make perfume with the fat> the priest’s young man would come in and say to the person who was sacrificing, Come! give flesh for the priest’s roastings,—for he will not take of thee boiled flesh—only’ raw.

And <if the man said to him, Let them at least ||make incense|| at once, with the fat, then take thou as much as thy soul craveth> Then said he to him, But <at once> shalt thou give it; ||or else|| I will take it by force.

And so it was, that ||the sin of the young men was exceeding great, before Yahweh,—for men scorned the offerings of Yahweh. But <as for Samuel> he was ministering before Yahweh,—||a boy’ girded with an ephod of linen||. Also  used his mother to make for him, and bring it up to him, from year to year,—when she came up with her husband, to offer the sacrifice of the year.

And Eli used to bless Elkanah and his wife, and to say—Yahweh give thee seed of this woman, instead of the loan that hath been lent unto Yahweh. So they went their way to his’ own place.

And Yahweh visited Hannah, and she conceived, and bare three sons, and two daughters. Thus did the boy Samuel grow up with Yahweh.

Now ||Eli|| was very old,—but he used to hear all that his sons did unto all Israel, and how they even lay with the women who did service, at the opening of the tent of meeting.

So he said to them, Wherefore should ye do such things as these? for I’ keep hearing of your wicked doings, from all these people.

Nay, my sons! for it is no good report that I do hear: ||leading into transgression the people of Yahweh||.

<If one’ man sin against another> God’ will interpose, but <if ||against Yahweh|| a man sin> who’ will intercede |for him|?

But they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, for Yahweh was pleased to put them to death. But ||the boy Samuel|| went on growing in stature, and in favour,—||both with Yahweh, and also’ with men||.

And there came a man of God, unto Eli,—and said unto him—||Thus|| saith Yahweh, I ||did indeed reveal myself|| unto the house, of thy father, when they were in Egypt, as servants unto the house of Pharaoh; choosing him out of all the tribes of Israel unto myself, To minister as priest, To offer upon mine altar, To perfume with incense, To bear an ephod before me,—Therefore gave I unto the house of thy father’ all the altar-flames of the sons of Israel.

Wherefore’ have ye been kicking at my sacrifices, and my presents, which I commanded, to serve for a home,—and shouldest have honoured thy sons’ more than me’: fattening yourselves, with the first of every present of Israel, before me?m

||Hence|| the oracle of Yahweh God of Israel, I ||said|| that ||thy house, and the house of thy father|| should go to and fro in my presence, unto times age-abiding:
But ||now|| (is the oracle of Yahweh)—Be it far from me! For ||them who honour me|| will I honour,

1 Now ||[the boy Samuel]] was ministering unto Yahweh, before Eli,—and ||[the word of Yahweh]] had become rare\(‘\) in those days, there was no\(‘\) well-known vision. \(^2\) But it came to pass, ||[at that time] \(≤\) when Eli\(‘\) was lying down in his place, ||[his eyes]]\(‘\) having begun to be dim, he could not see, \(^3\) though ||[the lamp of God]] was not yet to be put out, and ||[Samuel]] was lying down in the temple of Yahweh, where was the ark of God\(≥\) \(^4\) that Yahweh called\(‘\) unto Samuel, and he said— Behold me!

Samuel!

Behold me! for thou calledst me.

And he said—

I called not, my son, return—lie down.

7 Now ||[Samuel]] as yet\(‘\) knew not Yahweh,—nor [as yet] had been revealed\(‘\) unto him ||[the word of Yahweh]].

8 And again\(‘\) Yahweh called—a third\(‘\) time. Then he arose, and went unto Eli, and said—

Behold me! for thou calledst me.

Then did Eli perceive, that ||[Yahweh]] was calling the boy. \(^9\) So Eli said to Samuel—

Go, lie down, and it shall be <\(if he\(\) call unto thee> that thou shalt say—

Speak, Yahweh, for thy servant is listening.

And Samuel went, and lay down in his place. \(^10\) Then came\(‘\) Yahweh, and stood, and called as time after time—

Samuel! Samuel!

And Samuel said—

Speak, for thy servant is listening.

And Yahweh said unto Samuel,

Lo! I\(‘\)m doing a thing in Israel,—at which both ears of everyone that heareth it shall tingle\(‘\).

\(||[In that day]]\) will I confirm against Eli, all that I have spoken against his house,—||[beginning and finishing]].

And Samuel lay until the morning, and rose early in the morning, and opened the doors of the house of Yahweh, but [Samuel] feared to tell the appearing, unto Eli. So Eli called Samuel, and said—
Samuel! my son. And he said—Behold me!
And he said—What is the word, which he spake unto thee? I pray thee, do not hide it from me. [So] let God do to thee, and [so] let him add, if thou hide from me a word, out of anything which he hath spoken unto thee.
So Samuel told him all the words, and hid nothing from him. And he said, [Yahweh] he is; [what is good in his own eyes] let him do.
And Samuel grew,—and [Yahweh] proved to be with him, and let none of all his words fall to the ground. So all Israel, from Dan even to Beersheba, came to know,—that Samuel had become confirmed as a prophet unto Yahweh. Thus did Yahweh again appear in Shiloh,—for Yahweh had revealed himself unto Samuel in Shiloh, in the word of Yahweh.

Chapter 4.

And so it was [when the word of Samuel had reached all Israel] that Israel went forth to meet the Philistines in battle, and they encamped near Eben-ezer, while [the Philistines] encamped in Aphek. And the Philistines set themselves in array to meet Israel, and [when the battle spread] then was Israel smitten before the Philistines,—and there were slain of the army in the field about four thousand men.

And [when the people came into the camp] the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath Yahweh smitten us to-day, before the Philistines?
Let us fetch unto us out of Shiloh the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, that [when it cometh into our midst] it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.

So the people sent to Shiloh, and bare from thence the ark of the covenant of Yahweh of hosts, who inhabiteth the cherubim,—and [there] were the two sons of Eli, with the ark of the covenant of God, namely, Hopni and Phinehas. And so it was [when the ark of the covenant of Yahweh came into the camp] that all Israel brake out into a loud shout of joy,—so that the earth rang again.

And [when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout] they said—
What meaneth the noise of this loud shout of joy in the camp of the Hebrews?
And they learned that [the ark of Yahweh] had come into the camp. And the Philistines were afraid, for they said—God hath come into the camp. And they said—Woe to us! for there hath not happened the like of this, heretofore.

Woe to us! Who shall rescue us out of the hand of these majestic gods? [These] are the gods, who smote the Egyptians with all manner of smiting in the desert!
Take courage, and quit yourselves like men, ye Philistines, lest ye come into bondage to the Hebrews, as they have been in bondage unto you,—therefore must ye quit yourselves like men, and fight.

So the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten, and they fled every man to his home; and the slaughter became exceeding great,—and there fell of Israel—thirty thousand footmen.

And [the ark of God] was taken,—and [the two sons of Eli] were slain, Hopni and Phinehas.
And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and entered Shiloh on the same day,—with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head. And [when he entered] lo! Eli' was sitting upon his chair, by the wayside, watching, for his heart was trembling for the ark of God,—and [the man] entered to tell the news in the city, and all the city made outcry. \(^{14}\) And <when Eli heard the noise of the outcry> he said—

What meaneth the noise of this tumult?
And ||[the man]| hasted, and came, and told Eli. \(^{15}\)
Now ||[Eli]| was ninety-eight years old; and his eyes' were fixed, that he could not see \(^z\) \(^{16}\) So the man said unto Eli—

||[I]| am he that came in from the army,\(^b\) yea ||[I]| ||[from the army]| fled, to-day.
And he said—

What is the thing that hath happened, my son?
\(^{17}\) And the bearer of tidings answered, and said—
Israel hath fled' before the Philistines,

|Moreover also| ||[a great smiting]| hath taken place among the people,—
|Moreover also| ||[thy two sons]| are slain,
Hophni and Phinehas,
And ||[the ark]| of God| is taken.
\(^{18}\) And it came to pass <when he mentioned the ark of God> that he fell from off his seat backwards, at the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died, for <old> was the man, and |heavy|,—and ||[he'] had judged Israel forty years|.

Now ||[his daughter-in-law, wife of Phinehas]| was with child, ready to give birth, and <when she heard the tidings, as to the taking of the ark of God, and the death of her father-in-law, and her husband>| she bowed herself and gave birth, for her pains had seized her.| \(^{20}\) And <about| the time of her death> the women that stood by her said:

Do not fear, for <to a son> hast thou given birth.
But she neither answered nor regarded. \(^{21}\) And she called the boy I-chabad! [=Where's the glory?] saying,

Exiled' is the glory from Israel,—
In regard to the taking of the ark of God, and to her father-in-law, \(^e\) and to her husband. \(^{22}\) So she said—

Exiled' is the glory from Israel,—
For the ark of God hath been taken.

§ 2. The Wanderings of the Ark.

Chapter 5.

\(^{1}\) Now ||[the Philistines]| having taken the ark of God,—brought it in from Eben-zer,\(^f\) unto Ashdod. \(^2\) And <when the Philistines took the ark of God> they brought it into the house of Dagon,—and placed it' by the side of Dagon.

\(^{3}\) And <when they of Ashdod rose early on the morrow and entered into the house of Dagon>| they looked and\(^g\) lo! ||[Dagon]| was lying prostrate on his face' to the earth, before the ark of Yahweh,—so they took Dagon and restored him to his place. \(^4\) And <when they rose up early in the morning of the morrow> lo! ||[Dagon]| was lying prostrate on his face' to the earth, before the ark of Yahweh,—and ||[the head of Dagon, and both the palms of his hands]| had been cut off against the threshold, only ||[Dagon himself]| was left to him. \(^5\) ||[For this cause]| do not the priests of Dagon, nor any that enter into the house of Dagon, tread' upon the threshold of Dagon, in Ashdod,—until this day. \(^6\) Then was the hand of Yahweh heavy' against them of Ashdod, and he astounded them,—and smote with tumours' Ashdod and her bounds. \(^7\) And <when the men of Ashdod saw that ||[so]| it was| then kept they saying,

Let not the ark of the God of Israel abide with us, for <hard> is his hand upon us, and upon Dagon our god.
\(^8\) So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines unto them, and said—

What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?
And they said:

<To Gath> let the ark of the God of Israel go round.
So they took round the ark of the God of Israel. \(^{9}\) And so it was <after they had taken it round> then was the hand of Yahweh against the city, with an exceeding great consternation, and he smote the men of the city, from the least, even unto the greatest,—and they brake out with tumours. \(^{10}\) Then sent they the ark of God to Ekron,—and so it was <when the ark of God entered Ekron> that the Ekronites made outcry, saying—

They have brought round unto me' the ark of the God of Israel, to slay me, and my people!
\(^{11}\) So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines, and said—

Chapter 6.

1 And it came to pass, that the ark of Yahweh was in the country of the Philistines, seven months. Then called the Philistines for the priests and for the diviners, saying,

What shall we do with the ark of Yahweh?
Let us know, wherewith' we shall send it to its own place.

3 And they said—

<If ye are going to send away the ark of the God of Israel> do not send it away [empty], but ye must [surely return] to him a guilt-offering,—[then] shall ye be healed, and it shall be known to you, wherefore his hand would not turn away from you.

4 And they said—

What shall be the guilt-offering, that we shall return to him?
And they said—

<By the number of the lords of the Philistines> five tumours of gold, and five mice of gold,—for [one plague] was on you all, and on your lords.

Wherefore ye shall make likenesses of your tumours, and likenesses of your mice that are laying waste the land, and shall give unto the [God of Israel] [glory],— Peradventure' he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your god, and from off your land.

6 Wherefore, then, should ye make your heart dull, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh made their heart dull! <When he had done his great doings upon them> did they not let them go, and they departed?

7 [Now], therefore, take and get ready, one new waggon, and two milch kine, whereon hath never come yoke,—then shall ye fasten the kine in the waggon, and withdraw their calves from them, into the shed; and ye shall take the ark of Yahweh, and place it in the waggon, also <the jewels of gold which ye send back to him as a guilt-offering> shall ye put into a coffer, at the side thereof,—so shall ye let it go, and it shall depart.

Then shall ye look—<if by the way of its own boundary> it goeth up to Beth-shemesh> [the] it was who caused us this great affliction,—but [if not] then shall we know that it was not [his hand] that smote us, [a chance] it was, that befell us.

The men, therefore, did so, and took two milch kine, and fastened them in the waggon,—but [their calves] shut they up in the shed.

And they put the ark of Yahweh into the waggon,—also the coffer, with the mice of gold, and the likenesses of their tumours. 12 And the kine went straight along the road, on the way to Beth-shemesh, yea <along the main highway> they went, lowing as they went, turning not aside, to the right hand or to the left. And [the lords of the Philistines] went along after them, as far as the bounds of Beth-shemesh.

Now [they of Beth-shemesh] were reaping their wheat-harvest in the vale,—so they lifted up their eyes, and saw the ark, and rejoiced to meet it. 14 And [the waggon] entered into the field of Joshua, a man of Beth-shemesh, and stood still [there], [where also] was a great stone,—so they clave into pieces the planks of the waggon, and <the kine> offered they up as an ascending-sacrifice, unto Yahweh. 15 And [the Levites] took down the ark of Yahweh, and the coffer that was with it, wherein were the jewels of gold, and put them upon the great stone,—and [the men of Beth-shemesh] caused to go up ascending-offerings and offered sacrifices, that day, unto Yahweh. 16 And [the five lords of the Philistines] saw it,—and returned unto Ekron, the same day.

Now [these] are the golden boils which the Philistines returned as a guilt-offering unto Yahweh,—

[For Ashdod] one,
[For Gazah] one,
[For Ashkelon] one,
[For Gath] one,

Chapter 7.

Then came the men of Kiriath-jearim and fetched up the ark of Yahweh, and brought it into the house of Abinadab, e in the hill, d—and <Eleazar his son> hallowed they, to guard the ark of Yahweh.

And so it was, that <from the day the ark came to dwell in Kiriath-jearim> the days multiplied, and became twenty years,—and all the house of Israel went mourning after Yahweh.

§ 3. Samuel and Israel.

And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying,

<If [with all your heart] ye’ are returning unto Yahweh> then put away the gods of the foreigner out of your midst, and the Ashtoreths,—and firmly set your heart towards Yahweh, and serve him [alone], that he may deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.

So the sons of Israel put away the Baals, and the Ashtoreths,—and served Yahweh, [alone]. 5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel unto Mizpah,—that I may pray for you, unto Yahweh.

So they gathered themselves unto Mizpah, and drew water, and poured it out before Yahweh, and fasted on that day, and said [there],

We have sinned against Yahweh.

And Samuel judged the sons of Israel in Mizpah.

And <when the Philistines heard that the sons of Israel had gathered themselves together unto Mizpah> the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel,—and <when the sons of Israel heard it> they shrank with fear, from the face of the Philistines. 8 And the sons of Israel said unto Samuel,

Do not turn in silence from us, from making outcry unto Yahweh our God,—that he would save us out of the hand of the Philistines.

So Samuel took one sucking lamb, and offered it as an entire ascending-sacrifice unto Yahweh,—and Samuel made outcry unto Yahweh, for Israel, and Yahweh answered him. 10 And <when Samuel was offering up the ascending-sacrifice> ||the Philistines|| drew near to fight against Israel,—but Yahweh thundered’ with a great noise throughout that day, over the Philistines, and confused them, and they were smitten before Israel. 11 And the men of Israel went forth out of Mizpah, and pursued the Philistines,—and smote them as far as under Beth-car. 12 And Samuel took a certain stone, and set it between Mizpah and Yeshanah, and called the name thereof Eben-ezer,—and said, ||Hitherto|| hath Yahweh’ helped us.

So the Philistines were subdued, and ||no more|| came within the boundary of Israel,—and the hand of Yahweh was against the Philistines, all the days of Samuel. 14 And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron even as far as Gath; <even the boundaries thereof> did Israel rescue out of the hand of the § 4. Samuel and Saul.

Chapter 8.

1 And it came to pass that he appointed his sons judges to Israel;
2 and the name of his firstborn son was Joel, and the name of his second Abijah;—they were judges in Beer-sheba. Howbeit his sons walked not in his ways; but stooped to extortion,—and took bribes, and perverted judgment.

3 So then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together,—and came unto Samuel, to Ramah; and said unto him—

Lo! art old, and walk not in thy ways:
4 ||Now appoint for us a king to judge us, like all the nations.

5 But the thing was displeasing in the eyes of Samuel, when they said,

Give unto us a king to judge us.

So Samuel prayed unto Yahweh. And Yahweh said unto Samuel,

Hearken unto the voice of the people, in all that they shall say unto thee,—for they have rejected me, and served other gods.

6 ||Now therefore, hearken to their voice,—save that thou enter protest against them, and tell them the manner of the king who will reign over them.

7 So then Samuel spake all the words of Yahweh unto the people, who were asking of him, a king.

8 And he said,

||This will be the manner of the king who will reign over you,—

<Your sons> will he take and appoint for himself, as his charioteers and as his horsemen, and they shall run before his chariots; and he will appoint for himself, princes of thousands, and princes of fifties,—and to plough his fields, and to reap his harvest, and to make his weapons of war, and the instruments of his chariots;

9 And <your daughters> will he take,—as perfumeurs and as cooks, and as bakers; and <your fields, and your vineyards, and your oliveyards, the best of them> will he take, and give to his servants;

10 And <your seed, and your vineyards> will he tithe, and give to his courtiers and to his servants;

11 And <your men-servants, and your maidservants, and your oxen, even the goodliest, and your asses> will he take,—and put them to his work;

12 <Your flocks> will he tithe,—

And ||ye yourselves|| shall become his servants.

13 Then will ye make outcry in that day, because of your king whom ye have chosen for yourselves,—and Yahweh will not answer you in that day.

14 But the people refused to hearken unto the voice of Samuel,—and they said—

Nay! but ||a king|| shall be over us: so shall we become like all the nations,—and our king shall judge us, and go forth before us, and fight our battles.

15 And Samuel heard all the words of the people,—and spake them in the ears of Yahweh.

16 And Yahweh said unto Samuel,

Hearken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel:

Go ye, every man to his own city.
Chapter 9.

1. Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish—son of Abiel, son of Zeror, son of Becorath, son of Aphiah, son of a Benjamite,—a mighty man of valor; and he had a son, whose name was Saul, a choice young man and of noble appearance, and there was not a man of the sons of Israel, more noble than he,—<from his shoulders and upwards> was he taller than any of the people.

2. Now there had gone astray asses belonging to Kish, Saul’s father,—so Kish said unto Saul his son—

   I pray thee, take with thee’ one of the young men, and arise—go, seek the asses.

3. And he passed through the hill country of Ephraim, and passed through the land of Shalishah, but they found them not,—then passed they through the land of Shaalim, and they were not there; then passed he through the land of the Benjamites, but they found them not. ||They had come into the land of Zuph when ||Saul|| said to his young man who was with him,

   Come! and let us return; lest my father leave off [caring] for the asses, and be concerned for us.

4. And he said to him:

   Lo! I pray thee, ||a man of God|| [liveth] in this city, and ||the man|| is held in honour, ||all that he saith|| ||surely cometh to pass||. ||Now|| let us go thither; peradventure’ he may tell us our way, whereon we should have gone.

5. Then said Saul to his young man:

   Behold <if we go> what shall we bring the man, for <<the bread>> hath failed from our sacks, and <present> there is none to bring to the man of God,—what is there with us?

6. And the young man again answered Saul, and said—

   Lo! there is found in my hand, the fourth part of a shekel of silver,—which thou canst give to the man of God, and he will tell us our way.

---

9. ||Beforetime|| in Israel ||thus|| said a man when he went to enquire of God,

   Come and let us go as far as ||the seer,—

   For ||the prophet of to-day|| used to be called [beforetime] ||the seer].

10. And Saul said unto his young man,

   ||Good|| is thy word, come! let us go! So they went unto the city, where the man of God was.

11. <They’ were going up the ascent of the city> when they found young women, coming out to draw water,—so they said unto these,

   Is’ ||the seer|| in this place?

12. And the young women answered them and said:

   He is’, lo! before you now, even as ||to-day|| hath he entered the city, for the people have a sacrifice, to-day, in the high place.

13. ||As ye enter the city> ||so|| shall ye surely find him, ere yet he shall go up to the high place to eat, for the people will not eat until he hath come, for ||he|| doth bless the sacrifice, ||after that> will they’ eat who have been bidden.

   ||Now|| therefore, go up, for <about this very time> shall ye surely find him.

14. So they went up into the city. <<They’ were entering into the midst of the city> lo! ||Samuel|| coming out over against them, to ascend the high place. ||Now|| ||Yahweh|| had unveiled the ear of Samuel,—one day before Saul came, saying:

   <About this time to-morrow> will I send unto thee, a man out of the land of Benjamin, whom thou shalt anoint, to be leader over my people Israel, and he shall save my people, out of the hand of the Philistines,—for I have looked upon the oppression, because their outcry hath come in unto me.

15. And <when ||Samuel|| beheld Saul> ||Yahweh|| answered him,

   Lo! ||the man|| of whom I said unto thee, ||Here|| is one shall control my people.

And Saul drew near unto Samuel, in the midst of the gate, and said—

I pray thee, do tell me, where is the house of the seer?

And Samuel answered Saul, and said—

LL am the seer! Go up before me, to the high place, so shall ye eat with me, to-day,—and I will let thee go in the morning, and will I tell thee.

And as for the asses’ that went astray from thee three days ago do not regard them, for they are found,—but to whom belongeth all that is desirable in Israel? is it not to thee, and to all the house of thy father?

Then answered Saul, and said—

Am not I || a man of Benjamin, || of the smallest of the tribes of Israel, and is not || my family || the poorest of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Wherefore, then, hast thou spoken unto me of such a thing as this?

And Samuel took Saul and his young man, and brought them into the guest-chamber, and gave them a place at the head of them who were bidden, || they being about thirty persons. And Samuel said to the cook, moved to prophesy with them,—and shalt be changed into another man.

7 And it shall be <when these signs shall come unto thee> act thou for thyself, as thou shalt find occasion, for ||God|| is with thee.

8 And thou shalt go down before me' to Gilgal, for lo! I am coming down unto thee, to offer up ascending-offerings, to sacrifice peace-offerings,—<seven days> shalt thou tarry, until I come unto thee, then will I let thee know what thou shalt do.

9 And so it was, that <when he turned away to depart from Samuel> God gave him another heart,—and all these signs came to pass that day.

10 And <when they came thither to the hill> lo! a band of prophets coming to meet him,—then came suddenly upon him, the Spirit of God, and he was moved to prophesy in their midst. And it came to pass, that [all who knew him aforetime] looked, and lo! <when the prophets> he did prophesy. So the people said, one to another—

What, now, hath befallen the son of Kish? Is ||even Saul|| among the prophets?

11Then responded one of that place, and said,

But who‘ is [their father]?

||For this cause|| it became a proverb,

Is ||even Saul|| among the prophets?

12And <when he had made an end of prophesying> he came to the high place. 14 Then said Saul’s uncle unto him, and unto his young man—

Whither have ye been?

And he said,

To seek the asses, and <when they were nowhere>‘ [to be seen]? we came unto Samuel.

13And Saul’s uncle said,—

Do tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said’ to you.

14And Saul said unto his uncle,

He [told] us that the asses were found,— but <as to the matter of the kingdom> he told him not what Samuel had said.

15Then Samuel called out the people, unto Yahweh, at Mizpah, and said unto the sons of Israel—

||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel:

|I myself|| brought up Israel, out of Egypt,— and rescued you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all the kingdoms that distressed you.

19 Yet ||ye|| [to-day], have rejected your God, who ||himself|| hath been giving you salvation from all your calamities and your distresses, and ye have said to him:—

<|A king|>‘ shalt thou set over us,—

||Now|| therefore, present yourselves before Yahweh, by your tribes, and by your thousands.

20And <when Samuel had brought near all the tribes of Israel> then was taken the tribe of Benjamin. 21 And <when he had brought near the tribe of Benjamin> by their families> then was taken the family of Matri,—and <when he had brought near the family of Matri, man by man> then was taken Saul the son of Kish; so they sought him, but he was not to be found. 22 Then asked they again of Yahweh, 23

Hath there yet to come in hither a man? And Yahweh said, Lo! ||he|| hath hid himself among the stores.

24So they ran, and fetched him thence, and <when he presented himself in the midst of the people> then was he [seen to be] taller than any of the people, from his shoulders and upwards. 24 And Samuel said unto all the people—

Have ye seen him whom Yahweh hath chosen, that there is none’ like him, among all the people?

And all the people shouted, and said—

Let the king live!

25Then Samuel declared unto the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a scroll, and laid it up before Yahweh. And Samuel sent away all the people, every man to his own house. 26 Yea ||even Saul|| went to his own house, at Gibeah,—and the valiant men whose heart God had moved went with him. 27 But ||abandoned men| said—

How can this one’ save us?

§ 5. Saul defeats Nahash the Ammonite.

Chapter 11.

1 Then came up Nahash the Ammonite, and encamped against Jabesh-gilead,—and all the man of Jabesh said unto Nahash, Solemnise with us a covenant, that we may serve thee.

2 And Nahash the Ammonite said unto them,

||Hereby|| will I solemnise [a covenant] with you by digging out for you, every one’s right eye,—and laying it for a reproach, upon all Israel.

3 And the elders of Jabesh said unto him—

Give us a respite’ of seven days, that we may send messengers’ throughout all the bounds of Israel,—and then, <if there is none’ to save us> we will come out unto thee.

4 And <when the messengers came to Gibeah of Saul, and spake the words in the ears of the people> all the people lifted up their voice, and wept. 5 But lo! ||Saul|| came in, following the oxen, out of the field, and Saul said,

What aileth the people, that they should weep? Then were recounted to him the words’ of the men of Jabesh. 6 And the Spirit of God came suddenly upon Saul, when he heard these words,—and his anger raged furiously. 7 So he took a yoke of oxen, and cut them in pieces, and sent throughout all the bounds of Israel’ by the hand of messengers—
saying,

<Whosoever cometh not’ forth after Saul, and after Samuel> ||so|| shall it be done unto his oxen.

Then fell the dread of Yahweh upon the people, and they came forth, as one man. 8 And <when he numbered them in Bezek> the sons of Israel were found to be—three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand. 9 So they said unto the messengers who had come—

||Thus|| shall ye surely say to the men of Jabesh-gilead,

||To-morrow|| shall ye have deliverance, about the time the sun is hot.

And <when the messengers came and told the men of Jabesh> they rejoiced. 10 So the men of Jabesh said,

||To-morrow|| will we come out unto you,—

Then shall ye do with us, according to all that is good in your eyes.

11 And it came to pass on the morrow, that Saul set the people in three companies, and they entered into the midst of the host, during the morning watch, and smote Ammon until the day was hot. And it came to pass that [they who were left] were scattered, so that there were not left among them, two together.

12 Then said the people unto Samuel,

Who is he that was saying, Shall ||Saul|| reign over us? 11 Give up the men, that we may put them to death.

13 But Saul said,

There shall not be put to death a man, this day,—for ||to-day|| hath Yahweh wrought deliverance in Israel.

14 Then said Samuel unto the people,

Come and let us go to Gilgal,—and let us there’ renew the kingdom.

15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and made Saul king there, before Yahweh, in Gilgal, and offered there sacrifices of peace-offerings before Yahweh,—and Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced there, ||exceedingly||.

Lo! I have hearkened unto your voice, in all that ye said to me,—and have set over you a king.

And <my sons> lo! they are with you,—But ||I|| have gone to and fro before you from my youth until this day.

For we have added [to all our sins] \[a wrong\], in asking for ourselves a king.

Then said Samuel unto the people—

§ 7. Saul quails before the Philistines: Jonathan and Saul drive them out of the Land; and Saul’s Kingdom is for a time established.

Chapter 13.

1 Saul was [thirty] years old when he began to reign; and <when he had reigned two years over Israel> 2 Saul chose him three thousand men 4 out of Israel, of whom there were with Saul, two thousand in Michmash and in the hill-country of Bethel, and ||a thousand|| were with Jonathan, 5 in Gibeah of Benjamin,—but ||the rest of the people|| he let go, every man to his own home. 6 Then did Jonathan smite the garrison of Philistines that was in Geba, and the Philistines heard of it,—and ||Saul|| blew with a horn throughout all the land, saying,

Let the Hebrews hear!

4 And ||all Israel|| heard say—

Saul hath smitten the garrison of the Philistines, Moreover, also’, Israel have made themselves odious among the Philistines,—so the people were called together to follow Saul, to Gilgal. 5 And ||the Philistines|| gathered themselves together to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, a people also’ like the sand that is on the sea-shore for multitude,—and they came up, and encamped in Michmash, east of Beth-aven. 6 So ||the men of Israel|| saw’ they were in a strait, for the people had been harassed,—and the people had hidden themselves in caves, and in thickets, 7 and among cliffs, and in holes, and in pits. 7 And ||Hebrews|| had passed over the Jordan, to the land of Gad, and Gilead,—but ||Saul|| was yet in Gilgal, and ||the people|| trembled after him. 8 And he waited seven days, by the set time that Samuel had named, 9 but Samuel came not to Gilgal,—and the people were scattered from him. 9 Then said Saul,

Bring near unto me, the ascending-sacrifice and the peace-offerings.

And he offered up the ascending-sacrifice.

10 And it came to pass <as he had made an end of offering up the ascending-sacrifice> lo! ||Samuel|| had come,—and Saul went out to meet him, that he might bless him. 11 Then said Samuel—

What hast thou done?

And Saul said—

||Because I saw that the people had been scattered from me, and ||thou|| hadst not come within the appointed days, and ||the Philistines|| had gathered themselves together to Michmash> 12 therefore I said—

||Now|| will the Philistines come down against me, at Gilgal, but <the face of Yahweh> have I not appeased:

So I forced myself, and offered up the ascending-sacrifice.

13 And Samuel said unto Saul—

Thou hast shewn thyself foolish,—thou hast not kept the commandment of Yahweh thy God, which he commanded thee, for ||now|| would Yahweh have established thy kingdom unto Israel until times age-abiding;

14 Whereas ||now|| shall thy kingdom not be established,—Yahweh hath sought out for him a man after his own heart, and Yahweh hath commanded him to be leader over his people, because thou hast not kept' that which Yahweh commanded thee.

15 And Samuel arose, and ascended from Gilgal up unto Gibeath of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people who were found with him, about six hundred men. 16 Now Saul, and Jonathan his son, and the people that were found with him, were abiding in Geba of Benjamin—but the Philistines had encamped in Michmash. 17 And the spoilers came forth out of the camp of the Philistines, in three companies,—[the first company] turned unto the way of Ophrah, unto the land of Shual; 18 and [the second company] turned unto the way of Beth-horon,—and [the third company] turned unto the way of the boundary that overlooketh the valley of Zeboim, towards the wilderness.

19 Now [a smith] could not be found, throughout all the land of Israel—for the Philistines had said, Lest the Hebrews make sword or spear.

20 So all Israel went down to the Philistines, to sharpen every man his share, and his mattock, and his axe, and his sickle. Howbeit they had a file for the sickles, and the mattocks, and the three-pronged forks, and the axes,—and for setting the goads. Thus would it come to pass in the day of battle that there was found—neither sword nor spear, in the hand of any of the people, that were with Saul and Jonathan, but such were found belonging to Saul and to Jonathan his son. Now the garrison of the Philistines had come out to the pass of Michmash.

Chapter 14.

1 And it came about, on a certain day, that Jonathan son of Saul said unto the young man bearing his armour:

Come! and let us pass over unto the garrison of the Philistines, that is on the other side, yonder! but <to his father> he told it not.

2 Now [Saul] was tarrying in the uttermost part of Gibeah, under the pomegranate tree that is in Migron,—and [the people that were with him] were about six hundred men; and [Ahijah, son of Ahitub, brother of Ichabod, son of Phinehas, son of Eli,] was priest of Yahweh in Shiloh, wearing an ephod,—and [the people] knew not that Jonathan had departed.

4 And <between the passes by which Jonathan sought to cross over up to the garrison of the Philistines> there was a crag of rock on the one side, and a crag of rock on the other side; and [the name of the one] was Bozez, and [the name of the other] Seneh. [The one crag] was a pillar on the north, over against Michmash,—and [the other] on the south, over against Geba. 6 So Jonathan said unto the young man bearing his armour—Come! and let us pass over unto the garrison of these uncircumcised, peradventure Yahweh may work by us,—for there is no restraint with Yahweh, to save by many, or by few.

7 And his armour-bearer said to him, Do all that is in thy heart,—decide for thyself (lo! I am with thee!), according to thine own heart.

8 Then said Jonathan, Lo! we are crossing over unto the men,—and will discover ourselves unto them. 9 <If> they say unto us, Keep quiet' until we get to you> then will we stand still where we are, and will not go up unto them; 10 but <if they say, Come up unto us> then will we go up; for Yahweh hath delivered them into our hand. —[This] then, is our' sign'.

11 So they two discovered' themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines,—and the Philistines said—Lo! Hebrews coming forth out of the holes, wherein they had hidden themselves.

12 And the men of the garrison responded to Jonathan and his armour-bearer, and said—Come up unto us, and we will let you know a thing. Then said Jonathan unto his armour-bearer—Come up after me, for Yahweh hath delivered them into the hand of Israel.
So Jonathan went up on his hands and on his feet, and [his armour-bearer] followed him,—and they fell before Jonathan, and [his armour-bearer] was slaying after him. And the first smiting wherewith Jonathan and his armour-bearer smote, was about twenty men,—within, as it were, half a furrow’s length of a yoke of land. And there came to be a trembling in the camp, in the field, and among all the people, [the outposts and the spoilers] [they too] trembled,—and the earth’ quaked, so it became a preternatural trembling. And the scouts of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and lo! [the camp] melted away, hither and thither. Then said Saul unto the people who were with him: Number, I pray you, and see who hath departed from us. So they numbered; and lo! Jonathan and his armour-bearer were missing. Then said Saul unto Ahijah, Bring near the ark of God; for the ark of God was, on that day, in the midst of the sons of Israel. And it came to pass, <as soon as Saul had spoken unto the priest> that [the tumultuous noise that was in the camp of the Philistines] went on and on [increasing]. Then said Saul unto the priest— Withdraw thy hand." And Saul and all the people that were with him gathered themselves together, and came as far as the host,—and lo! the sword of every man was against his fellow, [an exceeding great confusion]. And <the Hebrews who had aforetime belonged to the Philistines, who had come up with them in the host> [even they] turned round so as to be with Israel who were with Saul and Jonathan. And [all the men of Israel who had hidden themselves throughout the hill country of Ephraim] heard’ that the Philistines had fled’,—and [they also] followed hard after them in the battle. Thus did Yahweh, on that day, save Israel,—and [the battle] passed over by Beth-aven. Now [the men of Israel] were tired out on that day,—yet had Saul bound the people by an oath, saying— ||Cursed|| be the man that eateth food until the evening, and I be avenged upon mine enemies. So none of the people had tasted food. And [all the land] had entered into the forest,—and there was honey’ upon the face of the ground. So the people came into the forest, and lo! there were streams of honey,—but no’ man reached his hand to his mouth, because the people revered’ the oath. But ||Jonathan|| heard not his father putting the people on oath, so he reached forth the end of the staff that was in his hand, and dipped it in the honey-copse,—and brought back his hand to his mouth, and his eyes were brightened. Then responded one from among the people, and said— ||With an oath|| did thy father charge the people, saying— ||Cursed|| be the man that eateth food to-day! And so the people were faint. Then said Jonathan: My father hath afflicted’ the land,—See, I pray you, how my own eyes have been brightened, because I tasted a little of this honey. How much more if haply the people had eaten freely to-day of the spoil of their enemies, which they found? for [now] would not the smiting of the Philistines have been mighty’? Howbeit they smote the Philistines on that day from Michmash to Ajival,—but the people became exceeding faint. And the people darted greedily upon the spoil, and took sheep, and oxen, and calves, and felled them to the ground,—and the people did eat [with the blood]. And they told Saul, saying, Lo! [the people] are sinning against Yahweh, by eating with the blood.

And he said—
Ye have dealt treacherously, roll unto me, here, a great stone.

34 And Saul said—
Disperse yourselves among the people, and say unto them—
Bring near unto me every man his ox, and every man his lamb, and slay them here, and then eat, so shall ye not sin against Yahweh, by eating with the blood.

And all the people brought near—every man that which was in his hand, that night, and they slew them there. 35 And Saul built an altar unto Yahweh,—[the same] was the first altar that he built unto Yahweh.

36 Then said Saul—
Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and make of them a prey until the morning light, and let us not leave of them [a man].

And they said,
<All that is good in thine eyes> do! Then said the priest, Let us draw near hither unto God.

37 So Saul asked of God, Shall I go down after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Israel?

But he answered him not, that day. 38 Then said Saul, Come near hither, all ye chiefs of the people,—and get to know and see, wherein hath been this sin, to-day.

39 For [by the life of Yahweh, who saveth Israel] <though it be in Jonathan my son> yet shall he <die>.

But there was none ready to answer him, of all the people. 40 Then said he unto all Israel—[Ye] shall be on one side, and [I and Jonathan my son] will be on the other side.

And the people said unto Saul,
<What is good in thine eyes> do!

41 And Saul said unto Yahweh—O God of Israel! now set forth the truth.

Then were [Jonathan and Saul] taken, and [the people] escaped. 42 And Saul said, Cast lots between me, and Jonathan my son.

Then was [Jonathan] taken.

43 And Saul said unto Jonathan,
Come tell me, what thou hast done.

So Jonathan told him, and said,
I [just tasted] <with the end of the staff that was in my hand> [a little honey], here I am—I must die!

44 Then said Saul:
<[[So]] may God do, and [[So]] may he add> surely thou must [[die]], Jonathan!

45 But the people said unto Saul—Shall [[Jonathan]] die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? Far be it! [By the life of Yahweh] there shall not fall a hair of his head to the ground, for <with God> hath he wrought this day.

So the people delivered Jonathan, that he died not. 46 Then Saul went up from following the Philistines,—and [[the Philistines]] departed unto their own place.

47 And [[Saul]] took possession of the kingdom over Israel,—and made war round about against all his enemies—against Moab, and against the sons of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines, and <whomsoever he turned against> he was victorious. 48 Then made he ready a force, and smote the Amalekites,—and delivered Israel out of the hand of such as plundered them.

49 And the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishvi, and Malchishua,—and [[the names of his two daughters]] were, [[the name of the firstborn]] Merab, and [[the name of the younger]] Michal,—50 and [[the name of Saul’s wife]] was Ahinoam, daughter of Ahimaaz,—and the name of the prince of his host, Abner, son of Ner, Saul’s uncle. 51 And [[Kish]] was Saul’s father, and [[Ner, Abner’s father]] was son of Abiel.

52 And the war was severe against the Philistines’ all the days of Saul,—and <whenever Saul saw any mighty man, or any son of valour> he drew him unto himself.
§ 8. Saul, commissioned to destroy Amalek, fails, and his Reign is doomed.

Chapter 15.

1 And Samuel said unto Saul,
   It was [me] Yahweh sent to anoint thee to be king over his people, over Israel,—[now] therefore, hearken thou to the voice of Yahweh’s words.

2 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
   I have well considered what Amalek did unto Israel,—how he lay in wait for him in the way, when he came up out of Egypt.

3 ||Now|| go and smite Amalek, and devote ye to destruction all that he hath, and spare him not,—but thou shalt slay both man and woman, both child and suckling, both ox and sheep, both camel and ass.

4 So then Saul called together the people, and numbered them in Telaim, Go, depart, get you down out of the midst of the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them, yet I dealt in lovingkindness, with all the sons of Israel, when they came up out of Egypt.

5 And Saul came as far as the city of Amalek,—and he took Agag, king of Amalek, [alive],—but <all the people> devoted he to destruction at the edge of the sword.

6 But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the sheep and the oxen and the lambs, also the fatlings, and all that was good, and would not devote them to destruction,—but <all the cattle that was contemptible and diseased> [that] devoted they to destruction.

7 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Samuel, saying—
   I am grieved that I made Saul to be king, for he hath turned back from following me, and <my words> hath he not established.

8 And it was vexing to Samuel, so that he made outcry unto Yahweh, all the night. 12 And Samuel rose early to meet Saul, in the morning, and it was told Samuel, saying—<Saul having come to Carmel, and lo! having set him up a sign> hath gone round, and passed over, and descended to Gilgal.

9 And Saul came unto Saul,—and Saul said unto him—
   ||Blessed|| be thou by Yahweh: I have established the word of Yahweh.

10 And Samuel said,
   "What then is this bleating of sheep, in mine ears,—and the lowing of oxen, which I’ can hear?"

11 Then said Saul—
   <From the Amalekites> have they brought them in; in that the people spared the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto Yahweh thy God,—but <the rest> have we devoted to destruction.

12 Then said Samuel unto Saul, "Stay, and let me tell thee, that which Yahweh hath spoken unto me, this night.
   And he said to him—
   "Speak.

13 And Samuel said,
   "Was it not <when ||little|| thou wast in thine own eyes> that thou wast made ||head of the tribes of Israel||,—and that Yahweh anointed thee to be king’ over Israel?"

14 So then Yahweh sent thee on a journey,—and said—
   Go, and devastate to destruction, the sinners—the Amalekites, and make war against them, until they have consumed them.

15 Wherefore, then, didst thou not hearken unto the voice of Yahweh,—but didst rush upon the spoil, and do that which was wrong in the sight of Yahweh?

16 And Saul said unto Samuel—
   "As indeed I have hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh, and have been on the journey on which Yahweh sent me,—and have brought in Agag, king of Amalek, and <the Amalekites> have I devoted to destruction.

21 And the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen,
The chief of the things so devoted,—
To sacrifice unto Yahweh thy God, in Gilgal.

22 Then said Samuel—Doth that which is pleasing unto Yahweh consist in ascending-offerings and sacrifices,
So much as in hearkening unto the voice of Yahweh?
Lo! [to hearken] is [better] than [sacrifice],
And [to give heed] than [the fat of rams];

23 For <as the sin of divination> is [rebelliousness],—
And <as transgression with household gods> is [stubbornness],—
<Because thou hast rejected the word of Yahweh>
||Therefore hath he rejected thee from being king||.

24 Then said Saul unto Samuel—
I have sinned; for I have transgressed the bidding of Yahweh, and thy words,—for I feared the people, and hearkened unto their voice.

25 ||Now|| therefore, [I pray thee] pardon my sin,— and turn again with me, that I may bow down unto Yahweh.

26 And Samuel said unto Saul,
I will not turn again with thee,—
<Because thou hast rejected the word of Yahweh>
||Therefore hath Yahweh rejected thee from being king over Israel||.

27 And <when Samuel turned about to go away> then laid he hold of the skirt of his robe, and it was rent.

28 And Samuel said unto him,
Yahweh hath rent the kingdom of Israel from off thee, to-day,—and will give it unto a neighbour of thine, who is better than thou.

29 ||Moreover also|| ||the Eminence of Israel|| will not lie, neither will he repent,—
For no [son of earth] is [he] to repent!

30 Then he said:
I have sinned,

||Now|| honour me, I pray thee, before the elders of my people, and before Israel,—and turn again with me, then will I bow down unto Yahweh thy God.

31 So then Samuel turned again, after Saul—and Saul bowed down unto Yahweh. 32 Then said Samuel—Bring ye near unto me—Agag, king of Amalek,
And Agag came unto him, in fetters. Then said Agag, Surely <terrible> is the bitterness of death!

And Samuel said,
<As women have been made childless by thy sword>
||So|| [childless among women] shall be [thine own mother].
And Samuel cut Agag asunder' before Yahweh, in Gilgal.

34 Then Samuel departed unto Ramah,—but ||Saul|| went up unto his own house, at Gibeah of Saul. 35 And Samuel did no more see Saul, until the day of his death, for Samuel pined for Saul,—but ||Yahweh|| was grieved' that he had made Saul king over Israel.

Chapter 16.

1 And Yahweh said unto Samuel—
||How long|| art thou going to pine for Saul, seeing that ||I|| have rejected' him from being king over Israel?
Fill thy horn with oil, and come! let me send thee unto Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have provided me [among his sons] ||a king||.

2 And Samuel said,
How' can I go? <As soon as Saul heareth> he will slay me.
Then said Yahweh,
<A heifer> take thou with thee, and say,
||To sacrifice unto Yahweh|| am I come.

3 Then shall thou bid Jesse to the sacrifice,— when ||I|| will let thee know' what thou must do, so shalt thou anoint for me him whom I shall name unto thee.

And Samuel did that which Yahweh had spoken, and went to Bethlehem. And the elders of the city came trembling to meet him, and one said—

<Peaceably> comest thou?

And he said—

Peaceably: <to sacrifice unto Yahweh> am I come. Hallow yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice.

And he hallowed Jesse’ and his sons, and bade them to the sacrifice. And it came to pass <when they entered> that he looked upon Eliab,—and said to himself, Surely' <before Yahweh> is his Anointed.

But Yahweh said unto Samuel—

Do not regard his countenance, or the height of his stature, for I have rejected him,—for it is not what man’ looketh to but what God’ looketh to.

For [man] looketh to the outward appearance’, but [Yahweh] looketh to the heart’.

Then Jesse called Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel,—and he said, <Neither of this one> hath Yahweh made choice.

Then Jesse made Shammah’ pass by,—and he said—

<Nor of this one> hath Yahweh made choice.

Then said Samuel unto Jesse—

Are these all’ the young men? And he said—

There yet’ remaineth [the youngest], but lo! he is tending the sheep.

Then said Samuel unto Jesse—

Do [send] and summon him, for we cannot sit round, until he cometh in hither.

So he sent, and brought him in. Now [he] was ruddy, a stripling’ with handsome eyes, and noble mien. Then said Yahweh—Rise—anoint him, for [this] is [he].

And Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren. And the Spirit of Yahweh came mightily upon David [from that day forward]]. Then arose Samuel, and went his way unto Ramah.

But [the spirit of Yahweh] departed from Saul,—and there terrified him a sad spirit, from Yahweh.

Then said the servants of Saul unto him,—

Lo! we pray thee, [a sad superhuman spirit] doth terrify thee:

Pray let our lord bid thy servants before thee, seek out a man, skilled in playing on the lyre,—so shall it be, <when a sad superhuman spirit cometh on thee> then shall he play with his hand, and thou shalt be joyful.

And Saul said unto his servants,—

I pray you, look out for me a man that excelleth in playing, and bring him in unto me.

Then responded one of the young men and said—

Lo! I have seen—a son of Jesse, the Bethlehemite, skilled in playing, and a mighty man of valour, and a man of war, and of intelligent speech, and a handsome man, and [Yahweh] is with him.

So Saul sent messengers unto Jesse,—and said, [Send] unto me—David thy son, who is with the sheep.

Then took Jesse an ass laden with bread, and a skin of wine, and one kid,—and sent by the hand of David his son, unto Saul. And David came in unto Saul,—and stood before him,—and he loved him greatly, and he became his armour-bearer.

And Saul sent unto Jesse, saying,—

I pray thee, let David stand before me, for he hath found favour in mine eyes.

And so it used to be, <when a superhuman spirit> came unto Saul> then would David take the lyre, and play with his hand,—and Saul would be refreshed, and be joyful, and [the sad spirit] would depart from him.

encamped between Socho and Azekah in Ephes-dammim; 2 and ||Saul and the men of Israel|| gathered themselves together, and encamped in the vale of Elah, and set the army in array against the Philistines. 3 And ||the Philistines|| were standing near the hill on one’ side, and ||the Israelites|| were standing near the hill on the other’ side,—while ||the valley|| was between them.

4 And there came forth a champion’ out of the camp of the Philistines, ||Goliath|| his name, from Gath,—||his height|| six cubits and a span;
5 with a helmet of bronze on his head, and <with a scaly coat of mail> was he’ clad,—||the weight of the coat|| being five thousand shekels of bronze; 6 and ||greaves|| of bronze on his feet,—and ||a javelin of bronze|| between his shoulders;
7 and ||the shaft of his spear|| was like a weaver’s beam, and ||the flashing head of his spear|| was six hundred shekels of iron,—and ||his shield-bearer|| was coming on before him.

8 And he took his stand, and cried unto the ranks of Israel, and said unto them,

Wherefore’ should ye come out, to set in array for battle? Am not ||a Philistine||, while ||ye|| are servants unto Saul? Choose you a man, and let him come down unto me:
9 <If he prevail in fighting with me, and smite me> then will we become your’ servants,—but <if ||I|| prevail over him, and smite him> then shall ye become our’ servants, and serve ||us||.

10 And the Philistine said—

||I|| reproach the ranks of Israel, this day,—give me a man, that we may fight together.
11 <When Saul and all Israel heard’ these words of the Philistine> they were dismayed, and feared exceedingly.c

12 Now ||David|| was the son of that Ephrathite of Bethlehem-judah, whose [name] was Jesse, and [who] had eight sons,—and ||the man|| in the days of Saul was old, advanced in years.d

13 And the three eldest sons of Jesse had followed’ Saul to the battle,—and ||the names of his three sons who went into the battle|| were Eliab the firstborn, and ||the next to him|| Abinadab, and ||the third|| Shammah. 14 But <as for David> ||he|| was the youngest,—and ||the three eldest|| followed Saul; 15 whereas ||David|| kept going and returning from Saul,—to tend his father’s’ sheep at Bethlehem.

16 And the Philistine drew near morning and evening,—and presented himself forty days.

17 And Jesse said unto David his son,

Take, I pray thee, unto thy brethren—this ephah of parched corn, and these ten loaves,—and run to the camp unto thy brethren;
18 <also these ten slices of soft cheese> shalt thou take to the captain of their thousand,—and <as for thy brethren> give good heed to their welfare, <their pledge>e also shalt thou receive.

19 Now ||Saul, and they, and all the men of Israel|| were in the vale of Elah, ready to fight with the Philistines. 20 So then David rose up early in the morning, and entrusted the sheep to a keeper, and took up ||the provisions|| and went his way, as Jesse had commanded him,—and came into the circular rampart, as ||the force|| was going forth into the ranks, and shouted for the fight. 21 So Israel and the Philistines set in array for battle, army against army. 22 Then David entrusted the provisions that were upon him to the care of the keeper of the stores, and ran unto the ranks,—and came and asked for the welfare of his brethren. 23 Now <as he’ was speaking with them> lo! the champion coming up, ||Goliath the Philistine|| by name, of Gath, [coming up] out of the ranks of the Philistines, and he spake according to these words,—and David heard [them]. 24 Now ||all the men of Israel|| <when they saw the man> fled from before him, and feared exceedingly. 25 And the men of Israel said—

Have ye seen this man that is coming up?

For <to reproach Israel> is he coming.

So then it shall be, that <the man that shall smite him> ||the same|| will the king enrich with great riches, and <his own daughter> will give him, and <his father’s house> will he make free in Israel.

26 Then spake David unto the men that were standing by him, saying,
What shall be done to the man that shall smite yonder Philistine, and so shall take away reproach from off Israel?
For who’ is this uncircumcised Philistine that he hath reproached the ranks of a Living God?

27 And the people answered him, according to this word, saying,—
||So| shall it be done to the man that shall smite him.

28 Now Eliab his eldest brother heard’ when he spake unto the men,—then was kindled the anger of Eliab against David, and he said—
Wherefore is’ it that thou hast come down? and to whom’ hast thou entrusted those few sheep in the wilderness?
||I|| know thy pride, and the foolishness of thy heart, for <to see the battle> hast thou come down.

29 And David said,
What have I done ||now||? Was there not ||a cause||?

30 Then turned he from him unto another, and said—according to this word,—and the people returned him an answer, like the first. 31 And the words which David spake were overheard,—and <when they told them before Saul> he summoned him.

32 And David said unto Saul,
Let not the heart of my lord fail, because of him,—||thy servant|| will go, and fight with this Philistine.

33 And Saul said unto David—
Thou art not able to go against this Philistine, to fight with him,—for  art ||thou|| but ||he|| a man of war’ from his youth.

34 Then said David unto Saul,
Thy servant used to tend’ his father’s sheep,— and there would come a lion, or a bear, and carry off a lamb out of the flock; 35 and I would go out after him, and smite him, and rescue it out of his mouth,—and <if he rose against me> I would catch him by his beard, and smite him, and slay him.

36 Thy servant could slay ||either a lion or a bear||,—and ||this uncircumcised Philistine| shall become’ ||as one of them|| for he hath reproached the ranks of a Living God.

37 And David said,
||Yahweh|| <who hath rescued me out of the power of the lion, and out of the power of the bear> ||he|| will rescue us out of the hand of this Philistine.
Then said Saul unto David,—
Go! and ||Yahweh|| will be with thee.

38 And Saul clad David with his own military coat, and set a helmet of bronze upon his head,—and clad him with a coat of mail. 39 And David girded his sword above his military coat, but was reluctant’ to go, for he had not proved them,—so David said unto Saul—
I cannot go in these, for I have not proved them.
And David put them off him. 40 Then took he his stick in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of the torrent-bed, and put them in the shepherd’s-pouch which he had—even in the wallet, and had his sling in his hand,—and so drew near unto the Philistine. 41 And the Philistine’ came on and on, and drew near unto David,—and the man carrying the shield was before him. 42 And <when the Philistine looked about, and saw David> he disdained him,—for he was a youth, and ruddy, a stripling of fair countenance. 43 Then said the Philistine unto David,
<A dog> am ||I||, that thou’ art coming unto me ||with sticks||?
And the Philistine cursed David, by his god. 44 And the Philistine said unto David,—
|Come| unto me, that I may give thy flesh to the birds of heaven, and to the beasts of the field.

45 Then said David unto the Philistine—
||Thou|| art coming unto me’ with sword, and with spear, and with javelin,—but ||I|| am coming unto thee’ in the name of Yahweh of hosts, God of the ranks of Israel which thou hast reproached.

46 ||This day|| will Yahweh deliver thee into my hand, and I will smite thee, and take thy head from off thee, and will give thy dead body and the dead bodies of the host of Philistines, this day, unto the birds of heaven, and unto the 48 And it came to pass <when the Philistine arose, and came and drew near to meet David> that David hasted, and ran toward the ranks to meet the Philistine. 49 And David thrust his hand into his pouch, and took from thence a stone, and slung it, and smote the Philistine, in his forehead,—that the stone sank into his forehead, and he fell upon his face, to the earth. 50 Thus David prevailed over the Philistine, with the sling and with the stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him,—but <sword> was there none in the hand of David. 51 So David ran, and stood by the Philistine, and took his sword and drew it out of the sheath thereof, and slew him, and cut off therewith, his head,—and <when the Philistines saw that their hero was slain> they fled.

52 Then arose the men of Israel and Judah, and shouted, and pursued the Philistines, as far as the entrance into Gath, d and as far as the gates of Ekron,—and the slain of the Philistines fell in the way to the two gates, even as far as Gath and as far as Ekron. 53 And the sons of Israel returned from hotly pursuing the Philistines,—and plundered their camps. 54 And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it into Jerusalem,—but <his armour> put he into his tent. 55 And <when Saul saw David going forth to meet the Philistine> he said unto Abner, prince of the host,

Whose son is the young man, Abner?
And Abner said,

||By the life of thy soul|| O king! I know not. 56 Then said the king,—

Ask ||thou|| whose son the stripling is? 57 And <when David returned from smiting the Philistine> Abner took him, and brought him before Saul,—||with the head of the Philistine in his hand||. 58 And Saul said unto him,

Whose son art ||thou|| O young man?
And David said,

Son of thy servant Jesse, the Bethlehemite.

§ 11. David and Jonathan—David in disfavour with Saul.

Chapter 18.

1 And it came to pass <when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul> that ||the soul of Jonathan|| was knit with ||the soul of David||, so that Jonathan loved him ||as his own soul||. 2 And Saul took him, that day,—and suffered him not to return unto the house of his father. 3 And Jonathan and David solemnised a covenant,—||because he loved him as his own soul||. 4 And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe which was upon him, and gave it to David,—and his equipments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle. 5 And David went forth—<whithersoever Saul sent him> he behaved himself prudently, so Saul set him over the men of war,—and he became a favourite in the eyes of all the people, ||yea even in the eyes of the servants of Saul||. 6 But so it was <when they came in on the return of David from the smiting of the Philistine> that the women that made merry responded to each other in song, and said,—

||Saul|| hath smitten ||his thousands||. 8 But ||David|| his ||tens of thousands||. 9 Then was Saul exceeding angry, and this saying was offensive in his eyes, and he said,—

They have ascribed ||to David|| ten thousands, But ||to me|| have they ascribed thousands,—What ||more|| then, can he have but ||the kingdom||? 9 And Saul was eyeing David from that day forward.

And when it came to pass, on the morrow, that a superhuman spirit of sadness came suddenly upon Saul, and he was moved to raving in the midst of the house,—and ||David|| began playing with his hand, as he had done day by day> that a spear being in Saul’s hand, 11 Saul hurled the spear, and said to himself—

I will smite David, even to the wall!

But David moved round from before him [[twice]].

And Saul feared because of David,—||saul|| had departed. 13 So Saul removed him from him, and appointed him to be for him the captain of a thousand,—and he went out and came in before the people. 14 And it came to pass that David, in all his ways, a acted prudently,—and ||Yahweh|| was with him.

And <when Saul saw’ that ||he|| was acting very prudently> he was afraid of him. 16 But ||all Israel and Judah|| were in love with David,—for he’ was going out and coming in before them. 17 Then so Saul said unto David—

Lo! my elder daughter Merab> ||her|| will I give thee to wife, [only] approve thyself unto me as a son of valour and fight the battles of Yahweh. ||Saul|| however, had said to himself—

Let not [my own hand] be upon him, but let [[the hand of the Philistines]] be upon him.

And David said unto Saul—

Who am ||I||, or who are my kinsfolk, b the family of my father, in Israel,—that I should become son-in-law, ||to the king||?

But it came to pass, <within the time for giving Merab daughter of Saul to David> that ||she|| was given to Adriel the Meholathite, to wife. 20 Then did Michal, Saul’s daughter, love David,—and it was told Saul, and the thing was right in his eyes.

And Saul said to himself—

I will give her unto him, that she may prove to him a snare, and that ||the hand of the Philistines|| may be upon him. So then Saul said unto David, ||A second time|| mayest thou become my son-in-law to-day.

And Saul commanded his servants c—

Speak ye unto David quietly’ saying,

||lo! the king delighteth in thee, and ||all his servants|| love thee,—||now||, therefore, become thou son-in-law to the king.

And the servants of Saul spake, [in the ears of David] these words. And David said—

Seemeth it a light thing [in your eyes] to become son-in-law to the king, seeing that ||I|| am a poor man and lightly esteemed?

So the servants of Saul told him, saying,—

||According to these words|| spake David,

Then said Saul—

||Thus|| shall ye say unto David—

The king hath no’ delight in purchase-price, but rather in a hundred foreskins of Philistines, by averging himself on the enemies of the king.

But ||Saul|| thought’ to let David fall by the hand of the Philistines. 26 So <when his servants told David these words> the thing was right in the eyes of David, to become son-in-law unto the king,—and the days had not expired. 27 Wherefore David arose, and went—[[he’ and his men]], and smote among the Philistines two hundred men, and David brought in their foreskins, and gave them d in full tale unto the king, that he might become son-in-law unto the king, and Saul gave him Michal his daughter, to wife.

And Saul saw and knew that ||Yahweh|| was with David, and that ||all Israel|| loved him.

So then Saul went on to fear because of David, yet more,—and it came to pass that Saul was hostile to David, all the days. 30 And <when the princes of the Philistines came forth> so it was, that <as often as they came forth> David was more circumspect than any of the servants of Saul, so that his name’ was ||precious exceedingly||.

Chapter 19.

Then spake Saul unto Jonathan his son, and unto all his servants, that they should put David to death; 2 but ||Jonathan, Saul’s son|| delighted in David, exceedingly,—so Jonathan told David, saying,

Saul, my father, is seeking to put thee to death,—||now|| therefore, take heed to thyself I pray thee, in the morning, and abide thou in concealment, and hide thyself. 3 and ||I|| will come out and stand beside my father, in the field where thou art, and I will speak of thee unto my father,—and if I see aught I will tell thee.

4 So then Jonathan spake of David things that were good, unto Saul his father,—and said unto him—May the king not sin against his servant—against David; for he hath not sinned against thee, [may, indeed] his doings have been good to theeward exceedingly.

And when he put his life in his hand, and smote the Philistines, and Yahweh wrought a great victory for all Israel> thou sawest, and didst rejoice.

Wherefore, then, shouldst thou sin against innocent blood by putting David to death without cause?

6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan,—and Saul sware, ||By the life of Yahweh|| he shall not be put to death!

7 And Jonathan called for David, and Jonathan told him all these things,—and Jonathan brought in David unto Saul, and so he was in his presence, as aforetime.

8 But when the war again brake out,—and David went forth and fought with the Philistines, and smote them with a great smiting, and they fled before him> then came there a sad spirit of Yahweh unto Saul, <he> being in his house, seated, with his spear in his hand,—while ||David|| played with his hand>

9 Saul sought to smite David with the spear, even to the wall, but he slipped away from before Saul, who smote the spear into the wall,—whereas ||David|| fled and escaped, that night.

10 And Saul sent messengers unto David’s house, to watch him, and to put him to death, in the morning! And Michal his wife told David, saying, <If thou do not deliver thyself> to-night> ||tomorrow|| art thou to be put to death.

11 So Michal let down David, through the window, and he departed and fled, and escaped.

12 So Michal took the household god, and put it in the bed, and ||a fly-net of goat’s-hair|| put she at its head,—and covered it with the clothes.

13 And when Saul sent messengers to take David> she said—

He is ||sick||.

14 So Saul sent messengers to see David, saying,—Bring him up in the bed unto me, that I may put him to death.

15 And <when the messengers entered> lo! the household god> in the bed,—with a fly-net of goat’s-hair at its head.

16 And Saul said unto Michal—Wherefore hast thou deceived me, and let go mine enemy, that he hath escaped? Then said Michal unto Saul, ||He himself|| said unto me—Let me go, wherefore should I put thee to death?

17 So ||David|| fled, and escaped, and came in unto Samuel in Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him,—and he and Samuel departed, and dwelt in Naioth.

18 And it was told Saul, saying,—Lo! ||David|| is in Naioth, in Ramah.

19 So Saul sent messengers to take David, but <when they saw> the assembly of prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as head over them> then came the Spirit of God upon the messengers of Saul, and ||they also|| were moved to prophesy.

20 And <when they told Saul, and he sent other messengers> then were ||they also|| moved to prophesy. And <when Saul again sent messengers a third time> then were ||they also|| moved to prophesy.

21 Then went ||he also himself|| to Ramah, and came in as far as the well of the threshing-floor which is in Sephi, and asked and said,

Where are Samuel and David? And one said—Lo! in Naioth, in Ramah.

Chapter 20.

1 And David fled from Naioth, in Ramah,—and came in, and said before Jonathan—What have I done? What is my transgression, and what my sin, before thy father, that he seeketh my life?

2 And he said unto him—Far be it! thou shalt not die.

Lo! my father doeth nothing, great or small, without unveiling mine ear,—wherefore, then, should my father hide from me [this thing]?

There is [nothing] in this.

3 But David sware yet further, and said—Thy father ||doth know|| that I have found favour in thine eyes, therefore saith he,—Do not let Jonathan know this, lest he grieve; but, indeed' <by the life of Yahweh, and by the life of thine own soul> surely there is but as it were a step' betwixt me and death!

4 And Jonathan said unto David,—<Whatsoever thy soul shall desire>b I will do for thee.

5 And David said unto Jonathan—Lo! ||[the new moon]|| is to-morrow, and ||[I]|| must not sit' with the king, to eat,—let me go then, and hide myself in the field, until the evening.d

6 <If thy father ||enquire|| for me> then shalt thou say—David ||did ask leave|| of me, to run to Bethlehem, his own city, for ||a yearly sacrifice|| [is to be held] there for all the family.

7 <If ||thus|| he say—It is well>,— thy servant shall have [peace],—but <if it ||anger|| him> know that harm hath been determined by him.

8 Thus shalt thou do a lovingkindness for thy servant, for <into a covenant of Yahweh> hast thou brought thy servant, with thee,—But <if there is' in me transgression> put me to death ||[thyself]||, for <unto thy father> wherefore shouldst thou bring me in?

9 And Jonathan said—

Far be it from thee! but <if I ||get to know|| that harm is determined by my father, to bring it upon thee> is not ||[that]|| the thing that I will tell thee?

10 Then said David unto Jonathan, Who' shall tell me,—if thy father answer thee aught' that is [harsh]?

11 And Jonathan said unto David, Come!, and let us go out into the field.

And they two went out into the field. 12 Then said Jonathan unto David—<Witness' [be] Yahweh God of Israel> that I will sound' my father about this time to-morrow or the third day, and lo! <if there be good towards David> will I not [then] send unto thee, and unveil thine ear? 13 ||So|| let Yahweh do unto Jonathan, and ||so|| let him add—<when harm against thee seemeth good' unto my father> then will I unveil thine ear, and let thee go, and thou shalt depart in peace,—then Yahweh be with thee, ||[as he hath been with my father]].

And <not only while I yet live> shalt thou deal with me in the lovingkindness of Yahweh, that I die not: 15 but thou shalt not cut off thy lovingkindness from my house, unto times age-abiding,—no! ||not when Yahweh hath cut off the enemies of David, every one' from off the face of the ground]].

16 Thus Jonathan solemnised a covenant with the house of David [saying],—

So let Yahweh' require it, at the hand of the enemies of David.

17 And again' Jonathan sware unto David,||by his love to him||,—for ||as he loved his own soul|| so' loved he him. 18 Then said Jonathan unto him—

19 And when thou hast tarried three days> thou shalt come down quickly and enter the place, where thou didst hide thyself on the day of the deed, and shall remain by the side of this mound. 20 And <as for me—three arrows to the side> will I shoot,—as though I shot at a mark.

21 And lo! I will send the boy [saying], Go, find the arrow!

<If I ||say] to the boy—

Lo! ||the arrows] are on this side of thee—take them>

then come, for there is peace for thee, and no’ cause [for fear] ||by the life of Yahweh].

22 But <if [thou]] I say to the youth, Lo! the arrows are beyond thee> depart, for Yahweh hath sent thee away.

23 But <as touching the matter whereof we spake—||I and thou]]> lo! ||Yahweh]] be betwixt me and thee, unto times age-abiding.

24 So David hid himself in the field—and <when the new moon had come> the king sat down to eat ||food]]. 25 yea the king sat down on his seat, as at other times, by the seat against the wall, and <when Jonathan arose> Abner seated himself by the side of Saul,—but David’s place was empty. 26 Saul, however, spoke nothing that day,—for he said to himself—

It is ||an accident] he is ||not clean], because he hath not been cleansed.

27 And it came to pass [on the morrow, the second of the month] that David’s place was empty,—and Saul said unto Jonathan his son, Wherefore hath not the son of Jesse come in ||either yesterday or to-day]] to meat?

28 And Jonathan answered Saul,—David ||asked leave] of me, ||to go] as far as Bethlehem; 29 and said—

Let me go, I pray thee, for  have we in the city, and my brethren have commanded me, ||now]], therefore, <if I have found favour in thine eyes> let me slip away, I pray thee, that I may see my brethren.

||For this cause]] hath he not come in unto the table of the king.

30 Then was Saul’s anger kindled against Jonathan, and he said unto him, Thou son of rebellious perversity! do I not know that thou’ art ||confederate]] with k the son of Jesse’ to thine own confusion, and to the confusion of the shame of thy mother?

31 For <as long as [the son of Jesse]] liveth on the ground> thou wilt not be established, ||thou nor thy kingdom]], ||Now]] therefore, send and fetch him unto me, for <doomed to death> is he!

32 And Jonathan responded to Saul his father,—and said unto him—

Wherefore’ must he be put to death? What hath he done?

33 And Saul hurred his spear at him, to smite him. So Jonathan knew’ that it was ||determined]] of his father, to put David to death. 34 Jonathan therefore rose up from the table, in a glow of anger,—and did eat no food’ on the second day of the month, for he was grieved for David, because his father had reviled him.

35 And it came to pass in the morning, that Jonathan went forth into the field, to the place appointed with David,—||a little lad]] being with him. 36 And he said to his lad—

Run, find, I pray thee, the arrows which I’ am about to shoot.

||The boy]] ran, but ||he]] shot the arrow beyond him. 37 And <when the lad came as far as the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot> Jonathan cried after the lad, and said, Is not the arrow [beyond] thee?

38 And Jonathan cried after the lad, Haste thee—be quick, do not stay!
Chapter 21.

Then came David to Nob, unto Ahimelech the priest,—and Ahimelech trembled when he met David, and said unto him—

Why’s art thou’ ||alone]], and [no man] with thee?

And David said unto Ahimelech the priest—

||The king|| hath charged me with a matter, and hath said unto me—

Let [no man] know aught of the business on which I am sending thee, and with which I have charged thee,—

But unto the young men have I appointed [such and such a place].

||Now|| therefore, what is there under thy hand? <Five loaves> give thou into my hand,—or whatever can be found.

And the priest answered David, and said, There is no common bread under my hand,—but <hallowed bread> there is’, if the young men have kept themselves [at least from women].

And David answered the priest and said to him—

[Of a truth] [women] have been withheld from us, of late, through my coming out, and the wallets of the young men have become hallowed,—while [the bread] [itself] is in a manner common, and the more so since [today] [there are other loaves] to be hallowed, in the vessel.

And the priest gave him hallowed [bread],—because there was there’ no bread, save the Presence-Bread, which had to be removed from before Yahweh, to put hot bread, on the day when it should be taken away.

Now <in that very place> was a man of the servants of Saul, on that day, detained before Yahweh, [whose name] was Doeg the Edomite,—chief of the shepherds that belonged unto Saul.

Then said David to Ahimelech, See whether there is’ here [under thy hand] [a spear or a sword]? for <neither my sword, nor my other weapons> did I take in my hand, for [the king’s business] was [urgent].

And the priest said:

<The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom thou didst smite in the vale of Elah> lo! [that] is wrapped up in a cloth, behind the ephod <if [that] thou wilt take to thee> take it, for there is no’ other, save that here.

And David said—

There is none’ [like it], give it me.

Then arose David, and fled, that day, from the face of Saul,—and came in unto Achish, king of Gath. And the servants of Achish said unto him, Is not [this] David, king of the land? Was it not [[of this man]] that they kept responding in the dances, saying, [Saul] hath smitten his [thousands]

But [David] ||[tens of thousands]?h

And David laid up these words in his heart,—and feared greatly, because of Achish king of Gath. So he feigned himself mad, in their sight, and raged in their hand,—and struck against the doors of the gate, and let his spittle run down upon his beard. Then said Achish unto his servants,—

Chapter 22.

1 David therefore departed thence, and escaped, into the cave of Adullam,—and <when his brethren and all the household of his father heard it> they went down unto him, thither.

2 And there gathered themselves unto him—every one that was in distress, and every one that had a creditor, and every one embittered in soul, and he came to be over them as a prince,—and there were with him, about four hundred men.  And David departed thence, to Mizpah of Moab,—and said unto the king of Moab,

3 I pray thee, let my father and my mother dwell with you, until that I know what God will do for me.

4 So he set them before the king of Moab,—and they dwelt with him, all the days that David was in the fortress.  Then said Gad the prophet unto David—

5 Thou must not abide in the fortress, go and get thee into the land of Judah.  So David departed, and entered the forest of Hereth.

6 And <when Saul heard that David was discovered, and the men that were with him—||Saul|| being seated in Gibeah under the tamarisk-tree in Ramah, with his spear in his hand, and all his servants stationed by him>—

7 then said Saul unto his servants who were stationed by him—

8 That ye have conspired, all of you, against me, And there is none to uncover mine ear as to the covenanthing of my son with the son of Jesse?  And none from among you that taketh pity upon me, and that uncovereth mine ear [to this],—

9 That mine own son hath stirred up my servants against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

10 Then answered Doeg the Edomite—||he|| being stationed near the servants of Saul—and said,—

11 I saw the son of Jesse coming into Nob, unto Ahimelech son of Ahitub;

12 Then enquired he for him of Yahweh, <Provisions also> gave he unto him,—

13 And <the sword of Goliath the Philistine> gave he unto him.

14 Then the king sent to call Ahimelech, son of Ahitub, the priest, and all the house of his father—the priests, who were in Nob,—and they came, all of them, unto the king.  And Saul said,

15 Behold me! my lord.  And he said—

16 And Saul said unto him,

17 Wherefore’ have ye conspired against me, ||thou, and the son of Jesse||,—in that thou gavest him bread and a sword, and didst enquire for him of God, that he might rise up against me, that he might lie in wait, as at this day?

18 Then Ahimelech answered the king, and said,—

19 But who, among all thy servants, ||like David|| is ||faithful||, being son-in-law to the king||, and ||cometh near to have audience with thee||, and is ||honoured in thy household||?

20 Did I ||that day|| begin to enquire for him of God?  Far from me! Let not the king impute to his servant such a thing, nor to any of the household of my father, for thy servant knoweth nothing of all this, ||less or more||.

David, and because they knew that he was in flight, and unveiled not mine ear. But the servants of the king were not willing to thrust forth their hand, to fall upon the priests of Yahweh.

Then said the king to Doeg, Turn thou, and fall upon the priests. So Doeg the Edomite turned, and himself fell upon the priests, and put to death, that day, four score and five men bearing an ephod of linen; Nôb also, the city of the priests smote he with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and sucklings, and oxen and asses and sheep, with the edge of the sword. But there escaped one son of Ahimelech, son of Ahitub, whose name was Abiathar, and he fled after David. So Abiathar told David,—that Saul had slain the priests of Yahweh.

Then said David to Abiathar— I knew, that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. If I am chargeable with all the lives of the house of thy father.

Abide with me! do not fear, for whoso seeketh my life seeketh thy life,—for in safeguard shall thou be with me.

Chapter 23.

1 Then told they David, saying,—Lo! the Philistines are fighting against Keilah, and they are plundering the threshing-floors.

2 So David enquired of Yahweh, saying, Shall I go and smite these Philistines? And Yahweh said unto David—Go, and smite the Philistines, and save Keilah.

3 But the men of David said unto him, Lo! were here, in Judah are afraid,—how much more, then, if we go to Keilah, against the ranks of the Philistines?

4 So David yet again enquired of Yahweh, and Yahweh answered him,—and said—Arise, go down to Keilah, for I am about to deliver the Philistines into thy hand.

5 David therefore went, with his men, to Keilah, and fought with the Philistines, and drove forth their cattle, and smote them, with a great smiting, so David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 Now it came to pass when Abiathar, son of Ahimelech, fled unto David to Keilah> that he came down with an ephod in his hand. And <when it was told Saul that David had entered Keilah> Saul said—God hath given him over into my hand, for he hath shut himself in by entering into a city with folding doors and bar.

7 So Saul summoned all the people to war,—to go down to Keilah, to besiege David, and his men. And David ascertained that against him Saul was contriving mischief,—so he said unto Abiathar the priest, Bring hither the ephod.

8 Then said David:

O Yahweh, God of Israel, thy servant, hath heard] that Saul is seeking to come unto Keilah,—to destroy the city [for my sake]:

Will the owners of Keilah surrender me into his hand? Will Saul come down, as thy servant hath heard?

O Yahweh, God of Israel, I pray thee, tell thy servant. And Yahweh said—He will come down.

9 Then said David,

Will the owners of Keilah surrender me and my men, into the hand of Saul?

And Yahweh said—They will surrender.

10 Then arose David and his men, about six hundred, and went forth out of Keilah, and went to and fro, whithersoever they could,—and unto Saul> it was told that David had escaped out of Keilah, so he forbade to go forth. Then David abode in the wilderness, in the fortresses, and he abode in the hill country, in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul sought him continually, but God delivered him not into his hand. Then David saw that Saul had come out to seek his life[[David]] being in the wilderness of Ziph, in the thicket. So Jonathan, Saul’s son, arose and went unto David in the thicket,—and strengthened his hand in God; and said unto him,—

18 And they two solemnized a covenant b before Yahweh,—and David remained in the thicket, but ||[Jonathan]|| departed to his own house.

19 Then came up the Ziphites unto Saul, saying,—

20 ||[Now]|| therefore, <according to all the desire of thy soul> O king, to come down> come! and ||[ours]|| [will it be] to surrender him into the hand of the king.

24 So they arose and departed to Ziph, before Saul,— but ||[David and his men]|| were in the wilderness of Maon, in the Arabah, to the right of Jeshimon. 25 Then Saul and his men departed, to seek [him]; g but it had been told David, and he had gone down the cliff, and taken up abode in the wilderness of Maon,—and when Saul had <heard it> he pursued David in the wilderness of Maon. 26 And Saul h went on this’ side of the mountain, and ||[David and his men]|| on that side of the mountain,—wherefore David became hurried, to get away from the presence of Saul, but ||[Saul and his men]|| were surrounding David and his men, to capture them: 27 when ||[a messenger]|| came unto Saul, saying,—

28 Then returned Saul from pursuing David, and departed to meet the Philistines,—||[for which cause]|| they called that place Sela-hammahlekôth [“the Cliff of Separation”]. 29 And David went up from thence,—and abode in the strongholds of Engedi.

Chapter 24.

1 And it came to pass <when Saul had returned from following the Philistines> that it was told him, saying:

Lo! David’ is in the wilderness of En-gedi.

2 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men, out of all Israel,—and went to seek David and his men, over the face of the rocks of the mountain-goats. 3 And he came into the sheep-folds by the way, [there] being a cave, which Saul entered, to cover his feet,—||[David and his men, in the hinder part of the cave, having taken up their abode.]] f So David’s men said unto him—

Lo! the day’ of which Yahweh said unto thee—

Lo! I’ am about to deliver up thine enemy, i into thy hand: therefore shall thou do unto him, as shall be good in thine eyes.

And David arose, and cut off the corner k of the robe which belonged to Saul, ||[by stealth]].

5 And it came to pass afterwards l that David’s heart smote him,—because he had cut off the corner l of the robe m which belonged to Saul.

6 And he said unto his men—

Far be it from me, of Yahweh, that I should do this thing unto my lord, unto the Anointed of Yahweh, to thrust forth my hand against him,—for ||[the Anointed of Yahweh]|| is he!

7 So David did chide his men with the words, and did not suffer them to rise up against Saul. And ||Saul|| rose up out of the cave, and went on his way. 8 Then David rose up [afterwards], and went forth out of the cave, and cried out after Saul, saying—

My lord, O king!

And <when Saul looked about behind him> David inclined his face to the earth, and bowed himself down. 9 Then said David to Saul,

Wherefore’ shouldst thou hearken unto the words of the sons of earth, saying,—

Lo! David' is seeking thy hurt?

10 Lo! [[this day]] have thine own eyes seen, how Yahweh had delivered thee up to-day, into my hand in the cave, and <when one bade me slay thee> I* looked with compassion upon thee,—and I said—

I will not thrust forth my hand against my lord, for ||the Anointed of Yahweh|| is he!

But, my father, see, ||[yea, see]]* the corner of thy robe in my hand,—for <in that I cut off the corner of thy robe, and yet did not slay thee> know thou, and see, that there is not’ in my hand either wrong or transgression, neither have I sinned against thee, yet art thou' hunting my life, to take it.

12 Let Yahweh do justice betwixt me and thee, and let Yahweh avenge me of thee,—but ||mine own hand|| shall not be upon thee.

13 As saith the proverb of the ancients, <From the lawless> proceedeth lawlessness,— <<mine own hand> therefore shall not be upon thee.

14 <After whom> hath the king of Israel’ come forth? <After whom> art thou in pursuit? After a dead’ dog! after a single’ flea!

15 Therefore shall ||Yahweh|| become [judge], and do justice betwixt me and thee,—that he may see, and plead my cause, and justly deliver me out of thy hand.

16 And it came to pass <when David had made an end of speaking these words unto Saul> that Saul said, <Thy voice> is this, my son David?

And Saul lifted up his voice, and wept. 17 And he said unto David,

<More righteous> art thou’ than I’, for ||[thou] hast required me [good], but ||[I]] have required thee [evil].

18 ||[thou] then, hast told to-day, how thou hast dealt with me’ [for good],—how <when Yahweh had surrendered me into thy hand> thou didst not slay me. 19 Yet <when a man findeth his enemy> will he let him get easily away?

||Yahweh|| then, give thee [good] reward for what [this day] thou hast done unto me.

20 ||[Now] therefore, lo! I know’ that thou [shall] indeed become king||,—and that the kingdom of Israel [shall be established] in thy hand.

21 ||[Now] therefore, swear unto me by Yahweh, that thou wilt not eat off my seed, after me,— and wilt not destroy my name out of the house of my father.

22 So David sware unto Saul,—and Saul departed unto his own house, but ||[David and his men] went up on’ the stronghold.

Chapter 25.

1 And Samuel died, and all Israel were gathered together, and made lamentation for him, and buried him within' his own house, in Ramah,—and David arose and went down into the wilderness of Maon. 2 Now there was ||[a man] in Maon, whose cattle were in Carmel, and ||[the man] was exceeding great, and ||[he] had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats,—and so it was, that he was shearing his sheep’ in Carmel. 3 Now ||[the name of the man] was Nabal, and ||[the name of his wife] Abigail,—and ||[the woman] was of good understanding, and of beautiful figure,—but ||[the man] was unfeeling and of evil practices, and he was a Calebite. 4 So then David heard in the wilderness,—that Nabal was shearing his sheep. 5 David, therefore, sent ten young men,—and David said unto the young men,—

Go up to Carmel, and enter in unto Nabal, and ye shall ask him, in my name, of his welfare; 6 and say thus—

Long life to thee! 9
Mayest thou prosper,
And thy household prosper,
And all that thou hast prosper!

||Now|| therefore, have I heard that thou hast shearsers,—

Well, ||the shepherds that thou hast|| have been with us,
We reproached them not,
Neither missed they ||anything||,
All the days they were in Carmel.

Ask thy young men, that they may tell thee,
That so my young men may find favour in thine eyes,
For <on a good day> have we come!
Give, I pray thee, what thy hand findeth, to thy servants, 8 and to thy son, to David!

So David’s young men came, and spake unto Nabal, according to all these words, in the name of David,—and waited. 10 Then Nabal answered the servants of David, and said,

Who is David?
And who is the son of Jesse?
||Nowadays|| many’ are the servants that have broken away, every man from the presence of his lord:

Shall I, then, take my bread, and my wine, 9 and my slain beasts, that I have slaughtered for my shearsers,—and give unto men of whom I know not whence they are? 12

So the young men of David turned away for their journey,—and came back, and drew near, and told him, according to all these words. 13 Then said David unto his men—

Gird on you every man his sword.
And they girded on them, every man his sword, and ||David also|| girded on his sword,—and there went up after David—about four hundred men, and ||two hundred|| abode by the stores.

But a certain one of her young men told ||Abigail, Nabal’s wife||, saying,—

Lo! David sent messengers out of the wilderness to bless our lord, and he treated them with contempt. 4

But ||the men|| were exceeding good to us,—and we were not harmed, neither missed we ||anything||, all the days we went to and fro with them, while we were in the fields:

||A wall|| became they unto us, |both by night and by day|, all the days we were with them, tending the flock.

||Now||, therefore, know thou, and see, what thou canst do, for mischief is determined against our lord, and against all his household,—but ||he|| is such an abandoned man, 5 that one cannot speak unto him.

Then Abigail hastened—and took two hundred loaves, and two skins of wine, and five measures of parched corn, and a hundred cakes of raisins, and two hundred cakes of figs,—and put them on the asses. 19 And she said to her young men,—

Pass on before me, behold me coming after’ you; but <to her husband, Nabal> told she nothing. 20 And so it was ||as she’ was riding on her ass, and descending within the covert of the hill> lo! ||David and his men|| descending over against her,—so she met them.

Now ||David|| had said—

Surely ||in vain|| did I guard all that pertained to this man in the wilderness, so that there was ||nothing|| missed of all that he had,—seeing he hath returned to me evil for good.

So’ may God do to David’ and so’ may he add> if I leave remaining, of all that he hath, until the morning, 6—so much as a little boy. 6

And <when Abigail saw David> she hastened, and alighted from off her ass,—and fell down before David upon her face, and prostrated herself on the ground; 24 yea she fell at his feet, and said—

<On me, even me> my lord, be the transgression,—

25 But, I pray thee, let thy handmaid speak in thine ears, and hear’ thou the words of thy handmaid. Let it not be, I pray thee, that my lord regard this abandoned man—Nabal; for (as his name is) (so) is he,’ ||Nabal [=Base]] is his name, and |baseness| is with him,—but ||thy handmaid|| saw not the young men of my lord, whom thou didst send.

26 ||Now||, therefore, my lord—by the life of Yahweh, and by the life of thine own soul,—Seeing Yahweh hath withheld thee from coming in with bloodshed, and from saving thyself (with thine own hand), ||Now||, therefore, ||like Nabal|| be thine enemies, and they who are making search for my lord ||wrongfully||.

27 ||Now||, therefore, this blessing, which thy maid-servant hath brought to my lord> let it even be given unto the young men who are going to and fro at the feet of my lord.

28 Forgive, I pray thee, the trespass of thy handmaid,—for Yahweh ||will certainly make|| for my lord an assured house, for (the battles of) Yahweh> is my lord fighting, and ||wrong|| shall not be found in thee, all thy days; yea |though there hath arisen a son of earth to pursue thee, and to seek thy life> yet shall the life of my lord be bound up in the bundle of the living, with Yahweh thy God, but |as for the life of thine enemies> he shall sling it out with the middle of the hollow of the sling.

And it shall be when Yahweh shall do for my lord, according to all the good that he hath spoken concerning thee,—and shall put thee in charge as leader over Israel> then shall this not become to thee a staggering and stumbling of heart, unto my lord—that thou didst either shed blood without need, or that the hand of my lord saved himself. And when Yahweh hath dealt well with my lord> then remember thou thy handmaid.

30 Then said David unto Abigail,—||Blessed|| be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who hath sent thee this day, to meet me; and ||blessed|| be thy discreet judgment, and ||blessed|| be thou thyself,—who hast kept me this day, from coming in with bloodshed, and from saving myself (with mine own hand).

31 ||Nevertheless|| <by the life of Yahweh, God of Israel, who hath restrained me from harming thee> surely <except thou hadst hastened and come to meet me> there had not been left unto Nabal, by the light of the morning, ||so much as a little boy||.

32 So David received at her hand, that which she had brought him,—and <unto herself> he said—Go up, in peace, unto thy house, see! I have heartened unto thy voice, and accepted thy person.

33 And <when Abigail came unto Nabal> lo! ||he|| had a banquet in his house, like the banquet of a king, and ||the heart of Nabal|| was glad accordingly, ||he’ having drunk deeply||,—so she told him nothing—less or more, until the light of the morning. And it came to pass, in the morning <when the wine had gone out of Nabal, and his wife told him these things> that his heart died within him, and he’ became like a stone. And it came to pass <in about ten days> that Yahweh smote Nabal, that he died.

34 And <when David heard that Nabal was dead> he said—||Blessed|| be Yahweh, who hath maintained the plea of my reproach, at the hand of Nabal, and hath restrained ||his servant|| from wrong, yea <the wrong of Nabal> hath Yahweh turned back on his own head.

Then sent David, and spake with Abigail, to take her to himself wife. And the servants of David came unto Abigail the Carmelitess,—and spake unto her, saying, ||David|| hath sent us unto thee, to take thee to himself to wife.

35 And she arose, and bowed herself down with her face to the earth,—and said—Lo! thy handmaid, as serving-woman to bathe the feet of the servants of my lord.

§ 15. David a Second Time spareth Saul’s Life.

Chapter 26.

1 And the Ziphites came unto Saul in Gibeah,
saying,—
Is not David’ hiding himself in the hill of Hachilah,\(^a\) over looking Jeshimon?
2 Then Saul arose, and went down into the wilderness of Ziph, and |[with him] three thousand chosen men of Israel,—to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph. 3 And Saul encamped in the hill of Hachilah,\(^b\) which over looketh Jeshimon, by the way,—but |[David]|| was staying in the wilderness, so he saw that Saul was coming after him into the wilderness.
4 David therefore sent runners,—and took knowledge that Saul had come, for a certainty.
5 So then David arose, and came to the place where Saul had encamped, and David saw the place where Saul was lying, with Abner, son of Ner, prince of his host,—and |Saul|| was lying within the circular trench, with |the people|| encamped round about him. 6 And David responded, and said unto Ahimelech the Hittite, and unto Abishai son of Zeruiah, brother of Joab,
saying,
Who will go down with me unto Saul, within the camp?
And Abishai said,
||I|| will go down with thee.
7 So David came, with Abishai, unto the people by night, and lo! Saul’ lying asleep, within the trench, and his spear’ stuck in the ground, at his head,— and Abner’ and the people’ lying round about him.
8 Then said Abishai unto David,
God hath surrendered, to-day, thine enemy,\(^c\)
to thy hand:

||Now|| therefore, let me smite him, I pray thee, with the spear to the earth, |at one stroke, |I will not do it twice||.
9 But David said unto Abishai,
Do not destroy him,—for who that hath thrust forth his hand against the Anointed of Yahweh, shall be guiltless?
10 And David said—
<By the life of Yahweh> surely |[Yahweh himself]| must smite him,—or |[his day]| must come that he die, or <into battle> must he go down, and be swept away.
11 Far be it from me, of Yahweh, that I should thrust forth my hand against the anointed of Yahweh!
||Now|| therefore, take, I pray thee, the spear that is at his head, and the cruse of water, and let us go our way.
12 So David took the spear, and the cruse of water, from near the head of Saul, and they went their way,—and no’ man saw, and no’ man knew, and no’ man awoke, for all’ of them were sleeping, for |a deep sleep from Yahweh| had fallen upon them. 13 Then David crossed over to the other side, and took his stand on the top of the mountain, afar off,—|a great space| being between them. 14 And David cried aloud unto the people, and unto Abner son of Ner, saying,
Wilt thou not answer, Abner?
Then answered Abner, and said,
Who’ art thou’, that hast cried aloud unto the king?
15 And David said unto Abner—
Art not thou |[a man]|? Who indeed is like thee, in Israel? Wherefore, then, hast thou not kept watch over thy lord, the king?
For one of the people hath entered, to destroy’
the king—thy lord.
16 ||Not good|| is this thing which thou hast done,
<by the life of Yahweh> verily <worthy of death>\(^d\), ye are’, in that ye have not kept watch over your lord, over |the Anointed of
Yahweh||.
||Now|| therefore, see where the spear of the king is, and the cruse of water, that was at his head?
17 And Saul knew the voice of David, and said—
||Thy voice|| is this, my son David?

Wherefore is it, that my lord is in pursuit of his servant? For what have I done? or what is in my hand that is wrong?

||Now|| therefore, I pray thee, let my lord the king hear the words of his servant,—<If ||Yahweh|| have goaded thee on against me> let him accept the sweet smell of a gift, but <if the sons of men> ||accursed|| they are’ before Yahweh, for they have driven me out, to-day, from joining myself with the inheritance of Yahweh, saying—

||Now|| therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth, away from the presence of Yahweh,— for the king of Israel hath come out to hunt for a single flea, as when one pursueth a partridge among the mountains.

Then said Saul—
I have sinned, Return, my son David, for I will harm thee no more, because my life was precious in thine eyes, this day,—lo! I have acted foolishly and ||greatly|| erred.

And David responded, and said,
Lo! the spear of the king! Let, therefore, one of the young men come over, and fetch it.

And let ||Yahweh|| give back to each man, his righteousness, and his faithfulness,—in that Yahweh delivered thee, to-day, into my hand, but I would not thrust forth my hand against the Anointed of Yahweh.

§ 16. David obtains Ziklag of Achish and dwells there.

Chapter 27.

1 And David said, unto his own heart, ||Now|| shall I be swept off, in a single day, by the hand of Saul,—there is nothing’ for me better than that I [escape] into the land of the Philistines, so shall Saul give up seeking for me any more, in any of the bounds of Israel, so shall I escape out of his hand.

2 And David arose, and he’ and the six hundred men that were with him passed over unto Achish son of Maoch, king of Gath. And David abode with Achish in Gath, [he and his men], each man with his household,—David’ with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail wife of Nabal, the Carmelite.”

And when it was told Saul, that David had fled to Gath he added no more, to seek him. Then said David unto Achish—
<If, I pray thee, I have found favour in thine eyes> let them give me a place’ in one of the cities in the country, that I may dwell there,— for why’ should thy servant dwell in the royal’ city’ ||with thee||?

So Achish gave him, on that day, |Ziklag|,— wherefore’ Ziklag hath pertained unto the kings of Judah, unto this day. And the number of the days that David dwelt in the country’ of the Philistines became’ a year and four months.

And David and his men went up, and made a raid against the Geshurites and the Gizrites and the Amalekites,—for ||they|| were the inhabitants of the land who had been from age-past times, as thou enterest Shur, even as far as the land of Egypt. Now <when David would smite a land> he used to save alive neither man nor woman,— but took sheep and oxen, and asses and camels, and apparel, and returned, and came in unto Achish. Then said Achish,
Whither’ have ye made a raid, to-day?

||So|| hath David done, and ||such|| his manner, all the days that he hath dwelt in the country of the Philistines.

12 And Achish believed in David, saying,—
He hath made himself odious unto his own people, unto Israel, therefore shall he be my servant all his life long.

§ 17. Saul and the Witch of En-dor.

Chapter 28.

1 And it came to pass, in those days, <when the Philistines gathered together their hosts for war, to fight with Israel> that Achish said unto David,
Thou must ||know|| that ||with me|| shalt thou go forth in the host, ||thou and thy men||.

2 And David said unto Achish,
[Therefore] [now] shalt thou know what thy servant can do.
And Achish said unto David,
Therefore ||keeper of my head|| will I appoint thee, all the days.

3 Now ||Samuel|| was dead, and all Israel had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city,—||Saul|| moreover had put away them who had familiar spirits and them who were oracles, out of the land. 4 So then the Philistines gathered themselves together, and came in, and encamped in Shunem,—and Saul gathered together all Israel, and they encamped in Gilboa. 5 And <when Saul saw the host of the Philistines> he was afraid, and his heart trembled exceedingly.

5 Then Saul enquired of Yahweh, but Yahweh answered him not,—neither by Dreams, nor by the Lights, nor by prophets. 7 Then said Saul unto his servants—

Seek me out a woman that owneth a familiar spirit, that I may even go unto her, and enquire of her.

And his servants said unto her,
Lo! there is a woman that owneth a familiar spirit in En-dor.

8 Saul therefore disguised himself, and put on other raiment, and departed—||he and two men with him||, and they came to the woman by night,—and he said—
Divine for me, I pray thee, by the familiar spirit, bring up for me—whomsoever I shall name unto thee.

9 And the woman said unto him—
Lo! ||thou|| knowest what Saul hath done, how he hath cut off them who have familiar spirits' and him who is an oracle, out of the land,—wherefore, then, art thou striking at my life, to put me to death?

10 So then Saul sware unto her by Yahweh, saying,—
<By the life of Yahweh> there shall no punishment befall thee for this thing.

11 Then said the woman,
Whom’ shall I bring up for thee? And he said,
<Samuel> bring thou up for me.

12 And <when the woman saw Samuel> she made outcry with a loud voice,—and the woman spake unto Saul, saying—
Wherefore’ hast thou deceived me, ||thou thyself’ being Saul||?

13 And the king said unto her—
Be not afraid, but what sawest thou?
And the woman said unto Saul,
<A god> saw I, coming up out of the earth.

14 And he said to her—
What was his form? And she said—
An old man, coming up, he’ being wrapped about with a robe.

Then Saul knew, that it was ||Samuel||, so he inclined his face to the earth, and bowed himself down. 15 And Samuel said unto Saul, Wherefore hast thou disquieted me, by bringing me up? And Saul said— I am in sore distress, for ||God|| hath turned away from me, and answereth me no more—either by means of the prophets, or by dreams, therefore have I even called for thee, to let me know, what I am to do. 16 Then said Samuel, Wherefore, then, shouldst thou ask me,—when ||Yahweh|| hath turned away from thee, and hath come to be with thy neighbour? 17 Therefore hath Yahweh done for him, as he spake by me.—yea Yahweh hath rent the kingdom out of thy hand, and given it to a neighbour of thine—to David. 18 <As thou didst not hearken unto the voice of Yahweh, neither didst execute the glow of his anger upon Amalek> ||therefore|| <this thing> hath Yahweh done unto thee this day; 19 that Yahweh may deliver ||Israel also, with thee|| into the hand of the Philistines, and ||to-morrow|| thou' and thy sons with ' thee are about to fall,—<the host of Israel also> will Yahweh deliver, into the hand of the Philistines. 20 Then Saul hastened, and fell prostrate—the whole length of him—to the earth, and was sore afraid, at the words of Samuel, and ' indeed, no ||strength|| was left in him, for he had not eaten food all the day and all the night. 21 And the woman came unto Saul, and <when she saw that he was greatly terrified> she said unto him— Lo! thy handmaid hearkened unto thy voice, and I put my life into my hand, and heard thy words which thou didst speak unto me. 22 ||Now|| therefore, I pray thee, hearken ||thou also|| unto the voice of thy handmaid, and let me set before thee a morsel of food, and eat thou,—that there may be in thee strength, when thou goest on thy journey. 23 But he refused, and said—

I will not eat. But <when his servants, and the woman also', strongly urged him> then hearkened he unto their voice,—and rose up from the earth, and sat on the bed. 24 Now ||the woman|| had a calf fattening, in the shed. 25 So she hastened, and sacrificed it, and took meal, and kneaded, and baked thereof unleavened cakes; 25 and brought near before Saul and before his servants, and they did eat. Then rose they up and departed, the same night.

§ 18. David starts with the Philistines to invade Israel, but is sent back.

Chapter 29.

1 Now the Philistines gathered together all their hosts towards Aphek,—and ||the Israelites|| were encamping by the fountain, that is in Jezreel. 2 And ||the lords of the Philistines|| were passing on by hundreds, and by thousands,—but ||David and his men|| were passing on in the rear, with Achish. 3 Then said the princes of the Philistines, What are these Hebrews [doing]? And Achish said unto the princes of the Philistines— Is not this David, servant of Saul king of Israel, who hath been with me this year, or two, and I have found in him nothing, from the day of his coming over unto me unto this day? 4 But the princes of the Philistines raged against him, and the princes of the Philistines said unto him—

Let the man go back, that he may return unto the place which thou didst appoint him, and let him not go down with us, into battle, so shall he not become to us a traitor, in the battle,—for ||wherewith|| should this fellow gain favour with his lord? Would it not be with the heads’ of those men? 5 Is not this David, of whom they made responses in the dances, saying,—[Saul] hath smitten [his thousands], But [David] his [tens of thousands]? 6 So Achish called for David, and said unto him—<By the life of Yahweh> surely ||upright|| thou art’, and <pleasing in mine eyes> have been thy going out and thy coming in with me, in the host, for I have found in thee no wrong, from the day of thy coming in unto me, until this day,—but in the eyes of the lords thou art’.

7 ||Now|| therefore, return, and go in peace,—so shalt thou not do wrong in the eyes of the lords of the Philistines.

8 Then said David unto Achish—
But what have I done? and what hast thou found in thy servant, from the day that I came before thee, unto this day,—that I may not go in and fight, with the enemies of my lord the king.

9 Then answered Achish, and said unto David,
I acknowledge that art in mine eyes, as a messenger of God,—notwithstanding the princes of the Philistines have said,

He shall not go up with us, into the battle.

10 ||Now|| therefore, rise up early in the morning, thou and the servants of thy lord who have come with thee;—yea as soon as ye have risen early in the morning, and have light> then depart.

11 So David rose up early, he and his men, to depart in the morning, to return into the land of the Philistines,—but the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

§ 19. David rescues his People from the Amalekites.

Chapter 30.

And it came to pass when David and his men came to Ziklag on the third day that had made a raid into the South, and into Ziklag, and had smitten Ziklag, and burned it with fire; and had taken captive the women and all who were therein, from small even unto great, they had not put one to death,—but had driven them forth, and gone their way. So when David and his men came to the city> lo! it was burnt with fire,—and their wives, and their sons, and their daughters had been taken captive. Then David and the people that were with him lifted up their voice, and wept,—until they had no more strength to weep.

5 And the two wives of David had been taken captive,—Ahinoam, the Jezreelitess, and Abigail, wife of Nabal the Carmelite. And David was in sore distress, for the people had spoken of stoning him, because the souls of all the people were embittered, every man for his own sons and for his own daughters,—but David emboldened himself in Yahweh his God. Then said David to Abiathar the priest, son of Ahimelech, Do bring near me, I pray thee, the ephod. So Abiathar brought near the ephod, unto David.

8 And David enquired of Yahweh, saying,
Shall I pursue this troop? shall I overtake it? And he said unto him:
Pursue, for thou shalt overtake[,] and thou shalt rescue.

9 So David went, he, and the six hundred men, who were with him[, and they came in as far as the ravine of Besor,—where they who had to be left behind] stayed. But David pursued, he, and four hundred men[,—but the two hundred men stayed, because they were too wearied to cross over the ravine of Besor. And they found an Egyptian in the field, and took him unto David,—and gave him food, and he did eat, and they gave him water to drink; and they gave him a piece of a cake of figs, and two cakes of raisins, and when he had eaten his spirit came back unto him,—for he had neither eaten food, nor drunk water, three days and three nights. Then David said to him—
Whose art thou? and whence art thou? And he said,
A young man of Egypt am I, servant to an Amalekite, and my lord left me behind, because I fell sick, three days ago.

14 As for us we invaded the South of the Cherithites, and against that which pertaineth unto Judah, and against the South of Caleb,—and burned we with fire.

15 And David said unto him,
Wilt thou bring me down unto this troop? And he said—
Swear thou bring me down unto this troop?

Whose art thou? and whence art thou?

And he said,

A young man of Egypt am I, servant to an Amalekite, and my lord left me behind, because I fell sick, three days ago.

the hand of my lord, and I will bring thee down unto this troop.

16 So he brought him down, and lo! they were left to themselves over the face of all the land,—eating, and drinking, and dancing around, for all the great spoil which they had taken out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the land of Judah. 17 And David smote them, from the closing twilight even unto the evening of the next day,—and there escaped not of them a man; save four hundred young men who rode upon camels, and fled. 18 And David rescued all whom the Amalekites had taken,—<his two wives also> did David rescue;

19 and there was nothing missing to them—whether small or great, whether spoil, or sons or daughters, or any thing which they had taken unto themselves,—<the whole> did David recover. 20 And David took all the flocks and the herds,—they drave them before those other cattle, and they said, ||This is David’s spoil.

21 And David came unto the two hundred men, who had been too wearied to follow David, and whom they had suffered to remain at the ravine of Besor,—and they came forth to meet David, and to meet the people who were with him, and when David came near unto the people, they enquired of his success.

22 Then responded every man who was bad and abandoned, from among the men who had been with David, and said—<Because they went not with me there shall not be given them of the spoil that we have rescued,—save [to every man] his wife and his children, let them put them forth, then, and go.>

23 Then said David,

Ye shall not do so, my brethren,—with that which Yahweh hath given to us, who hath preserved us, and delivered the troop that came against us into our hand.

24 Who indeed, could hearken unto you, in this matter? Surely <like the share of him that went down into the battle> even ||so|| shall be the share of him that remained by the stores—||alike|| shall they share.

25 And so it came to pass [from that day forward] that he appointed it, for a statute and for a custom unto Israel, until this day.

26 And <when David came to Ziklag> he sent of the spoil unto the elders of Judah, unto his friends, saying,—

Lo! ||for you|| a blessing, out of the spoil of the enemies of Yahweh:

27 to them who were in Bethel,

28 and to them who were in Ramoth of the South,

29 and to them who were in Jattir,

30 and to them who were in Aroer,

31 and to them who were in Eshtemoa,

32 and to them who were in Racal,

33 and to them who were in the cities of the Jerameelites,

34 and to them who were in the cities of the Kenites,

35 and to them who were in Hormah,

36 and to them who were in Cor-ashan,

37 and to them who were in Athach,

38 and to them who were in Hebron,—and to all the places where David had been to and fro, ||he and his men||.

§ 20. Saul’s Sons slain in Battle, and Saul destroys himself.

Chapter 31.

1 Now <as ||the Philistines|| were fighting against Israel> the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell slain in Mount Gilboa. 2 And the Philistines followed hard after Saul, and after his sons,—and the Philistines smote Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchishua, sons of Saul. 3 And the battle went sore against Saul, and the archers discovered him,—and he was terrified. 4 Then said Saul to his armourbearer—

Draw thy sword and pierce me through therewith, lest these uncircumcised come, and pierce me through, and abuse me.

But his armourbearer was not willing, for he was sore afraid. So Saul took his sword and fell

7 And <when the men of Israel who were across the vale, and who were across the Jordan, saw' that the men of Israel had fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead'> they forsook the cities, and fled, and the Philistines entered, and took up their abode therein.

8 And it came to pass on the morrow, <when the Philistines came to strip the slain> that they found Saul, and his three sons, lying prostrate in Mount Gilboa. 9 So they cut off his head, and stripped off his armour,—and sent throughout the land of the Philistines round about, to publish it in the house of their idols, and unto the people. 10 And they put his armour' in a house of Ashtoreths,\(^b\)—and <his dead body> fastened they on the wall of Beth-shan.

11 And <when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead' heard concerning him, what the Philistines had done unto Saul> 12 then arose all the men of valour, and journeyed all the night, and took the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons, from the wall of Beth-shan,—and came to Jabesh, and burned them there; 13 and took their bones, and buried them under the tamarisk-tree\(^c\) in Jabesh,—and fasted seven days.

§ 1. David gets Tidings of Saul’s Death, and slays the Messenger.

Chapter 1.

And so it was <after the death of Saul, when David’ had returned from the smiting of the Amalekites, and David had abode in Ziklag two days> 2 yea so it was <on the third day> that lo! a man came out of the camp, from Saul, with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head,—and so it was <when he came in unto David> that he fell to the earth, and did homage. 3 And David said unto him,

From whence comest thou? And he said unto him,

How turned out the matter? tell me, I pray thee. And he said—

The people have fled from the battle, Yea moreover, ||many|| of the people have fallen, and died, Yea moreover, ||Saul and Jonathan his son|| are dead.

Then David said unto the young man who was telling him,—

How knowest thou that Saul and Jonathan his son are dead?

And the young man who was telling him said,

It ||so happened|| that I was on Mount Gilboa, when lo! ||Saul|| leaning upon his spear,—and lo! ||the chariots and horsemen|| hotly pursued him; 7 so he turned behind him, and saw me,—and cried out unto me, and I said, Behold me! 8 And he said unto me, Who art thou? And I 9 said unto him, <An Amalekite> am I. 9 And he said unto me, I pray thee, take thy stand by me, and put me to death, for I perceived’ that he could not survive his fall;—so I took the crown that was on his head, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them in unto my lord, ||here||.

Then David took hold of his clothes, 10 and rent them,—yea moreover, [so did] all the men who were with him. 12 And they lamented aloud, and wept, and fasted’ until the evening,—

For Saul, and for Jonathan his son, And for the people of Yahweh, And for the house of Israel, Because they had fallen’ by the sword.

And David said unto the young man who was telling him, Whence’ art thou? And he said,

<Son of a sojourner—an Amalekite> am I’. 14 And David said unto him,—

How wast thou not afraid to thrust forth thy hand, to destroy the Anointed of Yahweh?

So David called one of the young men, and said,—

Go near—fall upon him. And he smote him that he died. 16 And David said unto him, ||Thy blood|| be upon thine own head,—for ||thine own mouth|| hath testified against thee, saying, ||I myself|| put to death the Anointed of Yahweh.

§ 2. David’s Dirge over Saul and Jonathan.

Then chanted David this dirge,—over Saul and over Jonathan his son; 18 and he thought to teach the sons of Judah [the song of] the Bow,—lo! it is written in the Book of the Upright:

The beauty of Israel! on thy high places—slain! How have fallen—the mighty!

Do not tell it in Gath,
Do not publish it in the streets of Ashkelon,—
Lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice,
Lest the daughters of the Uncircumcised triumph.

21 Ye mountains in Gilboa!
Be there neither dew nor rain upon you,
Nor fields of offerings,—
For [there] were cast away, the shields of the mighty,
The shield of Saul, unanointed with oil.

22 <From the blood of the slain,
From the fat of the mighty>
||The bow of Jonathan ne’er drew back,—
And ||the sword of Saul ne’er returned [empty].

23 ||Saul and Jonathan]
Delightfully loving in their lives,
Even <in their death> were not divided,— <Beyond eagles> were they swift,
<Beyond lions> were they strong!

24 Ye daughters of Israel!!
<For Saul> weep ye,—
Who clothed you in crimson, [decked] with lovely things,
Who hung ornaments of gold' on your apparel!!

25 How have fallen the mighty, in the midst of the battle!
||Jonathan|| on thy high places slain!
26 I am distressed for thee, my brother, ||Jonathan|| Delightful to me, exceedingly,—
||Wonderful|| was thy love to me, ||passing the love of women||.

27 How have fallen the mighty, and perished the weapons of war!

§ 3. David, under Divine Guidance, removes to Hebron, is anointed King by Judah, and rewards the Men of Jabesh-Gilead.

Chapter 2.

1 And it came to pass <after this> that David enquired of Yahweh, saying—Shall I go up into one of the cities of Judah? And Yahweh said unto him, Go up.

And David said—
Whither shall I go up?
And he said—
Unto Hebron.

2 So David went up thither, and his two wives also,—Ahinoam, the Jezreelitess, and Abigail, wife of Nabal the Carmelite. 3 <His men also who were with him> did David bring up, ||every man with his household||,—and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

4 Then came the men of Judah, and anointed David there, to be king over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, <Men of Jabesh-gilead> were they who buried Saul.

5 So David sent messengers’ unto the men of Jabesh-gilead,—and said unto them—
||Blessed|| be ye' of Yahweh, that ye did this lovingkindness unto your lord, unto Saul, and buried him.
6 ||Now|| therefore, Yahweh requite you with lovingkindness and truth,—[moreover also] ||I|| will requite you, for this noble deed, in that ye did this thing.
7 ||Now|| therefore, let your hands be made firm, and become ye sons of valour, for your lord Saul is dead,—and <me> moreover have the house of Judah anointed, to be king over them.

8 But ||Abner son of Ner, prince of the host that pertained unto Saul|| took Ish-bosheth, son of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim;
9 and made him king for Gilead, and for the Ashurites, and for Jezreel,—and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over [all Israel].
10<Forty years old> was Ish-bosheth son of Saul, when he began to reign over Israel, and <two years> reigned he,—but ||the house of Judah|| followed David. 11 And it came to pass, that ||the number of the days that David was king in Hebron, over the house of Judah|| was seven years and six months.

12 And Abner son of Ner, and the servants of Ish-bosheth, son of Saul, came out' from Mahanaim to Gibeon. 13 And ||Joab son of Zeruiah, and the servants of David] went out from Hebron\(^a\) and met, by the pool of Gibeon, together,—and they sat down, ||[these]|| by the pool, on the one side, and ||[those]|| by the pool, on the other side. \(^{14}\) Then said Abner unto Joab,

Let the young men arise, I pray thee, and make sport before us. And Joab said—

Let them arise.

\(^{15}\) Then there arose, and went over by number,—twelve of Benjamin, pertaining\(^b\) to Ish-bosheth, son of Saul, and twelve, of the servants of David. \(^{16}\) And they caught every one his fellow by the head, with his sword in his fellow’s side, so they fell, together,—and that place was called Helkath-hazzadim [\(=\)“Field of Plotters”], which is in Gideon. \(^{17}\) So the battle became exceeding obstinate, on that day,—and Abner and the men of Israel were defeated before the servants of David. \(^{18}\) Now there were there, three sons of Zeruiah, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel,—and ||Asahel|| was light of foot as a wild gazelle.\(^c\) \(^{19}\) And Asahel pursued Abner,—and turned not, in going, to the right hand or to the left, from pursuing Abner. \(^{20}\) Then Abner looked behind him, and said—

Art thou Asahel? And he said—

||[I am].|| \(^{21}\) Then Abner said to him—

Turn thee aside, to thy right hand, or to thy left, and lay thee hold on one of the young men, and take thee his armour. But Asahel would not turn aside from pursuing him. \(^{22}\) And Abner said ||yet again|| unto Asahel, Turn thee aside from pursuing me,—wherefore should I smite thee to the earth? how then should I lift up my face unto Joab, thy brother? \(^{23}\) Howbeit he refused to turn aside, wherefore Abner smote him with the hinder end of the spear, in the belly,\(^d\) that the spear came out behind him, and he fell there, and died on the spot,—and so it was, that ||as many as came up to the place where Asahel fell and died|| stood still. \(^{24}\) Then Joab and Abishai pursued Abner,—but ||[the sun]|| had gone in by the time ||they|| had come as far as the hill of Ammah, that overlooketh Giah, by way of the wilderness of Gibeon.

\(^{25}\) And ||when the sons of Benjamin had gathered themselves together after Abner, and become one band,—|and had taken their stand on the top of a certain hill|| > \(^{26}\) then Abner cried aloud unto Joab, and said—

||To the uttermost|| must the sword devour? Dost thou not well know’ that ||[bitter] shall it be, in the latter end? How long, then, wilt thou not bid the people turn back from pursuing their own brethren? \(^{27}\) Then said Joab—

||As God liveth|| surely <if thou hadst not spoken> ||then in the morning|| the people would of themselves have gone up, every man from pursuing his brother.

\(^{28}\) So Joab blew with the horn, and all the people stood still, and they neither pursued Israel further,—nor fought any more. \(^{29}\) And ||[Abner and his men]] journeyed through the waste plain\(^e\) all that night,—and crossed the Jordan, and went through all the Bithron,\(^f\) and entered Mahanaim. \(^{30}\) And ||[Joab]] returned from pursuing Abner, and <when he had gathered together all the people> there were missing of the servants of David—nineteen men, and Asahel; \(^{31}\) but ||[the servants of David]] had smitten of Benjamin, of\(^f\) the men of Abner,—[so that] ||[three hundred and sixty men]] had died. \(^{32}\) And they carried Asahel, and buried him in the grave of his father, which was in Bethlehem,—and Joab and his men journeyed all the night, and had daylight in Hebron.

Chapter 3.

§ 5. The Sons born to David in Hebron.

2 And there were born unto David, sons, in Hebron,—and it came to press that—His firstborn’ was Ammon, by Ahinoam, the Jezreelitess;
3 And his second’ Chileab, by Abigail, wife of Nabal the Carmelite,
   And the third’ Absolom, son of Maachah, daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur;
4 And the fourth’ Adonijah, a son of Higgith,—
   And the fifth’ Shephatiah, b son of Abital;
5 And the sixth’ Ithream, by Eglah wife of David. ||These|| were born unto David, in Hebron.

§ 6. Abner, provoked by Ish-bosheth, veers round to David, whom he visits in Hebron.

6 And it came to pass <while the war continued between the house of Saul and the house of David> that ||Abner|| shewed himself courageous for the house of Saul. 7 Now ||Saul|| had a concubine [whose name] was Rizpah daughter of Aiah,—and [Ish-bosheth] c said unto Abner, ||Why|| wentest thou in, unto my father’s concubine?
8 And it provoked Abner greatly, on account of the words of Ish-bosheth, and he said—
   Am I † [the head of the dogs] that pertain unto Judah?
   ||To-day|| would I deal in lovingkindness with the house of Saul thy father, towards his brethren, and towards his friends, and have not delivered thee’ into the hand of David,—and yet thou hast charged upon me the transgression of the woman ||to-day||.
9 ||Sol|| may God do unto Abner, and ||Sol|| may he add to him,—if <as Yahweh hath sworn unto David> ||even so|| I deal not with him; 10 by turning over the kingdom from the house of Saul,—and establishing the throne of David, over Israel and over Judah, ||from Dan, even unto Beer-sheba||.
11 And he could no further’ answer Abner ||a word||,—because he feared him.

12 So Abner sent messengers unto David, on the spot, saying—
   ||Whose|| is the land?
   Saying [also]—
   Solemnise thy covenant’ with me; and lo! [my hand] shall be with thee, to bring round unto thee all Israel.
13 And he said—
   Good! ||Il|| will solemnise with thee a covenant,—but ||one thing|| must I ask of thee, saying—
   Thou shalt not see my face, except thou have brought in d Michal, Saul’s daughter, when thou comest to see my face.
14 And David sent messengers unto Ish-bosheth son of Saul, saying,— Give up my wife, Michal, whom I espoused to myself, for a hundred foreskins of Philistines.
15 So Ish-bosheth sent and took her from her husband,—from Paltiel, son of Laish. 16 And her husband went along with her, weeping as he went behind her, as far as Behurim,—when Abner said unto him—Go, return.
   And he returned.
16 Then had Abner ||speech|| with the elders of Israel, saying,—
   ||In times past||’ ye were seeking David, to be king over you.
18 ||Now|| therefore, act,—for ||Yahweh|| spake unto David, saying,
   <By the hand of David my servant> will I save e my people Israel, out of the hand of the Philistines, and out of the hand of all their enemies.
19 And Abner also’ spake in the ears of Benjamin,— and Abner also’ went to speak, in the ears of David, in Hebron, all that was pleasing in the eyes of Israel, and in the eyes of all the house of Benjamin. 20 So <when Abner came in unto David, in Hebron, and ||with him|| twenty men> David made, ||for Abner, and for the men who were with him| a banquet. 21 Then said Abner unto David—

§ 7. Joab slays Abner, over whom David pronounces a Dirge.

22 And lo! the servants of David, and Joab, came in from a raid, and brought they in with them; but was not with David in Hebron, for he had let him go, and he had departed in peace.

23 <When had come in> then told they Joab, saying, Abner son of Ner hath been in unto the king, and he hath let him go, and he hath departed in peace.

24 Then Joab came in unto the king, and said—What hast thou done? Lo! Abner came in unto thee. Wherefore is it that thou didst let him go, so that he is clean departed?

25 Thou knowest’ Abner son of Ner, that he came,—and to take knowledge of thy going out, and thy coming in, and to take knowledge of all that thou’ art doing.

26 And he sent messengers after Abner, and brought him back from the well of Sirah,—but knew it not.

27 So Abner returned to Hebron, and Joab took him aside into the midst of the gate, to speak with him quietly,—and then smote him there, in the belly; that he died, for the blood of Asahel the brother of Joab.

28 And heard of it, after that, he said—||Guiltless|| am I’ and my kingdom before unto age-abiding,—of the blood of Abner son of Ner.

29 Let it be hurled upon the head of Joab, and against all his father’s house,—and let there not fail from the house of Joab—one that hath an issue, or a leper, or one that leaneth on a crutch, or that falleth by the sword, or that lacketh bread.

23 Or: “sent A. away.”

b Or: “had sent him away.”

c As chap. ii. 23.

22 Or: “sent Ab. away.”

22 Or: “had sent him away.”

c As chap. ii. 23.

30 Thus ||Joab and Abishai his brother|| slew Abner,—because he had caused the death of Asahel their brother, in Gibeon, in the battle.

31 And David said unto Joab, and unto all the people who were with him,—Rend your clothes, and gird you with sackcloth, and lament aloud’ before Abner. And ||King David himself|| was following the bier.

32 And they buried Abner in Hebron,—and the king lifted up his voice and wept, at the grave of Abner, and all the people’ wept.

33 And the king addressed his dirge unto Abner, and said,—

<As a base’ man dieth> should Abner have died?||Thy hands|| were not bound,
And ||thy feet|| [near to fetters] were not brought,
<As one falleth before assassins> so didst thou fall!

34 And again all the people wept over him.

35 And <when all the people came near to get David to eat bread, while yet it was day> David sware, saying—||So|| let God do to me, and ||so|| let him add, if <before the sun go in> I taste bread, ||or anything else]].

36 And ||all the people|| took note of it, and it was noble in their eyes,—as ||all that the king did|| was, [in the eyes of all the people, ||noble]].

37 So then all the people, and all Israel, took note, that day, that ||it was not of the king|| to cause the death’ of Abner son of Ner.

38 And the king said unto his servants,—Will ye not take note that [a prince and a great man] hath fallen this day, in Israel?

39 And [I myself] [this day] am weak, though anointed king, 40 But [these men, the sons of Zeruiah], are more severe than I: Yahweh repay’ [the doer of wickedness], [according to his wickedness].

§ 8. Ish-bosheth slain: his Death avenged by David.

Chapter 4.

1 Now <when Ish-bosheth> son of Saul heard’ that Abner had died in Hebron> his hands became feeble,—and [[all Israel]] were dismayed. 2 And two men, ||[captains of bands]|| pertained to Ish-boshethb son of Saul—[[the name of the one]] was Baanah, and [[the name of the other]] Rechab—sons of Rimmon the Beerotithe, of the sons of Benjamin,—for [[even Beerot]] used to be reckoned unto Benjamin; and the Beerotithes fled to Gittaim,—and have been sojourners’ there, until this day. 4 And [[Jonathan, son of Saul]] had a son, lame of his feet,—[[five years old]] was he, when tidings came in of Saul and Jonathan from Jezreel, so his nurse took him up, and fled, and it came to pass, <when she started up to flee> that he fell and was lamed, and [his name] was [[Mephibosheth]]. 5 So then the sons of Rimmon the Beerotithe, Rechab and Baanah, took their journey and came in, about the heat of the day, unto the house of Ish-bosheth,—when [[he]] was lying on his noonday’ couch; 6 and [[thither]] entered theyc as far as the middle of the house, to fetch wheat, and they smote him in the belly,—and [[Rechab and Baanah his brother]] escaped. 7 Thus they entered the house when [[he]] was lying on his bed, in his sleeping-chamber, and smote him, and slew him, and beheaded him,—and took his head, and journeyed by way of the waste plaind all the night; 8 and brought in the head of Ish-bosheth unto David, at Hebron, and said unto the king, Lo! the head of Ish-bosheth son of Saul, thine enemy, who sought thy life:e so hath Yahweh given to my lord the king, avengement this day, on Saul and on his seed.

9 Then David responded to Rechab and Baanah his brother, sons of Rimmon the Beerotithe, and said unto them,—[[By the life of Yahweh, who hath redeemed my soulf out of all distress]] 10 <when he that brought tidings to me, saying, Lo! Saul is dead, though [[he]] was as one that bringeth good tidings, in his own eyes> yet I seized him, and slew him in Ziklag,—which was how I gave him reward for his tidings: 11 how much more’ <when [[lawless men]] have slain a righteous person, in his own house, upon his bed>?… [[Now]], therefore, must I not requireg his blood’ at your hands, and so consume you, out of the earth?h

12 David therefore commanded the young men, and they slew them, and cut off their hands, and their feet, and hanged them up over the pool, in Hebron,—but [[the head of Ish-bosheth]] took they, and buried in the grave of Abner, in Hebron.

§ 9. David, becoming King over all Israel, takes Jerusalem, and his Fame and Family are increased.

Chapter 5.

1 Then came all the tribes of Israel unto David, in Hebron,—and spake, saying—Behold us! [[thy bone and thy flesh]] we are’. 2 Also <in time past, when Saul was king over us> [[thou]] wast he that led out and brought in, Israel,—and Yahweh said to thee—[[Thou]] shalt be shepherd unto my people, Israel, and [[thou]] shalt become leader’ over Israel.

3 So all the elders of Israel came unto the king, in Hebron, and King David solemnised to them a covenant in Hebron, before Yahweh,—and they anointed David to be king over Israel. 4 [[Thirty years old]] was David when he began to reign,—<forty years> he reigned: 5 [[in Hebron]] reigned he over Judah, seven years, and six months,—and [[in Jerusalem]] reigned he thirty and three years, over all Israel and Judah.

6 Then went the king and his men, to Jerusalem, against the Jebusites, inhabiting the land,—and they spake to David, saying—Thou canst not come in hither, unless thou take away the blind and lame—Thinking, David will not come in hither.

So then David captured the citadel of Zion,—||the same|| is the city of David. And David said, on that day—

Whosoever is smiting the Jebusites, then let him reach as far as the aqueduct. But <as for the lame and the blind> they were the hated of David’s soul,—||for which cause|| they kept on saying.

Blind and lame! he will not enter the place.

So then David dwelt in the citadel, and called it, The City of David,—and David built round about, from Millo⁴ and inwards.

And David went on and on waxing great,—||Yahweh, God of hosts|| being with him.

Then Hiram, king of Tyre, sent messengers unto David, with cedar-wood, and carpenters, and masons, and they built a house for David.

So David perceived that Yahweh had established him to be king over Israel,—and that he had exalted his kingdom, for the sake of his people Israel.

And David took him yet more concubines and wives, out of Jerusalem, after he had come from Hebron, and there were [yet further] born unto David, sons and daughters. Now ||these|| are the names of the sons who were born unto him in Jerusalem,—Shammua and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon; and Ibar and Elishua and Nepheg and Yaphia; and Elishama and Eliada,⁶ and Eliphelet.

§ 10. David, twice assailed by the Philistines, twice defeats them.

And <when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David to be king over Israel> then came up all the Philistines to seek to secure David, and David heard of it, and went down into the citadel.

Now ||the Philistines|| had come,—and had spread themselves out in the vale of Rephaim. So then David enquired of Yahweh, saying,—Shall I go up against the Philistines? Wilt thou deliver them into my hand? And Yahweh said unto David—

Go up; for I ||will surely deliver|| the Philistines into thy hand.

And David entered Baal-perazim, and David smote them there, and said—Yahweh hath broken forth upon mine enemies, before me, like a breaking forth of waters. ||For this cause|| called he the name of that place, Baal-perazim. And they left their images there,—and David and his men took them away.

And yet again did the Philistines come up,—and they spread themselves out in the vale of Rephaim. So David enquired of Yahweh, and he said—Thou shalt not go up,—Get round behind them, and come in upon them, over against the mulberry-trees. And it shall be <when thou shalt hear a sound of marching in the tops of the mulberry-trees> ||then|| shalt thou act with decision,—for ||then|| will Yahweh have gone forth before thee, to smite the host of the Philistines.

And David did’ so, as Yahweh had commanded him,—and smote the Philistines, from Gibeon until thou enterest Gezer.

§ 11. David brings up the Ark to Jerusalem.

Chapter 6.

And David [once more] gathered together all the choice young men in Israel, thirty thousand.

Then David, and all the people that were with him, arose and went beyond Baale Judah,—to bring up from thence, the ark of God, the name whereof is called by the name of Yahweh of hosts dwelling enthroned in the cherubim thereupon.⁴

So they carried the ark of God in a new waggon, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab, who was in Gibeah,—and ||Uzza and Ahio, sons of Abinadab|| were driving the new waggon.

So they brought it out of the house of Abinadab, which was in Gibeah, with the ark of God,—and ||Ahio|| was going before the ark. And ||David and all the house of Israel|| were dancing for joy before Yahweh, with all boldness and with songs, a—and with lyres, and with harps, b and with timbrels, and with sistra, c and with cymbals. d And <when they came as far as the threshing-floor of Nachon> Uzzah thrust forth his hand e unto the ark of God, and took hold of it, for the oxen were restive. f Then was kindled the anger of Yahweh, against Uzzah, and God smote him there, for the error, g—so that he died there, by the ark of God. h And it was a sadness unto David, for that Yahweh had broken in with a breach against Uzzah,—therefore called he that place Perez-uzzah [as it is called] until this day. i And David was afraid of Yahweh on that day,—and said,

How can the ark of Yahweh come unto me?

So David would not remove unto him the ark of Yahweh, unto the city of David,—but David took it aside to the house of Obed-edom, the Gittite. j And the ark of Yahweh abode in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite, three months,—and Yahweh blessed Obed-edom, and all his household. k And it was told King David, saying, Yahweh hath blessed the household of Obed-edom, and all that he hath, because of the ark of God.

David therefore went and brought up the ark of God, out of the house of Obed-edom, unto the city of David, with rejoicing. l And so it was that <when they who bare the ark of Yahweh had stepped forward six paces> m he sacrificed an ox and a heifer. n And ||David|| was dancing with all boldness before Yahweh,—||David|| being girt with an ephod of linen.

So ||David and all the house of Israel|| were bringing up the ark of Yahweh,—with triumphant shoutings, and with the sound of a horn. n

Now it so came about that <when the ark of Yahweh entered the city of David> ||Michal Saul’s daughter|| looked out through the window, and saw King David, leaping and dancing o before Yahweh, and she despised him, in her heart. p

So they brought in the ark of Yahweh, and set it in its place, in the midst of the tent q which David had stretched out for it,—and David caused to go up ascending-sacrifices before Yahweh, and peace-offerings. r And <when David had finished offering up the ascending-sacrifice and the peace-offerings> he blessed the people s in the name of Yahweh of hosts.

And he apportioned to all the people, to all the multitude of Israel, both to men and to women—[to every one] a loaf of bread, and a sweet drink, t and a raisin-cake,—and all the people went their way, every one unto his own house;

and David’ returned, to bless his household. u

Then came forth Michal Saul’s daughter to meet David, and said—

||How honoured|| [to-day] was the king of Israel in disrobing himself to-day, in the sight of the handmaids of his servants, as one of the low people [might disrobe himself]?

And David said unto Michal,

<Before Yahweh> I will dance,—||blessed|| be Yahweh, v who made choice of me above thy father, and above all his house, putting me in charge as leader over the people of Yahweh, over Israel,—therefore will I dance before Yahweh; w and will make myself [yet more] lightly esteemed than this, and become lowly in mine own eyes,—nevertheless <with the handmaids of whom thou hast spoken> [with them] shall I be honoured.

Therefore ||Michal Saul’s daughter|| had no child,—unto the day of her death.

and the gold which he had hallowed from all the nations which he had subdued: 12 from Syria, and from Moab, and from the sons of Ammon, and from the Philistines, and from Amalek,—and from the spoil of Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah. 13 And David made a name, when he returned from his smiting of the Syrians in the valley of salt,—eighteen thousand. 14 And he put [in Edom] garrisons, <throughout all Edom> put he garrisons, and so it was that all Edom became servants unto David,—and Yahweh gave victory unto David, whithersoever he went.

§ 14. David’s Officers of State.

15 And David reigned over all Israel,—and so it was that David used to execute justice and righteousness for all his people; 16 and [[Joab, son of Zeruiah]] was over the army,—and [[Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud]] was remembrancer.

17 And [[Zadok, son of Ahitub, and Abimelech, son of Abiathar]] were priests,—and [[Seraiah]] was scribe; 18 and [[Benaijah, son of Jehoiada]] was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites,—and [[the sons of David]] became [chief rulers].

Chapter 9.

1 And David said,
Is’ there yet’ one left unto the house of Saul,— 2 that I may show him lovingkindness, for the sake of [Jonathan]?

2 Now <unto the house of Saul> belonged a servant, [whose name] was Ziba, and <when they had called him unto David> the king said unto him—

Art [[thou]] Ziba? And he said—
Thy servant!

3 Then said the king—

Is there never a man remaining’ unto the house of Saul, that I may show him’ the lovingkindness of God?

And Ziba said unto the king,
There remaineth’ a son unto Jonathan, lame in his feet.

4 And the king said to him,
Where is he?

And Ziba said unto the king,
Lo! [[he]] is in the house of Machir son of Ammiel, in Lo-debar.

5 Then sent King David,—and fetched him out of the house of Machir son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar. 6 Now <when Mephibosheth, son of Jonathan, son of Saul, came in unto David> he fell on his face and did homage. And David said, Mephibosheth?

And he said,
Lo! thy servant.

7 And David said to him—
Do not fear, for I will [indeed shew] thee lovingkindness, for the sake of Jonathan thy father, and will restore unto thee all the land of Saul thy father,—but [[thou thyself]] shall eat bread at my table [continually],

8 And he did homage, and said—
What is thy servant,—that thou hast turned towards such a dead dog as I?

9 Then the king called for Ziba, Saul’s servant, and said unto him,—

<All that pertained unto Saul and unto all his house> have I given unto the son of thy lord: 10 therefore shalt thou till for him the ground, [[thou, and thy sons, and thy servants]], and shalt bring in, so that thy lord’s son may have bread to eat, but Mephibosheth, thy lord’s son] shall continually eat bread at my table.

Now [[Ziba]] had fifteen sons, and twenty servants.

11 Then said Ziba unto the king,
<According to all that my lord the king shall command his servant> [[so]] will thy servant

Chapter 11.

1. And it came to pass <at the return of the year>, at the time of the going forth of kings<sup>a</sup> that David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel, and they destroyed the sons of Ammon, and laid siege to Rabbah,—but [David] was remaining in Jerusalem.<sup>b</sup> And it came to pass that <at eventide> David arose from his couch, and walked to and fro on the roof of the king’s house, when, from the roof, he saw a woman bathing herself,—[the woman being exceeding beautiful to look upon]. And David sent and enquired after the woman,—and one said—

   Is not [this] Bath-sheba, daughter of Eliam, wife of Uriah the Hittite?<sup>c</sup>

2. And David sent messengers, and fetched her, and she came in unto him, and he lay with her, [she having purified herself from her uncleanness], and she returned unto her own house. And the woman <having conceived> sent and told David, and said—

   I am with child.<sup>d</sup>

3. Then sent David unto Joab, Send unto me ’Uriah the Hittite. So Joab sent Uriah unto David. And [when Uriah had come in unto him] David asked—how Joab ’prospered, and how the people ’prospered, and how the war ’prospered.<sup>e</sup>

4. Then said David unto Uriah, Go down unto thy house, and bathe thy feet. And [when Uriah went out of the house of the king] there followed him, a present from the king. But Uriah slept at the entrance of the king’s house, with all the servants of his lord,—and went not down unto his own house. And it was told David, saying, Uriah went not down, unto his own house. So David said unto Uriah—Was it not <from a journey> thou ’didst come? why, then, hast thou not been down unto thine own house?<sup>f</sup>

5. And Uriah said unto David—[The ark, and Israel and Judah] are dwelling in huts and [my lord Joab, and the servants of my lord] on the face of the field are encamped, Was [I] then, to enter my own house, to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? <By thy life, yea by the life of thy soul> I could not do this thing.<sup>g</sup>

6. Then said David unto Uriah—Abide here to-day also, and [to-morrow] will I let thee go. So Uriah abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morrow. And David called him, and he did eat before him, and drank, and he made him drunk,—and he went forth in the evening to lie down on his bed, with the servants of his lord, but [unto his own house] went he not down.<sup>h</sup>

7. And so it was <in the morning> that David wrote a letter unto Joab,—and sent it by the hand of Uriah; and he wrote in the letter, saying,—Set ye Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle, and retire ye from him, that he be smitten and die.<sup>i</sup>

8. So it came to pass <when Joab was laying siege to the city> that he put Uriah in the place where he knew that the men of valour [were]. And forth sallied the men of the city, and fought with Joab, and there fell some of the people, of the servants of David,—then died also [Uriah the Hittite]. So Joab sent and told David all the news of the battle; and he charged the messenger saying,—<When thou hast ended all the news of the battle, in speaking unto the king> then shall it be <if the king ’s anger arise, and he say unto thee, Why ’came ye near unto the city, to fight? Knew ye not, that they would shoot from off the wall? Who smote Abimelech son of Jerubbaal? Did not [a woman] cast on him an upper millstone from off the wall, that he died, in Thebez? Wherefore ’ came ye near unto the wall? Then shalt thou say—[Moreover] [thy servant, Uriah the Hittite] died.<sup>j</sup>

Chapter 12.

1 So then Yahweh sent Nathan the prophet unto David,—who therefore came unto him and said to him—

||Two men|| there were in a certain city, ||the one|| rich, and ||the other|| poor. 2 The ||rich|| man had flocks and herds exceeding many; 3 whereas the ||poor|| man had [nothing],—save one little lamb, which he had made his own, and sustained, and it had grown up with him and with his children, ||all together||,—<of his own morsel> used it to eat, and <out of his own cup> used it to drink, and <in his own bosom> used it to lie, and it was to him [as a daughter].

4 Now there came a traveller to the rich man, but he thought it a pity to take of his own flock, or his own herd, to make ready for the wayfarer who had come to him,—so he took the lamb of his poor neighbour, and made ready for the man who had come to him.

5 Then was kindled the anger of David against the man, fiercely,—and he said unto Nathan,

<By the life of Yahweh> ||doomed to death||< is the man that hath done this; 6 and <the lamb> shall he pay back sevenfold,—because he did this thing, and, for that he had no pity.

7 Then said Nathan unto David:

||Thou|| art the man!

||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel—

||I|| anointed thee to be king over Israel, and ||I|| delivered thee out of the hand of Saul; 8 and gave unto thee the household of thy lord, and the wives of thy lord, into thy bosom, and gave unto thee the house of Israel and Judah. And <if this had been too little> I could have further given thee more and more of such things.

9 ||Wherefore|| hast thou despised the word of Yahweh, by doing that which is wicked in mine eyes?f <Uriah the Hittite> hast thou smitten with the sword, and <his wife> hast thou taken to thyself to wife, yea <him> hast thou slain with the sword of the sons of Ammon!

10 ||Now||, therefore, the sword shall not depart from thy house, unto age-abiding times,—because thou hast despised me, and taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

11 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,—

||Behold me! raising up over thee calamity' out of thine own household, and I will take thy wives, before thine eyes, and give unto thy neighbour, and he will lie with thy wives, [in the eyes of this sun]. 12 For ||thou|| didst it [in secret],—but ||I|| will do this thing [before all Israel, and before the sun].

13 And David said unto Nathan,

I have sinned against Yahweh.

Then said Nathan unto David,—

||Yahweh also|| hath put away thy sin, thou shalt not die! 14 [Nevertheless] <because thou hast greatly blasphemed Yahweh, by this thing—[[the very son that is born to thee]] shall [[die]].

15 And Nathan departed unto his own house,—and Yahweh struck the child that the wife of Uriah had borne unto David, and it fell sick.

16 David therefore earnestly sought God in behalf of the boy,—and David kept a fast, and used to go in and pass the night, and lie upon the ground. 17 And the elders of his house stood up over him, to raise him from the ground,—but he would not, neither would he eat food with them. 18 And it came to pass <on the seventh day> that the child died,—but the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead; for said they—Lo! the child was living; we spake unto him, and he hearkened not unto our voice, how then can we say unto him, The child is dead, and so he do [himself] harm?

19 But <when David saw that his servants were whispering among themselves> then understood David that the child was dead,—and David said unto his servants—Is the child [dead]?

And they answered—Dead!

20 Then David arose from the ground, and bathed and anointed, and changed his apparel, and entering into the house of Yahweh bowed himself down,—then came he into his own house, and asked, and they set before him food, and he did eat. 21 Then said his servants unto him, What is this thing that thou hast done? <For the child’s sake> while living thou didst fast and weep, but <as soon as the child was dead> thou didst arise and eat food.

22 And he said—While yet the child lived I fasted, and wept,—for I said—

Who knoweth’ whether Yahweh may not grant me favour, and the child live?

23 But <now> that he is dead wherefore should’ I go on fasting? can I bring him back again? I’ am going unto him’, but ||[he]|| will not come back unto me’.

24 And David consoled Bath-sheba his wife, and went in unto her, and lay with her,—and she bare a son, and called his name [Solomon] and Yahweh loved him. 25 And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet, and called his name Jedidiah [=Beloved of Yah] ||for Yahweh’s sake||.

§ 18. Victories over the Sons of Ammon, by Joab and David.

26 And Joab fought against Rabbah, of the sons of Ammon,—and captured the royal city.

27 Then Joab sent messengers unto David,—and said—

I have fought against Rabbah, I have also captured the city of the waters. 28 Therefore gather thou together the rest of the people, and encamp against the city, and capture it,—lest [||] capture the city, and it be called by my name.

29 So David gathered together all the people, and went to Rabbah,—and fought against it, and captured it. 30 Then took he the crown of Milcom from off his head, [the weight thereof] being a talent of gold, with the precious stones, and it remained on the head of David,—<the spoil of the city also> brought he forth in great abundance; 31 <the people also that were therein> brought he forth, and put them to the saw, and to threshing sledge of iron, and to axes of iron, and made them pass through the brick-kiln, and thus used he to do unto all the cities of the sons of Ammon. And David and all the people returned unto Jerusalem.

§ 19. Absalom’s sister Tamar forced by her brother
Amnon: Absalom slays him and flees.

Chapter 13.

1 And it came to pass <after this> that ||Absalom, son of David|| <having a beautiful sister, ||whose name|| was Tamar> Amnon son of David loved her. 2 And it so troubled Amnon, that he made himself ill on account of Tamar his sister, for  was she, and it was monstrous in Amnon’s own eyes, to do ||anything|| unto her. 3 But ||Amnon|| had a friend, ||whose name|| was Jonadab, son of Shimeah, David’s brother,—and ||Jonadab|| was a very cunning man. 4 So he said to him,—

Why art thou looking so wretched—a king’s son too—morning by morning? Wilt thou not tell me?

And Amnon said to him,

<With Tamar, my brother Absolom’s sister> am I in love.

5 And Jonadab said unto him:

Take to thy bed, and feign thyself ill,—and <when thy father cometh in to see thee> then shalt thou say unto him—

I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, that she may give me food, and let her prepare some delicacy, to the end that I may see [it made], and so eat at her hand.

6 So Amnon took to his bed, and feigned himself ill,—and <when the king came in to see him> Amnon said unto the king—

I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, and make ready before mine eyes a couple of cakes, that I may eat at her hand.

7 So David sent unto Tamar, in the house—

saying,—

Come, I pray thee, to the house of Amnon thy brother, and prepare him enticing food.

8 And Tamar went to the house of Amnon her brother, ||he’ having taken to his bed||,—and took dough and kneaded it, and folded it before his eyes, and baked the cakes. 9 Then took she the pan and put them out before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said—

Have forth every one from me. And they went out every one from him.

10 Then said Amnon unto Tamar—

Bring the food into the chamber, that I may eat out of thine own hand.

So Tamar took the cakes’ which she had made, and brought them in to Amnon her brother, in the chamber. 11 And <when she brought them unto him to eat> he took hold of her, and said to her, Come lie with me, my sister!

12 But she said to him—

Nay! my brother, do not force me, for it should not be done so’ in Israel,—do not commit this vileness. 13 And ||[I]]—whither could I take my reproach? ||[Thou]] too, wouldest be as one of the vile fellows, in Israel. ||[Now]] therefore, speak, I pray thee, unto the king, for he would not withhold me from thee.

14 But he would not hear her voice,—and <being stronger than she> forced her, and lay with her.

15 Then did Amnon hate her with a very great hatred, for ||greater|| was the hatred wherewith he hated her, than the love wherewith he had loved her,—so Amnon said to her—

Rise—begone!

16 But she said to him—

No occasion for this greater wrong, <after what thou hast done with me> to put me away!

Nevertheless he would not hear her; 17 but called his young man who waited on him, and said—

I pray you, put forth this woman from me, ||outside||,—and bolt the door’ after her.

18 Now she had upon her a long tunic, for ||so|| used king’s daughters to apparel themselves, ||when they were virgins||, ||in robes||. And his attendant took her forth ||outside||, and bolted the door, after her. 19 And Tamar put ashes upon her head, and <the long tunic that was upon her> she rent,—and put her hand upon her head, and went her way ||crying out as she went||. 20 And Absalom her brother said unto her—

Hath ||Amnon thy brother|| been with thee?

||Now|| therefore, my sister, hold thy peace— ||thy brother|| he is’, do not lay to thy heart, this thing.

But Tamar remained, and was desolate’ in the house of Absalom her brother. 21 And ||[King David]] heard all these things,—and it angered him
II SAMUEL – Chapter 14.

§ 20. Joab employs a Wise Woman of Tekoa to induce David to recall Absalom: A Tardy Reconciliation.

Chapter 14.

1 And Joab, son of Zeruiah, perceived that the heart of the king was towards Absalom. 2 So Joab sent to Tekoa, and fetched from thence, a wise woman, — and said unto her—

I pray thee, feign thyself a mourner, and put on, I pray thee, mourning apparel, and do not rent their garments. 32 Then responded Jonadab son of Shimeah David’s brother, and said—

Let not my lord say that they have put ||all the young men—the king’s sons|| to death; for ||Amnon alone|| is dead; for <by the bidding of Absalom> was it appointed, from the day that he forced Tamar his sister.

||Now因此, let not my lord the king lay || his heart such a thing—to say ||All the king’s sons|| are dead,—but ||Amnon alone|| is dead.

Now Absalom had fled. And the young man that was watching lifted up his eyes’ and looked, and lo! ||much people|| coming on the road behind him, on the mountain-side. 35 So Jonadab said unto the king,

Lo! ||the king’s sons|| are come,—<according to the word of thy servant> so hath it come to pass.

And so it was <as he made an end of speaking> that lo! ||the king’s sons|| came, and lifted up their voice and wept,—||the king also, and all his servants|| wept with an exceeding great weeping.

37 But ||Absalom|| had fled, and had taken his journey unto Talmai son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David the king mourned for his son continually. 38 But ||Absalom|| had fled, and had taken his journey to Geshur,—and it came to pass that he was there three years. 39 And the spirit of the king pined to go forth unto Absalom,—for he had consol’d himself over Amnon, in that he was dead.

And it came to pass <while ||they|| were yet on the road> that ||the report|| reached David, saying,—

Absalom hath smitten all the king’s sons, and there is not left of them ||one||.

And the king arose, and rent his garments, and lay on the ground,—and all his servants who stood by greatly. 22 And Absalom spake not with Amnon, either bad or good,—though Absalom hated Amnon, because he had forced Tamar his sister. 23 And it came to pass <after two years of days> that Absalom had [sheep-shearers] in Baal-hazor, which is beside Ephron, 24—and Absalom invited all the king’s sons. 24 Absalom came also unto the king, and said,

So, I pray thee, thy servant hath [sheep-shearers],—I pray thee, let the king and his servants go with thy servant.

And the king said unto him, Wherefore should he go with thee?

And Absalom urged him,—so he let Amnon and all the king’s sons go with him. 26 Now Absalom had commanded his young men, saying—

Mark, I pray you, <when the heart of Amnon is merry with wine, and I say unto you—

Smite ye Amnon> then shall ye put him to death, do not fear,—have not ||I myself|| commanded you? Be bold, and show yourselves to be sons of valour.

So Absalom’s young men did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then arose all the king’s sons, and rode away—each man on his mule, and fled.

And it came to pass <while ||they|| were yet on the road> that ||the report|| reached David, saying,—

Absalom hath smitten all the king’s sons, and there is not left of them ||one||.

And the king arose, and rent his garments, and lay on the ground,—and all his servants who stood by

And Joab arose, and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. And the king said—

Let him go round to his own house, and let him not see. So Absalom went round, unto his own house, and the face of the king saw he not.

Now Absalom was there no man handsome in all Israel, to be greatly praised,—from the sole of his foot, even unto the crown of his head; there was not in him, [a blemish].

And when he polled his head—and it was at every year’s end that he used to poll it, because it was heavy upon him, therefore he used to poll it—he would weigh the hair of his head, two hundred shekels, by the royal standard. And there were born to Absalom three sons, and one daughter, whose name was Tamar.—[she] was a woman beautiful to look upon.

So Absalom dwelt in Jerusalem two years of days,—and the face of the king had he not seen. Then sent Absalom unto Joab, to send him unto the king, but he would not come to him,—so he sent yet a second time, but he would not come. Then said he unto his servants—

See [the allotted portion of Joab] adjoineth me, and [he] hath barley there, go, and set it on fire.

So the servants of Absalom set the portion on fire.

Then rose Joab, and went unto Absalom, in his house,—and said unto him,

Wherefore have thy servants set the portion that pertaineth to me, on fire?

And Absalom said unto Joab—

Lo! I sent unto thee, saying—

Come hither, that I may send thee unto the king, saying—

Wherefore am I come from Geshur? [I] might as well have yet been there.

[Now] therefore, let me see the face of the king, and if there is in me iniquity then let him put me to death.

So Joab came unto the king, and told him, and the king called for Absalom, and he came in unto the king, and bowed himself down with his face to the ground, before the king,—and the king kissed Absalom.

Chapter 15.

And it came to pass after this that Absalom prepared him chariots and horses,—and fifty men, to run before him. And Absalom used to rise up early, and take his stand beside the way of the gate,—and so it was—when any man who had a controversy would come unto the king for judgment then Absalom called unto him, and said:

Of what city art thou? And he said,

Of one of the tribes of Israel is thy servant. And Absalom said unto him, See! [thy cause] is good and right,—but thou hast no one from the king.

And Absalom said,

Oh would that I were appointed to judge in the land! that unto me might come every man having a complaint or a defence, then would I see him righted.

Moreover, so it used to be, that when any man came near to do him homage he would put forth his hand, and lay hold of him, and kiss him. And Absalom did, after this manner, to all Israel who came for judgment, unto the king,—so Absalom stole away the heart of the men of Israel.
7 And it came to pass [at the end of forty years] that Absolom said unto the king—
   Let me go, I pray thee, that I may pay my vow which I have vowed unto Yahweh, in Hebron;
8 for thy servant vowed [a vow] while I abode in Geshur in Syria, saying,—
   If Yahweh [will but bring me back] unto Jerusalem then will I serve Yahweh.
9 And the king said unto him—
   Go and prosper!
So he arose and went to Hebron. 10 And Absolom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying,—
   When ye hear the sound of the horn then shall ye say, Absolom hath become king in Hebron!
11 And [with Absolom] went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, who having been bidden were going in their simplicity,—neither knew they anything. 12 And Absolom sent and called Ahithophel the Gilonite, David’s counsellor, out of his city, out of Gilo, while he was offering sacrifices,—and so it was that the conspiracy was strong, and [the people] went on multiplying with Absolom.

§ 22. David in alarm takes flight from Jerusalem: Pathetic Incidents.

13 Then came one bearing tidings unto David, saying,—
   It hath come about that the heart of the men of Israel goeth after Absolom.
14 Then said David to all his servants who were with him in Jerusalem—
   Arise and let us flee, or we shall have no way of escape from the face of Absolom,—make speed to depart, lest he make speed, and so overtake us, and bring down misfortune upon us, and smite the city with the edge of the sword.
15 And the king’s servants said unto the king,—
   According to all that my lord the king shall choose here are thy servants.
16 So the king went forth, with all his household’ attending him,—but the king left ten women who were concubines, to keep the house. 17 Thus then the king went forth, with all the people’ attending him,—and they came to a stand at a place that was far off.
18 And [all his servants] were passing on beside him, and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites,—and [all the Gittites—six hundred men, who had accompanied him from Gath]—were passing on before the king. 19 Then said the king, unto Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore shouldest thou also go with us? return and abide with the king, for a stranger art thou, moreover also an exile art thou from thine own country.
20 Only yesterday camest thou, and to-day shall I let thee wander with us, on our journey, seeing that I am going whithersoever I may. 21 Return and take back thy brethren with thee, and may Yahweh deal with thee in lovingkindness and faithfulness.
22 But Ittai answered the king, and said,—
   By the life of Yahweh, and by the life of my lord the king surely in whatsoever place my lord the king may be, whether for death or for life there will thy servant be.
23 Then said David unto Ittai—
   Go and pass on. So Ittai the Gittite passed on, with all his men, and all the little ones that were with him. 24 And [all the land] was weeping, with a loud voice, and [all the people] were passing on, through the torrent-bed of Kidron, and all the people were passing on over the face of the way leading to the wilderness.
25 And lo! [Zadok also, and all the Levites with him] were bearing the ark of the covenant of God, and they set down the ark of God, and Abiathar went up, until all the people had made an end of passing over out of the city. 26 Then said the king unto Zadok, Take back the ark of God into the city, if I find favour in the eyes of Yahweh then will he bring me back, and let me see both him and his habitation. 27 But if thus he say, I have no delight in thee here I am, let him do unto me as may be good in his eyes.

Chapter 16.

1 Now ||David|| had passed on but a little from the summit, when lo! ||Ziba, servant of Mephibosheth|| met him,—with a couple of asses saddled, and ||upon them|| two hundred cakes of bread, and one hundred cakes of raisins, and one hundred summer fruits, and a skin of wine. 2 And the king said unto Ziba, What meanest thou |by these|?

And Ziba said—

||The asses|| are for the king’s household, to ride on, and ||the bread and the summer fruits|| are for the young men to eat, and ||the wine|| is for drink to such as are faint in the wilderness.

3 Then said the king, And where is thy lord’s son?

And Ziba said unto the king—

Lo! abiding in Jerusalem, for he said, ||To-day|| will the house of Israel |restore unto me| the kingdom of my father.

4 Then said the king unto Ziba, Lo! <thine> is all that pertained to Mephibosheth. And Ziba said—

I have done homage, that I might find favour in thine eyes, my lord O king.

5 And <when King David had come as far as Bahurim> lo! from thence a man coming out, of the family of the house of Saul, ||whose name|| was Shimei son of Gera, coming out and cursing as he came. 6 And he pelted, with stones, David’ and all the servants of King David,—||all the people, and all the mighty men, being on his right hand and on his left||. 7 And ||thus|| said Shimei, when he cursed,—

Out! Out! thou man of bloodshed, and man of the Abandoned One!

8 Yahweh |hath brought back upon thee| all the shed-blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead thou hast reigned, and Yahweh hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom thy son,—and |here thou art| in thy ruin, for that |a man of bloodshed| thou art’.

9 Then said Abishai, son of Zeruiah, unto the king—

27 And the king said, unto Zadok the priest, Art thou’ not [a seer]|| return into the city, in peace,—and Ahimeaz thine own son, and Jonathan son of Abiathar—your two sons, with you.

28 See! ||I|| am tarrying in the waste plains\(^a\) of the wilderness—until there come word from you, to tell me.

29 So Zadok and Abiathar took back the ark of God to Jerusalem,—and abode there.

30 Now ||David|| was going up by the ascent of Olivet, weeping as he went up, with his head covered, ||himself|| passing on barefoot,—and all the people who were with ||him|| covered every man his head, and went up, weeping as they went.

31 And ||unto David|| it was told, saying, ||Ahithophel|| is among the conspirators’ with Absolom.

And David said,

Turn to foolishness, I pray thee, the counsel of Ahithophel, O Yahweh.

32 And it came to pass <when David reached the summit, where he bowed himself down unto God> that lo! there met him, Hushai the Archite, his tunic rent, and earth upon his head. 33 And David said unto him,—

<If thou pass over with me> then shalt thou become unto me, a burden; 34 but <if ||to the city|| thou return> then canst thou say unto Absolom—

<Thy servant> ||I|| O king, will be, <as ||the servant of thy father|| I was formerly> so will I ||now|| be thy servant: thus shalt thou frustrate for me’ the counsel of Ahithophel.

35 And hast thou not, with thee, there’ Zadok and Abiathar the priests? so then it shall be, that <what thing soever thou shalt hear out of the house of the king> thou shalt tell unto Zadok and to Abiathar, the priests. 36 Lo!\(^b\) they have there with them, their two sons, Ahimaaz for Zadok, and Jonathan for Abiathar,—so shall ye send, by their hand, unto me, everything which ye shall hear.

37 So Hushai, David’s friend, went into the city,— when ||Absolom|| was about to enter Jerusalem.

§ 23. Absalom enters Jerusalem, where he confers with his Counsellors, follows odious Advice, and resolves on the Pursuit of his Father.

15 And [Absalom and all the men] of Israel entered Jerusalem,—and Ahithophel' with him.
16 And it came to pass [when Hushai the Archite, the friend of David, came in unto Absalom] that Hushai said unto Absalom:
Long live the king! Long live the king! 16
17 Then said Absalom unto Hushai,
Is [this] thy lovingkindness unto thy friend?
Wherefore' wentest thou not with thy friend?
18 And Hushai said unto Absalom,
I pray thee, call ye Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear what is in [his] mouth [also].

6 And when Hushai came unto Absolom, Absolom spake unto him, saying—

<After this manner> hast Ahithophel spoken, shall we do what he saith? [if not] [[thou]] speak.

7 Then said Hushai unto Absolom,—

<Not good> is the counsel that Ahithophel hath given—[[at this time]].

8 And Hushai said—

[[Thou]] knowest thy father and his men—that <men of might> they are, and <embittered in soul> they are, like a bear bereaved of her young, in the field,—[[thy father also]] is a man of war, and will not lodge with the people. 9 Lo! by this time hath [[he]] hidden himself in some pit, or other place,—and it shall be <as soon as he falleth upon them at the first> that he that hearkeneth for tidings will hear [of it], and will say—

There is a defeat among the people that are following Absolom:

then will [[even the son of valour himself, whose heart is as the heart of a lion]], [[utterly melt]],—for all Israel do know that  is thy father, and that <sons of valour> are they who are with him.

11 Therefore I counsel—that there be a general gathering together unto thee of all Israel, from Dan even unto Beer-sheba, as the sand that is by the sea for multitude,—and that [[thine own presence]] be going on in their midst.

12 So shall we come upon him in some place where he hath been found, yea [[we]] shall be upon him, as when the dew falleth upon the ground, and there shall not be left of him, or of the men that are with him, [[so much as one]].

13 But <if [[unto a city]] he withdraw> then will all Israel bring up unto that city [[rope]],—and we will drag it down unto the ravine, until there be not found in that place [[so much as a small stone]].

14 Then said Absolom and all the men of Israel, [[Better]] is the counsel of Hushai the Archite, than the counsel of Ahithophel.

[[Yahweh]] indeed, had given charge’ to frustrate the wise counsel of Ahithophel, to the intent that Yahweh might bring upon Absolom [[ruin]].

§ 24. David, receiving private Information from Jerusalem, crosses the Jordan and enters Mahanaim, where he is succoured with Provisions.

15 So Hushai said unto Zadok and unto Abiathar the priests, <Thus and thus> did Ahithophel counsel Absolom and the elders of Israel,—and <thus and thus> have [[all]] counselled.

16 [[Now]], therefore, send quickly, and tell David, saying,—

Do not lodge to-night in the waste plains of the wilderness, thou must [[even pass over]], lest the king be swallowed up, and all the people who are with him.

17 Now [[Jonathan and Ahimaaz]] were staying by En-rogel, and a maid servant was to go and tell them, and [[they]] were to go and tell King David,—for they might not be seen to enter the city. 18 And <though a young man did see them, and told Absolom> yet they both departed quickly, and entered the house of a man in Bahurim, and [[he]] had a well in his court, into which they went down; 19 and the woman took and spread the cover over the face of the well, and spread thereon her pounded corn,—so nothing was known. 20 Then came the servants of Absolom unto the woman in the house, and said—

Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman said to them—

They have passed over the stream of water, and <when they had searched and not found> they returned to Jerusalem. 21 And it came to pass <after those had gone> that these came up out of the well, and went, and told King David,—and said unto David,— Arise ye and pass quickly over the water, for <thus and thus> hath Ahithophel’ counselled against you.

II SAMUEL – Chapter 18.

22 So David arose, and all the people who were with him, and passed over the Jordan,—<by the morning light>||so much as one|| was not lacking, who had not passed over the Jordan.

23 Now <when ||Ahithophel|| saw that his counsel was not followed> he saddled his ass, and arose and went unto his own house,\(^a\) unto his own city, and gave charge unto his household, and hanged himself,—and died, and was buried in the grave of his father.

24 When ||David|| had come to Mahanaim, ||Absolom|| had passed over the Jordan, ||he and all the men of Israel with him||. 25 Now Absolom had appointed ||Amasa|| instead of Joab over the army,—||Amasa|| being the son of a man whose name was Ithra the Ishmaelite,\(^b\) who went in unto Abigail, daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, mother of Joab. 26 And Israel and Absolom encamped in the land of Gilead.

And it came to pass <when David entered Mahanaim> that Shobi son of Nahash of Rabbah of the sons of Ammon and Machir son of Ammiel of Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite, of Rogelim, 28 brought ||=sleeping rugs, and basins, and earthen vessels, and wheat and barley, and meal and roasted corn,—and beans and lentils, and parched pulse; 29 and honey and cream, and sheep, and cheese of kine||, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat,—for they said, ||=The people|| are hungry and weary and thirsty, in the wilderness.

§ 25. David’s Army gives battle to Absolom’s and defeats it: Absolom’s Death and David’s Lament: The King is roused from his Grief by Joab.

Chapter 18.

1 Then David mustered\(^c\) the people that were with him,—and set over them, captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds. 2 And David sent forth the people—||a third part|| under the hand of Joab, and ||a third part|| under the hand of Abishai son of Zeruiah, brother of Joab, and ||a third part|| under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. Then said the king, unto the people,

||I myself|| will ||surely go forth|| with you.

3 But the people said—

Thou must not go forth, for <if we ||flee||> they will not regard us, neither <if half of us die> will they regard us, for ||thou||\(^d\) <compared with us> [art worth] ten thousand,—||how|| therefore, it will be better’ that thou come to us out of the city ||with succour||.

4 And the king said unto them,

<Whatever is best in your eyes> I will do.

And the king stood beside the gate, while ||all the people|| came out by hundreds and by thousands.

5 And the king charged Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying,

Deal gently ||for my sake|| with the young man, even Absolom.

And ||all the people|| heard when the king charged all the captains, for the sake of Absolom.

6 So the people went forth into the field against Israel,—and the battle took place in the forest of Ephraim. 7 Then were the people of Israel defeated there, before the servants of David,—and the slaughter there was great, on that day—twenty thousand. 8 And the battle there was spread out over the face of all the land,—and the forest devoured more of the people than the sword devoured’ on that day.

9 Now <when Absolom met’ the servants of David> ||Absolom|| was riding upon a mule, and the mule came under the thick branches of a large oak, and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was suspended between heaven and earth, ||the mule that was under him passing on||. 10 And a certain man saw it, and told Joab,—and said—

Lo! I saw Absolom suspended in an oak.

11 Then said Joab to the man that was telling him,

Lo! <since thou sawest him> why didst thou not smite him there, to the ground? then should I have been bound to give thee ten pieces of silver, and a girdle.

12 And the man said unto Joab,

<Though I’ were weighing upon my palm’ a thousand pieces of silver> yet would I not put forth my hand against the son of the king,—for <in our hearing> the king charged thee’ and Abishai and Ittai’, saying,

Watch any man who [would touch] the young man Absolom.
13 Otherwise <had I dealt with my life> falsely (and nothing can be hid from the king)> then ||thou thyself|| wouldst have stood aloof.

And Joab said,
14 <Not thus> may I tarry before thee. And he took three darts in his hand, and thrust them into the heart of Absolom, while he was yet alive in the midst of the oak. Then came round ten young men who bare Joab’s armour,—and smote Absolom, and slew him.

Then Joab blew with a horn, and the people returned from pursuing Israel,—for Joab had restrained the people. And they took Absolom, and cast him, in the forest, into a large pit, and raised up over him a very great heap of stones,—and [all Israel] fled, every man to his home.

But [Absolom] had taken, and raised up for himself, in his lifetime, the pillar that is in the king’s vale, for he said, I have no son, to keep in remembrance my name, so he called the pillar after his own name, and it is called Absolom’s monument until this day.

Then ||Ahimaaz, son of Zadok|| said, Let me run, I pray thee, and carry tidings unto the king,—how that Yahweh hath vindicated him, at the hand of his enemies.

And Joab said to him—
20 <Not a man to bear tidings> art thou this day, but thou shalt bear tidings another day,—but ||this day|| shalt thou not bear tidings, ||for this cause|| that ||the king’s son|| is dead.

Then said Joab to a Cushite,
21 Go tell the king, what thou hast seen. And the Cushite bowed himself down to Joab, and ran. Then [yet again] said Ahimaaz son of Zadok unto Joab:
But <be what may> do, I pray thee, let ||me also|| run, after the Cushite.

And Joab said—
Wherefore is it that ||thou|| wouldst run, my son, when ||thou|| hast no’ tidings of [any profit]?

23 But <be what may> I will run. So he said to him—
Run. Then ran Ahimaaz by the way of the plain, and got beyond the Cushite.

24 Now ||David|| was sitting between the two gates,—and the watchman went on to the top of the gate-house, upon the wall, and lifted up his eyes, and looked, and lo! ||a man, running alone||. So the watchman called out, and told the king. And the king said, —if he is alone there are tidings in his mouth. And he came on nearer and nearer. Then saw the watchman another man running, so he called out unto the porter, Lo! ||a man, running alone||.

And the king said, ||This one also|| beareth tidings.
27 Then said the watchman, It seemeth ||to me|| that ||the running of the foremost|| is like the running of Ahimaaz son of Zadok.
And the king said,

28 Then called out Ahimaaz, and said unto the king, Peace! And he bowed himself down to the king, with his face to the earth,—and said— ||Blessed|| be Yahweh thy God, who hath surrendered the men who were lifting up their hand against my lord the king.

And the king said,
29 Is it ||well|| with the young man—||Absolom||? Then said Ahimaaz—
30 I saw a great crowd, when Joab sent the king’s servant and [me] thy servant, but I knew not what [it meant].

And the king said,
31||Aside! stand here||. So he turned aside, and stood.

Then lo! ||the Cushite|| coming in,—and the Cushite said—

1 And it was told Joab,—
   Lo! [the king] is weeping and mourning over Absolom.

2 So the victory, on that day, was turned into mourning, with all the people,—for the people heard, on that day, saying, down, with the men of Judah, to meet King David. 17 And ||a thousand men|| were with him, out of Benjamin, Ziba also, servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and twenty servants, with him,—and they went through the Jordan, before the king. 18 But the ferry-boat kept crossing, to bring over the household of the king, and to do what was good in his eyes. And [Shimei son of Gera] fell down before the king, when he had passed over the Jordan; 19 and he said unto the king—

Let not my lord impute to me iniquity, neither do thou remember the perverseness of thy servant, on the day that thou wentest out, my lord O king, a from Jerusalem, that the king should lay it upon his heart.

20 For thy servant doth know, that [I] sinned,—lo! therefore, I have arrived to-day, as the first of all the house of Joseph, to come down to meet my lord the king.

21 Then responded Abishai, son of Zeruiah, and said,

<For this> shall not Shimei be put to death, for that he cursed the Anointed of Yahweh?

22 But David said,

What have I in common with you, ye sons of Zeruiah, for ye would become to me, to-day, a very traitor!

Wherefore didst thou set thy servant among them that used to eat at thy table,—what then have I further [by way of right], or to cry out any further unto the king?

26 And he said,

My lord, O king, ||my servant|| betrayed me,—for thy servant said—

29 Then the king said unto him,

Wherefore shouldst thou speak any further of thine affairs? I have said—

||Thou and Ziba shall share the land.||

30 And Mephibosheth said unto the king,

<Even the whole|| let him take,—now|| that my lord the king hath entered, in peace, into his own house.

31 And ||Barzillai the Gileadite|| came down from Rogelim,—and passed, with the king, over the Jordan, to escort him over the Jordan. 32 Now ||Barzillai|| was very aged, eighty years old,—and ||the himself|| had sustained the king, throughout his sojourn in Mahanaim, for he was ||an exceeding great man||.

33 So then the king said unto Barzillai,—

||Thou|| come over with me, and I will sustain thee with me, in Jerusalem.

34 But Barzillai said unto the king,—

<Like unto what> are the days of the years of my life, that I should come up with the king, to Jerusalem. 35 <Eighty years old> am I’ to-day—could I discern between good and bad? or could thy servant taste’ what I might eat, and what I might drink? or could I hear any more’ to the voice of singing men and singing women? Wherefore, then, should thy servant yet’ be a burden unto my lord the king?

36 <Just a little way> will thy servant pass over the Jordan with the king,—but wherefore’ should the king recompense me with this reward? 37 Let thy servant, I pray thee, turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, by the grave

II SAMUEL – Chapter 20.

Chapter 20.

1 Now [in that place] there happened to be an abandoned man, [whose name] was Sheba son of Bichri, a man of Benjamin,—so he blew a horn, and said—

   We have no share in David,

   Nor inheritance have we in the son of Jesse,

   Every man to his home, O Israel!

2 Then went up all the men of Israel from following David, to follow Sheba son of Bichri,—but [the men of Judah] clave unto their king, from the Jordan, even as far as Jerusalem.

3 And David entered into his own house, in Jerusalem, and the king took the ten women widows whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in ward, and sustained them, but [unto them] went he not in,—so they were shut up until the day of their death, in lifelong widowhood.

4 Then said the king unto Amasa,

   Assemble me the men of Judah, within three days,—and [thou] [here] take thy stand!

5 So Amasa went to assemble Judah,—but he tarried beyond the fixed time, which he had appointed him. Then said David unto Abishai, [Now shall Sheba son of Bichri, do us more harm than Absolom,—[thou] take the servants of thy lord, and pursue him, lest he have got him into fortified cities, and so have escaped our eye.

6 Then went out after him—the men of Joab, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men,—and they went out from Jerusalem, to pursue Sheba son of Bichri.

8 [When they were by the great stone which is in Gibeon] [Amasa] had arrived before them. Now

Of my father, and my mother. But here is thy servant Chimham—let him pass over with my lord the king, and do unto him that which may be good in thine eyes.

38 Then said the king,

   [With me] shall Chimham pass over, and [will] will do unto him that which shall be good in thine eyes,—and [whate] whatsoever thou shalt choose to lay upon me] I will do for thee.

39 And [when all the people had passed over the Jordan] then [the king] passed over,—and the king kissed Barzillai, and blessed him, and he returned unto his own place. And the king passed over to Gilgal, and [Chimham] passed over with him,—and [all the people of Judah], escorted the king, yea moreover] [half the people of Israel]. Then lo! [all the men of Israel] were coming unto the king,—and they said unto the king—

   Why did our brethren the men of Judah steal their away, and escort the king and his household over the Jordan, and all the men of David with him?

42 And all the men of Judah made answer unto the men of Israel—

   Because the king is [near of kin] unto us, [wherefore, then] is it, that ye are angry over this matter? Have we [eaten] at the king’s cost? or hath he [bestowed any gifts] on us?

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said—

   [Ten parts] have we in the king, therefore [even in David] have we more right than ye. Why, then, made ye light of us, so that our word was not heard first as to bringing back our king?

And [the words of the men of Judah] were fiercer than [the words of the men of Israel].

II SAMUEL – Chapter 20.

[[Joab]] was girded about with his war-coat as his upper garment, and [[over it]] a girdle with a sword, fastened upon his loins, in the sheath thereof, and [[it]] came out and fell. 9 Then said Joab unto Amasa, Art thou' [w[ell]], my brother? And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand, to kiss him. 10 <Amasa not heeding the sword that was in the hand of Joab> he smote him therewith in the belly, and shed out his bowels to the ground, and [struck] him not again, and he died. So [[Joab and Abishai his brother]] pursued Sheba son of Bichri. 11 Now ||a man|| stood over him, of the young men of Joab,—and said—

<Whosoever is well pleased with Joab, and whosoever pertaineth to David> let him follow Joab.

12But ||Amasa|| was wallowing in blood, in the midst of the highway,—and <when the man saw that all the people stood still> he moved Amasa, out of the highway into the field, and cast over him a garment, ||as soon as he saw' that every man that came up to him stood still]]. 13 <When he had removed' him out of the highway> every man passed on, after Joab, to pursue Sheba son of Bichri.

And he passed on throughout all the tribes of Israel, unto Abel and unto Beth-maachah, and all the Berites,—and they were called together, and came in, yea and followed him. 15 So they came, and laid siege against him, in Abel, Beth-maachah, and they cast up a mound against the city, so that it stood within a rampart,—and [[all the people who were with Joab]] were battering the wall to throw it down. 16 Then cried a wise woman out of the city,—

Hear ye! hear ye! I pray you, say unto Joab, Come near hither, and let me speak unto thee.

17So he came near unto her, and the woman said,— Art thou' Joab?

And he said,—

I am.

And she said unto him,—

Hear thou the words of thy handmaid.

And he said,

I do hear.

Then spake she, saying,—

They [[used to speak]] in former times, saying, [[Enquire]] in Abel! And [[so]] they ended it.

[[I]] am of the peaceable among the faithful in Israel,—[[thou]] art seeking to put to death a city, and a mother in Israel, wherefore wouldst thou swallow up the inheritance of Yahweh?

Then answered Joab and said,—

Far be it! far be it from me! I will neither swallow up nor lay waste. 21 <Not so> is the matter! but ||a man of the hill country of Ephraim, [Sheba son of Bichri] his name||, hath lifted up his hand against the king, even against David, give up him alone, and I will depart from the city.

And the woman said unto Joab, Lo! [[his head]] shall be cast unto thee, through the wall.

22So the woman came unto all the people in her wisdom, and they cut off the head of Sheba son of Bichri, and cast it out unto Joab. And he blew with a horn, and they dispersed themselves from the city, every man to his home; but [[Joab]] returned to Jerusalem unto the king.

23And [[Joab]] was [restored] unto all the army of Israel,— And [[Benaiah]], f son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and over the Pelethites.

24And [[Adoniram]] f was over the tribute,— And [[Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud]] was the remembrancer;

25And [[Sheva]] was scribe,— And [[Zadok and Abiathar]] were priests;

26 [Moreover also] [[Ira the Jairite]] was chief rulerh unto David.

Chapter 21.

1 And there came to be a famine, in the days of David [for three years] year after year, so then David sought the face of Yahweh,—and Yahweh said—

   It respecteth Saul and his house, as to bloodshed, in that he put to death the Gibeonites.

2 The king therefore called the Gibeonites, and said unto them (now [[the Gibeonites]] were [not of the sons of Israel] but of the remnant of the Amorites, with whom [[the sons of Israel]] had entered into an oath, and Saul had sought to smite them, in his jealousy for the sons of Israel and Judah)—3 wherefore David said unto the Gibeonites—

   What shall I do for you, and wherewith shall I make propitiation, so that ye may bless the inheritance of Yahweh?

4 And the Gibeonites said unto him—

   It is not a matter with us of silver or gold, with Saul or with his house, neither would we have a man put to death in Israel.

And he said—

   What do ye’ say I should do for you?"a

5 Then said they unto the king,

   <<The man who consumed us, and who thought to have destroyed us from taking a place within any of the bounds of Israel>>. 6 let there be delivered up to us—seven men of his sons, and we will crucifyb them unto Yahweh in Gibeah of Saul, the chosen of Yahweh.c

And the king said,

   ||[Il]|| will deliver them up.

7 But the king had pity upon Mephibosheth, son of Jonathan, Saul’s son,—because of the oath of Yahweh that was between them, ||between David and Jonathan, Saul’s son]]. 8 So the king took the two sons of Rizpah daughter of Aiah, whom she had borne to Saul, even Armoni and Mephibosheth,—and the five sons of Michald daughter of Saul, whom she had borne to Adriel son of Barzillai, the Meholathite; 9 and delivered them up into the hand of the Gibeonites, and they crucified them in the mountain, before Yahweh, so they seven fell together,—they being put to death in the first days of harvest, in the beginning of the barley harvest. 10 Then Rizpah daughter of Aiah, took sackcloth, and spread it out for herself on the rock, from the beginning of harvest, until water poured out upon them from the heavens,—and suffered neither the birds of the heavens to rest on them by day, nor the wild beasts of the field, [to devour them] by night. 11 And it was told David,—what Rizpah daughter of Aiah, Saul’s concubine, had done. 12 So David went and fetched the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, from the owners of Jabesh-gilead,—who stole them from the broadway of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them, on the day when the Philistines had smitten Saul in Gilboa;

   and he brought up from thence the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son,—and they gathered together the bones of them who had been crucified; 14 so they buried the bones of Saul andc Jonathan his son in the land of Benjamin, in Zelah, in the grave of Kish his father, thus did they allf that the king commanded,—and God suffered himself to be entreated for the land [after this].

§ 29. Various Encounters with the Philistines.

15 And the Philistines had yet again’ a war with Israel,—so David went down, and his servants with him, and fought the Philistines, and David became faint. 16 So <Ishbi-benob, who was of the descendants of the giant,> [the weight of whose spear-head] was three hundred shekels of bronze, he’ also being newly armed> thought to smiteg David; 17 but Abishai son of Zeruiah [came to his help], and smote the Philistine, and slew him. ||Then|| sware the men of David unto him, saying—

   Thou must not go forth’ any more with us, to battle, that thou quench not the lamp of Israel.

And there was yet again’ a battle in Gath; when there was a man of stature, with six fingers on each hand, and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number; [he also] having been born to the giant; but <when he reproached Israel> Jonathan son of Shimeah David’s brother [smote] him. ||These four|| had been born to the giant in Gath,—but they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

§ 30. David’s Song of Triumph over all his Enemies. (Cp. Psalm xviii.)

Chapter 22.

1 And David spake unto Yahweh, the words of this song, in the day when Yahweh had rescued him, out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul; 2 and he said,—

||Yahweh|| was my mountain crag and my stronghold, and my deliverer,—||mine||;

3 ||My God||b was my rock,

I sought refuge in him,—

My shield, and my horn of salvation, my high tower, and my refuge,

My Saviour! <from violence> thou didst save me.

4 <As one worthy to be praised> called I on Yahweh,—

And <from my foes> was I saved.

5 ≤When the breakers of death had encompassed me,—

||the torrents of perdition||c made me afraid,—

6 ||the meshes of hades|| had surrounded me,— the snares of death had confronted me≥

7 <In my distress> called I on Yahweh,

Yea <unto my God> did I call,—

And hearkened, out of his temple, unto my voice,

And ||my cry for help|| was in his ears!

Then did the earth shake and quake,

||The foundationsd of the heavens|| were deeply moved,—

Yea they did shake, because he was angry,

There went up a smoke in his nostrils,

And ||a fire out of his mouth|| devoured,—

||Live coals|| were kindled from it:

Then he stretched out the heavens, and came down,—

And ||thick gloom|| was under his feet;

Then he rode on a cherub, and flew,—

And was seen on the wings of the wind;

And made of the darkness around him, pavilions,—

Gathering of waters, clouds of vapours.

8 <Out of the brightness before him> were kindled live coals of fire;

9 <Thunder from the heavens> did Yahweh give forth,—

Yea ||the Highest|| uttered his voice;

10 And he sent forth arrows, and scattered them,—

Lightning, and confused them;

11 Then appeared the channels of the sea,

Were uncoveredf the foundations of the world,—

At the rebuke of Yahweh,

The blast of the breath of his nostrils;

12 He sent from on high, he took me,—

He drew me out of many waters;

13 He rescued me from my foe, in his might,— Fromf them who hated me, because they were too strong for me:

14 They confronted me, in the day of my necessity,—

Then became Yahweh my stay:

15 And brought out, into a large place, [even me],—

He delivered me, because he delighted in me:

16 Yahweh rewarded me, according to my righteousness,—

<According to the cleanness of my hands> he repaid me:

17 For I had kept the ways of Yahweh,—

18 And ||after this|| that there was yet again a battle in Gob, with the Philistines,—[then] Sibbekai the Hushathite smote Saph, who was of the descendants of the giant.

19 And there was yet again’ a battle in Gob with the Philistines,—when Elhanan son of Jaare-oregim of Bethlehem, smote Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver’s beam.

20 And there was yet again’ a battle in Gath; when there was a man of stature, with six fingers on each hand, and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number; [he also] having been born to the giant; but <when he reproached Israel> Jonathan son of Shimeah David’s brother [smote] him. ||These four|| had been born to the giant in Gath,—but they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

21 Some cod. (w. 2 ear. pr. edns.): “Nob”—G.n.

And not broken away from my God;
For |[all his regulations]| were before me,—
And |<as for his statutes>| I turned not from them.

So became I blameless towards him,—
And kept myself from mine iniquity:
Yahweh therefore repaid me, according to my righteousness,—
According to my pureness before his eyes.

<With the loving> thou didst shew thyself loving,—
<With the blameless hero> thou didst shew thyself blameless;
<With the pure> thou didst shew thyself pure,—
But <with the perverse> thou didst shew thyself ready to contend:
And || thou didst save,—
But |<thy eyes| were on the lofty—thou layedst them low;

For |<thou| wast my lamp, O Yahweh,—
And |<Yahweh|| enlightened my darkness;|
For |<by thee> I ran through a troop,—
|<By thy God> I leapt over a wall.

<As for God> |blameless| is his way,—
||The speech of Yahweh|| hath been proved,
<A shield> he is| to all who seek refuge in him.
For who is a God, save Yahweh?
And who a Rock, save our God?

|<God|| is my fortress of strength,—
And shewed to the blameless his way;|

Planting my feet like the hinds’,—
Yea <on my high places> he caused me to stand;
Teaching my hands, to war,—
So that a bow of bronze was bent by mine arms;
Thus didst thou grant me, as a shield, thy salvation,—
And |<thy condescension>| made me great.

Thou didst widen my stepping-places, under me,—
So that mine ankles faltered not:
I pursued my foes, and destroyed them,—
And returned not, till they were consumed;

So I consumed them, and crushed them, and they rose not again,—
Thus fell they under my feet:
Thus didst thou gird me with strength, for the battle,—
Thou subduedst mine assailants under me:
And |<as for my foes> thou didst give me their neck,—
Yea <them who hated me> that I might destroy them:

They cried out,\(^6\)
But there was none to save,— Unto Yahweh,
But he answered them not.

Then did I beat them in pieces, like the dust of the earth,— <Like the clay of the lanes> did I crush them, stamp them down.

Thus didst thou rescue me from the contentions of my people,\(^b\)—
Didst keep me to be the head of nations:—
||A people whom I had not known|| served me;
||The sons of the foreigner|| were disheartened,
And came quaking,\(^1\) out of their fortresses.

Yahweh liveth, and blessed be my rock,—

And |<to thy name> will I touch the strings:—

10 ||he||, however, arose and smote among the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand clave unto his sword, so Yahweh wrought a great victory on that day,—||the people|| coming back after him, only to strip the slain.

11 And <after him> Shammah son of Agee, the Hararite,—and <when the Philistines> were gathered together into a troop, there being at hand an allotment of field-land full of lentils, but ||the people|| having fled from the face of the Philistines, then took he his stand in the midst of the allotment, and defended it, and smote the Philistines,—and Yahweh wrought a great victory.

12 And three n of the thirty chiefs descended, and came in, towards harvest, unto David, unto the cave of Adullam,—although ||a troop of Philistines|| were encamped in the vale of Rephaim; 14 and ||David|| then o was in a stronghold,—and ||a garrison of Philistines|| was then p in Bethlehem. 15 And David longed, and said,—

And the three mighty men brake through the camp of Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem, that was within the gate, and bare it, and brought it in unto David,—yet would he not drink, but poured it out unto Yahweh, and said—

Be it far from me, O Yahweh, a that I should do this! is it not the blood of the men who went with their livesb in their hands? So he would not drink it. <These things> did the three mighty men.

And <Abishai brother of Joab son of Zeruiah> [||he||] was chief of three, in that he brandished his spear against three hundred whom he slew; and [||he||] had a name among three. 19 Was he not most honourable [||of the three], and so became their captain? § 33. David angers God by Numbering the People: Chooses three Days’ Pestilence: The Plague stayed at Jerusalem, where the King buys the Threshing-floor of Araunah, builds an Altar, and offers Sacrifice.

Chapter 24.

1 And again’ was the anger of Yahweh kindled against Israel,—so that he suffered David to be moved against them, saying,
Go, count Israel and Judah.
2 The king, therefore, said unto Joab, captain of the force, who was with him,—

Go to and fro, I pray thee, throughout all the tribes of Israel, from Dan even unto Beer-sheba, and number ye the people,—so shall I know the sum of the people.

3 Then said Joab unto the king—

Yea, Yahweh thy God add′ unto the people, [how many soever they be] a hundredfold, and [suffer] [the eyes of my lord the king] to see it,—but [my lord the king] wherefore doth he find pleasure in this thing?

4 Notwithstanding, the word of the king prevailed against Joab, and over the captains of the force,—so Joab went forth, with the captains of the force, before the king, to number the people—Israel. 5 And they passed over the Jordan,—and encamped in Aroer, on the right side of the city, that is in the midst of the ravine of Gad,a even towards Jazer. 6 Thus came they to Gilead, and unto the land of Tahtim-hodshi,—and came to Dan-jaan,b and round about Zidon, 7 and entered the fortress of Tyre, and all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites,—and they went out’ to the Southc of Judah, even to Beer-sheba. 8 So <when they had gone to and fro throughout all the land> they came <at the end of nine months and twenty days>d unto Jerusalem. 9 And Joab delivered up the sum of the number of the people, unto the king,—and there were found to be [in Israel] eight hundred thousand men of valour, drawing the sword,—and [the men of Judah] five hundred thousand men.

10 And the heart of David smote him, after he had reckoned up the people,—and David said unto Yahweh—

I have sinned greatly, in what I have done, [Now] therefore, O Yahweh, take away, I beseech thee, the iniquity of thy servant, for I have done very foolishly.

11 And <when David arose in the morning> [the word of Yahweh] had come unto Gad the prophet, the seer of David, saying:

Go and speak unto David—

[Thus] saith Yahweh,

[Three things] do I offer thee,—choose thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

12 So Gad came in unto David, and told him,—and said to him:

Shall there come unto thee seven years of famine in thy land?
Or [for three months]] wilt thou flee before thine enemies, while [they] pursue thee?
Or shall there be [for three days] [pestilence in thy land]]?
[Now] consider and see, what [answer] I shall return to him that sent me.

14 And David said unto Gad—

I am in a great strait,—let us fall, I pray thee, into the hand of Yahweh, for [manifold] are [his compassions], 12 but [into the hand of man] let me not fall.

15 So Yahweh sent forth a pestilence throughout Israel, from the morning even unto the time appointed, 12—and there died of the people, from Dan even unto Beer-sheba, seventy thousand men.

16 But <when the messenger stretched out his hand towards Jerusalem, to destroy it> then relented Yahweh as to the evil, and he said to the messenger who was destroying the people—

Enough! [now] stay thy hand. 12 And [the messenger of Yahweh] was by the threshing-floor of Araunah the Jebusite. 17 Then said David unto Yahweh, when he saw the messenger who was smiting the people, yea he said—

Lo! [I] have sinned, and [I] have done perversely,
But what have [these sheep] done?
Let thy hand, I pray thee, be against me, and against the house of my father!

18 And Gad came unto David, on that day,—and said unto him—

Go up, rear thou unto Yahweh’ an altar, in the threshing-floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

19 So David went up, according to the word of Gad, as Yahweh had commanded.

20 And Araunah looked out, and saw the king, and his servants, passing over unto him—so Araunah went forth, and did homage unto the king, with his face to the ground. 21 Then said Araunah, Wherefore hath my lord the king come unto his servant?

And David said—
To buy of thee the threshing-floor, to build an altar unto Yahweh, that the plague may be stayed from off the people.

Then said Araunah unto David,
Let my lord the king accept it and cause to ascend what is good in his own eyes,—see! the oxen for the ascending-sacrifice, and the threshing-sledges and ox-yokes for wood.

Then said Araunah unto David,
Let my lord the king accept it and cause to ascend what is good in his own eyes,—see! the oxen for the ascending-sacrifice, and the threshing-sledges and ox-yokes for wood.

Then said Araunah unto David,
Let my lord the king accept it and cause to ascend what is good in his own eyes,—see! the oxen for the ascending-sacrifice, and the threshing-sledges and ox-yokes for wood.

But the king said unto Araunah—
Nay! but I will buy it of thee, for a price, and will not cause to ascend unto Yahweh my God, offerings that have cost me nothing.

So David bought the threshing-floor, and the oxen, for fifty shekels of silver; and David built there an altar unto Yahweh, and caused to go up ascending-sacrifices and peace-offerings,—then was Yahweh entreated' for the land, and the plague was stayed from Israel.

§ 1. In his Old Age, Abishag is given to David as his Companion.

Chapter 1.

1 Now ||King David|| was old, advanced in days,—and they covered him with clothes, but he got no heat. 2 Wherefore his servants said unto him—Let there be sought for my lord the king, a young woman—a virgin, so shall she stand before the king, that she may become his companion, a— and she shall lie in thy bosom, and my lord the king shall get |[heat]|. 3 So they sought a fair young woman, throughout all the bounds of Israel,—and found Abishag, the Shunammite, and brought her in, unto the king. 4 Now ||the young woman|| was exceeding fair,—so she became unto the king a companion, b and ministered unto him, but ||the king|| knew her not.

§ 2. Adonijah aspiring to the Throne, Solomon is made King.

5 And ||Adonijah son of Haggith|| exalted himself, saying— ||[I]|| will be king. Therefore prepared he for himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. 6 Now his father had not displeased him all his days, by saying—Why ||[thou]|| hast thou done? Moreover also ||[he]|| was of exceeding handsome appearance, and |<him>| did his mother bear |after Absolom|. 7 So then he had speech with Joab, son of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar the priest,—and they gave help, following Adonijah. 8 But ||Zadok the priest, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the mighty men who belonged to David|| were not with Adonijah. 9 And Adonijah sacrificed sheep and oxen and heifers, near the stone of Zoheleth, which is beside En-ragel,—and invited all his brethren, sons of the king, and all the men of Judah, servantsc of the king; 10 but <Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and the mighty men, and Solomon his brother> he invited not. 11 Then spake Nathan unto Bath-sheba mother of Solomon, saying—

Hast thou not heard that Adonijah son of Haggith hath become king, and ||our lord David|| knoweth it not? 12 ||[Now]|| therefore, come; let me give thee counsel, I pray thee,—so shalt thou rescue thine own life, and the life of thy son, Solomon. 13 Go, and get thee in unto King David, and thou shalt say unto him—Didst not ||[thou thyself]|| my lord O king, swear unto thy handmaid, saying— ||Solomon thy son|| shall become king after me, yea ||[he]|| shall sit upon my throne?

Why, then, hast |Adonijah| become king?

14 Lo! <while thou art yet speaking there with the king> ||[I also]|| will come in after thee, and confirm thy words.

15 So Bath-sheba went in unto the king, into the chamber, now ||[the king]|| was very old,—and ||Abishag the Shunammite|| was ministering unto the king. 16 And Bath-sheba bowed, and did homage unto the king,—and the king saidc—

What aileth thee?

17 And she said unto him—

My lord, d ||[thou thyself]|| didst swear by Yahweh thy God, unto thy handmaid,

Assuredly ||[Solomon thy son]|| shall become king after me,—yea ||[he]|| shall sit upon my throne.

18 But ||[now]|| lo! ||Adonijah|| hath become king; ||[now]|| therefore, my lord, O king, b thou

31 Then Bath-sheba bowed with her face to the ground, and did homage unto the king,—and said—

Let my lord, King David, live to times age-abiding!

32 Then said King David—

Call me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada.

And they came in before the king. 33 Then said the king unto them—

Take ye with you the servants of your lord, and cause Solomon my son to ride upon the mule which pertaineth unto myself,—and bring him down unto Gihon; 34 then shall Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint’ him there’ as king over Israel,—and ye shall blow with the horn, and say—

Long live King Solomon!

35 Then shall ye come up after him, and he shall enter, and sit upon my throne, yea ||he|| shall become king in my stead; even <him> have I charged to become leader, over Israel, and over Judah.

36 Then did Benaiah son of Jehoiada make response unto the king, and say—

Amen! ||so|| say Yahweh, God of my lord the king.

37 <As Yahweh hath been with my lord the king> ||so|| let him be with Solomon,—and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord, King David.

38 So Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada, with the Cherethites and the Pelethites, went down, and caused Solomon to ride upon the mule of King David,—and they escorted him to Gihon. 39 Then took Zadok the priest, the horn of oil out of the Tent, and anointed Solomon,—and they blew with a [ram’s] horn, and all the people said,

Long live King Solomon!

40 And all the people came up after him, ||the people themselves also|| playing with flutes, and rejoicing with great joy,—so that the earth rent with the sound of them.

41 And Adonijah, and all the guests who were with him, heard' it, just as [they] had made an end of eating,—and <when Joab heard' the sound of a horn> he said—

Wherefore' the noise of the city, in tumult?

42 <While yet he was speaking> lo! ||[Jonathan son of Abiathar the priest]|| came in,—and Adonijah said—

Come in, for  thou art, and <good tidings> dost thou bring.

43 But Jonathan responded and said to Adonijah,—

[Of a truth] ||[our lord, King David]|| hath made [Solomon] king.

44 And the king hath sent with him—Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiyah son of Jehoiada, with the Cherethites, and the Pelethites,—and they have caused him to ride upon the mule of the king;

45 and Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed' him king, in Gihon, and they went up from thence rejoicing, so that the city rang again,—

Moreover also is the noise ye have heard.

46 |[Moreover also] Solomon hath taken his seat' upon the throne of the kingdom.

47 |[Moreover also] the servants of the king have been in, to bless our lord King David, saying—

Thy God' make the name of Solomon better than thy name, and make his throne greater than thy throne,—

And the king bowed himself' upon his bed.

48 |[Moreover also] <thus and thus> hath said the king,—

Blessed be Yahweh, God of Israel, who hath given, to-day, one to sit upon my throne, mine own eyes also beholding it].

49 Then trembled and rose up, all Adonijah’s guests,—and departed, ||[every man his own way]].

50 ||[Adonijah also] feared because of Solomon,—and rose and went, and caught hold of the horns of the altar.

51 And it was told Solomon, saying,

Lo! ||[Adonijah]|| feareth King Solomon,—lo! therefore, he hath laid hold of the horns of the altar, saying,

Let King Solomon swear unto me at once that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.

52 Then said Solomon,

<If he will be a man of worth> there shall not one hair of him fall to the earth,—but <if mischief be found in him> then shall he die.

53 So King Solomon sent, and brought him down from the altar, and he came in, and bowed himself down to King Solomon,—and Solomon said unto him—

Go to thine own house.

§ 3. Nearing his End, David gives precautionary Charges to Solomon: The Father’s Death; The Son’s Prosperity.

Chapter 2.

1 And <when the days of David drew near that he must die> he charged Solomon his son, saying:—

2 ||[I]|| am going the way of all the earth,—thou must be strong, therefore, and shew thyself a man;

3 and keep the observances of Yahweh thy God, by walking in his ways, by keeping his statutes, his commandments, and his regulations and his testimonies, as written in the law of Moses,—to the end thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest, and whithersoever thou turnest thyself;

4 to the end that Yahweh may establish his word which he spake concerning me, saying,

<If thy sons will take heed to their way, by walking before me, in truth, with all their heart, and with all their soul> (then, said he) there shall not be cut off to thee a man, from off the throne of Israel.

5 |[Moreover also] ||[thou]|| knowest what Joab son of Zeruiah did to me, how he dealt with two generals of the armies of Israel—[with Abner son of Ner, and with Amasa son of Jether,—both of whom he slew, shedding the blood of war in peace,—and putting the blood of war upon his girdle that was on his loins, and upon his sandals, that were on his feet.

6 Thou, therefore, must do according to thy wisdom,— but will not let his grey hair go down in peace, to hades.

But <with the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite> thou wilt deal in lovingkindness, and they will be among them who eat at thy table,—for ||so|| drew they near unto me, when I fled from Absalom thy brother.

Lo! also there is with thee—Shimei son of Gera a Benjamite, of Behurim, well ||he|| it was who cursed me with a grievous curse; on the day I journeyed to Mahanaim,—but ||he|| came down to meet me, at the Jordan, and so I swear to him by Yahweh, saying—

I will not put thee to death, with the sword.

||Now|| therefore, do not hold him guiltless, for  thou art’, and wilt know how thou oughtest to deal with him, and wilt suffer his grey hairs to go down with blood, to hades.

So then David slept with his fathers,—and was buried in the city of David. Now ||the days that David reigned over Israel|| were forty years,—<in Hebron> reigned he seven years, and <in Jerusalem> reigned he thirty and three years.

But <when ||Solomon|| took his seat upon the throne of David his father> then was the kingdom firmly established.

§ 4. Adonijah seeks Abishag to wife. How Solomon deals with him; also with Abiathar, Joab, and Shimei.

And Adonijah son of Haggith came in unto Bath-sheba, mother of Solomon: And she said—

<Peaceably> comest thou?
And he said—

Peaceably.

Then said he—

I have somewhat to say unto thee.
And she said—b

Say on.

And he said—

||Thou|| knowest that <mine> was the kingdom, and <on me> had all Israel set their faces, that I should become king,—howbeit the kingdom ||hath turned’ about||, and become my brother’s, for <from Yahweh> became it [his].

||Now|| therefore, <one request> have I’ to ask of thee, do not turn away my face.

And she said unto him—

Say on.

And he said—

Speak, I pray thee, unto Solomon the king, for he will not turn away thy face,—that he give me Abishag the Shunammite, to wife.

And Bath-sheba said:

Good! ||I myself|| will speak for thee, unto the king.

So Bath-sheba went in unto King Solomon, to speak to him for Adonijah,—and the king rose up to meet her, and bowed himself down to her, and sat down upon his throne, and caused a throne to be set for the mother of the king, and she sat on his right hand. Then said she—

<One small request> am I’ asking of thee, do not turn away my face.
And the king said to her—

Ask on, my mother, for I will not turn away thy face.

And she said—

Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah thy brother, to wife.

Then answered King Solomon, and said to his mother—

Wherefore, then, art thou’ asking Abishag the Shunammite, for Adonijah? ask, then, for him the kingdom, because he’ is mine elder brother,—||even for him, and for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab, son of Zeruiah||.

Then swore King Solomon by Yahweh, saying,—||So|| let God do to me, and ||so|| let him add, if <at the cost of his life> Adonijah hath not spoken this word.

||Now|| therefore, <by the life of Yahweh, who hath established me, and seated me upon the throne of David my father, and who hath made for me a household, as he had spoken> surely ||to-day|| shall Adonijah’ be put to death!

So King Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah son of Jehoiada,—and he fell upon him, that he died.

Also <unto Abiathar the priest> said the king—<To Anathoth> get thee unto thine own fields, for <death-doomed> thou art’,—but ||this day|| will I not put thee to death, ||because thou didst bear the ark of My Lord, Yahweh, before David my father, and because thou wast afflicted in all wherein my father was afflicted].

27 So Solomon thrust out Abiathar from being priest unto Yahweh,—to fulfil the word of Yahweh which he spake concerning the household of Eli, in Shiloh.a

28 And [the report] came unto Joab, for [Joab] had inclined after Adonijah, although <after Solomon>b he had not inclined,—so then Joab fled into the Tent of Yahweh, and laid hold of the horns of the altar. 29 And it was told King Solomon—Joab hath fled into the Tent of Yahweh, and there he is beside the altar. So Solomon sent Benaiah son of Jehoiada, saying—Go fall upon him!

30 And Benaiah came into the Tent of Yahweh, and said unto him—[Thus] saith the king—Come forth! And he said—Nay! but [here] will I die!

31 And the king said to him—Do as he hath spoken, fall then upon him, and bury him,—and so put away the innocent blood which Joab shed, [from me, and from off the house of my father]; thus will Yahweh bring back his blood upon his own head, in that he fell upon two men more righteous and better than he, and slew them with the sword, [my father David’ not knowing it],—even Abner son of Ner, general of the army of Israel, and Amasa son of Jether, general of the army of Judah; 32 thus shall their blood come back upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his seed unto times age-abiding,—but [David and his seed, and his house, and his throne] shall have peace, unto times age-abiding, from Yahweh.

33 So Benaiah son of Jehoiada went up, and fell upon him, and put him to death,—and he was buried in his own house, in the wilderness.

34 So Solomon sent Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and called for Shimei, and said to him—Build thee a house, in Jerusalem, so shalt thou dwell there,—and shalt not go forth from thence, hither or thither; 37 but it shall be that <on the day thou goest forth, and passest over the Kidron ravine> ||[know]| that thou shalt ||[die],—||thy blood|| shall be [upon thine own head].

38 And Shimei said to the king—||[Good] is the word, <as my lord the king hath spoken> ||[so] will thy servant’ do. And Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem many days.

39 But it came to pass <at the end of three years> that two of the servants of Shimei fled unto Achish son of Maachah, king of Gath,—and they told Shimei, saying—Lo! thy servants’ are in Gath.

40 So Shimei arose, and saddled his ass, and went to Gath unto Achish, to seek his servants—and Shimei went and brought in his servants, from Gath. 41 And it was told Solomon—Shimei hath been out of Jerusalem to Gath, and returned.

42 Then sent the king and called for Shimei, and said unto him—Did I not put thee on oath by Yahweh, and adjure thee, saying—<On the day thou goest forth and takest thy journey hither or thither> ||[know]| that thou shalt ||[die]]. Then saidst thou unto me—||[Good] is the word I have heard. 43 Why, then, hast thou not kept the oath of Yahweh,—and the charge which I laid upon thee?

44 Then said the king unto Shimei—[Thou] knowest all the wickedness’ which thy heart is privy to, which thou didst unto David my father,—therefore shall Yahweh bring back thy wickedness, upon thine own head. 45 But ||[King Solomon]| shall be blessed,—and ||[the throne of David]| shall be established before Yahweh, unto times age-abiding.

46 So the king charged Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and he went out and fell upon him, that he died,—and ||[the kingdom]| was established in the hand of Solomon.

§ 5. Solomon marries Pharaoh’s Daughter; but as yet retaining the Divine favour, Yahweh appears to him at Gibeon and promises him Wisdom.

Chapter 3.

1 And Solomon contracted an alliance<sup>a</sup> with Pharaoh king of Egypt,—and took the daughter of Pharaoh, and brought her into the city of David, until he had made an end of building his own house, and the house of Yahweh, and the wall of Jerusalem, round about. 2 [Save only] that the people were sacrificing in the high places,—because there had not been built a house<sup>b</sup> unto the Name of Yahweh, until those days 3 Solomon loved Yahweh, by walking in the statutes<sup>c</sup> of David his father,—[save only] that <in the high places> [he himself] was sacrificing and offering incense.  4 So then the king went to Gibeon, to sacrifice there, for [that] was the great high place,— did Solomon offer up on that altar.  5 ||In Gibeon|| Yahweh appeared unto Solomon, in a dream by night,—and God said, Ask, what I shall give thee.

6 Then said Solomon—

||Thou|| didst deal, with thy servant David my father, in great lovingkindness, according as he walked before thee, in truth and in righteousness and in uprightness of heart, with thee,—and thou hast kept, for him, this great lovingkindness, that thou hast given unto him a son, to sit upon his throne, as it is this day. 7 ||Now|| therefore, O Yahweh my God, ||thou|| hast made thy servant king, instead of David my father,—and ||I|| am but a little child, I know not<sup>d</sup> how to go out and come in. 8 And ||thy servant|| is in the midst of thy people, whom thou hast chosen,—||a numerous people, that cannot be numbered or summed up, for multitude||.

9 Wilt thou, then, give unto thy servant, a heart that hearkeneth, to judge thy people, to discern between good and bad,—for who is able to judge<sup>e</sup> this thine honoured people?

10 And the thing was good in the eyes of the Lord<sup>f</sup>—that Solomon had asked this thing;

11 and God said unto him—

Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself many days, nor asked for thyself riches, nor asked the lives<sup>g</sup> of thine enemies,—but hast asked for thyself discernment, in hearing a cause

lo! I have done according to thy word,<sup>h</sup>—lo! I have given unto thee a wise and discerning heart, so that <like thee> hath been none [before thee], and <after thee> shall rise up none [like thee].

12 ||Moreover also|| have I given unto thee, [both riches and honour],—so that there hath been none [like thee] among the kings, all thy days.

13 And thou wilt walk in my ways, by keeping my statutes, and my commandments, as [David thy father] walked then will I lengthen out thy days.

14 And Solomon awoke, and lo! it was a dream. So he entered into Jerusalem, and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord<sup>i</sup> and caused to go up ascending-sacrifices and offered peace-offerings, and made a banquet for all his servants.

15 ||Then|| came there in two unchaste women, unto the king,—and stood before him. 17 And the one woman said—

Pardon, my lord! ||I and this woman|| dwell in one house,—and I gave birth to a child near her, in the house. 18 And it came to pass the third day after I bare that [this woman also] gave birth to a child,—||we two|| being together, there was no stranger with us in the house, ||none but we two’ in the house||.

19 And this woman’s son died in the night,—because she overlaid it.

20 Then arose she in middle of the night> and took my son from beside me, [while thy handmaid’ was sleeping], and laid it in her own bosom,—but <her dead son> laid she in [my] bosom. 21 And <when I arose in the morning, to give suck unto my child: lo! it was dead! but <when I looked at it narrowly in the morning>, lo! it was not [my son that I had borne].

22 Then said the other woman—
Nay! but [my son] is the [living] and [thy son] the [dead].
But [this] one kept on saying—
Nay, verily! but [thy son] is the [dead] and [my son] the [living].
Thus spake they before the king. 23 Then said the king,
||The one woman|| is saying, ||This|| is [my son] ||the one that liveth|| and [thy son] is [the one that is dead],—and ||the other|| is saying, Nay! but [thy son] is [the dead one], and [my son] the [living].

24 And the king said—
Bring me a sword!
So they brought a sword before the king.

Then said the king,
Divide the living child, in twain,—and give half to the one, and half to the other.

26 Then spake the woman [whose was the living child] unto the king—for tender became her compassions over her son—so she said—
Pardon, my lord!
Give [her] the living child, and do not [kill] it. But the other kept on saying—<Neither mine, nor thine> shall it be, divide it.

27 Then responded the king, and said—
Give [her] the living child, ye shall not [kill] it,—[she] is its mother.

28 And all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had delivered, and they stood in awe before the king,—for they saw, that [the wisdom of God] was in him, to execute justice.

§ 7. Solomon's Chief Officers of State, and his Provincial Governors.

Chapter 4.

And so it came to pass, that ||King Solomon|| was king, over all Israel. 3 Now ||these|| were his chief officers of state,—

Azariah son of Zadok, the priest; 2 Elijoreph and Ahijah, sons of Shisha, scribes,—Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud, the recorder; 3 And Benaijah son of Jehoiada, over the army,—And Zadok and Abiathar, priests; 4 And Azariah son of Nathan, over the governors,—And Zabud son of Nathan, minister,  5 king's friend; 6 And Ahishar, over the household,—And Adoniram son of Abda, over the tribute.

And ||Solomon|| had twelve governors over all Israel, who used to sustain the king and his household,—<for a month in the year> was it appointed unto each one, to find sustenance. 9 And ||these|| are their names, Ben-hur, in the hill country of Ephraim; 7 Ben-deker, in Makaz and in Shaalbim and Beth-shemes,—and Elon-beth-hanan; 8 Ben-hesed, in Arubboth,—||to him|| pertaineth Socoh, and all the land of Hepher; 10 Ben-abinadab, all the height of Dor, —<Taphath daughter of Solomon> had he  to wife; 11 Baana son of Ahilud, in Taanach and Megiddo,—and all Beth-shean which is beside Zarethan, beneath Jezreel, from Beth-shean as far as Abel-meholah, as far as over against Jokmeam; 12 Ben-geber, in Ramoth-gilead,—||to him|| belonged the towns of Jair 6 son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead, ||his|| was the region of Argob which is in Bashan, sixty great cities, with walls and with bars of bronze; 13 Ahinadab son of Iddo, towards Mahanaim; 14 Ahimaaz, in Naphtali,—moreover ||he|| took Basemath daughter of Solomon, to wife; 15 Banna son of Hushai, in Asher and in Aloth; 16 Jehoshaphat son of Paruah, in Issachar; 17 Shimei son of Ela, in Benjamin; 18 Geber son of Uri, in the land of Gilead,—the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, being ||the one governor|| that was in the land.

20 ||Judah and Israel|| were many, as the sand that is by the sea," for multitude,—eating and drinking, rejoicing.
21 And ||Solomon|| became ruler over all the kingdoms, from the River [even unto]b the land of Egypt,—and as far as the boundary of the Philistines, and as far as the boundary of Israel,—and these were bringing presents, and serving Solomon, all the days of his life.
22 And it came to pass, that Solomon’s provision for one day was,—thirty measures of fine flour, and sixty measures of meal; 23 ten fat oxen, and twenty oxen out of the pastures, and a hundred sheep,—besides harts, gazelles, and roebucks, and fatted fowl. 24 For ||he|| had dominion over all on this side the River, from Tiphsah even as far as Gaza, over all the kings on this side the River,—and he had ||peace|| on all sides of him, round about.
25 And Judah and Israel dwelt securely, every man under his own vine, and under his own fig-tree, from Dan even unto Beer-sheba,—all the days of Solomon. 26 And it came to pass, that ||Solomon|| had forty thousand stalls of horses, for his chariots,—and twelve thousand horsemen. 27 And these governors provided sustenance for King Solomon, and for all that drew near unto the table of King Solomon, ||every man in his month||,—they let |nought| being.28 <Barley also and crushed straw, for the horses and for the swift beasts> brought they in unto the place where it should be, ||every man according to his charge||.
29 And God gave wisdom unto Solomon, and discernment, and very great largeness of heart,d—like the sand that is on the shore of the sea: 30 so that |the wisdom of Solomon| excelled" [the wisdom of all the sons of the East,—and all the wisdom of the Egyptians]
31 so that he was wiser than any man,—than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman and Calcol and Darda, sons of Mahol,—and it came to pass that ||his name|| was throughout all the nations round about.
32 And he spake three thousand proverbs,—and it came to pass that ||his songs|| were a thousand and five. 33 And he discoursed of trees,—from the cedar that is in Lebanon, even unto the byssop, that springeth out in the wall,—and he discoursed of beasts and of birds, and of creeping things, and of fishes. 34 And there came in |of all the peoples|, to hear the wisdom of Solomon—of all the kings of the earth, who heard his wisdom.

§ 9. Solomon treats with Hiram King of Tyre for Materials to build a Temple.

Chapter 5.

1 And Hiram King of Tyre sent his servants unto Solomon, for he had heard that <him> had they anointed king, in the room of his father,—for ||Hiram|| was ||a lover|| of ||David|| continually.c
2 So Solomon sent unto Hiram, saying:—
3 ||Thou|| knewest David my father, how that he could not build a house unto the Name of Yahweh his God, because of the wars that were about him on every side,—until Yahweh should put them’ under the soles of his feet; 4 but ||now|| Yahweh my God hath given me’ rest on every side,—there is neither adversarye nor incident of evil.
5 Behold me! then, purposingb to build a house for the Name of Yahweh my God—even as Yahweh spake unto David my father, saying—<Thy son, whom I will set in thy stead, upon thy throne, ||he|| shall build the house for my Name.
6 ||Now|| therefore, command thou that they fell me cedars, out of Lebanon, and ||my servants|| shall be [with thy servants], and ||the hire of thy servants> will I give thee, according to all that thou shalt say,—for ||thou|| knowest, that ||none’ amongst us|| hath skill to fell timber, ||like the Zidonians.
7 And it came to pass <when Hiram heard the words of Solomon> that he rejoiced greatly,—and said:

||Blessed|| be Yahweh, to-day, who hath given unto David a wise son, over this great people!

And Hiram sent unto Solomon, saying,
I have heard that which thou hast sent unto me,—[||] will do all thy desire, as to timber of cedar, and timber of fir. [b] [My servants] shall bring them down out of Lebanon unto the sea, and [||] will put them in rafts on the sea, unto the place of which thou shalt send me word, and will cause them to be discharged there, and [|thou|] shalt receive them, and [||thou|] shalt do my desire, by giving food for my household.

So then Hiram began giving unto Solomon, timber of cedar, and timber of fir, even all his desire[11] and [||Solomon|| gave unto Hiram, twenty thousand measures of wheat, as food for his household, and twenty measures of beaten oil,—[||thus||] used Solomon to give unto Hiram, year by year.

And [||Yahweh|| gave wisdom unto Solomon, as he promised him,—and it came to pass that there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and [they two] solemnised a covenant.

And King Solomon raised a labour-band, out of all Israel,—and it came to pass that [||the labour-band]] was thirty thousand men. [14] And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month, by courses, [a month]] were they in Lebanon, [two courses]] at home,—and [||Adoniram] was over the levy. [15] And it came to pass that [||Solomon|| had seventy thousand bearers of burdens,—and eighty course] of the house. [16] besides the chiefs of Solomon’s officers, who were over the work, three thousand and three hundred,—who ruled over the people that wrought in the work.
And the king commanded, and they quarried great stones, costly stones, to found the house with ehewn stones. [18] And Solomon’s builders and Hiram’s builders with the Gebalites[19] wrought them,—thus made they ready the timber and the stones, for building the house.

Chapter 6.

And so it came to pass [≤in the four hundred and eightyeth year, by the coming forth of the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year (in the month of Zif, [the same]] being the second month) of the reign of Solomon over Israel≥ that he began to build the house unto Yahweh. [2] Now
[||the house which King Solomon built unto Yahweh]] was sixty cubits in length, and twentyc in breadth,—and thirty cubits in height. [3] And [||the porch in front of the temple of the house]] was twenty cubits in length, according to[10] the breadth of the house,—ten cubits in breadth, in front of the house. [4] And he made to the house windows, with closed bars. [5] And he built—by the wall of the house—a gallery, round about, against the walls of the house, round about, both to the temple, and to the shrine,—and he made side rooms round about. [6] The [||lowest gallery]] was five cubits broad, and [||the middle]] six cubits broad, and [||the third]] seven cubits broad,—for he put [||ledges]] against the house round about, on the outer side, so as not to make fastenings in the walls of the house. [7] Now <the house, when it was in building> [||with whole quarry-stones]] was built,—[||neither hammer, nor axe, nor any tool of iron]] was heard in the house, [when it was in building]. [8] [||The entrance of the lowestk story]] was on the right side of the house,—and <by winding stairs> went they up unto the middle [story], and <out of the middle> into [||the third]]. [9]
So he built the house, and finished it,—and ceiled the house with planks and beams of cedar;
and built the gallery against all the house, five cubits in height,—and so fastened the house, with timberm of cedar.

Then came the word of Yahweh unto Solomon,
saying:

12 "Concerning this house, which thou' art building |

| If thou wilt walk in my statutes, And my regulations wilt practise, And so observe all my commandments, by walking in them |

Then will I establish my word' with thee, which I spake unto David thy father; and will make my habitation' in the midst of the sons of Israel,—and will not forsake' my people Israel.

13 Thus Solomon built the house, and finished it; and he built the walls of the house on the inside, with boards of cedar, from the floor of the house, unto the cross-beams of the ceiling; he overlaid it with wood, on the inside,—and he overlaid the floor of the house with boards of fir. And he built twenty cubits, at the hinder part of the house, with boards of cedar, from the floor as far as the cross-beams,—and he built it within, for a shrine, even for the holy of holies; but forty cubits was the house itself,—the same wall, before the oracle. And the cedar for the house within was carved with coloynths, and with festoons of flowers,—the whole] was cedar, there was no' stone to be seen. And <the shrine in the midst of the house within> made he ready,—for placing there' [the ark of the covenant of Yahweh].

20 And the interior of the shrine] was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in height, and he overlaid it, with pure' gold,—and overlaid the altar with cedar. Thus then did Solomon overlay the house within, with pure gold,—and he drew chains of gold across the front of the shrine, and overlaid it with gold; yea all the house] overlaid he with gold, until he had made all the house into one whole,—<even all the altar that was by the shrine> overlaid he with gold. And he made, within the shrine, two cherubim of olive wood,—ten cubits in height; and five cubits] was the one wing of the cherub, and five cubits] the second wing of the cherub,—ten cubits, from the one end of his wings unto the other end of his wings.

21 Ten cubits] also was the second cherub,—<of one size and one shape> were the two cherubim. The height of the one cherub] was ten cubits,—and [so] of the second' cherub.

22 And he placed the cherubim in the midst of the inner house, and the cherubim stretched forth their wings,—so that the wing of the one touched the [one] wall, and the wing of the other cherub, was touching the other wall,—and [their wings in the midst of the house] were touching, wing to wing. And he overlaid the cherubim with gold.

23 And <all the walls of the house round about> carved he with figures of cherubim, and palm-trees, and festoons of flowers,—[within and without]. Even the floor of the house] overlaid he with gold,—within and without]. And [the entrance of the shrine] made he with doors, of wild olive-wood, the pillars and posts being a fifth. The two doors] also were of olive-wood, and he carved upon them carvings of cherubim, and palm-trees, and festoons of flowers, and overlaid them with gold,—yea he spread out <over the cherubim and over the palm-trees> the gold. Also, made he for the entrance of the temple, with posts of wild olive-wood,—a fourth part. And the two doors] were of fir wood,—the two leaves of the one door] were folding, and the two leaves of the other door] were folding.

25 And he carved cherubim, and palm-trees, and festoons of flowers, and overlaid them with gold, smoothed out on the carved work.

26 And he built the inner court, with three rows of hewn stone,—and a row of beams of cedar.

27 In the fourth year] was laid the foundation of the house of Yahweh,—in the month Zif; and in the eleventh year, in the month Bul[8]—[the same] is the eighth' month] was the house finished, as to all the particulars thereof, and as to all the appointments there,—so then he built it in seven years|.

Chapter 7.

1. But <his own house> was Solomon thirteen years in building,—so he finished all his house.
2. Yea he built the house of the forest of Lebanon, ||a hundred cubits|| the length thereof, and ||fifty cubits|| the breadth thereof, and ||thirty cubits|| the height thereof,—upon four rows of pillars of cedar, with beams of cedar, upon the pillars;
3. and it was covered with cedar above upon the joists, that were on forty-five pillars,—fifteen in a row.
4. And there were ||window spaces|| in three rows,—and light over against light, three times.
5. And ||all the openings and the posts|| were square in their frame,—and light was over against light, three times.
6. And  made he, ||fifty cubits|| in length, and ||thirty cubits|| in breadth,—and ||a porch|| was on the one front of them, ||and pillars and threshold|| were on the other front of them.
7. And  made he, and it was wainscotted with cedar, from floor to ceiling.
8. And <his own house where he should dwell, in the other court within the porch> was [of like workmanship unto this],— made he, for the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Solomon had taken [to wife], in a similar porch.
9. ||All these|| were of costly stones, after the dimensions of hewn stones, sawn with saws, within and without,—even from the foundation, unto the coping, and without as far as the great court.
10. And ||the foundation|| was of costly stones, large stones, stones of ten cubits, and stones of eight cubits.
11. And ||above|| were costly stones, after the dimensions of hewn stone, and cedar.
12. And ||the great court round about|| was of three rows of hewn stone, and a row of beams of cedar,—both to the inner court of the house of Yahweh, and to the porch of the house.
13. And King Solomon sent and fetched Hiram, out of Tyre:
14. <son of a widow woman> was he’ of the tribe of Naphtali, but ||his father|| was a man of Tyre, a worker in bronze, and he was filled with wisdom, and discernment, and knowledge, for executing all manner of work in bronze,—so he came unto King Solomon, and executed all his work.
15. And he cast two pillars of bronze,—||eighteen cubits|| the height of each’ pillar, and ||a line of twelve cubits|| would surround the second pillar.
16. And ||two capitals|| made he, to set upon the tops of the pillars, of molten bronze,—||five cubits|| was the height of the one’ capital, and ||five cubits|| the height of the other’ capital;
17. with a frame of checker work, wreaths of chain work, for the capitals which were upon the top of the pillars,—seven for the one’ capital, and seven for the other’ capital.
18. So he made the pillars,—and ||two rows round about|| upon the one frame of checker work, covering the capitals which were upon the top with pomegranates,|| thus also || did he for the other’ capital.
19. And ||the capitals which were upon the top of the pillars|| were of lily work, ||in span|| four cubits.
20. And there were capitals upon the two pillars, [above also] close by the belly, which was beside the checker work,—and there were two hundred pomegranates, in rows round about, upon either capital.
21. So he reared the pillars for the porch of the temple,—yea he reared the right’ pillar, and called the name thereof Jachin, and reared the left’ pillar, and called the name thereof, ||Boaz||.
22. And <upon the top of the pillars> was lily work,—which gave finish to the work of the pillars.
23. And he made a molten sea,—ten cubits from the one brim to the other, it was round all about, and ||five cubits|| was the height thereof, and ||a line of thirty cubits|| would encompass it round about.
24. And ||colocynths|| were under the brim thereof round about, encompassing it, ten in a cubit, encircling the sea, round about,—two rows of colocynths, made in the casting thereof.
25. standing upon twelve oxen, three looking northward, and three looking westward, and three looking southward, and three looking eastward, ||the sea|| being upon them above,—||all their hinder parts|| being inward.
26. And ||the thickness thereof|| was a hand breadth, and ||the brim thereof|| was like the brim-work of a cup, of lily-blossoms,—<two thousand baths> did it contain.

27 And he made ten stands of bronze,—[four cubits] the length of each’ stand, and [four cubits] the breadth thereof, and [three cubits] the height thereof. 28 And [this] was the work of the stand, there were [side walls] to them,—and [the side-walls] were between joining ledges; 29 and <upon the side-walls which were between the ledges> were lions, oxen, and cherubim, and [upon the ledges] was a pedestal above, and [beneath the lions and oxen] a wreath of hanging work. 30 And [four wheels of bronze] had each stand, with axles of bronze, and [the four steps thereof] had shoulder pieces,—[under the laver] were the molten shoulder-pieces, over against each wreath.

31 And [the mouth thereof, within the capital and upwards] was a cubit, and [the mouth thereof] was round, of pedestal work, a cubit and a half,—[moreover also] [upon the mouth thereof] were gravings, with their side-walls four-square, not round. 32 And [four wheels] were beneath the side-walls, [the axletrees of the wheels] being in the stands,—[and the height of each wheel] was a cubit and a half: 33 and [the work of the wheels] was like the work of a chariot-wheel; and <their axletrees, and their felloes, and their spokes, and their naves> [the whole] were molten. 34 And there were [four shoulder-pieces] at the four corners of each stand, <of the stand itself> were the shoulder-pieces thereof. 35 And <in the top of the stand, half a cubit in height> was a circular piece round about,—and <on the top of the stand> the tenons thereof, and [the side-walls thereof] were of the same. 36 Then carved he <upon the plates of the tenons thereof, and upon the side-walls thereof> cherubim, lions, and palm-trees,—according to the open space of each with a wreath round about. 37 [Thus] made he the ten stands,—[one mould, one measure, one shape] had they [all].

38 Then made he ten lavers of bronze,—[forty baths] would each laver contain, [four cubits] was each laver, [one laver] was on each’ of [the ten stands].

39 And he set the stands, five on the right’ side of the house, and five on the left’ side of the house,—but [the sea] he set on the right’ side of the house eastward, over against the south.

40 And Hiram made lavers⁵ and shovels, and bowls,—and Hiram ended the doing of all the work which he wrought for King Solomon, for the house of Yahweh: 41 two pillars,—and the bowls of the capitals which were upon the top of the two pillars,—and the two frames of checker-work, covering the two bowls of the capitals, which were upon the top of the pillars;

42 and the four hundred pomegranates, for the two frames of checker-work,—two rows of pomegranates to each frame, for covering the two bowls of the capitals, which were on the face⁶ of the pillars; 43 and the ten stands,—with the ten lavers upon the stands; 44 and the one sea,—with the twelve oxen under the sea; 45 and the pans, and the shovels, and the tossing bowls, and [all these vessels which Hiram made King Solomon, for the house of Yahweh] were of burnished bronze. 46 <In the circuit of the Jordan> did the king cast them, in the clay ground,—between Succoth and Zarethan.

47 And Solomon let all the vessels be, because of their exceeding great multitude,—the weight of the bronze was not found out.

48 And Solomon made all the vessels⁷ that were in the house of Yahweh,—the altar of gold, and the table of gold, whose face was the presence-bread; 49 and the lamp-holders—one on the right and one on the left, before the shrine, [of] pure gold,—with the blossoms, and the lamps, and the tongs, [of] gold; 50 and the bowls, and the snuffers, and the tossing bowls, and the spoons, and the censors, [of] pure gold,—and the hinge-holes, for the doors of the inner house, the holy of holies, and for the doors of the house itself, the temple, [of] gold. ⁵¹ So was completed all the work which King Solomon made for the house of Yahweh, and Solomon brought in the hallowed things of David his father—<the silver, and the gold, and the vessels> did he put in the treasuries of the house of Yahweh.

Chapter 8.

1 ||[Then]|| did Solomon call together the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, chiefs of the fathers of the sons of Israel, unto King Solomon in Jerusalem,—that they might bring up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, out of the city of David, [the same is Zion]|. 2 So all the men of Israel came together unto King Solomon, in the month of steady flowings, at the festival,—[the same is the seventh month].

And all the elders of Israel came in,—and the priests took up the ark; 4 and they brought up the ark of Yahweh, and the Tent of Meeting, and all the hallowed vessels that were in the tent,—yea [the priests and the Levites] did bring them up. 5 And ||King Solomon, and all the assembly of Israel who had assembled themselves unto him|| were with him, before the ark,—sacrificing sheep and oxen, which could neither be recorded nor counted, for multitude.

6 So the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of Yahweh into its place, into the shrine of the house, into the holy of holies,—under the wings of the cherubim. 7 For ||the cherubim|| were spreading forth their two wings, over the place of the ark,—and the cherubim made a covering over the ark and over the staves thereof above. 8 And they drew out the staves, and the heads of the staves were seen from the holy place, in front of the shrine, although they were not seen on the outside,—[and they have remained there until this day]|. 9 There was nothing in the ark, save the two tables of stone, which Moses deposited there in Horeb,—the tables of the covenant which Yahweh solemnised with the sons of Israel, when they came forth out of the land of Egypt.

And so it was <when the priests came forth out of the holy place> that [a cloud] filled the house of Yahweh; 11 so that the priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloud,—for the glory of Yahweh filled [the house of Yahweh]. 12 ||[Then]|| said Solomon,—

||Yahweh|| said, that he would make his habitation in thick gloom:

13 I have [built] a house as a high abode for thee,—

A settled place for thee to abide in, for ages.

14 And the king turned about his face, and blessed all the convocation of Israel,—while all the convocation of Israel was standing||; 15 and he said—

||Blessed|| be Yahweh, God of Israel, who spake with his mouth, unto David my father,—that which with his hand he hath fulfilled, saying:—

<Since the day that I brought forth my people Israel, out of Egypt> I had chosen no city, out of all the tribes of Israel, for building a house, where my Name might be,—but I have chosen Jerusalem, that my Name should be there,—and I have chosen David, to be over my people Israel:

And so it came to pass, that it was near the heart of David my father,—to build a house' for the Name of Yahweh, God of Israel. 18 Then said Yahweh unto David my father, <Because it was near thy heart to build a house for my Name> thou didst well that it was' near thy heart;

[Only] ||thou thyself|| must not build the house,—but <thine own son who hath proceeded out of thy loins> ||he|| shall build the house, for my Name.

So then Yahweh hath established his word which he spake,—and I have been raised up in the room of David my father, and have taken my seat upon the throne of Israel, [as spake Yahweh], and have built the house' for the Name of Yahweh, God of Israel; 21 and have appointed there a place' for the ark, wherein is the covenant of Yahweh,—which he solemnised with our fathers, when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt.

And Solomon stood before the altar of Yahweh, in the presence of all the convocation of Israel,—and spread forth his hands towards the heavens;

23 and said—

O Yahweh, God of Israel!

<Not like thee> is there a God, in the heavens above, or upon the earth beneath,—keeping Covenant and Lovingkindness for thy servants who are walking before thee, with all their heart; 24 who hast kept for thy servant David my father, that which thou didst promise him,—in that thou didst promise him, and <with thy hand> hast fulfilled, [as it is this day].

25 ||Now|| therefore, O Yahweh, God of Israel, keep thou for thy servant David my father, that which thou didst promise him, saying, There shall not be cut off from thee a man from before me, to sit upon the throne of Israel,—if only thy sons take heed' to their way, by walking before me, [as thou hast walked before me].

26 ||Now|| therefore, O God of Israel,—verified be thy word.  b I pray thee, which thou didst speak to thy servant, David my father.

27 But <in very deed> will God dwell upon the earth? Lo! [the heaven, yea the heaven of heavens] cannot contain thee, how much less this house which I have built? 28 Yet wilt thou turn unto the prayer of thy servant, and unto his supplication, O Yahweh my God,—to hearken unto the cry, and unto the prayer, wherewith thy servant doth pray before thee to-day; 29 that thine eye may be opened toward this house, night and day, toward the place of which thou hast said,

|My Name| shall be |there;| hearkening unto the prayer which thy servant shall offer toward this place. 30 Wilt thou, therefore, hearken unto the supplication of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, whencesoever they shall pray toward this place,—yea wilt [thou thyself] hear, in thine own dwelling-place, in the heavens, and <when thou hearest> then wilt thou forgive?

31 <When a man shall sin against his neighbour, and there shall be taken up against him an oath, to put him on oath,—and he shall come in and swear before thine altar, in this house> 32 then wilt [thou thyself] hear in the heavens, and act, and judge thy servants, condemning the lawless, by setting his way upon his own head,—and justifying the righteous, by giving to him, according to his righteousness?

32 <When thy people Israel are smitten before an enemy, because they have been sinning against thee,—and they turn again unto thee, and confess thy Name, and pray and make supplication unto thee, in this house> 33 then wilt [thou thyself] hear in the heavens, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them back unto the soil, which thou gavest unto their fathers?

33 <When the heavens are shut up, and there is no rain, because they have been sinning against thee,—and they shall pray toward this place, and confess thy Name, and <from their sin> shall return, because thou hast been afflicting them> 34 then wilt [thou thyself] hear in the heavens and forgive the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel, that thou mayest teach them the good way, wherein they should walk,—and give rain upon thy land, which thou hast given unto thy people, for an inheritance?

34 <When there shall be ||famine|| in the land, when there shall be ||pestilence|| when there shall be ||blasting, mildew, locust, caterpillar||, 8 when their enemy shall besiege them in one of their own gates,—tell whatsover plague, whatsover sickness;

any prayer, any supplication which ||any son of earth|| may have, of all thy people Israel,—who will certainly know every man the plague of his own heart, and so he shall spread abroad his hands towards this house> 35 then wilt [thou thyself] hear in the heavens, in the settled place of thine abode, and forgive and act, and give unto every man according to the heart which thou wilt know,—for [thou thyself alone] knowest the heart of all the sons of men;

40 to the end they may revere thee, all the days which they do live, upon the face of the soil,—which thou gavest unto our fathers?

45 And it came to pass when Solomon had made an end of praying unto Yahweh all this prayer and supplication> that he arose from before the altar of Yahweh, from kneeling on his knees, with his hands outspread to the heavens, and stood and blessed all the convocation of Israel,—with a loud voice saying:

46 || Blessed|| be Yahweh, who hath given rest unto his people Israel, according to all that he promised,—there hath not failed one word of all his good promise, which he promised by the hand of Moses his servant.

47 Yahweh our God be with us, as he was with our fathers,—let him not leave us, nor forsake us; but bow our heart unto himself,—to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his regulations, which he commanded our fathers.

48 And let these my words, wherewith I have made supplication before Yahweh be near unto Yahweh our God, day and night,—that he may maintain the cause of his servant, and the cause of his people Israel, || as any need ariseth||:1

Chapter 9.

1 And it came to pass <when Solomon had made an end of building the house of Yahweh, and the house of the king, and everything that Solomon desired, which he was pleased to make> 2 then appeared Yahweh unto Solomon, |a second time|,—as he appeared unto him, in Gibeon. 3 And Yahweh said unto him—

I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication, wherewith thou hast made supplication before me, I have hallowed this house, which thou hast built, to put my Name there unto times age-abiding,—and mine eyes and my heart shall be there, continually:

4 ||As for thee, therefore|≤|if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, with a whole heart and with uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded thee,—and> <my statutes and my regulations> wilt keep> 5 then will I establish the throne of thy kingdom over Israel, unto times age-abiding,—as I promised unto David thy father, saying,

There shall not be cut off to thee a man, from off the throne of Israel.

6 ≤|If ye ||[turn back]| |[ye or your sons]|| from following me, and keep not my commandments, my statutes, e which I have set before you,—but depart and serve other gods, and bow yourselves down to them> 7 then will I cut off Israel, from the face of the soil, which I have given unto them, and <the house which I have hallowed for my Name> will I suffer to be carried away from before me,—and Israel shall become a byword and a mockery, among all the peoples; 8 and ||[this house which had been renowned]|| shall be desolate, b ||[every one that passeth by it]|| shall be astonished and shall whistle,—and men shall say—

|For what cause| hath Yahweh done |[thus]|, unto this land, and unto this house?

<Because they forsook Yahweh their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold of other gods, and bowed themselves down to them, and served them> 9 ||[for this cause]| hath Yahweh brought in upon them all this ruin.

Solomon gave unto Hiram twenty cities, in the land of Galilee.

12 And Hiram came out from Tyre to view the cities which [Solomon] had given him,—and they were not pleasing in his eyes. 13 So he said—

What cities are these' which thou hast given me, my brother?
And he called them, Unfruitful Land, [as they are called] unto this day. 14 Now Hiram had sent to the king,—a hundred and twenty talents of gold.

15 Now ||the following|| is an account of the tax which King Solomon raised, for building the house of Yahweh and his own house, and Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem,—and Hazor and Megiddo, and Gezer. 16 ||Pharaoh king of Egypt|| had gone up and captured Gezer, and burned it with fire, <the Canaanites also who were dwelling in the city> had he slain,—and had given it as a dowry, to his daughter, wife of Solomon. 17 So then Solomon built Gezer, and Beth-horon, the nether, 18 and Baalath and Tadmor b in the wilderness, [in the land]; 19 also all the store’ cities, which Solomon had, and the cities for chariots, and the cities for horsemen,—and the desire’ of Solomon that he was pleased to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land that he ruled over. 20 ≤All the people that were left, of the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, who were [not of the sons of Israel]]; 21 their sons, who were left after them in the land, whom the sons of Israel were not able to devote to destruction; 22 Solomon levied them for a toiling labour-band [which remaineth] unto this day. 23 But <of the sons of Israel> Solomon devoted none to bond-service,—but [they] were men of war, and his servants, and his generals, and his heroes, and captains of his chariots, and his horsemen. 24 ||These|| were the chiefs of the officers, who were over the work, for Solomon, five hundred and fifty,—who ruled over the people that wrought in the work. 24 <Scarceley had Pharaoh’s daughter come up out of the city of David, into her own house, which he had built for her> when he built Millo.

25 And Solomon used to offer, three times a year, ascending-sacrifices and peace-offerings, upon the altar which he had built unto Yahweh, and to offer incense at the altar which was before Yahweh,—thus Solomon gave completeness unto the house.

26 <A fleet also> did King Solomon build in Ezion-geber, which is beside Eloth on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. 27 And Hiram sent in the fleet his servants, seamen, having knowledge of the sea,—with the servants of Solomon; 28 and they came to Ophir, and fetched thence, gold, four hundred and twenty talents,—and brought it to King Solomon.

§ 14. Visit of the Queen of Sheba.

Chapter 10.

1 And <when ||the queen of Sheba|| heard the report of Solomon, as pertaining to the Name of Yahweh> she came to prove him, with abstruse questions. 2 Yea she came to Jerusalem with a very heavily-laden train, of camels bearing spices, and gold in great abundance, and precious stones,—and <when she was come to Solomon> she spake unto him all that was near her heart;

3 and Solomon answered her all her questions, 8—thou there was nothing hidden from the king, which he told her not. 4 And ≤when the queen of Sheba had seen all the wisdom of Solomon,—and the house which he had built; 5 and the food of his table, and the seated assembly b of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers with their apparel, and his cupbearers, and his ascent by which he ascended unto the house of Yahweh> there was in him no more spirit. 6 And she said unto the king, ||True|| was the word which I heard in mine own land,—concerning thine affairs, and concerning thy wisdom.

7 Howbeit I believed not the words, until that I had come and mine own eyes had seen, and lo! there had not been told me ||the half||,—thou thee, to set thee upon the throne of Israel,— <because Yahweh loveth Israel unto times age-king, to execute justice and righteousness.

10 And she gave unto the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, and spices in great abundance, and precious stones,—||there came in no more|| such spice for abundance, as that which the queen of Sheba gave unto King Solomon.

11 ||Moreover also|| ||the fleet of Hiram, which brought gold from Ophir|| brought in, from Ophir sandal-woodc in great abundance, and precious stones. 12 So the king made of the sandal-wood a footpath to the house of Yahweh, and to the house of the king, lyres also and harps, d for the singers,—there hath neither come in such sandalwood, nor been seen, unto this day.

13 And <when ||King Solomon|| had given unto the queen of Sheba, all her desire, which she asked,>
||besides that which he gave her as the bounty of King Solomon||> she turned, and went to her own land, [she and her servants].

§ 15. Various material Tokens of Solomon’s Greatness.

14 And it came to pass that ||the weight of the gold which came in unto Solomon in one year|| was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold;

15 besides the tribute of the subjugated, and of the travelling merchants,—and of all the kings of Arabia, and the pashas of the land.

16 And King Solomon made two hundred shields, of beaten gold, ||six hundred [shekels] of gold|| laid he upon one shield; 17 and three hundred bucklers, of beaten gold ||one hundred and fifty shekels of gold|| laid he upon one buckler,—and the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

18 And the king made a great throne of ivory,—and overlaid it with gold from Uphaz. 19 There were ||six steps|| to the throne, and there was ||a circular top|| to the throne, behind it, and there were supports on this side and on that, unto the place of the seat,—with two lions standing beside the supports; 20 and ||twelve lions|| were standing there, upon the six steps, on this side and on that,—there had never been made the like, for any of the kingdoms.

21 And ||all the drinking vessels of King Solomon|| were of gold, and ||all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon|| were of pure gold,—none was of silver, it was accounted in the days of Solomon ||as nothing|. 22 For — had the king, at sea, 23 with the fleet of Hiram,— <once in three years> came in the fleet of Tarshish, bringing gold and silver, ivory and apes, and peacocks.

23 So King Solomon became greater 2 than any of the kings of the earth,—for riches and for wisdom.
24 And ||all the earth|| did seek the face of Solomon,—to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. 25 And ||they|| did bring every man his present—vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and garments, and armour, and spices, horses and mules,—a rate of a year in a year.

26 And Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen, and so it was that he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen,—for whom he found place in the chariot cities, and near the king, in Jerusalem.

27 And the king caused silver in Jerusalem to be as stones,—<cedars also> caused he to be as the sycamores that are in the lowlands, for abundance.
28 And the horses that Solomon had were ||an export|| out of Egypt,—and ||a company of the merchants of the king|| used to fetch ||a drove|| at a price. 29 And a chariot came up and forth out of Egypt, for six hundred shekels of silver and a horse for a hundred and fifty,—and ||so|| for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, <by their means> came they 3 forth.

§ 16. Solomon's Foreign Wives seduce him into Idolatry; for which cause Yahweh declares his anger and raises up enemies; one of whom, Jereboam, is commissioned to reign over Ten Tribes. Solomon's Death.

Chapter 11.

1 But ||[King Solomon]|| loved many foreign women, together with the daughter of Pharaoh,—women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, Hittites: 2 out of the nations concerning whom Yahweh had said unto the sons of Israel—Ye shall not go in unto them, and ||[they]|| shall not come in unto you, surely they will turn aside your heart after their gods.

<Unto these> did Solomon cleave in love. 3 So it came to pass that he had seven hundred wives who were princesses, and three hundred concubines,—and [his wives] turned aside [his heart]. 4 Yea it came to pass <in the old age of Solomon> that ||[his wives]|| turned aside his heart after other gods,—his heart therefore was not sounda with Yahweh his God, ||as was the heart of David his father]]. 5 And Solomon went after Ashtoreth, goddess of the Zidonians, and after Milcomb the abomination of the Ammonites. 6 Thus Solomon did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—and went not fully after Yahweh, as did David his father.

7 ||[Then]|| did Solomon build a high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, in the hill that is before Jerusalem,—and for Molech, the abomination of the sons of Ammon; 8 and ||[thus]|| did he for all his foreign wives,—who burned incense and offered sacrifices unto their gods.

9 Therefore did Yahweh shew himself angry with Solomon,—because his heart had turned aside from Yahweh God of Israel ||who had appeared unto him twice||; 10 and had been giving command to him concerning this thing, that he should not go away after other gods,—but he had not taken heed unto that which Yahweh had commanded.c 11 Wherefore Yahweh said unto Solomon—<Forasmuch as this hath come to pass with thee, and thou hast not heeded my covenant and my statutes, which I charged upon thee> I will ||[rend]|| the kingdom away from thee, and will give it unto a servant of thine.

12 ||[Notwithstanding]|| <in thine own days> will I not do it, for the sake of David thy father,—<out of the hand of thy son> will I rend it.

13 ||[Howbeit]|| <all the kingdom> will I not rend away, <one tribe> will I give unto thy son,— ||for the sake of David my servant, and for the sake of Jerusalem, which I have chosen]].

14 And Yahweh raised up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite,—<of the seed of the king> was he, in Edom. 15 And it came to pass ≤when David was dealing with Edom, and Joab general of the army went up to bury the slain,—and had smitten every male in Edom,—16 for ||six months|| did Joab remain there, with all Israel,—until he had cut off every male in Edom> 17 that Hadad fled, ||[he and certain men of Edom of the servants of his father, with him], to go into Egypt,—||Hadad being a little boy|. 18 So they arose out of Midian, and came into Paran,—and took certain men with them out of Paran, and came into Egypt, unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house, and <food> appointed him, and <land> did give unto him. 19 And Hadad found great favour in the eyes of Pharaoh,—so that he gave him to wife, the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen. 20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare to him Genubath his son, and Tahpenes' weaned him, in the house of Pharaoh,—and so it came about, that Genubath was of the household of Pharaoh, among the sons of Pharaoh. 21 And <when ||[Hadad]|| heard in Egypt, that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab general of the army was dead> Hadad said unto Pharaoh,

Let me go, that I may take my journey unto mine own land.

22 Then said Pharaoh unto him—But what hast thou' been lacking with me, that lo! thou art seeking to take thy journey unto thine own land?

And he said—Nothing, howbeit ||[let me go]||.e

had fled from the face of Solomon the king, that Jeroboam returned from Egypt; 3 yea they sent, and called him, and Jeroboam and all the convocation of Israel came, and spake unto Rehoboam, saying:

4 ||Thy father|| made our yoke grievous,—||now|| therefore, do ||thou|| lighten the grievous service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, that we may serve thee.

5 And he said unto them—

| Depart ye for yet three days, and then come again unto me. |

And the people departed. 6 Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders who used to stand before Solomon his father, while he yet lived, saying,—

How do ||ye|| advise, that I answer this people?

7 And they spake unto him, saying—

<If ||to-day|| thou wilt be servant unto this people, and wilt serve them,—and answer them kindly, and speak unto them good words> then will they be ||thy|| servants always.

8 But he declined the counsel of the elders which they gave him, and consulted with the young men, who had grown up with him, who were standing before himself; and said unto them—

What counsel do ||ye|| give as to how we shall answer this people who have spoken unto me, saying—

Make a lightening of the yoke which thy father put upon us?

9 Then spake unto him the young men who had grown up with him, saying, ||This|| shalt thou say to this people that have spoken unto thee, saying—

||Thy father|| made our yoke heavy, ||thou|| therefore, lighten it upon us,

||This|| shalt thou speak unto them,

||My little finger|| is thicker than my father’s loins;

||Now|| therefore, <whereas ||my father|| laid upon you a heavy yoke>

||I|| will add to your yoke,—

||My father|| did chasitise you with whips, But ||I|| will chastise you with scorpions.

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came in unto Rehoboam, on the third day,—as the king had bidden, saying—

Come again unto me, on the third day.

13 And the king answered the people, harshly,—and declined the counsel of the elders wherewith they had counselled him; 14 and spake unto them after the counsel of the young men, saying, ||My father|| made your yoke heavy,

But ||I|| will add unto your yoke,—

||My father|| chastised you ||with whips|| But ||I|| will chastise you ||with scorpions. 3

15 Thus the king hearkened not unto the people,—for there had come about a turn from Yahweh, that he might establish his word which Yahweh had spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam, son of Nebat. 16 So <when all Israel saw> that the king hearkened not unto them> the people answered the king, saying—

What portion have we ||in|| [David].

Or inheritance in the son of Jesse?

To your homes 4 O Israel!

||Now|| see to thine own house, O David!

And Israel departed to their homes. 17 But <as for the sons of Israel who were dwelling in the cities of Judah> Rehoboam reigned over them. 18 Then King Rehoboam sent Adoniram 1 who was over the tribute, but all Israel stoned him with stones, that he died,—||King Rehoboam|| therefore, hastily mounted his chariot, to flee unto Jerusalem. 19 So Israel rebelled against the house of David,—unto this day.

20 And it came to pass <when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned> that they sent and called him into the assembly, and made him king over all Israel,—there were none that followed the house of David, [saving the tribe of Judah only].

21 And <when Rehoboam entered Jerusalem> he called together all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin—a hundred and eighty thousand chosen men, able to make war,—to fight against the house of Israel, to bring back the kingdom to Rehoboam, son of Solomon. 22 Then came the word of God unto Shemaiah the man of God, saying: 23 Speak unto Rehoboam, son of Solomon, king of Judah, and unto all the house of Judah, and Benjamin,—and the remnant of the people, saying: 24 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh— Ye shall not go up, neither shall ye fight with your brethren the sons of Israel,—return ye every man to his own house, for hast this thing been brought about. 25 And he set the one in Bethel,—and Jeroboam built Shechem, and dwelt therein,—and went forth from thence, and built Penuel. 26 And Jeroboam said in his heart,— ||Now|| shall the kingdom return to the house of David: 27 <If this people go up to offer sacrifices in the house of Yahweh, in Jerusalem> then will the heart of this people return unto their lord, unto Rehoboam, king of Judah,—and they will slay me, and return unto Rehoboam, king of Judah. 28 Whereupon the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold,—and said unto them— It is |too much for you| to go up to Jerusalem, Lo! thy gods, O Israel, that brought thee up out of the land of Egypt; 29 And he set the one in Bethel,—and <the other> put he in Dan. 30 And this thing became a sin,—and the people went before the one, as far as Dan. 31 And he made a house of high-places,—and made priests from the whole compass of the people, who were not of the sons of Levi. 32 And Jeroboam made a festival in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like the festival which [was held] in Judah, and offered up on the altar, <likewise> did he in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves which he had made,—and he kept in attendance in Bethel, the priests of the high-places which he had made. 33 And he offered up on the altar which he had made in Bethel, on the fifteenth day in the eighth month, in the month which he had devised out of his own heart,—thus made he a festival for the sons of Israel, and offered up on the altar, to make a perfume.

Chapter 13.

1 And lo! ||a man of God|| came in out of Judah, by the word of Yahweh, unto Bethel,—||as Jeroboam was standing by the altar, to make a perfume||. 2 And he made proclamation against the altar, by the word of Yahweh, and said, O altar! altar! ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,— Lo! a son to be born unto the house of David, ||Josiah, his name||, who shall sacrifice upon thee the priests of the high-places, who are making a perfume upon thee, and ||human bones|| shall be burned upon thee; 3 and he shall give, on that day, a sign, saying, ||This|| is the sign of which Yahweh hath spoken,— Lo! ||the altar|| is to be rent, and the ashes that are upon thee shall be [poured out]! 4 And it came to pass <when the king heard the word of the man of God which he proclaimed against the altar in Bethel, Jeroboam thrust forth his hand, from off the altar, saying— Lay hold of him! and his hand which he had thrust forth against him was dried up, that he could not draw it back to him. 5 Moreover ||the altar|| was rent, and the ashes poured out from the altar,—according to the sign which the man of God had given, by the word of Yahweh. 6 Then responded the king and said unto the man of God— Appease, I pray thee, the face of Yahweh thy God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored unto me.

So the man of God appeased the face of Yahweh, and the hand of the king was restored unto him, and became as aforetime. Then spake the king unto the man of God,

Come home with me, and refresh thyself,—and let me give thee a present.

8 But the man of God said unto the king—

If thou wouldst give me the half of thy house, I would not go in with thee,—neither would I eat bread or drink water, in this place; for if I eat bread or drink water, in the place whereof the man of God had done that day in Bethel—and the words which he had spoken unto the king, and they related them to their father. And their father said unto them,

Which way then went he?

Now his sons had seen the way which the man of God went who had come in out of Judah. So he said unto his sons,

Saddle for me, the ass.

And they saddled for him the ass, and he rode thereon; and went after the man of God, and found him, sitting under an oak. And he said unto him—

Art thou the man of God who came in out of Judah?

And he said—

I am.

Then said he unto him,

Come home with me,—and eat bread.

And he said—

I may not return with thee, nor go in with thee,—neither will I eat bread or drink water with thee, in this place; for there came a message unto me by the word of Yahweh,

Thou shalt not eat bread, nor drink water:—

Neither shalt thou come back by the way thou wentest.

So he departed another way,—and went not back by the way by which he came unto Bethel.

But a certain aged prophet was dwelling in Bethel,—whose sons came in and related to him all the deeds which the man of God had done that day in Bethel—and the words which he had spoken unto the king, and they related them to their father. And their father said unto them,

Which way then went he?

Now his sons had seen the way which the man of God went who had come in out of Judah. So he said unto his sons,

Saddle for me, the ass.

And they saddled for him the ass, and he rode thereon; and went after the man of God, and found him, sitting under an oak. And he said unto him—

Art thou the man of God who came in out of Judah?

And he said—

I am.

Then said he unto him,

Come home with me,—and eat bread.

And he said—

I may not return with thee, nor go in with thee,—neither will I eat bread or drink water with thee, in this place; for there came a message unto me by the word of Yahweh,

Thou shalt not eat bread, nor drink water:—

Neither shalt thou come back by the way thou wentest.

And he said to him—

I also am a prophet, like unto thee, and a messenger hath spoken unto me, by the word of Yahweh, saying—

Bring him back with thee, into thy house, that he may eat bread, and drink water.

He deceived him. So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his house, and drank water.

And so it was that the word of Yahweh came unto the prophet who had brought him back; and he cried out unto the man of God who had come in out of Judah, saying,

Thus saith Yahweh,—

Forasmuch as thou hast rebelled against the bidding of Yahweh, and hast not kept the commandment which Yahweh thy God commanded thee; but hast returned, and eaten bread and drunk water, in the place of which he said unto thee,

Thou mayest neither eat bread nor drink water:

thy dead body shall not enter the burying-place of thy fathers.

And it came to pass after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk, that he saddled for him the ass, and went not back by the way he came in, but turned back to come by the way by which he came unto Bethel.

And when he had gone there met him a lion, saying—

Art thou the man of God which he spake unto him, and whose sons caused thee to go by the way which the man of God went who had come in out of Judah?

And he said—

I am.

And lo! certain men, passing by, saw the dead body, cast out in the way, and the lion standing near the dead body,—so they came in, and spake of it in the city, wherein the aged prophet dwelt. And when the prophet who had brought him back from the way heard of it, he said—

The man of God it is, who rebelled against the bidding of Yahweh, therefore did Yahweh deliver him unto the lion, and it hath torn him, according to the word of Yahweh which he spake unto him.

And he spake unto his sons, saying,

Saddle for me the ass.

And they saddled it. So he went and found his dead body, cast out in the way, with the ass and the lion, standing near the dead body,—the lion had neither eaten the dead body, nor had it torn the body.

30 And he laid his dead body in his own grave,—and they lamented over him [saying]—

Alas, my brother!

31 And it came to pass <after he had buried him> that he spake unto his sons, saying,

<When I die> then shall ye bury me in the grave wherein the man of God is buried; ||beside his bones|| lay my bones; a

32 For the message which he proclaimed, by the word of Yahweh, against the altar which is in Bethel,—and against all the houses of the high places which are in the cities of Samaria ||shall surely come to pass||.

33 ||After this thing|| Jeroboam turned not from his wicked way,—but again’ made [from the whole compass of the people] priests of high places, ||whomsoever he would|| he installed, and he became priest b of high places. 34 And so this thing c became the sin of the house of Jeroboam,—that it should be both taken away and destroyed, from off the face of the ground.

§ 19. Jeroboam, sending his Wife to the Prophet Ahijah, at Shiloh, in behalf of their Sick Son, is severely rebuked; dies, and is succeeded by Nadab his Son.

Chapter 14.

1 ||At that time|| fell sick, Abijah son of Jeroboam.

2 Then said Jeroboam to his wife—

Arise, I pray thee, and feign thyself another, that it be not known, that ||thou|| art the wife of Jeroboam,—and thou shalt go thy way to Shiloh, lo! a ||there|| is Ahijah the prophet, who promised I should be king over this people; 3 and thou shalt take with thee c ten loaves, and cracknels, and a bottle of honey, and shalt go unto him,—||he|| will tell thee what shall befall the young man.

4 And the wife of Jeroboam [did so] and arose, and went to Shiloh, and entered the house of Ahijah,—now ||Ahijah|| could not see, for his eyes were fixed, d by reason of his old age. 5 But ||Yahweh|| had said unto Ahijah—

Lo! [the wife of Jeroboam] coming to enquire something of thee, concerning her son, for he’sick ||thus and so|| shalt thou speak unto her,—though <when she cometh in> she feign to be a stranger-woman.

6 So it came to pass <when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she entered the doorway> that he said—

Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam,—||therefore||, is’ it that thou art feigning to be a stranger-woman, seeing that ||||| am sent unto thee, with something hard to bear? 7 Go, say to Jeroboam—

||[Thou]|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel,

||Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the midst of the people,—and gave thee to be leader’ over my people Israel; 8 and rent the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it to thee,—and yet thou hast not been like my servant David, who kept my commandments, and who followed me, with all his heart, to do only that which was right in mine eyes; 9 but hast made wicked thy doings beyond any who were before thee,—and hast gone and made thee other gods, even molten images, to provoke me to anger, and hast cast |||me|| behind thy back> 10 ||therefore|| behold me! bringing misfortune against the house of Jeroboam, and I will cut off the meanest pertaining to Jeroboam, whether shut up or left at large, in Israel,—and will consume after the house of Jeroboam, as one consumeth dung, till it be all gone:

<His that dieth of Jeroboam in the city> shall ||the dogs|| eat,

And <him that dieth in the field> shall ||the birds of heaven|| eat,—

For ||Yahweh|| hath spoken.

12 ||Thou|| therefore, arise, go to thine own house,—<as thy feet are entering the city> the young man shall die.

13 Then shall all Israel lament for him, and bury him, for ||this one, pertaining to Jeroboam|| shall reach a burying-place,—because there hath been found in him something good toward Yahweh, God of Israel, in the house of Jeroboam.

14 Therefore will Yahweh raise up for himself a king over Israel, who will cut off the house of Jeroboam, this day, but why, [even now]?

15 Therefore will Yahweh smite Israel, as a reed shaketh in water, and will root out Israel, from off this goodly soil, which he gave unto their fathers, and will scatter them beyond the River (Euphrates),—because they have made their Sacred Stems, provoking Yahweh to anger:

16 That he may deliver up Israel,—on account of the sin of Jeroboam, which he committed, and which he caused [Israel] to commit.

17 Then arose the wife of Jeroboam, and went her way and entered Tizrah.—<as [she] was coming into the entrance hall> [the young man died].

18 And <when they buried him> all Israel lamented him,—according to the word of Yahweh, which he spake through his servant Ahijah the prophet.

19 Now <the rest of the story of Jeroboam, how he warred, and how he reigned> behold them! written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

20 And [the days which Jeroboam reigned] were twenty-two years,—and he slept with his fathers, and [Nadab his son] reigned [in his stead].

§ 20. The Story of Rehoboam’s Reign resumed.

21 And [Rehoboam, son of Solomon] reigned in Judah,—[forty-one years old] was Rehoboam when he began to reign, and [seventeen years] reigned he in Jerusalem, the city which Yahweh had chosen to put his Name there, out of all the tribes of Israel, and [his mother’s name] was Naamah, the Ammonitess.

22 And Judah did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—and provoked him to jealousy, above all that their fathers’ had done, with their sins which they committed. And [they also] built for themselves high places and pillars, and Sacred Stems,—upon every high hill, and under every green tree. [Moreover also] there were [male devotees] in the land,—they did according to all the abominable practices of the nations, which Yahweh dispossessed from before the sons of Israel.

23 And it came to pass <in the fifth year of King Rehoboam> that Shishak, king of Egypt, came up against Jerusalem; and took away the treasures of the house of Yahweh, and the treasures of the house of the king, yea [the whole] took he away,—and took away all the bucklers of gold, which [Solomon] had made.

24 So King Rehoboam made, in their stead, bucklers of bronze,—and committed them unto the hand of the captains of the runners, who kept guard at the entrance of the house of the king.

25 And so it was <whensoever the king went into the house of Yahweh> the runners bare them, and then brought them back into the chamber of the runners.

26 Now <the rest of the story of Rehoboam, and all that he did> are [they] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? And there was [war] between Rehoboam and Jeroboam, continually. So then Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and [the name of his mother] was Naamah the Ammonitess,—and [Abijah his son] reigned [in his stead].

§ 21. Abijah (a bad King) reigns over Judah.

Chapter 15.

1 Now <in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam son of Nebat> began Abijah to reign over Judah. <Three years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and [the name of his mother] was Maachah, daughter of Abishalom. And he walked in all the sins of his father which he had done before him,—and his heart was not blameless with Yahweh his God, like the heart of David his father. But <for the sake of David> did Yahweh his God give him a lamp, in Jerusalem,—by raising up a son of his after him, and by suffering Jerusalem to stand; because David did that which was right in the eyes of Yahweh,—and turned not aside from anything that he commanded him, all the days of his life, [save only’ in the matter of Uriah the Hittite].

And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam, all the days of his life.
7  Now the rest of the story of Abijah and all that he did are not written in the book of Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 8 So then Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David,—and [Asa his son] reigned [in his stead].

§ 22. Asa (a good King) reigns over Judah.
9  Now in the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel] began Asa to reign as king of Judah;
10 and forty-one years] reigned he in Jerusalem,—and the name of his mother] was Maachah, daughter of Abishalom. 11 And Asa did that which was right in the eyes of Yahweh,—like David his father; 12 and he put away the male devotees out of the land,—and removed all the idols that his fathers had made. 13 Moreover also <even Maachah his mother] he removed from being queen, because she had made a monstrous thing to the Sacred Stem,—and Asa cut down her monstrous thing and burned it in the Kidron ravine. 14 But <the high places> removed he not,—nevertheless [the heart of Asa] was blameless with Yahweh, all his days.
15 And he brought in the hallowed things of his father, and his own hallowed things, into the house of Yahweh,—silver and gold, and vessels. 16 And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel, all their days. 17 And Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built Ramah,—so as not to suffer any one to come out or go in unto Asa king of Judah. 18 So Asa took all the silver and the gold, that were left in the treasuries of the house of Yahweh, and the treasures of the house of the king, and delivered them into the hand of his servants,—and King Asa sent them unto Ben-hadad son of Tabrimmon, son of Hezion, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying:

19  [Let there be a] covenant between me and thee, [as] between my father and thy father:
Lo! I have sent thee a gift, silver and gold,
Come break thy covenant with Baasha, king of Israel,
That he may go up from against me.
20  So Ben-hadad hearkened unto King Asa, and sent the generals of the forces which he had, against the cities of Israel, and smote Iyyohn [Ijon], and Dan, and Abel-beth-maacah,—and all Chinneroth, against all the land of Naphtali. 21 And it came to pass, when Baasha heard thereof, he left off building Ramah,—and returned to Tirzah.
22  And [King Asa] published it unto all Judah, none was exempted, so they carried away away the stones of Ramah, and the beams thereof, wherewith Baasha had built,—and King Asa built therewith Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah.
23  Now the rest of all the story of Asa, and all his might, and all that he did and the cities which he built] are not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? Howbeit in the time of his old age] he was diseased in his feet. 24 So then Asa slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers, in the city of David his father,—and [Jehoshaphat his son] reigned [in his stead].

§ 23. Nadab (a bad King) reigns over Israel: Slain by Baasha (another bad King), who succeeds him.

Now <the rest of the story of Nadab, and all that he did> are ||they|| not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? 32 And there was ||war|| between Asa and Baasha king of Israel, all their days. a

In the third year of Asa king of Judah began Baasha, son of Ahijah, to reign over all Israel, in Tirzah, [and he reigned] twenty-four years. 34 And he did that which was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh, and in his sin wherewith he caused ||Israel|| to sin.

Chapter 16.

Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jehu son of Hanani, against Baasha, saying:

Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, and gave thee to be leader over my people Israel,—and yet thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and caused my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger with their sins,

Behold me! consuming after Baasha, and after his house,—and I will deliver up thy house, like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat:

Him that dieth of Baasha in the city shall [the dogs] eat,

And him that dieth of his in the field shall [the birds of heaven] eat.

Now <the rest of the story of Baasha, and what he did, and his might> are ||they|| not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah,—and ||Elah his son|| reigned ||in his stead||.

Moreover also <through Jehu son of Hanani the prophet> [the word of Yahweh] came against Baasha and against his house, even b because of all the wickedness that he had done in the eyes of Yahweh, provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, becoming like the house of Jeroboam,—||notwithstanding that he smote him||.

§ 24. Elah succeeds his father Baasha, is slain by Zimri his servant, who is speedily besieged and destroys himself by fire.

In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah began Elah son of Baasha to reign over Israel, in Tirzah, [and he reigned] two years. 9 Then conspired against him his servant Zimri, captain of half the chariots,—as he' was in Tirzah drinking himself drunk, in the house of Arza, who was over the household in Tirzah. 10 And Zimri went in, and smote him and slew him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah,—and reigned in his stead.

And it came to pass <when he began to reign, as soon as he sat on his throne, that he smote all the house of Baasha, he left him not even the meanest,—||neither of his kinsfolks, nor of his friends||. 12 Thus did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha,—according to the word of Yahweh which he spake unto' Baasha, through Jehu the prophet;

as to all the sins of Baasha, and the sins of Elah his son,—wherewith they sinned, and wherewith they caused ||Israel|| to sin, provoking to anger Yahweh God of Israel, with their vanities.

Now <the rest of the story of Elah, and all that he did> are ||they|| not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah did Zimri reign, seven days in Tirzah,—but ||the people|| were encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines. 16 When therefore the people who were encamped, heard say,

Zimri hath conspired, |moreover also| he hath smitten the king> all Israel made Omri, general of the army, king over Israel, on that day, in the camp.

So Omri, and all Israel with him, went up from Gibbethon,—and laid siege' against Tirzah. 18 And it came to pass, <when Zimri saw that the city was captured> that he entered into the citadel of the house of the king,—and burned over him the house of the king, with fire, and died: 19 because of his sins d which he committed by doing the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—by walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he committed, by causing [Israel] to sin. 20

Now <the rest of the story of Omri, and his conspiracy wherein he conspired> are [they] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 21 [Then] were the people of Israel divided.a—[half the people] were following Tibni son of Ginath, to make him king, and [half] following Omri. 22 But [the people that followed Omri] prevailed against [the people that followed Tibni] of Ginath; so that [Tibni] died,b and [Omri] reigned.23

§ 25. The Reign of Omri, a very wicked King.

23 <In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah> began Omri to reign over Israel [and he reigned] twelve years: <In Tirzah> reigned he six years. 24 And he bought the hill Samaria of Shemer, for two talents of silver,—and built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer lordc of the hill—[Samaria]. 25 And Omri did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—and did more wickedly than all who were before him; 26 yea he walked in all the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat, and in his sin wherewith he caused [Israel] to sin,—provoking to anger Yahweh, God of Israel, with their vanities.

Now <the rest of the story of Omri, what he did, and his might that he shewed> are [they] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 28 So Omri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria,—and [Ahab his son] reigned in his stead.

§ 26. Ahab succeeds his father Omri, marries the Zidonian Jezebel, and worships Baal—to whom he erects an Altar in Samaria.

29 Now [Ahab son of Omri] began to reign over Israel, in the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah,—and Ahab son of Omri reigned over Israel, in Samaria, twenty-two years. 30 And Ahab son of Omri did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—and did more wickedly1 than all that were before him. 31 And it come to pass <as though it had been too light a thing that he should walk in the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat> that he took to wife Jezebel, daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Zidonians, and went and served Baal, and bowed down to him.

And he reared an altar unto Baal,—in the house of Baal, which he built in Samaria. 33 And Ahab made the Sacred Stem,8—and Ahab did yet more to provoke to anger Yahweh God of Israel than all the kings of Israel who were before him.

4 <In his days> did Hiel the Bethelite build Jericho,—

<At the price of Abiram his firstborn> he laid its foundation,

And <at the price of Segub his youngest> he set up its doors,

[according to the word of Yahweh which he spake through Joshua son of Nun].h

1 Then said Elijah1 the Tishbite, of Tishbe in Gilead, unto Ahab,

<By the life of Yahweh, God of Israel, before whom I stand> There shall not these two years, be either dew or rain,—save at the bidding of my word.

2 Then came the word of Yahweh unto him saying:

3 Get thee hence, and turn thee eastward,—and hide thyself in the ravine of Cherith, which faceth the Jordan; 4 and it shall be that <of the torrent> shalt thou drink,—and <of the ravens> have I commanded to sustain thee, there.

5 So he went and did, according to the word of Yahweh,—yea he went and dwelt in the ravine of Cherith, which faceth the Jordan. 6 And [of the ravens] used to bring him bread and flesh, in the morning, and bread and flesh, in the evening,—and <of the torrent> used he to drink. 7 But it came to pass <at the end of [certain] days> that the

So he arose and went to Zarephath, and he called to her, saying—

Fetch me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.

And she said—

Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread, in thy hand.

And she said—

By the life of Yahweh, thy God, verily I have not a cake, only a handful of meal in the jar, and a little oil in the cruse, and lo! I have been gathering a couple of sticks, so I shall go in and make it ready for me and for my son, that we may eat it—and die!

And Elijah said unto her—

Do not fear, go in—and make ready according to thy word, howbeit, make me thereof a little cake [first], and bring it out to me, and make ready [afterwards].

For thus saith Yahweh, God of Israel, [The jar of meal] shall not waste, and [the cruse of oil] shall not fail,—Until the day that Yahweh giveth rain upon the face of the ground.

So she went and made ready, according to the word of Elijah, and did eat [she, and he, and her house] [certain] days:

[The jar of meal] did not waste,—And [the cruse of oil] did not fail,—According to the word of Yahweh, which he spake through Elijah.

And it came to pass [after these things] that the son of the woman, owner of the house, fell sick,—yea it came to pass that his sickness was very severe, until no [breath] was left in him. Then said she unto Elijah,

What have I in common with thee, b O man of God? Hast thou come unto me, to call to remembrance mine iniquity, and to cause the death of my son?

And he said unto her—

Give me thy son.

And he took him out of her bosom, and carried him unto the upper room, where he was staying, and laid him upon his own bed. Then cried he unto Yahweh, and said,—O Yahweh, my God! <Even upon the widow with whom I am sojourning> hast thou brought misfortune by causing the death of her son?

And he stretched himself out upon the boy, three times, and cried unto Yahweh, and said,—O Yahweh, my God!

Let the life of this boy, I pray thee, come again within him.

And Yahweh hearkened unto the voice of Elijah,—and the life of the boy came again within him, and he lived. Then Elijah took the boy, and carried him down out of the upper room, into the house, and gave him to his mother,—and Elijah said, See! thy son liveth.

And the woman said unto Elijah, [Now] then I know, that  thou art',—and that [the word of Yahweh] is in thy mouth, [of a truth].

pass <when Jezebel was cutting off the prophets of Yahweh> that Obadiah took a hundred prophets, and hid them by fifties in caves, and sustained them, with bread and water. 5 So then Ahab said unto Obadiah,

Go, and let us pass throughout the land, unto all the fountains of water, and unto all the ravines,—peradventure we may find grass, and save alive horse and mule, and not have more of the beasts cut off.

6 So they divided to them the land, to pass through it,—[Ahab] went one way, [by himself], and [Obadiah] went another way, [by himself]. 7 And so it was <as Obadiah was on the road> that lo! [Elijah] met him,—and he recognised him, and fell upon his face, and said—

Now art [thou] my lord Elijah?

8 And he said to him—

I am! Go, say to thy lord:—

[Here] is [Elijah]!

9 And he said—

How have I sinned,—that [thou] art delivering thy servant into the hand of Ahab, to put me to death?

10 <By the life of Yahweh thy God> there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee, and <when they have said— Nay!> he hath taken an oath of the kingdom or of the nation, that no one could find thee; 11 and [now] [thou] art saying,—

Go say to thy lord, [Here] is [Elijah];

so shall it come to pass <as soon as [I]] go from thee> that [the spirit of Yahweh] shall carry thee away—whither I know not, and so <when I go in to tell Ahab, and he cannot find thee> then will he slay me,—[and yet [thy servant] hath revered Yahweh, from my youth].

Was it not told my lord, what I did when Jezebel was slaying the prophets of Yahweh,—how I hid, of the prophets of Yahweh, a hundred men,—by fifties—in caves, and sustained them with bread and water? 14 and yet [now] [thou] art saying,

Go, tell thy lord—[Here] is [Elijah]; and so he will slay me!

15 Then said Elijah—

<By the life of Yahweh of hosts, before whom I stand> [to-day] will I show myself unto him.

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him,—and [Ahab] went to meet [Elijah].

17 And it came to pass <when Ahab saw Elijah> that Ahab said unto him,

Now, art [thou] troubling Israel?

18 And he said—

I have not troubled Israel, but [thou and the house of thy father],—in that ye have forsaken the commandments of Yahweh, and followed Baal. 19 [Now] therefore, send, gather unto me all Israel, unto Mount Carmel,—and the prophets of Baal, 4 four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the Sacred Stem, four hundred, [who do eat at the table of Jezebel]!

20 So Ahab sent among all the sons of Israel,—and gathered the prophets 6 unto Mount Carmel. 21 And Elijah drew near unto all the people, and said—

How long are ye limping on the two divided opinions? 22 Then said Elijah unto the people—

[If] [Yahweh] be GOD, 7 follow [him], but [if] [Baal] > follow [him].

But the people answered him, not a word. 23 Then said Elijah unto the people—

[I] am left, Yahweh’s only prophet,—but [the prophets of Baal] are four hundred and fifty men.

24 Let there be given us, therefore, two bullocks, and let them choose for themselves one bullock, and cut it in pieces, and lay it upon the wood, but <fire> shall they not put,—then [I] will make ready the other bullock, and place upon the wood, but <fire> will I not put.

25 Then shall ye call on the name of your god, and [I] will call on the name of Yahweh, and it shall be <the God that respondeth by fire> [he] is GOD.

And all the people responded—

Well spoken!

26 Then said Elijah to the prophets of Baal—

I KINGS – Chapter 18.
Choose for yourselves one bullock, and make ye ready [first], for [they] are many,—and call ye on the name of your god, but <fire> shall ye not put.

So they took the bullock which was given them, and made ready, and called on the name of Baal—from the morning even until the noon, saying—

O Baal! answer us.

But there was no’ voice, nor any’ that answered.

And they leaped about by the altar which had been made. And it came to pass <at noon> that Elijah mocked them, and said—

Cry with a loud voice, for  he is’, either he hath ||a meditation, or an occasion to retire||, or he hath ||a journey||, ||peradventure|| he ||sleepeth||, and must be awakened.

And they cried, with a loud voice, and cut themselves, after their custom, with swords, and with lances,—until the blood gushed out upon them. And so it was <when noon was passed> that although they prophesied until the offering up of the evening gift> yet was there no’ voice nor any’ that answered, nor any’ that hearkened.

Then said Elijah unto all the people:

Draw near unto [me].

And all the people drew near unto [him]. Then repaired he the broken-down altar of Yahweh; yea Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob,—unto whom the word of Yahweh came, saying—

<Israel> shall be thy name; and built, with the stones, an altar, in the name of Yahweh,—and he made a trench, as large as would contain two measures of seed, round about the altar; and he put in order the wood,—and cut in pieces the bullock, and laid upon the wood.

And they did so. And he said—

Do it the second time.

And they did it the second time. And he said—

Do it the third time.

And they did it the third time. And the water ran round about the altar,—[moreover also] <the trench> filled he with water. And it came to pass <at the time of the offering of the gift> that Elijah the prophet drew near, and said,

O Yahweh, God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel! ||To-day|| let it be known—

That ||[thou] art God in Israel, f

And that ||[I] am thy servant,—

And that <[by thy word]>5 have I done all these things.

Answer me, O Yahweh! answer me,

That this people may know, that ||[thou—

Yahweh]|| art GOD,—

So shalt ||[thou thyself]|| have turned their heart back again.

Then fell fire from h Yahweh, and consumed the ascending-sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust,—<even the water that was in the trench> it licked up.

And <when all the people saw it> they fell upon their faces,—and said,

Yahweh] ||[he]|| is GOD,

Yahweh] ||[he]|| is GOD.

And Elijah said unto them—

Seize ye the prophets of Baal—let not ||[a man]|| of them escape.

So they seized them. And Elijah took them down unto the ravine of Kishon, and slaughtered them there.

Then said Elijah unto Ahab,

Go up, eat and drink,—for there is a sound of a downpour of rain.

So Ahab went up, to eat and to drink,—but ||[Elijah]|| went up to the top of Carmel, and bowed himself to the earth, and put his face between his knees. Then said he unto his young man—

Go up, I pray thee, and look about in the direction of the sea.

So he went up, and looked about, and said—

There is ||nothing whatever||. Then said he—§ 30. Ben-hadad king of Syria, laying seige to Samaria, is twice defeated; Ahab is punished for suffering him to escape.

Chapter 20.

1 Now ||Ben-hadad, king of Syria|| had gathered together all his forces, and ||thirty-two kings|| were with him, and horses and chariots,—then came he up, and laid siege to Samaria, and made war against it.  3 And he sent messengers unto Ahab king of Israel, into the city, and said to him,—

||Thus|| saith Ben-hadad,

||Thy silver and thy gold|| are ||mine||, and ||thy wives and thy sons the goodliest|| are ||mine||.

4 Then responded the king of Israel, and said,

<According to thy word> my lord O king! ||thine|| am I, and all that I have.

5 And the messengers came back again, and said,

||Thus|| speaketh Ben-hadad, saying,—

<Because I sent unto thee, saying, ||Thy silver and thy gold and thy wives and thy sons|| [to me] shalt thou give>

6 Therefore ||about this time to-morrow|| will I send my servants unto thee, and they shall search thy house, and the houses of thy servants,—and it shall be, that <all the delight of thine eyes> shall they put in their hand, and take away.

7 Then called the king of Israel, for all the elders of the land, and said—

Mark, I pray you, and see, how this man is seeking ||mischief||,—for he had sent unto me, for my wives, and for my sons, and for my silver, and for my gold, and I refused him not.

8 And all the elders and all the people said unto him,—

Do not thou hearken, neither do thou consent.

9 So he said unto the messengers of Ben-hadad—

Say ye to my lord the king,—

<All that thou didst send for, to thy servant at the first> will I do, but <this thing> I cannot’ do.

And the messengers departed, and took him back word.  10 Then Ben-hadad sent unto him and said,—

---

<Thine altars> have they thrown down,
<Thy prophets also> have they slain with the sword,—
And ||I alone|| am left,
And they have sought my life, to take it.

15 And Yahweh said unto him,

Go, return to thy way, a towards the wilderness of Damascus,—

And <when thou enterest>

Then shalt thou anoint Hazael to be king over Syria;

16 And <Jehu son of Minshi> shalt thou anoint to be king over Israel,—

And <Elisha son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah> shall thou anoint to be prophet in thy stead:

Then shall it come to pass, that—

<He that escapeth the sword of Hazael> shall ||Jehu|| slay,—

And <him that escapeth the sword of Jehu> shall ||Elisha|| slay;

18 Yet will I leave remaining in Israel, seven thousand,—all knees’ which have not bowed to Baal, and all mouths which have not kissed to him.

So he departed from thence, and found Elisha son of Shaphat, ||as he’ was plowing, with twelve yoke of oxen before him, he being with the twelfth||,—so Elijah crossed over unto him, and cast his mantle towards him;

20 and he left the oxen, and ran after Elijah, and said—

Let me, I pray thee, kiss my father and my mother, that I may follow thee.

And he said unto him,—

Go, turn back, for what have I done to thee?

So he turned back from following him, and took the yoke of oxen, and sacrificed them, and <with the implements of the oxen> boiled their flesh, b and gave unto the people, and they did eat,—then he arose, and followed Elijah, and ministered unto him.

And the king of Israel responded and said:

Then drew near the prophet, unto the king of Israel, and said unto him—

Go strengthen thyself, and mark and see, what thou wilt do,—for <at the return of the year> is the king of Syria coming up against thee.

And ||the servants of the king of Syria|| said unto him,—

<Gods of the mountains> are their’ gods, ||for this cause|| prevailed they against us,—but <only let us fight with them in the plain> and verily we shall prevail against them.

But <this thing> do,—set aside the kings, every man out of his place, and put governors< in their stead; >and ||thou|| must number thee a force, like the force which thou hast lost, ||both horse for horse and chariot for chariot||, and <if we fight with them in the plain> verily we shall prevail against them.

And he hearkened unto their voice, ||and did so|. 26
And so it came to pass at the return of the year, that Ben-hadad numbered the Syrians,—and came up to Aphek, to fight with Israel; 27 and ||the sons of Israel|| were numbered, and provisioned, and went to meet them,—and the sons of Israel encamped before them like two little flocks of goats, whereas ||the Syrians||, filled the land.

Then approached the man of God, and spake unto the king of Israel, and said—d

||Thus|| saith Yahweh—

<Because the Syrians have said—

<A god of the mountains> is Yahweh, but <not a god of the vales> is he’> Therefore will I deliver all this great multitude, into thy hand, so shalt thou know, e that ||I|| am Yahweh.

29 So they encamped, ||these|| over against ||those|| seven days,—and it came to pass, <on the seventh day> that the battle was joined, and the sons of Israel smote the Syrians, ||a hundred thousand footmen, in one’ day]].

And they who were left fled to Aphek, into the city, and the wall fell upon twenty-seven thousand men who were left,—and [Ben-hadad] fled, and came into the city, into a chamber within a chamber. And his servants said unto him, Lo! we pray thee, we have heard’ <of the kings of the house of Israel> that <kings known for loving-kindness> they are’. Let us, we pray thee, put sackcloth upon our loins, and ropes’ about our head, and let us go forth unto the king of Israel, [peradventure he will save alive thy soul].

So they girded sackcloth upon their loins, and [put] ropes about their heads, and came in unto the king of Israel, and said, [[Thy servant, Ben-hadad]] saith,— Let my soul live, I pray thee. And he said,— Is he yet’ alive? <My brother> he is’.

Now [the men] could divine, so they hastened to let him confirm the word of his own accord, and they said,— <Thy brother> is Ben-hadad! He said therefore,— Go fetch him. So Ben-hadad came forth unto him, and he made him come up unto him’ on his chariot. And he said unto him—<The cities which my’ father took from thy’ father> will I restore, and <bazaars> shalt thou make thee in Damascus, as my father made in Samaria. So then [this covenant] will let thee go. So he solemnised with him a covenant, and let him go.

And [a certain man of the sons of the prophets] said unto his neighbour, by the word of Yahweh— Smite me, I pray thee. But the man refused to smite him. So he said to him— <Because thou hast not hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh> lo! <when thou art departing from me> there shall smite thee a lion. And when he departed from beside him, a lion found him, and smote him. Then found he another man, and said,—

Smite me, I pray thee. So the man smote him—[kept on smiting and wounding]. Then the prophet departed, and waited for the king, by the way,—and disguised himself with his turban over his eyes. And so it was <when> <the king] was passing> [he] cried out unto the king,—and said— [[Thy servant]] went out in the midst of the battle, and lo! [a man] turned aside and brought unto me a man, and said— Keep this man, <if he be [missing]> then shall thy life go for thy life, or  shalt thou weigh out. And so it was, <as thy servant was busy here and there> that [his] was gone. And the king of Israel said unto him— [Such] is thy judgment, [thou thyself] hast decided it.

Then hastened he, and removed the turban from over his eyes,—and the king of Israel knew him, that <of the prophets> was [he]. And he said unto him— [Thus] saith Yahweh, <Because thou hast let go the man whom I had devoted, out of thy hand> therefore shall [thy life] be instead of [his life], and [thy people] instead of [his people]. And the king of Israel departed unto his house, sullen and disturbed,—and entered Samaria.

§ 31. Naboth’s Vineyard, coveted by Ahab, is recklessly procured by Jezebel: Ahab, rebuked by Elijah, humbles himself and is spared.

And it came to pass <after these things> that Naboth the Jezreelite had [a vineyard], which was in Jezreel,—hard by the palace of Ahab, king of Samaria. Ahab, therefore, spake unto Naboth, saying—

Come! give me thy vineyard, that I may have it for a garden of herbs, for [the same] is near by my house, and let me give thee, instead thereof, a vineyard better than it,—<if it be good in thine eyes> I will give thee silver’ to the value of this.

And Naboth said unto Ahab,—

So Ahab came into his house; sullen and disturbed, because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken unto him, that he should have said,

   Why is it, that thy spirit is sullen, that thou art not eating food? And he said unto her—
   Because I spake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and said unto him—Come! give me thy vineyard for silver, or <if thou would'st prefer> I will give thee a vineyard, in its stead;
   and he said—
   I will not give thee my vineyard.

Then Jezebel his wife said unto him:
   Art thou still going to carry on the kingdom over Israel?
   Rise! eat food, and let thy heart be merry, will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite!

So she wrote letters, in the name of Ahab, and sealed them with his signet-ring,—and sent the letters unto the elders, and unto the nobles who were in his city, dwelling with Naboth. 9 Now she wrote in the letters, saying,— Proclaim ye a fast, and cause Naboth to sit at the head of the people; then let two reckless men take their seats before him, that they may bear witness against him, saying,
   Thou hast reviled God and king! then shall ye carry him forth and stone him, that he die.

So the men of his city, the elders and the nobles who dwelt in his city, did' just as Jezebel had sent unto them,—as it was written in the letters' which she had sent unto them:—12 they proclaimed a fast,—and caused Naboth' to sit at the head of the people. 13 Then came in the two reckless men, and sat before him, and the men bare witness against him, even against Naboth, before the people, saying,
   Naboth hath reviled God and king!
So they carried him forth, outside the city, and stoned him with stones, that he died. 14 Then sent they unto Jezebel, saying,— Naboth is stoned' and is dead.

And it came to pass <when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned’ and was dead> that Jezebel said unto Ahab—
   Rise! take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for silver, for Naboth is not’ alive, but dead!

And it came to pass <when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead'> that Ahab arose, to go down unto the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession thereof. 17 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Elijah the Tishbite, saying:
   Arise! go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who is in Samaria,—lo! he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he hath gone down, to take possession thereof. 19 Then shalt thou speak unto him, saying—
   ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
   Hast thou committed murder, and also taken possession?
   Then shalt thou speak unto him, saying:
   ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
   <In the place where the dogs have lapped up the blood of Naboth> shall the dogs lap up thy blood ||even thine||.
20Then said Ahab unto Elijah,
   Hast thou found me, O mine enemy?
   And he said:
   I have found [thee]!
Because thou hast sold thyself to do the thing that is wicked in the eyes of Yahweh>

Behold me! [saith he] bringing in upon thee, calamity, and I will consume after thee,—and cut off of Ahab even the meanest, whether shut up or left at large in Israel; 22 and will deliver up thy house—
   Like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat, And like the house of Baasha son of Ahijah,—

23 [Moreover also] <concerning Jezebel> hath Yahweh spoken, saying,—

||The dogs|| shall eat Jezebel, in the townland of Jezreel:

24 <Him that dieth, of Ahab, in the city> shall [the dogs] eat,—

And <him that dieth> in the field> shall [the birds of heaven] eat.

25 But' indeed, there was none like Ahab, who sold himself to do the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—whom Jezebel his wife goaded on; so that he did very abominably, in going after the manufactured gods,—according to all which the Amorites' had done, whom Yahweh dispossessed from before the sons of Israel.

26 And it came to pass <when Ahab heard these words> that he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth upon his flesh, and fasted,—and lay in sackcloth, and went softly.

27 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Elijah the Tishbite, saying:

Hast thou seen that Ahab hath humbled himself, before me?

<Because he hath humbled himself before me> I will not bring in the calamity in his days,

<In the days of his son> will I bring in the calamity upon his house.

§ 32. Ahab and Jehoshaphat in Samaria, and at Ramoth-gilead, where Ahab is slain. Ahaziah his Son reigns in his stead. Jehoshaphat's Reign over Judah: he is succeeded by Jehoram.

Chapter 22.

1 And there continued three years' without war between Syria and Israel. 2 But it came to pass <in the third year> that Jehoshaphat king of Judah went down unto the king of Israel. 3 And the king of Israel said unto his servants, Know ye that [ours] is Ramoth-gilead,—yet [we] are too idle to take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?

4 And he said unto Jehoshaphat,

Wilt thou go with me to make war upon Ramoth-gilead?

5 And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel,

I am as thou art,

My people are as thy people,

My horses as thy horses.

6 Then said Jehoshaphat unto the king of Israel,—

Seek, I pray thee, at once, the word of Yahweh. So the king of Israel gathered together the prophets, about four hundred men, and said unto them—

Shall I go against Ramoth-gilead, to battle, or shall I forbear?

And they said—

Go up, that the Lord may deliver it into the hand of the king.

7 Then said Jehoshaphat,

Is there not here a prophet of Yahweh, besides',—that we may seek [from him]?

8 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat,

<Besides> is a certain man, by whom we might seek Yahweh, but ||I|| hate him, for he is never moved to prophesy concerning me anything good, [only evil], Micaiah, son of Imlah.

And Jehoshaphat said,

Let not the king say so'.

9 Then the king of Israel called a certain courtier,—and said,

Hasten Micaiah son of Imlah.

10 Now ||the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat king of Judah|| were sitting—each man upon his throne, having put on robes, in a level place, at the entrance of the gate of Samaria,—and ||all the prophets|| were being moved to prophesy before them; 11 when Zedekiah' son of Chenaanah made himself horns of iron,—and said—

||[This]|| saith Yahweh,—

||With these|| shalt thou push down the Syrians, until thou hast consumed them.

12 And ||all the prophets|| were being moved to prophesy [in like manner], saying,—

Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and thou shalt prosper, and Yahweh will deliver it, into the hand of the king.

13 Now ||the messenger who went to call Micaiah||, spoke unto him, saying—

Behold, I pray thee, ||[the words of the prophets]|| with one mouth> are good, as touching the

But ||Yahweh himself|| hath spoken concerning thee, ||calamity||.

24 Then drew near Zedekiah son of Chenaanah, and smote Micaiah on the cheek,—and said—
Where then passed the Spirit of Yahweh, from me, to speak unto thee?

Then said Micaiah,
Lo! thou art about to see, on that day,—when thou enterest a chamber within a chamber, to hide thyself.

26 And the king of Israel said,
Take Micaiah, and carry him back unto Amon captain of the city,—and unto Joash son of the king; 27 and thou shalt say—
||Thus|| saith the king, Put this man into the prison,—and let him eat the bread of oppression, with the water of oppression, until I enter in peace.

28 Then said Micaiah,
<If thou ||return|| in peace> Yahweh hath not spoken by me.

And he said,
Hear, ye peoples, ||all of you||!

29 So the king of Israel went up, with Jehoshaphat king of Judah, unto Ramoth-gilead.
30 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat—
I am about to disguise myself, and enter into the battle, ||thou|| therefore, put on thy robes.
So the king of Israel disguised himself, and entered into the battle.

31 Now ||the king of Syria|| had commanded the captains of chariots which he had, thirty and two, saying,
Ye shall not fight with small or great,—||save with the king of Israel alone||.

32 And it came to pass <when the chariot-captains saw Jehoshaphat> that ||they|| said:
Surely it is ||the king of Israel||!
But <when they turned aside against him to fight> Jehoshaphat cried out. 33 And it came to pass <when the chariot-captains saw that it was ||not the Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall we forbear?

And he said unto him—
Go up and prosper, and Yahweh will deliver it into the hand of the king.

16 And the king said unto him,
||How many times|| must [l] adjureb thee,—that thou speak unto me nothing but truth, in the name of Yahweh?

17 And he said—
I saw all Israel, scattered among the mountains, like sheep that have no’ shepherd,—so Yahweh said,
These have ||no masters|| let them return every man unto his own house, in peace.

18 Then said the king of Israel, unto Jehoshaphat,—
Did I not say unto thee, He will not be moved to prophesy concerning me anything good, ||only calamity||.

19 Then he said,
||Therefore|| hear thou the word of Yahweh,—
I saw Yahweh, sitting upon his throne, and all the host of the heavens, standing by him, on his right hand, and on his left.

And Yahweh said—
Who will persuade Ahab, that he may go up and fall, at Ramoth-gilead?
And ||one|| said in this’ manner, and ||another|| said in that’ manner. 21 Then came forth a spirit, and stood before Yahweh, and said—
||I|| will persuade him.

And Yahweh said unto him—
Werewith?
And he said—
I will go forth, and become a spirit of falsehood in the mouth of all his prophets,—
So he said—

§ 1. Ahaziah, King of Israel, warned by Elijah, sends Parties of Fifty Men to take him; Two Parties destroyed, the Third spared.

Chapter 1.

1 Then Moab revolted against Israel, after the death of Ahab. 2 And Ahaziah fell through the lattice in his upper chamber, which was in Samaria, and became sick,—so he sent messengers, and said unto them—

Go enquire of Baalzebub, god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this sickness.

3 But the messenger of Yahweh spake unto Elijah the Tishbite, Rise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria,—and say unto them—

Is it because there is no God in Israel that ye are going to enquire of Baalzebub, god of Ekron?

4 Wherefore thus saith Yahweh, From the bed whereunto thou hast gone up shalt thou not come down, for thou shalt surely die.

And Elijah departed. And when the messengers returned unto him, he said unto them—

How is it that ye have returned?

6 And they said unto him—

A hairy man, with a leathern girdle girt about his loins.

And he said—

If a man of God I am, let fire come down out of the heavens, and devour thee and thy fifty.

So there came down fire out of the heavens, and devoured him and his fifty. 11 Then he again sent unto him another captain of fifty, with his fifty. And he also spake and said unto him, O man of God! thus saith the king, Haste thee, come down!

12 And Elijah responded and said unto them—

If a man of God I am, let fire come down out of the heavens, and devour thee and thy fifty.

And there came down a fire of God out of the heavens, and devoured the captains of the fifty. 13 Then he again sent a third captain of fifty with his fifty,—and the third captain of fifty ascended and came near, and bowed down upon his knees before Elijah, and made supplication unto him, and said unto him, O man of God! let my life and the lives of these thy fifty servants be precious in thine eyes.

§ 2. Elijah taken to Heaven in a Storm: Elisha works various Wonders.

Chapter 2.

1 And it came to pass <when Yahweh was about to take up Elijah in a storm into the heavens> that Elijah departed, with Elisha, from Gilgal. 2 Then said Elijah unto Elisha—

   Tarry here, I pray thee, for ||Yahweh|| hath sent me as far as Bethel.

And Elisha said,

   <By the life of Yahweh and by the life of thine own soul> I will not leave thee.

So they went down to Bethel. 3 And the sons of the prophets who were in Bethel came forth unto Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that, to-day, Yahweh is taking away thy lord from thy head?

And he said—

   ||I also| know, be silent.

4 Then Elijah said to him—

   Elisha, I pray thee, tarry here, for ||Yahweh|| hath sent me to Jericho.

And he said—

   <By the life of Yahweh and by the life of thine own soul> I will not leave thee.

So they came to Jericho. 5 Then drew near the sons of the prophets who were in Jericho, unto Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that, to-day, Yahweh is taking away thy lord from thy head?

And he said—

   ||I also| know, be silent.

6 And Elijah said to him—

   Tarry here, I pray thee, for ||Yahweh|| hath sent me to the Jordan.

And he said—

   <By the life of Yahweh and by the life of thine own soul> I will not leave thee.

So they two <went on>. 7 But ||fifty men of the sons of the prophets|| came, and stood over against them, afar off,—and ||they two|| stood by the Jordan. 8 Then Elijah took his mantle, and wrapped it together, and smote the waters, and they were divided, hither and thither,—so that they two <passed over> on dry ground. 9 And it came to pass <as they went over> that ||Elijah|| said unto Elisha—

   Ask, what I shall do for thee, ere yet I be taken from thee. And Elisha said, Let there be, I pray thee, a double portionb of thy spirit upon me.

10 And he said—

   Thou hast asked a hard thing,—<if thou see me’ when taken from thee> thou shalt have it ||so||, but <if not> thou shalt not have it.

11 And it came to pass <as they were going on and on and talking> that lo! there was a chariot of fire, with horses of fire, which parted ||those two|| asunder,—and Elijah went up in a storm, into the heavens. 12 And <as soon as Elisha saw it> ||he|| began crying out—

   My father! my father!

   The chariots of Israel, and the horsemen thereof!

But <when he could see him no longer> he took hold of his clothes, and rent them in two pieces. 13 Then took he up the mantle of Elijah, which had fallen from him,—and returned and stood, on the brink of the Jordan;

b Cp. Deu. xxi. 17.
and took the mantle of Elijah which had fallen from him, and smote the waters, and said, Where’s is Yahweh, the God of Elijah?
And when smote the waters they were divided, hither and thither, and Elisha passed over. And when the sons of the prophets who were in Jericho, over against him, saw him> they said,
[The spirit of Elijah] resteth [on Elisha].

So they came to meet him, and bowed themselves down to him, to the ground. Then said they unto him—
Lo! we pray thee, there are’ with thy servants fifty men, sons of valour—let them go, we pray thee, and seek thy lord, lest the Spirit of Yahweh have borne him away, and cast him on one of the mountains, or into one of the valleys.

And he said—
Ye shall not send.

"But when they urged him until he was ashamed> he said—Send."

So they sent fifty men, and made search three days, but found him not. And when they came back unto him, [he] having tarried at Jericho> he said unto them,
Did I not say unto you, Do not go?

And the men of the city said unto Elisha,
Lo! we pray thee, [the situation of the city] is good, as [my lord] seeth,—but [the waters] are bad, and [the land] apt to miscarry.

And he said—
Bring me a new bowl, and put therein [salt]. So they brought it unto him; and he went forth unto the spring of the waters, and cast therein [salt],—and said—
[Thus] saith Yahweh,
I have healed’ these waters; there shall come from thence, no longer, [death or aptness to miscarry].

So the waters were healed, [as they remain] unto this day,—[according to the word of Elisha which he spake]].

And he went up from thence, to Bethel,—and <as he was going up on the way> [some lads] came forth, out of the city, and made mockery of him, and said to him, Go up, bald head! Go up, bald head!

And when he turned round and saw them> he cursed them, in the name of Yahweh,—and there came forth two she-bears out of the wood, and tare, of them, forty-two youths. And he went from thence, unto Mount Carmel,—and [from thence] he returned [to Samaria].

§ 3. The Kings of Israel, Judah and Edom subdue Moab. Elisha on the Scene.

Chapter 3.

Now [Jehoram, son of Ahab] began to reign over Israel, in Samaria, in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah,—and he reigned twelve years. And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh, [only] not like his father, nor like his mother,—but he put away the pillars of Baal which [his father] had made; nevertheless <unto the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat which he caused Israel’ to commit> he did cleave,—he turned not away therefrom.

Now [Mesha king of Moab] was a sheep-master,—and used to render to the king of Israel, the wool of a hundred thousand fat sheep, and of a hundred thousand rams. And it came to pass <when Ahab died> that the king of Moab revolted against the king of Israel. So King Jehoram went forth, on that day, out of Samaria, and numbered all Israel. And he departed, and sent unto Jehoshaphat king of Judah, saying—
||The king of Moab|| hath revolted against me, wilt thou go with me against Moab to battle? And he said—
I will go up, I’ am as thou’ art, my’ people are as thy’ people, my’ horses as thy’ horses.

And he said—
Which way, then, shall we go up?
And he said—
The way of the wilderness of Edom.

Then departed the king of Israel, and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom, and went round, a journey of seven days,—and there was no water for the host, nor for the cattle that went with them.a

10 Then said the king of Israel—
Alas! for Yahweh hath called these three kings, to deliver them into the hand of Moab.

11 So Jehoshaphat said—
Is there not, here, a prophet of Yahweh, that we may enquire of Yahweh [from him]?
Then answered one of the servants of the king of Israel, and said, [[Here]] is Elisha son of Shaphat, who poured water on the hands of Elijah.

12 Then said Jehoshaphat,
The word of Yahweh [is with him].
So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, b and the king of Edom, went down unto him.

13 And Elisha said unto the king of Israel—
What have I and thou in common? get thee unto the prophets of thy father, and unto the prophets of thy mother.
But the king of Israel said to him—
Nay! for Yahweh hath called together these three kings, to deliver them into the hand of Moab.

14 Then said Elisha—
<By the life of Yahweh of hosts, before whom I stand> <were it not that ||the countenance of Jehoshaphat king of Judah|| I would lift up> I would neither look at thee, nor see thee.

15 But ||now|| bring me one that can touch the strings.
For it used to be <when the player touched the strings> then would ||the hand of Yahweh|| be upon him. 16 Then said he,
|[This] saith Yahweh,—
Make, in this torrent-bed, ||pits, pits|||d
17 For ||thus|| saith Yahweh—
Ye shall not see wind,
And ye shall not see rain,
Yet ||that torrent-bed|| shall be filled with water,—
And ye shall drink, ||ye, and your cattle, and your beasts||;

18 And <this being a small thing in the eyes of Yahweh>
He will deliver Moab into your hand;

19 And ye shall smite every strong city, and every choice city,
And ||every goodly tree|| shall ye fell,
And ||all fountains of water|| shall ye close up,—
And ||every goodly heritage|| shall ye mar with stones.

20 And it came to pass <in the morning, when the offering ascended> that lo! [waters] were coming in from the way of Edom,—and the land was filled with the water. 21 Now ||all Moab|| had heard’ that the kings had come up to fight against them,—so they came together, from all who could gird on a girdle and upwards, and took their stand at the border. 22 And <when they rose early in the morning> ||the sun|| shone forth upon the waters,—and so the Moabites beheld‘ over against them, the waters, ||red as blood||. 23 They said therefore—
||Blood||—this!
Destroyed! The kings have destroyed each other!
Yea they have smitten every man his neighbour,—
||Now|| then, to the spoil, O Moab!

24 And <when they came into the camp of Israel> Israel arose and smote Moab, and they fled from before them,—so they entered thereinto, yea still farther entered Moab;8

25 And <the cities> they pulled down,
And <on every goodly heritage> they cast every man his stone, and filled it,
And <all fountains of waters> they closed up,
And <every goodly tree> they felled,
And <though they left the stones thereof in Kirharaseth> yet the slingers surrounded and smote it.

26 And <when the king of Moab saw that [the battle] prevailed against him> he took with him seven hundred men that drew swords, to break through against the king of Edom, but they could not. 27 So

§ 4. Elisha and the Widow’s Cruse of Oil. The Son of a Shunammite woman given and restored to life. A Famine.

Chapter 4.

1 Now [a certain woman] of the wives of the sons of the prophets made outcry unto Elisha, saying—[Thy servant, my husband] is dead, and [thou] knowest that [thy servant] was one who revered Yahweh, [now] [the creditor] hath come to take my two boys to himself as bondmen.

2 And Elisha said unto her—

What shall I do for thee? tell me what thou hast, in the house.

And she said—

Thy maid-servant hath [nothing at all] in the house, save a flask of oil.

3 And he said—

Go, ask thee vessels, from without, of all thy neighbours,—[empty' vessels] [let them not be few].

4 And [when thou hast come in] then shalt thou shut the door behind thee and behind thy sons, and shalt pour out into all these vessels,—and [that which is full] shalt thou set aside.

5 So she went out from his presence, and shut the door behind her, and behind her sons,—[they'] bringing near to her, and she' pouring out]. \(^b\) And it came to pass [when the vessels were full] that she said unto her son—

Bring me a vessel more'.

And he said unto her—

There is not' a vessel more'.

And the oil stayed. \(^c\) Then came she in, and told the man of God, and he said—

Go, sell the oil, and pay thy creditor,—and [thou and thy sons] shall live of the rest.

6 And so it was, [on a day] that Elisha passed over unto Shunem, where was a woman of position, and she constrained him to eat bread,—and so it came about [whenever he passed that way] that he turned aside thither, to eat bread. \(^9\) Then said she unto her husband,

Lo! I pray thee—I perceive' that [a holy man of God] he is',—passing our way continually. \(^10\) I pray thee, let us make a little upper chamber on the wall\(^b\) and set for him there—a bed, and a table, and a seat, and a lampstand,—so shall it be [when he cometh to us] that he can turn in thither.

11 And it came to pass, on a day, that he came thither,—so he turned aside into the upper chamber, and slept there. \(^12\) Then said he unto Gehazi, his young man,

Call this Shunammite woman.

And he called her, and she stood before him.

13 And he said to him—

I pray thee, say unto her—

Lo! thou hast cared for us' with all this anxious care, what can be done for thee"? Is' it, that we should speak for thee [unto the king], or unto the general of the army?

But she said,

<In the midst of mine own people> do [||] dwell.

14 So he said,

What then can be done for thee?

And Gehazi said,

[Verily] she hath no' [son], and [her husband] is [old].

15 And he said—

Call her.

So he called her, and she stood in the doorway.

16 Then said he—

<At this season, about the time of spring> [thou] shalt be embracing a son.

And she said—

Nay! my lord, thou man of God, do not delude thy maid-servant.

17 And the woman conceived, and bare a son, at this season, about the time of spring, when' [Elisha] had spoken unto her. \(^18\) And [when the child was grown] it came to pass [on a certain day] that he went out unto his father, unto the reapers; \(^19\) and he said unto his father—

My head! my head!

So he said unto the young man, Carry him to his mother.

And <when he had carried him, and brought him in unto his mother> he sat on her knees until noon, and then died. 21 And she went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God,—and shut him in, and then went out. 22 And she called unto her husband, and said—Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the asses,—that I may run unto the man of God, and return!

And he said—Wherefore thou’ going unto him, to-day, ||new moon nor sabbath||?
And she said—Peace!

Then saddled she the ass, and said unto her young man—Lead on, and go forward,—do not slacken for my sake, the riding, except I have bidden thee.

So she went her way, and came unto the man of God, unto Mount Carmel. And it came to pass <when the man of God saw her,> that he said unto Gehazi his young man, Lo! this Shunammiteess!

||Now|| run, I pray thee, to meet her, and say to her—Is it well’ with thee? is it well’ with thy husband? is it well’ with the child?
And she said, Well!

But <when she came unto the man of God,> she caught hold of his feet,—and Gehazi drew near to thrust her away, when the man of God said—Let her alone! for ||her life|| is embittered to her, howbeit ||Yahweh|| hath hidden it from me, and hath not told me.

Then said she, Did I ask a son of my lord? Said I not, Thou must not mislead me?

And he said to Gehazi,—Gird thy loins, and take my staff in thy hand, and go thy way, <if thou meet with any man> thou must not bless him, and <if any man bless thee> thou must not respond to him,—then shalt thou lay my staff upon the face of the boy.

But the mother of the boy said, <By the life of Yahweh and by the life of thine own soul> I will not leave thee. So he arose and followed her.

Now ||Gehazi|| had passed on before them, and laid the staff on the face of the boy, but there was neither voice, nor attention,—so he returned to meet him, and told him, saying—The boy hath not awaked.

And <when Elisha had come into the house> lo! ||the boy|| was dead, laid upon his bed.

So he went in, and shut the door upon them two,—and prayed unto Yahweh. Then gat he up, and lay upon the child, and put his own mouth upon his’ mouth, and his own’ eyes upon his’ eyes, and his own’ hands upon his’ hands, and bowed himself upon him,—and the flesh of the child waxed warm. Then returned he, and walked in the house,—once to and fro, and then went up and bowed himself upon him,—and the boy sneezed’ as many as seven times, and the boy opened his eyes. Then called he Gehazi, and said—Call this Shunammiteess. So he called her, and <when she was come in unto him> he said—Take up thy son.

So she came in, and fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the ground,—and took up her son, and went forth.

Now ||Elisha|| returned to Gilgal, and there was ||a famine|| in the land, and <||the sons of the prophets||> being seated before him> he said to his young man—Put on the large pot, and boil a mess of food, for the sons of the prophets.

And one went out into the field, to gather herbs, and found a vine in the field, and gathered thereof wild gourds, his lap full,—and came in, and sliced them into the pot; for they knew them not. So they poured out for the men to eat,—and it came so pass <as they were eating of the mess> that ||they|| made outcry and said—Death in the pot, O man of God! And they could not eat. And he said—Then fetch’ meal. And he cast it into the pot,—and then said—

   Give to the people, that they may eat.

43 But his attendant said—

   How can I set before them remaining?

And he said—

   Give to the people, that they may eat, for Thus saith Yahweh,

They are about to eat and to leave remaining.

44 So he set before them, and they did eat and left remaining, according to the word of Yahweh.

§ 5. Naaman, a Syrian General, healed of Leprosy: Gehazi, Elisha’s Servant, smitten with that Plague.

Chapter 5.

1 Now was a great man in presence of his lord, and held in honour, because had Yahweh given deliverance to Syria, and was a hero of valour. Now had gone out in companies, and had brought back out of the land of Israel, a little maiden,—who became an attendant on the wife of Naaman.

3 And she said unto her mistress,

   Ah! would that my lord were before the prophet, who is in Samaria! would he set him free from his leprosy.

4 And he went in and told his lord, saying,—

   Hath spoken the maiden' who is of the land of Israel!

5 And the king of Syria said—

   Go, get in, that I may send a letter unto the king of Israel.

So he went, and took in his hand ten talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiment. And he brought in the letter unto the king of Israel, saying, therefore when this letter cometh in unto thee! lo! I have sent unto thee, Naaman my servant, and thou shalt set him free from his leprosy.

7 And it came to pass that he rent his clothes, and said, Am to kill and to make alive, that man is sending unto me, to set one free from his leprosy,—but of a truth, just mark, I pray you, and see, that he' is seeking an occasion against me.

8 And it was so that Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes that he sent unto the king, saying—

   Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come, I pray thee, unto me, that he may get to know that there is a prophet in Israel.

9 So came, with his horses and with his chariot, and stood at the entrance of the house of Elisha; and Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying,—

   Go and bathe seven times in the Jordan, so shall thy flesh come back to thee, and be thou clean.

11 But Naaman was wroth, and went away,—and said—

   Lo! I thought will he come right out, and take his stand, and call on the name of Yahweh his God, and wave his hand towards the spot, and so set free the leper.

12 Are not Abanan and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? may I not bathe in them, and be clean? So he turned, and went away in a rage. Then drew near his servants, and spake unto him, and said—

   My father! hath the prophet commanded thee? wouldst thou not have done it? then how much rather when he hath said unto thee,

   Bathe and be clean?

14 Then he went down, and dipped himself in the Jordan, seven times, according to the word of the man of God: and his flesh came back, as the flesh of a little child, and he was clean. And he returned unto the man of God, he and all his company; and came, and took his stand before him, and said—

Lo! I pray thee—I know* that there is no' God in all the earth, save in Israel.—||[now]| therefore, I pray thee, accept a blessingb from thy servant.

16But he said—
<By the life of Yahweh, before whom I stand> I will not accept one.
And <though he urged him to accept it> yet did he refuse. 17 Then said Naaman, Shall there not, then, I pray thee, be given to thy servant, two mules’ burden of earth? For thy servant will henceforth offer neither ascending-offering nor sacrifice to other gods, save only to Yahweh.

18<In this thing> Yahweh grant forgiveness to thy servant,—<When my lord entereh the house of Rimmon, to bow down therein, he leaning upon my hand, and so I bow down in the house of Rimmon, when heb boweth down in the house of Rimmon> Yahweh, I pray,c grant forgiveness to thy servant, in this thing.

19And he said unto him—
Go and prosper!
But <when he had gone from him some distance>
20Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God [said]—
Lo! my lord hath restrained this Naaman the Syrian, by not taking at his hand that which he brought!
<By the life of Yahweh> ||[verily] I will rund after him, and accept of him ||[something]].

21So Gehazi hastened after Naaman. And <when Naaman saw one running after him> he alighted from his chariot to meet him, and said,—
Is all well?

22And he said,
All is well. ||[My lord] hath sent me to say,
Lo! ||[just now] have come unto me, two young men out of the hill country of Ephraim, of the sons of the prophets,—give for them, I pray thee, a talent, of silver, and two changes of raiment.

23And Naaman said,
Be content, accepte two’ talents.
So he urged him, and bound up two talents of silver in two bags, and two changes of raiment, and laid them upon two of his young men, and they bare them before him. 24 And <when he came to the hill-tower> he took them from their hand, and put them in charge within,—and let the men go, and they departed. 25 Now <when ||he|| came in and stood before his lord> Elisha said unto him,
Whence comest thou, Gehazi?
And he said—
Thy servant hath been neither hither nor thither.

26Then he said unto him—
||[My heart] had not gone with thee, when someone turned again from off his chariot, to meet thee!
Is it a time to accept silver, or to accept raiment, or oliveyards, or vineyards, or flocks or herds, or men-servants, or maid-servants?

27||[The leprosy of Naaman] therefore, shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed, to times age-abiding.
And he went forth from before him—||[a leper—like snow]].

§ 6. The Sons of the Prophets rebuild their Auditorium: Elisha causes Iron to swim.

Chapter 6.

1And the sons of the prophets said unto Elisha,—
See, we pray thee, ||the place wherein we sit before thee|| is too strait for us.

2Let us go, we pray thee, as far as the Jordan, and fetch from thence every man a single beam, and let us make us a place wherein we may sit.

And he said—
Go ye.

3Then said one—
Be content, we pray thee, and go with thy servants.

And he said—
||[I myself] will go.

4So he went with them,—and <when they came to the Jordan> they cut down wood. 5 And it came to pass <as one was felling a branch> that ||[the axe-head] fell into the water, so he made outcry and said—
Alas! my lord, for ||[it] was borrowed!

6And the man of God said—
Where fell it?

§ 7. For Revealing the Plots of the Syrian King, a Force is sent to take Elisha, but is smitten with Blindness and taken into Samaria.

8 Now ||the king of Syria|| was making war against Israel,—so he took counsel with his servants, saying—
<In such and such a place> shall be my encampment.

9 The man of God, therefore, sent unto the king of Israel, saying—Beware of passing by this place,—for <thither> are the Syrians’ coming down.

10 So the king of Israel sent unto the place whereof the man of God had spoken to him and warned him, and was on his guard there,—||not once nor twice||. 11 Then was the heart of the king of Syria disquieted concerning this thing,—and he called his servants, and said unto them,
Will ye not tell me, who of our men are for the king of Israel?

12 Then said one of his servants,
None, my lord O king,—but ||Elisha, the prophet, who is in Israel|| telleth the king of Israel the words which thou speakest in thy bed-chamber.

13 And he said—
Go, and see where’ he is’, that I may send and take him.
And it was told him, saying—
Lo! in Dothan.

14 Therefore sent he thither—horses and chariots, and a strong force,—and they came in by night, and encompassed the city. 15 And <when the attendant of the man of God arose early and went forth> lo! a force’ surrounding the city, with horses and chariots. Then said his young man unto him—
Alas! my lord, what’ shall we do?

16 And he said—
Do not fear,—for <more> are [they who are with us] than [they who are with them].

17 Then prayed Elisha, and said,
O Yahweh! open, I beseech thee, his eyes, that he may see.
And Yahweh opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw, and lo! ||[the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire, round about Elisha]]||. 18 And <when they came down to him> Elisha prayed unto Yahweh, and said—
Smite, I beseech thee, this people, with sudden blindness.||
And he smote them with sudden blindness, ||according to the word of Elisha||. 19 Then Elisha said unto them—
||This is not the way, neither is this the city, follow me, that I may lead you unto the man, whom ye would secure!||
So he led them to Samaria. 20 And it came to pass <when they had entered Samaria> that Elisha said, O Yahweh! open the eyes of these men, that they may see!
And Yahweh opened their eyes, and they saw, and lo! they were in the midst of Samaria! 21 Then said the king of Israel unto Elisha, when he saw them,— Shall I smite—shall I smite, my father?

22 And he said—
Thou shalt not smite. <Them whom thou hast taken captive with thy sword and with thy bow> wouldst thou have been smiting?
Set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go their way unto their lord.d

23 And he made for them a great feast, and <when they had eaten and drunk> he let them go, and they went their way unto their lord. So then, troops of Syrians came again [no more] into the land of Israel.

§ 8. Ben-hadad besieges Samaria, causing a severe Famine, the End of which Elisha foretells and Four Lepers announce.

24 But it came to pass <after this> that Ben-hadad king of Syria gathered together all his host,—and came up and laid siege against Samaria. 25 And there came to be ||a great famine|| in Samaria, and lo! they continuedd the siege against it,—until an ass’s head was sold for eighty pieces of silver, and one pint of dove’s dung for five pieces of silver. 26

¶This day¶ is [a day of good tidings] and ¶we¶ are holding our peace, ¶if we tarry until the light of the morning¶ there will come upon us [some misfortune],—

¶Now¶ therefore, come and let us go in, and tell the household of the king.

10 So they came in and called unto the gate of the city, and told them, saying, We entered into the camp of the Syrians, and lo! there was not there [a man] nor sound of human being,—only horses tied, and asses tied, and their tents, ¶just as they were!!

11 And the watchers of the gate called9 and told it to the household of the king [within]. 12 Then arose the king by night, and said unto his servants, Let me tell you, I pray you, what the Syrians have done8 to us,—they knew that we were ¶famished,¶ so they have gone forth out of the camp, to hide in the field, saying,

¶When they come forth out of the city¶ then shall we take them alive, and ¶into the city¶ will we enter.

13 Then responded one of his servants, and said—

Let there be taken, I pray thee, five of the horses that remain, which have been left therein, ¶there they are!¶ according to all the multitude of Israel who have been left therein ¶there they are!¶ according to all the multitude of Israel!! who have been consumed,—and let us send and see!

14 So they took two chariots and horses,—and the king sent after the host of the Syrians, saying, Go and see!

15 And they followed them as far as the Jordan, and lo! ¶all the way!¶ was full of garments, and utensils, which the Syrians had cast away in their fright,—and the messengers returned, and told the king. 16 Then went the people forth and spoiled the camp of the Syrians,—and so there came to be—

7 And Elisha came into Damascus, when ||Ben-Hadad king of Syria|| was sick,—and it was told him, saying,

The man of God hath come’ as far as this place.

8 So the king said unto Hazael—

Take in thy hand a present, and go to meet the man of God,—so shalt thou enquire of Yahweh, from him, saying,

9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a present in before him, and said—

And he said—

Because I know what thou wilt do to the sons of Israel, by way of harm—

<Their fortresses> thou wilt set on fire,

And <their choice young men> |with the sword| thou wilt slay,

And <their children> thou wilt dash in pieces,

§ 12. The Reign of Ahaziah, Son of Jehoram, over Judah.

25 <In the twelfth year of Joram of Ahab king of Israel> did Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah begin to reign. 26 <Two and twenty years old> was Ahaziah when he began to reign,—and <one year> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and ||[his mother’s name]|| was Athaliah, daughter of Omri, king of Israel. 27 And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh, like the house of Ahab,—for <son-in-law of the house of Ahab> was ||[he]].

28 And he went with Joram son of Ahab, to make war against Hazael king of Syria, in Ramoth-gilead,—and the Syrians wounded Joram. 29 So Joram the king returned to get healed in Jezreel, from the wounds wherewith the Syrians had wounded him in Ramah, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria,—and ||[Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah]|| went down to see Joram son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he’ ||[was sick]].

§ 13. Elisha sends and anoints Jehu to destroy the House of Ahab and to reign over Israel; which Commission he executes, slaying also Ahaziah King of Judah; but fails in One Thing.

Chapter 9.

1 Now ||[Elisha the prophet]|| called one of the sons of the prophets,—and said to him—

Gird up thy loins, and take this flask of oil in thy hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead; 2 and <when thou art come in thither> then look thee out there, ||[Jehu son of Jehoshaphat, son of Nimshi]||; and thou shalt enter and get him to rise up out of the midst of his brethren, and take him into an inner chamber; 3 then shalt thou take the flask of oil, and pour out upon his head, and say—

||[Thus]|| saith Yahweh,

I have anointed thee to be king unto Israel!b
Then shalt thou open the door and flee, and not tarry.

4 So the young man went his way—the young man the prophet—unto Ramoth-gilead. 5 And <when he came up> lo! ||[the captains of the force]|| sitting, and he said—

||[A word]|| have I, for thee, O captain!

And Jehu said—

For which, of us all?

And he said,—

For thee, O captain!

6 Then rose he up and went inside, and poured out the oil upon his head, and said unto him—

||[Thus]|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel,

I have anointed thee to be king unto the people of Yahweh, unto Israel; 7 and thou shalt smite the house of Ahab thy lord,—so will I avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of Yahweh, at the hand of Jezebel, 8 so shall perish all the house of Ahab,—and I will cut off to Ahab the meanest, both him that is shut up and him that is left at large, in Israel.

9 Yea I will deliver up the house of Ahab, Like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat,— And like the house of Baasha son of Ahijah:

10 And <as for Jezebel> the dogs shall eat [her], in the town-land of Jezreel, [there being none] to bury her.

And he opened the door, and fled.

11 Then ||[Jehu]|| came forth unto the servants of his lord, and one spoke to him—

Is all well? [why] came this madman unto thee?
And he said unto them, ||[Ye]|| know, the man and his message.

12 And they said—

False! pray tell [us].
And he said—

<Thus and thus> spake he unto me, saying, ||[Thus]|| saith Yahweh,

I have anointed thee to be king unto[d] Israel.

13 Then hasted they, and took, every man his garment, and put it under him, upon the very steps,—and blew with a horn, and said, Jehu is king!

14 Thus did Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi conspire against Joram,—when ||[Joram]|| was watching Ramoth-gilead, ||[he and all Israel]|| because of Hazael king of Syria.

15 But Jehoram the king had returned to get himself healed in Jezreel, of the wounds wherewith the Syrians had wounded him, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. Then said Jehu—

   “If such is your mind” let no fugitive get forth out of the city, to go and tell it in Jezreel.

16 So Jehu rode in a chariot, and went towards Jezreel, for Joram was lying there,—and ||Ahaziah king of Judah|| had come down to see Joram.\(^1\) Now ||the watchman|| was standing upon the tower, in Jezreel, so he saw the great company of Jehu, when he came, and said—

   ||A great company|| can I see!

Then said Jehoram—

   Take a horseman\(^2\) and send to meet them, that he may say—

   Is it peace?

18 So the horseman went to meet him, and said—

   ||Thus|| saith the king, Is it peace?

And Jehu said—

   What hast thou to do with peace?\(^3\) turn thee behind me.

And the watchman told, saying,

   The messenger came up to them, but hath not turned back.

19 Then sent he a second horseman, and he came up to them and said,

   ||Thus|| saith the king, Is it peace?\(^4\)

And Jehu said—

   What hast thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me.

20 And the watchman told, saying,

   He came up to them, but hath not turned back,— and ||the driving|| is like the driving of Jehu son of Nimshi; for <with mad haste> doth he drive.

21 Then said Jehoram,

   Harness!

So one harnessed his chariot,—and Jehoram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went forth, each man in his chariot, yea they went forth to meet Jehu, and came upon him in the heritage of Naboth the Jezreelite.\(^2\) And it came to pass <when Jehoram saw Jehu> that he said—

   Is it peace, Jehu?

And he said—

   What can be the peace, while thy mother Jezebel’s harlotries and her incantations do so abound?

23 Then Jehoram turned his hands, and fled,—and said unto Ahaziah—

   Treachery! O Ahaziah!

24 And ||Jehu|| bent his bow, and smote Jehoram, between his arms,—and the arrow came out at his heart,—and he sank down in his chariot.\(^2\) Then said he unto Bidkar his officer,

   Take [him] up, [and] cast him forth, into the field-portion of Naboth the Jezreelite,—for remember <when I and thou were riding as a couple together after Ahab his father> that ||Yahweh|| laid upon him this doom:

   Surely <the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons> have I lately seen,

   Declareth Yahweh,

   Therefore will I requite thee in this portion,

   Declareth Yahweh.

26 ||Now|| therefore, take [him] up, [and] cast him forth into the portion, [according to the word of Yahweh].

27 And ||Ahaziah king of Judah|| saw it, and fled by the way of the garden house,—and Jehu pursued him, and said—

   <Him also!> smite him in the chariot!

It was in the ascent of Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to Mepidgo, and died there.\(^2\) And his servants conveyed him in a chariot and brought him into Jerusalem,—and buried him in his sepulchre, with his fathers, in the city of David.\(^2\) Now it was <in the eleventh year of Joram son of Ahab> that Ahaziah began to reign over Judah.

29 Now <when Jehu entered’ Jezreel and ||Jezebel|| heard of it> she set her eyes in stibium, and ornamented her head, and looked forth through the lattice.\(^3\) So <when ||Jehu|| had entered in at the gate> she said,

   Was it peace, when Zimri slew his lord?

30 And he lifted up his face unto the lattice, and said—

   |Who| is with me? |Who|?

And there looked out unto him, two or three eunuchs.\(^3\) And he said—

   Hurl her down.

And they hurled her down,—and there was sprinkled of her blood—upon the wall, and upon the horses, and they trode upon her.

34 And <when he had entered and eaten and drunk> he said—

Look, I pray you, after this accursed woman, and bury her, for <the daughter of a king> she is'.

35 So they went’ to bury her,—but found not of her—save the skull, and the feet, and the palms of the hands. 36 Then came they back, and told him, and he said—

<The word of Yahweh> it is’, which he spake by the hand of his servant, Elijah the Tishbite, saying—

<In the town-land of Jezreel>

Shall dogs’ eat the flesh of Jezebel!

37 So shall the carcass of Jezebel

Become like heaps of dung on the face of the field, a in the town-land of Jezreel:

So that they cannot say,

Chapter 10.

1 Now ||Ahab|| had seventy sons in Samaria,—so Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria unto the rulers of Jezreel—the b elders, and unto them who had been foster-parents for Ahab, saying:

2 ||Now|| therefore, <when this letter cometh in unto you, there being [with you] the sons of your lord,—and [with you] the chariots and the homes, and a fortified city, c and the armour> 3 ye shall look out the goodliest and fittest of the sons of your lord, and set on the throne of his father, and ye shall do battle for the house of your lord.

4 Then feared they very greatly, and said,

Lo! ||two kings|| stood not before him; |how then| should ||we|| stand?

5 So he that was over the house, and he that was over the city, and the elders, and the foster-parents sent’ unto Jehu, saying—

<Thy servants> we are!‘

And <all that thou shalt say unto us> will we do,—

We will make no' man king,

6 Then wrote he unto them a second’ letter, saying—

≤If <mine> ye are’, and <unto my voice> ye intend to hearken> take ye the heads of the men d who are sons of your lord; e and come in unto me about this time to-morrow, in Jezreel.

Now ||[the sons of the king, seventy persons]|| were with the great men of the city, who had been bringing them up. 7 And it came to pass <when the letter reached them> that they took the sons of the king, and slew them, f seventy persons,—and put their heads in baskets, and sent unto him, to Jezreel. 8 And there came in a messenger and told him saying,

They have brought in the heads of the sons of the king.

And he said—

Lay ye them in two heaps, at the entrance of the gate, until the morning.

9 And it came to pass <in the morning> that he went out and took his stand, and said unto all the people,

||[Righteous]|| are [ye]!

Lo! ![||]|| conspired against my lord, and slew him, but [who] smote ||[all these]||?

10 Know ye, then, that there shall fall nought of the word of Yahweh to the ground, which Yahweh spake concerning the house of Ahab,—but ||[Yahweh]|| hath done that which he spake through his servant Elijah.

11 Then Jehu smote all that were left remaining unto the house of Ahab, in Jezreel, and all his great men, and his acquaintances and his priests,—until there was not left remaining to him [a survivor]. 12 Then arose he, and came in, and departed for Samaria,—||[the sheep-shearing house itself being on the road]||; 13 so ![||]|| lighted upon the brethren of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said,—

Who' are ![||]||?

And they said—

<Brethren of Ahaziah> are ![||]; so we came down to salute the sons of the king, and the sons of the queen.

14 Then said he—

Take them alive.

So they took them alive, and slew them [casting them] into the pit of the shearing house,—forty-two men, neither left he remaining a man of them.a

Then departed he from thence, and lighted on Jehonadab son of Rechab coming to meet him, and he blessed him, and said unto him—

Is’ thy heart [right], as my heart is with thy heart? And Jehonadab said—

It is’. Then <if it is> give me thy hand. So he gave him his hand. And he took him up to him, into the charriot; 16 and said—

Do come with me, and see my jealousy for Yahweh. So heb made him ride in his charriot. And <when he came into Samaria> he smote all that were left remaining unto Ahab, in Samaria, until he had destroyed him,—according to the word of Yahweh, which he had spoken unto Elijah. Then Jehu gathered together all the people, and said unto them,—

||Ahab|| served Baal |a little|,—||Jehu|| will serve him |much|. ||Now||, therefore, <all the prophets of Baal, all his servants and all his priests> call ye for me; do not let ||a man|| be missing; for ||a great sacrifice|| have I, to Baal, ||no one that is missing|| shall live. But ||Jehu|| acted |craftily| to the end he might destroy the servants of Baal. And Jehu said—

Hallow ye a solemn festival unto Baal. And they made proclamation. 21 And Jehu sent throughout all Israel, and all the servants of Baal came in, so that there was not left remaining a man, who had not come in,—and they entered the house of Baal, and the house of Baal was filled, from door to door. 22 Then said he to him who was over the wardrobe chamber,

Bring forth vestments for all the servants of Baal. And he brought forth for them the vestments. Then entered Jehu, with Jehonadab son of Rechab, into the house of Baal,—and he said unto the servants of Baal—

Search ye and see, that there be’ not here, with you, any of the servants of Yahweh, ||none but the servants of Baal, alone||.

And <when they entered to offer sacrifices and ascending-offerings> ||Jehu|| set him |outside| eighty men, and said—

<The man who shall escape, of the men whom I’ am bringing into your power> ||his own life||d shall be for |his’ life|. 25 And it came to pass <as soon as he had made an end of offering the ascending-sacrifice> that Jehu said to the runners and to the officers—

Enter, smite them, let not ||a man|| get out. So they smote them, with the edge of the sword,—and the runners and the officers cast them out, and then went as far as the city of the house of Baal, 26 and brought forth the idolatrous pillars that were in the house of Baal, and then burned it; 27 and they brake down the pillars of Baal,—and brake down the house of Baal, and appointed it for a sewer-house—until this day. 28 Thus Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel. Nevertheless <as for the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he caused [Israel] to commit> Jehu turned not away from following them,—||the calves of gold, one being in Bethel, and the other in Dan. 30 And Yahweh said unto Jehu:

Because thou hast done well, by doing that which was right in mine eyes—<according to all that was in my heart> hast done to the house of Ahab|≥ ||sons|| of thine ||unto the fourth generation|| shall sit upon the throne of Israel. 31 But ||Jehu|| took not heed to walk in the law of Yahweh God of Israel, with all his heart,—he turned not away from the sins of Jeroboam, which he caused [[Israel]] to commit. 32 <In those days> began Yahweh to make inroads in Israel,—and Hazael smote them in all the boundaries of Israel; 33 <from the Jordan, towards sunrise> all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, and the Reubenites, and the Manassites,—from Arroer, which is by the torrent of Arnon, ||both Gilead and Bashan||.

§ 14. The murderous Design of Athaliah frustrated; Joash (=Jehoash) preserved and made King over Judah. His Reign.

Chapter 11.

1 Now <when ||Athaliah, a mother of Ahaziah|| saw' that her son was dead> she arose and destroyed all the seed royal. 2 But Jehosheba, daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took Joash son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons that were being slain—||him and his nurse|| into the bedchamber.—so she hid him from the face of Athaliah, that he was not slain. 3 And he was with her, in the house of Yahweh, hiding himself, six years,—while ||Athaliah|| was reigning over the land.

4 But <in the seventh year> Jehoiada sent and took the captains over hundreds, of the Carian body-guard, and of the runners, and brought them unto him, in the house of Yahweh,—and <when he had solemnised a Covenant with them, and put them on oath, in the house of Yahweh> then shewed he them the king's son; 5 and commanded them, saying—

||This|| is the thing which ye must do,—||A third part of you|| will be coming in on the sabbath, and keeping the watch of the house of the king; 6 and ||a third|| in the side-gate; and ||a third|| in the gate behind the runners,—so shall ye keep the watch of the house [by turns]. 7 And ||two parts of you|| are all that are going out on the sabbath,—so shall ye keep the watch of the house of Yahweh, as touching the king.

8 Thus shall ye encompass the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand, and ||he that cometh within the ranks|| let him be slain,—so be ye with the king, when he cometh out and when he goeth in.

9 And the captains of hundreds did' according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded, and they took every man his men who were coming in on the sabbath, with them who were going out on the sabbath,—and came unto Jehoiada the priest. 10 And the priest gave unto the captains of hundreds the spears and the shields which belonged to King David,—which were in the house of Yahweh. 11 And the runners stood, every man with his weapons in his hand, from the right corner of the house, as far as the left corner of the house, by the altar and the house,—near the king, round about.

12 Then brought he forth the king's son, and set upon him the crown, and the scepter, and the priest gave unto the captains of hundreds the spears and the shields which belonged to King David,—which were in the house of Yahweh. 13 And Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of hundreds—officers of the force, and said unto them—

Take her forth into the inside of the ranks, and ||he that cometh in after her|| [ye are] to slay with the sword.

For the priest said,

Let her not be slain, in the house of Yahweh.

16 So they made way for her, and she entered the road by which the horses approached the house of the king, and was slain there.

17 And Jehoiada solemnised a covenant between Yahweh, and the king, and the people, that they should become a people unto Yahweh,—also between the king and the people. 18 And all the people of the land entered the house of Baal, and brake it down, <his altars and his images> brake they in pieces [utterly], and <Mattan the priest of Baal> they slew before the altars,—and the priest appointed officers over the house of Yahweh. 19 And he took the captains of hundreds, and the Carian bodyguard, and the runners, and all the people of the land, and they brought down the king out of the house of Yahweh, and they came, by way of the gate of the runners, into the house of the king,—and he took his seat on the throne of the kings; 20 and all the people of the land rejoiced, and ||the city|| had rest,—when they had put ||Athaliah|| to death with the sword, in the house of the king. b 21 ||Seven years old|| was Jehoash, when he began to reign.

Chapter 12.

1 <In the seventh year of Jehu> began Jehoash to reign, and <forty years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and ||the name of his mother|| was Zibiah of Beer-sheba. 2 And Jehoash did that which was right in the eyes of Yahweh all his days,—whereunto ||Jehoiada the priest|| instructed him: 3 [save only] that <the high places> took they not away,—still were the people sacrificing and burning incense in the high places.

4 And Jehoash said unto the priests—

<All the silver of the hallowed things, that is brought into the house of Yahweh—the silver of one who transgresseth, the silver of [their] persons by the estimate of [each one],—all the silver which it cometh into any man’s heart to bring into the house of Yahweh—> 5 let the priests take to them, every one from his acquaintance,—and let ||[them]|| repair the breaches of the house, ||[wheresoever there may be found a breach]].

6 But it came to pass, that <in the twenty-third year of King Jehoash> the priests had not repaired the breaches of the house. 7 So King Jehoash called for Jehoiada the priest, and for the other priests, and said unto them—

Why are ye not’ repairing the breaches of the house?

||Now|| therefore, do not take silver from your acquaintances, for <to [repair] the breaches of the house> ought ye to have given it?

8 The priests therefore consented, not to take silver from the people, and not to repair the breaches of the house. 9 Then took Jehoiada a certain chest, and bored a hole in the door thereof,—and set it beside the altar, on the right as one entereth into the house of Yahweh, and the priests that kept the entrance-hall, used to put therein—all the silver that was brought into the house of Yahweh. 10 And it came to pass <when they saw that there was much silver in the chest> that the king’s scribe and the high priest came up, and brought together and counted the silver that was found in the house of Yahweh; 11 then used they to give the silver that had been weighed out, into the hands of the doers of the work, who had oversight of the house of Yahweh,—and they brought it forth, to the carpenters, and to the builders, who were working upon the house of Yahweh; 12 and to the masons, and to the hewers of stone, and to buy timber, and hewn stone, for repairing the breaches of the house of Yahweh,—and to every one that went out upon the house, to repair it. 13 Howbeit there were not made for the house of Yahweh, bowls of silver, snuffers, dashing basins, trumpets, any vessel of gold, or any vessel of silver,—out of the silver that was brought into the house of Yahweh; 14 for <to the doers of the work> used they to give it; and so they repaired, therewith, the house of Yahweh. 15 And they used not to reckon with the men into whose hands they gave the silver, to give it to the doers of the work, because <with faithfulness> were [they] dealing. 16 ||Silver for guilt-offerings and silver for sin-offerings|| was not brought into the house of Yahweh,—<to the priests> they d belonged.

17 ||Then|| came up Hazael, king of Syria, and fought against Gath, and captured it,—so Hazael set his face to go up against Jerusalem. 18 Therefore did Jehoash, king of Judah, take all the hallowed things which Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah, his fathers, kings of Judah, had hallowed, and his own hallowed things, and all the gold that was found in the treasuries of the house.

19 Now <the rest of the story of Joash, a and all that he did> are [they] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

20 And his servants arose and made a conspiracy, and smote Joash, in the house of Millo which goeth down to Silla. 21 Yea ||Joazabah son of Shimeath and Jehozabad son of Shomer, his servants|] smote him, that he died, and he was buried with his fathers, in the city of David,—and |Amaziah his son| reigned |in his stead|.

§ 15. Jehoahaz Son of Jehu reigns over Israel (wicked).

Chapter 13.

1 <In the twenty-third year of Joash son of Ahaziah|] king of Judah> began Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, to reign over Israel, in Samaria, [and he reigned] seventeen years. 2 And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—and went after the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat which he caused |Israel| to commit, he departed not therefrom. 3 Then was kindled the anger of Yahweh against Israel—and he delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Syria, and into the hand of Ben-hadad son of Hazael, continually. 4 And Jehoahaz appeased the face of Yahweh,—and Yahweh hearkened unto him, because he had seen the oppression of Israel, for that |the king of Syria| oppressed them.

5 So Yahweh gave unto Israel a saviour, and they went forth from under the hand of Syria,—and the sons of Israel dwelt in their own homes, as aforetime. 6 Howbeit they departed not from the sins of the house of Jeroboam which he caused |Israel| to commit, |therein| they walked,—moreover also |the Sacred Stem| still stood in Samaria. 7 For he had not left remaining unto Jehoahaz a people, save only fifty horsemen, and ten chariots, and ten thousand footmen,—for the king of Syria had destroyed them, and had made them like dust in threshing.

8 Now <the rest of the story of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his might> are |they| not written in the book of the Chronicles of Israel? 9 So then Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria,—and |Joash his son| reigned |in his stead|.

§ 16. Joash (=Jehoash) son of Jehoahaz reigns over Israel (wicked). The Death and Burial of Elisha.

10 <In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah> began Jehoash son of Jehoahaz to reign over Israel, in Samaria, [and he reigned] sixteen years. 11 And he did that which was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—he turned not away from all the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he caused |Israel| to commit, |therein| he walked.

12 Now <the rest of the story of Joash, and all that he did, and his might, wherewith he fought against Amaziah king of Judah> are |they| not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 13 So then Joash slept with his fathers, and |Jeroboam| took his seat on his throne,—and Joash was buried in Samaria, with the kings of Israel.

14 Now ||Elisha|] had fallen sick of his sickness whereof he was about to die,—so then Joash king of Israel came down unto him, and wept upon his face, and said,

My father! my father!

The chariots of Israel and the horsemen thereof!

15 And Elisha said unto him,

Take bow and arrows.

So he took unto him bow and arrows. 16 Then said he unto the king of Israel, Let thy hand rest upon the bow.

So he let his hand rest thereon. Then Elisha put his own hands upon the hands of the king; 17 and said—

Open the lattice eastward.

And he opened it. Then said Elisha—

Shoot!

§ 22. Ahaz succeeds Jotham as king over Judah.

Chapter 16.

In the seventeenth year of Pekah son of Remaliah began Ahaz son of Jotham king of Judah to reign. Twenty years old was Ahaz when he began to reign, and sixteen years he had reigned in Jerusalem. And he did not that which was right in the eyes of Yahweh, like David his father; but walked in the way of the kings of Israel, moreover also he made his son pass through the fire, according to the abominable practices of the nations, whom Yahweh dispossessed from before the sons of Israel; and he offered sacrifice and burned incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree. Then came up Rezin king of Syria, and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel, unto Jerusalem, to make war, and they laid siege against Ahaz, but could not overcome him.

At that time Rezin king of Syria recovered Elath, to Syria, and wholly cleared out the Jews from Edath, and entered Elath, and have dwelt there unto this day. So Ahaz sent messengers unto Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, Come up and save me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Israel, who are rising up against me.

And Ahaz took the silver and the gold that was found in the house of Yahweh, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and sent them to the king of Assyria, as a bribe. So the king of Assyria hearkened unto him, and the king of Assyria came up unto Damascus, and seized it, and carried away the people thereof captive to Kir, and put the king of Damascus to death.

So then King Ahaz went to meet Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, in Damascus, and saw the altar which was in Damascus, and King Ahaz sent unto Urijah the priest, a likeness of the altar, and a model thereof according to all the workmanship thereof; and Urijah the priest built an altar,—according to all that King Ahaz sent from Damascus. Did Urijah the priest make it, by the time King Ahaz came from Damascus. And § 23. Hoshea reigns over Israel, and becomes tributary to Shalmaneser king of Assyria, who besieges Samaria and carries Israel into Captivity.

Chapter 17.

1 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah began Hoshea son of Elah to reign in Samaria, over Israel, [and he reigned] nine years. 2 And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—only not like the kings of Israel who were before him. 3 ||Against him|| came up Shalmaneser king of Assyria,—and Hoshea became his servant, and rendered him a present. 4 Then found the king of Assyria, in Hoshea, a conspiracy, in that he had sent messengers unto So4 king of Egypt, and had not brought up a present to the king of Assyria, as [he had done] year by year,—therefore the king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison. 5 And the king of Assyria came up throughout all the land,—yea he came up to Samaria and besieged it three years. 6 In the ninth year of Hoshea did the king of Assyria capture Samaria, and carried Israel away captive to Assyria,—and settled them in Halah, and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and the mountains of Media.

7 And thus it came to pass that Israel sinned against Yahweh their God, who brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt,—yea they did reverence to other gods; 8 and walked in the statutes of the nations, whom Yahweh had dispossessed from before the sons of Israel,—and [in the statutes] of the kings of Israel, [which they had made]. 9 And the sons of Israel did [secretly] things which were not right, against Yahweh their God,—and built for themselves high places in all their cities, from the watchmen’s tower, to the fortified city. 10 And they set up for themselves pillars and Sacred Stems, upon every high hill, and under every green tree; 11 and burned incense there, in all the high places, like the nations whom Yahweh drive out from before them,—and did things that were wicked, so as to provoke Yahweh to anger; 12 and they served the manufactured gods, a as to which Yahweh had said to them, Ye shall not do this thing.

13 And Yahweh testified against Israel and against Judah, through all his prophets—every one who had a vision, c saying—

Turn ye from your wicked ways, And keep my commandments, my statutes, d According to all the law' which I commanded your fathers; And which I sent unto you’ through my servants the prophets.

14 Howbeit they hearkened not,—but stiffened their neck, like the neck of their fathers, who trusted not in Yahweh their God; 15 but rejected his statutes, and his covenant, which he solemnismed with their fathers, and his testimonies wherewith he testified against them,—and followed vanity, f and became vain, and followed the nations that were round about them, as to whom Yahweh charged them', so that they should not do like them. 16 But they forsook all the commandments of Yahweh their God, and made for themselves something molten—two calves, and made a Sacred Stem, g and bowed themselves down to all the army of the heavens, and served Baal; 17 and made their sons and their daughters pass through the fire, and used divinations and enchantments, and sold themselves to do the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh, provoking him to wrath. 18 So Yahweh shewed himself exceeding angry with Israel, and removed them from his presence,—there was none left, save the tribe of Judah [alone]. 19 [Even Judah] kept not the commandments of Yahweh their God,—but walked in the statutes of Israel, [which they had made]. 20 So Yahweh rejected all the seed of Israel, and humiliated them, and delivered them into the hand of spoilers,—until he had cast them out from his presence; 21 for he rent Israel away from the house of David, and they made Jeroboam son of Nebat, king,—and Jeroboam thrust away Israel from following Yahweh, and caused them to commit a great sin. 22 And the sons of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he had committed,—they turned not away therefrom;

23 until that Yahweh removed Israel from his presence, according as he spake through all his servants the prophets,—and so Israel was driven away from off their own soil, to Assyria, until this day.

§ 25. The Mixed Worship resulting from the Assyrian Immigration into Samaria.

24 And the king of Assyria brought [men] from Babylon, and from Cuthah, and from Avvah, and from Hamath, and [from] Sepharvaim, h and caused them to dwell in the cities of Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof. 25 And so it was, that <when they first dwelt there> they revered not Yahweh,—therefore Yahweh sent among them, lions, which were slaying them. 26 Therefore spake they unto the king of Assyria, saying, |||The nations whom thou hast removed and settled in the cities of Samaria|| know not the custom of the God of the land,—and he hath sent among them lions, and lo! they are slaying them, because they know not the custom of the God of the land.

27 So the king of Assyria commanded, saying—

Carry thither, one of the priests, whom ye brought away captive from thence, that they may go, and dwell there,—and teach them the custom of the God of the land.

28 Then came one of the priests whom they had carried away captive from Samaria, and dwelt in Bethel,—and he began teaching them' how they should do reverence unto Yahweh. 29 Howbeit the nations severally were making their own gods,—and did put them in the houses of the high places, which [the Samaritans] had made, [each several nation] in their cities wherein [they] were dwelling.

Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria, and laid siege against it;
10 and he captured it at the end of three years, <in the sixth year of Hezekiah,—[the same] is the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel> was Samaria captured. 11 So the king of Assyria drove away Israel to Assyria,—and settled them in Halah, b and in Habor, by the river of Gozan, and the mountains c of Media: 12 because they hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh their God, but transgressed his covenant, all that Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded,—they neither hearkened nor performed.

And <in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah> came up Sennacherib king of Assyria, against all the fortified cities of Judah, and took them. 14 Then sent Hezekiah king of Judah unto the king of Assyria, to Lachish, saying—

I have sinned,

Return from me, <What thou shalt lay upon me> I will bear.

So the king of Assyria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Judah, three hundred talents of silver, and thirty talents of gold. 15 And Hezekiah delivered up all the silver that was found in the house of Yahweh, and in the treasuries of the house of the king. 16 <At that time> Hezekiah cut off the doors of the temple of Yahweh, and the columns, which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid,—and gave them unto the king of Assyria.

And the king of Assyria sent Tartan and Rab-saris and Rab-shakeh, from Lachish unto King Hezekiah, with a heavy force to Jerusalem,—so they came up and drew near to Jerusalem, and took their stand d by the upper channel of the pool, which is in the highway of the fuller’s field. 18 Then called they for the king, and there went out unto them Eliakim son of Hilkiah, e who was over the household,—and Shebnah, the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph, the recorder. 19 And Rab-shakeh said unto them—

31 Do not hearken unto Hezekiah,—for [Thus] saith the king of Assyria, Deal with me thankfully, and come out unto me,

Then shall ye eat— Every one of his own vine, And every one of his own fig-tree, And drink every one the waters of his own cistern;

32 Until I come and take you, into a land like your own land— A land of corn and new wine, A land of bread and vineyards, A land of oil olive and honey, So shall ye live, and not die,—

But do not hearken unto Hezekiah, For he would persuade you, saying, [Yahweh] will deliver us!

33 Have [the gods of the nations] at all delivered any one of them, his country, out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

34 Where are the gods of Hamath, and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivah?

Yea, did they deliver Samaria out of my hand?

35 Who are they, among all the gods of the countries, that have delivered their country, out of my hand,— That [Yahweh] should deliver [Jerusalem] out of my hand?

36 But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word,—for <the command of the king> it was, saying—

Ye must not answer him.

37 Then came in Eliakim son of Hilkiah who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder, unto Hezekiah, with rent clothes,—and they told him the words of Rab-shakeh.

Chapter 19.

1 And it came to pass <when King Hezekiah heard> that he rent his clothes,—and covered himself with sackcloth, and entered the house of Yahweh; 2 and sent Eliakim who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth,—unto Isaiah the prophet, son of Amoz; 3 and they said unto him—

[Thus] saith Hezekiah, <A day of trouble, and rebuke, and reviling> is this day,—

For children are come to the birth, and [strength] is there none' to bring forth!

4 It may be that Yahweh thy God will hear all the words of Rab-shakeh, whom the king of Assyria his lord hath sent, to reproach a Living God, and will rebuke the words, which Yahweh thy God hath heard,— Wherefore lift thou up a prayer, for the remnant that remaineth.

5 So the servants of King Hezekiah came unto Isaiah. 6 And Isaiah said unto them, [Thus] shall ye ||say|| unto your lord,— [Thus] saith Yahweh—

Be not thou afraid, because of the words which thou hast heard, wherewith the servants of the king of Assyria have reviled me:

7 Behold me! about to let go against him [a blast], and when he heareth the report then will he return to his own country,—and I will cause him to fall by the sword, in his own land.

8 So Rab-shakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah,—for he had heard that he had broken up from Lachish.

9 And when he heard say of Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, saying,

Lo! he hath come forth to fight with thee,—then he again sent messengers unto Hezekiah, saying—

10 ||Thus|| shall ye [speak] unto Hezekiah king of Judah, saying—

Let not thy God in whom thou’ art trusting beguile thee, saying,— Jerusalem shall not be given over, into the hand of the king of Assyria.

11 Lo! [thou thyself] hast heard, what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, in devoting them to destruction,—and shalt [thou] be delivered?

12 Did the gods of the nations [deliver them] whom my fathers destroyed, Gozan, and Haran,—and Rezeph, and the sons of Eden, who were in Telassar?

Where are the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim,—of Hena, and Ivvah?

13 And [when Hezekiah had received the letter at the hand of the messengers, and had read it] then went he up to the house of Yahweh, and Hezekiah spread it out before Yahweh. And Hezekiah prayed before Yahweh, and said,

O Yahweh, God of Israel, inhabiting the cherubim,

||Thou thyself|| art GOD, [alone], for all the kingdoms of the earth,—

||Thou|| didst make’ the heavens and the earth.

16 Bow down, O Yahweh, thine ear, and hear, Open, O Yahweh, thine eyes, and see,— Yea hear thou the words of Sennacherib, who hath sent—To reproach a Living God!

17 ||Of a truth|| O Yahweh,—the kings of Assyria have devoted to destruction’ the nations and their lands; and have put their gods in the fire,—for <no-gods> were [they], but the work of the hands of men—wood and stone, and so they destroyed them.

19 ||Now|| therefore, O Yahweh our God, save us we pray thee, out of his hand, That all the kingdoms of the earth may know,

That ||thou, Yahweh|| art God, [alone]!

20 Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent unto Hezekiah, saying,—

||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel,

<What thou hast prayed unto me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria> I have heard. ||This|| is the word that Yahweh hath spoken concerning him,—

The virgin daughter of Zion [laugheth thee to scorn, mocketh thee],

The daughter of Jerusalem ||after thee|| doth wag her head.

22 ||Whom|| hast thou reproached, and insulted?

And ||against whom|| hast thou lifted high thy voice?

Yea thou hast proudly raised thine eyes, ||against the Holy One of Israel||.

23 ||Through thy messengers|| thou hast reproached My Lord, and hast said—

<With my multitude of chariots> have I’ ascended

The height of the mountains,

The recesses of Lebanon,—

And have’ cut down

Its choicest firs,

And have’ entered

The shelter of its summit,

Its thick garden forests.

||Now|| have I brought it to pass, That thou mightest serve to lay waste, [in desolate ruins] ||fortified cities||;

And it came to pass <during that night> that the messenger of Yahweh went forth, and smote, in the camp of the Assyrians, a hundred and eighty-five thousand. And <when men arose early in the morning> lo! they were all |dead bodies|! 36 So Sennacherib king of Assyria brake up, and went his way, and returned,—and remained in Nineveh.

4 And it came to pass that Isaiah <had not gone out into the middle court> when the word of Yahweh came unto him, saying:
5 Return, and thou shalt say unto Hezekiah the leader of my people—
   "Thus saith Yahweh,
   God of David thy father,
   I have heard thy prayer,
   I have seen thy tears,—
   Behold me! about to heal thee,
   <On the third day> shalt thou go up unto the house of Yahweh;
6 And I will add unto thy days, fifteen years,
   And <out of the hand of the king of Assyria> will I deliver thee, and this city,—
   And will throw a covering over this city,
   For my own sake,
   And for the sake of David my servant.
7 And Isaiah said—
   Take ye a cake of figs.
   So they took and laid it upon the boil, and he recovered. 8 Now Hezekiah had said unto Isaiah,
   What sign is there, that Yahweh will heal me,— and that I shall go up on the third day, to the house of Yahweh?
9 And Isaiah said,—
   ||This' unto thee|| is the sign from Yahweh, that Yahweh will do the thing which he hath spoken,
   The shadow hath gone forward ten steps, shall it return ten steps?
10 And Hezekiah said—
   It is a light thing! for the shadow, to decline ten steps,—
   Nay, but let the shadow go back' ten steps.
11 And Isaiah the prophet cried unto Yahweh, and he caused the shadow on the steps by which it had gone down on the steps of Ahaz to go back, ten steps.
12 <At that time> Berodach-baladan son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present, unto Hezekiah,—for he had heard' that Hezekiah had been sick. 13 And Hezekiah hearkened unto them, and shewed them all his house of precious things—the silver, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and his armoury, and all that was found among his treasures,—there was [nothing] that Hezekiah shewed them not, in his house or in all his dominion. 14 Then came Isaiah the prophet unto King Hezekiah,—and said unto him—
   What said these men, and from whence came they unto thee?
And Hezekiah said,
   <From a land far off> came they—from Babylon.
15 And he said—
   What have they seen in thy house?
Then said Hezekiah—
   <All that is in my house> have they seen, there was [nothing] that I shewed them not, among my treasures.
16 Then said Isaiah unto Hezekiah,— Hear thou the word of Yahweh:
17 Lo! days' are coming, when all that is in thine house, and that thy fathers have treasured up, unto this day, shall be carried into Babylon,— nothing shall be left, saith Yahweh; 18 and <of thy sons who shall issue from thee, whom thou shalt beget> shall they take away,—and they shall become eunuchs, in the palace of the king of Babylon.
19 And Hezekiah said unto Isaiah—[Good] is the word of Yahweh, which thou hast spoken.
And he said—
   Is it not, that <peace and stability> there shall be in my days?
20 Now <the rest of the story of Hezekiah, and all his might, and how he made a pool and an aqueduct, and brought water into the city> are [they] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 21 So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and [Manasseh his son] reigned [in his stead].

§ 27. Manasseh’s wicked Reign over Judah: Judgments threatened.

Chapter 21.

1 <Twelve years old> was Manasseh when he began to reign, and <fifty-five years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and the name of his mother was Hephzibah. 2 And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—after the abominable practices of the nations, whom Yahweh had dispossessed from before the sons of Israel. 3 He again built the high places, which Hezekiah his father had destroyed,—and reared altars to Baal, and made a Sacred Stem, a as did Ahab, king of Israel, and bowed down to all the army of the heavens, and served them.

4 And he used to build altars in the house of Yahweh,—concerning which Yahweh had said,— [In Jerusalem] will I put my Name. And he built altars in all the high places of Jerusalem, and set the image of the Sacred Stem which he had made,—in the house, of which Yahweh had said unto David, and unto Solomon his son, <In this house, and in Jerusalem which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel> will I put my Name, unto times age-abiding; and I will not again let the foot of Israel wander away from the soil which I gave unto their fathers. Only if they take heed to do according to all that I have commanded them, even to the extent of all the law which [my servant Moses] commanded them. But they hearkened not,—and Manasseh led them astray to do the thing that was wicked, more than all the nations which Yahweh destroyed from before the sons of Israel. 5 Yahweh therefore spake through his servants the prophets, saying—of Yahweh,—as did Manasseh his father; 21 ye aye he walked in all the way wherein [his father] had walked,—and served the manufactured gods that [his father] had served, and bowed down to them; 22 and forsook Yahweh the God of his fathers,—and walked not in the way of Yahweh. 23 And the servants of Amôn [conspired against him],—and slew the king in his own house. 24 Then the people of the land smote all who had conspired against King Amôn,—and the people of the land made [Josiah] his son] king [in his stead].

19 <Twenty-two years old> was Amôn when he began to reign, and <two years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and ||his mother’s name|| was Meshullemeth daughter of Haruz, of Jotbah. 20 And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes...

Now <the rest of the story of Amôn, what's he did> is [it] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 26 And he was buried in his grave, in the garden of Uzza,—and [Josiah] his son] reigned [in his stead].

§ 29. Josiah’s good Reign, during which the Book of the Law is found. The King’s reforming Zeal postpones but cannot avert the Coming Visitation. Josiah is slain at Megiddo by Pharaoh-necoeh King of Egypt.

Chapter 22.

1 <Eight years old> was Josiah 1 when he began to reign, and <thirty-one years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and [his mother’s name] was Jedidah daughter of Adaiyah, 2 of Bozkath. 2 And he did that which was right in the eyes of Yahweh,—and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aside, to the right hand or to the left.

And it came to pass <in the eighteenth year of King Josiah> 3 that the king sent Shaphan son of Azaiyah 4 son of Meshullam, the scribe, to the house of Yahweh, saying—

4 Go up unto Hilkiyah, the high priest, that he pour out the silver that hath been brought into the house of Yahweh,—which the keepers of the entrance-hall have gathered from the people, 5 that they may give it into the hand of the doers of the work, who have oversight of the house of Yahweh, that they may give it to the doers of the work, who are in the house of Yahweh, to repair the breaches of the house; to the carpenters, and to the builders, and to the masons,—and to buy timber, and hewn stones, for repairing the house. 6

7 Howbeit there used to be no reckoning made with them, as to the silver that was given into their hand,—because <with faithfulness> were they dealing.

Then said Hilkiyah the high priest, unto Shaphan the scribe—

8 <The book of the law> have I found, in the house of Yahweh.

So Hilkiyah delivered the book unto Shaphan, and he read it.

9 Then came Shaphan the scribe unto the king, and brought the king word again,—and said—Thy servants have poured out the silver that was found in the house, and have delivered it unto the hand of the doers of the work, who have oversight of the house of Yahweh.

Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying—

10 <A book> hath Hilkiyah 1 the priest delivered unto me.

And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 And it came to pass <when the king heard the words of the book of the law> that he rent his clothes. 12 And the king commanded Hilkiyah the priest, and Ahikam son of Shaphan, and Achbor son of Micaiah, 13 and Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiyah the king’s servant, saying:

13 Go ye—enquire of Yahweh, for me and for the people, and for all Judah, 9 concerning the words of this book which hath been found,—for [great] is the wrath of Yahweh, in that it hath fired up against us, because our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do according to all which is written concerning us.

14 So Hilkiyah the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asaiyah, went unto Huldah the prophetess, wife of Shallum son of Tikvah, son of Harhas, keeper of the vestments, she' having her dwelling in Jerusalem, in the new city,—and they spake unto her. 15 And she said unto them, ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Say ye unto the man who hath sent you unto me: ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, Behold me! about to bring calamity upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof,—||all the words of the book, which [the king of Judah] hath read||: 17 Because they have forsaken me, and burned incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger, with all the workmanship of their hands; and so my wrath shall fire up against this place, and shall not be quenched. 18 But <unto the king of Judah, who hath sent you to enquire of Yahweh> ||thus|| shall ye say unto him,— ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel, ||As touching the words which thou hast heard||: <Because ye tender was thy heart, and thou didst humble thyself before Yahweh when thou hearest what I had spoken against this place and against the inhabitants thereof—that they should become a desolation and a curse, and didst rend thy clothes, and weep before me> ||therefore also| ||I|| have hearkened— Declareth Yahweh. ||For this cause|| behold me! about to gather thee unto thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered unto thy graves, in peace, and so thine eyes shall not look upon all the misfortune which I am about to bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

Chapter 23.

Then the king sent,—and there were gathered unto him, all the elders of Judah, and Jerusalem; 2 and the king went up to the house of Yahweh, and all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the priests, and the prophets, 3 and all the people, both small and great,—and he read in their ears, all the words of the book of the covenant, which had been found in the house of Yahweh. 3 And the king took his stand by the pillar, and solemnised a covenant before Yahweh—to follow Yahweh, and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes, with all [their] heart and with all their soul, to confirm the words of this covenant, written in this book. And all the people took their stand in the covenant. 4 Then the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and the keepers of the entrance-hall, to bring forth, out of the temple of Yahweh, all the vessels that had been made for Baal and for the Sacred Stem, 5 and for all the army of the heavens,—and he burned them up outside Jerusalem, in the fields of Kidron, and carried the ashes of them to Bethel; 5 and he put down the idol-priests, whom the kings of Judah had appointed, so that incense might be burned in the high places, in the cities of Judah, and round about Jerusalem,—them also that burned incense to Baal, to the sun, and to the moon, and to the constellations, and to all the army of the heavens; 6 and he brought forth the Sacred Stem out of the house of Yahweh, outside Jerusalem, into the Kidron ravine, and burned it in the Kidron ravine, and crushed it to powder,—and cast the powder upon the graves of the sons of the people 7 and he brake down the houses of the male devotees, which were in the house of Yahweh,—where the women did weave houses to the Sacred Stem; 8 and he brought in all the priests out of the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where [the priests] had burned incense, from Geba unto Beer-sheba,—and brake down the high places of the gates, that were at the entrance of the gate of Joshua, the governor of the city, which were on one’s left hand, in the gate of the city; 9 howbeit the priests of the high places came not up unto the altar of Yahweh, in Jerusalem, save only that they did eat unleavened bread in the midst of their brethren; 10 and he defiled Topheth, which was in the valley of the son\(^a\) of Hinnom,—so that no man might cause his son or his daughter to pass through the fire unto Molech;\(^11\) and he did away with the horses, which the kings of Judah had devoted to the sun, at the entrance of the house of Yahweh, near the chamber of Nathan-melech the courtier,\(^b\) which was in the suburbs, also <the chariots of the sun> burned he with fire;\(^12\) and <the altars which were on the roof of the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, also the altars which Manasseh\(^c\) had made, in the two courts of the house of Yahweh> did the king break down,—and hurried away\(^d\) from thence, and cast out the powder of the Kidron ravine;\(^13\) and ≤the high places that were before Jerusalem, which were on the right hand of the mount of destruction, which Solomon king of Israel had built unto Ashtoreth—the abomination of the Zidonians, and unto Chemosh—the abomination of the Moabites, and unto Milcom\(^e\)—the disgusting thing of the sons of Ammon\(≥\) did the king defile;\(^14\) and he brake in pieces the pillars, and cut down the Sacred Stems,\(^f\)—and filled their place with human bones:\(^15\) [moreover also] ≤the altar that was in Bethel, the high place which Jeroboam son of Nebat made, wherewith he caused [Israel] to sin,—even that altar, and the high place≥ brake he down,—and burned the high place, crushing it to powder, and burned a Sacred Stem,\(^g\)\(^16\) And <when Josiah turned, and saw the graves which were there, in the mount> he sent and took the bones out of the graves, and burned upon the altar, and defiled it,—according to the word of Yahweh, which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these things.\(^17\) Then said he—

What is yonder erection, which I’ do see? And the men of the city said unto him—

The grave of the man of God, who came in out of Judah, and proclaimed these things, which thou hast done, concerning the altar of Bethel.

\(^18\) And he said—

Let him rest, let ||no man|| disturb his bones. So they let his bones rest,\(^b\) with the bones of the prophet who came in out of Samaria.

\(^19\) [Moreover also] <all the houses of the high places which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made, so as to provoke Yahweh> to anger> did Josiah remove,—and he did to them according to all the doings which he had done in Bethel;\(^20\) and he sacrificed all the priests of the high places, who were there, by\(^d\) the altars, and burned human bones thereupon,—and returned to Jerusalem.

\(^21\) Then did the king command all the people, saying,

Keep ye a passover unto Yahweh, your God,—such as is written in this book of the covenant.\(^k\)

Surely there had not been held such a passover as this, from the days of the Judges who judged Israel,—nor all the days of the kings of Israel, and the kings of Judah;\(^23\) save only <in the eighteenth year of King Josiah> when this passover was held unto Yahweh, in Jerusalem.

\(^24\) [Moreover also] ≤them who had familiar spirits,\(^1\) and the wizards,\(^i\) and the household gods,\(^m\) and the abominations which were to be seen in the land of Judah, and in Jerusalem≥ did Josiah consume,—that he might confirm the words of the law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest had found in the house of Yahweh.

\(^25\) And <like him> was no king [before him], who turned unto Yahweh with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses,—neither <after him> arose one [like him].

\(^26\) [Howbeit] Yahweh turned not away from the glow of his great anger, wherewith his anger glowed against Judah—because of all the <Even Judah> will I remove from my presence, as I have removed Israel,—and will reject this city, which I had chosen, even Jerusalem, and the house’ as to which I had said,

[My Name] shall be [there].

28 Now <the rest of the story of Josiah, and all that he did> are [they] not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 29 <In his days> came up Pharaoh-necoh king of Egypt, against the king of Assyria, unto the river Euphrates,—and <when King Josiah went against him> he slew him at Megiddo, as soon as he saw him.

And his servants conveyed him in a chariot, dead, from Megiddo, and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own sepulchre,—and the people of the land took Jehoahaz, son of Josiah, and anointed him, and made [him] king [in his father’s stead].

§ 30. Josiah succeeded by Jehoahaz (son), Jehoiakim (son), Jehoiachin (grandson), and Zedekiah (son).

31 <Twenty-three years old> was Jehoahaz when he began to reign, and <three months> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and [his mother’s name] was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah, of Libnah. 32 And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh, according to all that his [fathers] had done. 33 And Pharaoh-necoh put him in bonds at Riblah, in the hind of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem,—and he laid a fine upon the land, a hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold. 34 And Pharaoh-necoh made Eliakim son of Josiah king, instead of Josiah his father, and turned his name to Jehoiakim,—and <Jehoahaz> took he away, so he entered Egypt, and died there. 35 And <the silver and the gold> did Jehoiakim give unto Pharaoh, howbeit he assessed the land, that he might give the silver at the bidding of Pharaoh,—[every man, according to his assessment] exacted the silver and the gold of the people of the land, that he might give it to Pharaoh-necoh. 36 <Twenty-five years old> was Jehoiakim when he began to reign, and <eleven years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and [his mother’s name] was Zebudah, daughter of Pedaiah, of Rumah. 37 And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—according to all that [his fathers] had done.

Chapter 24.

1 <In his days> came up Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon,—and Jehoiakim became his servant three years, then turned he and rebelled against him. 2 And Yahweh sent against him troops of Chaldeans, and troops of Syrians, and troops of Moabites, and troops of the sons of Ammon, yea he sent them against Judah, to destroy him,—according to the word of Yahweh, which he spake through his servants the prophets.

3 [Surely] it was <because of the anger> of Yahweh that this came upon Judah, to remove them from his presence,—for the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he had done; moreover also for the innocent blood that he had shed, so that he had filled Jerusalem with innocent blood,—which Yahweh was not willing to pardon.

4 Now <the rest of the story of Jehoiakim, and all that he did> are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? So Jehoiakim slept with his fathers,—and [Jehoiachin his son] reigned in his stead.

5 And the king of Egypt came no more again’ out of his land,—for the king of Babylon had taken—from the ravine of Egypt, unto the river Euphrates, [all that had belonged to the king of Egypt].
And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against the city, and his servants were about to besiege it. Then came out Jehoiachin king of Judah, unto the king of Babylon, and all his servants, and his generals, and his courtiers, and the king of Babylon took him, in the eighth year of his reign. And he carried forth from thence, all the treasures of the house of Yahweh, and the treasures of the house of the king, and he cut off all the fittings of gold, which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of Yahweh, according to all that Yahweh had spoken.

And he carried away all Jerusalem, and all the generals, and all the mighty men of valour, ten thousand becoming captives, and all the artificers and the smiths,—none remained save the poorest of the people of the land. And he carried away captive Jehoiachin, to Babylon,—and the king’s mother, and the king’s wives, and his courtiers, and the nobles of the land— took he away captive, from Jerusalem to Babylon. And <all the men of might—seven thousand, and artificers and smiths—a thousand, all who were valiant and ready to make war> the king of Babylon brought them captive to Babylon. And the king of Babylon made Mattaniah—his relative, king in his stead,—and changed his name to Zedekiah.

And <twenty-one years old> was Zedekiah when he began to reign, and <eleven years> reigned he in Jerusalem,—and his mother’s name] was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. And he did the thing that was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

For <it was because the anger of Yahweh had come against Jerusalem, and against Judah, until he had cast them out from his presence> that Zedekiah rebelled, against the king of Babylon.

§ 31. The final Siege of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon: How the Temple was despoiled, the Nobles slain, and the common People driven into Egypt through fear of the Chaldeans. Jehoiachin in Babylon finds favour.

Chapter 25.

And it came to pass <in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month> that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came—|he and all his force| against Jerusalem, and encamped against it,—and they built against it a siege wall, round about. And the city came into the siege,—until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. <On the ninth of the month, when the famine had become severe in the city,—and there had come to be no bread for the people of the land> then was the city broken up, and all the men of war [fled] by night| by way of the gate between the two walls, which is by the garden of the king, the Chaldeans being near the city round about,—and he went the way of the Waste Plain; and the force of the Chaldeans [pursued] the king, and overtook him in the Waste Plains of Jericho,—and ||all his force] was scattered from him. So they seized the king, and brought him up unto the king of Babylon, at Riblah,—and they pronounced upon him sentence of judgment. And <the sons of Zedekiah> they slew before his eyes,—and <the eyes of Zedekiah> put they out, and then bound him with fetters of bronze, and brought him into Babylon.

And <in the fifth month, on the seventh of the month, ||the same|| was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon> came Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners, servant of the king of Babylon, to Jerusalem; and burned the house of Yahweh, and the house of the king,—<yea <all the houses of Jerusalem, even every great man’s house> burned he with fire. And <the walls of Jerusalem round about> did all the force of the Chaldeans who were with the chief of the royal executioners [break down]. 11 And <the residue of the people who were left in the city, and the disheartened who fell away unto the king of Babylon, and the residue of the multitude> did Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners, carry away captive. 12 But <of the poorest of the land> did the chief of the royal executioners [leave] for vine-dressers and for husbandmen. 9

And <the pillars of bronze that were in the house of Yahweh, and the stands, and the sea of bronze which was in the house of Yahweh> the Chaldeans brake in pieces, and they carried away the bronze of them to Babylon; 14 and <the caldrons, and the shovels, and the snuffers, and the spoons, even all the utensils of bronze wherewith ministration used to be made> did they take away; 15 and <the sprinkling pans and the dashing bowls which were of gold, and which were of silver, in silver> did [the chief of the royal executioners] take away. 16 <As for the two pillars the one sea and the stands which Solomon made for the house of Yahweh> [without weight] was the bronze of all these things. 17 <Eighteen cubits> was the height of each pillar, and [the capital thereupon was of bronze, and [the height of the capital]] was three cubits, and <the lattice-work and pomegranates upon the capital round about> [the whole] was of bronze; and [like these] had the second pillar, upon the lattice-work.

And the chief of the royal executioners took Seraih the head priest, and Zephaniah the second priest,—and the three keepers of the entrance hall; 19 and <out of the city> took he one courtier who himself was set over the men of war, and five men of them who were wont to see the face of the king, who were found in the city, and the scribe—general of the army, who used to muster the people of the land,—and sixty men of the people of the land, who were found in the city; 20 and Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners, [took them],—and brought them unto the king of Babylon, at Riblah; and the king of Babylon smote them and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath,—and thus Judah disappeared from off their own soil.

But <as for the people who were left in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon left remaining> he set over them Gedaliah, 4 son of Ahikam son of Shaphan.

And <when all the generals of the forces, [they and the men] heard> that the king of Babylon had given oversight unto Gedaliah> then came they in unto Gedaliah, at Mizpah,—even Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and Johanan son of Kareah, and Seraih son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah 5 son of a Maacathite [they and their men]]. 24 And Gedaliah sware unto them, and to their men, and said to them,

Do not fear because of the servants of the Chaldeans,—dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.

And it came to pass <in the seventh month> that Ishmael son of Nethaniah 6 a son of Elishama, of the seed royal, [came], and ten men with him, and smote Gedaliah, that he died,—[and the Jews and the Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah]. 26 Then arose all the people, both small and great, and the generals of the forces, and came into Egypt,—for they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

And it came to pass <in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month,—that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, did lift up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, out of prison; 28 and he spake with him kind words,—and set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him in Babylon; 29 and changed his prison garments,—and he did eat bread continually before him, all the days of his life. 30 And <as his allowance> [a continual portion] was given him, from the king, the provision of a day upon its own day,—[all the days of his life].

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE CHRONICLES.

§ 1. Genealogy: Adam to Abram.

Chapter 1.

1 Adam, Seth, Enosh; 2 Kenan, Mahalalel, Jared: 3 Enoch, Methuselah, Lamech; 4 Noah, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

17 [The sons of Shem] Elam, and Assur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram,—and Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Meshech. 18 And [Arphaxad] begat Shela, and [Shelah] begat Eber. 19 And <unto Eber> were born two sons,—[the name of the one] was Peleg, for <in his days> was the earth divided, and [the name of his brother] was Joktan. 20 And [Joktan] begat Almodad, and Sheleph,—and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah; 21 and Hadoram, and Uzal, and Diklah; 22 and Ebal, and Abimael, and Sheba; 23 and Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab. [All these] were the sons of Joktan. 24 Shem, Arphaxad, Shelah; 25 Eber, Peleg, Reu; 26 Serug, Nahor, Terah; 27 Abram,—[the same] is Abraham.

§ 2. Abraham to Israel.

28 [The sons of Abraham] Isaac and Ishmael. 29 [These] are their generations,—[the firstborn of Ishmael] Nebaioth, then Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam; 30 Mishma, and Dummah, Massa, Hadad, and Tema; 31 Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. [These] are the sons of Ishmael.

32 And [the sons of Keturah, the concubine of Abraham] she bare Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah,—and [the sons of Jokshan] Sheba, and Dedan; 33 and [the sons of Midian] Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abida, and Eldaah. [All these] were the sons of Keturah.

34 So then Abraham begat Isaac,—[the sons of Isaac] were Esau and Israel.

and Cheran. 42 ||The sons of Ezer|| Bilhan, and Zaavan, Jaakan. 43 ||The sons of Dishan|| Uz and Aran. 44 Now ||these|| are the kings, who reigned in the land of Edom, before there reigned a king of the sons of Israel,—Bela the son of Beor, and ||the name of his city|| was Dinhabah. 45 And Bela died,—and there reigned in his stead, Jobab son of Zerah, of Bozrah. 46 And Jobab died,—and there reigned in his stead, Husham, of the land of the Temanites. 47 And Husham died,—and there reigned in his stead, Hadad the son of Bedad, who smote Midian in the field of Moab, and ||the name of his city|| was Avith. 48 And Hadad died,—and there reigned in his stead, Samlah of Mareskah. 49 And Samlah died,—and there reigned in his stead, Shaul, of Rehoboth by the River. 50 And Shaul died,—and there reigned in his stead, Baal-hanan, the son of Achbor.

51 And Baal-hanan died,—and there reigned in his stead, Hadad, and ||the name of his city|| was Pai,—and ||the name of his wife|| was Mehetabel, daughter of Matred, daughter of Mezahab. 52 And Hadad died. And there were chiefs of Edom: chief Timna, chief Aliah, chief Jetheth; 53 chief Oholibamah, chief Elah, chief Pinon; 54 chief Kenaz, chief Teman, chief Mibzar; 55 chief Magdiel, chief Iram. ||These|| were the chiefs of Edom.

Chapter 2.

1 ||These|| are the sons of Israel,—Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun; 2 Dan, Joseph, and Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

§ 3. The Tribe of Judah (I.).

3 ||The sons of Judah|| Er, and Onan, and Shelah, the three born to him of the daughter of Shua the Canaanitess,—but Er the firstborn of Judah became wicked in the eyes of Yahweh, and he slew him. 4 And ||Tamar his daughter-in-law|| bare him, Perez and Zerah. ||All the sons of Judah|| were five. 5 ||The sons of Perez|| Hezron and Hamul. 6 And ||the sons of Zerah|| Zimri and Ethan, and Heman and Calcol and Dara, ||all of them|| five. 7 And ||the sons of Carmi|| Achar, the troubler of Israel, who transgressed in a thing devoted.

8 And ||the sons of Ethan|| Azariah. 9 And ||the sons of Hezron, who were born to him|| Jerahmeel, and Ram, and Calubai. 10 And ||Ram|| begat Amminadab,—and ||Amminadab|| begat Nahshon, leader of the sons of Judah.

11 And ||Nahshon|| begat Salma, and ||Salma|| begat Boaz; 12 and ||Boaz|| begat Obed, and ||Obed|| begat Jesse; 13 and ||Jesse|| begat—his firstborn, Eliab,—and Abinadab, the second, and Shimaa, the third; 14 Nethanel, the fourth, Raddai, the fifth; 15 Ozem, the sixth, David, the seventh.

16 And ||their sisters|| were Zeruiah and Abigail,—and ||the sons of Zeruiah|| Abishai and Joab and Asahel, three. 17 And ||Abigail|| bare Amasa,—and ||the father of Amasa|| was Jether the Ishmaelite. 18 And ||Caleb son of Hezron|| begat children of Azubah his wife, and of Jerioth,—and ||these|| were her sons, Jesher and Shobab and Ardon. 19 And Azubah died,—and Caleb took unto him Ephrath, and she bare to him Hur. 20 And ||Hur|| begat Uri, and ||Uri|| begat Bezaleel. 21 And <afterward> Hezron went in unto the daughter of Machir, father of Gilead, and he took her when he was sixty years old,—and she bare him Segub. 22 And ||Segub|| begat Jair,—who came to have twenty-three cities, in the land of Gilead; 23 but Geshur and Aram took the towns of Jair4 from them, with Kenath and the villages thereof, sixty cities. ||All these|| were the sons of Machir, father of Gilead.

24 And <after the death of Hezron> Caleb entered Ephrathah,—and ||the wife of Hezron|| was Abiaah, who bare him Ashur, father of Tekoa. 25 And the sons of Jerahmeel firstborn of Hezron were, ||the firstborn|| Ram,—and Bunah, and

And Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was Atarah, — the same — was the mother of Onam. 27 And the sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jeremeel, were, — Maaz and Jamin, and Eker. 28 And the sons of Onam were, Shammai and Jada, — and the sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur. 29 And the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, — and she bare him Ahban, and Molid. 30 And the sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim, — but Seled died without sons. 31 And the sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. 32 And the sons of Jada, brother of Shammai, were Jether and Joram, — and the sons of Joram were Hammah and Zebul. 33 And the sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. 34 Now Sheshan had no sons, but daughters, — and Sheshan had a servant, an Egyptian, whose name was Jarha; 35 so Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant, to wife, — and she bare him Attaï. 36 And the sons of Appaim were Ishi, and the sons of Ishi were Sheshan, and the sons of Sheshan were Ahlai. 37 And the sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. 38 Now the sons of Caleb, the brother of Jerahmeel, were, — Mesha, and Haroeh, and Jachin, and Deuel, and Beiah, and Holon, and Epram, and Jeseni, and Jotham, and Eliada, and Jammah. 39 And the sons of Shammai were Solai and Hizkiah, and Azriel, and Hashum, and Hanan, and Shela, and Summer, and Shemah, and Shotham, and Ethra, and Ezer, and Jothan. 40 And the sons of Haroeh were Zaccur and Jabel. 41 And the sons of Jachin were Shuppim and Huppim. 42 Now the sons of Caleb, the brother of Jerahmeel, were, — Mesha, and Haroeh, and Jachin, and Deuel, and Beiah, and Holon, and Epram, and Jeseni, and Jotham, and Eliada, and Jammah. 43 And the sons of Gibeon were Geba, and Ochor, and Helkai, and Itaia, and Ubeda, and Jetai, and Jachin, and Harsha, and Aroah, and Ahjash, and Adiel. 44 And the sons of Jabez were Ben-hanan, and Shaphan, and Kedemah, and Pasarah, and Jamin, and Jamin, and Ijeshaiah, and Bilkiah, and Ieshaiah. 45 And the sons of Shaphan were Zoriah, and Hanan, and Anequah. 46 And the sons of Haran were Lotan, and Hana, and Obadiah, and Hazron, and Haran, and可能性。
Chapter 4.

1. [The sons of Judah] Perez, Hezron, and Carmi, and Hur, and Shobal. 2. And [Reiah son of Shobal] begat Jahath, and [Jahath] begat Ahumai, and Lahad. 3. [These] are the families of the Zorathites. 4. And [these] were the sons of Etam, Jezerel, and Jishma, and Idabal, and [the name of their sister] was Hazzeleponi; 5. And Penuel the father of Gedor, and Ezer, the father of Hushah. 6. 7. [These] are the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah, the father of Bethlehem. 8. And [Ashur the father of Tekoa] had two wives,—Helah, and Naarah. 9. And Naarah bare him Ahuzzam and Hepher, and Temeni, and Haahashtari. 10. [These] were the sons of Naarah. 11. And [the sons of Helah] were Zereth, Izhar, and Ethnan. 12. And [Koz] begat Anub, and Zobah, and the families of Aharhel, the son of Harum. 13. Now it came to pass that Jabez was more honourable than his brethren,—but [his mother] had called his name Jabez, [=“he causes pain”] saying, Because I bare him with pain.

10. So then Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, Oh that thou wouldst [indeed bless] me, and enlarge my boundary, And that thy hand might be with me,—And that thou wouldst work [to deliver me] from evil,

That it be not my pain. And God brought about that which he asked.

11. And [Chelub the brother of Shuhah] begat Mehir, [the same] was the father of Eshton.

12. And [Eshton] begat Beth-rapha, and Paseah, and Tehinnah, the father of Ir-nahash. [These] are the men of Recah. 13. And [the sons of Kenaz] were Othniel, and Seraiah, and [the sons of Othniel] Hathath.

14. And [Meonothai] begat Ophrah, and [Seraiah] begat Joab, the father of Ge-harashim, for they were [craftsmen]. 15. And [the sons of Caleb son of Jephunneh] were Iru, Elah, and Naam,—and the sons of Elah and Kenaz. 16. And [the sons of Jehallelel] Ziph and Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. 17. And [the sons of Ezrah] Jether and Mered, and Ephra and Zalmon. And [these] are the sons of Bithia, daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took,—and she conceived and bare Miriam and Shammai, and Ishbah, the father of Eshtemoa. 18. And [his wife, the Jewess] bare Jereh the father of Gederoth, and Eber the father of Socoh, and

21 The sons of Shelah, the son of Judah|| Er, the father of Lechah, and Laadah, the father of Mareshah,—and the families of the house of them that wrought fine linen, of the house of Ashbea; 22 and Jokim, and the men of Cozeba, and Joash, and Saraph who ruled for Moab, and Jashubilehem,—but the records are ancient. 23 They were the potters and the inhabitants of Netaim, and Gedera, with the king in his work dwelt they there.

§ 4. The Tribe of Simeon (II.).

24 The sons of Simeon|| Nemuel, and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, Shaul: 25 Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son. 26 And the sons of Mishma|| Hammuel his son, Zaccur his son, Shimei his son. 27 And Shimei had sixteen sons, and six daughters, but his brethren had not many children,—nor did any of their families multiply so much as the sons of Judah. 28 And they dwelt in Beer-sheba, and Moladah, and Hazar-shual; 29 and in Bilhah, and in Ezem, and in Tolad; 30 and in Bethuel, and in Hormah, and in Ziklag; 31 and in Beth-marcaboth, and in Hazar-susim, and in Beth-biri, and in Shaaraim. [These] were their cities unto the reign of David. 32 And their villages were Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Ashan,—five cities; 33 and all their villages that were round about these cities, as far as Baal. [These] were their habitations, and they had their own genealogical register. 34 And Meshobab, and Jamlech, and Joshah, the son of Amaziah; 35 and Joel,—and Jehu, the son of Joshibiah, the son of Serai, the son of Asiel; 36 and Eliaoenai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshohai, and Asaiah, and Adiel, and Jesimiel, and Benaiah; 37 and Ziza, son of Shophi, son of Allon, son of Jediah, son of Shimri, son of Shemaiah. 38 These were leading men in their families. And their ancestral house brake forth exceedingly; so they went to the entering in of Gerar, unto the east of the valley,—to seek pasture for their flocks; and they found pasture, fat and good, and the land was broad on both hands, and quiet, and secure,—for were the dwellers there aforetime. But these written by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and smote their tents, and the Meunim who were found there, and devoted them, until this day, and dwelt in their stead,—for there was pasture for their flocks there. 41 And some of them of the sons of Simeon went to Mount Seir, five hundred men,—with Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rephaiah, and Uzziel, sons of Ishi, at their head; and they smote the remainder that had escaped of the Amalekites,—and dwelt there—[as they have] unto this day.

§ 5. The Tribe of Reuben (III.).

Chapter 5.

1 And the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel for he was the firstborn, but because he defiled the couch of his father his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph son of Israel,—and he is not to be enrolled in the place of firstborn, for prevailed over his brethren, so that [even the prince] is from him,—although [the birthright] pertaineth to Joseph <the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel> Hanoch and Pallu, Hezron and Carmi. 4 The sons of Joel|| Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son; 5 Micah his son, Reiah his son, Baal his son; 6 Beerah his son, whom Tilgath-pileser king of Assyria carried away captive,—[he] was a leader to the Reubenites; and his brethren, by his families, in the genealogical registering by their generations,—the chief Jeiel, and Zachariah; and Bela, the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel,—[he] dwelt in Aroer, even as far as Nebo, and Baal-meon; and eastward dwelt he as far as the entering in of the desert, from the river.

§ 6. The Tribe of Gad (IV.).

11 And the sons of Gad dwelt in the land of Bashan, as far as Salcah:
12 Joel the chief, and Shapham, the second, and Janai and Shaphat, in Bashan, and their brethren of their ancestral house, Michael and Meshullam and Sheba and Jorai and Jacan and Zia and Eber, seven. These were the sons of Abihail, son of Huri, son of Jaraah, son of Gilead, son of Michael, son of Jehishaiah, son of Jahdo, son of Buz. Ahi son of Abdiel, son of Guni, chief of their ancestral house; and they dwelt in Gilead—in Bashan, and in her villages,—and in all the pasture-lands of Sharon up to their outgoings. All of them were genealogically registered in the days of Jotham king of Judah,—and in the days of Jeroboam king of Israel.

§ 7. Reuben, Gad and Half Tribe of Manasseh (V.)

18 The sons of Reuben and Gad, and half tribe of Manasseh, of the sons of valour, men bearing shield and sword and bow and instructed in war, were forty-four thousand and seven hundred and sixty, ready to go forth in the host. So they made war with the Hagrites,—and Jetur and Naphish, and Nodab; and were helped against them, and the Hagrites and all that were with them were delivered into their hand,—for unto God made they outcry, in the war, and he suffered himself to be entreated by them, because they put their trust in him; and they captured their cattle— their camels fifty thousand, and their flocks two hundred and fifty thousand, and their asses two thousand,—and men a hundred thousand; for many slain fell, for God was the war,—and they dwelt in their stead, until the captivity.

23 And the sons of the half tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land,<from Bashan, as far as to Baal-hermon and Senir and Mount Hermon> they were multiplied. And these were the heads of their ancestral house,—Epher and Ishi and Eliel and Azriel and Jeremiah and Hodaviah and Jahdiel, men who were heroes of valour, men of renown, chiefs to their ancestral house.

But they dealt unfaithfully with the God of their fathers,—and went unchastely after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God destroyed from before them; so the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, and the spirit of Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria, and he took them away captive, even the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh,—brought them in unto Halah, and Habor, and Haran, and to the river of Gozan, unto this day.

§ 8. The Tribe of Levi (VI.).

Chapter 6.

1 The sons of Levi Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. And the sons of Kohath Amram, Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel. And the children of Amram Aaron, and Moses, and Miriam,—and Aaron Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. || Eleazar begat Phinehas, Phinehas begat Abishua; Abishua begat Bukki, and Bukki begat Uzzi; and Uzzi begat Zeriahiah, and Zeriahiah begat Meraioth; || Meraioth begat Amariah, and Amariah begat Ahitub; Ahitub begat Zadok, and Zadok begat Ahimaaz; || Ahimaaz begat Azariah, and Azariah begat Johanan, and Johanan begat Azariah,—he it was who ministered as priest, in the house which Solomon built in Jerusalem; and Azariah begat Amariah,—and Amariah begat Ahitub; and Ahitub begat Zadok, and Zadok begat Shallum; and Shallum begat Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begat Azariah, and Azariah begat Johanan; and Johanan begat Zedekiah, and Zedekiah departed, when Yahweh carried away Judah and Jerusalem into captivity,—by the hand of

Chapter 8.

1 And ||[Benjamin]|| begat Bela his firstborn,—Ashbel, the second, and Aharah the third, —Nohah, the fourth, and Rapha, the fifth. And Bela had sons—Addar, and Gera, and Abihud,—Abihusha, and Naaman, and Ahoah,—and Gera, and Shephuphan, and Huram. And ||[these]|| are the sons of Ehud,—||[these]|| are the ancestral chiefs to the inhabitants of Geba, but they were carried away captive, unto Manahath; and <as for Naaman and Ahijah and Gera> ||[the same]|| carried them captive,—and he begat Uzza and Abihud. And ||[Shaharaim]|| begat children in the field of Moab, after he had sent away Hushim and Baara his wives. Then begat he, of Hodesh his wife, Jobab, and Zibia, and Mesha, and Malcam; and Jeuz, and Sachia, and Mirmah,—||[these]|| were his sons, ancestral chiefs.

2 And ||[of Hushim]|| he begat Abitub, and Elpaal. And ||[the sons of Elpaal]|| Eber, and Misham, and Shemed,—the villages thereof. And <as for Beriah and Shema> ||[they]|| were ancestral chiefs to the inhabitants of Aijalon,—||[they]|| put to flight the inhabitants of Gath; and Ahio, Shashak, and Jeremoth,—and Zebadiah, and Arad, and Eder,—Michael, and Ishpah, and Joha, sons of Beriah,—and Zebadiah, and Meshullam, and Hizki, and Heber,—and Ishmerai, and Izliah, and Jobab, sons of Elpaal,—and Jakim, and Zichri, and Zabdi,—and Elienai, and Zillethai, and Eliel,—and Adaih, and Beraiah, and Shimrat, sons of Shimei,—and Ishpan, and Eber,—and Eliel,—and Abdon, and Zichri, and Hanan,—and Hananiah, and Elam, and Anthothijah,—and Iphdeiah, and Penuel, sons of Shashak,—and Shamsheraia, and Shehariah, and Athaliah,—and Jaareshaiah, and Eliah, and Zichri, sons of Jeroham:

3 Of Bela—||[these]|| were ancestral chiefs to their generations, chief men,—||[these]|| dwelt in Jerusalem. And <in Gibeon> dwelt the father of Gibeon [Jeiel], ||[the name of whose wife]|| was Maacah,—and his firstborn son, Abdon, and Zur and Kish, and Baal and Ner and Nadab,—31 and Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechar. And ||[Mikloth]|| begat Shimeah,—moreover also, ||[they]|| <over against their brethren> did dwell in Jerusalem, with their own brethren.

4 So then ||[Ner]|| begat Kish, and ||[Kish]|| begat Saul,—and ||[Saul]|| begat Jonathan, and Malchishua, and Abinadab, and Eshbaal. And ||[the son of Jonathan]|| was Merib-baal,—and ||[Merib-baal]|| begat Micah. And ||[the sons of Micah]|| were Pithon, and Melech, and Tarea, and Ahaz. And ||[Ahaz]|| begat Jehoaddah, and ||[Jehoaddah]|| begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri,—and ||[Zimri]|| begat Moza; and ||[Moza]|| begat Binea,—Raphah was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. And ||[Azel]|| had six sons, and ||[these]|| were their names—Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan and Asaiah,—||[all these]|| were sons of Azel. And ||[the sons of Eshek his brother]|| were Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third. And the sons of Ulam became men that were heroes of valour, archers, with many sons, and sons’ sons, a hundred and fifty. ||[All these]|| were of the sons of Benjamin.

Chapter 9.

1 And ||all Israel|| registered themselves, and lo! they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel, and ||Judah|| was carried away captive to Babylon, for their faithlessness.

2 Now ||the first inhabitants, who were in their possessions, in their cities|| were Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the Nethinim.

3 And ||in Jerusalem|| there dwelt, of the sons of Judah, and of the sons of Benjamin,—and of the sons of Ephraim, and Manasseh:

4 Uthai son of Ammihud, son of Omri, son of Imri, son of Bani, of the sons of Perez, son of Judah. 5 And ||of the Shilonites|| Assiah the firstborn, and his sons. 6 And ||of the sons of Zerah|| Jeuel,—and their brethren, six hundred and ninety. 7 And ||of the sons of Benjamin|| Sallu, son of Meshullam, son of Hodaviah, son of Hassenuah; 8 and Ibneiah, son of Jeroham, and Elah, son of Uzzi, son of Michri,—and Meshullam, son of Shephathiah, son of Reuel, son of Ibnijah; 9 and their brethren, by their generations, nine hundred and fifty-six,—all these men were ancestral chiefs, to their ancestral house.

10 And ||of the priests|| Jedediah, and Jehoiarib, and Jachin,—11 and Azariah son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Merioth, son of Ahitub, chief ruler of the house of God; 12 and Adaiah, son of Jeroham, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah,—and Maasai son of Adiel, son of Jahzerah, son of Meshullam, son of Meshillemith, son of Immer; 13 and their brethren, chief men of their ancestral house, a thousand and seven hundred and sixty,—able men, for the business of the service of the house of God.

14 And ||of the Levites|| Shemaiah, son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; 15 and Bakbakkar, Heresh, and Galal,—and Mattaniah, son of Mica, son of Zichri, son of Asaph; 16 and Obadiah, son of Shemaiah, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun,—and Berechiah son of Asa, 17 son of Elkanah, who dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites. 18 And ||the keepers of the gates|| were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman,—and their brethren—Shallum the chief; 19 and ||as for them, in their villages was their enrolment||—O.G.

Chapter 9.

Intro.

16 And ||Shallum son of Kore||, son of Ebiasaph, son of Korah and his brethren of his ancestral house—the Korahites|| were over the business of the service, watchers at the vestibule of the tent,—and ||their fathers|| had been over the camp of Yahweh, watchers at the entrance. 20 And ||Phinehas son of Eleazar|| was ||chief ruler|| over them aforetime, ||Yahweh|| being with him. 21 ||Zechariah son of Mesheklemiah|| was door-keeper at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 22 ||All those who were chosen for door-keepers in the vestibule|| were two hundred and twelve,—||the same|| in their villages; had registered themselves, <23> did David and Samuel the seer establish in their trust. 24 <25> Towards the four winds> were the keepers of the gates,—eastward, westward, northward, and southward. 25 And ||their brethren in their villages|| had to come in, every seven days, from time to time, along with these. 26 For ||in trust> were four mighty men of the keepers of the gates,> ||the same|| were Levites,—and they were over the chambers, and over the treasures of the house of God. 27 And ||round about the house of God> used they to lodge,—for <28> was the charge, and they were over the setting open, morning by morning. 29 And ||some from among them|| were over the utensils of the service,—for <by number> used they to bring them in, and <by number> used they to take them forth. 30 And ||some from among them|| were appointed over the utensils, yea over all the vessels of the holy place,—and over the fine meal, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincense, and the spices.
among the sons of the priests were compounders of perfumes, with the spices. And from among the Levites—[the same] was the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite—was in trust over the making of the flat cakes. And some from among the Kohathites, of their brethren were over the Bread that was set in Array,—to place it sabbath by sabbath. [These] also were the singers, ancestral chiefs of the Levites, in the chambers, free,—for by day and by night was there a charge upon them, in the business. [These] were the ancestral chiefs of the Levites, by their generations, chief men,—[these] dwelt in Jerusalem.

§ 17. Genealogy of Saul repeated: introductory to an Account of his Death, and David’s Succession to the Throne.

And dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jeiel,—[the name of whose wife] was Maacah: and [his firstborn son] Abdon,—and Zur, and Kish, and Baal and Ner, and Nadab; and Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloah. And [Mikloth] begat Shimeam.—And [they also] over against their brethren did dwell in Jerusalem, along with their brethren. And [Ner] begat Kith, and [Kish] begat Saul,—and [Saul] begat Jonathan, and Malchishua, and Abinadab, and Eshbaal; and [the son of Jonathan] was Merib-baal,—and [Merib-baal] begat Micah; and [the sons of Micah] were Pithon, and Melech, and Tahrea [and Ahaz]; and [Ahaz] begat Jarah, and [Jarah] begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri,—and [Zimri] begat Moza; and [Moza] begat Binea,—and Raphaiah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son; and [Azel] had six sons, and these are their names—Azrikam, [his firstborn], and Ishmael, and Sheariah and Obadiah, and Hanan, [and Asah]. || These were the sons of Azel.

Chapter 10.

1 Now [the Philistines] fought against Israel,—and the men of Israel fled’ from before the Philistines, and the wounded fell in Mount Gilboa.

2 And the Philistines followed hard after Saul, and after his sons,—and the Philistines smote Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchishua, sons of Saul. And the battle [went sore] against Saul, and the archers discovered him with the bow,—and he was terrified because of the archers. Therefore said Saul unto his armour-bearer, Draw out thy sword and thrust me through therewith, lest these uncircumcised come and abuse me,

But his armour-bearer would not, for he feared greatly,—so then Saul took the sword, and fell upon it. And [when his armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead] then [he also] fell upon the sword, and died. So Saul died, and his three sons, and [all his house] together died.

And when all the men of Israel that were in the vale saw, that they had fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, then forsook they their cities, and fled, and the Philistines came and dwelt in them.

And it came to pass, on the morrow, when the Philistines came to strip the slain,—that they found Saul, and his sons, lying prostrate in Mount Gilboa. So they stript him, and took his head, and his armour,—and sent throughout the land of the Philistines round about, to publish it to their idols, and to the people.

And they put his armour, in the house of their gods,—but [his skull] fastened they up, in the house of Dagon.

And when all Jabesh-Gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, then rose up all the men of valour, and took away the corpse of Saul, and the corpses of his sons, and brought them to Jabesh,—and buried their bodies under the terebinth, in Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

§ 18. David anointed King in Hebron: Zion captured and called The City of David.

Chapter 11.

1 Then did all Israel gather themselves together to David, unto Hebron, saying,—Lo! <thy bone and thy flesh> are we'.

2 Moreover also <in time past even when Saul was king> [thou] wast he that led out and brought in Israel,—and Yahweh thy God said unto thee,

[Thou] shalt shepherd my people Israel,
Yea [thou] shalt be chief ruler, over my people Israel.

3 Thus came all the elders of Israel unto the king, to Hebron, and David solemnised to them a covenant in Hebron, before Yahweh,—and they anointed David to be king over Israel, according to the word of Yahweh, through Samuel.

4 Then went David and all Israel to Jerusalem [the same] was Jebus,—where were the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land. 5 And the inhabitants of Jebus said unto David,

Thou shalt not come in hither,—But David captured the citadel of Zion, [the same] is the city of David. 6 And David said, [Whosoever smiteth the Jebusites, first] shall become a chief, and a ruler,—So then Joab son of Zeruiah [went up first], and became a chief. 7 And David dwelt in the citadel,—<for this cause> did they call it, The City of David. 8 And he built the city round about, from Millo even as far as the circuit,—but [Joab] suffered the remainder of the city to live. 9 Thus did David wax greater and yet greater,—and [Yahweh of hosts] was with him.

§ 19. Warriors who helped David to establish his Kingdom, with some of their Exploits.

10 Now [these] are the chiefs of the heroes, that pertained to David, who held strongly with him in his kingdom, 11 with all Israel, to make him king,—according to the word of Yahweh, concerning Israel. 12 And [this] is the number of the heroes who pertained to David,—Jashobeam son of a Hachmonite, chief of the thirty, [the same] brandished his spear over three hundred—slain at one time. 12 And [after him] was Eleazar son of Dodi, the Ahohite,—[the same] was among the three heroes, 13 [the same] was with David in Pas-dammim, where [the Philistines] were gathered together to battle, and there was a field-plot full of barley,—and [the people] fled, from before the Philistines; 14 so they took their stand in the midst of the plot and rescued it, and smote the Philistines,—and Yahweh wrought a great victory. 15 And three of the thirty chiefs went down upon the rock, unto David, into the cave of Adullam,—[a host of Philistines] being encamped in the vale of Rephaim. 16 Now [David] then was in the stronghold,—and [a garrison of Philistines] then was in Bethlehem. 17 And David longed, and said—Who will give me to drink of the water, out of the well of Bethlehem, that is within the gate? 18 And the three brake through the host of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem, that was within the gate, and bare it, and brought it in unto David,—yet would not David drink it, but poured it out unto Yahweh; 19 and said—Far be it from me, of my God, that I should do this!

The blood of these men shall I drink, with their lives!

For have they brought it! So he would not drink it. [These things] did the three heroes. 20 And [Abishai brother of Joab—he] was the chief of three, [he] having brandished his spear against three hundred—who were slain,—and so [he] had a name among three. 21 Of the three in the second rank was he

And <of the Gadites> there separated themselves unto David, to the stronghold towards the desert, heroes of valour, men of war, for battle, men that could handle shield and spear,—and <faces of lions> were their faces, and <like gazelles upon the mountains> were they, for swiftness: 9 Ezer, the chief, Obadiah the second,—Eliaib, the third; 10 Mashmannah, the fourth, Jeremiah, the fifth; 11 Attai, the sixth, Eliel the seventh; 12 Johanan, the eighth, Elzabad, the ninth; 13 Jeremiah, the tenth, Machbannai, the eleventh. 14 ||These|| were of the sons of Gad, chiefs of the host,—one to a hundred, the least, and ||the greatest|| to a thousand.

\(\text{§ 24. The Ark brought to Jerusalem.}\ \text{Chapter 15.}\)

1 And he made him houses, in the city of David,—and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched it for a tent.\(^2\) \|[Then]| said David,
None must carry the ark of God, save the Levites,—for <of them> did Yahweh make choice, to bear the ark of Yahweh,\(^c\) and to attend it, unto times age-abiding.

3 So David convoked all Israel, unto Jerusalem,—to bring up the ark of Yahweh, unto the place thereof, which he had prepared for it.

4 And David gathered together the sons of Aaron, and the Levites: 5 <Of the sons of Kohath> Uriel the chief, and his brethren, one hundred and twenty; 6 <of the sons of Gershom> Joel the chief, and his brethren, two hundred and twenty; 7 <of the sons of Merari> Asaiah the chief, and his brethren, one hundred and thirty; 8 <of the sons of Kohath> Elizaphan the chief, and his brethren, two hundred; 9 <of the sons of Hebron> Eliel the chief, and his brethren, eighty; 10 <of the sons of Kohath> Amminadab the chief, and his brethren, a hundred and twelve. \(11\) Then called David, for Zadok and for Abiathar, the priests,—and for the Levites, for Uriel, Asaiah and Joel, Shemaiah and Eliel, and Amminadab; \(12\) and said unto them, ||[Ye]| are the chiefs of the fathers of the Levites,—
Hallow yourselves, ||[ye and your brethren]|] so shall ye bring up the ark of Yahweh—God of Israel, into [the place] I have prepared for it.

<Because, at the first> ||[ye] did not [bring it]> Yahweh our God brake forth against us, because we sought him not in the appointed way.\(^d\)

14 So the priests and the Levites hallowed themselves,—to bring up the ark of Yahweh, God of Israel. \(15\) And the sons of the Levites bare the ark of God, just as Moses commanded, according to the word of Yahweh,—on their shoulder, with the staves upon them. \(16\) And David spake to the chiefs of the Levites, to station their brethren the singers, with instruments of song,\(^e\) harps\(^f\) and lyres, and cymbals,—sounding aloud at the lifting up of the voice, for joy.

17 So the Levites caused to stand, Heman son of Joel, and <of his brethren> Asaph, son of Berechiah,—and <of the sons of Merari their brethren> Ethan, son of Kushaiah; \(18\) and <with them> their brethren of the second degree,—Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiath, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah,\(^g\) and Eliphelehu, and Michneiah,\(^b\) and Obed-edom and Jeiel, the doorkeepers.\(^i\) \(19\) And ||[the singers, Heman, Asaph and Ethan]|] <with cymbals of bronze> were to sound aloud;

20 and Zechariah, and Azriel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah and Benaiath,—with harps\(^j\) over the trebles; \(21\) and Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, and Michneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel and Azaziah,\(^b\)—with lyres over the bass, to take the lead. \(22\) And ||[Chenaniah]| the leader of the Levites, in the service used to give instructions in the service, because skilful was he. 23 And [Berechiah and Elkanah] were doorkeepers to the ark. 24 And [Shebaniah, d and Josaphat, and Nethanel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaijah, and Elizeer, the priests] were blowing with the trumpets, before the ark of God,—and [Obed-edom and Jehiah] were doorkeepers to the ark. 25 Thus, it was [David and the elders of Israel, and the rulers of thousands], who were going, to bring up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, out of the house of Obed-edom, with joy.

26 And so it was that <when God helped the Levites, who were bearing the ark of the covenant of Yahweh> they sacrificed seven bullocks and seven rams. 27 Now ||David|| was wrapped about with a robe of byssus, e with all the Levites who were bearing the ark, and the singers, and Chenaniah f the leader of the service rendered by the singers,—but <upon David> was an ephod of white linen.

28 So ||all Israel|| were bringing up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, with shouting, and with sound of the horn, and with trumpets, and with cymbals,—sounding aloud, with harps, g and lyres. 29 And so it was that <when the ark of the covenant of Yahweh came in as far as the city of David,—and Michal daughter of Saul looked forth through the window, and saw King David, dancing and playing> that she despised him in her heart.

Chapter 16.

1 So they brought in the ark of God, and placed it in the midst of the tent, which David had pitched for it,—and they brought near ascending-sacrifices and peace-offerings, before God. 2 And <when David had made an end of offering the ascending-sacrifices, and the peace-offerings> he blessed the people, in the name of Yahweh. 3 And he apportioned, to every one, a loaf of bread, and a sweet drink, and a raisin cake.

§ 25. David’s Arrangements, and Psalms, for worship before the Ark and before the Tent in Gibeon.

(Cp. chap. xxi. 29.)

4 And he placed before the ark of Yahweh certain of the Levites, as attendants,—and to celebrate, and to give thanks and render praise, unto Yahweh, God of Israel; 5 Asaph the chief, and, second to him, Zechariah,—Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaijah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, with instruments of harps, and with lyres, and Asaph with cymbals, sounding aloud: 6 and Benaiah and Jahaziel, the priests,—with trumpets continually, before the ark of the covenant of God.

<On that day> ||then|| David gave [these songs] in chief, to give thanks unto Yahweh,—through Asaph, and his brethren:—

8 Give ye thanks to Yahweh, Call upon his name, Make known among the peoples, his doings; Sing ye to him, Make music unto him, Speak ye of all his wonders. 10 Boast yourselves in his holy name, Joyful be the heart of them who are seeking Yahweh. 11 Search out Yahweh, and his power, Seek diligently his face, at all times. 12 Remember his wonders which he hath done, His splendid deeds, and the just decisions of his mouth. 13 O ye seed of Israel his servant, Sons of Jacob—his chosen ones: ||Yahweh himself|| is our God, <Through all the land> are his just decisions. 15 Remember ye to times age-abiding, his covenant, The word he hath commanded, to a thousand generations;

16 Which he solemnised with Abraham, And his oath, to Isaac;

And confirmed it,
Unto Jacob, for a statute,
Unto Israel, as a covenant age-abiding:

Saying,
<To thee> will I give the land of Canaan,
As your inherited portion:

While, as yet, ye were men who could be counted,
A very few, and sojourners therein:

And they wandered from nation to nation,
And from one kingdom, to another people:

He suffered no man to oppress them,
And reproved—for their sakes—kings!

Ye may not touch mine Anointed ones,
And <to my Prophets> may ye do no wrong.

Sing to Yahweh, all the earth,
Tell the tidings, from day to day, of his salvation:

Recount,
Among the nations, his glory,
Among all the peoples, his wonders.

For great’ is Yahweh, and worthy to be mightily praised,
And to be revered’ is he’ above all gods;

For ||all the gods of the peoples|| are things of nought;
But ||Yahweh|| made the heavens.

||Praise and majesty|| are before him,
||Strength and joy|| are in his dwelling-place.

Give to Yahweh, ye families of the peoples,
Give to Yahweh, glory and strength:

Give to Yahweh, the glory of his name,—
Bring ye a present, and enter before him,
Bow down to Yahweh, in the adornment of holiness:

Tremble at his presence, all the earth,
But the world [shall be established], it shall not be shaken.

Let the heavens rejoice, and the earth exult,
Let them say among the nations,
||Yahweh|| hath become king!

Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof,
Let the field leap for joy, and all that is therein:

||Then|| shall shout in triumph, the trees of the forest,—

Before Yahweh, for he is coming, to judge the earth.

Give ye thanks unto Yahweh,
For he is good,
For <age-abiding> is his lovingkindness.

And say ye,
Save us, O God of our salvation,
And gather us and deliver us, from among the nations,—
That we may give thanks unto thy holy name,
That we may triumph aloud in thy praise.

Blessed be Yahweh, God of Israel,
From one age even to another age.

Then said all the people,
Amen,

And gave praise to Yahweh.

So he left there, before the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, Asaph and his brethren,—to be in attendance before the ark continually, for the duty of a day on its day;
and Obed-edom with his brethren, sixty-eight,—and Obed-edom son of Jeduthun and Hosah to be doorkeepers;

and Zadok the priest, and his brethren the priests, before the habitation of Yahweh,—in the high place that was in Gibeon:
to offer ascending-sacrifices unto Yahweh, upon the altar of ascending-sacrifice,—continually, morning and evening,—even according to all that is written in the law of Yahweh, which he commanded concerning Israel;
and <with them> Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest of the chosen ones, who were distinguished by name,—to give thanks unto Yahweh,

For <age-abiding> is his lovingkindness.

And <with them> Heman and Jeduthun, [with] the trumpets, and the cymbals, for sounding aloud, and the instruments for the songs of God,—and the sons of Jeduthun, for the gate.

And all the people departed, every man to his house,—and David went round, to bless his own household.

Chapter 17.

1 And it came to pass <when David had taken up his abode in his house> that David said unto Nathan the prophet,

Lo! ||I|| am dwelling in a house of cedars, but ||the ark of the covenant of Yahweh|| is under curtains.

2 Then said Nathan unto David, <All that is in thy heart> do,—for ||God|| is with thee.

3 But so it was that <in that night> the word of God came unto Nathan,\(^a\) saying:

4 Go and say unto David my servant,

||Thou||\(^b\) shalt not build me a house, to dwell in; \(^c\) seeing that I have not dwelt in a house, since the day that I brought up Israel,\(^d\) until this day,—but have been from tent to tent, and without a habitation.

6 <Wheresoever I have wandered with all Israel> spake I ever ||a word|| with one of the judges of Israel, whom I charged to shepherd my people, saying,—

Wherefore\(^e\) have ye not built me a house of cedars?

7 ||Now|| therefore, ||thus|| shalt thou say unto my servant David,

||Thou||\(^f\) saith Yahweh of hosts, ||I myself|| took thee from the pasture, from after the flock,—to become leader\(^g\) over my people Israel; \(^h\) and was with thee whithersoever thou didst go, and have cut off all thine enemies, from before thee,—and will make thee a name,\(^d\) like the name of the great ones, who are in the earth; \(^i\) and will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, and they shall inhabit their place, and be unsettled no more,—neither shall the sons of perversity again\(^j\) wear them out,\(^k\) as at the first; \(^l\) even from the days when I put judges’ in charge over my people Israel, and have subdued all thine enemies,—that I might make thee great,\(^m\) yea  will Yahweh\(^n\) build for thee.

And it shall be that <when thy days are fulfilled, to sleep\(^o\) with thy fathers> then will I raise up thy seed after thee, who shall be of thy sons,—and I will establish his kingdom. \(^p\) ||He|| shall build me a house,—and I will establish his throne unto times age-abiding.

||I|| will become his’ father, And ||he|| shall become my’ son,—

And\(^q\) <my lovingkindness> will I not cause to depart from him,—as I caused it to depart from him who was before thee; \(^r\) but I will cause him to remain over my house and over my kingdom, unto times age-abiding,—and ||his throne|| shall be established, unto times age-abiding.

15<According to all these words, and according to all this vision> ||so|| spake Nathan unto David.

16 Then entered King David, and tarried\(^s\) before Yahweh,—and said,

Who am ||I||, O Yahweh God, and what is my house, that thou hast brought me hitherto; \(^t\) and hast made this seem little in thine eyes, O God, in that thou hast spoken concerning the house of thy servant, for a great while to come? Thus wilt thou provide for me, according to the rank\(^e\) of manhood, and hast exalted me,\(^n\) O Yahweh God!

What \(^y\)yet further can David say unto thee, [thus] to honour thy servant,—seeing that ||thou thyself|| knowest [thine own servant]?\(^r\)

O Yahweh, <for the sake of thy servant,\(^t\) and according to thine own heart> hast thou done all this great thing,—making known all the great things.

§ 27. Philistines, Moabites, Syrians, and Edomites subjegated to David.

Chapter 18.

1 And it came to to pass <after this> that David smote the Philistines, and subdued them,—and took Gath and her villages, out of the hand of the Philistines. And he smote Moab,—and the Moabites became servants to David, bearers of a present. And David smote Hadarezer’ king of Zobah, towards Hamath,—as he went to establish his hold of the river Euphrates. And David captured from him a thousand chariots, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen,—and David destroyed all the chariots, saving that he reserved from them a hundred chariots. And <when the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadarezer king of Zobah> David smote of the Syrians, twenty-two thousand men. And David put [garrisons] in Syria of Damascus, and so it was that the Syrians became [David’s] servants, bearers of a present,—so Yahweh gave victory to David, whithersoever he went. 7 And David took the shields of gold, that were upon the servants of Hadarezer,—and brought them to Jerusalem; also <from Tibhath and from Cûn, cities of Hadarezer> David took very much bronze,—<therewith> did Solomon make the sea of bronze, and the pillars, and the vessels of bronze. And <when Tou, king of Hamath, heard that David had smitten all the force of Hadarezer king of Zobah> he sent Hadoram his son unto King David, to ask after his welfare, and to bless him, because he had made war against Hadarezer and had smitten him, for ||a man making wars against Tou|| had been Hadarezer,—and [he had with him] all manner of vessels of gold and silver and bronze;

§ 29. The Sons of Ammon insult David, as a consequence they and their allies, the Syrians, are defeated and themselves subdued.

Chapter 19.

1 And it came to pass [after this] that Nahash king of the sons of Ammon died,—and Hanun his son reigned in his stead. 2 Then said David—

I will shew lovingkindness unto Hanun, son of Nahash,—for his father' shewed unto me' lovingkindness.

So David sent messengers to console him concerning his father,—and the servants of David came into the land of the sons of Ammon unto Hanun, to console him. 3 Then said the rulers of the sons of Ammon unto Hanun,

Doth David honour thy father in thine eyes, that he hath sent to thee comforters? 4

Is it not [for the sake of exploring and overthrowing, and spying out the land] that his servants have come to thee? 5

So Hanun took the servants of David, and shaved them, and cut off their upper garments in the middle, as far as their parts of shame,—and let them go. 6 And people went and told David, concerning the men, so he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed,—and the king said—

Tarry at Jericho, until your beards be grown, and then return.

6 And <when the sons of Ammon saw, that they had made themselves odious with David> Hanun and the sons of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver, to hire for themselves—out of Mesopotamia, and out of Aram-maaczah, and out of Zobah—chariots, and horsemen. 7 So they hired for themselves thirty-two thousand chariots, and the king of Maacah, and his people, who came and pitched before Medeba,—and the sons of Ammon gathered themselves together out of their cities, and entered into the war.

8 Now <when David heard> he sent Joab and all the army of heroes. 9 And the sons of Ammon came out, and set in array for the battle, at the opening of the city,—whereas [the kings who had come] were by themselves, in the field. 10 So <when Joab saw that the battle confronted him,> before and behind,—he chose out of all the choice in Israel, and set in array to meet the Syrians; 11 and <the rest of the people> delivered he into the hand of Abishai his brother,—and they set in array, to meet the sons of Ammon. 12 And he said—

<If [too strong for me] be the Syrians> then shalt thou come to my' help,—but <if [the sons of Ammon] be too strong for thee> then will I help thee’. 13 Be strong, and let us put forth our strength, for the sake of our people, and for the sake of the cities of our God,—and let [Yahweh] do what is good in his own eyes.

14 Then did Joab, and all the people who were with him, draw near before the Syrians unto the battle,—and they fled from before him. 15 And <when [the sons of Ammon] saw that the Syrians had fled> then fled [they also] from before Abishai his brother, and entered the city,—and Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 And when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated before Israel, then sent they messengers, and brought out the Syrians who were Beyond the River,—with Shophach captain of the army of Hadarezer, before them. 17 And it was told David, and he gathered together all Israel, and crossed the Jordan, and came unto them, and set in array against them,—and <when David had set in array against the Syrians for battle> they fought with him. 18 And the Syrians fled from before Israel, and David slew of the Syrians [the men of] seven thousand chariots, and forty thousand footmen,—and <Shophach captain of the army> he put to death. 19 And <when the servants of Hadarezer> saw that they were defeated before Israel> they made peace with David and served him,—neither

Chapter 20.

1 And it came to pass <at the time of the turn of the year, at the time of the going forth of kings> that Joab led forth the force of the army, and laid waste the land of the sons of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah, but [David] was tarrying in Jerusalem,—and Joab smote Rabbah, and overthrew it.  2 And David took the crown of their kinga from off his head, and found it weighed a talent of gold, and therein were precious stones, and it was [set] on the head of David,—and <the spoil of the city> brought he forth, in great abundance;  3 and <the people that were therein> brought he forth, and cut with the saw and with threshing sledges of iron and with axes, <thus also> used David to do unto all the cities of the son of Ammon,—and David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

§ 30. Exploits of some of David’s Heroes against the Philistines.

4 And it came to pass <after this> that there was yet againa a battle in Gezer, with the Philistines,— ||then|| Sibbecai the Hushathite smote Sippai of the children of the giants, and they were subdued.
5 And there again came to be a battle with the Philistines,—and Elhanan son of Jairb smote
Lahmi, brother of Goliath the Gittite, ||the staff of whose spear|| was like a weaver’s beam.
6 And there again came to be war with Gath,— where was a man of great stature, ||whose fingers and toes|| <six on each hand and foot> were four and twenty, and ||he also|| had been born unto the giant.  7 But <when he reproached Israel> Jonathan, son of Shimea brother of David, smote
him.  8 ||These|| were born unto the giant in Gath,— but they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

§ 31. The Numbering of the People protested against,

Chapter 21.

1 Then the accuserc stood up, against Israel,—and moved David, to number Israel.  2 And David said unto Joab and unto the rulers of the people, Go, number Israel, from Beer-sheba even unto Dan,—and bring [the report] unto me, that I may know the number of them.
3 Then said Joab,c
May Yahweh add unto his people, as many as they are, a hundred times, but are they not, my lord O king, all of them my lord’s, as servants?
whereforec should my lord seek this?
whereforec should it become guilt to Israel?
4 But ||the word of the king|| prevailed against Joab,—and Joab departed, and went to and fro throughout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem.  5
And Joab delivered the sum of the number of the people, unto David,—and all Israel was found to be a thousand thousand and a hundred thousand men, who drew sword, and Judah, four hundred and seventy thousand men, who drew sword.  6 But <Levi and Benjamin> counted he not among them,—for detestable’ was the word of the king unto Joab.
7 And it was displeasing in the eyes of God, concerning this thing,—therefore smote he Israel.
8 And David said unto God,
I have sinned greatly, in that I have done this thing,—but ||now|| I beseech thee, take away the iniquity of thy servant, for I have shown myself very foolish.
9 Then spake Yahweh unto Gad, the seer of David,
saying:
10 Go—and thou shalt speak unto David, saying,

<Three things> do I’ offer thee,—choose thee one from among them, that I may do it unto thee.

Whether <for three years> [there be] famine,
Or <for three months> that thou flee<sup>a</sup> before thine adversaries, while the sword of thine enemies overtakest thee.
Or <for three days> the sword of Yahweh, and pestilence be in the land, with ||the messenger of Yahweh|| laying waste throughout all the boundary of Israel,—
||Now|| therefore, see, what |answer| I shall return unto him that sent me.

13 And David said unto Gad,
I am in a great strait,—
Oh let me fall, I pray thee, into the hand of Yahweh, for abounding are his compassions, |exceedingly|, but |into the hand of man| let me not fall.

14 So Yahweh laid pestilence upon Israel,—and there fell, of Israel, seventy thousand men.

15 And God sent a messenger to Jerusalem, to lay it waste,<sup>b</sup> but <as he was laying it waste> Yahweh looked, and relented concerning the calamity, and said unto the messenger who was laying waste,
Enough! |[now]| stay thy hand.
And ||the messenger of Yahweh|| was standing by the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite.
16 And <when David lifted up his eyes, and saw the messenger of Yahweh, standing between the earth and the heavens,<sup>c</sup> and his sword drawn, in his hand, stretched out over Jerusalem> then fell David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, upon their faces.
17 And David said unto God,
Was it not ||[|||]|| who gave word to number the people? Yea ||[|||]|| it was<sup>d</sup> who sinned and did the great wrong, what then had ||these sheep|| done?
O Yahweh, my God, let thy hand, I beseech thee, be against me, and against the house of my father, but not against ||thy people|| that they should be plagued.

18 And ||the messenger of Yahweh|| commanded Gad, to say unto David,—that David should go up, to rear an altar unto Yahweh, in the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite.
19 So David went up, according to<sup>d</sup> the word of Gad, which he spake in the name of Yahweh.

20 And Ornan turned, and saw the messenger, but ||his four sons with him|| were hiding themselves,—now ||Ornan|| had been threshing wheat.
21 Then came David unto Ornan,—and Ornan looked, and saw David, and went forth out of the threshing-floor, and bowed himself unto David, with his face to the ground.
22 And David said unto Ornan
Grant me the place of the threshing-floor, that I may build thereon an altar, unto Yahweh,— <for silver in full> shalt thou grant it me, that the plague may be stayed from off the people.

23 And Ornan said unto David,
Take it to thee, and let my lord the king do what is good in his own eyes,—see! I have given the oxen for ascending-sacrifices, and <the threshing implements for wood, and the wheat for a meal-offering,—the whole> have I given.
24 Then said King David to Ornan,
Nay! but I will ||surely buy|| it for silver in full,—for I will not take that which is thine for Yahweh, nor offer an ascending-sacrifice that hath cost me nothing.

25 So David gave to Ornan, for the place,—shekels of gold, by weight, six hundred.

26 And David built there an altar unto Yahweh, and caused to go up ascending-sacrifices, and peace-offerings,—and called unto Yahweh, and he responded to him, by fire, out of the heavens, upon the altar of ascending-sacrifice.
27 And Yahweh gave word to the messenger, and he put back his sword into its sheath.

28 <At that time, when David saw that Yahweh had answered him in the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite> then he sacrificed there.
29 But ||the habitation of Yahweh, which Moses made in the desert, and the altar of ascending-sacrifice|| were <at that time> in the high place at Gibeon;<sup>e</sup> and David could not go before it, to seek God,—for he had been terrified, because of the sword of the messenger of Yahweh.

§ 32. David’s Preparations for Building the Temple; and his Charge to Solomon and the Rulers respecting it.

2 And David gave word, to gather together the sojourners, who were in the land of Israel,—and he set hewers to hew squared stones, for building the house of God; 3 and iron in abundance, for nails for the doors of the gates, and for hooks> did David prepare,—and bronze in abundance, without weight; 4 and cedar-trees, even without number,—for the Zidonians and the Tyreans brought cedar-trees in abundance, unto David.

5 And David said,

||Solomon my son|| is young and tender, and ||the house to be built|| must be great and lofty and famous and beautiful, for all lands,a—oh let me then prepare for it.

So David prepared abundantly, before his death. 6 Then he called for Solomon his son,—and charged him, to build a house, for Yahweh, God of Israel. 7 And David said to Solomon his son,b—

<As for me> it was ||near my heart|| to build a house for the Name of Yahweh my God; 8 but the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying, <Blood in abundance> hast thou shed, And <great wars> hast thou made,—Thou shalt not build a house for my Name, Because <much blood> hast thou shed upon the earth, before me.

9 Lo! ||a son|| born to thee, ||He|| shall be a man of rest, And I will give him rest from all his enemies, round about,—For <Solomon> shall be his Name, And <peace and quietness> will I bestow upon Israel, in his days;

||He|| shall build a house for my Name, And ||he|| shall be my‘ son,d And ||I|| will be his‘ father,e—Therefore will I establish the throne of his kingdomf over Israel, unto times age-abiding.

11 ||Now|| my son, Yahweh be with thee,—so shalt thou be prosperous, and shalt build the house of Yahweh thy God, according as he hath spoken concerning thee.

12 Only’ Yahweh give thee discretion and understanding, and give thee charge over Israel,—so that thou take heed unto the law of Yahweh thy God. 13 ||Then|| shalt thou prosper, if thou take heed to do the statutes and the regulations, which Yahweh commanded Moses, concerning Israel,—be strong and bold, thou mayst not be in fear, nor be dismayed.

14 Lo! then <in my humiliation> have I prepared for the house of Yahweh, of gold a hundred thousand talents, and of silver a thousand thousand talents, and <as for bronze and iron> without weight, for <an abundance> hath it become,—<timber also and stone> have I prepared, and <thereunto> thou canst add. And <with thee, in abundance> are workmen, hewers and carvers of stone and wood,—and every sort of wise man, in all manner of work: 16 for gold and for silver and for bronze and for iron, ||without number|. Arise and do, and Yahweh be with thee!

17 And David charged all the rulers of Israel, to help Solomon his son:—

18 Is not ||Yahweh your God|| with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side? for he hath given into my hand, the inhabitants of the land, and subdued’ is the land before Yahweh, and before his people.

19 ||Now|| apply your heart and your soul, to seek unto Yahweh your God,—and then arise ye and build the sanctuary of Yahweh Elohim, that ye may bring the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, and the holy vessels of God, into the house which hath been built for the Name of Yahweh.

Israel, with the priests, and the Levites. Now the Levites were numbered, from thirty years old and upwards,—and their number by their polls of mature men, was thirty-eight thousand. 4

<Of these—to preside over the work of the house of Yahweh> were twenty-four thousand,—and officers and judges, six thousand; 5 and [these] were doorkeepers,—and [these] were offerers of praise unto Yahweh, with instruments.

Which [said David] I made for offering praise. 6

And David divided them into courses,—pertaining to the sons of Levi, to Gershom, Kohath and Merari.

7 <Of the Gershonites> Ladan and Shimei. 8 [The sons of Ladan] the chief Jehiel, and Zetham and Joel, three. 9 [The sons of Shimei] Shelomoth and Haziel and Haran, three,—[these] were the ancestral chiefs of Ladan. 10 And [the sons of Shimei] Jahath, Zina, and Jeush, and Beriah,—[these] were the sons of Shimei, four. 11 And Jahath was chief, and Zizah the second,—but [Jeush and Beriah] had not many sons, so they became an ancestral house, by one reckoning.

12 [The sons of Kohath] Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four. 13 [The sons of Amram] Aaron and Moses,—and Aaron was separated, to hallow the holy of holies, [he and his sons], unto times age-abiding, to make a perfume before Yahweh, to be in attendance upon him, and to bless in his name, unto times age-abiding;

14 and <as for Moses, the man of God> [his sons] were called unto the tribe of Levi. 15 [The sons of Moses] were Gershom, and Eliezer. 16 [The sons of Gershom] were Sheubel the chief; 17 and the sons of Eliezer were Rehabiah the chief,—and Eliezer had no other sons, but [the sons of Rehabiah] were very many. 18 [The sons of Izhar] Shelomith the chief. 19 [The sons of Hebron] Jeriah the chief, Amariah the second, Jehaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. 20 [The sons of Uzziel] Micah the chief, and Isshiah the second.

21 [The sons of Merari] were Mahli and Mushi. [The sons of Mahli] were Eleazar and Kish. 22 But Eleazar died, and had no sons, but daughters only,—and so the sons of Kish their brethren took them. 23 [The sons of Mushi] were Mahli and Eder and Jeremoth, three.

24 [These] were the sons of Levi by their ancestral house, the ancestral chiefs of them who were counted in the number of their names, by their polls, doing the work, for the service of the house of Yahweh,—from twenty years old, and upwards. 25 For, said David, Yahweh the God of Israel hath given rest unto his people,—and hath taken up his habitation in Jerusalem, unto times age-abiding; 26 moreover also <as for the Levites> they have no need to bear the habitation, nor any of its vessels in the laborious work thereof.

27 For <by the last words of David> [the same] were the number of the sons of Levi,—from twenty years old, and upwards. 28 For [their duty] was—to be in attendance upon the sons of Aaron, in the laborious work of the house of Yahweh, over the courts, and over the chambers, and over the purifying of everything holy,—and doing the laborious work of the house of God; 29 and for the bread set in array, and for the fine meal for the meal-offering, and for the unleavened cakes, even for that which is baked in a pan, for the moistened food,—even of every measure and size; 30 and to stand morning by morning, to give thanks and offer praise unto Yahweh,—and likewise at even; 31 and for all the offering of ascending-sacrifices unto Yahweh, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the set feasts,—by number, according to the manner prescribed for them continually, before Yahweh;—32 and they shall keep the charge of the tent of meeting, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the sons of Aaron, their brethren,—in the laborious work of the house of Yahweh.

Chapter 24.

Now ||[the sons of Aaron]| had their courses,—[the sons of Aaron], Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar; ̣ but Nadab and Abihu [died] before their father, and ||[sons]| had they none,—but Eleazar and Ithamar became priests;

and David apportioned to them courses, both to Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and to Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar,—by their appointed place, in their service. 4 But the sons of Eleazar were found to be more numerous, by the chiefs of their able men, than were the sons of Ithamar, so they divided them,—[the sons of Eleazar] had chiefs, of the ancestral house ||sixteen], whereas ||[the sons of Ithamar] had of their ancestral house, ||eight]. 5 They divided them, therefore, by [casting] lots, these with those,—for there were princes of the sanctuary, and princes of God, from among the sons of Eleazar, and among the sons of Ithamar.

And Shemaiah son of Nethanel the scribe from among the Levites, [wrote them down] before the king and the rulers and Zadok the priest, and Ahimelech son of Abiathar, and the ancestral chiefs, pertaining to the priests and to the Levites,—[one ancestral house] was taken for Eleazar, and ||equal] was equally taken] for Ithamar. 6

So then the first lot came forth for Jehoiarib, ||for Jedeaia] the second; 7 ||for Harim] the third, ||for Seorim] the fourth; 9 ||[for Malchijah] the fifth, ||for Miqamim] the sixth;

||for Hakkoz] the seventh, ||for Abijah] the eighth; 11 ||for Jeshua] the ninth, ||for Shecaniah] the tenth; 12 ||for Eliashib] the eleventh, ||for Jakim] the twelfth; 13 ||for Huppah] the thirteenth, ||for Jeshebea] the fourteenth; 14 ||for Bilgah] the fifteenth, ||for Immer] the sixteenth;

15 ||for Hezir] the seventeenth, ||for Happizzez] the eighteenth;

16 ||for Pethahiah] the nineteenth, ||for Jehezekel] the twentieth; 17 ||for Jachin] the twenty-first, ||for Gamul] the twenty-second; 18 ||for Delaiah] the twenty-third, ||for Maaziah] the twenty-fourth. 19 ||These] were their appointed places for their service, for entering the house of Yahweh, according to the regulation of them, by the hand of Aaron their father,—just as Yahweh God of Israel [commanded him]. 20

Now ||[as for the sons of Levi who remained]| ||[of the sons of Amram]| Shubael, ||of the sons of Shubael] Jehdeiah; 21 ||[Of Rehabiah]|, 21 ||[of the sons of Rehabiah] the chief ́ Isshiah;

24 ||[the sons of Uzziel] Micah, ||of the sons of Micah] Shamir; 25 ||[of the brother of Micah] Isshiah, ||[of the sons of Isshiah] Zebchariah. 26

The sons of Merari] Mahli and Mushi,—||[the sons of Jazziath] Beno;

27 ||[the sons of Merari, of Jazziath] Beno, and Shoham and Zaccur and Ibri: 28 ||[of Mahli] Eleazar, who had no sons; 29 ||[of Kish—the sons of Kish] Jerameel; 30 and ||[the sons of Mushi] Mahli and Eder and Jerimoth. ||These] were the sons of the Levites, belonging to their ancestral house.

Moreover ||[they also]| cast lots along with their brethren the sons of Aaron, before David the king and Zadok and Ahimelech, and the ancestral chiefs, pertaining to the priests and to the Levites, the ancestral chief along with his younger' brethren.
§ 35. David and his Captains appoint Twenty-four Courses of Singers and Musicians, under Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman.

Chapter 25.

And David and the captains of the host set apart for service, unto the sons of Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun, such as should prophesy, with harps and lyres, and with cymbals, and with the number of the workers, for their service was: 2 <Of the sons of Asaph> Zaccur and Joseph and Nathaniah and Asarelah, the sons of Asaph,—under the direction of Asaph, who prophesied under the direction of the king. 3 <Of Jeduthun> the sons of Jeduthun—Gedaliah, and Zeri, and Jeshaiah, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah—six, under the direction of their father Jeduthun, with the lyre, as he prophesied, in giving thanks and offering praise unto Yahweh. 4 <Of Heman> the sons of Heman—Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, and Jeremoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, Mahazioth. 5 All these were sons of Heman, the seer of the king in the things of God, at the lifting of the horn. And God gave to Heman, fourteen sons and three daughters. 6 All these were under the direction of their father, in the singing of the house of Yahweh, with cymbals, harps and lyres, for the service of the house of God,—Asaph and Jeduthun and Heman, under the direction of the king. 7 And the number of them—with their brethren, who were instructed in singing unto Yahweh, even all the skilful] was two hundred and eighty-eight. 8 So they cast lots for their charges, all alike, as the small so the great, the teacher with the learner.

And the first lot came forth for Asaph, to Joseph,—Gedaliah the second, he' and his brethren and his sons, twelve. 10 The third, Zaccur, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 11 The fourth, to Izri, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 12 The fifth, Nathaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 13 The sixth, Bukkiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 14 The seventh, Jesharelah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 15 The eighth, Jeshaiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 16 The ninth, Mattaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 17 The tenth, Shimei, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 18 The eleventh, Azarel, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 19 The twelfth, to Hashabiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 20 As the thirteenth, Shubael, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 21 As the fourteenth, Mattithiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 22 As the fifteenth, to Jeremoth, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 23 As the sixteenth, to Hananiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 24 As the seventeenth, to Joshbekashah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 25 As the eighteenth, to Hanani, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 26 As the nineteenth, to Mallothi, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 27 As the twentieth, to Eliathah, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 28 As the twenty-first, to Hothir, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 29 As the twenty-second, to Giddalti, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 30 As the twenty-third, to Mahazioth, his sons and his brethren, twelve. 31 As the twenty-fourth, to Romamti-ezer, his sons and his brethren, twelve.

§ 36. Courses of Levites serving as Door-keepers, Treasurers, and Officers and Judges.

Chapter 26.

<To the courses of the door-keepers pertained,—of the Korahites| Meshelemiah son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph, 2 and Meshelemiah had sons,—Zechariah the firstborn, Jedediael the second, Zebadia the third, Jathniel the fourth; Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh. 4 And Obededom|>
Ladan—the sons of the Gershonites belonging to Ladan—the ancestral chiefs belonging to Ladan the Gershonite|| were Jehiel; 22 the sons of Jehiel|| Zetham and Joel his brother who were over the treasuries of the house of Yahweh. 23 Then came certain of the Amramites, of the Izharites, of the Hebronites, of the Uzzielites. 24 And ||Shebuel, son of Gershom, son of Moses|| was chief ruler over the treasuries. 25 And ||his brethren pertaining to Eliezer|| were Rehobiah his son, and Jeshuaiah his son, and Joam his son, and Zichri his son, and Shelomoth his son. 26 ||The same Shelomoth and his brethren|| were over all the treasuries of the hallowed things, which David the king and the ancestral chiefs, with the captains of thousands and hundreds and the captains of the army |had hallowed|: 27 <out of the battles and out of the spoil> had they hallowed [them],—to strengthen [the provision] for the house of Yahweh. 28 And <all that Samuel the seer, and Saul son of Kish, and Abner son of Ner, and Joab son of Zeruiah> had hallowed, <whosoever had hallowed anything> it was under the direction1 of Shelomoth,4 and his brethren.

29 <Of the Izharites> ||Chenaniah and his sons|| were for the outward business over Israel,—as officers, and as judges.

30 <Of the Hebronites> ||Hashabiah and his brethren, sons of valour,1 one thousand seven hundred|| had the oversight of Israel, across the Jordan westward,—for all the business of Yahweh, and for the service of the king.

31 <Of the Hebronites> ||Jerijah|| was chief, [he was] of the Hebronites by his generations, by his fathers,—<in the fortieth year of the reign of David> were they sought out, and there were found among them heroes of valour, in Jazer of Gilead; 32 and ||his brethren that were heroes of valour|| were two thousand and seven hundred, ancestral chiefs,—so David the king gave them oversight, over the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half tribe of Manassites, in all the affairs of God, and the affairs of the king.

§ 37. Twelve Monthly Courses of Royal Attendants, acting between the other Courses and the King.

Chapter 27.

1 Now the sons of Israel—as to the number of them, the ancestral chiefs—and rulers of thousands and hundreds, and their officers who waited upon the king as to any matter of the courses, who came in and went out month by month, for all the months of the year, in each course were twenty-four thousand.

2 Over the first course, for the first month, was Jashobeam, son of Zabdiel,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. Of the sons of Perez was the chief for all the rulers of the hosts, for the first month. And over the course for the second month was Dodai an Ahohite, and of his course was Mikloth also a chief ruler,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. The ruler of the third host, for the third month, was Benaiyah, son of Jehoiada the priest—a chief,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand.

3 The same Benaiyah was a hero of thirty, and over the thirty,—and over his course was Ammizabad his son. The fourth, for the fourth month, was Asahel, brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son, after him,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. Of the fifth month, for the fifth month, was Shamhuth the Izrahite,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand.

4 The sixth, for the sixth month, was Ira son of Ikkesh, the Tekoite,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. The seventh, for the seventh month, was Helez the Pelonite, of the sons of Ephraim,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. The eighth, for the eighth month, was Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zerahites,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. Of the Zerahites was Jashobeam, brother of Joab, and of his course were twenty-four thousand. The ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer the Anathothite, of the Benjamites,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. Of the tenth month, for the tenth month, was Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zerahites,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand. The eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Benaiah the Pirathonite, of the sons of Ephraim,—and in his course were twenty-four thousand.

5 Furthermore the chief ruler of the Reubenites was Eliezer, son of Zichri. Of the Simeonites was Shephatiah, son of Maacah. Of Levi, Hashubah, son of Kemuel. Of Aaron, Zadok. Of Judah, Elihu, one of the brethren of David. Of Issachar, Omri, son of Michael. Of Zebulun, Ishmaiah, son of Obadiah. Of Naphtali, Jeremoth, son of Azriel. Of the sons of Ephraim was Hoshea son of Azaziah. Of the half tribe of Manasseh was Joel, son of Pediah. Of the half of Manasseh in Gilead was Jeddo, son of Zechariah. Of Benjamin was Jaasiel, son of Abner. Of Dan, Azarel, son of Jeroham. These were the rulers of the tribes of Israel. But David took not the number of them, from twenty years old, and under,—because Yahweh had said, he would multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens. These were the rulers of the tribes of Israel. But David took not the number of them, from twenty years old, and under,—because Yahweh had said, he would multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens. These were the rulers of the tribes of Israel.

§ 38. The Rulers of the Twelve Tribes.

16 And over the treasuries of the king was Azmaveth, son of Adiel. And over the treasuries in the fields, in the cities, in the villages and in the castles was Jonathan, son of Uzziah; And over the workers of the field, for the tillage of the ground was Ezri, son of Chelub. And over the vineyards was Shimei, the Ramathite. And over that which was in the vineyards, for the treasuries of wine was Zabdi, the Shiphmite. And over the olive-trees and the sycamore-trees that were in the lowland was Baal-hanan the Gederite. And over the treasuries of oil was Joash. And over the herds that pastured in Sharon was Shirai, the Sharonite. And over the herds in the valleys was Shaphat, son of Adlai. And over the camels was Obil, the Ishmaelite.

32 And ||Jonathan the relative of David|| was a counsellor, ||a man of understanding and a scribe|| was he. § 41. David’s last Charge to his Chief Men and to Solomon: His Plans and Patterns for the Temple and its Furniture.

Chapter 28.

1 And David called together b all the rulers of Israel, the rulers of tribes and the rulers of the courses who waited upon the king,—and the rulers of thousands and the rulers of hundreds, and the rulers over all the possessions and substance that belonged to the king and to his sons, with the courtiers and the heroes, even every hero of valour, unto Jerusalem.

2 Then David the king rose up on his feet, and said,

Hear me, my brethren and my people,—
<As for me> it was near my heart, to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, and for the footstool of our God, and I made ready to build. 3 But ||God|| said to me, Thou shalt not build a house for my Name,—for  thou art’, and <blood> hast thou shed.

4 Howbeit Yahweh, God of Israel, made choice of me, out of all of the house of my father, to become king over Israel unto times age-abiding, for <of Judah> had he made choice to be chief ruler, and <in the house of Judah> ||the house of my father||,—and <among the sons of my father> ||with me|| was he well-pleased, to make me king over all Israel; 5 and <from among all my sons>—for <many sons> hath Yahweh’ given me,—he hath made choice of Solomon my son, to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of Yahweh, over Israel. 6 And he said unto me,

||Solomon thy son—he|| shall build my house, and my courts,—for I have made choice of him that he may be my’ son, and that ||I|| may be his’ father. 7 So will I establish his kingdom, unto times age-abiding,—if he be strong, to do my commandments and my regulations, as at this day.

8 ||Now|| therefore,

<in the eyes of all Israel—the convocation of Yahweh, and in the ears of our God>
Observe and seek all the commandments of Yahweh your God,—to the end that ye may possess the good land,—and suffer your sons after you to inherit it, unto times age-abiding.

9 ||Thou||, therefore, ||Solomon my son||
Know thou the God of thy father,
And serve him with a perfect heart and with a willing soul,
For <all hearts> doth Yahweh search,
And <every devised purpose> doth he understand,—
<If thou seek him>
He will be found of thee,
But <if thou forsake him>
He will cast thee off for ever. c

10 See! ||now|| that ||Yahweh|| hath made choice of thee, to build a house for a sanctuary—be strong and do!

11 Then gave David unto Solomon his son, the plan of the porch, and the recesses thereof, and the treasuries thereof, and the upper rooms thereof, and the inner chambers thereof, and the recess for the propitiatory; 12 and the plan of all which had come by the spirit to be with him, for the courts of the house of Yahweh, and for all the rooms round about,—for the treasuries of the house of God, and for the treasuries of hallowed things; 13 and for the courses of the priests and the Levites, and for all the work of the service of the house of Yahweh,—and for all the utensils of the service of the house of Yahweh: 14 <of gold, by weight> for the gold, for all manner of utensils for each several service,—for all manner of utensils of silver, by weight, for all manner of utensils for each several service; 15 and a weight, for the lampstands of gold, and their lamps of gold, by the weight of each several lampstand, and the lamps thereof,—and for the lampstands of silver by weight, for each lampstand and the lamps thereof, according to the service of each several lampstand. 16 And the gold [gave he] by weight for the tables for setting in array, for each several table,—and silver, for the tables of silver; 17 and the fleshhooks and the bowls and the cups, pure gold,—and for the goblets of gold, by weight for each several goblet, and for the goblets of silver, by weight for each several goblet; 18 and <for the altar of incense> refined gold, by weight,—and <for the pattern of the chariot of the cherubim> gold, for them that were spreading out, and covering the ark of the covenant of Yahweh:——19 the whole in writing.

From the hand of Yahweh upon me to give understanding,—all the works of the pattern.

Then said David, unto Solomon his son, Be strong and bold, and act, thou mayest not fear nor be dismayed,—for ||Yahweh, God, my God|| will be with thee, he will not let thee go, neither will he forsake thee, until thou hast finished all the work of the service of the house of Yahweh. 21 And there are the courses of the priests and the Levites, for all the service of the house of God,—and <with thee, in all manner of work> is every willing, skilful man for any service, also the rulers and all the people, for all thine affairs.

§ 42. Offerings for Building the Temple made by David and his People.

Chapter 29.

Then said David the king unto all the convocation,
||Solomon my son, ||the one|| of whom God hath made choice|| is young and tender,—and ||the work|| is great, seeing that <not for man> is the palace, but for Yahweh Elohim. 2 And <with all my might> have I made preparation for the house of my God, the gold for the gold, and the silver for the silver, and the bronze for the bronze, the iron for the iron, and the wood for the wood,—and beryl stones and settings, stones coloured and particoloured, and all manner of precious stones and stones of white marble, in abundance. 3 And yet further' <because of my delighting in the house of my God, having a treasure of mine own in gold and silver> I have given for the house of my God, above and beyond all that I have prepared for the holy house: 4 three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir,—and seven thousand talents of refined silver, for overlaying the walls of the recesses. 5 <Of gold' for the gold, and of silver' for the silver, and for all manner of work in the hand of artificers>,—Who then is ready to offer willingly, by filling his hand to-day, unto Yahweh?

Then offered they willingly—the ancestral rulers and the rulers of the tribes of Israel, and the rulers of thousands and hundreds, even to the rulers of the work of the king; 7 and gave for the service of the house of God, <of gold' five thousand talents and ten thousand drams,> and <of silver> ten thousand talents, and <of bronze> eighteen thousand talents,—and <of iron> one hundred thousand talents.

And ||every one with whom were found precious stones|| gave to the treasure of the house of Yahweh,—unto the hand< of Jehiel the Gershonite. 9 So the people rejoiced because they willingly offered, for <with a perfect heart> offered they willingly unto Yahweh,—moreover also' ||David the king|| rejoiced with great joy.

§ 43. David’s Public Thanksgiving, and his People’s Response, in Prayer, Sacrifice and Feasting.

Therefore did David bless Yahweh in the eyes of all the convocation,—and David said, Blessed' art thou, O Yahweh, the God of Israel our father, from age even unto age.6

||Thine|| O Yahweh, are Greatness, and Might, and Beauty, and Victory, and Majesty, nay!

all in the heavens and in the earth]].—[thine]]
O Yahweh, is the kingdom, who art exalted’ above all,—as chief; 12 and [riches and honour] are from before thee, and [thou] art ruling over all, and <in thy hand> are power and might,—and <in thy hand> it is, to give greatness and strength unto any.

||Now|| therefore, O our God, we’ are giving thanks unto thee,—and offering praise, unto thy beautiful’ Name.
And yet, who’ am ||I||, and who’ are my people, that we should be able’ to offer willingly like this? for <from thee> is the whole, and <out of thine own hand> have we given unto thee; 15 for <sojourners> are we’ before thee, and strangers, like all our fathers,—<like a shadow> are our days upon the earth, and there is no’ hope. 16 O Yahweh our God, ||all this abundance which we have prepared, to build thee a house for thy holy’ Name|| <out of thine own hand> it is, and <thine> is the whole. 17 But I know, O my God, that ||thou|| art proving the heart, and <with uprightness> wilt thou be pleased,—||I|| <in the uprightness of my heart> have willingly offered all these things, ||now|| therefore, <thy people who are found here> have I seen with joy, offering willingly unto thee.

O Yahweh, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our fathers, oh guard this age-abidingly, as the devised’ purpose of the heart of thy people,—and establish thou their heart, unto thyself.
Also <unto Solomon my son> give thou an undivided heart, to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy statutes,—to do the whole, and to build the palace for which I have prepared.

Then said David, unto all the convocation,
Bless, I beseech you, Yahweh your God.
So all the convocation blessed’ Yahweh, the God of their fathers, and did bend their heads and bow themselves down unto Yahweh, and unto the king; 21 and sacrificed unto Yahweh sacrifices, and caused to go up ascending-offerings unto Yahweh, on the morrow of that day, a thousand bullocks, a thousand rams, a thousand young sheep, and the drink-offerings thereof,—and sacrifices in abundance, for all Israel. 22 And so they did eat and drink before Yahweh on that day, with great joy,—and they, the second time, made Solomon son of David king, and anointed him unto Yahweh to be chief ruler, and Zadok to be priest.

§ 44. Solomon’s Accession to the Throne, and David’s Death in Peace and Honour.

23 So Solomon took his seat upon the throne of Yahweh, as king, instead of David his father, and prospered,—and all Israel [hearkened unto him]. 24 And [all the rulers, and the heroes, yea moreover’ all the sons of King David] gave a hand, under Solomon the king. 25 And Yahweh magnified Solomon exceedingly, before the eyes of all Israel,—and gave unto him a royal majesty, that had not been on any king before him, over Israel.
26 Thus ||David son of Jesse|| reigned over all Israel; 27 and [the days that he reigned over Israel] were forty years,—<in Hebron> reigned he seven years, and <in Jerusalem> reigned he, thirty-three. 28 And he died in a good old age, satisfied with days, riches and honour,—and Solomon his son reigned in his stead.

29 Now ||the acts of David the king, first and last|| behold them! written in the records of Samuel the seer, and in the records of Nathan the prophet, and in the records of Gad the seer: 30 with all his reign, a and his might,—and the times which passed over him, and over Israel, and over all the kingdoms of the lands.

§ 1. Solomon convokes an Assembly at Gibeon, where he sacrifices; and God promises him Wisdom, Wealth and Honour.

Chapter 1.

And Solomon, son of David, strengthened himself over his kingdom,—and [Yahweh his God] was with him, and made him surpassingly great. And Solomon gave word to all Israel—to the rulers of thousands and hundreds, and to the judges, and to all the leaders of all Israel, ancestral chiefs; and Solomon, and all the convocation with him, went to the high place that was in Gibeon,—for there was the tent of meeting of God, which Moses the servant of Yahweh made in the desert. Howbeit the ark of God had David brought up from Kiriath-jearim, into the place that David had prepared for it,—for he had pitched for it in Jerusalem. Also the altar of bronze that Bezalel son of Uri son of Hur had made was there before the habitation of Yahweh,—so Solomon and the convocation sought it. Solomon went up thither unto the altar of bronze before Yahweh, which belonged to the tent of meeting,—and caused to go up thereon a thousand ascending-sacrifices. During that night God appeared unto Solomon,—and said unto him, Ask what I shall give thee. And Solomon said unto God, Thou thyself didst deal with David my father in great lovingkindness,—and hast made me king over a people for multitude like the dust of the earth. Now Wisdom and knowledge give thou unto me, that I may go out before this people, and may come in,—for who can judge this thy people, that is so great? And God said unto Solomon, Because this was near thy heart, and thou hast not asked riches, wealth, or honour, or the life of them that hate thee, nor even many days hast thou asked,—but hast asked for thyself, wisdom and knowledge, that thou mayest judge my people, over whom I have made thee king. Moreover riches and wealth and honour will I give thee, such as the kings who were before thee did not possess, neither shall they who come after thee possess the like. And Solomon came from the high place that was in Gibeon unto Jerusalem, from before the tent of meeting,—and reigned over Israel.

And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen, and came to have a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen,—and he settled them in chariot cities, and with the king in Jerusalem. And the king made silver and gold in Jerusalem, like stones, and cedars made he like the sycomores that are in the lowland for abundance. And the horses which Solomon had were an export out of Egypt,—and a company of royal merchants used to fetch a drove at a price; and they built and brought forth out of Egypt a chariot for six hundred [shekels] of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty,—and so for all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria by their means brought they them forth.
§ 2. Solomon prepares to Build the Temple.

Chapter 2.

1 Then Solomon gave word to build a house’ for the Name of Yahweh, and a house for his kingdom.

2 And Solomon numbered seventy thousand men to bear burdens, and eighty thousand men, to hew in the mountain,—and <to oversee them> three thousand six hundred.

3 And Solomon sent unto Huram king of Tyre, saying,—

  <As thou didst deal with David my father, and didst send him cedars to build him a house to dwell in> I am about to build a house for the Name of Yahweh my God, to hallow unto him—to burn before him sweet incense, and for a continual setting in array, and to offer ascending-sacrifices morning and evening, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the appointed feasts of Yahweh our God,—<age-abiding> is this [law] for Israel.

And the house which I am about to build] [must be] great,—for great is our God, above all gods.

5 But who is able to build unto him a house? for [the heavens, even the heaven of heavens] cannot contain him,—who then am [I], that I should build unto him a house, though only to burn incense before him?

6 And I will send me a wise man, skilled in understanding, who will build an house for my father David.

7 And send me—timbers of cedar, cypress and sandal-wood, out of the Lebanon, for I know that thy servants are skilful, to cut the timbers of Lebanon,—and lo! my servants shall be with thy servants: yea to prepare me timbers in abundance,—for [the house which I am about to build]] must be great and most wonderful.

8 And lo! <for the hewers that cut the timbers> have I given wheat as food for thy servants, twenty thousand measures, and barley, twenty thousand measures, and wine, twenty thousand baths, and oil, twenty thousand baths.

9 Then answered Huram king of Tyre, in writing, which he sent unto Solomon,— <Because Yahweh hath loved his people> hath he set thee over them as king.

10 And Huram said,

Blessed be Yahweh, God of Israel, who made the heavens and the earth,—who hath given unto David the king, a wise son, skilled in prudence and understanding, who will build a house for Yahweh, and a house for his kingdom.

11 Now therefore, have I sent a wise man, skilled in understanding, pertaining to Huram my father: son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, whose father was a man of Tyre, skilled to work in gold and in silver, in bronze, in iron, in stones and in timber, in purple, in blue and in fine white linen, and in crimson, and to grave any manner of graving, and to devise any manner of device that may be given to him, with thy wise men, and the wise men of my lord David thy father.

12 Now therefore, <the wheat and the barley, the oil and the wine, whereof my lord hath spoken> let him send unto his servants; and will cut down timbers out of the Lebanon, according to all thy need, and will bring them unto thee in floats, upon the sea to Joppa,—and shalt fetch them up to Jerusalem.

13 So Solomon numbered all the men that were sojourners, who were in the land of Israel, after the numbering, wherewith David his father had numbered them,—and they were found to be—a hundred and fifty-three thousand and six hundred.

14 And he made up from among them—seventy thousand, to bear burdens, and eighty thousand to § 3. The Building and Furnishing of the Temple described.

Chapter 3.

Then began Solomon, to build the house of Yahweh, in Jerusalem, in Mount Moriah, where he had appeared unto David his father,—in the place which David had prepared, in the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

And he began to build, in the second month, on the second, in the fourth year of his reign.

And [these] are the things wherein Solomon was grounded for the building of the house of God,—the length, by cubits, in the first measure, was sixty cubits, and the breadth thereof was twenty cubits, and the height thereof was a hundred and twenty,—and he overlaid it, within, with pure gold. And the greater house covered he with cypress wood, and overlaid it with fine gold, and raised thereon palms, and wreathed garlands.

And he covered the house with precious stones, for beauty,—and the gold was gold of Parvaim.

And he covered the house, the beams, the entrance-hall, and the walls thereof and the doors thereof, with gold,—and he carved cherubim upon the walls. And he made the most holy house, the length whereof was, according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof, twenty cubits,—and he covered it with fine gold, to the number of six hundred talents; and the weight of the nails amounted to fifty shekels of gold,—and the upper chambers covered he with gold. And he made, in the most holy house, two cherubim, of carved work,—and covered them with gold. And as for the wings of the cherubim, the length of them was twenty cubits,—the one wing by the breadth of the house, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubits, reaching to the wing of the other cherub; and the wing of the other cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house,—and the other wing, five cubits, cleaving to the wing of the other cherub: the wings of these cherubim, outspread, were twenty cubits,—and they themselves were standing upon their feet, and their faces were inward. And he made a vail, of blue and purple, and crimson and byssus cloth,—and raised thereon cherubim. And he made, for the front of the house, two pillars, thirty five cubits in length,—and the capital which was upon the top of each was five cubits.

And he made wreathen chains in the shrine, and put them upon the top of the pillars,—and he made one hundred pomegranates, and put them in the chains. And he reared up the pillars in front of the temple, on the right, and on the left,—and called the name of that on the right hand, Jachin, and the name of that on the left, Boaz.

Chapter 4.

And he made an altar of bronze, the length thereof, and the breadth thereof, and the height thereof. And he made a molten sea,—ten cubits the breadth thereof, and five cubits the height thereof. And he made a bowl, of bronze, the height thereof. And he made a vail, and the likeness of oxen, was under it round about on every side, encircling it, ten cubits going round the sea, on every side,—two rows of oxen, made in the casting. It was standing on twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east, the sea being upon them above,—and all their hinder parts inward. And

And he made ten lavers, and set five on the right hand, and five on the left, to bathe therein,
<what is offered as an ascending-sacrifice> do they rinse therein,—but [the sea] was, that the priests should bathe therein.

And he made ten lampstands of gold according to the regulation thereof,—and set in the temple, ||five|| on the right hand, and ||five|| on the left.

And he made ten tables, and placed in the temple, ||five|| on the right hand, and ||five|| on the left,—and he made a hundred tossing bowls of gold.

And he made the court of the priests, and the house of Yahweh,—of burnished bronze.

And Huram made—the pans, and the shovels, and the tongs of gold, and all the vessels made he for the house of Yahweh,—and the altar of gold, and the entrance of the house, the inner doors thereof for the holy of holies, and the doors of the house of the temple, were of gold.

Chapter 5.

Thus was perfected, all the work, which Solomon made, for the house of Yahweh,—and Solomon brought in the hallowed things of David his father, <the silver, and the gold, and all the utensils> placed he, in the treasuries of the house of God.

||Then|| Solomon called together1 the elders of Israel, and all the chiefs of the tribes, the ancestral leaders of the sons of Israel, unto Jerusalem,—to bring up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh out of the city of David, ||the same|| is Zion. 3 And all the men of Israel came together unto the king, in the festival,—||the same|| was the seventh month. 4 And all the elders of Israel came in,—and the Levites bare the ark; 5 and they brought up the ark, and the tent of meeting, and all the holy utensils, that were in the tent,—the priests them Levites did bring them up. 6 And ||King Solomon, and all the assembly of Israel who assembled themselves unto him, before the ark|| were sacrificing sheep and oxen, which could not be told nor could they be counted, for multitude. 7 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of Yahweh into the place thereof, into the shrine of the house, into the holy of holies,—into [the place] beneath the wings of the cherubim;—8 for the cherubim were spreading forth two wings, over the place of the ark,—so that the cherubim formed a covering over the ark and over the staves thereof, from above.

And they drew out the staves, and the heads of the staves could be seen out of the ark, in front of the shrine, although they could not be seen on the outside,—and it came to pass that they have remained there—unto this day. 10 There was [nothing’ in the ark] save only the two tables, which Moses placed [therein] in Horeb,—when Yahweh made a covenant with the sons of Israel, when they came forth out of Egypt.

And it came to pass when the priests [came forth] out of the holy place,—for [all the priests who were present] had hallowed themselves, they had no need’ to observe the courses; 11 and [the Levites who were the singers, even all of them pertaining to Asaph, to Heman, to Jeduthun, and to their sons and to their brethren, arrayed in white linen, with cymbals and with harpsa and lyres] stood eastward of the altar,—and [with them] priests to the number of a hundred-and-twenty, blowing with trumpetsb 13 then came it to pass when the trumpeters and the singers were [as one] to make one sound to be heard in offering praise and giving thanks unto Yahweh—yea when they did lift on high the voice, with the trumpets and with the cymbals and with the instruments of song, b yea in offering praise unto Yahweh—

For he is good,
For <age-abiding> is his lovingkindness≥

that [the house] was filled with the cloud of the gloryc of Yahweh; 14 and the priests could not stand to minister, by reason of the cloud,—for [the glory of Yahweh] filled [the house of God].

§ 5. Solomon dedicates the Temple by an Introductory Speech, a Recitative Benediction, and an Intercessory Prayer.

Chapter 6.

1 ||Then|| said Solomon,—
||Yahweh|| said, that he would make his habitation in thick gloom;
2 But [||] have built a house as a home for thee,—
A settled place for thee to abide in, for ages.
3 And the king turned about his face, and blessed all the convocation of Israel,—while [all the convocation of Israel] was standing; 4 and he said, Blessed’ be Yahweh, God of Israel, who spake with his mouth, unto David my father,—and <with his hand>d hath fulfilled, saying:
5 <From the day I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt> I made choice of no city, out of all the tribes of Israel, for building a house, where my Name might be,—neither made I choice of any man, to be chief ruler over my people Israel: 6 nevertheless I have made choice of Jerusalem, that my Name might be there,—and I have made choice of David, that he might be over my people Israel.
7 And so it came to pass, that it was near the heart of David my father,—to build a house, to the Name of Yahweh, God of Israel.
8 Then said Yahweh unto David my father,
<Because it was near thy heart to build a house for my Name> thou didst well that it was’ near thy heart:
9 Only’ [thou thyself] must not build the house,—but [thine own son, that proceedeth out of thy loins—he] shall build the house for my Name.
10 So then Yahweh hath established his word, which he spake,—and I have been raised up instead of David my father, and have taken my seat upon the throne of Israel, as spake Yahweh, and have built the house to the Name of Yahweh, God of Israel; 11 and have put there, the ark,—wherein is the covenant of Yahweh,—which he solemnised with the sons of Israel.

Then stood he before the altar of Yahweh, in the presence of all the convocation of Israel,—and spread forth his hands; 13 for Solomon had made a platform of bronze, and had set it in the midst of the enclosure, [||five cubits|| the length thereof, and [||five cubits|| the breadth thereof, and [||three cubits|| the height thereof,—and he stood thereon, and knelt upon his knees, in the presence of all the convocation of Israel, and spread forth his hands, heavenward; 14 and said,

O Yahweh! God of Israel,

<Not like unto thee> is there a god, in the heavens, or throughout the earth,—who keepest Covenant and Lovingkindness for thy servants who are walking before thee with all their heart; 15 who hast kept, for thy servant David my father, that which thou didst promise him,—in that thou didst promise with thy mouth, and <with thy hand> hast fulfilled, as [it is] this day.

||Now|| therefore, O Yahweh—God of Israel, keep thou, for thy servant David my father, that which thou didst promise him, saying,

There shall not be cut off to thee a man, from before me, to sit 16 upon the throne of Israel,—[if only] thy sons take heed to their way, to walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me.

||Now|| therefore, O Yahweh, God of Israel,—verified be thy promise, which thou didst make unto thy servant David.

But [in very deed] will God’ dwell with man’ on the earth? Lo! [the heavens, even the heaven of heavens] cannot contain thee, how much less’ this house which I have built! 19 Will thou then turn unto the prayer of thy servant and unto his supplication, O Yahweh my God,—to hearken unto the cry and unto the prayer, wherewith thy servant is praying before thee:

that thine eyes may be open toward this house, day and night, toward the place of which thou hast said thou wouldst set thy Name there,—to hearken unto the prayer which thy servant may pray towards this place:

wilt thou therefore hearken unto the supplications of thy servant, and thy people Israel, when they shall pray toward this place,—yea wilt [thou thyself] hear, out of thine own dwelling-place, out of the heavens, and <when thou hearest> then wilt thou forgive?

If a man shall sin against his neighbour, and there shall be laid upon him an oath, to put him on oath,—and an oath shall come before thine altar in this house then wilt [thou thyself] hear out of the heavens, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel,—and bring them back unto the soil, which thou didst give to them and to their fathers?

When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain, because they have been sinning against thee;—and they turn, and confess thy Name, and pray and make supplication before thee, in this house 25 then wilt [thou thyself] hear out of the heavens, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel,—and bring them back unto the soil, which thou didst give to them and to their fathers?

When there shall be [a famine] in the land, when there shall be [a pestilence]—when there shall be [blasting or mildew, locust or caterpillar]—when their enemy shall besiege them in the land at their own gates—whatsoever plague or whatsoever sickness;—29 whatsoever prayer, whatsoever supplication, which any son of earth may have, or any of thy people Israel,—when any man shall come to know his plague, or his pain, and so he shall spread abroad his hands towards this house:—

30 then wilt thou hear out of the heavens, the settled place of thine abode, and forgive, and grant to every man according to his ways, whose heart thou wilt know,—for thou thyself alone knowest the heart of the sons of men:— 31 to the end they may revere thee, to walk in thy ways, all the days which they shall be living upon the face of the soil,—which thou gavest unto their fathers?

Moreover also unto the stranger who is not of thy people Israel, but he shall come in out of a far country—for the sake of thy great Name, and of thy strong hand, and of thine outstretched arm,—and so they shall come in and pray towards this house:

33 then wilt thou hear out of the heavens, out of the settled place of thine abode, and do according to all for whom the stranger shall cry unto thee,—to the end that all the peoples of the earth may know thy Name, so as to revere thee like thy people Israel, and know that thy Name hath been given unto this house, which I have built:

35 then wilt thou hear, out of the heavens, their prayer and their supplication,—and maintain their right.

§ 6. Divine Consecration of the Temple, followed by Sacrifices and a Festival.

Chapter 7.

1 Now <when Solomon had made an end of praying> ||Fire|| came down out of the heavens, and consumed the ascending-offering and the sacrifices,—and ||the glory of Yahweh|| filled the house; so that the priests could not enter into the house of Yahweh,—because the glory of Yahweh filled the house of Yahweh; and ||all the sons of Israel|| <seeing the descending of the fire and the glory of Yahweh upon the house> then knelt they down with their faces toward the ground, upon the pavement, and bowed themselves in prostration, and gave thanks unto Yahweh,

For he is good,

For <age-abiding> is his lovingkindness.

4 And ||the king and all the people|| were offering sacrifice before Yahweh.

5 And King Solomon offered a sacrifice—of oxen twenty-two thousand, and of sheep a hundred and twenty thousand,—and so the king and all the people ||distinguished the house of God||; for the songs of Yahweh, a which David the king had made, for giving thanks unto Yahweh.

For <age-abiding> is his lovingkindness,
when David offered praise by their means;b—and ||the priests|| kept on blowing trumpets over against them, while ||all Israel|| were standing.

And Solomon hallowed the middle of the court that was before the house of Yahweh, for he offered there the ascending-sacrifices, and the fat portions of the peace-offerings,—because ||the altar of bronze which Solomon had made|| was not able to receive the ascending-sacrifice and the meal-offering and the fat portions.

And Solomon made a festival—at that time—for seven days, and all Israel with him, an exceeding great convocation,—from the entering in of Hamath, unto the ravine of Egypt. 9 And they made, on the eighth day, a closing feast,—because <the dedication of the altar> they had kept seven days and a festival seven days. 10 And <on the twenty-third of the seventh month> he sent the people away to their own homes,d—rejoicing and glad in heart, over the goodnessc which Yahweh had performed unto David and unto Solomon, and unto Israel his people.

Thus Solomon finished the house of Yahweh, and the house of the king,—and <all that had come in upon the heart of Solomon, to do in the house of Yahweh and in his own house> he prosperously executed.

§ 7. Divine Answer to Solomon’s Dedicatory Prayer, closed with Solemn Warnings.

12 Then appeared Yahweh unto Solomon by night,—and said to him,

I have heard thy prayer, and have made choice—

13 ≤If I shut up the heavens that there be no rain, or if I lay command on the locust, to devour the land,—or if I send pestilence, amongst my people: 14 if my people upon whom my Name is called shall humble themselves, and pray and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways≥ then will ||I myself|| hear out of the heavens, and forgive their sin, and heal their land. 15 ||Now|| mine eyes shall be open, and [mine ears] attent,—to the prayer of this place. 16 ||Now|| therefore, have I chosen and hallowed this house, that my Name may be there, unto times age-abiding,—and mine eyes and my heart shall be there, all the days.

||Thou|| therefore ≤if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father e walked, even to do according to all that I have commanded thee,—and [my statutes and regulations] thou wilt observe≥ 18 then will I establish the throne of thy kingdom,f—according as I covenanted to David thy father, saying—

There shall not fail thee a man, to ruleg over Israel.

19 But ≤if ||ye yourselves|| shall turn away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments, which I have set before you,—and shall go and serve other gods, and bow down to them≥ 20 then will I root you out from off the soil, which I have given to you, and <this house, which I have hallowed for my Name> will I cast off from before my face,—and will appoint it for a by-word and a mockery, among all the peoples; 21 and <this house which hath been renowned> ||all that pass by near it|| shall be astonished,—and say,

Wherefore g hath Yahweh done [thus and thus] to this land, and to this house?

And men shall say,

<Because they forsook Yahweh the God of their fathers, who brought them up out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold of other gods, and bowed down to them, and served them> ||for this cause|| hath he brought upon them, all this calamity.
